

When I went to the courthouse you wouldn't believe what I saw. First, I learned about how a courthouse looks. It has hard men pencils and alot security, people eye-balling you. The judge was sitting high on his stand. Second, I learned about how Chris Kringle is real. The representatives for the state were trying to get rid of Santa for good. They went into alot of detail and kept asking Chris Kringle does he really believe he is Santa Claus and he kept saying yes. At the end everyone had the spirit and let Mr. Kringle go because they believed he was Santa Clause. Last I learned how serious this matter is or any matter that is dealt with in the court house. Overall it was interesting and I enjoyed it.

My trip to the courthouse

1. I learned that you had to tell truth and not a lie.
2. Santa Claus is real not fake.
3. There was a metal detector in the lobby.
4. The judge and the lawyers were real lawyers and a real judge.
5. Where we sat was in a real court room.

This is what I learned when I went to the Courthouse to see Miracle on 34th Street.

The first thing I learned was that when we entered the Courthouse, it had a metal detector. The second thing I learned is that being a judge is hard work. The third thing I learned was in the courtroom, there was a real judge and real lawyers. I hope you listen to what I wrote. I enjoyed my great trip to the Courthouse.

ON the Filed Trip

I learned You can not lie
You have to tell the truth.
If you tell a lie you can be in a world of trouble. You have to be onist. And you have to listen to the Joge
No Matter what he says.

The Joge can handle anything he is the boss of the room. You can not make up a story.

You have to tell the truth. He can ~~see~~ the bad bad person to jail. You need a lawyer. They do cost money. But if it is some one in your family then
it does not cost money.

ON the field trip to the Count huse I Lean^o that if you object you have to tell why you object.
You can call any witness that was there. IF YOUR OPPONENT ASK FOR PROOF YOU have to give them PROOF. You Should have a lawyer but IF YOU DON'T IT IS OK.
there is a Stand were you say what you want to say.
