RE: PRR-2020-2200-271 (AZ-AG-20-1956)

Dear Mr. Bendor:

Thank you for contacting the Arizona Attorney General's Office ("AGO"). This letter serves as the response to your public records request dated August 4, 2020.

Request:

"All email communications (including email messages, email attachments, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and calendar attachments) sent or received by (a) Attorney General Mark Brnovich, or anyone communicating on his behalf, such as an assistant or scheduler, or (b) Chief Deputy Joe Kanefield containing any of the following key terms:

Search Terms:

- "Election Integrity
- EIU
- "Election unit"
- "Elections unit"

We also took the liberty of including "Elections Integrity Unit" in our search.

Response:

Some of the responsive records are attached. Additional records are forthcoming. Please note that some records have had personally identifiable information redacted in lieu of withholding records in their entirety.

In the event that the Arizona Attorney General's Office has produced any document containing un-redacted confidential or privileged information, AGO hereby asserts that such disclosure was accidental and does not waive any protections afforded under law.

Please feel free to reach out should you have any questions regarding the records.

Sincerely,

Rachelle Lumpp

Deputy Public Information Officer

Gentlemen,

Please see complaint below filed momentarily from Ms. Burk regarding her allegations regarding a plane and shredded ballots. My guess is that she will be tweeting or otherwise publicly sharing her complaint, therefore I have copied Ryan.

Notably Ms. Burk did not attach any of the purported evidence with her submission. And to the extent that she indicates that she has evidence that could not be attached, she would be directed on our website to mail that evidence in for review.

Mike is out on annual leave, but I'm available to discuss next steps. As Ms. Burk appears to allege potentially criminal conduct, any further investigation or contact with complainant would ordinarily be handled through an agent assigned by CRM to make certain the evidence is gathered to meet evidentiary standards required for criminal prosecution.

Jen

E-mail: stacigriffinburk@

My complaint alleges violations of election law related to: Other/Not Listed

Do you have information about the alleged person or entity who violated election law? Yes

Statement of Facts

Person/Entity: Scott Koch

Email:

Phone Number:

Street Address:

City, State, Zip: ,

If known, please identify provision(s) of Arizona election law you believe were violated:

I have an audio recorded confession of a man who said on behalf of the government, he and his guys took illegal ballots from a plane at Sky Harbor to FedEx and the Maricopa County Election Center. I have affidavits from witnesses at the election center who also witnessed this same man and his boss being behind the secure line while ballots were being counted.

I also retrieved shredded ballots from a dumpster behind the election center on public property.

I have been waiting months for someone from your office to contact me because in the prior report from November, I said I had a lot more evidence of election fraud and wanted someone to contact me directly to share those things... I did that because the plane that carried the illegal ballots (for which I have a recorded confession) is allegedly a "sensitive" topic.

Was a police report filed with local law enforcement? Yes

Please provide the jurisdiction and reference number for the complaint: By Maricopa County

State, in your own words, what exactly transpired; specifically, when and where did the event(s) take place (including dates, times, and address or description of the location), who was involved (including names or physical descriptions of the person(s) who you believe violated the law, witnesses, and election workers/volunteers at the scene), and what was said and done.

See above

Evidence

Do you have additional evidence that you are unable to submit electronically? Yes

I declare under penalty of perjury that the facts and statements contained in this declaration, including any attached materials, are true, correct, and based upon my personal knowledge. I understand that this declaration and any supporting materials are public records and may be disclosed as required by law. I understand that, depending on the nature of the allegation, my complaint may be referred to another state or local agency for enforcement. By choosing to submit this form electronically, I certify and agree that by entering my name in the space below, I bind and legally obligate myself to the same extent as I would by signing my name on a printed paper version of this form.

Subject: 2020 Audit/Election Integrity **Please Read**

Dear Arizona Elected Officials,

The AG Elections Integrity Unit received more than 2,000 complaints in very early Nov., right after the election. Also in November, a report was filed of fraudulent ballots flown into Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport and then taken to Maricopa County Tabulation Center. This was corroborated with affidavits, and video and audio evidence. Considering this, the thousands of complaints and affidavits, and the statistical data, what have you done about it? Have you actually studied the statistical data, sir? How do you explain it?

It is our understanding that Jennifer Wright wanted to pursue an investigation and you shut it down. You've led the Legislature on a wild goose chase, bouncing them back and forth with the courts and debating on authority and enforcement of subpoenas. The distraction has been masterful. Feb. 1st came and passed, which ended the Safe Harbor rule. How convenient that we weren't able to get an audit before then and now the machines have been tampered with.

We demand a forensic audit of the ballots using kinematic artifact technology, which can verify a minimum of 20 validation points on each ballot. This technology is presently utilized to identify counterfeit currency, bank notes, bonds, stocks, passports, etc. This is the real audit the Senate would ensure.

We will not be pacified with this incomplete and incompetently handled audit with antiquated methods currently underway by the Board of Supervisors.

Know that the people understand what is going on. We know about the differences in audits, we know about HL8230 plane and Scott Koch, we know about the tampering with the machines, and we know about the Board.

We now know you are not to be trusted and despite the $500,000 received at time of launch, your Elections Integrity Unit is more in the business of covering up fraud rather than uncovering it - or is that just you?

Not Fooled,

Brittani Taylor

MARK BRNOVICH
ATTORNEY GENERAL

OFFICE OF THE ARIZONA ATTORNEY GENERAL
CRIMINAL DIVISION / SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS SECTION

SUPERVISORY SPECIAL AGENT
(602) 364-0440

October 20, 2020

Dear Arizona Law Enforcement Partners:

This year's election poses some unique challenges for law enforcement agencies; some members of the public are concerned about voting and their health and safety during this time of a national pandemic. Concern has also been expressed with regards to the integrity of the voting process and it is quite possible that there may be instances of confusion at the polls which may generate some complaints about the process.

We have established a statewide hotline to assist you in the event your agency may receive any reports of criminal activity relating to election or voting matters from members of your community. If your officers respond to a call regarding a potential violation of our election laws, our office will have Special Agents on standby to assist telephonically and provide assistance to your agency personnel.

The Election and Voter Integrity Hotline for Law Enforcement is 602-319-4577 or 602-542-4853. In addition, feel free to direct any members of the public wishing to report election or voting concerns to our online complaint form at: <https://www.azag.gov/complaints/election>. Additionally, the following statutes related to the voting process are provided for your review:

- ARS 16-515: Restrictions on activity within 75 ft of a polling location, a Class 2 Misdemeanor
- ARS 16-1004: Interference with election officers, a Class 5 Felony
- ARS 16-1005: Ballot fraud and abuse, including the harvesting of ballots, Class 4, 5, and 6 felonies
- ARS 16-1006: Hindering or disrupting voting by force, threats, menaces, bribery or any corrupt means, a Class 5 felony

We look forward to partnering with you in the prevention of election and voting crimes.

Sincerely,

John White
Supervisory Special Agent

Arizona AG Brnovich Hopes Supreme Court Appearance Strikes Blow for Electoral Integrity

Citing the political convulsions America has gone through in recent months, Arizona's attorney general said he hopes a voting rights case that he's arguing before the Supreme Court on March 2 will help to generate momentum for electoral integrity measures nationwide.

"I think we all should agree at this point that we want to have confidence in our election system," Mark Brnovich, the state's Republican attorney general, said in an exclusive interview with The Epoch Times, in which he shared his views about the upcoming oral argument at the high court and electoral integrity measures in general.

"We want orderly elections."

Brnovich said he's "hopeful" about his prospects before the high court, "but as someone who's actually married to a judge, I've learned a long time ago not to predict what a judge is going to do."

Brnovich's wife, Susan Brnovich, was appointed a U.S. district judge in Arizona by President Donald Trump in 2018. She previously served as a judge in Maricopa County.

More Americans need to become active in defending the nation's founding and the institutions that came out of it, he said.

There is a certain amount of establishment thinking out there "that just wants to go along to get along ... [but] the stakes are so high right now in this country that we need champions that understand what the framers of our Constitution established here in this country."

There is a "need to understand traditional notions of federalism and to understand that the Constitution is all about protecting rights, and that the government is supposed to be limited and its powers defined."

Ballot Harvesting

The Supreme Court agreed Oct. 2 to hear the case at hand, which concerns efforts to combat Democratic plans that Republicans say undermine electoral integrity measures and throw the Grand Canyon State open to ballot-harvesting and out-of-precinct voting.

Forbidding unlimited third-party ballot harvesting is a “commonsense” way to protect the secret ballot, and to prevent undue influence, voter fraud, ballot tampering, and voter intimidation, Brnovich said.

“We have seen in the past where people have used ballot harvesting to undermine the integrity of elections. We also know that no less than Jimmy Carter in 2005 had recommended that there be commonsense measures in place when it came to ballot harvesting because absentee ballots were one of the largest sources of potential fraud,” he said.

Brnovich was referring to the bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform, chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James A. Baker III, which found that “absentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud” and that “vote-buying schemes are far more difficult to detect when citizens vote by mail.”

“There was a time when this was a bipartisan issue, when all sides could agree that we want to make sure that we have safe and secure elections, and now for whatever reason, it’s become a partisan issue,” Brnovich said. “It’s unfortunate because everyone should have confidence in our elections.

“I think as a public official there is no higher priority among public officials than maintaining the public integrity of our elections, so we want to make sure that people are prevented from voting multiple times, we want to protect against voter intimidation, we want to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, and I think that’s what our laws were designed to do.”

Voting Rights Cases

The oral arguments in Brnovich’s case before the Supreme Court come after an Arizona judge ruled in a separate case that state lawmakers have the right to access 2.1 million ballots cast in the state’s most populous county and related electronic materials in order to carry out an audit of the Nov. 3 election results, as The Epoch Times previously reported.

Although Arizona’s electoral votes were disputed by the Trump campaign, and later, by federal lawmakers when Congress met amid a breach of the Capitol by hundreds of protesters on Jan. 6 and 7 to certify the presidential election results, Democrat Joe Biden was awarded those votes in the end.

In the court case, Maricopa County v. Fann, the GOP-controlled county Board of Supervisors asked the court to invalidate legislative subpoenas. The GOP-controlled state Senate filed a counterclaim seeking enforcement of its subpoenas.

Judge Timothy J. Thomason of the Superior Court of Arizona, Maricopa County, wrote in a decision Feb. 25 that although the county believes the subpoenas are “the result of continuing claims by supporters of former President Trump that the election was ‘stolen’ and that this entire matter is a waste of time,” the court finds the subpoenas “legal and enforceable.” The Arizona Senate has “broad constitutional power to oversee elections ... [and the] Arizona legislature clearly has the power to investigate and examine election reform matters. “

The case Arizona's top prosecutor is arguing March 2 is actually two cases that the Supreme Court consolidated. The first is Brnovich v. Democratic National Committee (DNC); the second is Arizona Republican Party v. DNC.

The case is also one of the few Republican-initiated legal challenges to election procedures from the 2020 election cycle to survive to the merits stage without being dismissed for lack of standing, mootness, or on other grounds. The Supreme Court threw out a series of legal challenges on Feb. 22 to voting processes and results in Arizona, Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin that were left over from the cycle.

'Discriminatory Intent'

Arizona, like other states, has adopted rules to promote the order and integrity of its elections.

One provision is an "out-of-precinct policy," which doesn't count provisional ballots cast in person on Election Day outside of the voter's designated precinct. Another is a "ballot-collection law," known as H.B. 2023, that allows only specific persons such as family and household members, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials to handle another person's completed early ballot.

Most states require voters to vote in their own precincts, and around 20 states limit ballot collection by third parties, according to court documents.

A U.S. district court upheld Arizona's provisions, which were challenged under the Voting Rights Act (VRA) and the 15th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Section 2 of the VRA prevents state and local governments from imposing any "qualification or prerequisite to voting or standard, practice, or procedure ... in a manner which results in a denial or abridgment of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote on account of race or color[.]"

A panel of the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court but then reversed at the en banc stage, going against the recommendations of the Trump administration.

The provisions regarding ballot-harvesting and out-of-precinct voting were ruled racially discriminatory and therefore unconstitutional by the appeals court.

"Arizona's policy of wholly discarding, rather than counting or partially counting, out-of-precinct ballots, and H.B. 2023's criminalization of the collection of another person's ballot, have a discriminatory impact on American Indian, Hispanic, and African American voters in Arizona, in violation of the 'results test' of Section 2 of the VRA," Judge William A. Fletcher, a Clinton appointee, wrote for the court.

Fletcher added that H.B. 2023's ban on collecting another person's ballot "was enacted with discriminatory intent, in violation of the 'intent test' of Section 2 of the VRA and of the Fifteenth Amendment."

The Arizona laws in question are unfair because American Indian voters, other minorities, renters, and poor people are disadvantaged because they have difficulty receiving and sending mail, Fletcher wrote.

“Minority voters rely on third-party ballot collection for many reasons,” he added, citing the testimony of a community organizer

Accusations

Brnovich said he rejects those court findings, which were consistent with legal arguments made by Democrats.

“The state of Arizona endorses without qualifications the goals of the Voting Rights Act in racial discrimination and voting,” he said.

But Republicans, Brnovich added, have been falsely accused of racism for a long time.

“Accusing someone of racism is the last resort of an exhausted mind,” he said. “Unfortunately, nowadays there are too many people that are intellectually lazy on the left and that’s what they fall back on.”

Brnovich was harshly critical of the centerpiece of Congressional Democrats’ agenda, H.R. 1, the proposed “For the People Act of 2021,” which House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) says “will protect the right to vote, ensure the integrity of our elections, hold elected officials accountable and end the era of big, dark, special-interest money in our politics.”

Although the Constitution guarantees states the authority to run their own elections, the bill “would federalize and micromanage the election process administered by the states,” while eroding and eliminating security protocols, and limiting free political speech, according to a Heritage Foundation summary.

“I think people in the states are best suited to decide what safeguards are needed,” Brnovich said.

“I don’t think it should be up to some unelected judges or a bunch of people sitting in Congress to decide how we should conduct our elections freely and fairly in Arizona.”

“The reality is that it’s a solution in search of a problem. And I would remind Nancy Pelosi and [Senate Majority Leader] Chuck Schumer that the federal government didn’t create the states. The states created the federal government, and the Constitution was designed not only to have these checks and balances between the legislative, judicial, and executive branches, but the states were designed to serve as a check on the federal government and I don’t think the federal government should be in the business of telling Arizona how we should run our elections.”

Brnovich at arm's length in election suit

By: Howard Fischer, Capitol Media Services December 10, 2020

Arizona is seeking a voice in the lawsuit Texas has brought against some other states won by President-elect Joe Biden. But exactly who Attorney General Mark Brnovich will side with remains unclear. In legal papers filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, Brnovich said he wants to file a brief to argue the importance of "election integrity." And he said he wants a quick decision in the case.

What's telling, though, is that Brnovich is not joining with 17 other Republican attorneys general who filed their own brief with the Supreme Court siding with Texas. That asks the justices to back Texas in its bid to block a final vote by the Electoral College while the court considers allegations that illegal changes in laws in Pennsylvania, Georgia, Michigan and Wisconsin created the opportunity for fraud. Instead, Brnovich aide Ryan Anderson said his boss wants to ensure that any ruling from the U.S. Supreme Court about laws and rules that govern election laws – in this case, in particular, about the presidential race – do not undermine Arizona's own regulations. And Anderson said as far as his boss is concerned, Arizona does elections right, which is why it wasn't sued by Texas as were the four other states where, like Arizona, Biden won the popular vote.

"Had Arizona been sued, that would have put our office in a situation where we would have had to decide what we would have filed and what we would have done," Anderson said. That would have put Brnovich in the position of having to defend not only the state but the election – and Biden's win – against Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton.

Mark Brnovich

And Anderson left no question about what Brnovich thinks of how Arizona conducted the election. "The Arizona attorney general will not be advocating to overturn the election results in Arizona," he said.

Anderson said Brnovich does share one sentiment with his Texas counterpart.

"We all agree that the integrity of our elections are important," he said. "And there are too many Americans who do not trust the outcome of the election."

But Anderson said that Arizona's interest in the legal fight is different than that of the other Republican attorneys general.

The lawsuit filed by Paxton charges that changes made this year to election procedures in the four battleground states, many due to the impact of the pandemic, are illegal.

In essence, he said that the changes, some enacted by courts, weakened ballot-integrity statutes. And that, in turn, has created the opportunity for fraud, though he does not allege any actual instances where that has occurred.

Courts in each of those states have dismissed similar claims. But Paxton is arguing that it is the responsibility of the nation's highest court to intercede and declare that the procedures used in those four states were illegal and therefore the results should not be allowed to stand.

Anderson said it is noteworthy that Texas did not sue Arizona despite the fact that the election returns, which remain standing after several legal challenges, are awarding the state's 11 electoral votes to Biden.

He said some of that is due to the fact that Brnovich has fought off various efforts to allow last-minute changes in election laws, ranging from how county election officials have to handle unsigned early ballots to extending the deadline for people registering to vote.

Anderson said it's not clear the Supreme Court will even consider the Texas petition. But he said if the justices take it up, Brnovich wants to be sure that any ruling they issue respects the interests of Arizona.

Those interests, he said, is that the justices recognize and affirm that it is the legislature that has prime say over how elections are conducted and not courts or even officials of the executive branch. That's crucial because Arizona already has some of the laws that the Texas lawsuit says are lacking or were ignored elsewhere.

For example, Paxton complained that some states do not require that signatures on envelopes with early ballots be compared with records on file. Arizona requires matching of all envelopes received.

He also said that some states “flooded their citizenry with tens of millions of ballot applications and ballots,” ignoring normal controls. Arizona, by contrast, sends early ballots only to those who request them, whether on an election-by-election basis or by signing up on the permanent early voting list. Brnovich is not the only Arizona elected official weighing in at the Supreme Court.

Ten state representatives and three senators, all Republicans, joined with counterparts from Alaska and Idaho on Thursday filed their own brief in support of Texas.

“An elite group of sitting Democrat officers in each of the defendant states coordinated with the Democrat party to illegally and unconstitutionally change the rules established by the legislature in the defendant states, thereby depriving the people of their states a free and fair election — the very basis of a republican form of government,” they charged through their attorneys.

The representatives are Nancy Barto, Frank Carroll, John Fillmore, Mark Finchem, Travis Grantham, Anthony Kern, David Livingston, Steve Pierce, Bret Roberts and Kelly Townsend. The senators are Sylvia Allen, Sonny Borrelli and David Gowan.

Gentlemen:

SSA John White, AAG Lawson, and SA Knuth collaborated on this letter to send to police agencies. This was in response to an inquiry they received about what our agency would be doing with regards to the election and potential issues. They collectively came up with both the idea of a hotline as well as correspondence to all of the LE agencies in the state.

If you approve of this letter and content, we do have a few options for getting it out to the agencies. We can send it via teletype, I can have it posted to the AZ chiefs and sheriff's association via their email alert system. We can also actually mail the letters.

I think this comports well with the agency's responsibilities as well as the expectations of the public. We will have agents working the phone lines until after the polls close if this is approved.

I appreciate the hard work and initiative shown by our agents and attorneys.

Dear Arizona Law Enforcement Partners:

This year's election poses some unique challenges for law enforcement agencies; some members of the public are concerned about voting and their health and safety during this time of a national pandemic. Concern has also been expressed with regards to the integrity of the voting process and it is quite possible that there may be instances of confusion at the polls which may generate some complaints about the process.

We have established a statewide hotline to assist you in the event your agency may receive any reports of criminal activity relating to election or voting matters from members of your community. If your officers respond to a call regarding a potential violation of our election laws, our office will have Special Agents on standby to assist telephonically and provide assistance to your agency personnel.

The Election and Voter Integrity Hotline for Law Enforcement is 602-319-4577 or 602-542-4853.

In addition, feel free to direct any members of the public wishing to report election or voting concerns to our online complaint form at: <https://www.azag.gov/complaints/election>. Additionally, the following statutes related to the voting process are provided for your review:

- ARS 16-515: No electioneering within 75 feet of a polling location, class 2 misdemeanor
- ARS 16-1004: Interference or corruption of an election officer, class 5 felony
- ARS 16-1005: Prevention of ballot abuse and ballot harvesting, class 5 felony
- ARS 16-1006: Changing the vote of an elector by corrupt means, a class 5 felony

We look forward to partnering with you in the prevention of election and voting crimes.

Sincerely,

John White

Arizona Attorney General's Office

(via email)

Dear Mr. Anderson:

This is a request for any communications from and to the Attorney General's Office within the past four months about the contents of or changes to the state Elections Manual.

If you or your public agency contend any portion of this information is not subject to disclosure, please provide me with a list of dates and times of each meeting along with the specific exemption under the Public Records Act for withholding the information. This will make it easier for a court to review the items in camera and determine the validity of each claim.

As to any promise your office made to obtain the data, I am sure you are well aware that the mere promise of confidentiality to any other party is insufficient to shield a public record from disclosure. There also is case law spelling out that the generic exemption for "best interests of the state" involves more than the best interest of the public official or agency. And please note that no Arizona court has recognized "executive privilege."

Also, if you contend any of the information is not subject to the Public Records Act, please immediately produce any portions for which you do not claim an exemption.

The records are being sought for the purpose of a news story and not for any commercial purpose as defined by Title 39. I will pay a reasonable fee for copying any paper documents. ## SUMMARY OF DRAFT PROCEDURES MANUAL 8/23/2019

1. Pg. 3; (A) Citizenship requirement - this sounds crazy. Is most of this automated and automatically performed through the SOS matches? If so are those procedures just for the 13 counties that are "real time" with SOS or for all 15 counties. Are there procedures within the SOS department?
2. Pg. 5; (2) -Explain what the AZDL means when its indicated with an "F"
  - a. MVD process is uniform?
  - b. Pg. 7 ii; again states that issued by an equivalent-issuing state agency-what is the determination for that.
3. P. 11; (B) and Pg. 29 First full sentence - Age requirement: would like to see a procedure that requires a notice sent out to the specific qualified elector if registered 6 months prior to being 18. Notice sent at least 30 days prior to voter registration cut off for the election they are eligible for that states they are on the list, what date they registered, what party they registered under. If they want to keep their status send back confirmation, if no response, move to the inactive list. This will count as one of the first qualifying notices (inactive voter)
4. Pg. 13; III Voter Registration Assistance Agencies -A
  - a. Bullet point 2 – are there standards for written policies and procedures/training for public assistant agencies. If not any Public Assistant Agency who develops these standards shall submit the written information to the Secretary of State and All Recognized Political Parties (or if only county wide policy/procedure, then the Officer in Charge of Elections (OCE) and the County recognized political parties will receive the written information).
5. Pg. 14; Second Paragraph- if the County Recorder designates additional registration volunteers as set forth in above paragraph, a list should be maintained by the County Recorder and names should be added as soon as they are designated as a volunteer. All groups must follow the published guidance for voter registration.
6. Pg. 15; IV Voter Registration Processing Procedures
  - a. Statewide concern- should there be something in here about timely reporting by Maricopa and Pima County? (this might be statutory by there is no statute reference in this section – which also seems a little light on specific procedures)
  - b. Define what substantive changes mean. SOS should be notified of any changes with a time frame.
7. Is there any guidelines for keeping Federal Form registrants separate from Full Ballot Registrants or any reporting on those who were moved to the Full Ballot list because of 8 below.

8. Pg. 17; Explain this in better detail. This must go through the DPOC process?
9. Pg. 24; first paragraph- Pg. 45 I. (A) request for early ballot- Should verification of the AZLD/ID# indicate citizenship? (refer to item 2 above)
10. Pg. 40 and 41; Federal Only and Lists to Recognized Parties-There are not any specifics on what kind of report. Is there a specific report available to the parties on voters who registered on the Federal Form and is on the Federal list? What about those who were moved from the Federal list, to the Full Ballot List, why and when?
11. Pg. 53; Early Ballots – General Question- is ballot harvesting still acceptable?
12. Pg. 60; C Security Procedures for Accessible Voting- Paragraph 4. Need to specify that chain of custody of accessible voting devices must be tracked and logged by a team of at least two board workers OF DIFFERENT POLITICAL PARTIES. *(if two parties not available then an affidavit signed by the OCE needs to be provided and the reason for the lack of the two political parties needs to be notated as to why)*
13. Pg. 61; Establishing Early Voting Centers- Question about if there is language as to what constitutes an emergency, don't see the specific language yet in statute. Is there a time frame for this to be done and time emergency voting will cease. Is there a public notice posted? Are all recognized parties notified of the emergency polling places within____ hours of when they are established. I think there should also be language that individual candidates should be notified by the parties as to these polling places NOT THE OCE, unless the OCE sends a notice out to all candidates involved in the election.
14. Pg. 63; VI Processing and Tabulating Early Ballots -There are no procedures for requesting another method of counting ballots. This should be better defined and also have notification requirements, including having parties in the Jurisdiction where this is taking place notified of the request and if it was granted.
15. Pg. 71; I (A)State Certification Process- Voting Equipment Certification first paragraph continued on Pg. 72 States SOS can approve exceptions to mix and match components under exceptional circumstances, what dictates exceptional circumstances, how is it requested, how is it approved and who is noticed?– General comment that Arizona Committee should be made up of 5 individuals just like the independent redistricting commission.
16. Pg. 74 (2) and Pg. 123 (2); Pg. 162; Voter Education over votes-Vote Centers Because I am not familiar with how some of the new systems work, I don't understand how transporting ballots at the precincts/vote centers to counting centers before they are processed complies with Federal law regarding over votes if there is one.

17. Pg. 81; II Logic and Accuracy Testing – second paragraph conduct of the test must be overseen by at least two county elections staff (of different political parties if possible); Pg. 90 item 7 ...of different political parties if possible) Should be an affidavit signed as to who they are and if not different parties why.*
18. Pg. 92; IV. Contingency Planning-statute requirement for this? This section is vague. What elections? (pg.93 and Pg. 155 second full paragraph regarding back up roster/e-poll book) When is contingency plan approved, when is it activated or is there a limitation as to when it can be used? The County Parties should be provided with a copy of this and be informed _____ hours after its evoked.
19. Pg. 95; I. Voter Registration Information. What is a self-identified voter? Why is some of this section necessary? (I don't see any state or federal citations) Pg. 96 – II Voting and Voting Location information first sentence-what does the voting experience mean?
20. Pg. 98; second paragraph. If the inspection results in the need to implement procedures for emergency polling place then recognized political parties should be notified immediately of any changes.
21. Pg. 103; iii Filing Officer Processing of Nomination Petition- second bullet point, is this consistent with the voter registration form. How do you verify printed name if the voter form has only a signature. What is the standard for signing the form.
22. Pg. 104; b Independent Nomination states a 3 letter party designation. Should it say PND if they are not one of the recognized political parties.
23. Pg. 116; 1. Criteria for Disqualifying- What is the County Recorder Petition Signature Verification Guide. Who prepares it, is it on the county web? Etc.
24. Pg. 116; 2. County Recorders Signature Verification Report second bullet – In the County Recorders discretion the County Recorder may identify and the report may reflect a reason for disqualifying a signature other than the reasons specified in the challenged. This language is vague, and concerning for a procedures manual. If it's at CR discretion, then there should be a whole lot of accountability as to when this is possible with penalties involved if the court finds it frivolous.
25. Pg. 116; 3. Testimony and Evidence paragraph 2 the wording “must make best efforts to provide the certified copies of voter forms as soon as practicable” is very loose. Should there be a standard? Within _____ hours of the request.
26. Pg. 118 through 121 PPE get rid of the whole thing Legislative Change

27. Pg. 124; C. failure to timely establish Polling Places – this statute needs work? Reads like it’s an old throw back from horse and buggy day? You wouldn’t have a board unless you had a polling place??? If the Justice of the Peace does have to designate a polling place who works it, parties notified? Equipment?
28. Pg. 125; 9. Outreach to rural and underserved communities.- Does this mean you have to give these areas more consideration?
29. Pg. 126; A.R.S. 16-411 (H) third bullet-All Recognized Political Parties shall be notified
30. Pg. 127; II. Appointment and Training of Poll Workers 4th paragraph- When is this report to be provided to the BOS? Maybe an updated list shall be available to parties 24 hours prior to Election Day. Paragraph 7 if there are polling places where it has been impossible to seat the required alternate party workers, then an affidavit along with notification from Recognized Political Party that no workers were available shall be prepared by the OCE.*
31. Pg. 128; A. 6. Marked spoiled ballots the inspector and one judge shall be of different political parties. 11. Should this not state sealed? Might say that somewhere else 😊
32. Pg. 150; E. Storage and Security (4) It is specific here that it is “election staff of different political parties”.
33. Pg. 151; first paragraph – OCE should implement reasonable security procedures...should be replaces by shall. Filed prior to elections? Posted? Parties notified?
34. Pg. 153; VI Language Minority voting materials – first paragraph. Should there not be a more specific procedure for this? i.e. If a county not covered under NVRA opts to print material in Spanish and other languages...procedures will be adopted by the BOS of the County ____ days prior to printing of the ballots and all recognized political parties in the county will be notified. (for the whole election cycle?)
35. Pg. 154; VII Preparation of Signature Rosters and E Poll Books – is there something in statute or otherwise that states how the Federal Voters as designated from a “Full Ballot” voter?
36. Pg. 155; third full paragraph – providing most up to date information on rosters/epoll books. There needs to be a definite cut off for everyone then a certificate should be issued on the request of the voter. This option leaves inconsistent procedures that can be challenge? It should be noted that counties have lost power on election day...this is concerning.
37. Pg. 155 and 156; A signature roster or e-poll book must contain... (Item 7) this is not fully defined. Why is there not a separate roster for Federal Voter, as set forth in paragraph 2 for inactive. It seems that less confusion as to what ballot to get. (I understand that poll workers get confused but there needs to be consistent procedures and safe guards that voters get correct ballot)

38. Pg. 159; last paragraph. Is there a procedure if the provisional ballot accidentally gets put in the ballot box? If not then if that does happen, the voter and/or poll workers needs to sign something that states that happened.
39. Pg. 160; Re-precincting – first paragraph is vague. Could this trigger emergency polling places at an election? If so then language should be directed back to those procedures.
40. Pg. 162; E. Developing Contingency Plan – polling places. Language should be included that workers need to be kept in the same make up as set forth in poll worker statutes including if an alternate polling place needs to be open. If this is not possible then an affidavit should be signed by OCE as to what steps were taken and why it was not possible to follow statute. Recognized Political Parties need to be notified of the issue, real time.
41. Pg. 166; 10 and 11 Ballot stock should be inventoried and signed off on by poll workers of different recognized parties.*
42. Pg. 176; V. Assisting Voters on Election Day – third paragraph two members of the board (of different political parties) SHALL perform...*
43. Pg. 178; B. Issuing a Provisional Ballot (a) voter received an early ballot paragraph 2. This procedure is not defined. There is too much potential for the systems to go down. Is this just for e-poll books? Where are the safeguards?
44. Pg. 181; VII Challenges to a Voter Eligibility second paragraph; Are there any procedures to challenge a voter based on citizenship?
45. Pg. 183; VIII. Closing the Voting Location B. Poll Worker close out duties 1. Are there procedures to verify the Federal Voters against “Full Ballot” voters?
46. Pg. 186; Central Counting place operations 3rd paragraph speaks of OCE or designee to transfer ballots. Two board workers one from each of the recognized parties.*
47. Pg. 187; C. Manual Ballot Counting paragraph 1- parties should be informed immediately if there needs to be a manual count.

48. Pg. 188; footnote – If different political parties cannot be utilized a sworn affidavit must be signed by OCE stating what procedures were taken to find workers and when parties were notified of the deficiency.
49. Pg. 189; second paragraph – the receiving board shall ensure proper chain of custody documentation. This needs to be better defined. Third paragraph last sentence ...ballot transfer containers should be delivered unopened to the inspection Board. What are the procedures if they are opened/unsealed.
50. Pg. 190; 2 Provisional Ballots second and third bullet are confusing (both conditional and regular provisional) any Provisionals that were accidentally deposited in ballot box. Audit log?
51. Pg. 190; 3. Voted Early Ballots. Should read early ballots need to be deposited in a separate locked/sealed box. I still don't understand the process for counting Provisionals and early ballots at the same time.
52. Pg. 192; 1. Establishing a Duplication Board second paragraph, last sentence – are these kept on a log? Is there are standards for resolution
53. Pg. 197; F. Accuracy Certification Board last sentence. Log for errors detected on L & A and how they were resolved.
54. Pg. 199; item 7 of Verification of Provisional Ballots a good procedure; does it coincided with other procedures for Federal only
55. Pg. 232; 2. Scope of Duty to Canvass first paragraph statute change to make some specific requirements if after six postponements the board still can't canvass a certain precinct.
56. Pg. 234; d. Poll worker training report. Report should include any emergency poll workers that were added to any polling place or emergency polling place?

*Any time there is a deviation from having the recognized political parties present when specified maybe there should be documentation as to why and when parties were contacted and asked to provide workers.

Attorney General Brnovich Defends Arizona Election Integrity Laws at U.S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Attorney General Mark Brnovich argued to protect Arizona's commonsense election integrity laws before the United States Supreme Court (SCOTUS) on Tuesday morning. The Attorney General's Office (AGO) is asking the High Court to uphold Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting. At the heart of the case is whether states can pass laws to protect the integrity of elections.

"There is no more sacred duty for a public servant than preserving both the people's right to vote and their confidence in the election process,” said Attorney General Mark Brnovich. “Arizona’s ballot box safeguards are shared by many states, were recommended by a bipartisan commission, and are constitutional because they equally protect us all.”

The Democratic National Committee (DNC) has been challenging Arizona’s restrictions on out-of-precinct voting and ballot harvesting since 2016.

Since the 1970s, Arizona has required people to cast ballots at their assigned precinct, where voter rolls can be easily accessed and confirmed. This rational measure ensures order in our elections, minimizes lines, and prevents anyone from being disenfranchised in local races. Today, the majority of states require people to vote at their specific precinct.

Arizona also restricts the collection and delivery of ballots by third-parties or political operatives, commonly known as ballot harvesting. The Arizona Legislature passed the law in 2016, with exceptions for family, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials. In 2015, the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be City officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots. Civil Rights leaders had also raised concerns about elderly and vulnerable communities being targeted by ballot harvesting activists. This past December, the AGO indicted two individuals from Yuma County for allegedly engaging in ballot harvesting.

Additionally, in 2005, the bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform, chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker (Carter-Baker Commission), recognized that “absentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud.” The Carter-Baker Commission recommended that states prohibit third-parties from handling absentee ballots, except for family members, the post office, or election officials (the same exceptions included in the Arizona law).

The DNC claims Arizona’s restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting are a product of intentional discrimination and that they violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. General Brnovich argued Tuesday morning that Arizona’s laws were constitutional, something even the Biden Justice Department acknowledged in a recent SCOTUS filing.

SCOTUS is expected to make a decision by this Summer.

BACKGROUND:

In 2016, the DNC challenged Arizona's laws restricting ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting. A federal district court judge ruled in Arizona's favor and upheld the laws. The case was then appealed to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, where the laws were again upheld. The DNC then appealed to a larger group of Ninth Circuit Court judges, who struck down the laws, a mere four days before the 2016 General Election. AG Brnovich immediately appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, and the very next day the High Court overruled the Ninth Circuit, reinstating Arizona's ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct laws, pending a full hearing of the merits in the lower court.

In late 2018, a federal district court judge once again upheld Arizona's laws after a 10-day trial. DNC attorneys appealed the case to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit, who again upheld Arizona's laws. The DNC again appealed the case to a larger group of Ninth Circuit judges, and in early 2020 the court reversed itself and struck down the laws just as ballots for the Democratic Presidential Preference Election were beginning to be mailed out. AG Brnovich immediately filed for a stay of the decision, and the Ninth Circuit granted the request, leaving Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting presently intact.

In April 2020, General Brnovich asked SCOTUS to rule on Arizona's laws being challenged.

In October 2020, SCOTUS agreed to hear Arizona's case, which has garnered an outpouring of support from local and national leaders seeking to maintain the integrity of elections in Arizona and across the country.

Dear Joe Kanefield,

This message was just sent to Attorney General Brnovich. It is for your information. May election integrity occur in the office ASAP! What was the purpose of the $500,000 given to create an Elections Integrity Unit if nothing of substance will happen?

Sincerely,

Arwen Gustafson

To: <mark.brnovich@azag.gov>

Attorney General Mark Brnovich,

The AG Elections Integrity Unit received more than 2000 complaints in very early November, right after the election. Also in November, a report was filed of fraudulent ballots flown into Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport and then taken to the Maricopa County Tabulation Center. This was corroborated with affidavits, video and audio evidence. Considering this, the thousands of complaints and affidavits, and the statistical data, what have you done about it? Have you actually studied the statistical data, sir? How do you explain it?

It is my understanding that Jennifer Wright, who works in your office, wanted to pursue an investigation and you shut it down. You've led the Legislature on a wild goose chase, bouncing them back and forth with the courts and debating on authority and enforcement of subpoenas. The distraction has been masterful. February 1st came and passed, which ended the Safe Harbor rule. How convenient that we weren't able to get an audit before February 1. Now the machines have been tampered with.

I and others demand a forensic audit of the ballots using Kinematic Artificat Technology, which can verify a minimum of 20 validation points on each ballot. This technology is presently utilized to identify counterfeit currency, bank notes, bonds, stocks, passports, etc. This is the an audit that the Senate is pursuing and would actually yield true results. I will not be pacified with the incomplete and incompetently handled audit with antiquated methods currently underway by the Board of Supervisors.

Know that the people understand what is going on. I know about the differences in audits, I know about the HL8230 plane and Scott Koch, I know about the tampering with the machines, and I know about the Board of Supervisors and their multiple shenanigans.

I now know you are not to be trusted and despite the $500,000 received at time of launch, your Elections Integrity Unit is more in the business of covering up fraud rather than uncovering it - or is the problem the leadership in your office, YOU?

I AM NOT FOOLED and I VOTE,

Arwen Gustafson
Maricopa County resident

Bethany and Rachelle -

This is the final response letter edited by the team and approved by Joe K. I know Rachelle has some of these that came directly to Mark's email. Not sure if we have others, but I'm not sure how to coordinate this with Jennifer since it will be coming from her.

Let me know if I need or can do anything.

Thanks,
Jason

PS – here's the sample email this responds to:

Attorney General Mark Brnovich,

I voted for you, and I expect you to DO SOMETHING FOR the PEOPLE! We know the AG Elections Integrity Unit received over 2,000 complaints early in Nov., right after the election, and a report was filed on fraudulent ballots flown into Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport and taken to Maricopa County Tabulation Center which was corroborated with affidavits, and video and audio evidence. Considering this, the thousands of complaints and affidavits, and the statistical data, what have you done about it, Mr. Brnovich? Have you even looked at the wild statistical data, sir? How do you explain it? We are ASKING YOU NICELY.

It's my understanding Jennifer Wright wanted to pursue an investigation and you shut it down. You've led the Legislature on a wild goose chase, bouncing them back and forth with the courts, debating on authority and enforcement of subpoenas JUST WASTING OUR PRECIOUS TIME. How convenient that we weren't able to get an audit before the safe harbor rule, and now the machines have been tampered with. WE ARE LIVID!

Not a phony audit like the last few, a forensic audit of the ballots using kinematic artifact technology, which can verify a minimum of 20 validation points on every ballot. This technology is presently utilized to identify counterfeit currency, bank notes, bonds, stocks, passports, etc. AUDITING VALUABLE THINGS, LIKE OUR VOTE! This is the real audit the Senate would ensure, BECAUSE TGE PEOPLE HAVE DEMANDED IT.

We left you alone mostly, but will not REST until our VOTES and ELECETIONS completely and competently handled! We're not good with a baloney audit like currently underway by the Board of Supervisors. WHY ARE THEY TOUCHING OUR VOTING MATERIAL!?

Please wake up. People understand what is going on. We know about the differences in audits, we know about HL8230 plane and Scott Koch, we know about the tampering with the machines, we know about the Board wasting our time and we know how to get your ass out of office! I am a friend of a Governor Jan Brewer and her son who worked as an atty in YOUR OFFICE so I take this personally.

Until we know our votes count, we are all just kind of willy nilly with no LAW & ORDER. That whole board should be DOING TIME. You are not to be trusted, Mr.AG. Your "Elections Integrity Unit" received $500K AND WE WANT OUR —ING MONEY BACK.

Not just "TAKING IT" anymore. This is our new job... BABYSITTING OUR ELECTED OFFICIALS.

Subject: RE: Election Assistance Letter

Chief –

I would suggest revising the statutes listed as follows:

ARS 16-515: Restrictions on activity within 75 ft of a polling location, a Class 2 Misdemeanor
ARS 16-1004: Interference with election officers, a Class 5 Felony
ARS 16-1005: Ballot fraud and abuse, including the harvesting of ballots, Class 4, 5, and 6 felonies
ARS 16-1006: Hindering or disrupting voting by force, threats, menaces, bribery or any corrupt means, a Class 5 felony

There are other statutes in Title 16 Chapter 7 that we could try to summarize. ARS 16-1018 would be great to highlight because it touches on crimes committed by voters - for example – but there are so many ways to commit violations of the statute that it is difficult to summarize it in a few words.

Thanks

Ryan Anderson
Arizona Attorney General's Office

(via email)

Dear Mr. Anderson:

This is a request for any communications from and to the Attorney General's Office within the past four months about the contents of or changes to the state Elections Manual.

If you or your public agency contend any portion of this information is not subject to disclosure, please provide me with a list of dates and times of each meeting along with the specific exemption under the Public Records Act for withholding the information. This will make it easier for a court to review the items in camera and determine the validity of each claim.

As to any promise your office made to obtain the data, I am sure you are well aware that the mere promise of confidentiality to any other party is insufficient to shield a public record from disclosure. There also is case law spelling out that the generic exemption for "best interests of the state" involves more than the best interest of the public official or agency. And please note that no Arizona court has recognized "executive privilege."

Also, if you contend any of the information is not subject to the Public Records Act, please immediately produce any portions for which you do not claim an exemption.

The records are being sought for the purpose of a news story and not for any commercial purpose as defined by Title 39. I will pay a reasonable fee for copying any paper documents. However, any documents that exist electronically should be furnished in their native format as required under Arizona law.

Thank you.

Subject: Election Assistance Letter

Gentlemen:

SSA John White, AAG Lawson, and SA Knuth collaborated on this letter to send to police agencies. This was in response to an inquiry they received about what our agency would be doing with regards to the election and potential issues. They collectively came up with both the idea of a hotline as well as correspondence to all of the LE agencies in the state.

If you approve of this letter and content, we do have a few options for getting it out to the agencies. We can send it via teletype, I can have it posted to the AZ chiefs and sheriff's association via their email alert system. We can also actually mail the letters.

I think this comports well with the agency's responsibilities as well as the expectations of the public. We will have agents working the phone lines until after the polls close if this is approved.

I appreciate the hard work and initiative shown by our agents and attorneys.

