MEG STARS ON SUNDAY

MYSTIC Meg's Wheel Of Fortune could help win the midweek Lottery. First note the three numbers inside your star sign. Then take the first letter of your first name and note the three numbers next to that. Now you have six numbers. But if you like the 'hot' number in centre star or have a lucky number, use those too.

LOTTERY LORE. A tarot deal for the April 17 draw gives 14, 17, 21, 38, 41 and 44 as luck-makers.

NEWS OF THE NUMBERS. 21 is ready to get hotter. In the tarot, card 21, the World Card, signifies stepping into a new world. If you're playing Irish Lotto, add any numbers over 42, so 48 = 4 + 8 = 12.

For one-to-one readings (for guidance only) call Meg's Liveline, Bam-midnight. Callers must be 18 or over. Calls cost £1.50 a minute. Try Meg's tarot line too. Calls cost 60p a minute at all times.

Missing Milly 'hoax' outrage

SICK WOMAN HAS POSED AS YOUNGSTER

BY SARAH ARNOLD

THE hunt for missing Milly Dowler took a shocking twist last night when it emerged a deranged woman has been posing as the missing youngster.

Police believe the sick hoaxer called into a recruitment agency pretending to be Milly.

Staff at the Midlands bureau failed to recognise the name as that of the missing girl and took the woman on their books.

It is thought the hoaxer even gave the agency Milly's real mobile phone number. Police believe she may have got it by gaining the trust of people who knew the schoolgirl.

The agency used the number to contact Milly, real name Amanda, when a job vacancy arose and left a message on her voicemail AFTER the 13-year-old vanished at 4pm on March 21.

Twisted

It was on March 27—six days after Milly went missing in Walton-on-Thames, Surrey—that the employment agency appears to have phoned her mobile.

The "twisted" creature also contacted TV's Crimewatch programme, claiming to be Milly.

Police say the hoaxer has hampered the investigation and previous high-profile inquiries. Officers have now been briefed on how to spot her.

NEW PICTURE

THIS party snap of Milly was released by a pal yesterday to jog memories. It is an image of a sparkling girl with no hint of the torment to come

HUNT: Police officers search for clues

A senior officer involved in the hunt said last night: "Our inquiries and those of other forces have been plagued by a professional hoaxer who has much experience of the practices of the police and investigation methods.

"The chances are extremely high that the individual concerned is a rather disturbed lady who needs care.

"This individual has been to a number of force areas and has been quite devious in the attention-seeking methods employed."

● ANYONE with information about Milly should call Surrey police on 01372 471212 or the National Missing Persons Helpline on 0500 700 700 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

MILLY'S distraught godmother yesterday appealed for help in finding the missing teenager—and begged her to get in touch if she has run away.

Maths teacher Sarah Ford, 42, of Farnham, Hants, said: "If she's run away, whatever has happened can be resolved.

She added: "If somebody is holding Milly against her will they must release her and let someone know what has happened.

"Someone must know something—she can't have disappeared without trace.

"Her parents are being torn apart by not knowing. They are coping but they're devastated."
