NANNY CAUGHT SVEN AT IT WITH ULRIKA

She walked in as they romped naked on bed

BY LEE HARPIN & CAROLE AYE MAUNG

ENGLAND soccer boss Sven Goran Eriksson was caught having sex with Ulrika Jonsson by her children's nanny.

Michelle Smith walked in on them when they were naked on a bed at Ulrika's home in Cookham Dean, Berks. She told a close friend: "They leapt apart."

Sven, whose live-in partner is 37-year-old lawyer Nancy Dell'Olio, also shared sexy phone chats in Swedish with Ulrika while England were training for their match against Paraguay this week. A pal said: "Ulrika is now certain he'll come to her."

PINT-SIZED England manager Sven Goran Eriksson leaves his built-up shoes outside Ulrika Jonsson's bedroom door to warn her nanny that he's inside having sex.

The £3 million-a-year boss devised the nookie code after Michelle Smith, who has the run of the house and looks after Ulrika's two children, burst in on them.

She told her boyfriend Tony Azzopardi: "They were actually at it naked in the middle of the day. I don't know who got the bigger shock, them or me."

Tony added: "Michelle told me that Sven is quite short and wears these thick-soled shoes to make him look taller."

"After that first time she knew when he was in bed with Ulrika because he took his shoes off before he went into the bedroom and left them on the landing to let Michelle know he was in there."

Ulrika herself said: "He's a strong, calm, passionate man."

The News of the World has also discovered that 53-year-old Sven:

■ SPEAKS only in Swedish on the phone to Ulrika and conked his live-in partner Nancy Dell'Olio that he was talking to his assistant, Tord Grip!

■ PROMISED Dog Eat Dog star Ulrika, 34, that he would give 37-year-old Nancy the boot—but only after the World Cup because he didn't want his England preparations interrupted.

■ ROMPED with Ulrika after Manchester United's European Cup home match against Bayern Munich.

Sheepish

Revealing how Michelle walked in on the pair at Ulrika's home in Cookham Dean, Berks, ice-cream seller Tony, 33, said: "Michelle told me she normally knew if Ulrika was entertaining visitors by the cars parked outside in the driveway."

"But Sven had a chauffeur to drive his limousine. The driver would drop him off and go away, then come back after Sven had finished his afternoon sex session."

"Michelle really didn't know that he was there and what she was walking into. It was all very embarrassing for everyone concerned. A while later, Ulrika and Sven came downstairs looking really sheepish."

Sven and Ulrika have been dating for at least two months after being introduced at a private London party by Tony Blair's spin doctor, Alastair Campbell.

Tony went on: "Michelle told me that Sven had taken his partner Nancy to the do, but as soon as her back was turned Sven was exchanging numbers and offering to take Ulrika out for dinner. They got it on from there."

"After that he'd come round to the house at least twice a week for a morning or afternoon session. They always ended up having sex, though Sven never stayed the night."

Revelers at the party where Ulrika and Sven first met last night said it was love at first sight for Ulrika. TV presenter Vanessa Feltz said: "Ulrika spent the entire evening looking longingly at the venerable Sven who was seated at a table opposite ours. I couldn't believe her eagerness. She looked enraptured."

Handily, Cookham Dean is just a long ball away from the England team's main training HQ in Bisham Abbey though a drive there could take Sven through aptly-named Cookham Rise and The Mount.

Earlier this week Nancy was asked what she thought of Ulrika and replied: "She's a poor girl." But Tony revealed: "Ulrika calls Nancy The Maracas From Caracas—even though Nancy is from Italy not Venezuela, which I find quite funny. I don't know if she's referring to Nancy's big breasts."

Tony, who lives in south London, dated nanny Michelle for a month after they met in a London bar. "She told me she had a famous employer but didn't say who at first," he explained. "I always thought that whoever it was had something to do with Manchester United because they were playing one night and Michelle told me her employer was going up to Manchester for the match and staying over."

Tony believes that match was against Bayern Munich on March 13. Sven was there too. After the match they stayed together at the smart Marriott Hotel & Country Club in Worsley Park. "About a week later Michelle blurted out that her boss was Ulrika," Tony added. "And that she was shing Sven."

A friend of Ulrika confided to the News of the World this weekend: "Sven and Ulrika just can't keep their hands off each other. But they've been very indiscreet. Sven must have been to Ulrika's house on more than a dozen occasions."

Madly

Confirming Tony Azzopardi's interview, the friend added: "Ulrika's nanny did walk in and see what was going on. Sven later apologised to Michelle and said he wouldn't put her in that position again."

The friend continued: "Ulrika is madly in love with Sven and can't bear the thought of him spending time with Nancy."

"Sven originally explained that he couldn't afford any publicity over his love-life before the World Cup began in June. He obviously hadn't bargained for his relationship with Ulrika becoming public." Yesterday, with the affair out in the open, Ulrika was becoming more convinced that Sven would be hers.

A friend of Sven confirmed: "Ulrika is certain he'll stick by her." Last night another source close to Ulrika claimed the star has now given Sven a 'Nancy or me' ultimatum and added: "Ulrika has admitted to the affair. Her exact words were, 'Yes, I've seen him naked'." "But she doesn't just want to be his but on the side. She's asked him to leave Nancy."

Either way, it should mean an end to the lovers' need for furtive phone calls. Ulrika's pal revealed that any time she phoned Sven when he was in the company of players, including while he was with the England camp last week—Sven almost always spoke in Swedish. He also rang her up to five times a day.

On one occasion he was in a restaurant with girlfriend Nancy when Ulrika called him. Thinking fast, he pretended he was taking a call from his Swedish assistant, Tord Grip.

"Nancy's Swedish isn't exactly fluent," said her pal. "Ulrika thought it was hilarious that Sven was calling her Tord. Nancy didn't appear to have a clue that Sven was on the phone to Ulrika."

Sven even had time for a brief phone chat with Ulrika as he lunched with the team at their Wrexham training ground before last Wednesday's friendly against Paraguay. As the conversation went on he continued the chat in his room.

Giggling Ulrika later confided to pals how much she enjoyed the sound of Sven blowing kisses to her down the phone.

She has been single since parting from PR boss Simon Astaire, 40, last year. Sven has been dating lawyer Nancy for three years.

When he was first brought in to manage England, Ulrika said prophetically: "If he should need any acclimatising I'm here waiting on his call."

Her pal said this weekend: "Ulrika's told all her friends about how set she is on Sven. She really does seem to believe he's the man she's been searching for."