DISCUSS

Location	Current Language	Comment
Chapter 4
Pg 84 FN 22	Though not required, counties may, in their discretion, conduct additional pre- and/or post-election L&A tests, including with participation from representatives of the recognized political parties.	Footnote is unclear when this additional testing is allowed. Once certified for use in an election, equipment is then “deployed” and further testing would invalidate certification. Prior to certification, general testing important preparation. Procedures outlined in 2014 EPM Pg 104 for “diagnostic testing”. Post-election L&A is discussed in Chapter 12, Section II.
Pg 85 ¶ 1	In-person voting, both during the early voting period and on Election Day, requires the deployment of accessible voting equipment for voters with disabilities (and ballot marking by all voters in certain counties).	Unclear what “ballot marking by all voters” means. Accessible voting equipment has only been statutorily authorized under ARS 16-442.01 for people with disabilities. County-wide deployment as primary means of voting has not been statutorily approved.
Pg 177 ¶ 6	6. U.S. Department of Justice or other federal government observers.	Post Shelby, there is no statutory exception for DOJ. Inclusion absent statutory authority requires further discussion. See https://www.justice.gov/crt/about-federal-observers-and-election-monitoring . “Other federal government observers” is vague and doesn't comport with previous EPM.

Re: Attorney General's Office Review of Draft Elections Procedures Manual

Ms. Dul:

Our division on behalf of the Attorney General has completed its initial review of the Draft Elections Procedures Manual. Several legal objections must be addressed before the Attorney General can approve the manual in accordance with A.R.S. § 16-452(B). Included with this letter is a spreadsheet detailing our objections, suggestions, and questions.

To expedite approval, the spreadsheet includes suggested changes that we believe would bring the Manual fully into compliance with state and federal laws. The objections are categorized as follows:

1. Critical: Instances where the draft Manual violates or conflicts with statutory provisions, exceeds statutory authority, or fails to address the Manual's statutory requirements.
2. Important: Instances where changes are necessary to achieve and maintain the maximum degree of correctness, impartiality, uniformity and efficiency as required under A.R.S. § 16-452.
3. Recommendations: Instances where changes would be helpful, but not necessary, to achieve and maintain the maximum degree of correctness, impartiality, uniformity and efficiency as required under A.R.S. § 16-452.
4. Discussion Items: Instances where further clarification is required to understand the meaning and intent so that we can determine what, if any, recommended changes are necessary.

In addition to the spreadsheet, please also find a redlined Word version of the Manual. Please note we did not undertake to proofread the original document but rather focused on a reviewing the Manual's adherence to state and federal laws. Although a few citations were added or corrected, they were germane to specific issues. As a whole, we did not check every citation for accuracy.

After reviewing our comments, we would appreciate the opportunity to discuss the issues presented here, as well as answer any questions you might have.

Dear Mr. Bendor:

Thank you for contacting the Arizona Attorney General's Office ("AGO"). This letter serves as the response to your public records request dated August 4, 2020.

Request:

"All email communications (including email messages, email attachments, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and calendar attachments) sent or received by (a) Attorney General Mark Brnovich, or anyone communicating on his behalf, such as an assistant or scheduler, or (b) Chief Deputy Joe Kanefield containing any of the following key terms:

Search Terms:

- "Election Integrity
- EIU
- "Election unit"
- "Elections unit"

We also took the liberty of including "Elections Integrity Unit" in our search.

Response:

Some of the responsive records are attached. Additional records are forthcoming. Please note that some records have had personally identifiable information redacted in lieu of withholding records in their entirety.

In the event that the Arizona Attorney General's Office has produced any document containing un-redacted confidential or privileged information, AGO hereby asserts that such disclosure was accidental and does not waive any protections afforded under law.

Please feel free to reach out should you have any questions regarding the records.

Sincerely,

2. All email communications (including emails, calendar invitations, and attachments thereto) sent by any of the officials in the Arizona Attorney General's Office listed below concerning poll watching activities or the recruitment of poll watchers.

Officials in the Office of the Arizona Attorney General:

- Mark Brnovich, Attorney General, or anyone communicating on his behalf (such as an assistant or scheduler)
- Joe Kanefield, Chief Deputy & Chief of Staff
- Ryan Anderson, Director of Communications
- Jason Isaak, Advisor to the Attorney General
- Jennifer Wright, Assistant Attorney General

For item 2 of this request, American Oversight believes that records containing the terms below are likely to be responsive records, and requests that your office, at a minimum, employ these search terms to identify responsive records.

Search Terms:

In an effort to accommodate your office and reduce the number of potentially responsive records to be processed and produced, American Oversight has limited both items of its request to emails sent by the officials listed above. To be clear, however, American Oversight still requests that complete email chains be produced, displaying both sent and received messages. This means, for example, that both Attorney General Brnovich’s response to an email about poll watching and the initial received message are responsive to this request and should be produced.

For both items of this request, please provide all responsive records from January 1, 2020, to the date the search is conducted.

Statement of Noncommercial Purpose

This request is made for noncommercial purposes. American Oversight seeks records regarding the Arizona government’s involvement in poll watching activities or poll watcher recruitment. Claims of widespread election fraud are of significant public interest both in Arizona and nationwide.<sup>1</sup> Records with the potential to shed light on this matter would contribute significantly to public understanding of operations of the government, including whether and to what extent the Arizona Attorney General’s Office is engaged in poll watcher recruitment.

Because American Oversight is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, this request is not in American Oversight’s financial interest. American Oversight’s mission is to promote transparency in government, to educate the public about government activities, and to ensure the accountability of government officials. American Oversight uses the information gathered, and its analysis of it, to educate the public through reports, press releases, or other media.

American Oversight also makes materials it gathers available on its public website and promotes their availability on social media platforms, such as Facebook and Twitter.<sup>2</sup>

Because this request is made for noncommercial purposes, American Oversight requests that any fees charged in connection with processing this request be limited to copying and postage charges, if applicable.<sup>3</sup> Please notify American Oversight of any anticipated fees or costs in excess of $100 prior to incurring such costs or fees.

Guidance Regarding the Search & Processing of Requested Records

In connection with its request for records, American Oversight provides the following guidance regarding the scope of the records sought and the search and processing of records:

- Our request for records includes any attachments to those records or other materials enclosed with those records when they were previously transmitted. To the extent that an email is responsive to our request, our request includes all prior messages sent or received in that email chain, as well as any attachments to the email.
- Please search all relevant records or systems containing records regarding agency business. Do not exclude records regarding agency business contained in files, email accounts, or devices in the personal custody of your officials, such as personal email accounts or text messages.
- If any records are withheld in full or in part, pursuant to A.R.S. § 39-121.01(D)(2), please provide an index of records or categories of records that have been withheld and the reasons the records or categories of records have been withheld.
- In the event some portions of the requested records are properly exempt from disclosure, please disclose any reasonably segregable non-exempt portions of the requested records. If a request is denied in whole, please state specifically why it is not reasonable to segregate portions of the record for release.

- Please take appropriate steps to ensure that records responsive to this request are not deleted by the agency before the completion of processing for this request. If records potentially responsive to this request are likely to be located on systems where they are subject to potential deletion, including on a scheduled basis, please take steps to prevent that deletion, including, as appropriate, by instituting a litigation hold on those records.

Conclusion

If you have any questions regarding how to construe this request for records or believe that further discussions regarding search and processing would facilitate a more efficient production of records of interest to American Oversight, please do not hesitate to contact American Oversight to discuss this request. American Oversight welcomes an opportunity to discuss its request with you before you undertake your search or incur search or duplication costs. By working together at the outset, American Oversight and your agency can decrease the likelihood of costly and time-consuming litigation in the future.

Where possible, please provide responsive material in an electronic format by email. Alternatively, please provide responsive material in native format or in PDF format on a USB drive. Please send any responsive material being sent by mail to American Oversight, 1030 15th Street NW, Suite B255, Washington, DC 20005. If it will accelerate release of responsive records to American Oversight, please also provide responsive material on a rolling basis.

We share a common mission to promote transparency in government. American Oversight looks forward to working with your agency on this request. If you do not understand any part of this request, please contact Khahilia Shaw at records@americanoversight.org or (202) 539-6507.

Sincerely,

Austin R. Evers

The Attorney General's Office provides the essential services of protecting Arizona and its citizens. Therefore, our office locations are remaining open during the COVID-19 public health emergency. Nevertheless, we recognize that it makes sense to avoid unnecessary trips and personal contact right now, and we encourage everyone to first reach us by phone or email if we can be of assistance.

As your Attorney General, I remain committed to upholding the rule of law in all circumstances that our state may face. Please be assured that we are holding fraudsters and criminals accountable. We will continue to provide the information you need to stay ahead of -- and away from -- these bad actors.

Below is a brief update on what we've been doing as well as a number of resources to help you and your family stay safe and informed.

We will get through this together.

AZAG OCTOBER UPDATE:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S COVID-19 CONSUMER FRAUD PAGE

Fraudsters are finding new scams and schemes to take advantage of Arizona consumers during the COVID-19 outbreak. Since COVID-19, we've gone after a number of bad actors who have attempted to defraud the public or use the pandemic to exploit consumers. We launched a webpage in March to help you and your family recognize and avoid COVID-19 scams and frauds.

FILE AN ELECTION RELATED COMPLAINT WITH OUR OFFICE

The Attorney General's Office is on the forefront of protecting the integrity of Arizona's elections. Earlier this year, we launched the AGO's first-ever Election Integrity Unit. We currently have more than 30 open criminal and civil election integrity or voter fraud-related investigations, and have indicted several individuals for allegedly committing election fraud. Any member of the public may file an election-related complaint with our office.

The AGO remains committed to defending our election laws and preventing the dismantling of Arizona's voting integrity safeguards. Arizonans should determine what common sense voter fraud laws are appropriate for our state, not out of state special interests. We're asking the U.S. Supreme Court to review a legal challenge to Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting after a misguided ruling by the Ninth Circuit struck the measures down and other elected officials refused to defend the law. For now, ballot harvesting remains illegal in Arizona.

Herrera allegedly offered or presented forged Qualifying Contribution forms to the Secretary of State's Office, and he perjured himself by falsely asserting that he had obtained qualifying legitimate contributions from individuals. Herrera allegedly took the identities of 16 individuals with the goal of attempting to obtain money from the taxpayer-funded Citizens Clean Elections Fund.

William, can someone address why state election officials are getting so much money with no direction or oversight? In Arizona, we have a Secretary of State who is consistently not defending statutes concerning election integrity and apparently is coordinating with those challenging our laws. Why wasn't any funding provided directly to Attorney's General offices for covid related fraud investigations and border security cases?

Good Morning AG Brnovich,

Wanted to follow-up on the DOJ Coronavirus Grants. I believe Deputy AG Josh Kredit from your office spoke with the Bureau of Justice Assistance's Deputy Director Tracey Trautman earlier this week about this.

The CARES Act state and local funding is statutorily mandated to be awarded pursuant to the formula allocation from the FY19 Byrne JAG Grants. Consequently, the State Administering Agency (SAA) appointed by the Governor for the FY19 Byrne JAG Grants has to apply for the state, but your office can absolutely be a sub-grantee. The Arizona SAA for the Coronavirus Emergency funding is the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission, and the best person to contact about the distribution of the state funds is Executive Director Andrew T. LeFevre (602-364-1156).

The good news is that the application process for them is much more streamlined and the Department is committed to turning applications around in 7-10 days, and we hope this will ensure the sub-grantees can start receiving funds expeditiously as well. The BJA noted that the Arizona SAA is an experienced grantee with a solid background of managing Arizona's funding over the years, and we do not expect anything less during these challenging times.

I hope this is helpful, but please do not hesitate to reach out with follow-up.

Thank you!
Danielle

I saw that article last night, too. Joe's a pretty good reporter, and all he had to do was go down to the Recorder's Office. I think he got it right.

I tried three numbers for him and scoured Facebook, etc - nothing.

It's beautiful up here today. We took an hour or two to hike over near Williams (near the smoke from the Sedona area fire) - awesome! So, where did you go instead of NAU?

Have a great weekend! --Paul

I read an article tonight from Joe Ferguson at Daily Star and it said he's registered Independent (in Pima County). Has been since 2014. He was formerly registered as a Republican for about two decades. Again, this was all from the Daily Star article, so take it for what it's worth.

If I could do it all over again, I would have gone to NAU. Flag's a great town.
Cheers,

No exhibits/photos/etc – yet. He hasn't actually been booked.
Don't know party affiliation (but would also love to know).
Not "first action" by EIU. This was already in the queue.
Moving forward, as the Unit takes an actual form, these types of prosecutions will be handled by the unit.
We've got several other election-related matters already in the pipeline.
Jumper was first registered in Tucson in 1992. His most recent registration in Washoe County, NV was in 2016.
Don't want to comment officially on his actual residency status without knowing more facts (meaning, does he split his time, is he a snow bird, where does he spend the majority of his time, etc.)

Let me know if you need anything else.

Tucson Man Charged with Multiple Felonies for Illegal Voting and Perjury

TUCSON - Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced that Randy Allen Jumper, age 61 of Tucson, has been charged with two counts of Illegal Voting and one count of Perjury in Pima County Superior Court. Jumper was charged in a felony Indictment handed down in July, with voting twice in the 2016 General Election – once in Pima County, and once in Washoe County, Nevada.

Jumper was also charged with voting in Arizona after having completed a sworn declaration that he was a resident of Nevada. Jumper was charged with a third felony for making a false declaration by signing a statement under penalty of perjury that read: "I am a registered voter in Pima County Arizona, I have not voted and will not vote in this election in any other county or state, I understand that knowingly voting more than once in any election is a...felony..."

The case was investigated by the Arizona Attorney General's Office after Jumper's conduct was initially identified and referred for review by the Arizona Secretary of State's Office in 2018.

Each count of Illegal Voting is a Class 5 felony. Count 3, Perjury, is also a Class 5 felony. Jumper is alleged to have violated A.R.S. §16-1016(1), 16-1016(2), 16-101, 16-1021, 13-701, 13-702, 13-801, 13-2702(A)(2), and 13-2701.

Jumper is set for arraignment on Monday, September 23, 2019, in Pima County Superior Court.

Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson is prosecuting the case.

All charged Defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty.

A copy of the Indictment can be found here.

Good Morning AG Brnovich,

Wanted to follow-up on the DOJ Coronavirus Grants. I believe Deputy AG Josh Kredit from your office spoke with the Bureau of Justice Assistance's Deputy Director Tracey Trautman earlier this week about this.

The CARES Act state and local funding is statutorily mandated to be awarded pursuant to the formula allocation from the FY19 Byrne JAG Grants. Consequently, the State Administering Agency (SAA) appointed by the Governor for the FY19 Byrne JAG Grants has to apply for the state, but your office can absolutely be a sub-grantee. The Arizona SAA for the Coronavirus Emergency funding is the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission, and the best person to contact about the distribution of the state funds is Executive Director Andrew T. LeFevre (602-364-1156).

The good news is that the application process for them is much more streamlined and the Department is committed to turning applications around in 7-10 days, and we hope this will ensure the sub-grantees can start receiving funds expeditiously as well. The BJA noted that the Arizona SAA is an experienced grantee with a solid background of managing Arizona's funding over the years, and we do not expect anything less during these challenging times.

I hope this is helpful, but please do not hesitate to reach out with follow-up.

Thank you!

William, can someone address why state election officials are getting so much money with no direction or oversight? In Arizona, we have a Secretary of State who is consistently not defending statutes concerning election integrity and apparently is coordinating with those challenging our laws. Why wasn't any funding provided directly to Attorney's General offices for covid related fraud investigations and border security cases?

Thank you for contacting the Arizona Attorney General's Office ("AGO"). This letter serves as the response to your public records request dated August 4, 2020.

Request:

"All email communications (including email messages, email attachments, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and calendar attachments) sent or received by (a) Attorney General Mark Brnovich, or anyone communicating on his behalf, such as an assistant or scheduler, or (b) Chief Deputy Joe Kanefield containing any of the following key terms:

Search Terms:

- "Election Integrity
- EIU
- "Election unit"
- "Elections unit"

We also took the liberty of including "Elections Integrity Unit" in our search.

Response:

Some of the responsive records are attached. Additional records are forthcoming. Please note that some records have had personally identifiable information redacted in lieu of withholding records in their entirety.

In the event that the Arizona Attorney General's Office has produced any document containing un-redacted confidential or privileged information, AGO hereby asserts that such disclosure was accidental and does not waive any protections afforded under law.

Please feel free to reach out should you have any questions regarding the records.

Sincerely,

Rachelle Lumpp

Deputy Public Information Officer

A Message From Attorney General Mark Brnovich

At the end of the year, I've always believed it's important to be with our families, raise a glass with friends and reflect on what is really important in our lives. In 2020, however, even that time honored tradition may look different. Health officials say we should avoid large gatherings of extended family and friends, especially for those at higher risk for COVID 19 due to age and comorbidities. That is both awful and solid advice. It turns out that it's not just the Grinch and fraudsters who are out to steal our holiday cheer.

While family gatherings may look different or even be virtual, we can nevertheless still engage in the part of the Season where we reflect on what's important in our lives. When we do, we are reminded that protecting ourselves and each other is not just something that we do at home, but throughout our career at the Attorney General's Office. From the Supreme Court to the Internet, Election Integrity to Community Shred-a-thons, Family Court to representing State Agencies, and from Law Enforcement to Student Outreach, our team continues to do fantastic work in protecting the public and making our state a better place for all Arizonans.

I know this month's newsletter cannot replace the joy of sharing a home-cooked meal with our families, but perhaps it can provide food for thought and some inspiration regarding the difference we are making. I also hope you know just how much I appreciate all of your efforts during this especially challenging time. I wish everyone Peace and Joy this Holiday Season and good health and cheer as we welcome the New Year.

A Message From Chief Deputy & Chief of Staff Joe Kanefield

Wiley E. Jones served as Arizona Attorney General from 1915 to 1921. He was our State's second Attorney General and had the dubious honor of serving during the 1918 flu pandemic which lasted from 1918 to 1920 and infected 500 million people, nearly a third of the world's population at the time. Through four devastating waves this flu was one of the most deadly pandemics in human history. Although the State and the Office of the Attorney General were much smaller at the time, General Jones and his team were able to help guide Arizonans through the turmoil and usher in more prosperous times.

We can glean great knowledge and inspiration from history. With General Brnovich's leadership and everyone's help, we have and will continue to do our part to guide Arizona through the current pandemic and follow in the footsteps of our predecessors who overcame similar adversity.

As I have said many times, the people who work at the Attorney General's Office are committed to serving the public with pride and professionalism. We choose to be here because we believe in our mission. It's for this reason more than any other that we have been able to navigate the challenges of protecting the public during this health crisis with the unwavering ability to adapt to what has become the new norm of remote working. Attorney General Brnovich and I thank you again for doing your part to accomplish this mission without missing a beat.

To close, I'll share some trivia about AG Jones who was quite a character. A few months after being defeated by W.J. Galbraith in the election of 1920, AG Jones was bit by a gila monster while staying at the Jones Hotel in Safford, Arizona. To add embarrassment to injury, it was a gila monster that he had brought with him into the hotel in a failed effort to impress some women in the lobby. As the former AG discussed the beauty and virtues of the reptile, it bit into his left middle finger and did not release its grip for more than a minute. Jones couldn't speak for five hours as a result of the swelling in his tongue. Perhaps that was a good thing.

There's no doubt a lesson to be learned from AG Jones' gila monster experience in Safford, but I'll leave that one for you to contemplate. Right now, let's just reflect on his success in assisting Arizona through a pandemic in 1921 ... and how we will do the same in 2021.

With that said, Attorney General Brnovich and I would like to wish you and your families a safe and happy holiday season.

Operations Division

Let's Celebrate!

In October, Leslie Welch and Brock Heathcotte had an "Unprecedented" wedding! Congratulations to the happy couple!!

Michael Burkett Crist and his wife have a new daughter! Cosima Guinevere was born November 3rd at 9:48am weighing 6 lbs 4 oz, and was 19.75 inches long. Welcome to the world!

Operations Division

Mailroom Makeover

In November, the Palm building mailroom underwent a much needed renovation. To make things more convenient, the mail boxes are now located within the mailroom, and we also created an area where employees can stock up on necessary PPE (hand sanitizers, surface wipes, masks and more!).

State Government Division

Agency Counsel Section

AAG Caroline Guerrero and husband TJ welcomed beautiful daughter Zara Ada on November 1, 2020. She was 6 pounds, 9 ounces and 19 inches!

AAG Kara Karlson made the news by volunteering to test Moderna's COVID19 vaccine:

Mesa mom volunteered to test Moderna's COVID-19 vaccine

Thousands of Americans have volunteered to test the COVID-19 vaccine, and one of them lives in Mesa. Kara Karlson says she did it to protect her 2-year-old daughter.

AAG Kelly Gillilan-Gibson's sons, Kellen #45 (2021 graduate) and Cayden #42 (2024 graduate), attend Arizona College Prep and are on its football team. Their team won the Metro East title and they played in the state playoffs.

State Government Division

Licensing & Enforcement Section

AAG Sunita Krishna Cairo and her husband Manny welcomed their son Emilio Gael Cairo to their family on July 16, 2020. Baby Emilio joins big sister Indra who is 2. Congratulations to all!

Tanya Martinez joined LES as a legal secretary. Tanya relocated back to Phoenix after spending several years in Gallup, New Mexico, where she worked as an assistant to the Gallup City Attorney and Mayor.

Former AAG and LES Section Chief Monty Lee unexpectedly passed away on September 1, 2020. Monty was a great friend and mentor to the attorneys in LES who had the pleasure of working with him.

The Licensing and Enforcement Section spread holiday cheer by participating in the St. Vincent De Paul's Adopt-a-Family program. LES provided gifts for a family of five from Chandler. The gifts included games, sporting equipment and clothes along with a gift card for groceries. Employees of LES delivered the gifts on December 18th. All of the LES staff enjoyed contributing to such a worthy cause.

Liability Management Section

Trial Successes:

Keates v. Koile, et al.

In March, 2020, Senior Litigation Counsels Cynthia Starkey and Tim Watson obtained a defense verdict in the federal district court on behalf of the Department of Child Safety. Thanks to Senior Paralegals Erica Amaral, Kasey Rivera, and Jessica Thompson and Legal Secretaries Lynda Ficarra and Jennifer Navarro for assisting in trial preparation and at trial

Jose H. Peralta v. Collins

In February, 2020, AAGs Mike Gaughan and Kara Klima obtained a defense verdict in federal district court on behalf of DPS. Plaintiff alleged negligence and constitutional violations arising out of Plaintiff's arrest for suspicion of driving under the influence. After a four day trial, the jury returned a defense verdict on all counts. Thanks to Senior Paralegals Linda Hettich and Yana Sarumov and Legal Secretary Lynda Ficarra.

Additional Appellate Successes:

In the past year, LMS AAGs, with assistance from paralegals and legal secretaries, successfully defended the State in 17 Appellate cases.

Personal Accomplishments:

Senior Litigation Counsel Chris Feasel completed his 8th season as a high school football official, acting as line judge for the 2A playoff game between Arizona Lutheran and Wilcox. Feasel, pictured here (far left) began his officiating career in California in the Contra Costa Football Officials Association, where he officiated over games including state powerhouse De La Salle High School. After moving to Arizona in 2016, he became an official with the Arizona Interscholastic Association (“AIA”) and has worked playoff games 2 out of the last 3 years. Anyone interested in becoming an official can contact him at Christopher.Feasel@azag.gov.

Natural Resources Section

NRS closed two huge deals this year!

Jack Crestin, born Leap Day, February 29, 2020, to Kevin Crestin and his wife, Christy.

Melody Rose Rigsby, born July 17, 2020, to Maracia Rigsby and her husband, James.

In addition, NRS assisted the State Land Department to close two substantial deals bringing hundreds of millions of dollars into the State Land Trust to benefit K-12 education. On November 4, 2020, ASLD auctioned 2,800 acres of land east of Apache Junction in return for $245 million plus a 50% share in future net revenues from development of a master planned community. And on December 9, 2020, ASLD auctioned 1,200 acres of land in north Phoenix west of I-17 in return for $89 million plus the installation of over $200 million of infrastructure. The successful bidder, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, is expected to begin construction shortly on a $12 billion semiconductor plant.

CLD New Employee

Marie Elena Cobb, Executive Assistant

Marie has been with the AGO since July 2016 but has been in and around the legal field for 23+ years. Prior to joining CLD in October, Marie was with the Liability Management and Protective Services Sections as a Legal Secretary. Marie is an Arizona native originally from Sierra Vista near Fort Huachuca. She has 2 daughters, Isabelle and Makayla, ages 13 and 10, respectively, and enjoys doing re-enactments in Tombstone, Arizona. In her free time Marie also enjoys photography, geocaching, hiking, crafting, live theatre, singing, jewelry making and anything else that allows her to explore her creative side.

In January, CLD OA Kim Cundiff and husband Tony celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary in Las Vegas with their children.

Civil Litigation Division

Bankruptcy Collection & Enforcement Section (BCE)

Kristin McDonald, Assistant Attorney General
Prior to joining the AGO, Kristin represented institutional mortgage lenders for 10 years in the default servicing industry including foreclosure related matters, bankruptcy, excess proceeds, and title curative litigation. Kristin grew up in the Seattle area and upon moving to AZ in 1997 (Go Sundevils!!) was shocked to learn it was possible to live in sunshine and a warm climate versus constant grey and rain. In her spare time, she enjoys reading – currently binging on Elin Hilderbrand novels, volunteering with Phoenix Children’s Chorus, taking random group fitness classes, and spending time with her husband and 10 year old daughter.

Alexis Galindo, Administrative Assistant, started with BCE in January.

On October 29, Andrea Freeman, Collector III, retired. Even during COVID she was given a proper send off as we thanked her for 25 years of service to the State of Arizona with a buffet of treats, snacks and gifts.

Community Outreach & Education Section (COED)

COED New Employees:

Marle Ethelbah, Community Outreach and Education Coordinator
Marle started with COED in November. She is an ASU graduate, with a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work. After graduation, she decided to teach English in Japan. This is where she developed a passion for education and public speaking. Upon her return to the United States, Marle worked for agencies that helped at-risk populations. She is excited to work for the Community Outreach section of the Attorney General's Office, because it combines her educational background and passion for helping vulnerable populations. In her spare time, Marle enjoys painting, reading, and spending time with friends and family.

In June of 2020, Community Outreach was excited to learn we would be moving to the Civil Litigation Division. This move allows Community Outreach to work more closely with Consumer Protection, Civil Rights, and the Tobacco Enforcement Unit to help constituents across Arizona.

Since the beginning of the pandemic, Community Outreach, like the rest of the office, had to adapt to a new way of reaching the public. Outreach staff was able to quickly transition to virtual trainings and were able to offer live webinars to the public as well as recorded webinars for the public to watch when convenient. Because of this, Outreach has been able to reach thousands of Arizonans virtually.

Civil Litigation Division

In addition to virtual learning, in September of 2020 Community Outreach began offering free No Contact Shred-a-thons and Prescription Drug take back events to the public. Because of these events we were able to help over 900 Arizonans shred over 50,000 pounds of documents and recover hundreds of pounds of prescription medications.

Civil Litigation Division

Division of Civil Rights Section (DCRS)

DCRS New Employees:

Chris Carlsen, Senior Litigation Counsel

Chris Carlsen rejoined DCRS in April. As an experienced trial and appellate attorney, Chris has worked in private and public practice, primarily litigating civil rights, family law, and personal injury actions. Previously with the Attorney General's Office and while employed with 501(c)(3) non-profit entities, Chris practiced before the Ninth Circuit. In addition to his wealth of knowledge regarding civil and appellate practice, Chris brings to DCRS an expertise in disability law and employment law. Chris also teaches disability law classes at Northern Arizona University.

Valerie Grijalva, Compliance Officer

Valerie Grijalva joined DCRS in August as a Compliance Officer. Valerie is an experienced investigator who has worked with some of Arizona's largest State agencies. Valerie's expertise involves working with vulnerable populations in high pressure situations. In her spare time she enjoys spending time with her family and taking family hikes with her dog.

Karla Mejia Rivera, Administrative Assistant, started with DCRS in June.

La-Rae Subay, Compliance Officer II, started with DCRS in October.

Virgil Clark, Compliance Officer I, started with DCRS in June.

Ryan Bishop, Assistant Attorney General, started with DCRS in August.

Sasha Gonzalez, Compliance Officer, started with DCRS in November.

Civil Litigation Division

DCRS, on the personal side:

On July, 21, the Civil Rights Section welcomed its youngest addition, Vivienne Rai weighing 7 pounds. Congratulations to Compliance Officer Ian Rai and wife Genesis on their beautiful baby girl.

Congratulations to Compliance Officer Gamaliel Vance on his marriage to his longtime girlfriend Desiree on July 25.

In December, two valued DCRS team members will be retiring – Dorothy Jim, Compliance Officer III and Patricia Bianchi, Tucson Compliance Manager. We are grateful to their service to Arizonans, to civil rights, and to the Arizona Attorney General's Office.

DCRS Case Highlights

State of Arizona v. Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar

In February, 2020, DCRS resolved its lawsuit against Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar. In its October 25, 2019 lawsuit, DCRS alleged that Obrigis violated the Arizona Americans with Disabilities Act (AzDA) when it refused to serve Bill Larson because of his service animal. Mr. Larson has a brain injury which causes him to experience transient ischemic attacks (referred to as mini-strokes). His American Bulldog service animal, Whopper, is trained to detect the onset of the mini-strokes and alert Mr. Larson so that he may take steps to ensure his safety and the safety of others.

DCRS resolved this matter through Consent Decree. Under the terms of the Consent Decree, Obrigis was required to pay monetary damages of $7,500 to Mr. Larson and $2,500 in civil penalties to the State. In addition, Obrigis agreed to create and disseminate policies prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disability and permitting reasonable modifications to its policies as necessary to serve customers with disabilities. The Consent Decree further required that Obrigis pay for and participate in robust training on disability law under AzDA and Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

State of Arizona v. Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers

On May 30, 2019, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers, a company which sells, rents, and services trailers from its three Arizona locations. DCRS alleged that Big Tex violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when it failed to make reasonable accommodations to the known physical limitations of its employee, Ed Litzinger. DCRS further alleged that Big Tex terminated Litzinger on the basis of his disability in violation of ACRA. Mr. Litzinger, a retired detective, filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS on May 31, 2018. While employed as a Sales Representative in Big Tex's Tucson location, Litzinger underwent hip replacement surgery and returned to work with the assistance of a cane. Litzinger alleged that Big Tex would not reasonably accommodate his return to work condition and subsequently terminated him due to his disability.

DCRS resolved the litigation through a Consent Decree that provided for monetary damages of $45,000 to Mr. Litzinger and injunctive relief for DCRS including Big Tex's obligation to revise its policies and practices, pay for and participate in mandatory training, and maintain employment records related to its Arizona business operations subject to audit by DCRS.

State of Arizona v. Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista

On October 22, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit alleging that that employers Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista (collectively, Defendants) violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when its supervisors harassed their joint employee because of her disability and created a hostile work environment. On October 23, 2019, an aggrieved party and employee of Defendants filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS alleging that her employers subjected her to different terms and conditions of employment and a hostile and intimidating work environment based on her disability. Specifically, the aggrieved party, who has intellectual disabilities and speech delays, alleged that her supervisors repeatedly referred to her in unwelcome and derogatory ways, openly chastised her in employee meetings and in front of guests, shoved her head into a sink until she cried, and poked her between the shoulders so that she would move quicker. After investigating the charge, DCRS issued a reasonable cause determination on September 14, 2020. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

Civil Litigation Division

State of Arizona v. Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla

On November 2, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla (Solterra), alleging that it violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act when it failed to remedy a hostile work environment based on sex and terminated its employee after she complained about being sexually assaulted by a colleague while at work. On November 24, 2019, DCRS received a charge of discrimination from Solterra's former employee alleging that (1) Solterra subjected her to sexual harassment and a sex-based hostile work environment, (2) Solterra terminated her, and (3) Solterra retaliated against her after she engaged in protected activity. Specifically, the aggrieved party alleged that while at work she was sexually assaulted by a colleague. Additionally, she alleged that the colleague followed her outside the facility while she was on break and attempted to sexually assault her again. The aggrieved party complained to management about the sexual assault and was thereafter terminated. On September 30, 2020, DCRS completed its investigation and issued a reasonable cause determination. It thereafter filed this lawsuit. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

CPA New Employees:

WELCOME ABOARD

Alex Bernard, Pre-Law Legal Assistant

Alex started with CPA in February after working for the Maricopa County Attorney's Office in the Grand Jury/Probation Violation Bureau. Before the County Attorney's Office, Alex graduated Arizona State University in May 2018 with a degree in Political Science where he received the Moeur Award. In his spare time, Alex loves to hike, read, and spend time with his family.

Leticia Bdeir, Legal Administrative Assistant

Leticia started with CPA in February. She previously worked with The Department of Economic Security as an Administrative Assistant serving as a middle man to State AHCCCS by sending referrals for medical emergencies for Arizona families. Leticia was born and raised in Northern California. She has 4 children and 3 grandchildren. Her fur babies are Aslan (dog) and Sophie (cat). She loves to cook, travel, listen to music and spend time with her husband and family. Leticia is happy to be at the AG's office.

Gabriella Guzman, Administrative Assistant

Gabby started with the Tobacco Enforcement Unit ("TEU") in January. She graduated from Northern Arizona University with a Justice Study degree, emphasis in intelligence and minor in Homeland Security. She has previously worked in child care and more recently, as a customer service representative. Her favorite TV show is The Office and her dogs name is Diamond.

Civil Litigation Division

Alexes Ramirez, Legal Administrative Assistant

Alexes returned to CPA in November and is excited to be back. She graduated from Southern Utah University with a degree in Sociology. She enjoys traveling, going on walks with her dog, and spending time with her younger sisters.

Dominique Jackson, Legal Assistant II

Dominique started with TEU in March. She graduated in 2017 with a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice from New Mexico State University, where she also excelled as a track athlete for the Aggies. After graduation, Dominique returned to Arizona and enrolled at Grand Canyon University, where she is currently pursuing a Masters in Criminal Justice with Emphasis in Legal Studies. Prior to joining the AG's Office, Dominique worked in private practice for a civil litigation firm. Dominique has quickly become an integral member of TEU, supporting the AG's Youth Tobacco Program in our efforts to reduce youth exposure to tobacco products.

Jocelyne Jones, Administrative Assistant

Jocelyn started with the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit ("CIC") in November.

Civil Litigation Division

Justin Heywood, Pre-Law Legal Assistant

Justin started with CIC in July. He is a native Arizonan who graduated from Arizona State University with a bachelor's in political science and civic and economic thought. In his free time, he enjoys learning new things and finding new experiences, which led him to learn how to juggle and go bungee jumping. He considers himself an ice cream enthusiast, with his favorite flavors being mint chocolate chip and salted caramel.

Christopher Slood, Assistant Attorney General

Christopher started with CPA in November. He is a 2016 University of Arizona Law grad. Prior to joining the Arizona Attorney General's Office, Christopher clerked at the Arizona Court of Appeals, Arizona Supreme Court, and the United States District Court for the District of Arizona. In his spare time, he enjoys hanging out with family and getting outside.

Mitchell Allee, Senior Litigation Counsel, returned to CPA in June.

Syreetta Tyrell, Assistant Attorney General, started with CPA in August.

Laura Dilweg, Senior Litigation Counsel, started with CPA in November.

DCRS, on the personal side:

On February 20 at 4:04pm, Alyse Meislik, Assistant AG, and her husband Matt, welcomed their son Robert ("Robbie") into the world. He weighed in at 8 lbs. 7 oz., 20.5 inches.

Civil Litigation Division

Senior Lit Counsel Mitchell Allee and wife, Tara, welcomed their son, Harrison William Allee, into the world on October 30. He weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs.

CPA Case Highlights

- As of July 2020, CPA had secured well over $100 million in restitution for Arizona consumers since Attorney General Mark Brnovich took office in 2015. Significantly, this is more than the total restitution from 2001 to 2014.
- Obtained tens of millions of dollars of relief for consumers who had loans from Santander, one of the nation's largest subprime auto lenders. Santander had provided high-interest loans to consumers that Santander knew were likely to default.
- Sued JUUL Labs and Eon Smoke, alleging that both companies engaged in deceptive and unfair practices in their sales and marketing of vaping products, particularly to youth. The AGO also obtained a permanent injunction banning Eon Smoke from selling certain products in Arizona.
- Obtained an $11 million settlement with Century Link regarding deceptive and unfair billing and marketing practices, under which Century Link paid nearly $2 million in refunds to consumers and $2 million toward fiber-optic infrastructure in Arizona.
- Obtained a consent judgment against Equifax, resolving the multistate investigation into the company's massive 2017 data breach. The multistate settlement included a $425 million restitution fund, a $175 million payment to the states, and injunctive relief.
- Sued several former executives of the Chandler-based opioid manufacturer Insys Therapeutics, Inc., including the company's founder, John Kapoor, alleging that the company illegally paid doctors to prescribe its highly addictive opioid medication.
- Sued several members of the Sackler family, who were responsible for operating Purdue Pharma, which the State has alleged violated a consent judgment ordering Purdue not to engage in deceptive marketing of its opioids.

Civil Litigation Division

- Obtained over $90,000 in restitution from Dependable Auto, a Tucson-based car dealership that allegedly engaged in a wide variety of unlawful practices.
- Sued Choice Home Warranty, alleging that the company raked in millions of dollars by deceiving and misleading Arizonans about what its home warranties would cover.
- Obtained over $100,000 in restitution for consumers from a former owner of DIY Neurocare, which sold LED light pads as neuropathy treatments and failed to deliver on its money-back guarantee.
- Sued Valley Delivery, alleging that the company put up fake delivery slips in order to trick new homeowners into giving the company their phone numbers.
- Obtained $600,000 in a settlement with a Sun City vacuum seller that repeatedly violated the Do Not Call list.
- The Division Chief and members of CPA and the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit participated in a phone bank broadcast by ABC15.
- Secured an Amended Final Judgment with Live Nation after discovering that Live Nation violated terms of a 2010 Consent Judgment related to its merger with Ticketmaster by pulling or threatening to pull its shows from a venue if the venue chose not to use Ticketmaster for its ticketing services. The antitrust judgment contains injunctive terms and an additional five-year monitoring period to prevent Live Nation from engaging in future anti-retaliation and anti-conditioning activities and hold Live Nation accountable for any further violations.
- Filed an antitrust complaint against Taro Pharmaceuticals, Perrigo New York, Fougera Pharmaceuticals (now Sandoz), and 23 more of the nation's largest generic drug manufacturers, alleging a broad conspiracy to artificially inflate and manipulate prices and reduce competition for approximately 80 different generic dermatology drugs.

Tobacco Enforcement Unit Highlights:

Youth Volunteer Recognition and Recruitment

- The Counter Strike Youth Tobacco Program usually holds an annual Recognition Ceremony to honor the youth volunteers who donate thousands of hours of time to keep tobacco products out of the hands of Arizona's kids. The Recognition Ceremony is typically hosted by the Arizona Diamondbacks and held at Chase Field with lots of fun and a little pomp and circumstance. Unfortunately, like so many large gatherings this year, the Recognition Ceremony had to be cancelled for the safety of everyone involved. However, the Program could not let this year's group of dedicated volunteers go without recognition. We created certificates for each youth volunteer, signed by the AG, and mailed each youth a package with their certificate, a thank you letter, and an official Counter Strike t-shirt. It was nice to touch base with everyone and let these volunteers know that we did not forget about their contributions!

Civil Litigation Division

- As we look towards resuming youth tobacco inspections in the near future, the Program has started ramping up youth volunteer recruitment- virtually! We have started reaching out to our school and club partners and scheduling video-conference recruitment presentations. Our Special Agents are becoming Zoom pros as they venture into virtual classrooms! We have had a fantastic response with dozens of new volunteers submitting paperwork. The schools have also been very responsive to presentations in a virtual format. And, while we miss seeing the kids in person, this allows the agents to present to youth all over the state in the same day!

Non-Participating Manufacturer Adjustment Arbitration Settlement

- The Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement (“MSA”) entitles Arizona to an annual payment of approximately $100 million. The Tobacco Enforcement Unit goes to great lengths each year to satisfy this diligent enforcement requirement, which requires, among other things, collecting millions of dollars from cigarette manufacturers that have chosen to not join the MSA. These efforts have resulted in a multi-year settlement of the NPM Adjustments for years 2018 – 2022, protecting approximately $450 Million.

2019 Data Clearinghouse Proceeding

- Pursuant to the terms of the Tobacco Non-Participating Manufacturer (NPM) Adjustment settlement, the Settling States and the Participating Manufacturers (PMs) must participate in an annual Data Clearinghouse (DCH) Proceeding, during which BDO USA, a national economics firm, will review state-specific data supplied by the Settling States and PMs to determine if the state in question received Escrow Statute (A.R.S. § 44-7101) compliance on all NPM cigarettes on which state excise tax (SET) was collected. In the event Escrow Statute compliance was not received on all SET-paid NPM cigarettes, the state in question could be subject to an adjustment to its annual Master Settlement Agreement payment if the non-compliance amount goes beyond the safe harbor set forth in the settlement agreement. The 2019 DCH Proceeding began in August 2019. Due to the Tobacco Enforcement Unit’s diligent efforts to enforce the Escrow Statute as to all NPM cigarettes sales in Arizona, BDO USA was able to quickly determine that Arizona has zero non-compliant cigarettes resulting in no adjustment to Arizona’s MSA Payment to be received April 2021.

Fond Farewells and New Faces in Great Places!

Criminal Appeals

On May 1, 2020 we bid farewell to Criminal Appeals Section Chief, Joe Maziarz. Joe was with the office for 35 years, with the last 8.5 years serving as CAS Section Chief. We would like to give a big thank you to CAS Unit Chief Mike O'Toole for taking on the role of Interim Section Chief until Linley Wilson officially stepped into the position on November 30, 2020. Congratulations, Linley!

CAS also said farewell to Unit Chief Rob Walsh on May 15, 2020. Rob had been in CAS for over 25 years! With Rob leaving, we welcomed back Alice Jones who returned to the office on May 26, 2020 and took over the Unit Chief position. Congratulations, Alice!

On April 21, 2020 we said goodbye to Legal Secretary II, Nancy Romero. In the blink of an eye, Oscar Lopez swiftly learned the ropes and stepped in to that position! On December 4, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Terry Crist, and on December 16, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Heather Mosher.

Capital Litigation

On January 13, 2020 the Capital Litigation Section welcomed two new AAG's, David Ahl and Elizabeth Bingert! Welcome to the AGO David and Elizabeth! On March 16, 2020, CLS said goodbye to Senior Legal Assistant, Stacy Coleman as she reached out for new endeavors!

On April 6, 2020 we were happy to have Jeff Sparks return to the office as a CLS Unit Chief. Welcome back, Jeff! On November 25, 2019, Andrew Reilly transferred from CAS into a Unit Chief position for CLS. Congratulations, Andrew! On September 4, 2020, we said goodbye to AAG Jason Lewis.

