We need tropical forests, and we're losing them to palm oil...

Tropical forests preserve biodiversity and help slow global warming.

But tropical forests are being cut down for palm oil over a rapidly expanding area...

...and our demand for palm oil continues to grow.

But we can fix this.

Deforestation-free palm oil is possible. But it will only happen if we demand it.

Find out how you can help preserve biodiversity and slow global warming:
ucsusa.org/palmoilaction

© 2014 Union of Concerned Scientists
www.ucsusa.org/palmoilaction