Special Litigation Section

On November 15, 2019 we said goodbye to Deputy Solicitor General, Andrew Pappas as he accepted a position as counsel for the Arizona House of Representatives. On May 18, 2020 we were happy to have Mike Catlett come on board with us as Deputy Solicitor General, and on July 27, 2020 we welcomed Sarah Crank into a Legal Assistant position. Welcome to the AGO, Mike and Sarah!

On September 8, 2020 we bid a fond farewell to Solicitor General/Special Litigation Section Chief Counsel, O.H. Skinner, as he left the office to work on other legal endeavors! And a month later on October 9, 2020, we bid farewell to Deputy Solicitor General/Federalism Unit Chief Rusty Crandell after his appointment to serve as a Maricopa County Superior Court Judge!

Solicitor General's Office

SGO Special Additions

On January 17, 2020, AAG Vineet Shaw and family welcomed twins Zara and Kail!

On April 18, 2020, AAG David Ahl and family welcomed their baby Madelyn Jo!

On June 29, 2020, Civil Appeals Section Chief, Drew Ensign and family welcomed their baby Carter Matthew!

On November 13, 2020, AAG Keena Patel and family welcomed their baby Aavi!

FOUR CRIMINAL DIVISION MEMBERS WIN APAAC HONORS

The Criminal Division would like to recognize the following staff members that were nominated and received 2020 APAAC awards:

Administrator of the Year: FSP Legal Secretary Stacey Canez received APAAC's 2020 Administrator of the Year award. Stacey is a hard-working and dedicated individual who exhibits all the qualities of an exemplary employee. She completes her assignments with diligence and attention-to-detail. Over the past 15 years, Stacey advanced from a student clerk to a lead legal secretary with a great deal of operational skills and responsibilities. She possesses excellent administrative skills and an ability to work well with everyone. Stacey has taken on additional duties and responsibilities to assist others in the Division. She is able to handle Division fiscal matters including travel, procurement and budgetary issues as well as being able to assist the Division Chief as necessary in the absence of the Division OA. During the past year, Stacey has been instrumental in helping with the transition to a new AGO case management system, which has involved many meetings, additional assignments and the creation of training protocols for all employees.

Legal Assistant of the Year: HCFA Senior Legal Assistant Peni Cox received APAAC's 2020 Legal Assistant of the Year award. Peni is known for her tireless dedication and exceptional legal assistance to the attorneys she supports. Peni is tasked with running the HCFA Section in Prescott where she serves as not only a Legal Assistant, but also assists with secretarial and administrative matters as well. For the past nine years, Peni has been an exceptional employee with unwavering dedication to the AGO. She is a key component of the investigation and prosecution team that covers nearly half of the geographic area of the State. Peni is a leader in providing services in the Prescott office and also her assistance to the Phoenix and Tucson HCFA staff. She is always approachable, knowledgeable and is willing to do whatever it takes to get the job done. Thank you, Anne. We appreciate all you do!

David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award: FSP prosecutor Shawn Steinberg received APAAC's 2020 David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award. Shawn is a remarkable voice for the crime victims she represents and she deserves special recognition for her work with the victim's family in State v. Luna/Carrasco, a murder case involving two defendants who frequently committed home-invasions in an attempt to steal drugs. When she noticed these dangerous offenders would taunt the next of kin, she made appropriate records with the court, often drawing the ire of the defendants and sometimes their attorneys. When confrontations would occur in the hallway, Shawn skillfully defused the situation and protected the victim's family with the assistance of court security, often times securing the removal of antagonistic persons from the courtroom. Shawn worked closely with the victim advocate and the victim's family to craft plea agreements that reflected the nature of the case, the defendants' criminal histories and relative involvement, and at the same time, ensuring that justice prevailed for the victim. Both defendants pled guilty to the murder. Luna was sentenced to 23 years and Carrasco was sentenced to 17 years in prison. The victim's family was pleased with the outcome and Shawn's hard work helped to minimize the trauma that they experienced in the court process. The family expressed their appreciation for Shawn's hard work and dedication.

Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award: FSP Section Chief Blaine Gadow received APAAC's 2020 Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award for his prosecution of a human sex trafficking trial. The victim's testimony was necessary for the case to proceed. The victim was very anxious and worried about testifying. Instead of using the procedural tools available to prosecutors such as an arrest warrant to ensure the victim's participation at trial, he empowered her in a multidisciplinary manner through support, empathy and providing options that resulted in her choosing to testify. Thanks to Blaine and his team's ability to empower the victim to testify, justice prevailed. The jury found the defendant guilty on 11 felony counts, including Child Sex Trafficking, Conspiracy, Money Laundering and Sexual Exploitation of a Minor. After the verdict, the victim's name and location had been released on social media by acquaintances of the defendant. Her safety and well-being were a large concern for Blaine while the defendant awaited sentencing. Blaine advocated for the safety and well-being of the victim after she provided testimony. He collaborated with others in the agency to achieve a unique solution to maintain the victim's safety until her transition to Department of Child Safety (DCS) services could be obtained. Blaine is a compassionate prosecutor and is very deserving of this award.

In addition, the Criminal Division would like to recognize the following additional staff members who were nominated for APAAC recognition:

Advocate of the Year: OVS Victim Advocate Evelyn Robles was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Advocate of the Year. Evelyn has been employed with the AGO since 2017. Evelyn has a complex case load consisting of fraud, child sexual exploitation, and human trafficking cases in both direct prosecution and appellate cases, also including death penalty cases. Her passion for meeting the needs of survivors of trafficking has positively affected the fight against predators and perpetrators on an international scale. Each victim is an individual often requiring creative advocacy and partnerships atypical for standard prosecution-based advocates. In 2019, Evelyn was an integral part of the successes in the case against Robert Hood. She worked with the trafficking survivor through the investigation and prosecution phases which resulted in the survivor testifying against Hood on her 18th birthday.

These efforts helped to secure a 108-year prison sentence while at the same time helping to find creative ways to serve the survivor post-conviction.

Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award: HCFA Section Chief Steve Duplissis was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award. Under Steve's leadership, HCFA was recognized in 2019 as the second highest performing Medicaid Fraud Unit in the nation for filing criminal indictments. This impressive achievement is unsurprising given Steve's unwavering passion to investigate and prosecute medical professionals who defraud the government and abuse some of Arizona's most vulnerable residents. Steve inspires that same passion in his employees, and they directly benefit from his thoughtful leadership and mentoring. Steve's section oversaw over 100 cases in 2019, ranging from

Criminal Division

large-scale Medicaid billing fraud to a former doctor's murder-for-hire prosecution. Steve's leadership has made HCFA a model for similar offices across the nation. He is a dedicated prosecutor who cares about the profession, his employees, victims and Arizona's citizens. In fact, the Arizona MFCU team was selected for the Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Inspector General's Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste, and Abuse. Steve is an asset to Arizona's prosecution community.

Rising Star Award: FSP prosecutor Evan Malady was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Rising Star Award. Evan started working in FSP in February 2019. Evan became quickly proficient in his position, developing his skills in directing and managing complex fraud and other investigations. Although only a two-year lawyer, Evan has successfully handled a wide variety of complex fraud cases. He has exceptional organizational skills, communicates well with law enforcement agents, defense attorneys and court staff and is known for working very hard. When Evan joined the Section, he immediately became involved in several high-profile and complex matters. Evan was instrumental in the Paul Petersen AHCCCS-fraud case. He was part of the initial investigation, participated in witness interviews, attended the search warrants and ultimately presented the case to the State Grand Jury. The Petersen case was extremely complex and it consisted of several different criminal investigations across multiple jurisdictions. Evan has handled the complexity of this case with skill and professional maturity. The defendant in this matter had skilled and experienced defense attorneys. Evan diligently worked with them to move the prosecution forward and effectively represent the State's interests. In June 2020, Petersen pled guilty to Fraudulent Schemes and Artifices, Forgery and Fraudulent Schemes and Practices and was sentenced to six years in prison.

Drug & Racketeering Enforcement Section

The DRG Section would like the welcome to following team members:

05/18/20 AAG Nichole Galusha-Troicke
06/15/20 AAG Rebecca Kennelly
07/27/20 Sr. LA Ronnie Danko

In August, AAG Gina Cucuzella resigned as she accepted a position with the Pinal County Attorney's Office. Good luck Ginal!

In September, SLC Nick Saccone resigned as he accepted a position as a Court Commissioner with the Maricopa County Superior Court. Congrats Honorable Saccone!

Criminal Division

AAG Rebecca Jones resolved the case of State v. Angel Bonilla-Hernandez. This case involved a lingering co-defendant on a case where the primary defendants transported five kg of cocaine and were part of a wiretap case. Bonilla-Hernandez had a viable "mere presence" defense and was asking for a class six undesignated plea. Law enforcement was pushing for a prison resolution. The case resolved with a class 4 felony and a three year term of supervised probation, along with a hefty fine. This resolution will allow the defendant to continue working, which will hopefully discourage recidivism

Section Chief Theresa Rassas' daughters Regan (13) and MoMo (4) diligently worked on cards for the troops.

Theresa Rassas and her daughter Regan also volunteered to sort and pack holiday groceries for Feed Our Babies.

SLA Linda Pfohl retired after working nearly eight years in the DRG Section. Linda was extremely knowledgeable and helpful in large, complex wiretap cases. Unfortunately, a retirement party had to be postponed. Linda

After a lot of hard work and testing, AAG Rebecca Jones was chosen to be on the game show Jeopardy! The episode aired on December 10th. She was fortunate to have appeared with Alex Trebek. Great job Rebecca!

Criminal Division

Financial Remedies Section

FRS welcomed four new staff during the last several months.

In July 2020, LSII Jennifer Villescas started in FRS and she has smoothly transitioned into her position. She brings 13+ years of criminal and civil legal secretarial experience to FRS, making her an asset to the team.

In September 2020, AAG Elliot Stratton was hired. Elliot received his JD in 2017 and also holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration. For his first three years of practice, Elliot was a judicial staff clerk for federal judges in Florida and Washington, D.C. Elliot was recommended to FRS by our Solicitor General, under whom Elliot performed an internship at the AGO. That recommendation has proved to be well earned as Elliot is already working on some major cases.

Also in September 2020, AAG Mukai "Kai" Amoo transferred from CFPD to FRS. Kai also holds a Master's Degree and brings nine years of experience and a background in family law, estate planning, criminal defense and civil litigation to her position. Her familiarity with civil practice and procedure has given her a running start on the work she is doing in FRS.

In October 2020, AAG Jake Rapp passed the Bar and started with FRS shortly after. Jake interned with FRS in 2018, during which he authored an article on tactical investigations and enforcement remedies against illegal massage parlor businesses for ANOA Magazine. Jake's strong interest in addressing white collar crime made him an ideal candidate for FRS and a welcome addition.

Recent FRS case work has concentrated on fraud victim recovery. This includes completion of the Paul Petersen adoption fraud case and the recovery of nearly $700,000 for AHCCCS; assistance in the Hacienda Health Care case in completing a settlement agreement under which Hacienda will be re-paying over $10 million dollars to AHCCCS and a $1 million dollar fine; and the execution of search and seizure warrants and the initiation of an FRS case on another AHCCCS fraud case in conjunction with the SIS and HCFA sections based on a $12 million dollar fraud amount.

Fraud & Special Prosecutions Section

The FSP Section would like to welcome the following team members that were hired in the last several months!

06/29/20 – AAG John Hudson
07/13/20 – AAG Maura Quigley (re-hire!)
08/24/20 – SLA David Rohe

Criminal Division

09/21/20 – AAG Carmine Mediate
09/21/20 – LSI Anna Hunt
10/05/20 – AAG Tom Maksemous

to our team!

In December 2020, AAG Rachel Nava resigned to return to the Arizona Supreme Court as a staff attorney. We wish her well in her new position!

In June 2020, the FSP Section bid farewell to SLA Dominique Rivas.

Welcome Baby George! On June 29th, AAG Tarah White and her husband Patrick welcomed their first child! Congrats!

On October 3rd, LSII Sarah Garrett married her long-time love Heath Karr! They have combined their households and their family has multiplied by four. Congrats Sarah!

In October 2020, the FSP Section said farewell to our friend and colleague SLC Scott Blake. Scott left the AGO to return to the cool pines of Prescott and the friendly confines of the Yavapai County Attorney's Office. Normally, for a long-serving employee like Scott, we would have had a potluck or some kind of gathering to celebrate his service and wish him well, but COVID prevents us from doing that this year. Scott has been a dedicated prosecutor and we thank him for his service and dedication to the mission of the office, and to ethical and honest prosecution in general, setting a great standard for the office. He carried a case heavy load and he will be missed. Good luck Scott!

Healthcare Fraud & Abuse Section

In October 2020, the United States Department of Health and Human Services had their virtual annual awards meeting. Of the 50 state Medicaid Fraud Control Units (MFCU), Arizona's Unit had been chosen and formally awarded the Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste and Abuse. In making their announcement, HHS-OIG remarked that the Arizona MFCU obtained an impressive number of case outcomes, with 84 indictments, 70 convictions, and total recoveries of over $7.5 million. The Unit also opened 239 investigations, with a particular focus on drug diversion cases, which accounted for 115 of those investigations. The Unit employs a staff of 27 that includes attorneys, special agents, and other professionals. The Unit is led by Section Chief Steve Duplissis, who has served as the Unit's director since 2005 and is one of the longest serving directors among the MFCUs. Congrats MFCU Team!!

In September 2020, after a thorough Medicaid fraud investigation into Hacienda Healthcare, Inc., it was determined that the former officers improperly allocated direct and indirect costs, inflated reported expenses and engaged in improper billing during 2013-2018, resulting in an overpayment of at least $10,895,648 from AHCCCS to Hacienda. SIS SAs and AAGs from HCFA, FSP and FRS worked together to reach a civil settlement with Hacienda. Hacienda is to pay the State more than $11,000,000 to resolve this case. Congrats Team!

SA Kelly Angel started her law enforcement career with the Glendale Police Department. Kelly spent the past eight years with the Tempe Police Department where she served as a Patrol Field Training Officer, DUI Officer, Public Information Officer and IACP Drug Recognition Expert.

Criminal Division

SA Peter Tran previously served in New York City with the New York County District Attorney's Office as a Detective Investigator for five years where he specialized in financial fraud and organized crime investigations, along with fugitive extraditions. Peter earned his Bachelor's and Master of Science in Criminal Justice from Rochester Institute of Technology.

SA Roy Garrison previously worked for nine years with City of Eloy Police Department in Pinal County where the majority of the time he worked as a General Detective. Roy is a University of Arizona graduate where he majored in Accounting.

Prescott Valley Police Department contacted HCFA-Prescott regarding Emma-Kaye Parrish. Parrish had been employed as a finance manager by a behavioral health facility in Yavapai County. One of Parrish's duties at the facility was paying vendors for goods and services rendered to the AHCCCS funded facility where she worked. Although Parrish would input the information correctly into the facility's financial program, thus indicating that the vendor had been paid, she would manually change the payee on the check to herself or to other entities for her personal expenses. In June 2020, Parrish pled guilty to Theft and Forgery and was later sentenced to three years in prison, followed by five years' supervised probation. She was also ordered to pay restitution to AHCCCS in the amount of $65,436. Congrats to SA Mark McClain and AAG Courtney Kramer on resolving this case!

Office of Victim Services

OVS extends a warm welcome to the following staff:

07/27/20 – VA Amberly Frank

Special thanks to OALaura Lyons, VALinda Carthen and VAAAlbert Fimbres for their excellent work on developing a comprehensive, thoughtful and engaging plan to help the AGO recognize Domestic Violence Awareness month! By helping bring awareness, their plan also was a source of support to others who may be experiencing or others working in the field of domestic violence. Thanks for the time and effort spent to develop this necessary plan!

The OVS Outreach team worked hard converting its five hour Basic and three hour Advanced victims' rights trainings to engaging, effective Webinars over the last few months. In September 2020, trainings included videos, polling and even a crossword puzzle. Remarkably, the team successfully trained over 800 victims' rights professionals from all 15 counties in just three weeks. Attendee evaluations were overwhelmingly positive for the content and method of delivery.

On September 26th, OVS Outreach Coordinator Ashtyn Cronk (now Beuchler) got married. Although it was not her original plan, the couple had a small family-only ceremony that was beautiful. Congrats!

In November 2020, VA Supervisor Evelyn Robles who, as of November, 2020, is a new homeowner! House comes complete with a rooftop terrace sporting a city view! Congrats Evelyn!

OVS Advocate Program Manager, Amy Bocks, was awarded a Director's Unit Citation from the Arizona Department of Public Safety for her volunteer work on the 2019 DPS Annual Memorial 5K in Tucson. She has been part of the main planning committee for more than five years. Although challenging, this year's virtual event ran smoothly thanks to Amy's commitment.

Southern Arizona White Collar and Criminal Enterprise Section:

Section Chief Nick Klingerman and OA Martita Jimenez (in background) are taking cleaning seriously by sanitizing the entire section.

Criminal Division

In October 2020, Section Chief Nick Klingerman argued in front of the Arizona Supreme Court in State v. Goldin. While bantering with the justices, Nick articulately and persuasively explained to the full court why the appearance of impropriety standard set out on State v. Gomez should not apply to imputed disqualification of the entire Tucson office of the AGO. Nick highlighted the strategic nature and timing of defendant's motion to disqualify the office from prosecuting a 20 year old cold case homicide and proposed a new standard of analysis. He stepped back into his old appellate shoes, briefing and preparing tirelessly for oral argument, while continuing to supervise the unit. While a ruling is still pending, Nick won unanimous praise and enthusiasm from his SAWCEE colleagues who eagerly watched a livestream of the arguments! Special thanks to AAG Lindsay St. John as well. Lindsay is the second chair on this case and has provided valuable legal analysis and assistance.

In June 2020, AAG Julia Kaiserman joined the Section. She previously worked for the last 12 years at the Pima County Attorney's Office. While at PCAO, she was a dedicated trial and charging attorney, along with an 88-CRIME Safe School Program Manager. She hit the ground running at the AGO. Welcome, Julia!

In September 2020, SLA Adrienne Gutierrez welcomed her granddaughter, Lucy Grace Gutierrez. Congrats Mimi!

On October 7, 2020, LSII Maria Slinger and family welcomed daughter, Faith Gabrielle Slinger. Big Sister Sienna LOVES her real life baby doll. Congrats!

After an exceptional 20 year career with the AGO, LA PS Allison Bradford decided to retire. The Section has benefited from Allison's experience, institutional knowledge and mentorship. Her "Cheat Sheet" for tracking cases will continue to benefit others after she retires. Allison is a dedicated, thoughtful public servant, who truly cares about her community. Her drive to make Tucson, and Arizona, better showed in her work, with Allison receiving numerous awards during her tenure. Notably, Allison was APAAC's 2018 Legal Assistant of the Year. Congrats Allison! We are excited for your new journey!

Criminal Division

In November 2020, LSII Jenny Lewis accepted a job offer at Raytheon. It has been great working with Jenny over the past year. We wish her well in her new position!

Special Investigations Section:

SIS extends a huge welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20	SA Carri Stubblefield
07/27/20	SA Mark Smith
08/10/20	SA John Hillman
09/08/20	SA Peter Tran
09/21/20	SA Desire Urbina
10/05/20	SA Kelly Angel
10/19/20	SA Jeffery Whitbeck
11/16/20	SA Roy Garrison
12/14/20	Eric Marlowe

SA Steven Sussen was recognized as a recipient by the Tucson Police Department for his efforts on behalf of vulnerable children. This achievement is truly representative of his commitment to ensure the safety of those least able to protect themselves. The Awards presentation is scheduled for January 2021. Congrats Steven! We are proud to work with you!

On July 9, 2020, SA Danny Miller and his wife Ramona extended their family. Cameron Arman Miller weighed in at 8lbs 2oz, and was 20.25 inches long. Congrats Danny!

On November 3, 2020, members of the SIS Election Integrity Unit, SA Bill Knuth, SA Annalisa Madsen and Criminal Investigator Don Carroll worked a 16 hour day monitoring a law enforcement hotline that had been established to assist other law enforcement agencies and personnel who were called out to respond to any election or voting fraud matters. Members of the unit were also available to respond to any polling locations or election scenes as needed. Members of the unit have coordinated with various agencies and had the opportunity to resolve several matters. Outstanding work by all involved.

Criminal Division

SA Annalisa Madsen conducted the investigation into former charter school principal, Harold Cadiz. In September 2020, Cadiz was sentenced to 3.75 years in prison followed by five years' probation and ordered to pay $2,538,722 in restitution for his role in enrolling fake students to obtain funding from the Arizona Department of Education, the U.S. Department of Education and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. As part of the investigation, the AGO seized hundreds of fraudulent documents. SLC Mary Harriss prosecuted the case. Congrats Team!

After serving 34 years in law enforcement, nine years with the AGO, SA Ron Perreira, is officially retired. SA Perreira has worked tirelessly on many wiretaps and drug related crimes with the AGO. Congrats Ron – you have fought the good fight, you have finished the race! You will be missed at the AGO.

In November 2019, former SA John "JT" Walsh passed away unexpectedly. As a former long-standing member of the AGO Running Team, it had been planned to honor JT at the Baker to Vegas Race with a custom designed runner's bib for the 2020 race. However, the 2020 race was canceled due to the pandemic. The AGO Running Team still ordered the bibs in remembrance of our dear friend and colleague. The team will present the bib to JT's wife Franzl who was going to attend the 2020 race in his honor.

Let's go with this:

Mark Brnovich Arizona Attorney General

Mark Brnovich became Arizona's 26th Attorney General in January 2015. He was re-elected to a second term in November 2018.

He spent his early career as a prosecutor at the local, state, and federal levels, including serving as an Assistant United States Attorney prosecuting public integrity crimes and criminal activity occurring in Indian Country. He eventually left the U.S. Attorney's Office to serve as the Director of the Arizona Department of Gaming -- a law enforcement agency that works along with Tribal regulators to administer the gaming compacts.

As Attorney General, Mark most recently argued at the United States Supreme Court, to defend Arizona's election integrity laws, including its requirements for in-precinct voting and restrictions on ballot harvesting. His administration has also been actively battling human trafficking and supporting border security. Brnovich is now challenging the Biden Administration's violations of federal immigration laws and the crisis that has been created.

In addition, Brnovich has been instrumental in protecting the liberties of Arizonans and small businesses during the COVID pandemic, upholding religious freedoms, defending the Second Amendment, and securing record levels of restitution for consumers.

Mark's wife Susan, who he met while they were both prosecutors for Maricopa County, was recently appointed by President Trump to serve as a Federal Judge for the District of Arizona. Mark and Susan Brnovich live in Phoenix with their two teenage daughters.

Rachelle –

If you could give her a call when you have a moment to let her know we're working on the calendar and will get back to her, that would be good. One thing you might want to confirm with her is that it would be the AG as a keynote speaker...and that we'll try to get back to her in the next couple biz days.

Thanks!

Women of Arizona just held an event with Kelli Ward & Paul Gosar speaking on Election Integrity & what our elected officials from AZ are doing to protect our Founding Principles ( in other words to stop Socialist Democrats takeover!)

Many people we hear from are disgusted with our politics & government & walking away entirely along with their checkbooks!! Others are finding a new urgency in their desire to get involved & join the fight for our country. They need leadership & some assurance that are elected officials are committed to the right cause.

A logical extension of what we explored with Gosar/Ward would be the viewpoint of AG Brnovich. We had originally contacted Treasurer Yee to speak but feel the AG's view would be a higher priority now.

I have three dates to propose: (Hopefully one will be available.)

Mon., April 26

Min., April 19

Thurs., April 22

Friday., April 23

Besides Kimberly Yee, we have heard from Steve Chucri's office that he would be available. I have to commit to venue & speaker pretty soon.

Thank you,

Letter in Opposition to H.R. 1, "For the People Act of 2021"

Dear Senators Sinema and Kelly:

Public servants have no duty more sacred than protecting the peoples' right to vote while maintaining the integrity of elections. As the chief legal officer for Arizona, I respectfully urge you to vote "No" on the companion Senate bill to H.R. 1, the For the People Act of 2021 (the "Act") because it would not expand Arizonans' right to vote, but only eviscerate the integrity of Arizona elections and undermine voter confidence.

For decades, Arizona has enacted commonsense and commonplace laws to not only expand opportunities for people to vote, but also maintain the integrity of our elections. Arizona legislators have struck a careful balance in our election laws, and the Act would undermine those efforts. The Act would subvert Arizona's ability to continue to do so and impede traditional notions of federalism by eradicating virtually all state control of the time, place, and manner of federal elections.

States are considered the "laboratories of democracy," with each state instituting its own unique election systems through their democratic processes. Over the course of the past century, Arizona has carefully crafted and culled election procedures and laws to maximize voter turnout while not only securing the integrity of our elections, but also instilling confidence in our election systems.<sup>1</sup> The Act threatens to bring chaos to Arizona's well-established election procedures without improving access for Arizona voters. And while Arizona has successfully implemented an expansive early voting program, Arizona has invested incredible time and resources over the past three decades to make it work. Forcing nationwide changes to state voting systems at a time

Notably, most of the provisions of the Act seeking to expand voting opportunities are already available in Arizona. While the Act mandates no-excuse absentee balloting<sup>3</sup> and requires in-person early voting opportunities,<sup>4</sup> Arizona has permitted no-excuse early voting for three decades<sup>5</sup> and enabled counties to establish in-person early voting centers for nearly as long.<sup>6</sup> Over the years, early voting has been expanded extensively; and in-person early voting is now offered starting 27 days before every statewide and federal election.<sup>7</sup> In fact, Arizona's expansive early voting laws permit voters to request an early ballot up to ten days before an election,<sup>8</sup> or make a one-time, permanent request to receive early ballots by mail for all elections.<sup>9</sup> Like provisions of the Act,<sup>10</sup> Arizona statutorily requires counties to provide voters with postage-paid early ballot return envelopes.<sup>11</sup>

Arizona also makes sensible use of technology by mandating auditable, durable, and voter verifiable paper ballots to be used in conjunction with electronic voting systems.<sup>12</sup> Further, balancing both accessibility and security, Arizona permits use of early ballot drop boxes, but requires implementation of sound security protocols to preserve ballot secrecy and prevent fraud.<sup>13</sup>

Conversely, provisions of the Act would invalidate several of Arizona's commonsense election integrity safeguards; safeguards that mirror recommendations made by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James A. Baker III in their 2005 bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform (the "Commission") report.<sup>14</sup> The Commission recognized that "[a]bsentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud"<sup>15</sup> and recommended states prohibit third-parties from handling absentee ballots (a practice known as "ballot harvesting").<sup>16</sup> In 2016, Arizona enacted a sensible law restricting ballot harvesting, a law that I personally defended on March 2, 2021 before the Supreme Court of the United States. Act dispenses with the Commission's recommendations and would override Arizona law, instead requiring Arizona to permit anyone to collect an unlimited number of ballots.<sup>17</sup>

Further, one of the five "sturdy" pillars the Commission identified as necessary to "increase voter participation and to assure the integrity of the electoral system,"<sup>18</sup> included use of photo voter identification. In fact, the Commission noted that an "electoral system cannot inspire confidence if no safeguards exist to deter or detect fraud or to confirm the identity of voters."<sup>19</sup> The Act, in complete disregard of these recommendations, would prevent Arizona from requiring any type of photo or non-photo identification from a voter before issuing a ballot. Instead, the Act would allow a voter to receive a ballot by simply signing an attestation affirming identity.<sup>20</sup> The Act would even criminalize good-faith challenges to a voter's identity.<sup>21</sup>

These provisions of the Act would conflict with Arizona's statutory requirement that voters present identification (either photo or two forms of acceptable non-photo identification) prior to receiving a ballot, which was enacted by Arizona voters in 2004.<sup>22</sup> Given the Act's conflict with Arizona's voter-protected<sup>23</sup> identification law, Arizona will necessarily have to create a bifurcated identification and voting system. Voters who attempt to vote without identification will receive a "federal-only" ballot (containing only federal offices) while voters with proper identification will receive a "full-ballot" (including all candidates/issues). Such a bifurcated system will lead to voter confusion and distrust in election administration. The Act would also create an opportunity for widespread voter disenfranchisement, as all safeguards to prevent voter impersonation will be removed.

The Act would also eliminate many of Arizona's commonsense tools to maintain voter registration records, including preventing election officials from moving voters to an inactive status when mail is returned as undeliverable.<sup>24</sup> And it would reduce Arizona's ability to use the multistate Electronic Registration Information Center ("ERIC") system to move voter registrations to an inactive status when individuals are identified as having moved within 6 months of any federal election.<sup>25</sup>

In addition to regulating election administration, the Act would also establish a new and comprehensive set of campaign finance laws. Arizona, however, already has a robust set of campaign finance laws that regulate the source, amount, and use of contributions in elections, as well as required disclosures.<sup>26</sup> These laws balance the need to prevent corruption in elections and promote transparency with Arizona citizens' constitutional right to freedom of speech and association. The campaign finance provisions in the Act would upset that balance. Notably, while the Act appears aimed at preventing foreign money from influencing federal, state and local elections (including initiatives and referendums), the broad definition of foreign entity combined with the expansive definition of disbursements will prevent many locally controlled entities from so much as tweeting statements that could be construed as promoting, supporting, attacking, or opposing a candidate/issue, "regardless of whether the communication contains express advocacy."<sup>27</sup> Not only would such broad restrictions on political speech be constitutionally suspect, they would do nothing to combat actual corruption or promote transparency.

Finally, since a constitutional amendment adopted by voters in 2000<sup>28</sup>, Arizona has utilized a five-member independent redistricting commission to "foster[] increased competition in individual legislative districts and promot[e] partisan fairness in the state as a whole[.]"<sup>29</sup> The Act would require every state to utilize a fifteen-member commission for drawing congressional boundaries and would impose federal map drawing requirements. Unless Arizona's constitution was amended to reflect a fifteen-member commission for state legislative boundaries, Arizona would be required to create two independent commissions: one with fifteen members for drawing congressional districts<sup>30</sup> and one with five members for drawing state legislative districts.<sup>31</sup> Those two commissions would likely utilize different district drawing standards. With two different commissions and two different map drawing standards, district boundaries for congressional and state legislative districts are likely to have little overlap, burdening election administrators in crafting convenient voting precincts and resulting in unnecessary polling place confusion.

As public officials, there is no higher priority than maintaining the integrity of our elections. The very foundation of our nation and our state rests on the notion that our government is derived from the consent of the governed. Distrust in the elective franchise shakes the core of that foundation and delegitimizes those in power. In Arizona we have laws that allow every voter ample opportunity to vote, free from intimidation, and that prevent disenfranchisement and fraud. Our systems maintain the public's trust and provide for secure elections. Let's keep it that way.

Respectfully,

Mark Brnovich

Attorney General Brnovich Defends Arizona Election Integrity Measures at U.S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Attorney General Mark Brnovich argued to protect Arizona's commonsense election integrity laws before the Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS) on Tuesday morning. The Attorney General's Office (AGO) is asking the High Court to uphold two Arizona laws that place restrictions on ballot harvesting and prohibit out-of-precinct voting. At the heart of the case is whether states can pass laws to protect the integrity of elections.

"There is no more sacred duty for a public servant than preserving both the people's right to vote and their confidence in the election process," said Attorney General Mark Brnovich. "Arizona's ballot box safeguards are shared by many states, were recommended by a bipartisan commission, and are constitutional because they equally protect us all."

The Democratic National Committee (DNC) has been challenging Arizona's restrictions on out-of-precinct voting and ballot harvesting since 2016.

Since the 1970s, Arizona has required voters who vote in-person to cast ballots at their assigned precinct, where voter rolls can be easily accessed and confirmed. This rational measure ensures order in our elections, minimizes lines, and prevents anyone from being disenfranchised in local races. Today, the majority of states require people to vote at their assigned precinct.

Arizona also restricts the collection and delivery of ballots by third-parties or political operatives, commonly known as ballot harvesting. The Arizona Legislature passed the law in 2016, with exceptions for family, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials. In 2015, the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be city officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots. Civil Rights leaders had also raised concerns about elderly and vulnerable communities being targeted by ballot harvesting activists. In December 2020, the AGO indicted two individuals from Yuma County for allegedly engaging in ballot harvesting.

And in 2005, the bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform, chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker (Carter-Baker Commission), recognized that “absentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud.” The Carter-Baker Commission recommended that states prohibit third-parties from handling absentee ballots, except for family members, the post office, or election officials (the same exceptions included in the Arizona law).

The DNC claims Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and the ballot harvesting restriction was also enacted with discriminatory intent. Attorney General Brnovich argued Tuesday morning that Arizona's laws were proper under the Voting Rights Act and U.S. Constitution, something even the Biden Justice Department acknowledged in a recent SCOTUS filing.

SCOTUS is expected to make a decision by this Summer.

BACKGROUND:

In 2016, the DNC challenged Arizona's laws restricting ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting. A federal district court judge ruled in Arizona's favor and upheld the laws. The case was then appealed to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, where the laws were again upheld. The DNC then appealed to a larger group of Ninth

Circuit Court judges, who struck down the laws, a mere four days before the 2016 General Election. AG Brnovich immediately appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, and the very next day the High Court overruled the Ninth Circuit, reinstating Arizona's ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct laws, pending a full hearing of the merits in the lower court.

In late 2018, a federal district court judge once again upheld Arizona's laws after a 10-day trial. DNC attorneys appealed the case to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit, who again upheld Arizona's election integrity laws. Once again, the DNC appealed the case to a larger group of Ninth Circuit judges, and in early 2020 the court reversed itself and struck down the laws just as ballots for the Democratic Presidential Preference Election were beginning to be mailed out. AG Brnovich immediately filed for a stay of the decision, and the Ninth Circuit granted the request, leaving Arizona's laws on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting intact.

In April 2020, General Brnovich asked SCOTUS to rule on Arizona's laws being challenged.

In October 2020, SCOTUS agreed to hear Arizona's case, which has garnered an outpouring of support from local and national leaders seeking to maintain the integrity of elections in Arizona and across the country.

In 2015, the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be City officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots.

In 2005, the bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform, chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker, recognized that "absentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud." The Carter-Baker Commission recommended that states prohibit third-parties from handling absentee ballots, except for family members, the post office, or election officials.

The DNC claims Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and the ballot harvesting restriction was also enacted with discriminatory intent; however, even the Biden Justice Department disputed that claim in a recent SCOTUS filing.

Bethany and Rachelle -

This is the final response letter edited by the team and approved by Joe K. I know Rachelle has some of these that came directly to Mark's email. Not sure if we have others, but I'm not sure how to coordinate this with Jennifer since it will be coming from her.

Let me know if I need or can do anything.

Thanks,
Jason

PS – here's the sample email this responds to:

Attorney General Mark Brnovich,

I voted for you, and I expect you to DO SOMETHING FOR the PEOPLE! We know the AG Elections Integrity Unit received over 2,000 complaints early in Nov., right after the election, and a report was filed on fraudulent ballots flown into Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport and taken to Maricopa County Tabulation Center which was corroborated with affidavits, and video and audio evidence. Considering this, the thousands of complaints and affidavits, and the statistical data, what have you done about it, Mr. Brnovich? Have you even looked at the wild statistical data, sir? How do you explain it? We are ASKING YOU NICELY.

It's my understanding Jennifer Wright wanted to pursue an investigation and you shut it down. You've led the Legislature on a wild goose chase, bouncing them back and forth with the courts, debating on authority and enforcement of subpoenas JUST WASTING OUR PRECIOUS TIME. How convenient that we weren't able to get an audit before the safe harbor rule, and now the machines have been tampered with. WE ARE LIVID!

Not a phony audit like the last few, a forensic audit of the ballots using kinematic artifact technology, which can verify a minimum of 20 validation points on every ballot. This technology is presently utilized to identify counterfeit currency, bank notes, bonds, stocks, passports, etc. AUDITING VALUABLE THINGS, LIKE OUR VOTE! This is the real audit the Senate would ensure, BECAUSE TGE PEOPLE HAVE DEMANDED IT.

We left you alone mostly, but will not REST until our VOTES and ELECETIONS completely and competently handled! We're not good with a baloney audit like currently underway by the Board of Supervisors. WHY ARE THEY TOUCHING OUR VOTING MATERIAL!?

Please wake up. People understand what is going on. We know about the differences in audits, we know about HL8230 plane and Scott Koch, we know about the tampering with the machines, we know about the Board wasting our time and we know how to get your ass out of office! I am a friend of a Governor Jan Brewer and her son who worked as an atty in YOUR OFFICE so I take this personally.

Until we know our votes count, we are all just kind of willy nilly with no LAW & ORDER. That whole board should be DOING TIME. You are not to be trusted, Mr.AG. Your "Elections Integrity Unit" received $500K AND WE WANT OUR —ING MONEY BACK.

Not just "TAKING IT" anymore. This is our new job... BABYSITTING OUR ELECTED OFFICIALS.

We Must All Work to Ensure the Integrity of Elections

By Mark Brnovich

There is no more sacred duty for public servants than protecting the peoples' right to vote while maintaining public confidence in the integrity of the results. It's a responsibility that I take very seriously, and I will not waiver as I speak for Arizona at the U.S. Supreme Court. The justices will hear arguments in Brnovich v. DNC – a case about preserving two of Arizona's most important election safeguards: restrictions on out-of-precinct voting and ballot harvesting. The decision will impact every election across the country.

All states must adopt rules to ensure the integrity of elections. Since the 1970s, Arizona has required people who choose to cast their ballots in person to vote at their locally assigned precinct, where voter rolls can be easily accessed and confirmed. This ensures order in our elections, minimizes lines, and prevents anyone from being disenfranchised in local races. Today, the majority of states require people to vote at their specific precinct.

Arizona also restricts the collection and delivery of ballots by third-parties or political operatives, commonly known as ballot harvesting. The Arizona Legislature passed the law in 2016 -- which includes exceptions for family, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials -- after the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be City officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots. Civil Rights leaders had also raised concerns about elderly and vulnerable communities being targeted by ballot harvesting activists. And, just this past December, the Arizona Attorney General's Office, indicted two individuals from Yuma County for allegedly engaging in ballot harvesting.

Of course, everything has to be political so the Democratic National Committee (DNC) filed lawsuits in federal court claiming the laws were a product of intentional discrimination and violated Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act.

After a ten-day trial at the U.S. District Court for Arizona, the restrictions were upheld. That ruling was appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals where we won again, until the Court inexplicably reversed itself and now claims the restrictions violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and the Fifteenth Amendment. By that twisted logic, every common sense election-integrity law across the country would be in jeopardy.

What Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act requires is an "equal opportunity for all voters to participate in a State's political processes" and what it bans are "laws that cause substantial disparities in minority voters' opportunities to participate in those processes" and "to elect representatives of one's choice." Upon careful consideration, it becomes clear that the Ninth Circuit erred.

Arizona's election-integrity safeguards do not have a substantial impact on voters simply based on their race. The out-of-precinct policy is lawful because it applies to all voters, equally and it did not cause people of any race to vote in the wrong precinct.

As for Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting, it is a practical means of protecting the secrecy of the ballot, and was a key recommendation by a bipartisan commission on federal election reform, co-chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker. Just look at who else supports these types of measures. In 2016, the Arizona Latino Republican Association for the Tucson Chapter expressed concerns that elderly people in the Latino community were being taken advantage of by ballot collectors. Likewise, Michael Johnson, an African American who had served on the Phoenix City Council, also expressed concern about ballot collectors misrepresenting themselves as election workers. And during the ten-day trial, Representative Charlene Fernandez, a Democrat representing Yuma, testified that she didn't believe the bill was enacted with the intent to suppress Hispanic voting.

While proponents of ballot harvesting insist it enhances voter participation by assisting those who cannot get to the polls, there are other more secure options readily available in Arizona, including vote-by-mail, vote centers, and secure ballot drop-off locations. In reality, ballot harvesting often exploits vulnerable communities when third-parties not only gather and claim to deliver all ballots, but also "assist" people in filling them out! This opens the door and rolls out the carpet for anyone who may be attempting to commit voter fraud, suppression, or intimidation.

It's also true that some of our country's most high-profile instances of suspected ballot tampering occurred through ballot harvesting in North Carolina, Florida, Missouri, and California (where ballot harvesting is legal). These cases, it is important to note, were not confined to one political party, but instead reflected problems with voting processes that do not respect the proper custody of ballots. There are other states with less publicized, but no less salient concerns.

The High Court is now stepping in to review Arizona's election safeguards, and it will hopefully provide guidance and eliminate future challenges to basic voting laws that make baseless allegations of racial discrimination. One thing that should be clear to everyone is we must avoid even the appearance of impropriety at the polls. All efforts to enhance voting convenience must respect the imperatives of accuracy and confidence in the results. Arizona's common sense precinct based voting system and restrictions on ballot harvesting do both and should be upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP

YOU GET 16 GUESSES WHO IT IS

A Republican lawmaker who was exposed to Covid Thursday and received an initial negative rapid test result today plans to be present in the Senate Monday for crossover week voting, highlighting what many consider to be a major flaw with Fann's rules that senators must be present in the Senate to vote. The problem is magnified particularly when every Republican is necessary to pass a Republican agenda. The Senate's Covid emergency rules allow lawmakers in quarantine to attend committee hearings from home, but they must be physically on the floor or in their offices to cast their floor votes. Fann confirmed to our reporter today that senators cannot cast floor votes from home (representatives can), and initially said she hadn't heard of anybody being exposed at the Senate.

Bills don't automatically die if they don't pass the Senate next week, but delaying votes and sending them to the House after crossover week gives less time for House committees to hear the bills and takes time away from Senate committees hearing House bills in the following weeks, throwing a major wrench in legislative business. The lawmaker in question described having only passing interactions with an employee who works in very close proximity to the senator's office – including occasional masked and distanced meetings – but not enough to meet either the Centers for Disease Control or the Senate's guidelines that define exposure as being within 6 feet of a confirmed or presumed infected person for at least 15 minutes in a single day. Corporate offices, including ours, tend to adopt a more cautious approach, asking people to get tested and quarantine for at least several days before returning to work in person after any confirmed exposure. But that kind of approach could prevent the Senate from functioning because it doesn't allow members to vote from home, as the House does, with permission from the speaker. The Senate told the lawmaker there is no need to even get tested since that lawmaker didn't meet that CDC definition of "exposed," but the lawmaker felt an obligation to get tested nonetheless. The senator would prefer to vote from home if the rules allowed, but said the Senate's rules are reportedly based on constitutional concerns that the House does not share. The Senate's general counsel pointed our reporter to Article IV, Part 2, Sections 8 and 9, that indicate that lawmakers must be present on the floor to vote. However, the constitution also gives the House and Senate the authority to determine their own rules of procedure, and a Senate GOP spokesman said theoretically the Senate could make a rule that someone quarantined with Covid could vote remotely. (The House does not require an active quarantine to allow lawmakers to vote from home.) The Senate allowed its members to vote from home last year near the start of the Covid pandemic. Senate rules this year are written to consider senators' offices as an extension of the floor for the purposes of compelling a quorum. The lawmaker plans to get a second test before Monday and follow safety guidelines, though even a Monday test would only be four days since the senator's last exposure, leaving open the possibility that the person is infected but not still showing it in a test. We debated whether to allow anonymity for the lawmaker, and settled on publishing in the interest of public safety while protecting the senator and staffer's privacy. However, if the lawmaker is spotted on the floor Monday, rather than voting from the office, we may revisit that decision out of an obligation to err on the side of transparency in the middle of a deadly global pandemic.

DIDN'T YOU HEAR HER THE FIRST 83 TIMES?

Nutt today announced that the House Ethics Committee wouldn't take up Finchem's request to investigate all House Democrats for asking the FBI to investigate him. "Let me reiterate what I wrote on February 12... and again on February 15," she wrote, referencing the 82 complaints against Finchem that she dismissed and the other complaint on Payne and Fillmore. "The ethics committee is not an arena for waging political contests." Finchem filed his complaint against all Democratic members of the House (except Blackwater-Nygren, who wasn't a lawmaker at the time) as well as all of the Senate Democrats, and it's still unclear if Kerr plans to take up his complaints. Nutt also gave a nod to Finchem's claim that Democrats broke federal law by asking the FBI to investigate him. "The ethics committee is not a court of law. So while I express no view on the legal merits of Representative Finchem's claim, I also conclude that the ethics committee should take no action on his complaint at this time."

SUDDENLY, WE HAVE 1,000 FEWER THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT

After yesterday's deadline for bills to be heard in their chamber of origin, more than 1,000 of the 1,822 pieces of legislation introduced this year are dead — at least until they can be resurrected as strikers. Ducey has signed 31 bills thus far, and another five are ready for his signature. Among the many high-profile bills that died of neglect this year is Bolick's H2720 (ballots; election contests; certificates), which gained national attention for the novelty of a lawmaker proposing that the Legislature should get to overturn election results at any point before the inauguration. Fann avoided another fight over women's rights by refusing to assign either Steele's SCR1012 (ratification; equal rights amendment) or Engel's SCR1013 (equal rights; equal protection) to a committee, and she prevented a rerun of last year's bitter House fight over transgender athletes in women's sports by holding on to Rogers' S1637 (biological sex; interscholastic athletics).

WE'RE TELLING YOU, IT'S GONNA BE A GREAT PRIMARY

Kirk Adams, who still has not confirmed or denied if he's going to run for the US Senate in 2022, took a jab at Biggs in what seems like the opening salvo in the race to take on Kelly. He told our reporter that Kelly is a "formidable statewide candidate" in response to a recent poll (YS, 2/18) and added that he would "encourage Andy to take his new brand of factional populism outside the friendly confines of his 20+ Republican district," referring to CD5, one of the strongest Republican districts in Arizona. Adams ran in that district in 2012, and lost to Matt Salmon in the primary, and was rumored to be eyeing another run in 2016, when Salmon resigned, but that effort never came to fruition after Salmon backed Biggs as his replacement.

IF RUMORS WERE A TORNADO, WE'D BE IN THE EYE OF IT

Rumors continue to swirl over what the Dem field of candidates will look like for governor in 2022, and Arizona's last Democratic governor might have found her candidate. According to one source, former Gov Janet Napolitano might be trying to draft Phoenix Mayor Kate Gallego to run, viewing her as the Democrats' only hope of winning. Napolitano supporting Gallego may not be surprising to those who know the two's history. Gallego served under Napolitano while she was governor as her economic development policy advisor – giving Gallego her first big job in politics. Napolitano then stumped for Gallego's consecutive bids for Phoenix Mayor after Stanton resigned (LINK) (LINK). The two also share a communications director in Jeanine L'Ecuyer, who joined Gallego's team in August. While most eyes are still on Hobbs, Arizona's top elected Democrat and second highest office holder, some progressive groups are concerned over Hobbs' fundraising ability, said one Dem consultant. "National women's groups like Emily's List are concerned with Hobbs' fundraising history," the source told our reporter. "Especially after [David] Garcia couldn't raise in '18, but Hobbs' profile is way higher now than it was then." The consultant said Hobbs' fundraising will likely pick up and noted that fundraising in '22 will be very different from in 2018. Another Dem railbird told our reporter the rumors about Gallego seeking a bid for governor has had its peaks and valleys on whether she's even interested, but said a lot of her interest could surround what happens in next month's city council run-off elections. If Yassamin Ansari, the progressive candidate, loses to Cinthia Estela (LINK), Gallego might be more inclined to jump ship from the Mayor's Office, the source told our reporter. That's because Gallego has had shaky relationships with other members of the City Council and desperately needs an ally. Stanton and former Nogales Mayor Marco Lopez are the other major names rumored to run for governor, too. Lopez also notably worked for Napolitano as a policy advisor. A third Dem source said that it wasn't a coincidence that this rumor about Gallego came days after John Oliver made fun of Hobbs (YS, 2/15). People in DC must already be concerned about Hobbs' national spotlight, the source speculated.

FROM THE DESERT TO THE SWAMP?

One Democratic railbird told our reporter there is increasing chatter in Southern Arizona about Tucson Mayor Regina Romero possibly departing to join the Biden administration as deputy HUD secretary. Romero's name has consistently been floated for a possible appointment, though this is the first time our reporter has heard about the actual position. The source said while Romero hasn't been offered the job, there's increasing chatter about her being on the short list. The Dem Railbird said who will take over the mayoral post, which Romero has only held since 2019, is the $64,000 question. "I can think of six candidates right off the bat, each of the council members," the source said, adding that former city council member (and possible future city council appointee Karen Uhlich would be a formidable candidate if she ran. Another source pointed to Councilman Richard Fimbres as "the most qualified" noting he served on the state transportation board under Gov Janet Napolitano. "Maybe Steve Farley wants to get back in. He didn't do too well the first time but stranger things can happen," the first source said of the former lawmaker who Romero defeated in the 2019 primary. Romero's office wouldn't confirm nor deny the rumor, saying that it would "obviously be an honor" to be considered, but that she's focused on being mayor.

I'LL TAKE ARIZONA POLITICAL HISTORY FOR 500, ALEX

Romero joining the Biden administration would be a boon to Southern Arizona, another source said, noting that the last Tucsonan to join a presidential administration in a high level post was when George W. Bush appointed Richard Carmona as surgeon general in 2002 (though Grijalva has several times been floated as a possible Secretary of Interior). The railbird noted that the next previous Tucsonan to earn a high-level presidential appointment was Stewart Udall. He was a member of Congress who later became secretary of Interior under presidents Kennedy and Johnson (Moe, his younger brother, took over his congressional seat.) If Romero does get the gig, she would be following, somewhat, in the footsteps of Terry Goddard, who served as Arizona director for HUD in 1995 until he was elected as AG in 2002.

MOVING UP

Longtime court employee Amy Love left the judiciary to join the Kelly administration. She will serve as Kelly's outreach director, based in Phoenix. Love was the longtime lobbyist with the Arizona Supreme Court until 2019, when she joined the Maricopa County Superior Court as deputy communications director. "My career began 15 years ago at the Arizona Supreme Court and I have spent almost a decade and a half proudly representing the third branch of government," she wrote in an email announcing her departure. "It is hard to imagine doing anything else."

Kelly, Sinema: Funding Opportunity Available for Arizona Fire Departments

The SAFER Grant Program assists fire departments with staffing and deployment capabilities for emergency responses; application window is open until March 12, 2021

Arizona Senators Mark Kelly and Kyrsten Sinema announced that the Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) Program opened for Arizona fire departments to increase the number of trained firefighters in Arizona communities. Kelly and Sinema encourage fire departments and volunteer organizations across the state to apply.

“Our first responders are critical to our state, especially during this pandemic. The SAFER grant program provides Arizona fire departments with funding that will help them continue to keep Arizona families and communities safe,” said Kelly.

“Arizona firefighters risk their lives to keep our communities safe and secure. SAFER grants help our fire departments recruit, hire, and retain firefighters to protect Arizonans. We encourage all eligible Arizona fire departments to apply,” said Sinema.

The SAFER Grant is open to Career and Combination Fire Departments, federally recognized Indian tribe or tribal organizations, and Statewide, local, or nonprofit interest organizations representing the interests of volunteer fighters. The grant enables fire departments to recruit and retain volunteer and career firefighters so fire departments can attain and maintain 24-hour fire department staffing.

Eligible fire departments and volunteer firefighter organizations are encouraged to apply for these funds by March 12, 2021 by 3:00 p.m. Arizona time. Information on the SAFER Grant can be found by going to Grants.gov and FEMA's website.

ADHS making $100 million immediately available to counties to support COVID-19 testing CDC funding also can be used for disease surveillance, public health staffing, and more

PHOENIX — The Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS) is coordinating with local health departments to immediately allocate an initial $100 million in federal funding intended for staffing, laboratory testing, informatics, disease surveillance, and other activities critical to combating COVID-19.

Arizona received $418,951,131 as part of the \$19 billion allocated to jurisdictions through the existing Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Epidemiology and Laboratory Capacity (ELC) cooperative agreement at the end of January. Under its funding agreement with the CDC, ADHS must submit the complete budget by mid-March. Following approval, funding will support projects across the state undertaken from Jan. 15 on. The immediate $100 million allocation is intended to provide critical funding to local health departments to continue to support testing efforts statewide as ADHS develops the overall budget.

ADHS is making this funding available to counties using a formula of a $100,000 base amount plus funding based on their percentage of the state's population. Pima County, for example, is eligible for around $14.4 million of the total $100 million, while Maricopa County is eligible for around $60.6 million and Greenlee County around $230,000. A full list of amounts by county is available below.

This week, ADHS invited county health departments to submit proposals for this funding, which can be used for purposes including but not limited to:

- Strengthening laboratory testing
- Improving surveillance and reporting of electronic health data
- Enhancing workforce capacity
- Advancing the use of laboratory data to enhance investigation, response, and prevention
- Coordinating and engaging with partners

Throughout the pandemic, ADHS has directly funded testing throughout the state, including Arizona State University's saliva-based testing, airport testing, sequencing, serology (antibody) testing for healthcare workers and first responders in partnership with the University of Arizona, and rapid response testing for outbreaks at long-term care facilities. In addition to supporting county specific testing projects, part of the $418 million allocated to Arizona will continue to fund these statewide testing programs. This funding is in addition to the CARES Act funding provided directly to local jurisdictions and the state that could be used for testing and other public health activities. For more information on COVID-19 testing in Arizona, please visit azhealth.gov/COVID19testing.

Representatives Cobb and Biasiucci Sponsor Bill to Encourage Tech Growth and Protect Consumers from Big Tech Monopolies, Devastating Fees

STATE CAPITOL, PHOENIX – State Representatives Regina Cobb and Leo Biasiucci announced their support for HB 2005, legislation that would protect consumers and app developers from devastating fees imposed by big tech monopolies and encourage companies to relocate to Arizona.

To reach consumers, all app developers must go through Apple and Google’s monopoly-controlled app distribution stores. With this monopoly, app developers that offer digital services, like music or games, are forced to exclusively use Apple and Google’s in-app payment processing. Developers are charged a 30% processing tax referred to as the “App Tax” for a service they are forced to use, rather than a traditional payment processing fee of 3%. This tax not only penalizes small app developers but also limits choice for consumers and forces Arizonans to pay more. HB 2005 would allow small app developers to provide payment options to their customers rather than being forced to use solely the dominant platform’s service, freeing them from the “App Tax” and lowering costs for consumers. Additionally, the bill would allow companies that operate in Arizona to apply payment options to any customer across the country, which would create a huge incentive for companies to move here.

“HB 2005 introduces competition into a monopoly,” said Representative Cobb. “The bill provides real savings for Arizona families and developers who are no longer subject to the exorbitant fees. Too often, developers are required to use the big tech payment processing systems or risk being removed from the app store altogether, a hostage situation that costs Arizona consumers and businesses throughout the U.S.”

“Arizonans should not be forced to live under the monopolistic regime implemented by big tech,” said Representative Biasiucci. “They control the access, they control the data, and it’s time to stand up for the companies who are subject to this ridiculous scheme and the everyday Arizonan that subsidizes Apple and Google’s record profits. HB 2005 is a win-win for this state: it creates competition in the marketplace, makes app purchases and subscriptions more affordable, and will bring companies running to Arizona by allowing them to operate in the marketplace more freely.”

HB 2005 will be heard in the House Appropriations on Monday, February 22.

Regina Cobb and Leo Biasiucci are Republican members of the Arizona House of Representatives serving Legislative District 5, which includes La Paz and Mohave Counties.

“QUOTE OF THE DAY”

“Let me reiterate what I wrote on February 12... and again on February 15. The ethics committee is not an arena for waging political contests.”

We Must All Work to Ensure the Integrity of Elections

By Mark Brnovich

There is no more sacred duty for public servants than protecting the peoples' right to vote while maintaining public confidence in the integrity of the results. It's a responsibility that I take very seriously, and I will not waiver as I speak for Arizona at the U.S. Supreme Court. The justices will hear arguments in Brnovich v. DNC – a case about preserving two of Arizona's most important election safeguards: restrictions on out-of-precinct voting and ballot harvesting. The decision will impact every election across the country.

All states must adopt rules to ensure the integrity of elections. Since the 1970s, Arizona has required people who choose to cast their ballots in person to vote at their locally assigned precinct, where voter rolls can be easily accessed and confirmed. This ensures order in our elections, minimizes lines, and prevents anyone from being disenfranchised in local races. Today, the majority of states require people to vote at their specific precinct.

Arizona also restricts the collection and delivery of ballots by third-parties or political operatives, commonly known as ballot harvesting. The Arizona Legislature passed the law in 2016 -- which includes exceptions for family, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials -- after the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be City officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots. Civil Rights leaders had also raised concerns about elderly and vulnerable communities being targeted by ballot harvesting activists. And, just this past December, the Arizona Attorney General's Office, indicted two individuals from Yuma County for allegedly engaging in ballot harvesting.

Of course, everything has to be political so the Democratic National Committee (DNC) filed lawsuits in federal court claiming the laws were a product of intentional discrimination and violated Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act.

After a ten-day trial at the U.S. District Court for Arizona, the restrictions were upheld. That ruling was appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals where we won again, until the Court inexplicably reversed itself and now claims the restrictions violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and the Fifteenth Amendment. By that twisted logic, every common sense election-integrity law across the country would be in jeopardy.

What Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act requires is an "equal opportunity for all voters to participate in a State's political processes" and what it bans are "laws that cause substantial disparities in minority voters' opportunities to participate in those processes" and "to elect representatives of one's choice." Upon careful consideration, it becomes clear that the Ninth Circuit erred.

Arizona's election-integrity safeguards do not have a substantial impact on voters simply based on their race. The out-of-precinct policy is lawful because it applies to all voters, equally and it did not cause people of any race to vote in the wrong precinct.

As for Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting, it is a practical means of protecting the secrecy of the ballot, and was a key recommendation by a bipartisan commission on federal election reform, co-chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker. Just look at who else supports these types of measures. In 2016, the Arizona Latino Republican Association for the Tucson Chapter expressed concerns that elderly people in the Latino community were being taken advantage of by ballot collectors. Likewise, Michael Johnson, an African American who had served on the Phoenix City Council, also expressed concern about ballot collectors misrepresenting themselves as election workers. And during the ten-day trial, Representative Charlene Fernandez, a Democrat representing Yuma, testified that she didn't believe the bill was enacted with the intent to suppress Hispanic voting.

While proponents of ballot harvesting insist it enhances voter participation by assisting those who cannot get to the polls, there are other more secure options readily available in Arizona, including vote-by-mail, vote centers, and secure ballot drop-off locations. In reality, ballot harvesting often exploits vulnerable communities when third-parties not only gather and claim to deliver all ballots, but also "assist" people in filling them out! This opens the door and rolls out the carpet for anyone who may be attempting to commit voter fraud, suppression, or intimidation.

It's also true that some of our country's most high-profile instances of suspected ballot tampering occurred through ballot harvesting in North Carolina, Florida, Missouri, and California (where ballot harvesting is legal). These cases, it is important to note, were not confined to one political party, but instead reflected problems with voting processes that do not respect the proper custody of ballots. There are other states with less publicized, but no less salient concerns.

The High Court is now stepping in to review Arizona's election safeguards, and it will hopefully provide guidance and eliminate future challenges to basic voting laws that make baseless allegations of racial discrimination. One thing that should be clear to everyone is we must avoid even the appearance of impropriety at the polls. All efforts to enhance voting convenience must respect the imperatives of accuracy and confidence in the results. Arizona's common sense precinct based voting system and restrictions on ballot harvesting do both and should be upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

·NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP·

THEY COULDN'T AFFORD THE REAL RUDY GIULIANI

The AZGOP has apparently tapped Alex Kolodin as its next general counsel replacing Dennis Wilenchik, who served under Kelli Ward for the past two years. Kolodin laughed when our reporter asked him to confirm the rumor. "How in the world?! How did you hear that?" he asked, before adding, "I am not authorized to comment on that publicly at this time." It's no surprise that Ward would want to scoop him up – Kolodin represented a host of conspiracy-peddling plaintiffs in court and was the lawyer responsible for the SharpieGate lawsuit and multiple attempts to overturn the election. He first came onto the political scene as a challenger to Ugenti-Rita in the LD23 primary last August, a race that he lost by a significant margin. "I've enjoyed having Chairwoman Ward as a client this past election season, and if that rumor is true, it would certainly be a great honor to work for her and on behalf of our party," Kolodin said. One GOP attorney told our reporter, essentially, better Kolodin than them. The lawyer said that Kolodin has become a favorite of Ward's for taking on the lawsuits no other attorney, our source included, is willing to touch. "He's willing to take the garbage, frankly. Even if they paid me well... I wouldn't go anywhere near Kelli Ward," the lawyer said, adding that Ward has been a disaster for the party for many reasons, "not least of which is for her lawsuits."

YOU DO NOT WANT TO BE CALLED TO PRINCIPAL KIRK'S OFFICE

WHEN YOU GET CALLED INTO KIRK'S OFFICE
AND SEE A FRESHMAN

Former House Speaker Kirk Adams said while he has not read the Wendy Rogers ethics complaint in detail, he can confidently say that it's "incredibly important to protect the staff from mistreatment by the members." Adams, who also served as Ducey's chief of staff, said that during his time at the helm of the chamber, he never had to take up an ethics investigation, but still had some "member behavior issues," including one time when two lawmakers nearly came to blows in the member lounge. But he never saw a lawmaker berate their staff in the manner Rogers is accused of doing. "It's rare for members to mistreat staff, particularly in the manner that's been reported," he said. "You have to take action that says, very very clearly this type of behavior is not tolerated." Since Rogers is elected and not an employee of the Senate, the Senate has fewer tools to handle her harassing and berating a staffer than would be available to a CEO in corporate America, he said. But there's always one tool at the chamber leader's fingertips: A stern scolding. "The first thing that you would do – and I had situations where I had to do this – you bring the member in, and you dress them down. And you say, 'This is unacceptable. You can't do this. You have to knock it off and you have to apologize,'" Adams said. Rogers has still not addressed the complaint publicly, which is out of character for her, based on how she conducts herself on social media, and Fann has not addressed it in detail, saying yesterday that she had a brief conversation with Rogers about it.

STEP ONE – CALL OUT HER BULLSH*T

Like many conservatives, Adams was dismayed that Kelli Ward won the chairmanship, saying true conservatives must do their part to quiet the noise coming from Ward and her crew of conspiracy theorists by “call[ing] out their bullsh*t.” That’s been his modus operandi lately, and Adams has been talking to just about any reporter who calls to say that Ward winning the chair again isn’t an end to the Republican Party here, but it’s not a good sign, and it’s not reflective of all Republicans. “You have to let voters know that this is not a Republican brand. Or if they think it is, [explain that] there are a lot of other Republicans who don’t think this way – give us a second look,” he said. “But if we sort of ‘See No Evil, Hear

No Evil’ we don’t want to tick anybody off, then her style of politics becomes the Republican brand.” Republicans are increasingly willing to vote for sufficiently moderate Democrats, such as Sinema and Kelly, and the GOP needs to court “Ducey-Sinema” voters, who are the voters of the future, he said, not simply rely on the fringe that Ward represents. Adams has made no bones about the fact that he thinks Ward is “crazy” and her “conspiracy theories” are “nuts” and said Republicans who still haven’t made a point to come out publicly against Ward and her ilk are still learning to navigate the waters in a post-Trump world. “Others have governing responsibilities that need to be tended to as a first priority. So they’re focused on that,” he said, seemingly hinting at the criticism his former boss has received for not condemning Ward more strongly.

SHE’S DOING ALRIGHT NOW

Talonya Adams, a Black attorney in the Senate successfully sued the chamber for discrimination and landed a $1 million verdict, is now among the top 10 highest paid employees in the Senate. Our Yellow Sheet intern, Cameron Rubner, filed public records request for Senate salaries, which showed that Adams now earns $113,000, nearly double the $60,000 she earned per year during her first stint at the Senate. (She was fired after complaining about the pay – which she learned from a previous public records request from our reporter, was nearly $30,000 less than a Senate Majority policy advisor with a similar committee workload – then reinstated.) The document also shows that a handful of Senate staffers received five-figure raises without any adjustment in their titles in the last year. The only vacant position in the Senate, according to the document is Rogers’ assistant, who said she harassed him so badly he felt scared for his safety and that the Senate forced him to resign. While suffering Rogers’ verbal abuse and feeling her spittle on his face, he was earning $32,000.

NO RUSH, WE’VE GOT TWO YEARS

Due to Covid and a mixture of Trump-related issues dating back to his fight over whether to count non-citizens, the US Census Bureau data has been delayed until April 30, which will have a trickledown effect on the Arizona IRC’s ability to begin drawing maps. The Census Bureau expected the data to be available around the end of February, but a top bureau official said today that is no longer the case (LINK). The IRC just named Erika Neuberg as its chair last week and is set to meet again on Feb 2 to plan the process of hiring an executive director and possibly address future hires, such as mapping consultants and legal teams. This IRC was already working far ahead of schedule compared to the last run a decade ago, and it’s unclear how much the Census delay will affect statutory and constitutional deadlines, but the IRC will likely address those questions when it meets next week.

INDULGE US WITH A TRIP DOWN MEMORY LANE

Yesterday's report noted that the House cited a 2017 attorney general opinion while pledging to fulfil a records request, to the extent possible, about Finchem and former lawmaker Anthony Kern's text messages on their personal phones – but we left out an interesting backstory about that opinion. Back in late 2015, our reporter, and then-Capitol Times reporter Rachel Leingang, set out to learn how much of the state's business was being conducted on smartphones, via newer technologies like text messages, social media chats and third-party messenger applications. We filed a public records request with the House, Senate and Ninth Floor asking for electronic messages sent among top state elected officials of both parties and their top staff (LINK). After four months, House Republicans provided a handful of records. But Biggs, the Senate president at the time, refused, claiming that as long as the communication doesn't happen on a state-provided phone, it's not public record. (Lawmakers and Capitol staffer are issued an official state email address to conduct their business, but they're not issued a state cell phone.) The Senate GOP caucus was alone in flat-out refusing our request. So we asked then-lawmaker Steve Farley to request an Attorney General opinion on the topic, which, predictably, stated, "public officials cannot use private devices and accounts for the purpose of concealing official conduct." Longtime readers will recall this battle over public records happened back when the issue of elected officials' text messages exploded in Arizona after a clean energy watchdog group requested texts from then-Corporation Commissioner Bob Stump. The former commissioner regularly texted with a member of the state's utility consumer group, as well as APS representatives, leaders of dark money organizations and solar representatives, but deleted some of those texts and threw away his old phone, forcing Corp Comm to purchase software that would allow commissioners to plug in their phones every week or two and back up their messages. The Legislature has never adopted such a system, and still does not issue public phones for lawmakers to conduct their public business.

SHE FOUGHT RUSSELL PEARCE AND WON

Mary Lou Boettcher, a former Republican PC and key figure in the recall of former Senate President Russell Pearce, passed away on Friday. In a Facebook post eulogizing Boettcher, activist Randy Parraz wrote about teaming up to recall Pearce 10 years ago. "At the age of 76, she signed up to be our chairperson in Mesa for the historic effort to recall then Senate President Pearce (and author of SB 1070)," Parraz wrote. "When I told her we wanted to remove Pearce from office and asked her to get involved she said, 'Did I hear you correctly? You want to get rid of Russell Pearce? Yes! I can't stand him.'" They succeeded in collecting enough signatures, and Boettcher later filed a lawsuit (YS, 9/26/11) to have sham candidate Olivia Cortes thrown off the ballot. While Boettcher – and attorney Tom Ryan – technically lost the case, despite proving Olivia Cortes was a Pearce-plant, they did enough damage to her campaign that Jerry Lewis won the recall election to replace Pearce (LINK). Boettcher was also a member of the Arizona Education Assn. Both Ryan and Lewis, among others, praised Boettcher in memoriam. "Mary Lou Boettcher was a gentle yet brave giant ... We owe a sincere debt of gratitude to her for her bravery!" Ryan tweeted (LINK). "She was a gentle, loving, determined, and hardworking soul. I hope I can learn from her example," Lewis responded.

Goal is to assure voters of election integrity, combat misinformation

The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously today to authorize a forensic audit of ballot tabulation equipment used in the 2020 elections. The audit is the culmination of a year-long effort by Maricopa County to ensure the accuracy of the federally- and state-certified hardware and software used to count votes (see 2020 Elections Fact Sheet or multimedia page).

"Maricopa County elections were administered with integrity throughout 2020. That's a fact. Multiple audits to date have proved as much, and multiple court rulings have concurred," said Chairman Jack Sellers. "It's also true that a significant number of voters want the additional assurance that a full forensic audit of tabulation equipment might bring, especially given all the misinformation that spread following the November 3 election. This audit shows our commitment to providing that assurance."

The multi-layered forensic audit will dive into the tabulation equipment to analyze its hacking vulnerability, verify that no malicious malware was installed, and test that tabulators were not sending or receiving information over the internet.

As an added layer of assurance, the county will hire two independent firms certified by the U.S. Elections Assistance Commission, to each independently audit the tabulation equipment: Pro V&V and SLI Compliance.

The first audit will begin on February 2, and the second audit will begin on February 8.

"We're doing the right thing, at the right time, in the right way," said Vice Chairman Bill Gates, District 3. "The audit will be conducted in a way that safeguards private voter information and protects the investment made by county taxpayers in the tabulation equipment. My hope is that the audit results will ensure the residents of Maricopa County have the same confidence in our elections system that we have."

"While I'm confident we ran good elections, I have been passionate about doing this audit," said Supervisor Clint Hickman, District 4. "Every election-related decision and safeguard this Board has made over the past year has had voter and election integrity in mind. The upcoming forensic audit of election equipment will be no different, and I hope it puts to rest the notion that somehow we've got something to hide."

In addition to the software and malware tests, one firm will also perform a logic and accuracy test of the county's tabulation equipment to ensure it accurately counted ballots and confirm that no vote switching occurred.

As an added measure of transparency, the Board hired a reputable Certified Public Accountant firm to review county contracts with Dominion Voting Services and verify that the county leased the tabulation equipment according to state and county procurement regulations.

"I have been publicly supportive of an audit for over a month now and am glad to have this much needed vote," said Supervisor Steve Chuceri, District 2. "Elections are the foundation of our democracy and the most important right we hold as Americans. It is paramount that the public has trust in our elections systems and equipment and that is why I wholeheartedly support an audit to ensure this equipment is above reproach. This thorough audit is what many of my constituents have been asking for. I am pleased we are conducting it and look forward to sharing the results."

Community stakeholders will be an important part of the forensic audit process. Leadership from both the House and Senate, members of all three political parties, and representatives from the Arizona Secretary of State's Office and

Attorney General's Office will be invited to observe. We will also provide availability for media members as well, so they can fulfill their role informing the public.

"It's normal for people to complain about elections when they don't like the results, but people took it a step further this year. They spread lies and conspiracies about how our elections were conducted in an effort to overturn the will of the people," said Supervisor Steve Gallardo, District 5. "I know for a fact we ran three great, safe, and secure elections in 2020. I expect this audit to be the final word."

The results of the forensic audit will be shared publicly.

2020 Elections Fact Sheet

Transparency, accuracy and accountability are paramount to Maricopa County and its Elections Department. In September, the Elections Department met with the chairs of all three county political parties to outline important election dates and areas of involvement for party members. The following is an abridged timeline of steps taken to ensure the integrity of the November General Election:

- On October 6, the Elections Department and the Arizona Secretary of State's Office performed a logic and accuracy test on the tabulation equipment. The test date was published in the newspaper, open to the public and observed by political party representatives, city clerks, and school and health care district representatives. The law requires an errorless count before tabulators and software can be used in an election. The tests confirmed the equipment was tabulating ballots accurately, paving the way for the November General Election in which a record number of voters participated and lines at polling sites were kept to a minimum.
- On November 4, a hand count audit of election results performed by Maricopa County political parties law found a 100 percent match to the vote tabulation machines. The hand count audit, which is required by law, covered a statistically significant sample of ballots. The hand count was viewable on the Elections Department's website and the results were shared publicly.
- On November 17, then-Chairman Clint Hickman sent a letter to all Maricopa County voters addressing some of the misinformation circulating regarding elections. This letter was accompanied by a link to a fact page that provided more detail about election processes and is still available to any interested party.
- On November 18, the Elections Department and the Arizona Secretary of State's Office performed a post-election logic and accuracy test on the equipment to ensure it was not changed or tampered with during the election. Members of all three political parties and a representative from the Arizona Attorney General's Office observed the test.
- On November 20, the Board held a nearly three-hour public meeting to discuss concerns and questions raised by Maricopa County residents. Only after these questions were answered in a public forum did the Board certify the results of the election. This meeting was broadcast live and is still available for anyone to watch.
- On December 14, then-Chairman Clint Hickman and Elections Director Scott Jarrett appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee and devoted six hours to fully answering questions by legislators.
- On January 7, 2021, the U.S. Congress confirmed the results of the Electoral College, finalizing the November 3, 2020 General Election.

Throughout the election, political party observers were present at every Vote Center, followed ballot courier routes and observed signature verification, ballot processing and every minute of tabulation. All rooms with ballots were under 24-7 cameras.

Post-election court challenges

Many allegations about the November General Election made their way to court and Maricopa County clearly presented the facts to judges at both the local and federal level. Eleven different times complaints about election fraud, manipulation, or tampering in Maricopa County's 2020 election have been brought against this Board. Each case was dismissed by the courts or withdrawn by the plaintiffs.

Additional information about Maricopa County elections equipment

Election equipment went through extensive testing to receive its federal and state certification. Prior to November, there were no complaints about the accuracy of the county's tabulation equipment, which was also used in elections in March, May and August. The Elections Department also piloted the tabulation equipment in the November 2019 Madison School District election. To verify the accuracy of the equipment, the county also performed a 100 percent hand count of the Madison ballots. There was no discrepancy between the counts.

Maricopa County Recorder Statement on Forensic Audit

Below is a statement from Maricopa County Recorder Stephen Richer on a forensic audit of Maricopa County's tabulation equipment:

"It was my great honor that voters in November elected me to serve as the 30th Maricopa County Recorder. My vision for the office has been consistent: take the politics out of decision-making and focus on competently serving county residents.

A growing public distrust following the November 3 General Election has prompted me to take on a mission to "inspire confidence." Inspire confidence in our public documents; inspire confidence in our voter registration database; inspire confidence in our elections; and, hopefully, be part of a broader movement to inspire confidence in our public institutions.

To this end, since taking office just three weeks ago, I've worked with my partners in election administration, the Board of Supervisors, to design a forensic audit of the election tabulation equipment and software. The Board has statutory authority over the tabulation equipment, and it is therefore ultimately the Board's decision on whether or not to proceed. But I fully support the audit as designed; I applaud the Board's decision to hold a vote, and I will direct the Recorder's Office to assist with the audit where possible.

Such an audit is not required by law. Additionally, no significant problems have been identified by the numerous lawsuits filed and already-performed audits. In fact, the hand count audit of approximately 47,000 votes yielded a 100% match with the machine-tabulated results.

Nonetheless, I believe the Board's audit is needed to build confidence in the election process and to further improve election administration in our county, which is the second largest voting jurisdiction in the United States.

May this be the first step of many over the next four years to inspire confidence in the elections process. The Board of Supervisors joins me in this goal, and we all look forward to serving this County."

February 3rd is Virtual 'Environmental Day' at the AZ State Capitol

(PHOENIX, AZ) More than 300 people from throughout Arizona will be meeting online for a socially distant Environmental Day at the Capitol to meet with their legislators about key environmental issues, including climate change, water, and funding for parks. This year's theme is "One Planet. One Future. Climate Justice Now!" Participants will include members from more than 20 organizations and at least five Arizona high schools, with each attending scheduled meetings with their local representatives and senators in the Arizona Legislature. Youth leaders will hold a news conference at 11:30 A.M. to read their "love letters to the Earth" and speak about some of the priority bills and issues for the session, including sustainability, climate, and protecting watersheds. WHO: Legislators, youth, and others from throughout Arizona who care about protecting our environment

FPAA Supports the nomination of Thomas Vilsack as Sec. of Agriculture and Katherine Tai as U.S. Trade Representative

The Fresh Produce Association of the Americas joins letter in support for nominees in key USDA and USTR positions. NOGALES, Az. (Jan. 27, 2021) – The Fresh Produce Association of the Americas (FPAA) joined the Food & Agriculture Associations letter addressed to the U.S. Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, & Forestry and the U.S. Senate Committee on Finance supporting Secretary of Agriculture nominee, Thomas Vilsack and U.S. Trade Representative nominee, Katherine Tai.

Vilsack who has been nominated to serve as Agriculture Secretary in the Biden Administration also served as Secretary of Agriculture during the Obama Administration and has since been involved with the Dairy Export Council. Additionally, Vilsack has a strong background in developing rural communities.

As U.S. Trade Representative, nominee Tai will work closely with President-elect Biden as his principal trade advisor and will also oversee trade negotiations with other countries. Tai has extensive experience in trade negotiations, and she also played a key role in the most recent United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA.)

"Both Ms. Tai and Sec. Vilsack have an outstanding knowledge of the intricacies of trade, and the value of building meaningful and productive relationships with their peers in Mexico," said FPAA President Lance Jungmeyer. "These nominees will help fulfill the promise of USMCA."

As the new administration begins its preparations for the next four years, supporting nominees who support trade including tackling non-tariff barriers to trade is of great importance to the FPAA.

Congressman Biggs Appointed to the House Committee on Oversight and Reform

GILBERT, ARIZONA -- This week, Congressman Andy Biggs was appointed to serve on the House Committee on Oversight and Reform. Congressman Biggs issued the following statement:

"I am thankful to Ranking Member, James Comer, and the Republican Steering Committee for appointing me to the House Committee on Oversight and Reform. Over the next two years, House Republicans should use all of our power to hold the Biden administration accountable to the Constitution, the rule of law, and the American people. We must hold the line, and many of these efforts will start in this committee. I look forward to getting to work with my colleagues on this committee, and also continuing on the House Judiciary Committee."

I just had a meeting with Todd Lawson on this PRR. This is the request where we had a meeting which resulted that the request could not be completed until a spreadsheet was created to keep better track of voter fraud cases. You were going to ask the requestor for a 6-8 month extension. Not sure what date of the meeting and therefore not sure if we already are at the 6-8 month extension date. Todd is setting up meetings for the spreadsheet but the information in this request is still not available. Todd wanted me to ask you if you communicated to the requestor to resubmit in 6-8 months if that means the request is closed and will reopen when the request is resubmitted or goes it stay open until we have the number of voter fraud cases they requested?

NBC News/MSNBC Vote Watch is contacting Offices of Attorneys General and Secretaries of State/state election administrators to gather direct information on the following questions:

1) What is accurate language to describe the prevalence of vote fraud involving U.S. election voting – and in absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting?

2) What is accurate language to describe the prevalence of vote disenfranchisement (intentional or accidental) involving U.S. election voting – and in U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting?

Determining answers to those questions must begin with the gathering of facts.

Towards that end, NBC News/MSNBC Vote Watch requests that you reply to the questions above and below in the coming weeks.

Vote Fraud

3a) How many reports/complaints of vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

3b) How many reports/complaints of vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

4a) How many cases of possible vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state investigated from the beginning of 2016 through now?

4b) How many cases of possible vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state investigated from the beginning of 2016 through now?

5a) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state prosecuted from the beginning of 2016 through now?

5b) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state prosecuted from the beginning of 2016 through now?

6a) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. election voting have resulted in convictions from the beginning of 2016 through now?

6b) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting have resulted in convictions from the beginning of 2016 through now?

Vote Disenfranchisement

7a) How many reports/complaints of vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

7b) How many reports/complaints of vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

Lisa,

I attached a copy of the information we already have, so no need to provide that portion again. Also sending to ACL.
Thanks!

Hi Katie,

Please see email with NBC News Vote Watch request and questions below.

I will call to follow up in the coming days.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Subject: NBC News Vote Watch Request: [xx]: Vote Fraud / Vote Disenfranchisement #s EMAIL

[TO STATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL, SECRETARIES OF STATE, STATE BOARDS OF ELECTION:]

Thank you for all your efforts to administer and to help protect elections during this time of political polarization and of the coronavirus pandemic.

We apologize for adding to your workloads with this request.

* If you are not the appropriate entity in your government's administration to provide responses to the below, please forward this request to the appropriate entity in your government's administration. ***

NBC News/MSNBC Vote Watch is contacting Offices of Attorneys General and Secretaries of State/state election administrators to gather direct information on the following questions:

- 1) What is accurate language to describe the prevalence of vote fraud involving U.S. election voting – and in absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting?
- 2) What is accurate language to describe the prevalence of vote disenfranchisement (intentional or accidental) involving U.S. election voting – and in U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting?

Determining answers to those questions must begin with the gathering of facts.

Towards that end, NBC News/MSNBC Vote Watch requests that you reply to the questions above and below in the coming weeks.

Vote Fraud

- 3a) How many reports/complaints of vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?
- 3b) How many reports/complaints of vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?
- 4a) How many cases of possible vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state investigated from the beginning of 2016 through now?
- 4b) How many cases of possible vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state investigated from the beginning of 2016 through now?
- 5a) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state prosecuted from the beginning of 2016 through now?

5b) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state prosecuted from the beginning of 2016 through now?

6a) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. election voting have resulted in convictions from the beginning of 2016 through now?

6b) How many cases of charged vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting have resulted in convictions from the beginning of 2016 through now?

Vote Disenfranchisement

7a) How many reports/complaints of vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

7b) How many reports/complaints of vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

8a) How many cases of possible vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. election voting has your state investigated from the beginning of 2016 through now?

8b) How many cases of possible vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state investigated from the beginning of 2016 through now?

9a) How many cases of charged vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. election voting has your state prosecuted from the beginning of 2016 through now?

9b) How many cases of charged vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state prosecuted from the beginning of 2016 through now?

10a) How many cases of charged vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. election voting have resulted in convictions from the beginning of 2016 through now?

10b) How many cases of charged vote disenfranchisement involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting have resulted in convictions from the beginning of 2016 through now?

Additional Request

11) Please provide contact information for the individual(s) and office(s) that investigate each/all the above in your state/commonwealth/district/territory.

Our Vote Watch team members will follow up with you by email and phone in the coming days – until this project is as completed as possible.

We very much appreciate your responses.

This bill references our "voter fraud unit". Is that the language used in the session law creating the EIU? If so, if this bill moves forward, I think the language creating the voter fraud unit needs to be codified.

I am angry as hell. I have been treated like trash personally by members of the Maricopa County Judicial Branch, and now once again, I am being ignored.

LET ME BE PERFECTLY CLEAR. I DO NOT WISH TO OVERTURN AN ELECTION. I WANT THE TRUTH. AND IF ARIZONA'S GOVERNMENT DOES NOT SEEK TO 100% AUDIT THE VOTING MACHINES AND SEE THE IMAGES AND SIGNATURE MATCH EVERY BALLOT IN MARICOPA COUNTY AND ANY ACTIONS TAKEN TO ACCEPT BALLOTS AFTER CONSTITUTIONALLY-MANDATED TIMELINES AND ANYTHING ELSE THAT WOULD NULLIFY A BALLOT MUST BE DETERMINED OR I, AND I'M GUESSING MULTITUDES OF OTHERS, WILL NOT ACCEPT THE RESULTS. THOSE REPS WHO BACKED DOWN TODAY HAVE ALSO FAILED ALL OF US.

WHY???? WHAT IS EVERYONE SO AFRAID OF? WHY ARE OUR DEMANDS SO FAR-FETCHED? ELECTION INTEGRITY. YOUR INTEGRITY. BOTH CAN BE PROVEN.

THIS DIVISIVENESS LIES WITH THOSE WHO REFUSE TO STAND UP.

YOUR REFUSAL TO ADDRESS OUR CONCERNS WILL FOREVER TAINT THIS ELECTION AND BE ASSURED, ALL FUTURE ELECTIONS.

PEOPLE ARE ANGRY. YOU HAVE THE POWER TO MAKE THIS AUDIT HAPPEN. FAILURE TO DO SO IS A GUARANTEE THAT YOU DON'T CARE ABOUT FREE AND FAIR AND TRANSPARENT ELECTIONS.

DO THE RIGHT THING.

DO THE RIGHT THING.

DO THE RIGHT THING.

OR THIS WILL NEVER END. IT IS ON YOU. 17 STATEHOUSES. WHY WON'T YOU LISTEN???????

HACKERS. DOMINION. CROSSFIRE HURRICANE. WHY IS IT SO CRAZY? HACKERS IN OUR DEEPEST GOVERNMENT. GROW UP PEOPLE. THEY'RE HERE. THEY'RE GETTING INTO MICROSOFT. YOU'RE LETTING IT HAPPEN.

I DEMAND AN AUDIT. I'LL SAY IT AND I'LL KEEP SAYING IT UNTIL SOMEONE LISTENS.

Brahm,

I am working on the EIU complaints. There were approximately 3,000 emails that came into that account between the inception of the EIU and December 11. Each email must first be reviewed (not every email was an actual complaint), categorized (so that we can create a spreadsheet categorizing the complaints for pending requests), and then properly redacted. This will take some time. We are diligently working on getting this completed as soon as practicable.

Thank you.

I like this position from Finchem. Posted it on FB and added the following commentary:

Representative Finchem makes a VERY good case. I applaud him and urge all of our State Senators and Legislators to follow his lead on this. In my opinion, having studied the federalist papers and writings of the founders for years, it is OBVIOUS that their rightful intent would be that both of the following in addition to Rep. Finchem's position apply:

1.) That it be recognized that ALL of the arguments against Representative Finchem's position turn on whether or not Art. 2 sec. 1 of the US Constitution is supreme in this matter or not. ( lawyers in legislative council or the opinions of the speaker NOTWITHSTANDING ).

2.) In this matter the US Constitution is supreme and governing based on the following reasoning:

a.) The United States is a Confederation of sovereign states. The United States or Federal head was created by the states. The states have authority over the Federal government in every matter except those that were given to the federal head by the states through the US Constitution. The US Constitution defines and limits the power of the Federal government, but is supreme in every matter that the states assigned to the Federal head.

b.) The sovereign states before the Constitution was ratified did in fact have the status of sovereign nations with the rights and powers to elect representatives as they each saw fit.

c.) The Constitution, by Article II Section 1's inclusion in the Constitution, took a sovereign power of the states, by their consent, and reverted it back to the states with the stipulations contained therein, with supremacy through the supremacy clause. The purpose of this to anyone who knows the principles of the founders obviously is that the states should retain this power of choosing electors as a plenary power without encumbrance FOREVER, as a DUTY to be performed above all else, and NO STATE LEGISLATURE IN THE FUTURE SHOULD EVER BE ABLE TO SHIRK FROM ITS' DUTY IN THIS REGARD or be able to deny that duty for any reason.

State statutes are subordinate to the US Constitution. Color of fraud provides MORE justification for action. Why would the founders take a state power into the constitution and revert it back to them? The answer should be obvious to anyone with commonsense, no less legal pedigree. They obviously intended to make it a state legislative duty, define that duty, and make it so that no state could change or relinquish that duty forever. In other words to insure a Republican form of government, they would not be allowed to relinquish their sovereignty over the federal government in this matter. The opinions of lawyers, judges, or others, be they Republicans or not, be they council to the legislature or not, are null and void by the logic stated above. I would recommend that these attorneys themselves be examined as to why they have adopted false opinions to the contrary. Many it will be found are simply parroting the logic of their progressive law professors and colleagues who hate the constitution and are committed to undermine it as they have been for the last 150 or so years. They are in fact promulgating falsehoods to the benefit of foreign and financial powers, who are in fact the domestic enemy, the enemy within. They need to be educated and defeated.

1. Legislative authority; initiative and referendum

Section 1. (1) Senate; house of representatives; reservation of power to people. The legislative authority of the state shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and a house of representatives, but the people reserve the power to propose laws and amendments to the constitution and to enact or reject such laws and amendments at the polls, independently of the legislature; and they also reserve, for use at their own option, the power to approve or reject at the polls any act, or item, section, or part of any act, of the legislature

Legal Theory Brief Addressing Uncertifiable Elections

Facts: Under Arizona Revised Statutes there are a number of restrictions that past Arizona Legislatures have enacted to provide an orderly and expedited process for uncontested elections. Ordinarily, each Arizona county administers its own election, certifies the result and notifies the Secretary of State of the result. In the case of the Presidential Election, and in normal order, the Secretary of State notifies the Governor, and the State's 11 Electoral Votes are released to the winning candidate. In the case of the 2020 Arizona Election however, fraud of many sorts has been identified, including counterfeit ballots mailed to unregistered voters, pre-loading of "vote tics" on some tabulation machines, dead voters voting, and most prevalent of all, real-time "vote tic" realignment from one candidate to another.

Issue: Whether the Arizona Legislature is bound by the State Constitution and State Statutes restricting a call to Special Session, or whether the duty to direct the appointment of electors delegated to the State Legislatures under Article II of the United States Constitution supersedes the state restraints as the "supreme law of the land" under Article VI?

Rule: Under Article II, Section 1, "Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress" (At Pa. 2). Under Article VI, "This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; ...” (At Pa. 2). Article IV, Section 4, guarantees each state a republican form of government, the foundation of which is self-governance through free and fair elections accurately reflecting the will of the people.

Analysis: There are many laws in Arizona that govern an uncontested, normal order, Federal Office Election. The election for Electoral College Electors, United States Senate, and Congressional Representation are the offices addressed in this analysis. The House of Representatives Legal Counsel analysis of pertinent statutes (found in references) notwithstanding, the essential question at hand follows a fact pattern that Arizona has never faced, and which the Arizona Revised Statutes are silent on. When the Legislature is made aware that sufficient fraud in the election of Federal officials exists, so as to call into question the legitimacy of the election, is the Legislature bound by pertinent state statutes and prevented from stopping a fraudulent election to proceed to its logical conclusion? Arizona law is silent on actions that the Legislature may engage in to ensure a fair and impartial election.

However, the United States Constitution, the supreme law of the land, is not. Article II, Section 1, paragraph 2, grants plenary authority to determine how electors are appointed to the State Legislatures. As articulated by retired North Carolina Supreme Court Chief Justice Mark Martin, “the Constitution grants no role in directing the appointment of electors to the state’s executive or judicial branches. It is the plenary authority and obligation of the Legislature to do so. Since this authority and obligation is placed solely upon the Legislature by the highest law of the land, the Legislatures are not impeded by state statutes in fulfilling this duty.” Indeed, in light of the Supremacy Clause, it would be disingenuous to argue that state procedural requirements prevent the Arizona Legislature from fulfilling its duty under the United States Constitution. This means that the Legislature may be called to Special Session with a simple majority of members (31 in the House of Representatives and 16 in the Senate) to fulfill its Constitutional duty to direct the appointment of electors and ensure a republican form of government in Arizona.

Once in session, the normal order of business in the House and Senate is in place, including notice of hearings, hearings to accept evidence and testimony, generation of legislative findings, generation of resolution(s), and debate to pass or defeat resolutions whether or not to approve Electors.

An essential question that cannot be overlooked or assumed is the level of cooperation that Legislators will offer. There are in the body individuals who were not reelected and are so partisan that they will likely not avail themselves to act. This devolves to a Committee Hearing only, that will provide a venue for the hearing of grievances, testimony and the presentation of other forms evidence. The nature of the evidence presented to the Committee will determine whether the larger body is compelled to act pursuant to its Constitutional authority.

Conclusion: Under the plenary authority reserved to State Legislatures by the Constitution of the United States, the Arizona Legislature may indeed call itself into Special Session without interference from the Executive or Judicial branches so as to fulfill its Constitutional duties. Moreover, the State Legislature cannot be tethered to a State Constitution provision or statute that interferes with the discharge of such duty, specifically a requirement for a two-thirds majority to call a special session. And, when there is reasonable suspicion that election fraud has occurred, the Legislature has the duty to call itself into session to hear testimony and accept other forms of evidence to prove or disprove the alleged election fraud. Where the evidence of fraud is so compelling that it calls into question the legitimacy of an election, the Legislature is duty bound to direct the appropriate appointment of Electors. In the matter of the 2020 Electoral College Electors, time is of the essence. If the election is proven to be illegitimate, the Legislature has the solemn Constitutional duty to take appropriate action to ensure the will of the people is accurately reflected through the reclamation of Electors where appropriate.

References and Notations: Post-election Questions prepared by House Counsel.

Q. Can the Arizona Legislature select different presidential electors?

A. Under Arizona law (A.R.S. § 16-212), voters elect the State's presidential electors on Election Day. Because the electors already have been elected, the Legislature cannot retroactively change the selection method for the November 2020 election.

Q. Can Arizona's presidential electors cast their electoral college votes for whichever candidate they prefer?

A. After statutory changes made in 2017, A.R.S. § 16-212 requires presidential electors to cast their electoral college votes for the candidates for president and vice president who jointly received the most votes according to the statewide canvass. An elector who knowingly refuses to do so automatically is removed from office. Representative Kern was the prime sponsor of the bill that made these changes, which received near-unanimous support from Republicans in both the House and the Senate.

Q. Can the Legislature force a statewide or countywide hand count now?

A. A.R.S. § 16-602 requires each county officer in charge of an election to conduct a hand count according to a statutory process, as well as the hand count procedures established by the Secretary of State in the Election Procedures Manual. Once that hand count is complete, the county can conduct another one only if the first hand count produces a certain margin of discrepancy. Maricopa County's hand count produced zero discrepancies. Consequently, the county considers that the official count by statute.

Q. Can the Legislature demand that Maricopa County hand count the votes cast at five or even 100 percent of the county's vote centers?

A. A.R.S. § 16-602 and the Election Procedures Manual require counties to hand count the votes cast in at least two percent of the precincts or vote centers in the county, or two precincts or vote centers, whichever is greater. So, before its hand count occurred, Maricopa County could have decided to hand count five percent or even 100 percent of the votes cast in the county's vote centers. But it was not required to do so, and once the hand count was complete and showed no discrepancies, the law did not authorize Maricopa County to expand its hand count to include additional vote centers.

Q. A.R.S. § 16-602 requires a hand count of the votes cast in two or two percent of precincts, but the Election Procedures Manual says that counties that use vote centers can hand count the votes cast in two or two percent of vote centers. Do these provisions conflict?

A. The Attorney General's Office informally opined that these provisions do not conflict, because (among other reasons) A.R.S. § 16-602 states that "[t]he hand count shall be conducted as prescribed in this section and in accordance with hand count procedures established by the secretary of state in the official instructions and procedures manual adopted pursuant to § 16-452"—that is, the Election Procedures Manual. The EPM has addressed hand counts of ballots cast at vote centers since 2012. This issue is currently being litigated in Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014553).

Q. Can the Legislature force a statewide or countywide recount?

A. A.R.S. § 16-661 et seq. provide for a recount only when the canvass of returns shows a specified, narrow margin of victory, but no race in Arizona is within any of those statutory margins. Additionally, A.R.S. § 16-671 et seq. authorize election contests, including on grounds that votes were cast illegally or counted erroneously (A.R.S. § 16-672(A)(4)-(5)). No such election contest has been filed so far.

Q. Can the Legislature force an additional audit of the Dominion Voting Systems machines?

A. Arizona law includes many safeguards for ensuring the reliability and integrity of the voting equipment that is used here. For example, under A.R.S. § 16-442 and the Election Procedures Manual, a new voting system must be certified by a Voting System Test Laboratory accredited in accordance with federal law, the federal Election Assistance Commission, and the Secretary of State, based on a recommendation from the state Election Equipment Certification Committee. Additionally, A.R.S. § 16-449 and the EPM require extensive testing of voting equipment both before and after the election. That testing is open to designated political party representatives, candidates, government officials, the public, and the press. None of the testing of Maricopa County's tabulation equipment has revealed any tabulation errors, and no law authorizes the Legislature to require additional testing now.

Q. What is the status of the election lawsuits?

A. The Trump campaign dropped its lawsuit against the Secretary of State and Maricopa County officials last Friday. Two lawsuits remain pending in Maricopa County Superior Court: Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014553), in which the plaintiff asserts that Arizona law requires counties to hand count ballots cast in at least two percent of precincts, not vote centers; and Aguilera v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014562), in which one voter claims she was denied the right to vote, and a second voter claims he was denied the right to have his vote counted. Neither pending lawsuit alleges that fraud occurred, and the Trump campaign repeatedly disavowed claims that it did.

Q. What election-integrity measures has the Legislature enacted recently?

A. To take just a few examples, since 2019, the Legislature has enacted election-integrity measures that:

- permitted the use of new ballot counting and processing equipment in order to increase the speed and accuracy of tabulating ballots and resolving discrepancies (SB1135—E. Farnsworth, 2020);
- advanced the deadline for issuing an Election Procedures Manual in order to provide election officials ample time to review and implement the policies and procedures the EPM establishes (HB2238—Townsend, 2019);
- required voters to present a valid form of identification before they are given a ballot (SB1072—Ugenti-Rita, 2019);
- required the county recorders to report the number of persons who are registered to vote but have not presented proof of citizenship, and—after each general election—the number of federal-only ballots cast (HB2039—Townsend, 2019); and
- established emergency voting procedures, along with additional guidelines to combat voter fraud (SB1090—Ugenti-Rita, 2019).

Q. What other election-integrity measures are in place?

A. Over decades, the Republican-led Legislature has built an electoral system in Arizona that is efficient, reliable, transparent, and secure. Among the many election-integrity measures already in place are laws:

- governing the procedures for opening, exhibits, locking, removal, and reopening of ballot boxes (A.R.S. § 16-564);
  - requiring that voting or marking devices be sealed after the polls close, and that unused ballots be sealed for return to the board of supervisors or other officer in charge of elections (A.R.S. § 16-566(B));
  - mandating that voting machines be in full view of all election officers and observers at the polling place (A.R.S. § 16-570(B));
  - requiring, after the polls close, that sealed ballot boxes be delivered by two election board members from different political parties to a counting place, and allowing county party chairmen to designate a party member to accompany the ballots (A.R.S. § 16-608);
  - prescribing detailed procedures for ensuring that votes are tabulated in a transparent manner, including live video recording of the custody of all ballots while they are present in a tabulation room (A.R.S. § 16-621);
- prohibiting ballot harvesting and other practices that compromise ballot integrity (A.R.S. § 16-1005)

Legal Theory Brief Addressing Uncertifiable Elections

Facts: Under Arizona Revised Statutes there are a number of restrictions that past Arizona Legislatures have enacted to provide an orderly and expedited process for uncontested elections. Ordinarily, each Arizona county administers its own election, certifies the result and notifies the Secretary of State of the result. In the case of the Presidential Election, and in normal order, the Secretary of State notifies the Governor, and the State's 11 Electoral Votes are released to the winning candidate. In the case of the 2020 Arizona Election however, fraud of many sorts has been identified, including counterfeit ballots mailed to unregistered voters, pre-loading of "vote ties" on some tabulation machines, dead voters voting, and most prevalent of all, real-time "vote tic" realignment from one candidate to another.

Issue: Whether the Arizona Legislature is bound by the State Constitution and State Statutes restricting a call to Special Session, or whether the duty to direct the appointment of electors delegated to the State Legislatures under Article II of the United States Constitution supersedes the state restraints as the "supreme law of the land" under Article VI?

Rule: Under Article II, Section 1, "Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress" (At Pa. 2). Under Article VI, "This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; ..." (At Pa. 2). Article IV, Section 4, guarantees each state a republican form of government, the foundation of which is self-governance through free and fair elections accurately reflecting the will of the people.

Analysis: There are many laws in Arizona that govern an uncontested, normal order, Federal Office Election. The election for Electoral College Electors, United States Senate, and Congressional Representation are the offices addressed in this analysis. The House of Representatives Legal Counsel analysis of pertinent statutes (found in references) notwithstanding, the essential question at hand follows a fact pattern that Arizona has never faced, and which the Arizona Revised Statutes are silent on. When the Legislature is made aware that sufficient fraud in the election of Federal officials exists, so as to call into question the legitimacy of the election, is the Legislature bound by pertinent state statutes and prevented from stopping a fraudulent election to proceed to its logical conclusion? Arizona law is silent on actions that the Legislature may engage in to ensure a fair and impartial election.

However, the United States Constitution, the supreme law of the land, is not. Article II, Section 1, paragraph 2, grants plenary authority to determine how electors are appointed to the State Legislatures. As articulated by retired North Carolina Supreme Court Chief Justice Mark Martin, “the Constitution grants no role in directing the appointment of electors to the state’s executive or judicial branches. It is the plenary authority and obligation of the Legislature to do so. Since this authority and obligation is placed solely upon the Legislature by the highest law of the land, the Legislatures are not impeded by state statutes in fulfilling this duty.” Indeed, in light of the Supremacy Clause, it would be disingenuous to argue that state procedural requirements prevent the Arizona Legislature from fulfilling its duty under the United States Constitution. This means that the Legislature may be called to Special Session with a simple majority of members (31 in the House of Representatives and 16 in the Senate) to fulfill its Constitutional duty to direct the appointment of electors and ensure a republican form of government in Arizona.

Once in session, the normal order of business in the House and Senate is in place, including notice of hearings, hearings to accept evidence and testimony, generation of legislative findings, generation of resolution(s), and debate to pass or defeat resolutions whether or not to approve Electors.

An essential question that cannot be overlooked or assumed is the level of cooperation that Legislators will offer. There are in the body individuals who were not reelected and are so partisan that they will likely not avail themselves to act. This devolves to a Committee Hearing only, that will provide a venue for the hearing of grievances, testimony and the presentation of other forms evidence. The nature of the evidence presented to the Committee will determine whether the larger body is compelled to act pursuant to its Constitutional authority.

Conclusion: Under the plenary authority reserved to State Legislatures by the Constitution of the United States, the Arizona Legislature may indeed call itself into Special Session without interference from the Executive or Judicial branches so as to fulfill its Constitutional duties. Moreover, the State Legislature cannot be tethered to a State Constitution provision or statute that interferes with the discharge of such duty, specifically a requirement for a two-thirds majority to call a special session. And, when there is reasonable suspicion that election fraud has occurred, the Legislature has the duty to call itself into session to hear testimony and accept other forms of evidence to prove or disprove the alleged election fraud. Where the evidence of fraud is so compelling that it calls into question the legitimacy of an election, the Legislature is duty bound to direct the appropriate appointment of Electors. In the matter of the 2020 Electoral College Electors, time is of the essence. If the election is proven to be illegitimate, the Legislature has the solemn Constitutional duty to take appropriate action to ensure the will of the people is accurately reflected through the reclamation of Electors where appropriate.

References and Notations: Post-election Questions prepared by House Counsel.

Q. Can the Arizona Legislature select different presidential electors?

A. Under Arizona law (A.R.S. § 16-212), voters elect the State's presidential electors on Election Day. Because the electors already have been elected, the Legislature cannot retroactively change the selection method for the November 2020 election.

Q. Can Arizona's presidential electors cast their electoral college votes for whichever candidate they prefer?

A. After statutory changes made in 2017, A.R.S. § 16-212 requires presidential electors to cast their electoral college votes for the candidates for president and vice president who jointly received the most votes according to the statewide canvass. An elector who knowingly refuses to do so automatically is removed from office. Representative Kern was the prime sponsor of the bill that made these changes, which received near-unanimous support from Republicans in both the House and the Senate.

Q. Can the Legislature force a statewide or countywide hand count now?

A. A.R.S. § 16-602 requires each county officer in charge of an election to conduct a hand count according to a statutory process, as well as the hand count procedures established by the Secretary of State in the Election Procedures Manual. Once that hand count is complete, the county can conduct another one only if the first hand count produces a certain margin of discrepancy. Maricopa County's hand count produced zero discrepancies. Consequently, the county considers that the official count by statute.

Q. Can the Legislature demand that Maricopa County hand count the votes cast at five or even 100 percent of the county's vote centers?

A. A.R.S. § 16-602 and the Election Procedures Manual require counties to hand count the votes cast in at least two percent of the precincts or vote centers in the county, or two precincts or vote centers, whichever is greater. So, before its hand count occurred, Maricopa County could have decided to hand count five percent or even 100 percent of the votes cast in the county's vote centers. But it was not required to do so, and once the hand count was complete and showed no discrepancies, the law did not authorize Maricopa County to expand its hand count to include additional vote centers.

Q. A.R.S. § 16-602 requires a hand count of the votes cast in two or two percent of precincts, but the Election Procedures Manual says that counties that use vote centers can hand count the votes cast in two or two percent of vote centers. Do these provisions conflict?

A. The Attorney General's Office informally opined that these provisions do not conflict, because (among other reasons) A.R.S. § 16-602 states that "[t]he hand count shall be conducted as prescribed in this section and in accordance with hand count procedures established by the secretary of state in the official instructions and procedures manual adopted pursuant to § 16-452"—that is, the Election Procedures Manual. The EPM has addressed hand counts of ballots cast at vote centers since 2012. This issue is currently being litigated in Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes

(No. CV2020-014553).

Q. Can the Legislature force a statewide or countywide recount?

A. A.R.S. § 16-661 et seq. provide for a recount only when the canvass of returns shows a specified, narrow margin of victory, but no race in Arizona is within any of those statutory margins. Additionally, A.R.S. § 16-671 et seq. authorize election contests, including on grounds that votes were cast illegally or counted erroneously (A.R.S. § 16-672(A)(4)–(5)). No such election contest has been filed so far.

Q. Can the Legislature force an additional audit of the Dominion Voting Systems machines?

A. Arizona law includes many safeguards for ensuring the reliability and integrity of the voting equipment that is used here. For example, under A.R.S. § 16-442 and the Election Procedures Manual, a new voting system must be certified by a Voting System Test Laboratory accredited in accordance with federal law, the federal Election Assistance Commission, and the Secretary of State, based on a recommendation from the state Election Equipment Certification Committee. Additionally, A.R.S. § 16-449 and the EPM require extensive testing of voting equipment both before and after the election. That testing is open to designated political party representatives, candidates, government officials, the public, and the press. None of the testing of Maricopa County's tabulation equipment has revealed any tabulation errors, and no law authorizes the Legislature to require additional testing now.

Q. What is the status of the election lawsuits?

A. The Trump campaign dropped its lawsuit against the Secretary of State and Maricopa County officials last Friday. Two lawsuits remain pending in Maricopa County Superior Court: Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014553), in which the plaintiff asserts that Arizona law requires counties to hand count ballots cast in at least two percent of precincts, not vote centers; and Aguilera v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014562), in which one voter claims she was denied the right to vote, and a second voter claims he was denied the right to have his vote counted. Neither pending lawsuit alleges that fraud occurred, and the Trump campaign repeatedly disavowed claims that it did.

Q. What election-integrity measures has the Legislature enacted recently?

A. To take just a few examples, since 2019, the Legislature has enacted election-integrity measures that:

- permitted the use of new ballot counting and processing equipment in order to increase the speed and accuracy of tabulating ballots and resolving discrepancies (SB1135—E. Farnsworth, 2020);
- advanced the deadline for issuing an Election Procedures Manual in order to provide election officials ample time to review and implement the policies and procedures the EPM establishes (HB2238—Townsend, 2019);
- required voters to present a valid form of identification before they are given a ballot (SB1072—Ugenti-Rita, 2019);
- required the county recorders to report the number of persons who are registered to vote but have not presented proof of citizenship, and—after each general election—the number of federal-only ballots cast (HB2039—Townsend, 2019); and
- established emergency voting procedures, along with additional guidelines to combat voter fraud (SB1090—Ugenti-Rita, 2019).

Q. What other election-integrity measures are in place?

A. Over decades, the Republican-led Legislature has built an electoral system in Arizona that is efficient, reliable, transparent, and secure. Among the many election-integrity measures already in place are laws:

- governing the procedures for opening, exhibits, locking, removal, and reopening of ballot boxes (A.R.S. § 16-564);
  - requiring that voting or marking devices be sealed after the polls close, and that unused ballots be sealed for return to the board of supervisors or other officer in charge of elections (A.R.S. § 16-566\(B\));
  - mandating that voting machines be in full view of all election officers and observers at the polling place (A.R.S. § 16-570\(B\));
  - requiring, after the polls close, that sealed ballot boxes be delivered by two election board members from different political parties to a counting place, and allowing county party chairmen to designate a party member to accompany the ballots (A.R.S. § 16-608);
  - prescribing detailed procedures for ensuring that votes are tabulated in a transparent manner, including live video recording of the custody of all ballots while they are present in a tabulation room (A.R.S. § 16-621);
- prohibiting ballot harvesting and other practices that compromise ballot integrity (A.R.S. § 16-1005)

Anni and Andrew,

Attached is a scan of a cover letter and electronic copy of a complaint that we received that names Governor Ducey and Messrs. Bowers and Gray, all in their official capacities, as defendants. It seeks solely declaratory and injunctive relief. Plaintiffs also sought a preliminary injunction, which the District Court denied yesterday (order attached).

AGO is not representing these defendants in these suits, so I am forwarding these to you as counsel for the governor and majority in the house of representatives.

There are other materials such as summonses, etc. and a thumb drive. Please let me know if you would like us to send these to you or if you have any questions.

Good morning,

This reporter is asking about a search warrant served at a Fountain Hills home in November for alleged stolen voter information. The AZ Central article I read said the FBI was handling. I was going to send the reporter over there but wanted to make sure we weren't involved. Thank you!

On the morning of November 5, as the 2020 election hung in the balance, Arizona federal agents raided a two-story house in Fountain Hills, Maricopa County, a county that had become a key battleground in the presidential race. The agents were looking for evidence of a cyberattack on an unnamed organization and stolen voter data. They left with eight hard drives, three computers and a bag of USB sticks. The resident of the property, a 56-year-old IT expert named Elliot Kerwin, was served the warrant. He is not yet facing charges and was unreachable for comment at the time of publication. There is no indication that anything other than voters' information, which can be acquired for a few hundred dollars in Arizona counties, was taken from the affected office.

This was sent to me by one of my constituents and very active in the Republican Party. Can you review it and provide me a memo from the AG office after reviewing it. I will send you the memo I received from Leg Council. Time is running out so time is of the essence. I appreciate any guidance you can provide.

Thank you

I like this position from Finchem. Posted it on FB and added the following commentary:

Representative Finchem makes a VERY good case. I applaud him and urge all of our State Senators and Legislators to follow his lead on this. In my opinion, having studied the federalist papers and writings of the founders for years, it is OBVIOUS that their rightful intent would be that both of the following in addition to Rep. Finchem's position apply:

- 1.) That it be recognized that ALL of the arguments against Representative Finchem's position turn on whether or not Art. 2 sec. 1 of the US Constitution is supreme in this matter or not. ( lawyers in legislative council or the opinions of the speaker NOTWITHSTANDING ).
- 2.) In this matter the US Constitution is supreme and governing based on the following reasoning:
  - a.) The United States is a Confederation of sovereign states. The United States or Federal head was created by the states. The states have authority over the Federal government in every matter except those that were given to the federal head by the states through the US Constitution. The US Constitution defines and limits the power of the Federal government, but is supreme in every matter that the states assigned to the Federal head.
  - b.) The sovereign states before the Constitution was ratified did in fact have the status of sovereign nations with the rights and powers to elect representatives as they each saw fit.
  - c.) The Constitution, by Article II Section 1's inclusion in the Constitution, took a sovereign power of the states, by their consent, and reverted it back to the states with the stipulations contained therein, with supremacy through the supremacy clause. The purpose of this to anyone who knows the principles of the founders obviously is that the states should retain this power of choosing electors as a plenary power without encumbrance FOREVER, as a DUTY to be performed above all else, and NO STATE LEGISLATURE IN

THE FUTURE SHOULD EVER BE ABLE TO SHIRK FROM ITS' DUTY IN THIS REGARD or be able to deny that duty for any reason.

State statutes are subordinate to the US Constitution. Color of fraud provides MORE justification for action. Why would the founders take a state power into the constitution and revert it back to them? The answer should be obvious to anyone with commonsense, no less legal pedigree. They obviously intended to make it a state legislative duty, define that duty, and make it so that no state could change or relinquish that duty forever. In other words to insure a Republican form of government, they would not be allowed to relinquish their sovereignty over the federal government in this matter. The opinions of lawyers, judges, or others, be they Republicans or not, be they council to the legislature or not, are null and void by the logic stated above. I would recommend that these attorneys themselves be examined as to why they have adopted false opinions to the contrary. Many it will be found are simply parroting the logic of their progressive law professors and colleagues who hate the constitution and are committed to undermine it as they have been for the last 150 or so years. They are in fact promulgating falsehoods to the benefit of foreign and financial powers, who are in fact the domestic enemy, the enemy within. They need to be educated and defeated.

Subject: Great State Of Maricopa v. Arizona State Legislature!

American Post-Gazette

Distributed by COMMON SENSE in Arizona
December 28, 2020

1. Legislative authority; initiative and referendum

Section 1. (1) Senate; house of representatives; reservation of power to people. The legislative authority of the state shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and a house of representatives, but the people reserve the power to propose laws and amendments to the constitution and to enact or reject such laws and amendments at the polls, independently of the legislature; and they also reserve, for use at their own option, the power to approve or reject at the polls any act, or item, section, or part of any act, of the legislature

Hon. Mark Finchem, LD-11
Arizona House of Representatives
Chairman, Federal Relations Committee
54th Legislature

Legal Theory Brief Addressing Uncertifiable Elections

Facts: Under Arizona Revised Statutes there are a number of restrictions that past Arizona Legislatures have enacted to provide an orderly and expedited process for uncontested elections. Ordinarily, each Arizona county administers its own election, certifies the result and notifies the Secretary of State of the result. In the case of the Presidential Election, and in normal order, the Secretary of State notifies the Governor, and the State's 11 Electoral Votes are released to the winning candidate. In the case of the 2020 Arizona Election however, fraud of many sorts has been identified, including counterfeit ballots mailed to unregistered voters, pre-loading of "vote tics" on some tabulation machines, dead voters voting, and most prevalent of all, real-time "vote tic" realignment from one candidate to another.

Issue: Whether the Arizona Legislature is bound by the State Constitution and State Statutes restricting a call to Special Session, or whether the duty to direct the appointment of electors delegated to the State Legislatures under Article II of the United States Constitution supersedes the state restraints as the “supreme law of the land” under Article VI?

Rule: Under Article II, Section 1, “Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress” (At Pa. 2). Under Article VI, “This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; ...” (At Pa. 2). Article IV, Section 4, guarantees each state a republican form of government, the foundation of which is self-governance through free and fair elections accurately reflecting the will of the people.

Analysis: There are many laws in Arizona that govern an uncontested, normal order, Federal Office Election. The election for Electoral College Electors, United States Senate, and Congressional Representation are the offices addressed in this analysis. The House of Representatives Legal Counsel analysis of pertinent statutes (found in references) notwithstanding, the essential question at hand follows a fact pattern that Arizona has never faced, and which the Arizona Revised Statutes are silent on. When the Legislature is made aware that sufficient fraud in the election of Federal officials exists, so as to call into question the legitimacy of the election, is the Legislature bound by pertinent state statutes and prevented from stopping a fraudulent election to proceed to its logical conclusion? Arizona law is silent on actions that the Legislature may engage in to ensure a fair and impartial election.

However, the United States Constitution, the supreme law of the land, is not. Article II, Section 1, paragraph 2, grants plenary authority to determine how electors are appointed to the State Legislatures. As articulated by retired North Carolina Supreme Court Chief Justice Mark Martin, “the Constitution grants no role in directing the appointment of electors to the state’s executive or judicial branches. It is the plenary authority and obligation of the Legislature to do so. Since this authority and obligation is placed solely upon the Legislature by the highest law of the land, the Legislatures are not impeded by state statutes in fulfilling this duty.” Indeed, in light of the Supremacy Clause, it would be disingenuous to argue that state procedural requirements prevent the Arizona Legislature from fulfilling its duty under the United States Constitution. This means that the Legislature may be called to Special Session with a simple majority of members (31 in the House of Representatives and 16 in the Senate) to fulfill its Constitutional duty to direct the appointment of electors and ensure a republican form of government in Arizona.

Once in session, the normal order of business in the House and Senate is in place, including notice of hearings, hearings to accept evidence and testimony, generation of legislative findings, generation of resolution(s), and debate to pass or defeat resolutions whether or not to approve Electors.

An essential question that cannot be overlooked or assumed is the level of cooperation that Legislators will offer. There are in the body individuals who were not reelected and are so partisan that they will likely not avail themselves to act. This devolves to a Committee Hearing only, that will provide a venue for the hearing of grievances, testimony and the presentation of other forms evidence. The nature of the evidence presented to the Committee will determine whether the larger body is compelled to act pursuant to its Constitutional authority.

Conclusion: Under the plenary authority reserved to State Legislatures by the Constitution of the United States, the Arizona Legislature may indeed call itself into Special Session without interference from the Executive or Judicial branches so as to fulfill its Constitutional duties. Moreover, the State Legislature cannot be tethered to a State Constitution provision or statute that interferes with the discharge of such duty, specifically a requirement for a two-thirds majority to call a special session. And, when there is reasonable suspicion that election fraud has occurred, the Legislature has the duty to call itself into session to hear testimony and accept other forms of evidence to prove or disprove the alleged election fraud. Where the evidence of fraud is so compelling that it calls into question the legitimacy of an election, the Legislature is duty bound to direct the appropriate appointment of Electors. In the matter of the 2020 Electoral College Electors, time is of the essence. If the election is proven to be illegitimate, the Legislature has the solemn Constitutional duty to take appropriate action to ensure the will of the people is accurately reflected through the reclamation of Electors where appropriate.

References and Notations: Post-election Questions prepared by House Counsel.

Q. Can the Arizona Legislature select different presidential electors?

A. Under Arizona law (A.R.S. § 16-212), voters elect the State's presidential electors on Election Day. Because the electors already have been elected, the Legislature cannot retroactively change the selection method for the November 2020 election.

Q. Can Arizona's presidential electors cast their electoral college votes for whichever candidate they prefer?

A. After statutory changes made in 2017, A.R.S. § 16-212 requires presidential electors to cast their electoral college votes for the candidates for president and vice president who jointly received the most votes according to the statewide canvass. An elector who knowingly refuses to do so automatically is removed from office. Representative Kern was the prime sponsor of the bill that made these changes, which received near-unanimous support from Republicans in both the House and the Senate.

Q. Can the Legislature force a statewide or countywide hand count now?

A. A.R.S. § 16-602 requires each county officer in charge of an election to conduct a hand count according to a statutory process, as well as the hand count procedures established by the Secretary of State in the Election Procedures Manual. Once that hand count is complete, the county can conduct another one only if the first hand count produces a certain margin of discrepancy. Maricopa County's hand count produced zero discrepancies. Consequently, the county considers that the official count by statute.

Q. Can the Legislature demand that Maricopa County hand count the votes cast at five or even 100 percent of the county's vote centers?

A. A.R.S. § 16-602 and the Election Procedures Manual require counties to hand count the votes cast in at least two percent of the precincts or vote centers in the county, or two precincts or vote centers, whichever is greater. So, before its hand count occurred, Maricopa County could have decided to hand count five percent or even 100 percent of the votes cast in the county's vote centers. But it was not required to do so, and once the hand count was complete and showed no discrepancies, the law did not authorize Maricopa County to expand its hand count to include additional vote centers.

Q. A.R.S. § 16-602 requires a hand count of the votes cast in two or two percent of precincts, but the Election Procedures Manual says that counties that use vote centers can hand count the votes cast in two or two percent of vote centers. Do these provisions conflict?

A. The Attorney General's Office informally opined that these provisions do not conflict, because (among other reasons) A.R.S. § 16-602 states that "[t]he hand count shall be conducted as prescribed in this section and in accordance with hand count procedures established by the secretary of state in the official instructions and procedures manual adopted pursuant to § 16-452"—that is, the Election Procedures Manual. The EPM has addressed hand counts of ballots cast at vote centers since 2012. This issue is currently being litigated in Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014553).

Q. Can the Legislature force a statewide or countywide recount?

A. A.R.S. § 16-661 et seq. provide for a recount only when the canvass of returns shows a specified, narrow margin of victory, but no race in Arizona is within any of those statutory margins. Additionally, A.R.S. § 16-671 et seq. authorize election contests, including on grounds that votes were cast illegally or counted erroneously (A.R.S. § 16-672(A)(4)–(5)). No such election contest has been filed so far.

Q. Can the Legislature force an additional audit of the Dominion Voting Systems machines?

A. Arizona law includes many safeguards for ensuring the reliability and integrity of the voting equipment that is used here. For example, under A.R.S. § 16-442 and the Election Procedures Manual, a new voting system must be certified by a Voting System Test Laboratory accredited in accordance with federal law, the federal Election Assistance Commission, and the Secretary of State, based on a recommendation from the state Election Equipment Certification Committee. Additionally, A.R.S. § 16-449 and the EPM require extensive testing of voting equipment both before and after the election. That testing is open to designated political party representatives, candidates, government officials, the public, and the press. None of the testing of Maricopa County's tabulation equipment has revealed any tabulation errors, and no law authorizes the Legislature to require additional testing now.

Q. What is the status of the election lawsuits?

A. The Trump campaign dropped its lawsuit against the Secretary of State and Maricopa County officials last Friday. Two lawsuits remain pending in Maricopa County Superior Court: Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014553), in which the plaintiff asserts that Arizona law requires counties to hand count ballots cast in at least two percent of precincts, not vote centers; and Aguilera v. Fontes (No. CV2020-014562), in which one voter claims she was denied the right to vote, and a second voter claims he was denied the right to have his vote counted. Neither pending lawsuit alleges that fraud occurred, and the Trump campaign repeatedly disavowed claims that it did.

Q. What election-integrity measures has the Legislature enacted recently?

A. To take just a few examples, since 2019, the Legislature has enacted election-integrity measures that:

- permitted the use of new ballot counting and processing equipment in order to increase the speed and accuracy of tabulating ballots and resolving discrepancies (SB1135—E. Farnsworth, 2020);
- advanced the deadline for issuing an Election Procedures Manual in order to provide election officials ample time to review and implement the policies and procedures the EPM establishes (HB2238—Townsend, 2019);
- required voters to present a valid form of identification before they are given a ballot (SB1072—Ugenti-Rita, 2019);
- required the county recorders to report the number of persons who are registered to vote but have not presented proof of citizenship, and—after each general election—the number of federal-only ballots cast (HB2039—Townsend, 2019); and
- established emergency voting procedures, along with additional guidelines to combat voter fraud (SB1090—Ugenti-Rita, 2019).

Q. What other election-integrity measures are in place?

A. Over decades, the Republican-led Legislature has built an electoral system in Arizona that is efficient, reliable, transparent, and secure. Among the many election-integrity measures already in place are laws:

- governing the procedures for opening, exhibits, locking, removal, and reopening of ballot boxes (A.R.S. § 16-564);
  - requiring that voting or marking devices be sealed after the polls close, and that unused ballots be sealed for return to the board of supervisors or other officer in charge of elections (A.R.S. § 16-566(B));
  - mandating that voting machines be in full view of all election officers and observers at the polling place (A.R.S. § 16-570(B));
  - requiring, after the polls close, that sealed ballot boxes be delivered by two election board members from different political parties to a counting place, and allowing county party chairmen to designate a party member to accompany the ballots (A.R.S. § 16-608);
  - prescribing detailed procedures for ensuring that votes are tabulated in a transparent manner, including live video recording of the custody of all ballots while they are present in a tabulation room (A.R.S. § 16-621);
- prohibiting ballot harvesting and other practices that compromise ballot integrity (A.R.S. § 16-1005)

Good morning Griselda,
I hope you are doing well!
I apologize but we can't comment any further on the ballot harvesting case than the press release at this time.

I can check to see if we have anything else brewing this week or upcoming plans for the New Year. We might put out a press release about those annoying third-party robocalls trying to sell people an extended car warranty. If this interests you, just let me know!

Good morning Katie,

I hope you had a wonderful Christmas. I'm reaching out to see if Mr. Brnovich is available for a phone or Zoom (preferred) interview on this today. We could also take this time to discuss any plans or things that his office has coming up for the new year.

Please let me know if we can make this happen today.

Thank you!

Two Individuals Accused of Ballot Harvesting in Yuma County

YUMA - Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced that a State Grand Jury indicted Guillermina Fuentes and Alma Juarez, both of San Luis, Arizona, for 1 count each of Ballot Abuse, also known as "ballot harvesting."

The indictment alleges that during the August 2020 Primary Election, Fuentes and Juarez knowingly collected four voted ballots from another person, in violation of Arizona law. The early ballots were deposited into a ballot box on Election Day, and were processed and counted by the Yuma County Recorder during the election. Arizona law only provides for a family member, household member, or caregiver of the voter to collect voted or unvoted early ballots from another person.

Ballot abuse under Arizona law is a class 6 felony and each defendant faces up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine.

This investigation was conducted by the Arizona Attorney General's Office Special Investigations Section, Election Integrity Unit, Special Agent Bill Knuth.

Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson is prosecuting this case.

All defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

No booking photographs are available.

Censorship and Cancel Culture are Among the Biggest Threats We Face

- There are a lot of outrageous things going on in our State and Country ... far more than I could possibly address in the short time slot I have here. These are very challenging times and I would like to spend the precious minutes that I have with you today discussing a few of my primary concerns – including the preservation of Arizona’s election integrity laws, and the growing Censorship and Cancel Culture that is attempting to silence Conservative Voices in our State.
- The Attorney General’s Office has an Election Integrity Unit that we created alongside the legislature, in 2019 to respond to complaints and maintain public confidence in our elections – no easy task right now.
- One of the reasons I believe we didn’t have as many problems as some other states though was because of our work before the election. We were busy defending Arizona’s election integrity measures against last-minute lawsuits by democratic groups. We jumped in to fight 6 cases because our Secretary of State decided not to defend the law – on topics ranging from voter registration and petition circulators to post election-day ballot curing.

In a few months from now, I’m going to be standing before the U.S. Supreme Court arguing perhaps our biggest case called Brnovich vs. DNC ... to defend Arizona’s restrictions on ballot harvesting. Other states are watching this case closely as it will likely have widespread implications and I will keep you posted.

- Of course there are other areas of the law where just getting our day in court is an arduous process, like our continued concerns with the operation of Arizona’s Higher Education Establishment.
- Many of you may recall that I sued the Arizona Board of Regents to stop them from illegally providing in-state tuition to those in the DACA program.

- We won that case at the State Appeals Court, and yet the Universities defied Arizona voters and the court -- by continuing to provide in-state tuition for those who did not qualify for it, pending their appeal to the AZ Supreme Court. We fought and won again at the Supreme Court, and were successful in upholding the law.
- When I was here last, I let you know that we were filing suits against the university practices of crony capitalism and sky-rocketing tuition. Well, we had to fight all the way to the Arizona Supreme Court again, because the universities dodged the merits of our complaints by arguing the AG doesn't have legal authority to defend our state constitution.
- Our Office held firm ... but every other state-wide officer and the chamber of commerce opposed me in bringing these complaints.
- We received a partial victory at the Supreme Court keeping portions of our lawsuit alive ... but unfortunately the Court determined the AG doesn't have authority to bring these complaints unless the legislature grants it.
- Think about that: the Attorney General – an independently elected constitutional officer -- doesn't have the legal authority to sue government agencies to enforce the Constitution. If I cannot stick up for the taxpayers of Arizona, who will? And, if the Universities can silence a conservative AG, you know they can silence many other well-meaning people too.
- Let me list just a few who have been recent victims of Censorship and Cancel Culture of our Higher Education Establishments:
  - ASU fired a student from a radio show for sharing a NY Post story -- on her personal Twitter account -- regarding the truth behind an out-of-state police involved shooting. Some other students took offense to this so the University decided that she had to be fired.

- When the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism hired a new dean, her tenure was terminated almost instantly after she posted a tweet praying “for the good police officers who keep us safe.” Activists called her tweet “racist” and accused her of “microaggressions.”
- When Cronkite News published a poll following the looting in Scottsdale, progressive students complained the poll’s language was too friendly to police officers — so Cronkite News deleted the poll and apologized for causing “divisiveness.”
- In addition to its Cancel Culture, ASU also gave $1 million dollars in taxpayer funds to New America, a left-leaning think-tank led by liberals in Washington, D.C. This group has received millions of dollars from Big Tech— and it accepted $1M from ASU so that Michael Crow could sit on the Board and rub elbows with former Hillary Clinton staffers and columnists from the New York Times, The Atlantic, and the cable TV hosts at CNN. Remember that next time they say there’s no way they can lower tuition.
- So what is really going with all this increasing Censorship and Cancel Culture? In his classic novel 1984, George Orwell warned us about the State: ‘He who controls the past controls the future. He who controls the present controls the past.’
- Well, it appears that just like my high school class, the Big Tech giants have read George Orwell – and these companies are undeniably the bullies of today’s most vibrant Public Squares. Something needs be done.
- So Arizona was the first state to file suit against Google over its gathering and handling of personal information. We also know that their lack of competition reduces quality of services and stifles innovation.

- I am proud to be a leader in pushing back against technology oligarchs who are leading the charge for Censorship. The U.S. Congress and government agencies have cozied up to Big Tech and allowed these companies to have too much influence and power in our lives.
- Silicon Valley should not be given control over free speech. In our separate lawsuit against Facebook, we assert the company is “de-platforming” emerging competitive threats. We contend Facebook is eroding consumer data and privacy protections when it purchases competitors like Instagram.
- And now, it’s moved beyond killing the competition. Big Tech bosses are silencing opinions they find unsavory. It is Censorship and Cancel Culture run amok -- when they brazenly shut down the accounts of our highest public officials, or suppress scandalous stories just before a national election. This must be corrected.
- What do Undermining Election Integrity Safeguards, and practicing Censorship and Cancel Culture have in common? They are all about control and manipulation ...and we must bring it to an end.
- I will leave you this morning with an encouraging truth. While these are difficult times and we have a lot of work to do ... Ad hominem attacks – from personal shaming to public shunning -- are the last resorts of exhausted minds. In our defense of free thought and speech, we will be the ones upholding truth, our Constitution and the apex of the political high ground.
- Thank you all.

Re: Public Records Request

Dear Public Records Officer:

Pursuant to the Arizona Public Records Law, A.R.S. §§ 39-121 et seq., American Oversight makes the following request for records.

Requested Records

American Oversight requests that the Attorney General's Office promptly produce the following records:

1. All email communications (including emails, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and attachments thereto) and text message threads/conversations between (a) any of the state officials listed in Column A below, and (b) any of the external individuals identified in Column B below:

Column A: Arizona State Officials	Column B: External Individuals
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Mark Brnovich, Attorney General</li> <li>2. Rachelle Lump, Executive Assistant</li> <li>3. Joe Kanefield, Chief Deputy &amp; Chief of Staff</li> <li>4. Alyson Flanagan, Executive Assistant</li> <li>5. Jason Isaak, Advisor to the Attorney General</li> <li>6. Ryan Anderson, Director of Communications</li> <li>7. Katie Conner, Director of Media Relations</li> </ol>	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Adam Piper, Executive Director (including, but not limited to, at apiper@republicanags.com or adampiper1@gmail.com)</li> <li>2. Chris Carr, Georgia Attorney General (including, but not limited to, at agcarr@law.ga.gov or ccarr@law.ga.gov)</li> <li>3. Eric Schmitt, Missouri Attorney General (including, but not limited to, at ag@ago.mo.gov)</li> <li>4. Steve Marshall, Alabama Attorney General (including, but not limited to, at steve.marshall@alabamaag.gov)</li> <li>5. Any employee or representative of the Republican Attorneys General</li> </ol>

	Association (including, but not limited to, anyone communicating from an email address ending in @republicanags.com) 6. Any employee or representative of the Rule of Law Defense Fund (including, but not limited to, anyone communicating from an email address ending in @rldf.org or @ruleoflawdefensefund.org)
--	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

2. All (a) email communications (including emails, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and attachments thereto) sent by and (b) text message threads/conversations sent or received by any of the individuals specified in Column A, above, that contain any of the key terms listed below:

Key Terms:

- i. "Rule of Law"
- ii. RLDF
- iii. "Republican Attorneys General Association"
- iv. RAGA
- v. "Save America"
- vi. "stop the steal"
- vii. Patriot
- viii. Patriots
- ix. "election fraud"
- x. "integrity of our election"
- xi. "election integrity"
- xii. Rally
- xiii. MAGA
- xiv. "great again"
- xv. Piper

For item 2(a) of this request, in an effort to accommodate your office and reduce the number of potentially responsive records to be processed and produced, American Oversight has limited its request to emails sent by the specified officials in the Office of the Attorney General. To be clear, however, American Oversight still requests that complete email chains be produced, displaying both sent and received messages. This means, for example, that both Attorney General Brnovich's response to an email containing one of the key terms listed above and the initial received message are responsive to this request and should be produced.

For item 2(b) of this request, American Oversight requests that complete text message threads/conversations be produced. This means, for example, that if Attorney General Brnovich sent or received a text message containing any of the key terms listed above, American Oversight requests that the complete text conversation for the timeframe listed below should be produced, and not just the message containing the key term.

For both items of this request, please provide all responsive records from November 3, 2020, to the date the search is conducted.

Statement of Noncommercial Purpose

This request is made for noncommercial purposes. American Oversight seeks records with the potential to shed light on whether and to what extent officials in the Attorney General's Office were aware of robocalls reportedly made by the Rule of Law Defense Fund urging supporters to travel to Washington, D.C., to "fight" Congress over President Trump's election fraud claims. This matter is a subject of substantial public interest in Arizona and nationwide.<sup>1</sup> Records with the potential to shed light on this matter would contribute significantly to public understanding of operations of the government.

Because American Oversight is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, this request is not in American Oversight's financial interest and is not made for a commercial purpose. American Oversight's mission is to promote transparency in government, to educate the public about government activities, and to ensure the accountability of government officials. American Oversight uses the information gathered, and its analysis of it, to educate the public through reports, press releases, or other media. American Oversight also makes materials it gathers available on its public website and promotes their availability on social media platforms, such as Facebook and Twitter.<sup>2</sup>

Because this request is made for noncommercial purposes, American Oversight requests that any fees charged in connection with processing this request be limited to copying

Guidance Regarding the Search & Processing of Requested Records

In connection with its request for records, American Oversight provides the following guidance regarding the scope of the records sought and the search and processing of records:

- Please search all locations and systems likely to have responsive records, regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics. For instance, if the request seeks “communications,” please search all locations likely to contain communications, including relevant hard-copy files, correspondence files, appropriate locations on hard drives and shared drives, emails, text messages or other direct messaging systems (such as iMessage, WhatsApp, Signal, or Twitter direct messages), voicemail messages, instant messaging systems such as Lync or ICQ, and shared messages systems such as Slack.
- Our request for records includes any attachments to those records or other materials enclosed with those records when they were previously transmitted. To the extent that an email is responsive to our request, our request includes all prior messages sent or received in that email chain, as well as any attachments to the email.
- Please search all relevant records or systems containing records regarding agency business. Do not exclude records regarding agency business contained in files, email accounts, or devices in the personal custody of your officials, such as personal email accounts or text messages.
- If any records are withheld in full or in part, pursuant to A.R.S. § 39-121.01(D)(2), please provide an index of records or categories of records that have been withheld and the reasons the records or categories of records have been withheld.
- In the event some portions of the requested records are properly exempt from disclosure, please disclose any reasonably segregable non-exempt portions of the requested records. If a request is denied in whole, please state specifically why it is not reasonable to segregate portions of the record for release.
- Please take appropriate steps to ensure that records responsive to this request are not deleted by the agency before the completion of processing for this request. If records potentially responsive to this request are likely to be located on systems where they are subject to potential deletion, including on a scheduled basis, please take steps to prevent that deletion, including, as appropriate, by instituting a litigation hold on those records.

Conclusion

If you have any questions regarding how to construe this request for records or believe that further discussions regarding search and processing would facilitate a more efficient production of records of interest to American Oversight, please do not hesitate to contact American Oversight to discuss this request. American Oversight welcomes an opportunity to discuss its request with you before you undertake your search or incur search or duplication costs. By working together at the outset, American Oversight and your agency can decrease the likelihood of costly and time-consuming litigation in the future.

Where possible, please provide responsive material in an electronic format by email. Alternatively, please provide responsive material in native format or in PDF format on a USB drive. Please send any responsive material being sent by mail to American Oversight, 1030 15th Street NW, Suite B255, Washington, DC 20005. If it will accelerate release of responsive records to American Oversight, please also provide responsive material on a rolling basis.

We share a common mission to promote transparency in government. American Oversight looks forward to working with your agency on this request. If you do not understand any part of this request, please contact Khahilia Shaw at records@americanoversight.org or 202.539.6507.

·NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP·

THEY COULDN'T AFFORD THE REAL RUDY GIULIANI

The AZGOP has apparently tapped Alex Kolodin as its next general counsel replacing Dennis Wilenchik, who served under Kelli Ward for the past two years. Kolodin laughed when our reporter asked him to confirm the rumor. "How in the world?! How did you hear that?" he asked, before adding, "I am not authorized to comment on that publicly at this time." It's no surprise that Ward would want to scoop him up – Kolodin represented a host of conspiracy-peddling plaintiffs in court and was the lawyer responsible for the SharpieGate lawsuit and multiple attempts to overturn the election. He first came onto the political scene as a challenger to Ugenti-Rita in the LD23 primary last August, a race that he lost by a significant margin. "I've enjoyed having Chairwoman Ward as a client this past election season, and if that rumor is true, it would certainly be a great honor to work for her and on behalf of our party," Kolodin said. One GOP attorney told our reporter, essentially, better Kolodin than them. The lawyer said that Kolodin has become a favorite of Ward's for taking on the lawsuits no other attorney, our source included, is willing to touch. "He's willing to take the garbage, frankly. Even if they paid me well... I wouldn't go anywhere near Kelli Ward," the lawyer said, adding that Ward has been a disaster for the party for many reasons, "not least of which is for her lawsuits."

YOU DO NOT WANT TO BE CALLED TO PRINCIPAL KIRK'S OFFICE

WHEN YOU GET CALLED INTO KIRK'S OFFICE
AND SEE A FRESHMAN

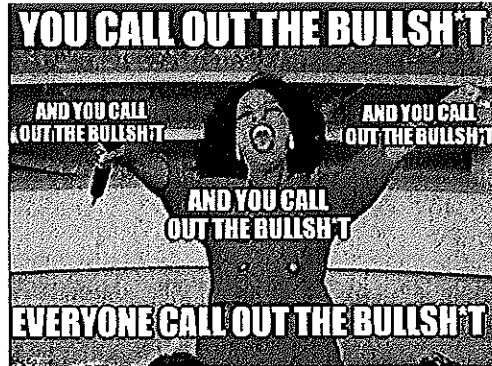

Former House Speaker Kirk Adams said while he has not read the Wendy Rogers ethics complaint in detail, he can confidently say that it's "incredibly important to protect the staff from mistreatment by the members." Adams, who also served as Ducey's chief of staff, said that during his time at the helm of the chamber, he never had to take up an ethics investigation, but still had some "member behavior issues," including one time when two lawmakers nearly came to blows in the member lounge. But he never saw a lawmaker berate their staff in the manner Rogers is accused of doing. "It's rare for members to mistreat staff, particularly in the manner that's been reported," he said. "You have to take action that says, very very clearly this type of behavior is not tolerated." Since Rogers is elected and not an employee of the Senate, the Senate has fewer tools to handle her harassing and berating a staffer than would be available to a CEO in corporate America, he said. But there's always one tool at the chamber leader's fingertips: A stern scolding. "The first thing that you would do – and I had situations where I had to do this – you bring the member in, and you dress them down. And you say, 'This is unacceptable. You can't do this. You have to knock it off and you have to apologize,'" Adams said. Rogers has still not addressed the complaint publicly, which is out of character for her, based on how she conducts herself on social media, and Fann has not addressed it in detail, saying yesterday that she had a brief conversation with Rogers about it.

STEP ONE – CALL OUT HER BULLSH*T

Like many conservatives, Adams was dismayed that Kelli Ward won the chairmanship, saying true conservatives must do their part to quiet the noise coming from Ward and her crew of conspiracy theorists by “call[ing] out their bullsh*t.” That’s been his modus operandi lately, and Adams has been talking to just about any reporter who calls to say that Ward winning the chair again isn’t an end to the Republican Party here, but it’s not a good sign, and it’s not reflective of all Republicans. “You have to let voters know that this is not a Republican brand. Or if they think it is, [explain that] there are a lot of other Republicans who don’t think this way – give us a second look,” he said. “But if we sort of ‘See No Evil, Hear No Evil’ we don’t want to tick anybody off, then her style of politics becomes the Republican brand.” Republicans are increasingly willing to vote for sufficiently moderate Democrats, such as Sinema and Kelly, and the GOP needs to court “Ducey-Sinema” voters, who are the voters of the future, he said, not simply rely on the fringe that Ward represents. Adams has made no bones about the fact that he thinks Ward is “crazy” and her “conspiracy theories” are “nuts” and said Republicans who still haven’t made a point to come out publicly against Ward and her ilk are still learning to navigate the waters in a post-Trump world. “Others have governing responsibilities that need to be tended to as a first priority. So they’re focused on that,” he said, seemingly hinting at the criticism his former boss has received for not condemning Ward more strongly.

SHE’S DOING ALRIGHT NOW

Talonya Adams, a Black attorney in the Senate successfully sued the chamber for discrimination and landed a $1 million verdict, is now among the top 10 highest paid employees in the Senate. Our Yellow Sheet intern, Cameron Rubner, filed public records request for Senate salaries, which showed that Adams now earns $113,000, nearly double the $60,000 she earned per year during her first stint at the Senate. (She was fired after complaining about the pay – which she learned from a previous public records request from our reporter, was nearly $30,000 less than a Senate Majority policy advisor with a similar committee workload – then reinstated.) The document also shows that a handful of Senate staffers received five-figure raises without any adjustment in their titles in the last year. The only vacant position in the Senate, according to the document is Rogers’ assistant, who said she harassed him so badly he felt scared for his safety and that the Senate forced him to resign. While suffering Rogers’ verbal abuse and feeling her spittle on his face, he was earning $32,000.

NO RUSH, WE’VE GOT TWO YEARS

Due to Covid and a mixture of Trump-related issues dating back to his fight over whether to count non-citizens, the US Census Bureau data has been delayed until April 30, which will have a trickledown effect on the Arizona IRC’s ability to begin drawing maps. The Census Bureau expected the data to be available around the end of February, but a top bureau official said today that is no longer the case (LINK). The IRC just named Erika Neuberg as its chair last week and is set to meet again on Feb 2 to plan the process of hiring an executive director and possibly address future hires, such as mapping consultants and legal teams. This IRC was already working far ahead of schedule compared to the last run a decade ago, and it’s unclear how much the Census delay will affect statutory and constitutional deadlines, but the IRC will likely address those questions when it meets next week.

INDULGE US WITH A TRIP DOWN MEMORY LANE

Yesterday's report noted that the House cited a 2017 attorney general opinion while pledging to fulfil a records request, to the extent possible, about Finchem and former lawmaker Anthony Kern's text messages on their personal phones – but we left out an interesting backstory about that opinion. Back in late 2015, our reporter, and then-Capitol Times reporter Rachel Leingang, set out to learn how much of the state's business was being conducted on smartphones, via newer technologies like text messages, social media chats and third-party messenger applications. We filed a public records request with the House, Senate and Ninth Floor asking for electronic messages sent among top state elected officials of both parties and their top staff (LINK). After four months, House Republicans provided a handful of records. But Biggs, the Senate president at the time, refused, claiming that as long as the communication doesn't happen on a state-provided phone, it's not public record. (Lawmakers and Capitol staffer are issued an official state email address to conduct their business, but they're not issued a state cell phone.) The Senate GOP caucus was alone in flat-out refusing our request. So we asked then-lawmaker Steve Farley to request an Attorney General opinion on the topic, which, predictably, stated, "public officials cannot use private devices and accounts for the purpose of concealing official conduct." Longtime readers will recall this battle over public records happened back when the issue of elected officials' text messages exploded in Arizona after a clean energy watchdog group requested texts from then-Corporation Commissioner Bob Stump. The former commissioner regularly texted with a member of the state's utility consumer group, as well as APS representatives, leaders of dark money organizations and solar representatives, but deleted some of those texts and threw away his old phone, forcing Corp Comm to purchase software that would allow commissioners to plug in their phones every week or two and back up their messages. The Legislature has never adopted such a system, and still does not issue public phones for lawmakers to conduct their public business.

SHE FOUGHT RUSSELL PEARCE AND WON

Mary Lou Boettcher, a former Republican PC and key figure in the recall of former Senate President Russell Pearce, passed away on Friday. In a Facebook post eulogizing Boettcher, activist Randy Parraz wrote about teaming up to recall Pearce 10 years ago. "At the age of 76, she signed up to be our chairperson in Mesa for the historic effort to recall then Senate President Pearce (and author of SB 1070)," Parraz wrote. "When I told her we wanted to remove Pearce from office and asked her to get involved she said, 'Did I hear you correctly? You want to get rid of Russell Pearce? Yes! I can't stand him.'" They succeeded in collecting enough signatures, and Boettcher later filed a lawsuit (YS, 9/26/11) to have sham candidate Olivia Cortes thrown off the ballot. While Boettcher – and attorney Tom Ryan – technically lost the case, despite proving Olivia Cortes was a Pearce-plant, they did enough damage to her campaign that Jerry Lewis won the recall election to replace Pearce (LINK). Boettcher was also a member of the Arizona Education Assn. Both Ryan and Lewis, among others, praised Boettcher in memoriam. "Mary Lou Boettcher was a gentle yet brave giant ... We owe a sincere debt of gratitude to her for her bravery!" Ryan tweeted (LINK). "She was a gentle, loving, determined, and hardworking soul. I hope I can learn from her example," Lewis responded.

·PRESS RELEASES·

Board of Supervisors Approves Extensive Audit of Elections Equipment

Goal is to assure voters of election integrity, combat misinformation

The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously today to authorize a forensic audit of ballot tabulation equipment used in the 2020 elections. The audit is the culmination of a year-long effort by Maricopa County to ensure the accuracy of the federally- and state-certified hardware and software used to count votes (see 2020 Elections Fact Sheet or multimedia page).

"Maricopa County elections were administered with integrity throughout 2020. That's a fact. Multiple audits to date have proved as much, and multiple court rulings have concurred," said Chairman Jack Sellers. "It's also true that a significant number of voters want the additional assurance that a full forensic audit of tabulation equipment might bring, especially given all the misinformation that spread following the November 3 election. This audit shows our commitment to providing that assurance."

The multi-layered forensic audit will dive into the tabulation equipment to analyze its hacking vulnerability, verify that no malicious malware was installed, and test that tabulators were not sending or receiving information over the internet.

As an added layer of assurance, the county will hire two independent firms certified by the U.S. Elections Assistance Commission, to each independently audit the tabulation equipment: Pro V&V and SLI Compliance.

The first audit will begin on February 2, and the second audit will begin on February 8.

"We're doing the right thing, at the right time, in the right way," said Vice Chairman Bill Gates, District 3. "The audit will be conducted in a way that safeguards private voter information and protects the investment made by county taxpayers in the tabulation equipment. My hope is that the audit results will ensure the residents of Maricopa County have the same confidence in our elections system that we have."

"While I'm confident we ran good elections, I have been passionate about doing this audit," said Supervisor Clint Hickman, District 4. "Every election-related decision and safeguard this Board has made over the past year has had voter and election integrity in mind. The upcoming forensic audit of election equipment will be no different, and I hope it puts to rest the notion that somehow we've got something to hide."

In addition to the software and malware tests, one firm will also perform a logic and accuracy test of the county's tabulation equipment to ensure it accurately counted ballots and confirm that no vote switching occurred.

As an added measure of transparency, the Board hired a reputable Certified Public Accountant firm to review county contracts with Dominion Voting Services and verify that the county leased the tabulation equipment according to state and county procurement regulations.

"I have been publicly supportive of an audit for over a month now and am glad to have this much needed vote," said Supervisor Steve Chucuri, District 2. "Elections are the foundation of our democracy and the most important right we hold as Americans. It is paramount that the public has trust in our elections systems and equipment and that is why I wholeheartedly support an audit to ensure this equipment is above reproach. This thorough audit is what many of my constituents have been asking for. I am pleased we are conducting it and look forward to sharing the results."

Community stakeholders will be an important part of the forensic audit process. Leadership from both the House and Senate, members of all three political parties, and representatives from the Arizona Secretary of State's Office and

Attorney General's Office will be invited to observe. We will also provide availability for media members as well, so they can fulfill their role informing the public.

"It's normal for people to complain about elections when they don't like the results, but people took it a step further this year. They spread lies and conspiracies about how our elections were conducted in an effort to overturn the will of the people," said Supervisor Steve Gallardo, District 5. "I know for a fact we ran three great, safe, and secure elections in 2020. I expect this audit to be the final word."

The results of the forensic audit will be shared publicly.

2020 Elections Fact Sheet

Transparency, accuracy and accountability are paramount to Maricopa County and its Elections Department. In September, the Elections Department met with the chairs of all three county political parties to outline important election dates and areas of involvement for party members. The following is an abridged timeline of steps taken to ensure the integrity of the November General Election:

- On October 6, the Elections Department and the Arizona Secretary of State's Office performed a logic and accuracy test on the tabulation equipment. The test date was published in the newspaper, open to the public and observed by political party representatives, city clerks, and school and health care district representatives. The law requires an errorless count before tabulators and software can be used in an election. The tests confirmed the equipment was tabulating ballots accurately, paving the way for the November General Election in which a record number of voters participated and lines at polling sites were kept to a minimum.
- On November 4, a hand count audit of election results performed by Maricopa County political parties law found a 100 percent match to the vote tabulation machines. The hand count audit, which is required by law, covered a statistically significant sample of ballots. The hand count was viewable on the Elections Department's website and the results were shared publicly.
- On November 17, then-Chairman Clint Hickman sent a letter to all Maricopa County voters addressing some of the misinformation circulating regarding elections. This letter was accompanied by a link to a fact page that provided more detail about election processes and is still available to any interested party.
- On November 18, the Elections Department and the Arizona Secretary of State's Office performed a post-election logic and accuracy test on the equipment to ensure it was not changed or tampered with during the election. Members of all three political parties and a representative from the Arizona Attorney General's Office observed the test.
- On November 20, the Board held a nearly three-hour public meeting to discuss concerns and questions raised by Maricopa County residents. Only after these questions were answered in a public forum did the Board certify the results of the election. This meeting was broadcast live and is still available for anyone to watch.
- On December 14, then-Chairman Clint Hickman and Elections Director Scott Jarrett appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee and devoted six hours to fully answering questions by legislators.
- On January 7, 2021, the U.S. Congress confirmed the results of the Electoral College, finalizing the November 3, 2020 General Election.

Throughout the election, political party observers were present at every Vote Center, followed ballot courier routes and observed signature verification, ballot processing and every minute of tabulation. All rooms with ballots were under 24-7 cameras.

Post-election court challenges

Many allegations about the November General Election made their way to court and Maricopa County clearly presented the facts to judges at both the local and federal level. Eleven different times complaints about election fraud, manipulation, or tampering in Maricopa County's 2020 election have been brought against this Board. Each case was dismissed by the courts or withdrawn by the plaintiffs.

Additional information about Maricopa County elections equipment

Election equipment went through extensive testing to receive its federal and state certification. Prior to November, there were no complaints about the accuracy of the county's tabulation equipment, which was also used in elections in March, May and August. The Elections Department also piloted the tabulation equipment in the November 2019 Madison School District election. To verify the accuracy of the equipment, the county also performed a 100 percent hand count of the Madison ballots. There was no discrepancy between the counts.

Maricopa County Recorder Statement on Forensic Audit

Below is a statement from Maricopa County Recorder Stephen Richer on a forensic audit of Maricopa County's tabulation equipment:

"It was my great honor that voters in November elected me to serve as the 30th Maricopa County Recorder. My vision for the office has been consistent: take the politics out of decision-making and focus on competently serving county residents.

A growing public distrust following the November 3 General Election has prompted me to take on a mission to "inspire confidence." Inspire confidence in our public documents; inspire confidence in our voter registration database; inspire confidence in our elections; and, hopefully, be part of a broader movement to inspire confidence in our public institutions.

To this end, since taking office just three weeks ago, I've worked with my partners in election administration, the Board of Supervisors, to design a forensic audit of the election tabulation equipment and software. The Board has statutory authority over the tabulation equipment, and it is therefore ultimately the Board's decision on whether or not to proceed. But I fully support the audit as designed; I applaud the Board's decision to hold a vote, and I will direct the Recorder's Office to assist with the audit where possible.

Such an audit is not required by law. Additionally, no significant problems have been identified by the numerous lawsuits filed and already-performed audits. In fact, the hand count audit of approximately 47,000 votes yielded a 100% match with the machine-tabulated results.

Nonetheless, I believe the Board's audit is needed to build confidence in the election process and to further improve election administration in our county, which is the second largest voting jurisdiction in the United States.

May this be the first step of many over the next four years to inspire confidence in the elections process. The Board of Supervisors joins me in this goal, and we all look forward to serving this County."

February 3rd is Virtual 'Environmental Day' at the AZ State Capitol

(PHOENIX, AZ) More than 300 people from throughout Arizona will be meeting online for a socially distant Environmental Day at the Capital to meet with their legislators about key environmental issues, including climate change, water, and funding for parks. This year's theme is "One Planet. One Future. Climate Justice Now!" Participants will include members from more than 20 organizations and at least five Arizona high schools, with each attending scheduled meetings with their local representatives and senators in the Arizona Legislature. Youth leaders will hold a news conference at 11:30 A.M. to read their "love letters to the Earth" and speak about some of the priority bills and issues for the session, including sustainability, climate, and protecting watersheds. WHO: Legislators, youth, and others from throughout Arizona who care about protecting our environment

WHEN: Wednesday, Feb. 3, 8:30 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. *News Conference at 11:30 A.M.

FPAA Supports the nomination of Thomas Vilsack as Sec. of Agriculture and Katherine Tai as U.S. Trade Representative

The Fresh Produce Association of the Americas joins letter in support for nominees in key USDA and USTR positions. NOGALES, Az. (Jan. 27, 2021) – The Fresh Produce Association of the Americas (FPAA) joined the Food & Agriculture Associations letter addressed to the U.S. Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, & Forestry and the U.S. Senate Committee on Finance supporting Secretary of Agriculture nominee, Thomas Vilsack and U.S. Trade Representative nominee, Katherine Tai.

Vilsack who has been nominated to serve as Agriculture Secretary in the Biden Administration also served as Secretary of Agriculture during the Obama Administration and has since been involved with the Dairy Export Council. Additionally, Vilsack has a strong background in developing rural communities.

As U.S. Trade Representative, nominee Tai will work closely with President-elect Biden as his principal trade advisor and will also oversee trade negotiations with other countries. Tai has extensive experience in trade negotiations, and she also played a key role in the most recent United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA.)

"Both Ms. Tai and Sec. Vilsack have an outstanding knowledge of the intricacies of trade, and the value of building meaningful and productive relationships with their peers in Mexico," said FPAA President Lance Jungmeyer. "These nominees will help fulfill the promise of USMCA."

As the new administration begins its preparations for the next four years, supporting nominees who support trade including tackling non-tariff barriers to trade is of great importance to the FPAA.

Congressman Biggs Appointed to the House Committee on Oversight and Reform

GILBERT, ARIZONA – This week, Congressman Andy Biggs was appointed to serve on the House Committee on Oversight and Reform. Congressman Biggs issued the following statement:

"I am thankful to Ranking Member, James Comer, and the Republican Steering Committee for appointing me to the House Committee on Oversight and Reform. Over the next two years, House Republicans should use all of our power to hold the Biden administration accountable to the Constitution, the rule of law, and the American people. We must hold the line, and many of these efforts will start in this committee. I look forward to getting to work with my colleagues on this committee, and also continuing on the House Judiciary Committee."

INTRODUCTION

A. State Legislatures are Prohibited from Fulfilling Their Constitutional Responsibility.

This lawsuit seeks protection of voters' rights in Presidential elections. Voters in Presidential elections have a constitutional right to have their respective state legislatures meet after the election and certify their votes and, based on the votes, certify the Presidential electors whose votes are counted in Congress to elect the President and Vice President.

In drafting Article II, the Framers of the Constitution reasoned state legislatures should select Presidential electors so as "to afford as little opportunity as possible to tumult and disorder" and to place "every practicable obstacle [to] cabal, intrigue, and corruption," including "foreign powers" that might try to insinuate themselves into our elections.<sup>1</sup>

Article II limited Congress's role in selecting the President and provided no constitutional role for Governors. Yet, at present state legislatures are unable to meet. This inability to meet has existed from election day and continues through various congressionally set deadlines for the appointment of presidential electors and the counting of presidential elector votes. The states legislatures of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Georgia and Arizona ("Defendant States") are unable to review the manner in which the election was conducted, are prevented from exercising their investigative powers and are unable to vote, debate or as a body speak to the conduct of the election. In sum, State legislatures are impotent to respond to what happened in the November 3, 2020 election.

This impotency is caused by the ministerial functions of Congress and the Vice President regarding the counting of the Presidential Elector’s votes and also by state law prohibiting the legislative body from meeting without a supermajority or governor or leadership agreement during a time they can respond to what happened in the election. Accordingly, even if the state legislatures were aware of clear fraud by the executive branch – the state legislatures could not meet unless a supermajority, or a governor, or legislative leadership agreed they should meet.

This wholesale delegation of legislative authority operates contrary to the Constitution by inviting “cabal, intrigue and corruption” rather than operating to prevent the same. State legislative bodies have been relegated to observing the ministerial functions of a small group of executive officials who have refused various requests by legislators to be called into special session. Consequently, the legislative bodies as a whole of Defendant States have not engaged in any open discussion, review, investigation, or debate regarding the 2020 general election.

B. A Cabal of Public-Private Partnerships Directed the Manner of the Election Contrary to State Law Creating Disorder the State Legislatures were Unable to Address.

The management of elections is a core government function of Congress and state legislatures whose responsibilities are constitutionally defined.<sup>2</sup> “Safeguarding the integrity of the electoral process is a fundamental task of the Constitution, and [the courts] must be keenly sensitive to signs that its validity may be impaired.”<sup>3</sup>

This is especially so when state legislatures have abrogated their responsibilities through the improper delegation of their authority and when a cabal of state and local executives have partnered with private interests to undermine state statutes and plans designed to protect the integrity of the election.

C. Unprecedented Private Monies Purchased Local Election Offices and Dictated Election Management Encouraging the Evasion of State Laws and Government Partisan Involvement.

On March 27, 2020 President Trump signed into law the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES) which provided $400 million to states to manage the 2020 elections during the pandemic.<sup>5</sup> This funding joined previous monies provided by the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) to afford states sufficient federal funding to assist in managing the election.

The CARES Act funding, however, was exceeded by one individual who passed $400 million to local and state executives through a private charity that dictated how the recipient local government officials would manage the election.<sup>6</sup>

These dictates included the unprecedented use of drop boxes, mobile ballot retrieval, the location and number of polling places or satellite locations, and the consolidation of urban counting centers. Election judges, inspectors and poll workers were paid by these private funds and the tabulating machines purchased with private monies.<sup>7</sup>

The private funds flowed through the Center for Tech and Civic Life (CTCL) and were targeted to facilitate voter turnout of certain demographics in geographic areas dominated by one political party.<sup>8</sup> CTCL recruited specific cities to apply for the grants and provided grants to select cities to assist those cities in their grant applications.<sup>9</sup>

The funding to local election officials in Democratic strongholds was provided simultaneously with executive decisions to close in-person voting locations in areas not receiving CTCL grants. The CTCL funding and local executive official acceptance created a two-tier election system in which geographic areas benefitting one political party were flush with cash used to increase voter opportunities and turnout, including one city's no-bid purchase of a $250,000 Winnebago for local voter turnout efforts. The geographic areas dominated by the other party, however, experienced greater difficulty voting due to COVID emergency orders.<sup>10</sup>

For example, CTCL provided funds to 100% of the Pennsylvania counties carried by Hillary Clinton in 2016, including over $10 million to Philadelphia County.<sup>11</sup> The charity required the heavily Democratic county to establish 800 "satellite" voting locations and implement the drop box collection of ballots. In neighboring Democratic Delaware County, Pennsylvania one drop box was available for every 4,000 voters and one drop box was placed for every four-square-miles.

On the other hand, President Trump carried 59 of 67 Pennsylvania counties in 2016. CTCL contributed to 22% of those counties providing much smaller grants. There was one drop box for every 72,000 voters and every 1,159 square-miles in those counties.

CTCL funding produced similar results in the other Defendant States. Moreover, the use of drop boxes materially breached the chain of custody of ballots. For example, ballot transfer forms in Cobb County, Georgia show 78% of the 89,000 absentee ballots were not transported as Georgia election rules require.<sup>12</sup> Additionally, the use of drop boxes and changes in the signature comparison requirements for absentee ballots were approved by the Georgia Secretary of State without legislative approval.<sup>13</sup>

The presence of CTCL funds in other states facilitated conduct contrary to state law as well. In Wisconsin, at CTCL's request, five cities used CTCL seed monies to draft the "Wisconsin Safe Voting Plan 2020," so named despite the failure of the city leaders to include any other Wisconsin election officials. The plan, and communications relating to the plan, provided for extensive voter turnout efforts, considered state voter identification laws an obstacle and required the use of drop boxes, curbside voting and salaries for additional staffing.<sup>14</sup>

CTCL funding enabled urban areas in defendant states to consolidate counting facilities. This consolidation precipitated the exclusion of Republican officials from the ability to view the management, handling and counting of absentee and mail-in ballots.

Election transparency is a prophylactic to fraud. Each defendant state has laws requiring members of both major political parties be present in the location of the receipt, management and counting of ballots. Such common-sense policy is necessary due to the significant afforded election officials.

Local election officials determine the ballots to be received, the ballots eligible to be counted and supervise the count of the ballots. Legislatures have wisely determined the best way to bring accountability to such decisions is to require the participation, or at least the observation, of both political parties.

Yet, these laws were not followed. In Wayne County, Michigan, CTCL paid poll workers boarded up the windows to the counting facility to prevent observation.<sup>16</sup> Inside Detroit's TCF Center, election inspectors were receiving, counting and "curing" absentee ballots. The "curing" process involves discerning the voting intent of an absent voter and reflecting that intent on a newly ballot which is then cast and counted.

Michigan law requires representatives of both major political parties to view the process and then sign a form stating the "curing" was completed consistent with voter intent.<sup>17</sup> Yet, Republican inspectors were not appointed in Wayne County. Moreover, Republican poll watchers were kept at such a distance in the cavernous TCF Center they were unable to view the conduct of the inspectors at the 134 counting tables operating in the center.<sup>18</sup> City election officials later argued that allowing republicans in the “place” of the counting satisfied state law despite the “place” these poll watchers were required to stand was so remote they could not observe the activity of the democrat party officials.

Urban election officials in other Defendant States which received CTCL funding also restricted or prohibited Republican poll watchers from viewing the receipt, management, curing and counting of ballots.<sup>19</sup> Local election officials in each state represented here received significant funds from CTCL and each also engaged in election improprieties with local officials acting contrary to state law.

State hostility to Republican participation in reviewing the management of the 2020 general election manifested in threats to Republican officeholders and their counsel in Michigan. On December 14, 2020 Governor Gretchen Whitmer mobilized the state police to secure the state capitol to prevent Republican legislators entry to the building while allowing Democrat legislators to enter.<sup>20</sup>

Moreover, Democrat Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel announced she was criminally investigating Republican legislators who voiced concerns regarding the election outcome and threatened those officials with criminal prosecution for “bribery, perjury, and conspiracy.”<sup>21</sup>

General Nessel also tweeted a claim “GOP efforts to overturn President Trump’s electoral defeat...and [t]hreats against election officials are domestic terrorism. General Nessel continued her threats with calls for ethics investigations of Republican attorneys. She also chilled free speech during the election by issuing “cease-and-desist letters” to political organizations engaged in political speech.<sup>25</sup>

Accordingly, the Plaintiffs who are voter groups, voters and state legislators in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Georgia and Arizona file this complaint seeking to restore the constitutional authority and duty of the legislative bodies of their respective states in the selection of presidential electors to correct “the tumult and disorder”<sup>26</sup> and lawlessness

The federal laws regarding the Presidential electors, codified at 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 are constitutionally unauthorized and violate Presidential voters’ rights to state legislative post-election certification. Article II of the Constitution establishes a non-delegable process where at least state legislative post-election certification of the state’s Presidential electors is constitutionally required for Presidential elector votes to be counted in the election of the President and Vice President. In contradiction, the federal laws, particularly 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6, establish a different process where Presidential electors are designated by the Governor of each Defendant State without state legislative post-election certification. Then, 3 U.S.C. § 15 authorizes the Vice President and Congress to count those votes in contradiction of the constitutional obligation to only count votes of Presidential electors who have state legislative post-election certification.

Further, the Defendant States have legally acquiesced to the federal laws by enacting statutes transferring post-election certification from the state legislatures to state executive branch officials: Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor). These state laws also violate Article II which establishes the state legislative prerogative to post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

Plaintiffs hope a constitutional crisis can be avoided. There is time before the January 20, 2021 inaugural of the President and Vice President for the Court to require the state legislatures to meet and consider post-election certification of the Presidential electors. The people's representatives comprising the state legislatures of the respective states must be afforded the opportunity to act as a whole to fulfill their constitutional responsibilities and to restore faith in the election process.

Moreover, this Court has continuing jurisdiction, after this Presidential election, because the federal laws and state laws violating Article II have continuing force applied to future Presidential elections.

JURISDICTION

1. The Court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C § 1331 (federal question), 28 U.S.C. § 1343 (civil rights and elective franchise), 28 U.S.C. § 2201 (declaratory judgment), 28 U.S.C. § 1651 (“All Writs Act”), 42 U.S.C. § 1983 (civil rights) and D.C. Code § 16-3501, et seq (ouster of national officials).

2. The Court has venue under 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because many of the Defendants reside or are located in the District of Columbia and a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred or will occur there.

PARTIES

A. Plaintiffs

3. Plaintiffs Wisconsin Voters Alliance, Pennsylvania Voters Alliance, Georgia Voters Alliance, Election Integrity Forum and Arizona Election Integrity Alliance are election integrity entities and associations which have a purpose of promoting election integrity in Pennsylvania,

Wisconsin, Georgia, Michigan and Arizona, respectively. They do not support any particular candidate for any public office.

4. Plaintiffs Lynie Stone and Baron Benham are residents, voters and taxpayers of Arizona. They are members of the Arizona Election Integrity Alliance.

5. Plaintiffs Debi Haas and Brenda Savage are residents, voters and taxpayers of Michigan. They are members of the Election Integrity Forum.

6. Plaintiffs Matthew Dadich and Leah Hoopes are residents, voters and taxpayers of Pennsylvania. They are members of the Pennsylvania Voters Alliance.

7. Plaintiffs Ron Hueur, Richard W. Kucksdorf and Debbie Jacques are residents, voters and taxpayers of Wisconsin. They are members of the Wisconsin Voters Alliance.

8. Plaintiff John Wood is a resident, voter and taxpayer of Georgia. He is a member of the Georgia Voters Alliance.

9. Plaintiff Senator Sonny Borrelli member of the Arizona Senate.

10. Plaintiff Representative Warren Peterson is a member of the Arizona House of Representatives.

11. Plaintiff Representative Matthew Maddock is a member of the Michigan House of Representatives.

12. Plaintiff Representative Daire Rendon is a member of the Michigan House of Representatives.

13. Plaintiff Representative David Steffen is a member of the Wisconsin State Assembly.

14. Plaintiff Representative Jeff L. Mursau is a member of the Wisconsin State Assembly.

15. Plaintiff Senator William T. Ligon is a member of the Georgia Senate.

16. Plaintiff Senator Brandon Beach is a member of the Georgia Senate.

17. All of the individual Plaintiffs are residents, voters and taxpayers of their respective states.

18. All of the individual Plaintiffs voted in the November 3, 2020 election for President and Vice President and plan to vote in future Presidential elections.

B. Defendants

19. Vice President Michael Richard Pence is a Defendant sued in his official capacity as President of the United States Senate. As such, Pence is identified as having legal obligations under the Constitution and federal law regarding opening and counting the ballots of Presidential electors for President and Vice President.

20. The U.S House of Representatives, U.S. Senate, and Electoral College are Defendants. They are constituted under the Constitution and federal law.

21. Governor Tom Wolf of Pennsylvania is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

22. Speaker Bryan Carter of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives and Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman of the Pennsylvania Senate, are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

23. Governor Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan is a Defendant sued in her official capacity. She has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

24. Speaker Lee Chatfield of the Michigan House of Representatives and Senate Majority Leader Mike Shirkey of the Michigan Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

25. Governor Tony Evers of Wisconsin is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

26. Speaker Robin Vos of the Wisconsin State Assembly and Senate Majority Leader Howard Marklein of the Wisconsin Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

27. Governor Brian Kemp of Georgia is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

28. Speaker David Ralston of the Georgia House of Representatives and President Pro Tempore Butch Miller of the Georgia Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

29. Governor Doug Ducey of Arizona is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

30. Speaker Russell Bowers of the Arizona House of Representative and Senate Majority Leader Rick Gray of the Arizona Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

STANDING

31. As voters, the Plaintiffs have legal standing to bring these constitutional claims to ensure that Presidential elections are constitutionally conducted by Defendants.<sup>27</sup>

32. The Plaintiffs claim that Article II of the U.S. Constitution provides a voter a constitutional right to the voter's Presidential vote being certified as part of the state legislature's post-election certification of Presidential electors. Absence such certification, the Presidential electors' votes from that state cannot be counted by the federal Defendants toward the election of President and Vice President. Because the Plaintiffs' votes are not counted as part of the constitutionally-required state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors, the Defendants are causing the Plaintiffs to be disenfranchised. See Batan v. McMaster, 967 F.3d 345, 352–53 (4th Cir. 2020) (voters who vote in Presidential elections have standing on claims of government causing disenfranchisement).

33. When Defendants violate the Constitution as it relates to Presidential elections in the Defendant, all voters in Presidential elections suffer an injury-in-fact caused by the Defendants. Voters in a Presidential election, in this instance, have an injury-in-fact different than the public because when they voted and they had an interest that the election in which they voted is constitutionally-conducted. The same is true of future elections. Finally, the Court can redress the Plaintiffs' injuries by issuing a declaratory judgment and accompanying injunction to enjoin the Defendants' unconstitutional conduct.

34. As voters, each Plaintiff has a fundamental right to vote.<sup>28</sup> Thus, each Plaintiff has a recognized protectable interest. As the U.S. Supreme Court has long recognized, a person's right to vote is “individual and personal in nature.”<sup>29</sup> Thus, “voters who allege facts showing disadvantage to themselves as individuals have standing to sue” to remedy that disadvantage.<sup>30</sup> “Safeguarding the integrity of the electoral process is a fundamental task of the Constitution, and [the courts] must be keenly sensitive to signs that its validity may be impaired.”<sup>31</sup> “Confidence in the integrity of our electoral processes is essential to the functioning of our participatory democracy.”<sup>32</sup>

35. By federal and state election laws, the federal and state governments have agreed to protect the fundamental right to vote by maintaining the integrity of an election contest as fair, honest, and unbiased to maintain the structure of the democratic process.<sup>33</sup> The voters, in turn, agree to accept the government’s announcement of the winner of an election contest, including federal elections, to maintain the integrity of the democratic system of the United States. “No right is more precious in a free country than that of having a voice in the election of those who make the laws under which, as good citizens, we must live.”<sup>34</sup> But the right to vote is the right to participate in an electoral process that is necessarily structured to maintain the integrity of the democratic system.”<sup>35</sup>

revolution and framing conceived governments as resulting from an agreement among people to provide a means for enforcing existing rights.”<sup>37</sup> “The aim of a social contract theory is to show that members of some society have reason to endorse and comply with the fundamental social rules, laws, institutions, and/or principles of that society. Put simply, it is concerned with public justification, i.e., ‘of determining whether or not a given regime is legitimate and therefore worthy of loyalty.’”<sup>38</sup>

37. The uniformity of election laws is part of that contract to protect the right to vote. Hence, the right to vote is intertwined with the integrity of an election process. The loss of the integrity of the election process renders the right to vote meaningless.<sup>39</sup> Here, the Defendant States’ election irregularities and improprieties so exceed the razor-thin margins to cast doubt on the razor-thin margins of victory and, thus, threaten the social contract itself.

38. The same will happen in future elections too if it is not stopped.

39. The Article II social contract with the voters is, in part, the assurance of their state legislature voting for post-election certification of Presidential electors. Arising from the social contract is the integrity of the election process to protect the voter’s right to vote. In the state legislatures perpetually delegating post-election certification of Presidential electors to election officials—as a core government function—the state legislatures, required by federal law, delegated post-election certification to state executive branch officials when Article II requires the state legislatures to conduct post-election certification of every voter's vote.

40. This social contract is what is personally at risk for the Plaintiffs in the outcome of the controversy.<sup>40</sup> As much as the government has a compelling interest in fair and honest elections with accompanying laws and regulations to ensure that objective to preserve the democratic system of government, so too the voter has an interest in state and local election officials violating the election laws in favor of a pre-determined result.

41. Furthermore, the voter has a compelling interest in the maintenance of a democratic system of government under the Ninth Amendment through the election process, beyond controversies regarding governmental attempts to interfere with the right to vote. Here, the voter did not enter into a contract with the state election official to give them discretion for state election irregularities and improprieties—of any kind—regardless of how benign they might be. The voter's social contract is with the state legislature—who under Article II must conduct post-election certification of the Presidential electors. The Article II requirement of the state legislature casting a post-election certification vote for Presidential electors is the voters' constitutional "insurance policy" against the risk of state and local election officials engaging in election irregularities and improprieties in favor of a pre-determined outcome.

42. The voters have been willing to accept laws and regulations imposed upon an election process to serve the government's compelling interest in the integrity of that process. So, while it is fair to create public governmental regulatory schemes to promote the compelling interests to protect the right to vote, and therefore, a voter's right of associational choices under the First

Amendment,<sup>41</sup> those rights are infringed when the state legislatures abdicate the constitutionally-required role of post-election certification of Presidential electors.<sup>42</sup>

43. For federal elections, state legislatures under Article II have no authority to delegate post-election certification of Presidential electors to state executive branch officials. Yet, they did. That is the harm for the voters. It is the Electors Clause that gives state legislatures the exclusive right to post-election certification of Presidential electors—not state executive branch officials.

44. This lawsuit is not about voter fraud. The harm here is the loss of a voter remedy under Article II conducted as a core governmental function under federal and state election laws to ensure the integrity of the election. In turn, the acceptance of the outcome without state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors interferes with the social contract between the voter and the government—causing injury to the voter.

BACKGROUND

A. Legal background

45. Under the Supremacy Clause, the “Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof . . . shall be the supreme law of the land.”<sup>43</sup>

46. “The individual citizen has no federal constitutional right to vote for electors for the President of the United States unless and until the state legislature chooses a statewide election as the means to implement its power to appoint members of the electoral college.”<sup>44</sup>

47. State legislatures have plenary power to set the process for appointing presidential electors: “Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors.”<sup>45</sup>

48. At the time of the Founding, most States did not appoint electors through popular statewide elections. In the first presidential election, six of the ten States that appointed electors did so by direct legislative appointment.<sup>46</sup>

49. In the second presidential election, nine of the fifteen States that appointed electors did so by direct legislative appointment.<sup>47</sup>

50. In the third presidential election, nine of sixteen States that appointed electors did so by direct legislative appointment. Id. at 31. This practice persisted in lesser degrees through the Election of 1860.

51. Though “[h]istory has now favored the voter,” Bush, 531 U.S. at 104, “there is no doubt of the right of the legislature to resume the power [of appointing presidential electors] at any time, for it can neither be taken away nor abdicated.”<sup>48</sup>

52. Given the State legislatures’ constitutional primacy in selecting presidential electors, the ability to set rules governing the casting of ballots and counting of votes cannot be usurped by other branches of state government—nor the federal government.

53. The Framers of the Constitution decided to select the President through the Electoral College “to afford as little opportunity as possible to tumult and disorder” and to place

54. The Plaintiffs constitutional claims in this lawsuit are principally based on one sentence in Article II of the U.S. Constitution. The sentence has eighty-five words. The constitutional sentence provides:

He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected, as follows: Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

55. The Plaintiffs’ claims, based on this constitutional, imperative, sentence, are that post-election certification of Presidential votes and post-election certification of Presidential electors are exclusively state legislative decisions; accordingly, Governors, federal courts and state courts have no constitutionally-permitted role in post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

56. Accordingly, the Plaintiffs claim that 3 U.S.C. § 5, 6 and 15 and state laws (such as Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166) eviscerating these state legislative prerogatives, every four years, are unconstitutional.

57. Under Article II, Congress lacks legal authority to enact laws interfering with the state-by-state state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors as it has done with 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15. There are textual and structural arguments for these federal statutes being unconstitutional.<sup>50</sup> The Plaintiffs claim that 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 are unconstitutional interferences with the state legislative prerogatives guaranteed by the Constitution.

58. Analogously, under Article II, the state legislatures lack legal authority to enact state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor).

59. Article II, and its non-delegation doctrine, left it to the state legislatures to “direct” post-election certification of Presidential electors—not to “delegate” post-election certifications, perpetually and in a wholesale fashion, to state executive branch officials as a ministerial duty. There are textual and structural arguments for these state statutes being unconstitutional. Plaintiffs claim that Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 are unconstitutional delegation of the state legislative prerogatives of post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

60. Further, the state constitutions of the Defendant States do not require the state legislature to meet for post-election certification of the Presidential electors. Arizona’s, Georgia’s and Pennsylvania’s Constitutions have the state legislature adjourned until January 2021.<sup>51</sup> Michigan’s and Wisconsin's Constitutions permit the state legislature to be in session, but do not require a joint session of the state legislature to affirmatively vote for Presidential post-election certifications.<sup>52</sup>

61. Based on this legal background, Plaintiffs claim, under the Article II, that if there is no state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors in the Defendant States, then those Defendant States' Presidential electors votes, not so certified, cannot be counted by the federal Defendants for President and Vice President under Article II.

B. The Defendants, except state legislatures, are involved in post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors or counting their ballots to elect the President and Vice President.

62. Under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 12, each of the Defendants, except the state legislatures, have a role to play in state post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of a state's Presidential electors or counting of the Presidential Electors' votes.

63. Under 3 U.S.C. § 15, "Congress shall be in session on the sixth day of January succeeding every meeting of electors. The Senate and House of Representatives shall meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the hour of 1 o'clock in the afternoon on that day."

64. Under 3 U.S.C. § 15, Vice President Michael Richard Pence is the presiding officer on January 6, 2021: "and the President of the Senate shall be their presiding officer."

65. Vice President Pence, the U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives are Defendants presume under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6, that each state's Presidential elector votes because they are designated by the Governor of each Defendant State can be counted without state legislative post-election certification.

66. 3 U.S.C. § 5 provides:

If any State shall have provided, by laws enacted prior to the day fixed for the appointment of the electors, for its final determination of any controversy or contest concerning the appointment of all or any of the electors of such State, by judicial or other methods or procedures, and such determination shall have been made at least six days before the time fixed for the meeting of the electors, such determination made pursuant to such law so existing on said day, and made at least six days prior to said time of meeting of the electors, shall be conclusive, and shall govern in the counting of the electoral votes as provided in the Constitution, and as hereinafter regulated, so far as the ascertainment of the electors appointed by such State is concerned.

67. 3 U.S.C. § 6 provides:

It shall be the duty of the executive of each State, as soon as practicable after the conclusion of the appointment of the electors in such State by the final ascertainment, under and in pursuance of the laws of such State providing for such ascertainment, to communicate by registered mail under the seal of the State to the Archivist of the United States a certificate of such ascertainment of the electors appointed, setting forth the names of such electors and the canvass or other ascertainment under the laws of such State of the number of votes given or cast for each person for whose appointment any and all votes have been given or cast; and it shall also thereupon be the duty of the executive of each State to deliver to the electors of such State, on or before the day on which they are required by section 7 of this title to meet, six duplicate-originals of the same certificate under the seal of the State; and if there shall have been any final determination in a State in the manner provided for by law of a controversy or contest concerning the appointment of all or any of the electors of such State, it shall be the duty of the executive of such State, as soon as practicable after such determination, to communicate under the seal of the State to the Archivist of the United States a certificate of such determination in form and manner as the same shall have been made; and the certificate or certificates so received by the Archivist of the United States shall be preserved by him for one year and shall be a part of the public records of his office and shall be open to public inspection; and the Archivist of the United States at the first meeting of Congress thereafter shall transmit to the two Houses of Congress copies in full of each and every such certificate so received at the National Archives and Records Administration.

68. The Plaintiffs claim that the presumption is constitutionally incorrect; under Article II, Defendants Vice President Pence, the U.S. House of Representatives and the United States Senate can only open up and count Presidential elector ballots if the state legislature has affirmatively voted to certify the Presidential electors; otherwise, the votes of the Presidential electors cannot be counted. The Plaintiffs claim that the Vice President and U.S. Congress act unconstitutionally in this election and future elections when they count votes of Presidential electors where the respective state legislature has not affirmatively voted in favor of post-election certification.

69. Similarly, the Defendant States' executives, Governor Tom Wolf of Pennsylvania, Governor Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan, Governor Tony Evers of Wisconsin, Governor Brian Kemp of Georgia, and Governor Doug Ducey of Arizona under 3 U.S.C. § 6 and their respective state's laws, have designated the Presidential electors under the assumption that state executive branch certification is all that is required.<sup>53</sup>

70. But, Governor Tom Wolf of Pennsylvania, Governor Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan, Governor Tony Evers of Wisconsin, Governor Brian Kemp of Georgia, and Governor Doug Ducey of Arizona are constitutionally mistaken because the designated by the Governor of each Defendant State cannot cure that the Presidential electors are without state legislative post-election certification. Until the state legislature certifies the Presidential electors, the respective Governor's designation under 3 U.S.C. § 6 and their respective state's laws have no legal effect.

71. Absent the state legislative post-election certification required by Article II, the Governor's designation of Presidential electors has no legal effect because their votes cannot be counted by the Vice President, U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives.

72. Finally, Article II requires the Defendants' state legislative leaders to act to vote on post-election certification of the Presidential electors. But, instead, the state legislatures violate this constitutional duty because of their state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certifications to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor).

73. The Plaintiffs claim that Article II, and its non-delegation doctrine, permanently left it to the state legislatures to “direct” post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors, not to delegate post-election certifications, perpetually and in a wholesale fashion, to state executive branch officials as a ministerial duty.

74. In this way, the Defendant States’ legislative leaders, including Speaker Bryan Carter of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman of the Pennsylvania Senate, Speaker Lee Chatfield of the Michigan House of Representatives, Senate Majority Leader Mike Shirkey of the Michigan Senate, Speaker Robin Vos of the Wisconsin State Assembly, Senate Majority Leader Howard Marklein of the Wisconsin Senate, Speaker David Ralston of the Georgia House of Representatives, Senate President Pro Tempore Butch Miller of the Georgia Senate, Speaker Russell Bowers of the Arizona House of Representatives, and Senate Majority Leader Rick Gray of the Arizona Senate are violating their duties under Article II by not voting on post-election certification of the Presidential electors so their votes can constitutionally count.

75. State legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors are part of constitutionally-protected voting rights. Everyone who votes—distinguishable from those who don’t—have a constitutionally-protected interest in state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors. The Defendants violate those voting rights by counting ballots of Presidential electors without the constitutionally-required state legislative post-election certification.

C. Presidential post-election court proceedings—like the 2000 Bush v. Gore litigation, the 2020 Texas original action and the 2020 thirty post-election lawsuits in Defendant States—are in constitutional error and unnecessarily politicize the federal and state courts in a national way.

76. The Presidential post-election court proceedings—like the 2000 Bush v. Gore litigation, the 2020 Texas original action and the 2020 thirty post-election lawsuits in Defendant

States—are in constitutional error and unnecessarily politicize the federal and state courts—and in a nationwide way. Under Article II, all of those Presidential post-election cases should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction—and the plaintiffs should have been instructed to file their Presidential election contests with their respective state legislatures.

77. The Defendant States have election contest or recount laws, which apply to Presidential elections, but unconstitutionally preclude state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors: Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-672; Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-521; Mich. Comp. Laws § 168.862; Wis. Stat. § 9.01; and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3351.

78. Interestingly, the Pennsylvania laws have a state legislative post-election certification process for its Governor and Lieutenant Governor elections—but not for President and Vice President. 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3312, et seq.

79. In 2000, the U.S. Supreme Court engaged in Presidential post-election litigation in Florida. Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98 (2000).

80. Plaintiffs claim, under Article II, that this post-election case in 2000 likely should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction with instructions for the Plaintiffs to file their election claims with the Florida state legislature.

E. In 2020, approximately thirty post-election lawsuits are filed in Defendants States regarding election official errors and improprieties.

F. In 2020, Texas sued Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Georgia in the U.S. Supreme Court to adjudicate election irregularities and improprieties.

83. On December 7, 2020, Texas filed an original action in the U.S. Supreme Court, Case No. 20O155, against Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Georgia for election irregularities and improprieties. On December 9, Missouri and 16 other states filed a motion for leave to file an amicus curiae brief in support of Texas. On December 10, U.S. Representative Mike Johnson and 105 other members submitted a motion for leave to file amicus brief in support of Texas. On December 11, the U.S. Supreme Court dismissed the original action in a text order:

The State of Texas’s motion for leave to file a bill of complaint is denied for lack of standing under Article III of the Constitution. Texas has not demonstrated a judicially cognizable interest in the manner in which another State conducts its elections. All other pending motions are dismissed as moot. Statement of Justice Alito, with whom Justice Thomas joins: In my view, we do not have discretion to deny the filing of a bill of complaint in a case that falls within our original jurisdiction. See Arizona v. California, 589 U. S. ___ (Feb. 24, 2020) (Thomas, J., dissenting). I would therefore grant the motion to file the bill of complaint but would not grant other relief, and I express no view on any other issue.<sup>55</sup>

84. Plaintiffs claim, under Article II, that this post-election case filed in the U.S. Supreme Court should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction with instructions that voter in each state could file their respective claims with their respective state legislatures in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Georgia.

Arizona lawsuits alleging election official errors and improprieties. In Defendants’ states, voter allegations exist which allege that the election officials’ errors and improprieties exceed the razor-thin margins of Presidential contests—as further herein.

<sup>55</sup> Plaintiffs agree that the State of Texas lacked standing, but the original action itself begs the question, “Is the U.S. Supreme Court the final adjudicator for certification of Presidential electors?” The Plaintiffs’ answer is no; the respective state legislatures are the final determiner of post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors—and, in a non-delegable way.

G. The Presidential electors for Biden and Trump in the Defendant States voted on December 14, but none of the Presidential Electors received state legislative post-election certification.

85. Under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6, the Presidential electors for Biden and Trump met and voted in their Defendant States on December 14.

86. The Presidential electors for Biden in the Defendant States were certified by state executive branch officials in the Defendant States under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6 and the respective state laws.

87. Neither the Presidential electors for Biden nor the Presidential electors for Trump in the Defendant States received a state legislative post-election affirmative vote for certification.

88. The Presidential electors for Biden in the Defendant States voted for Biden as President and Harris as Vice President.

89. The Presidential electors for Trump in the Defendant States voted for Trump as President and Pence as Vice President.<sup>56</sup>

90. Plaintiffs claim that none of these Presidential electors' votes should be counted by federal Defendants in the election of President and Vice President until the Presidential electors receive from their respective state legislatures an affirmative vote for post-election certification.

H. Under federal and state law, in the Defendant States, the respective state legislatures do not vote on post-election certification of Presidential electors.

91. Congress has enacted 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 which significantly restrict state legislatures' constitutional prerogative to post-election certification of Presidential electors.

92. In turn, the state legislatures in the Defendant States have enacted state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certification to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code

93. Further, the state constitutions of the Defendant States fail to require the state legislature to meet for post-election certification of the Presidential electors in violation of state legislative constitutional duties under Article II of the U.S. Constitution. Arizona's, Georgia's and Pennsylvania's Constitutions have the state legislature adjourned until January 2021.<sup>57</sup> Michigan's and Wisconsin's Constitutions permit the state legislature to be in session, but do not require a joint session of the state legislature to affirmatively vote for post-election certification of Presidential electors.<sup>58</sup>

I. Voters' allegations in each of the Defendant States—alleging election officials' absentee ballot errors and improprieties exceed Presidential vote margins—are constitutionally resolved by state legislative post-certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors—not in this Court or any other court.

94. Plaintiffs allege that voters allege in each of the Defendant States that election officials' absentee ballot errors and improprieties exceed Presidential vote margins.

95. The Defendant States' voters' claims should be constitutionally resolved by state legislative post-certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors—as Article II requires.

96. None of the voters' allegations in each of the Defendant States—that is the allegations stated further below—should be adjudicated in this Court or any other Court, because it is the exclusive constitutional prerogative of the state legislatures to determine post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

J. Defendant States' voters allege Zuckerberg moneys gifted to urban election officials in Defendant States who violated absentee ballot security measures.

97. Defendant States' voters have alleged, in 2020, a systematic effort was launched in Defendant States, using $350,000,000 in private money sourced to Mark Zuckerberg, the Facebook billionaire, to illegally circumvent absentee voting laws to cast tens of thousands of illegal absentee ballots.<sup>59</sup>

98. Defendants States' votes have alleged that the Zuckerberg-funded private organization, the Center for Technology and Civic Life (CTCL), gifted millions of dollars to election officials in Democratic Party urban strongholds in Georgia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Arizona in order for those cities to facilitate the use of absentee voting: Fulton County (GA), Milwaukee (WI), Madison (WI), Philadelphia (PA), Wayne County (MI) and Maricopa County (AZ).<sup>60</sup>

99. Defendant States' voters have alleged that in these counties and cities receiving CTCL funds, election officials adopted various respective policies and customs eviscerating state law absentee ballot security measures such as witness address, name and signature requirements and voter address, name and signature requirements.<sup>61</sup>

100. Defendant States' voters have alleged that these urban election officials also used the CTCL funds for absentee ballot drop boxes treating urban voters preferentially to small-town and rural voters.<sup>62</sup>

K. The government's pre-election certification error rate of voting system's software and hardware is 0.0008%.

101. The federal government has a pre-election standard for state voting system's software and hardware.<sup>63</sup>

102. Under federal law, this maximum-acceptable error rate is one in 500,000 ballot positions, or, alternatively one in 125,000 ballots—0.0008 %.<sup>64</sup>

103. Section 3.2.1 of the voting systems standards issued by the Federal Elections Commission (FEC) which were in effect on the date of the enactment of the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) provides that the voting system shall achieve a maximum acceptable error rate in the test process of one in 500,000 ballot positions.<sup>65</sup>

104. A ballot position is every possible selection on the ballot, to include empty spaces. As stated in the voting systems standards (VSS), “[t]his rate is set at a sufficiently stringent level such that the likelihood of voting system errors affecting the outcome of an election is exceptionally remote even in the closest of elections.”<sup>66</sup>

105. An update to the FEC VSS was made by the Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to enhance the FEC VSS standards, which each state has adopted by law.<sup>67</sup>

106. The FEC VSS standard provides for an error rate of one in 125,000 ballots (0.0008%) as an alternative to the one in 500,000 ballot positions to make it easier to calculate the error rate.<sup>68</sup>

L. Voters' allegations in each of the Defendant States support that election officials' absentee ballot errors and improprieties exceed Presidential vote margins.

108. The use of absentee and mail-in ballots skyrocketed in 2020, not only as a public-health response to the COVID-19 pandemic but also at the urging of mail-in voting's proponents, and most especially executive branch officials in Defendant States. According to the Pew Research Center, in the 2020 general election, a record number of votes—about 65 million—were cast via mail compared to 33.5 million mail-in ballots cast in the 2016 general election—an increase of more than 94 percent.<sup>70</sup>

109. In the wake of the contested 2000 election, the bipartisan Jimmy Carter-James Baker commission identified absentee ballots as “the largest source of potential voter fraud.”<sup>71</sup>

110. Concern over the use of mail-in ballots is not novel to the modern era,<sup>72</sup> but it remains a current concern.<sup>73</sup>

111. Absentee and mail-in voting are the primary opportunities for unlawful ballots to be cast.

112. Defendant States voters allege that as a result of expanded absentee and mail-in voting in Defendant States, combined with Defendant States' unconstitutional modification of statutory protections designed to ensure ballot integrity, Defendant States created a massive opportunity for fraud.

113. Defendant States voters allege that the Defendant States have made it difficult or impossible to separate the constitutionally tainted mail-in ballots from all mail-in ballots.

114. Defendant States voters allege that rather than augment safeguards against illegal voting in anticipation of the millions of additional mail-in ballots flooding their States, Defendant States materially weakened, or did away with, security measures, such as witness or signature verification procedures, required by their respective legislatures. Their legislatures established those commonsense safeguards to prevent—or at least reduce—fraudulent mail-in ballots.

115. Defendant States voters allege, in Defendant States, that Democrat voters voted by mail at two to three times the rate of Republicans. Thus, the Democratic candidate for President thus greatly benefited from this unconstitutional usurpation of legislative authority, and the weakening of legislative mandated ballot security measures.

116. Defendant States voters allege that the outcome of the Electoral College vote is directly affected by the constitutional violations committed by Defendant States. Defendant States violated the Constitution in the process of appointing presidential electors by unlawfully abrogating state election laws designed to protect the integrity of the ballots and the electoral process, and those violations proximately caused the unconstitutional appointment of presidential electors.

117. Plaintiffs will therefore be injured if Defendant States' unlawful certification of these Presidential electors, because the Presidential electors have not received state legislative post-election certification, is allowed to stand.

118. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania voters allege election official errors and improprieties which exceed the Presidential vote margin.

119. Pennsylvania has 20 electoral votes, with a statewide vote tally currently estimated at 3,363,951 for President Trump and 3,445,548 for former Vice President Biden, a margin of 81,597 votes.<sup>75</sup>

120. Pennsylvania voters have alleged the number of votes affected by the various constitutional violations exceeds the margin of votes separating the candidates.

121. By letter dated December 13, 2019, the Auditor General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Eugene A. DePasquale, issued to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a Performance Audit Report of the Pennsylvania Department of State's Statewide Uniform Registry of Electors.<sup>76</sup>

122. The Performance Audit Report was conducted pursuant to an Interagency Agreement between the Pennsylvania Department of State and the Pennsylvania Department of the Auditor General.

123. The Performance Audit Report contained seven Findings, to wit:

- i. Finding One: As a result of the Department of State's denial of access to critical documents and excessive redaction of documentation, the Department of the Auditor General was severely restricted from meeting its audit objectives in an audit which the Department of State itself had requested.

- ii. Finding Two: Data analysis identified tens of thousands of potential duplicate and inaccurate voter records, as well as voter records for nearly three thousand potentially deceased voters that had not been removed from the SURE system.
- iii. Finding Three: The Department of State much implement leading information technology security practices and information technology general controls to protect the SURE system and ensure the reliability of voter registration.
- iv. Finding Four: Voter record information is inaccurate due to weakness in the voter registration application process and the maintenance of voter records in the SURE system.
- v. Finding Five: Incorporating edit checks and other improvements into the design of the replacement system for SURE will reduce data errors and improve accuracy.
- vi. Finding Six: A combination of a lack of cooperation by certain county election offices and PennDOT, as well as source documents not being available for seventy percent of our test sample, resulted in our inability to form any conclusions as to the accuracy of the entire population of voter records maintained in the SURE system.
- vii. Finding Seven: The Department of State should update current job aids and develop additional job aids and guidance to address issues such as duplicate voter records, records of potentially deceased voters on the voter rolls, pending applications, and records retention. See Auditor General's Performance Audit Report.<sup>77</sup>

124. In addition to the Findings, the Performance Audit Report contained specific detailed Recommendations to correct the significant deficiencies identified in the Findings of the Performance Audit Report.

125. In 2018, Secretary Boockvar was quoted as stating "Rock the Vote's web tool was connected to our system, making the process of registering through their online programs, and those of their partners, seamless for voters across Pennsylvania."<sup>78</sup>

126. In addition, Plaintiffs have obtained a sworn Affidavit from Jesse Richard Morgan, who was contracted to haul mail for the United States Postal Service within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Mr. Morgan's Affidavit alleges that he was directed to transport from New York to Pennsylvania what he believes to be completed Pennsylvania ballots in the 2020 General Election.<sup>79</sup>

127. Plaintiffs based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations that this matter is currently under investigation by various entities and that such investigation is essential to the determination of whether or not approximately 200,000 ballots were delivered into the Pennsylvania System improperly or illegally. Pending such determination, there is no possible way that the validity of Pennsylvania's Presidential Election could possibly be certified by anyone.

128. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, there is evidence of possible back-dating of ballots in the United States Postal facility at Erie, Pennsylvania. And, further, Francis X. Ryan's Report, discussed in detail below, evidences thousands of questionable or improper ballots cast in the 2020 Presidential Election in Pennsylvania.<sup>80</sup>

129. In addition, Plaintiffs have obtained a Declaration from Ingmar Njus in support of Mr. Morgan's Affidavit.<sup>81</sup>

130. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in the run-up to the election, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court usurped the powers of the General Assembly when it permitted county boards of election to accept hand-delivered mail-in ballots at locations other than the respective offices of the boards of election, including through the use of drop-boxes arbitrarily located

131. In the same Opinion, the Court held that "although the Election Code provides the procedure for casting and counting a vote by mail, it does not provide for the 'notice and opportunity to cure' ..."<sup>83</sup>

132. The Court went on to state "... we agree that the decision to provide a 'notice and opportunity to cure' procedure ... is one best suited for the Legislature."<sup>84</sup>

133. Of note, Secretary Boockvar agreed with the Court that Pennsylvania's Election Code does not provide a notice and opportunity to cure procedure.

134. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, despite the lack of any statutory authorization or legal authority, county boards of elections in democratic counties, such as, Montgomery County, routinely helped identify, facilitate and permitted electors to alter their defective absentee and mail-in ballots in violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code.<sup>85</sup>

135. In an October 31, 2020, e-mail, Frank Dean, Director of Mail-in Elections of Montgomery County emailed the latest list of confidential elector information to two other Montgomery County election officials, Lee Soltysiak and Josh Stein, and wrote:

136. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, there is no authority within Pennsylvania's Election Code that authorizes election officials to manually alter the information contained within the SURE system for the purposes described by Director Dean.

137. In order to cancel or replace an elector's absentee or mail-in ballot, election officials would be required to manually alter or override the information contained in the Commonwealth's Statewide Uniform Registry of Electors ("SURE").

138. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, there is no authority within Pennsylvania's Election Code that authorizes election officials to cancel and/or replace an elector's absentee or mail-in ballot as described by Director Dean.

139. Further, based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in violation of electors' right to secrecy in their ballots, election officials in democratic counties, such as Montgomery County, used the information gathered through their inspection of the ballot envelopes to identify the names of electors who had cast defective absentee or mail-in ballot envelopes.<sup>86</sup>

140. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the Excel spreadsheet attached to Director Dean's October 31, 2020, e-mail notes that when mail-in or absentee ballot envelopes were found to be defective, some electors were provided with the opportunity to alter their ballot envelopes.

141. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the photograph below shows some of the thousands of absentee and mail-in ballots pre-canvassed by the Montgomery County Board of Elections in violation of the Election Code.<sup>87</sup> These defective ballots were not secured in any way and were easily accessible to the public.<sup>88</sup>

142. Further, based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the next picture shows page 1 or 124 pages that include thousands of defective ballot envelopes that Montgomery County elections officials were trying to "cure" in violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code and Constitution.

143. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in a further effort to circumvent Pennsylvania's Election Code and the prohibition against efforts to "cure" absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes, Secretary Boockvar, issued guidance, through Jonathan Marks, the Deputy Secretary of Elections and Commissions, just hours before Election Day directing county boards of elections to provide electors who have cast defective absentee or mail-in ballots with provisional ballots and to promptly update the SURE system.

144. The Deputy Secretary for Elections and Commissions issued an email which stated:

Subject: Important DOS Email - Clarification regarding Ballots Set Aside During Pre-canvass

Dear County Election Directors,

The Department of State has been asked whether county boards of elections can provide information to authorized representatives and representatives of political parties during the pre-canvass about voters whose absentee and mail-in ballots have been rejected. The Department issued provisional ballot guidance on October 21, 2020, that explains that voters whose completed absentee or mail-in ballots are rejected by the county board for reasons unrelated to voter qualifications may be issued a provisional ballot. To facilitate communication with these voters, the county boards of elections should provide information to party and candidate representatives during the pre-canvass that identifies the voters whose ballots have been rejected and should promptly update the SURE system.

Kind regards,

Jonathan M. Marks
Deputy Secretary for Elections & Commissions
Pennsylvania Department of State

145. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in order to obtain a provisional ballot on Election Day, an elector who previously requested an absentee or mail-in ballot must sign an affidavit stating "I do solemnly swear or affirm that my name is ... and that this is the only ballot that I cast in this election."<sup>89</sup>

146. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, if an elector has already submitted an absentee or mail-in ballot and that ballot was received by his or her county board of elections, the elector cannot truthfully affirm that the provisional ballot is the only ballot cast by them in the election. The provisional ballot would in fact be a second ballot cast by the elector.

147. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Secretary Boockvar's actions appear conveniently timed with the actions of the Democratic Party who apparently considered the matter to be URGENT.

148. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Deputy Secretary Marks issued his email at 8:38 p.m. on November 2, 2020, on the eve of Election Day. Under the Election Code, provisional ballots are only used on Election Day. Less than twelve hours after Deputy Secretary Marks' email, the Democratic Party had printed handbills telling electors "Public records show that your ballot had errors and was not accepted." and to "Go in person to vote at your polling place today by 8:00 EST and ask for a provisional ballot."

149. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the effect to utilize provisional ballots to "cure" defective absentee and mail-in ballots is in clear violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code. The number of provisional ballots cast in Pennsylvania is approximately 90,000 which is significantly higher than previous General Elections.

150. Further, based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, it is not clear what Deputy Secretary Marks intended when he stated "To facilitate communication with these voters, the county boards of elections should provide information to party and candidate representatives during the pre-canvassing that identifies the voters whose ballots have been rejected and should promptly update the SURE system."

151. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Pennsylvania's Election Code makes no provision for the acceptance or rejection of ballots during the pre-canvassing process, nor does the Election Code provide boards of elections with the authority to "update the SURE system" so that an electors who previously submitted an absentee or mail-in ballot may vote with a provisional ballot.

152. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that county boards of elections are prohibited from using signature comparison to challenge and reject absentee or mail-in ballots.<sup>90</sup>

153. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the Court's decision is contrary to the applicable provisions of Pennsylvania's Election Code.

154. In addition, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that county boards of elections could prevent and exclude designated representatives of the candidates and political parties, who are authorized by the Election Code to observe the pre-canvassing and canvassing of ballots, from being in the room during pre-canvassing and canvassing of ballots.<sup>91</sup>

155. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in predominantly Democratic counties, such as Philadelphia, Delaware and Montgomery Counties, authorized representative of the candidates and the Republican Party attempted to observe the actions of election officials; however, the authorized representatives were routinely denied the access necessary to properly observe the handling of ballot envelopes and ballots during the pre-canvassing and canvassing process.

156. Plaintiffs have obtained a sworn Affidavit from Gregory Stenstrom, who was appointed by the Delaware County Republican Party to observe the election process within Delaware County. Mr. Stenstrom attests to numerous election code violations by the Delaware County Board of Elections. Plaintiffs have numerous other Declarations regarding similar election code violations in other predominantly Democratic counties.<sup>92</sup>

157. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, absentee and mail-in ballots are required to be canvassed in accordance with subsection (g) of Section 3146.8 - Canvassing of official absentee and mail-in ballots.<sup>93</sup>

158. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Pennsylvania's Election Code defines the term "pre-canvass" to mean "the inspection and opening of all envelopes containing official absentee ballots or mail-in ballots, the removal of such ballots from the envelopes and the counting, computing and tallying of the votes reflected on the ballots. The term does not include the recording or publishing of the votes reflected on the ballots."<sup>94</sup>

159. Prior to any pre-canvassing meeting, county boards of elections are required to provide at least forty-eight hours' notice by publicly posting a notice of a pre-canvass meeting on its publicly accessible Internet website.<sup>95</sup>

160. Each candidate and political party is entitled to have one designated and authorized representative in the room any time absentee and mail-in ballots are being canvassed by a board of elections.<sup>96</sup>

161. The candidates' watchers or other representatives are permitted to be present any time the envelopes containing absentee and mail-in ballots are opened.<sup>97</sup>

162. The candidates and political parties are entitled to have watchers present any time there is canvassing of returns.<sup>98</sup>

163. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in predominantly Democratic counties, such as Montgomery, election would weigh absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes to determine whether secrecy envelopes were contained within the outer envelopes. Election officials would also review and inspect the absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes to determine whether they complied with the requirements of the Election Code.

164. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, this pre-canvassing of ballot envelopes is in direct violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code.

165. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, under the Election Code, county boards of elections are required, upon receipt of sealed official absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes, to

166. County boards of elections are prohibited from pre-canvassing absentee and mail-in ballots prior to 7:00 a.m. of Election Day.<sup>100</sup>

167. As such, from the time ballot envelopes are received by county boards of elections through 7:00 a.m. on Election Day, the ballot envelopes are to be safely kept in sealed or locked containers.<sup>101</sup> Stated in a different way, county boards of elections are not permitted to remove absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes from their sealed or locked containers until the ballots are pre-canvassed at 7:00 a.m. on Election Day.

168. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that county boards of elections were not required to enforce or follow Pennsylvania's Election Code requirements for absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes, including the requirements related to elector signatures, addresses, dates, and signed declarations.<sup>102</sup>

169. During pre-canvassing, county boards of elections are required to examine each ballot cast to determine if the declaration envelope is properly completed and to compare the information with the information contained in the Registered Absentee and Mail-in Voters File.<sup>103</sup>

170. Only then are county boards of elections authorized to open the outer envelope of every unchallenged absentee or mail-in envelope in such a manner so as not to destroy the declaration executed thereon.<sup>104</sup>

171. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in predominantly Democratic counties, such as Allegheny County, election officials disregarded the requirements of the Election Code and counted absentee and mail-in ballot ballots with defective elector signatures, addresses, dates, and signed declarations.<sup>105</sup> In other counties, such as Westmoreland, such ballots were not counted by the county board of elections.

172. In addition to substantial evidence of the violations of Pennsylvania's Election Code, as set forth above, Plaintiffs have produced an expert report authored by Francis X. Ryan who could testify and identify significant and dispositive discrepancies and errors which call into questions the results of the Presidential Election in Pennsylvania.<sup>106</sup>

173. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, as described above, the 2020 General Election in Pennsylvania was fraught with numerous violations of Pennsylvania's Election Code perpetrated by predominantly Democratic county election officials. In addition, there are countless documented election irregularities and improprieties that prevent an accurate accounting of the election results in the Presidential election.

174. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, many of the irregularities directly relate to the county boards of elections' handling of absentee and mail-in ballots; the pre-canvassing and canvassing of ballots; the failure to permit legally appropriate and adequate oversight and transparency of the process; and, the failure to maintain and secure ballot integrity and security throughout the election process.

175. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, as such, the 2020 General Election results are so severely flawed that it is impossible to certify the accuracy of the purported results.

177. According to the Braynard-Miller analysis, the government data shows election officials’ absentee ballot error rate of at least 1.43% which far exceeds federal law’s pre-election certification error rate for voting systems’ hardware and software of 0.0008%.<sup>108</sup>

required information does not conform with the information on file, or if the voter is otherwise found ineligible to vote.<sup>116</sup>

185. Georgia law provides absentee voters the chance to “cure a failure to sign the oath, an invalid signature, or missing information” on a ballot’s outer envelope by the deadline for verifying provisional ballots (i.e., three days after the election).<sup>117</sup> To facilitate cures, Georgia law requires the relevant election official to notify the voter in writing: “The board of registrars or absentee ballot clerk shall promptly notify the elector of such rejection, a copy of which notification shall be retained in the files of the board of registrars or absentee ballot clerk for at least two years.”<sup>118</sup>

186. Based on Georgia voters’ allegations, on March 6, 2020, in Democratic Party of Georgia v. Raffensperger, No. 1:19-cv-5028-WMR (N.D. Ga.), Georgia’s Secretary of State entered a Compromise Settlement Agreement and Release with the Democratic Party of Georgia (the “Settlement”) to materially change the statutory requirements for reviewing signatures on absentee ballot envelopes to confirm the voter’s identity by making it far more difficult to challenge defective signatures<sup>119</sup> beyond the express mandatory procedures.<sup>120</sup>

187. Based on Georgia voters’ allegations, among other things, before a ballot could be rejected, the Settlement required a registrar who found a defective signature to now seek a review by two other registrars, and only if a majority of the registrars agreed that the signature was defective could the ballot be rejected but not before all three registrars’ names were written on the ballot envelope along with the reason for the rejection. These cumbersome procedures are in direct conflict with Georgia's statutory requirements, as is the Settlement's requirement that notice be provided by telephone (i.e., not in writing) if a telephone number is available. Finally, the Settlement purports to require election officials to consider issuing guidance and training materials drafted by an expert retained by the Democratic Party of Georgia.

188. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, Georgia's legislature has not ratified these material changes to statutory law mandated by the Compromise Settlement Agreement and Release, including altered signature verification requirements and early opening of ballots. The relevant legislation that was violated by Compromise Settlement Agreement and Release did not include a severability clause.

189. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, this unconstitutional change in Georgia law materially benefitted former Vice President Biden. According to the Georgia Secretary of State's office, former Vice President Biden had almost double the number of absentee votes (65.32%) as President Trump (34.68%).

190. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, specifically, there were 1,305,659 absentee mail-in ballots submitted in Georgia in 2020. There were 4,786 absentee ballots rejected in 2020. This is a rejection rate of .37%. In contrast, in 2016, the 2016 rejection rate was 6.42% with 13,677 absentee mail-in ballots being rejected out of 213,033 submitted, which more than seventeen times greater than in 2020.<sup>121</sup>

191. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, if the rejection rate of mailed-in absentee ballots remained the same in 2020 as it was in 2016, there would be 83,517 less tabulated ballots in 2020. The statewide split of absentee ballots was 34.68% for Trump and 65.2% for Biden. Rejecting at the higher 2016 rate with the 2020 split between Trump and Biden would decrease Trump votes

by 28,965 and Biden votes by 54,552, which would be a net gain for Trump of 25,587 votes. This would be more than needed to overcome the Biden advantage of 12,670 votes, and Trump would win by 12,917 votes. Regardless of the number of ballots affected, however, the non-legislative changes to the election rules violated Article II.

192. Further, based on Georgia voters' allegations, the Zuckerberg-funded absentee drop boxes caused a disparate impact in Georgia.<sup>122</sup>

194. Georgia has 300 total drop boxes for electors to submit absentee ballots.<sup>126</sup>

195. In 2020, Georgia counties utilized CTCL funding to install additional drop boxes in areas that would make it easier for voters to cast their absentee ballot. The four counties won by the Clinton campaign contain a plurality of the drop boxes.

196. Fulton County was home to 39 drop boxes<sup>127</sup>, Cobb County provided 16 drop boxes,<sup>128</sup> 23 drop boxes in Gwinnett County<sup>129</sup>, and Dekalb County has 34 boxes.<sup>130</sup>

197. These four localities account for 112 drop boxes, spread out over 1,587 square miles.<sup>131</sup> Meaning, voters in these four Clinton strongholds have one drop box for every 14 square miles. Meanwhile, in the remaining 155 counties, spread out over 55,926 square miles, a republican voter will find one drop box for every 294 square miles.

198. Based on Georgia voters’ allegations, the effect of this unconstitutional change in Georgia election law, which made it more likely that ballots without matching signatures would be counted, had a material impact on the outcome of the election.<sup>132</sup>

199. Finally, in Georgia, analysis of government data by data analyst Matthew Braynard and Professor Qianying (Jennie) Zhang shows election officials’ absentee ballot errors of 204,143 far exceed the margin of victory of 12,670.<sup>133</sup>

200. And, the Braynard-Zhang analysis of the government data shows election officials’ absentee ballot error rate of at least 1.28% which far exceeds federal law’s pre-election certification error rate for voting systems’ hardware and software of 0.0008%.<sup>134</sup>

202. Michigan has 16 electoral votes, with a statewide vote tally currently estimated at 2,650,695 for President Trump and 2,796,702 for former Vice President Biden, a margin of 146,007 votes. In Wayne County, Mr. Biden's margin (322,925 votes) significantly exceeds his statewide lead.

203. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the number of votes affected by the various constitutional violations exceeds the margin of votes dividing the candidates.

204. Michigan law generally allows the public the right to observe the counting of ballots. See MCL 168.765a(12) (“At all times, at least 1 election inspector from each major political party must be present at the absent voter counting place and the policies and procedures adopted by the secretary of state regarding the counting of absent voter ballots must be followed.”).

205. The Michigan Constitution provides all lawful voters with “[t]he right to have the results of statewide elections audited, in such a manner as prescribed by law, to ensure the accuracy and integrity of elections.”<sup>141</sup>

206. Indeed, “[a]ll rights set forth in this subsection shall be self-executing. This subsection shall be liberally construed in favor of voters' rights in order to effectuate its purposes.”<sup>142</sup>

207. The public's right to observe applies to counting both in-person and absentee ballots.<sup>143</sup>

<sup>143</sup> Regrettably, Defendants and their agents have exclusive possession of the ballots, ballot boxes, and other indicia of voting irregularities so a meaningful audit cannot timely occur. Atty. Gen. 2010, No. 7247, 2010 WL 2710362.

208. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Michigan's election officials failed to grant meaningful observation opportunities to the public over the absentee ballots.<sup>144</sup>

209. Wayne County is the most populous county in Michigan.

210. Detroit is the largest city in Wayne County.

211. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the City of Detroit's observation procedures, for example, failed to ensure transparency and integrity as it did not allow the public to see election officials during key points of absentee ballot processing in the AVCBs at TCF Arena (f/k/a Cobo Hall). Id.

212. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these irregularities were repeated elsewhere in Wayne County, including in Canton Township, and throughout the State.<sup>145</sup>

213. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, for instance, when absentee ballots arrived, the ballots should have been in an envelope, signed, sealed (and delivered) by the actual voter. Often it was not.

214. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, ballots were taken from their envelopes and inspected to determine whether any deficiencies would obstruct the ballot from being fed through a tabulation machine. If any deficiencies existed (or were created by tampering), the ballot was hand duplicated.

215. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Democrat officials and election workers repeatedly scanned ballots in high-speed scanners, often counting the same ballot more than once.<sup>146</sup>

216. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the evidence will also show that these hand duplication efforts ignored the legislative mandate to have one person from each major party sign every duplicated vote (i.e., one Republican and one Democrat had to sign each "duplicated" ballot and record it in the official poll book).

217. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, several poll watchers, inspectors, and other whistleblowers witnessed the surge of unlawful practices described above.<sup>147</sup>

218. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these unlawful practices provided cover for careless or unscrupulous officials or workers to mark choices for any unfilled elections or questions on the ballot, potentially and substantially affecting down ballot races where there are often significant undervotes, or causing the ballots to be discarded due to overvotes.

220. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, on election day, election officials at the TCF Center systematically processed and counted ballots from voters whose names failed to appear in either the Qualified Voter File ("QVF") or in the supplemental sheets. When a voter's name could not be found, the election worker assigned the ballot to a random name already in the QVF to a person who had not voted.<sup>150</sup>

221. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, on election day, election officials at the TCF Center instructed election workers to not verify signatures on absentee ballots, to backdate absentee ballots, and to process such ballots regardless of their validity.<sup>151</sup>

222. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, after the statutory deadlines passed and local officials had announced the last absentee ballots had been received, another batch of unsecured and unsealed ballots, without envelopes, arrived in unsecure trays at the TCF Center.

223. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, there were tens of thousands of these late-arriving absentee ballots, and apparently every ballot was counted and attributed only to Democratic candidates.<sup>152</sup>

224. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials at the TCF Center instructed election workers to process ballots that appeared after the election deadline and to inaccurately report or backdate those ballots as having been received before the November 3, 2020, deadline.<sup>153</sup>

systematically used inaccurate information to process ballots.<sup>154</sup>

226. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, many times, the election workers overrode the software by inserting new names into the QVF after the election deadline or recording these new voters as having a birthdate of "1/1/1900," which is the "default" birthday.<sup>155</sup>

227. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, each day before the election, City of Detroit election workers and employees coached voters to vote for Joe Biden and the Democratic Party candidates.<sup>156</sup>

228. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these workers, employees, and so-called consultants encouraged voters to vote a straight Democratic Party ticket. These election workers went over to the voting booths with voters to watch them vote and to coach them as to which candidates they should vote for.<sup>157</sup>

231. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials repeatedly obstructed poll challengers from observing.<sup>160</sup>

232. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials violated the plain language of the law MCL 168.765a by permitting thousands of ballots to be filled out by hand and duplicated on site without oversight from bipartisan poll challengers.

233. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, after poll challengers started uncovering the statutory violations at the TCF Center, election officials and workers locked credentialed challengers out of the counting room so they could not observe the process, during which time tens of thousands of ballots, if not more, were improperly processed.<sup>161</sup>

b. Michigan voters Allege Suspicious Funding and Training of Election Workers

234. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in September, the Detroit City council approved a $1 million contract for the staffing firm P.I.E. Management, LLC to hire up to 2,000 workers to work the polls and to staff the ballot counting machines at the TCF Center. P.I.E. Management, LLC is owned and controlled by a Democratic Party operative.

235. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, a week after approval, P.I.E. Management, LLC began advertising for workers, stating, "Candidates must be 16 years or older. Candidates are required to attend a 3-hour training session before the General Election. The position offers two shifts and pay-rates: 1) From 7 am to 7 pm at $600.00; and 2) From 10 pm to 6 am at $650."

Consequently, these temporary workers were earning at least $50 per hour—far exceeding prevailing rates at most rural communities.

236. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the evidence exists to show that this money and much more came from a single private source: Mark Zuckerberg and his spouse, through the charity called Center for Tech and Civic Life (CTCL), which paid over $400 million nationwide to Democrat-favoring election officials and municipalities.<sup>162</sup>

237. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the improper private funding to Michigan exceeded $9.8 million.<sup>163</sup>

c. Michigan Voter Allege Forging Ballots on the QVF

238. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whistleblowers observed election officials processing ballots at the TCF Center without confirming that the voter was eligible to vote.<sup>164</sup>

239. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whistleblowers observed election officials assigning ballots to different voters, causing a ballot being counted for a non-eligible voter by assigning it to a voter in the QVF who had not yet voted.<sup>165</sup>

d. Michigan Voters Allege Changing Dates on Ballots

240. All lawful absentee ballots were supposed to be in the QVF system by 9:00 p.m. on November 3, 2020.

241. This deadline had to be met to ensure an accurate final list of absentee voters who returned their ballots before the statutory deadline of 8:00 p.m. on November 3, 2020.

242. To have enough time to process the absentee ballots, election officials told polling locations to collect the absentee ballots from the drop-boxes every hour on November 3, 2020.

243. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, on November 4, 2020, a City of Detroit election whistleblower at the TCF Center was told to improperly pre-date the receive date for absentee ballots that were not in the QVF as if they had been received on or before November 3, 2020. The Whistleblower swore she was told to alter the information in the QVF to inaccurately show that the absentee ballots had been timely received. She estimates that this was done to thousands of ballots.<sup>166</sup>

e. Michigan Voters allege Double Voting.

244. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, an election worker in the City of Detroit observed several people who came to the polling place to vote in-person, but they had already applied for an absentee ballot.<sup>167</sup>

245. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials allowed these people to vote in-person, and they did not require them to return the mailed absentee ballot or sign an affidavit that the voter lost or "spoiled" the mailed absentee ballot as required by law and policy.

246. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, this illicit process allowed people to vote in person and to send in an absentee ballot, thereby voting twice. This "double voting" was made possible by the unlawful ways in which election officials were counting and inputting ballots at the TCF Center from across the City's several polling places.

247. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the Secretary of State's absentee ballot scheme exacerbated this "double voting," as set forth further in this Petition.<sup>168</sup>

f. Michigan Voters Allege Problems With First Wave of New Ballots at TCF Center.

248. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, early in the morning of November 4, 2020, tens of thousands of ballots were suddenly brought into the counting room at the TCF Center through the back door.<sup>169</sup>

249. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these new ballots were brought to the TCF Center by vehicles with out-of-state license plates.<sup>170</sup>

250. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whistleblowers claim that all of these new ballots were cast for Joe Biden.<sup>171</sup>

251. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these ballots still do not share or have the markings establishing the proper chain of custody from valid precincts and clerks and are among the approximately 70% of unmatched AVCB errors identified by Palmer and Hartmann.

g. Michigan Voters Allege Problems With Second Wave of New Ballots at TCF Center.

252. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the ballot counters needed to check every ballot to confirm that the name on the ballot matched the name on the electronic poll list—the list of all persons who had registered to vote on or before November 1, 2020 (the QVF).

253. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the ballot counters were also provided with supplemental sheets which had the names of all persons who had registered to vote on either November 2, 2020 or November 3, 2020.

254. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the validation process for a ballot requires the name on the ballot match with a registered voter on either the QVF or the supplemental sheets.

255. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, at around 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 4, 2020, several more boxes of ballots were brought to the TCF Center. This was a second wave of new ballots.

256. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials instructed the ballot counters to use the "default" date of birth of January 1, 1900, on all of these newly appearing ballots.<sup>172</sup>

257. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, none of the names on these new ballots corresponded with any registered voter on the QVF or the supplemental sheets.<sup>173</sup>

258. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, despite election rules requiring all absentee ballots to be inputted into the QVF system before 9:00 p.m. the day before, election workers inputted these new ballots into the QVF, manually adding each voter to the list after the deadline.

259. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, almost all of these new ballots were entered into the QVF using the "default" date of birth of January 1, 1900.<sup>174</sup>

260. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these newly received ballots were either fabricated or apparently cast by persons who were not registered to vote before the polls closed at 8:00 p.m. on election day.

266. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials have continued to conceal their efforts by refusing meaningful bipartisan access to inspect the ballots. Even if Republicans were involved in oversight roles by statute (such as with the Wayne County Canvassing Board), the Republican members have been harassed, threatened, and doxed (including publicly revealing where their children go to school) to pressure them to capitulate and violate their statutory duties. 271. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Secretary of State Benson executed a contract to give a private partisan group, Rock the Vote, unfettered real-time access to Michigan's QVF.<sup>179</sup>

272. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Benson sold or gave Michigan citizens' private voter information to private groups in furtherance of her own partisan goals.

273. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Benson and the State repeatedly concealed this unlawful contract and have refused to tender a copy despite several lawful requests for the government contract under FOIA.

j. Michigan Voters Allege a Breaking of the Seal of Secrecy Undermines Constitutional Liberties under Michigan Constitution Art 2, § 4(1)(a).

280. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, many times, election officials at the TCF Center broke the seal of secrecy for ballots to check which candidates the individual voted for on his or her ballot, thereby violating the voter's expectation of privacy.<sup>184</sup>

281. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, voters in Michigan have a constitutional right to open elections, and the Michigan Legislature provided them the right to vote in secret. The election officials' conduct, together with others, violates both of these hallmark principles.<sup>185</sup>

282. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in Michigan, it is well-settled that the election process is supposed to be transparent and the voter's ballot secret, not the other way around.

283. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the election officials' absentee ballot scheme has improperly revealed voters' preferences exposing Petitioners' and similarly-situated voters to dilution or spoliation while simultaneously obfuscating the inner workings of the election process.

284. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, now the Michigan election officials seek to perform an "audit" on themselves.

286. When the voter returned their absentee ballot to be counted, the voter was required to sign the outside of the envelope that contained the ballot.

287. Election officials who process absentee ballots are required to compare the signature on the absentee ballot application with the signature on the absentee ballot envelope.<sup>186</sup>

288. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials at the TCF Center, for example, instructed workers not to validate or compare signatures on absentee ballot applications and absentee ballot envelopes to ensure their authenticity and validity.<sup>187</sup>

289. Michigan law requires absentee votes to be counted by election inspectors in a particular manner. It requires, in relevant part:

(10) The oaths administered under subsection (9) must be placed in an envelope provided for the purpose and sealed with the red state seal. Following the election, the oaths must be delivered to the city or township clerk. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (12), a person in attendance at the absent voter counting place or combined absent voter counting place shall not leave the counting place after the tallying has begun until the polls close. Subject to this subsection, the clerk of a city or township may allow the election inspectors appointed to an absent voter counting board in that city or township to work in shifts. A second or subsequent shift of election inspectors appointed for an absent voter counting board may begin that shift at any time on election day as provided by the city or township clerk. However, an election inspector shall not leave the absent voter counting place after the tallying has begun until the polls close. If the election inspectors appointed to an absent voter counting board are authorized to work in shifts, at no time shall there be a gap between shifts and the election inspectors must never leave the absent voter ballots unattended. At all times, at least 1 election inspector from each major political party must be present at the absent voter counting place and the policies and procedures adopted by the secretary of state regarding the counting of absent voter ballots must be followed. A person who causes the polls to be closed or who discloses an election result or in any manner characterizes how any ballot being counted has been voted in a voting precinct before the time the polls can be legally closed on election day is guilty of a felony.<sup>188</sup>

290. Under MCL 168.31, the Secretary of State can issue instructions and rules consistent with Michigan statutes and the Constitution that bind local election authorities. Likewise, under

MCL 168.765a(13), the Secretary can develop instructions consistent with the law for the conduct of Absent Voter Counting Boards (“AVCB”) or combined AVCBs. “The instructions developed under [] subsection [13] are binding upon the operation of an absent voter counting board or combined absent voter counting board used in an election conducted by a county, city, or township.”<sup>189</sup>

291. Benson also promulgated an election manual that requires bipartisan oversight:

Each ballot rejected by the tabulator must be visually inspected by an election inspector to verify the reason for the rejection. If the rejection is due to a false read the ballot must be duplicated by two election inspectors who have expressed a preference for different political parties. Duplications may not be made until after 8 p.m. in the precinct (place the ballot requiring duplication in the auxiliary bin). At an AV counting board duplications can be completed throughout the day. NOTE: The Bureau of Elections has developed a video training series that summarizes key election day management issues, including a video on Duplicating Ballots. These videos can be accessed at the Bureau of Elections web site at www.michigan.gov/elections; under “Information for Election Administrators”; Election Day Management Training Videos. Election Officials Manual, Michigan Bureau of Elections, Chapter 8, last revised October 2020.<sup>190</sup>

292. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, election officials at the TCF Center flouted § 168.765a because there were not, at all times, at least one inspector from each political party at the absentee voter counting place. Rather, the many tables assigned to precincts under the authority of the AVCB were staffed by inspectors for only one party. Those inspectors alone were deciding on the processing and counting of ballots.<sup>191</sup>

293. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, this processing included the filling out of brand new “cure” or “duplicate” ballots. The process the election officials sanctioned worked in this way. When an absentee ballot was processed and approved for counting, it was fed into a counting machine. Some ballots were rejected—that is, they were a “false read”—because of tears, staining

(such as coffee spills), over-votes, and other errors. In some of these cases, inspectors could visually inspect the rejected ballot and determine what was causing the machine to find a “false read.” When this happened, the inspectors could duplicate the ballot, expressing the voter’s intent in a new ballot that could then be fed into the machine and counted.

294. Under § 168.765a and the Secretary of State’s controlling manual, as cited above, an inspector from each major party must be present and must sign to show that they approve of the duplication.

295. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, rather than following this controlling mandate, the AVCB was allowing a Democratic Party inspector only to fill out a duplicate. Republicans would sign only “if possible.”<sup>192</sup> A photograph evidencing this illicit process appears below:

296. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, the TCF Center election officials allowed hundreds or thousands of ballots to be “duplicated” solely by the Democratic Party inspectors and then counted in violation of Michigan election law.<sup>193</sup>

297. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, according to eyewitness accounts, election officials at the TCF Center habitually and systematically disallowed election inspectors from the Republican Party to be present in the voter counting place and refused access to election inspectors from the Republican party to be within a close enough distance from the absentee voter ballots to see for whom the ballots were cast.

298. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials at the TCF Center refused entry to official election inspectors from the Republican Party into the counting place to observe the counting of absentee voter ballots. Election officials even physically blocked and obstructed election inspectors from the Republican party by adhering large pieces of cardboard to the transparent glass doors so the counting of absent voter ballots was not viewable.<sup>194</sup>

299. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, absentee ballots from military members, who tend to vote Republican in the general elections, were counted separately at the TCF Center. All (100%) of the military absentee ballots had to be duplicated by hand because the form of the ballot was such that election workers could not run them through the tabulation machines used at the TCF Center.<sup>195</sup>

300. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these military ballots were supposed to be the last ones counted, but there was another large drop of ballots that occurred during the counting of the military absentee ballots.<sup>196</sup>

301. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the military absentee ballot count at the TCF Center occurred after the Republican challengers and poll watchers were kicked out of the counting room.<sup>197</sup>

302. The Michigan Legislature also requires City Clerks to post the following absentee voting information anytime an election is conducted that involves a state or federal office:

- a. The clerk must post before 8:00 a.m. on Election Day: 1) the number of absent voter ballots distributed to absent voters 2) the number of absent voter ballots returned before Election Day and 3) the number of absent voter ballots delivered for processing.
- b. The clerk must post before 9:00 p.m. on Election Day: 1) the number of absent voter ballots returned on Election Day 2) the number of absent voter ballots returned on Election Day which were delivered for processing 3) the total number of absent voter ballots returned both before and on Election Day and 4) the total number of absent voter ballots returned both before and on Election Day which were delivered for processing.
- c. The clerk must post immediately after all precinct returns are complete: 1) the total number of absent voter ballots returned by voters and 2) the total number of absent voter ballots received for processing.<sup>198</sup>

303. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the clerk for the City of Detroit failed to post by 8:00 a.m. on "Election Day" the number of absentee ballots distributed to absent voters and failed to post before 9:00 p.m. the number of absent voter ballots returned both before and on "Election Day."

304. According to Michigan Election law, all absentee voter ballots must be returned to the clerk before polls close at 8 p.m.<sup>199</sup> Any absentee voter ballots received by the clerk after the close of the polls on election day should not be counted.

305. The Michigan Legislature allows for early counting of absentee votes before the closings of the polls for large jurisdictions, such as the City of Detroit and Wayne County.

306. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, receiving tens of thousands more absentee ballots in the early morning hours after Election Day and after the counting of the absentee ballots had already concluded, without proper oversight, with tens of thousands of ballots attributed to just one candidate, Joe Biden, confirms that election officials failed to follow proper election protocols and established Michigan election law.<sup>200</sup>

307. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, missing the statutory deadline proscribed by the Michigan Legislature for turning in the absentee ballot or timely updating the QVF invalidates the vote under Michigan Election Law and the United States Constitution.

308. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, poll challengers observed election workers and supervisors writing on ballots themselves to alter them, apparently manipulating spoiled ballots by hand and then counting the ballots as valid, counting the same ballot more than once, adding information to incomplete affidavits accompanying absentee ballots, counting absentee ballots returned late, counting unvalidated and unreliable ballots, and counting the ballots of "voters" who had no recorded birthdates and were not registered in the QVF or on any supplemental sheets.<sup>201</sup>

310. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Secretary of State Benson's absentee ballot scheme, as explained above, achieved the same purpose as mail-in ballots—contrary to Michigan law. In the most charitable light, this was profoundly naïve and cut against the plain language and clear intent of the Michigan Legislature to limit fraud. More cynically, this was an intentional effort to favor her preferred candidates.

311. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Benson put this scheme in place because it is generally understood that Republican voters were more likely to vote in-person. This trend has been true for decades and proved true with this Election too.<sup>203</sup>

312. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, to counter this (i.e., the fact that Republicans are more likely than Democrats to vote in-person), Benson implemented a scheme to permit mail-in voting, leading to this dispute and the absentee ballot scheme that unfairly favored Democrats over Republicans.

313. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in her letter accompanying her absentee ballot scheme, Benson misstated, "You have the right to vote by mail in every election." Playing on the fears created by the current pandemic, Benson encouraged voting "by email," stating, "During the outbreak of COVID-19, it also enables you to stay home and stay safe while still making your voice heard in our elections."<sup>204</sup>

Party candidates. For example, on September 14, 2020, the Democratic National Committee announced the following:

Today Biden for President and the Democratic National Committee are announcing new features on IWillVote.com—the DNC’s voter participation website—that will help voters easily request and return their ballot by mail, as well as learn important information about the voting process in their state as they make their plan to vote.

Previously, an individual could use the site to check or update their registration and find voting locations. Now the new user experience will also guide a voter through their best voting-by-mail option . . . .<sup>205</sup>

According to the Associated Press:

“We have to make it easier for everybody to be able to vote, particularly if we are still basically in the kind of lockdown circumstances we are in now,” Biden told about 650 donors. “But that takes a lot of money, and it’s going to require us to provide money for states and insist they provide mail-in ballots.”<sup>206</sup>

315. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, similar statements were repeatedly publicly on the Secretary of State’s website:

Voters are encouraged to vote at home with an absentee ballot and to return their ballot as early as possible by drop box, in person at their city or township clerk’s office, or well in advance of the election by mail.<sup>207</sup>

316. The Michigan Legislature set forth detailed requirements for absentee ballots, and these requirements are necessary to prevent voter fraud because it is far easier to commit fraud via an absentee ballot than when voting in person.<sup>208</sup> Michigan law plainly limits the ways you may get an absentee ballot:

(1) Subject to section 761(3), at any time during the 75 days before a primary or special primary, but not later than 8 p.m. on the day of a primary or special primary, an elector may apply for an absent voter ballot. The elector shall apply in person or by mail with the clerk of

Except as otherwise provided in section 761(2), the clerk of a city or township shall not issue an absent voter ballot to a registered elector in that city or township after 4 p.m. on the day before the election. An application received before a primary or special primary may be for either that primary only, or for that primary and the election that follows. An individual may submit a voter registration application and an absent voter ballot application at the same time if applying in person with the clerk or deputy clerk of the city or township in which the individual resides. Immediately after his or her voter registration application and absent voter ballot application are approved by the clerk or deputy clerk, the individual may, subject to the identification requirement in section 761(6), complete an absent voter ballot at the clerk's office.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (1) and subject to section 761(3), at any time during the 75 days before an election, but not later than 8 p.m. on the day of an election, an elector may apply for an absent voter ballot. The elector shall apply in person or by mail with the clerk of the township, city, or village in which the voter is registered. The clerk of a city or township shall not send by first-class mail an absent voter ballot to an elector after 5 p.m. on the Friday immediately before the election. Except as otherwise provided in section 761(2), the clerk of a city or township shall not issue an absent voter ballot to a registered elector in that city or township after 4 p.m. on the day before the election. An individual may submit a voter registration application and an absent voter ballot application at the same time if applying in person with the clerk or deputy clerk of the city or township in which the individual resides. Immediately after his or her voter registration application and absent voter ballot application are approved by the clerk, the individual may, subject to the identification requirement in section 761(6), complete an absent voter ballot at the clerk's office.

(3) An application for an absent voter ballot under this section may be made in any of the following ways:

- (a) By a written request signed by the voter.
- (b) On an absent voter ballot application form provided for that purpose by the clerk of the city or township.
- (c) On a federal postcard application.

(4) An applicant for an absent voter ballot shall sign the application. Subject to section 761(2), a clerk or assistant clerk shall not deliver an absent voter ballot to an applicant who does not sign the application. A person shall not be in possession of a signed absent voter ballot application except for the applicant; a member of the applicant's immediate family; a person residing in the applicant's household; a person whose job normally includes the handling of mail, but only during the course of his or her employment; a registered elector requested by the applicant to return the application; or a clerk, assistant of the clerk, or other authorized election official. A registered elector who is requested by the applicant to return his or her absent voter ballot application shall sign the certificate on the absent voter ballot application.

(5) The clerk of a city or township shall have absent voter ballot application forms available in the clerk's office at all times and shall furnish an absent voter ballot application form to anyone upon a verbal or written request.<sup>209</sup>

317. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the Secretary of State sent unsolicited absentee ballot applications to every household in Michigan with a registered voter, no matter if the voter was still alive or lived at that address.

318. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the Secretary of State also sent absentee ballot requests to non-residents who were temporarily living in Michigan, such as out-of-state students who are unregistered to vote in Michigan.

319. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in many instances, the Secretary of State's absentee ballot scheme led to the Secretary of State sending ballot requests to individuals who did not request them.<sup>210</sup>

330. Out of the 51,302 individuals that had changed their address before the election who the State's database shows as having voted, 1.38% of those individuals denied casting a ballot.<sup>220</sup>

331. This suggests that bad actors exploited election officials' unlawful practice of sending unsolicited ballots and improperly harvested ballots on a widespread scale.

332. Indeed, by not following the anti-fraud measures mandated by the Michigan Legislature, the Secretary of State's absentee ballot scheme invited the improper use of absentee ballots and promoted such unlawful practices as ballot harvesting.<sup>221</sup>

345. According to state records, at least 63 people voted absentee at PO BOX 48531, OAK PARK, MI 48237, which is registered to a professional guardian and implies improper ballot harvesting.

355. The abuses permitted by the Secretary of State's ballot scheme were on display at the TCF Center, and elsewhere throughout the State.

356. Because this absentee ballot scheme applied statewide, it undermined the integrity and purity of the general election statewide, and it dilutes the lawful votes of millions of Michigan voters.

358. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, more than $9.8 million in private money was poured into Michigan to create an unfair, two-tier election system in Michigan.<sup>239</sup>

359. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the 2020 election saw the evisceration of state statutes designed to treat voters equally, thereby causing disparate treatment of voters and thus violating the constitutional rights of millions of Michiganders and Americans citizens.

360. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, to date, investigations have uncovered more than $400 million funneled through a collection of non-profits directly to local government coffers nationwide dictating to these local governments how they should manage the election, often contrary to state law.<sup>240</sup>

361. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these funds were mainly used to: 1) pay "ballot harvesters" bounties, 2) fund mobile ballot pick up units, 3) deputize and pay political activists to manage ballots; 4) pay poll workers and election judges (a/k/a inspectors or adjudicators); 5) establish drop-boxes and satellite offices; 6) pay local election officials and agents "hazard pay" to recruit cities recognized as Democratic Party strongholds to recruit other cities to apply for grants from non-profits; 7) consolidate AVCBs and counting centers to facilitate the movement of hundreds of thousands of questionable ballots in secrecy without legally required bi-partisan observation; 8) implement a two-tier ballot "curing" plan that unlawfully counted ballots in Democrat Party strongholds and spoiled similarly situated ballots in Republican Party areas; and 9) subsidized and designed a scheme to remove the poll watchers from one political party so that the critical responsibility of determining the accuracy of the ballot and the integrity of the count could be done without oversight.

The mechanism for administering HAVA is legislatively adopted state HAVA Plans.

364. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these private funds exceeded the federal government's March 2020 appropriation under HAVA and CARES Acts to help local governments manage the general election during the pandemic.

365. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, as these unmonitored funds flowed through the pipeline directly to hand-picked cities, the outlines of two-tiered treatment of the American voter began to take place. Local governments in Democrat Party strongholds were flush with cash to launch public-private coordinated voter registration drives allowing private access directly to government voter registration files, access to early voting opportunities, the provision of incentives such as food, entertainment, and gifts for early voters, and the off-site collection of ballots. Outside the urban core and immediate suburbs, unbiased election officials were unable to start such efforts for lack of funding.

366. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, difficult to trace private firms funded this scheme through private grants, which dictated methods and procedures to local election officials and where the grantors retained the right to "claw-back" all funds if election officials failed to reach privately set benchmarks—thus entangling the private-public partnership in ways that demand transparency—yet none has been given.

Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the state officials implicated, and the private interests involved, have refused repeated demands for the release of communications outlining the rationale and plan behind spending more than $400 million provided directly to various election officials before the 2020 general election.

368. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these funds greased the skids of Democrat-heavy areas violating mandates of the Michigan Legislature, the Michigan HAVA Plan, the dictates of Congress under HAVA, and equal protection and Separation of Powers demanded under the United States Constitution.

369. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in Michigan specifically, CTCL had awarded eleven grants as of the time of this survey. CTCL funded cities were:

- ii. Lansing ($443,742);
- iii. East Lansing ($43,850);

- viii. Romulus ($16,645);
- ix. Kalamazoo ($218,869); and
- x. Saginaw ($402,878).<sup>242</sup>

Based on Michigan voters' allegations, a report regarding Antrim County, Michigan, alleges that Dominion Voting Systems, the election technology used by Antrim County and elsewhere, "is intentionally and purposefully designed with inherent errors to create systemic fraud and influence election results." It's unclear how Allied Security Operations Group (ASOG) reached this conclusion, however.<sup>244</sup>

Based on Michigan voters' allegations, likewise, the report, authored by Russell James Ramsland, Jr., who is part of ASOG's management team, says the group found an "error rate" of 68% when examining "the tabulation log" of the server for Antrim County. It's also unclear what the "error rate" data refers to specifically and how it impacts the results.<sup>245</sup>

Wisconsin has 10 electoral votes, with a statewide vote tally currently estimated at 1,610,151 for President Trump and 1,630,716 for former Vice President Biden (i.e., a margin of 20,565 votes). In two counties, Milwaukee and Dane, Mr. Biden’s margin (364,298 votes) significantly exceeds his statewide lead.

379. In the 2016 general election some 146,932 mail-in ballots were returned in Wisconsin out of more than 3 million votes cast. In stark contrast, 1,275,019 mail-in ballots, nearly a 900 percent increase over 2016, were returned in the November 3, 2020 election.

380. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, on November 30, 2020, Governor Tony Evers certified Joe Biden’s victory in Wisconsin in a Certificate of Ascertainment, soon after he received a certification from Ann Jacobs, chairwoman of the Wisconsin Election Commission.

Jacobs signed a statement of canvass to confirm who won the election. The Wisconsin Election Commission was due to meet on Tuesday, December 1, 2020. Republican Commissioners Dean Knudson had requested that Jacobs wait until Tuesday, when the Commission was to meet, to determine the results, the statutory deadline.<sup>257</sup>

381. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, by certifying the election on her own, Jacobs usurped power that belongs to the Wisconsin Election Commission. Wisconsin Statutes § 7.70 sets forth the proper procedure for certifying Wisconsin's election results. The chairperson is required to examine the certified statements of the county board of canvassers, and obtain input from the county boards if it appears material mistakes have been made. Thereafter, under § 7.70(3)(d), the chairperson is to "examine and make a statement of the total number of votes cast at any election for the offices involved in the election for president and vice president..." Under § 7.70(3)(f), these statements are to show the "persons' names receiving votes" and "the whole number of votes given to each..." § 7.70(3)(g) states that following "each other election [other than a primary election] the chairperson of the commission or the chairperson's designee shall prepare a statement certifying the results of the election and shall attach to the statement a certificate of determination which shall indicate the names of persons who have been elected to any state or national office .... The chairperson of the commission or the chairperson's designee shall deliver each statement and determination to the commission."<sup>258</sup>

382. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, Wisconsin Statutes § 7.70(5)(b) states what is supposed to come next in a presidential election. "For presidential electors, the commission shall prepare a certificate showing the determination of the results of the canvass and the names of the persons elected, and the governor shall sign, affix the great seal of the state, and transmit the certificate by registered mail to the U.S. administrator of general services. The governor shall also prepare 6 duplicate originals of such certificate and deliver them to one of the presidential electors on or before the first Monday after the 2nd Wednesday in December.” (emphasis supplied).

383. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, as set forth clearly in the statute, Wisconsin law requires the chairperson of the commission to prepare a certificate of the votes received by each candidate in the presidential election, and transmit these results to the commission. Thereafter, the commission is required to prepare a certificate showing the names of the persons elected, and transmit this certificate to the governor. Only then is the governor authorized to transmit this certificate to the U.S. administrator of general services.

384. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, Chairwoman Jacobs certified these results, without authority, before the Wisconsin Election Commission meeting, in an attempt to bypass the Wisconsin Election Commission, who had a lawful duty to examine and certify the results for themselves. Chairwoman Jacobs’ certification is a usurpation of the statutory authority of the Wisconsin Election Commission. Furthermore, the Governor’s Certificate of Ascertainment, based on Chairwoman Jacobs’ certification, rather than the lawful certification of the Commission, is a usurpation of authority, and is legally null and void.

385. Further, based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, Wisconsin statutes guard against fraud in absentee ballots: “[V]oting by absentee ballot is a privilege exercised wholly outside the traditional safeguards of the polling place. The legislature finds that the privilege of voting by absentee ballot must be carefully regulated to prevent the potential for fraud or abuse[.]”<sup>259</sup>

386. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, in direct contravention of Wisconsin law, leading up to the 2020 general election, the Wisconsin Elections Commission ("WEC") and other local officials unconstitutionally modified Wisconsin election laws—each time taking steps that weakened, or did away with, established security procedures put in place by the Wisconsin legislature to ensure absentee ballot integrity.<sup>260</sup>

387. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, for example, the WEC undertook a campaign to position hundreds of drop boxes to collect absentee ballots—including the use of unmanned drop boxes.

388. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, the mayors of Wisconsin's five largest cities—Green Bay, Kenosha, Madison, Milwaukee, and Racine, which all have Democrat majorities—joined in this effort, and together, developed a plan use purportedly "secure drop-boxes to facilitate return of absentee ballots." Wisconsin Safe Voting Plan 2020, at 4 (June 15, 2020).<sup>261</sup>

389. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, it was alleged in an action filed in United States District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin that over five hundred unmanned, illegal, absentee ballot drop boxes were used in the Presidential election in Wisconsin.

390. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, however, the use of any drop box, manned or unmanned, is directly prohibited by Wisconsin statute. The Wisconsin legislature specifically described in the Election Code "Alternate absentee ballot site[s]" and detailed the procedure by which the governing body of a municipality may designate a site or sites for the delivery of absentee ballots "other than the office of the municipal clerk or board of election commissioners as the location from which electors of the municipality may request and vote absentee ballots and to which voted absentee ballots shall be returned by electors for any election.”<sup>262</sup>

391. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, any alternate absentee ballot site “shall be staffed by the municipal clerk or the executive director of the board of election commissioners, or employees of the clerk or the board of election commissioners.”<sup>263</sup> Likewise, Wis.Stat. 7.15(2m) provides, “[i]n a municipality in which the governing body has elected to establish an alternate absentee ballot site under s. 6.855, the municipal clerk shall operate such site as though it were his or her office for absentee ballot purposes and shall ensure that such site is adequately staffed.”

392. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, thus, the unmanned absentee ballot drop-off sites are prohibited by the Wisconsin Legislature as they do not comply with Wisconsin law expressly defining “[a]lternate absentee ballot site[s].”<sup>264</sup>

393. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, in addition, the use of drop boxes for the collection of absentee ballots, positioned predominantly in Wisconsin’s largest cities, is directly contrary to Wisconsin law providing that absentee ballots may only be “mailed by the elector, or delivered in person to the municipal clerk issuing the ballot or ballots.”<sup>265</sup>

394. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, The fact that other methods of delivering absentee ballots, such as through unmanned drop boxes, are not permitted is underscored by Wis. Stat. § 6.87(6) which mandates that, “[a]ny ballot not mailed or delivered as provided in this subsection may not be counted.” Likewise, Wis. Stat. § 6.84(2) underscores this point, providing that Wis. Stat. § 6.87(6) “shall be construed as mandatory.” The provision continues—“Ballots cast in contravention of the procedures specified in those provisions may not be counted. Ballots counted in

395. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, as a result of the Zuckerberg-funded absentee drop boxes, the Milwaukee County and Dane County had 1 drop box for every 30.7 square miles. But, the rest of Wisconsin had 1 drop box for every 145 square miles. Wisconsin localities provided approximately 514 ballot drop boxes leading up to the 2020 election.<sup>267</sup>

397. Wisconsin is a total of 65,498 square miles. Milwaukee and Dane Counties represent a combined 2,427 square miles. These two counties received about one-sixth of the total number of ballot drop boxes with 79 boxes. Milwaukee received 25 drop boxes, while Dane County (Madison) had 54 drop boxes.<sup>271</sup> This left the rest of the state with 435 ballot drop boxes.<sup>272</sup>

398. Voters in Hillary Clinton's two largest counties: Milwaukee and Dane, where she received 506,519 votes, received 79 drop boxes spread out over a combined 2,427 square miles, or 1 drop box for every 30.7 square miles. Meanwhile, voters in the rest of the state received 435 drop boxes to cover 63,071 square miles, meaning that the rest of Wisconsin had a single drop box for every 145 square miles.

399. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, these were not the only Wisconsin election laws that the WEC violated in the 2020 general election. The WEC and local election officials also took it upon themselves to encourage voters to unlawfully declare themselves "indefinitely confined"—which under Wisconsin law allows the voter to avoid security measures like signature verification and photo ID requirements.

400. Specifically, registering to vote by absentee ballot requires photo identification, except for those who register as "indefinitely confined" or "hospitalized."<sup>273</sup> Registering for indefinite confinement requires certifying confinement "because of age, physical illness or infirmity or [because the voter] is disabled for an indefinite period."<sup>274</sup> Should indefinite confinement cease, the voter must notify the county clerk,<sup>275</sup> who must remove the voter from indefinite-confinement status.<sup>276</sup>

402. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, on March 25, 2020, in clear violation of Wisconsin law, Dane County Clerk Scott McDonnell and Milwaukee County Clerk George Christensen both issued guidance indicating that all voters should mark themselves as "indefinitely confined" because of the COVID-19 pandemic.<sup>278</sup>

403. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, believing this to be an attempt to circumvent Wisconsin's strict voter ID laws, the Republican Party of Wisconsin petitioned the Wisconsin Supreme Court to intervene. On March 31, 2020, the Wisconsin Supreme Court unanimously confirmed that the clerks' "advice was legally incorrect" and potentially dangerous because "voters may be misled to exercise their right to vote in ways that are inconsistent with WISC. STAT. § 6.86(2)."

404. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, on May 13, 2020, the Administrator of WEC issued a directive to the Wisconsin clerks prohibiting removal of voters from the registry for indefinite-confinement status if the voter is no longer "indefinitely confined."

405. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, the WEC's directive violated Wisconsin law. Specifically, WISC. STAT. § 6.86(2)(a) specifically provides that "any [indefinitely confined] elector [who] is no longer indefinitely confined ... shall so notify the municipal clerk." WISC. STAT. § 6.86(2)(b) further provides that the municipal clerk "shall remove the name of any other elector from the list upon request of the elector or upon receipt of reliable information that an elector no longer qualifies for the service."

406. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, according to statistics kept by the WEC, nearly 216,000 voters said they were indefinitely confined in the 2020 election, nearly a fourfold increase from nearly 57,000 voters in 2016. In Dane and Milwaukee counties, more than 68,000 voters said they were indefinitely confined in 2020, a fourfold increase from the roughly 17,000 indefinitely confined voters in those counties in 2016.

407. Under Wisconsin law, voting by absentee ballot also requires voters to complete a certification, including their address, and have the envelope witnessed by an adult who also must sign and indicate their address on the envelope.<sup>279</sup> The sole remedy to cure an “improperly completed certificate or [ballot] with no certificate” is for “the clerk [to] return the ballot to the elector[.]”<sup>280</sup> “If a certificate is missing the address of a witness, the ballot may not be counted.”<sup>281</sup>

408. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, however, in a training video issued April 1, 2020, the Administrator of the City of Milwaukee Elections Commission unilaterally declared that a “witness address may be written in red and that is because we were able to locate the witnesses’ address for the voter” to add an address missing from the certifications on absentee ballots. The Administrator’s instruction violated WISC. STAT. § 6.87(6d). The WEC issued similar guidance on October 19, 2020, in violation of this statute as well.<sup>282</sup>

409. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, in the Wisconsin Trump Campaign Complaint, it is alleged, supported by the sworn affidavits of poll watchers, that canvas workers carried out this unlawful policy, and acting pursuant to this guidance, in Milwaukee used red-ink pens to alter the certificates on the absentee envelope and then cast and count the absentee ballot. These acts violated WISC. STAT. § 6.87(6d) (“If a certificate is missing the address of a witness, the ballot may not be counted”).<sup>283</sup>

410. Wisconsin’s legislature has not ratified these changes, and its election laws do not include a severability clause.

411. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, in addition, Ethan J. Pease, a box truck delivery driver subcontracted to the U.S. Postal Service (“USPS”) to deliver truckloads of mail-in

413. The Braynard-Zhang analysis of government data shows election officials’ absentee ballot error rate of at least 0.89% which far exceeds federal law’s pre-election certification error rate for voting systems’ hardware and software of 0.0008%.<sup>287</sup>

M. The government data, state-by-state, shows election officials’ absentee ballot errors far exceed the margin of victory—and they far exceed the pre-election certification error rate of 0.0008%.

428. The federal government has a pre-election standard for state voting system’s software and hardware.

429. As explained above, this maximum-acceptable error rate is one in 500,000 ballot positions, or, alternatively one in 125,000 ballots—0.0008 %.<sup>307</sup>

<sup>308</sup> According to Plaintiffs’ analysis, it is possible to have more than one type of error per ballot (e.g., double voting and voting while resident of another state).

431. Based on the Defendant States' voters' allegations, the government data in each of the states shows election officials' absentee ballot errors far exceed the federal law's pre-election certification error rate for voting systems' hardware and software.

ARTICLE II

432. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations above, as if fully set forth herein.

433. The Plaintiffs as voters file this complaint against federal and state officials in Arizona, Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin seeking a declaratory judgment, and related injunction, for a constitutionally-compliant process for state-by-state post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors and for counting of their votes for the November 3, 2020 Presidential election and future elections.

434. Under Article II, if a state has authorized a Presidential election in that state, voters have voting rights to state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

435. Since Defendant States have authorized Presidential elections, voters in the Defendant States, including Plaintiffs, have voting rights under Article II to state legislative post-election certification of their Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

436. Part of Plaintiffs' voting rights in Defendant States under Article II is the right that their Presidential votes be counted by in their respective state legislatures' post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors in the 2020 and future elections.

437. Under Article II, Congress lacks legal authority to enact laws interfering with the state-by-state state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors as it has done with 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15.

438. The text and structure of the Constitution—as evidenced in Article II and the rest of the Constitution—preempts 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 as unconstitutional interference with the state legislative prerogative to post-election Presidential elector certification guaranteed by the Constitution.<sup>309</sup>

439. Therefore, Article II renders 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15, in the 2020 and future Presidential elections, as unconstitutional interference with the state legislative prerogative to post-election Presidential elector certification guaranteed by the Constitution—and a violation of voters' rights.<sup>310</sup>

440. Analogously, under Article II, the Defendant States lack legal authority to enact state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certifications to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor).

441. Article II, and its non-delegation doctrine, left it exclusively to the state legislatures to “direct” post-election certifications of Presidential voters and of Presidential electors—not to Defendant States to “delegate” post-election certifications, perpetually and in a wholesale fashion, to state executive branch officials as a ministerial duty.

442. The text of Article II preempts Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar state laws which delegate Presidential post-election certifications to state executive branch officials when it is constitutionally-required for state legislatures to conduct post-election Presidential election certifications.

443. The structure of the Constitution, as evidenced in Article II and the rest of the Constitution, preempts Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar state laws which delegate Presidential post-election certifications to state executive branch officials when it is constitutionally-required for state legislatures to conduct post-election Presidential election certifications.

444. Therefore, the Court should hold Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar laws unconstitutional as they apply to Presidential state legislative post-election certifications.

445. The Defendant States' lack of state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors in the 2020 and future Presidential elections violate the Plaintiffs' voting rights under Article II.

446. The Defendant States, in violation of Article II, have failed to provide state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of the Presidential Electors; so, voters' votes in the Defendant States do not count in the current and future elections—a disenfranchisement.

447. A declaratory judgment should issue, applicable to the current and future elections, declaring that Article II requires state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors for Presidential elector votes to count in the U.S. Congress for the election of the President and Vice President.

448. Further, any count of Presidential electors in the November 3, 2020 or future elections should be declared invalid if based on votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

449. The Vice President and U.S. Congress should be enjoined from counting Presidential elector votes from any states in the current and future elections unless their respective state legislatures have voted affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify Presidential votes and their Presidential electors for the current and future Presidential elections.

EQUAL PROTECTION CLAUSE

450. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations above, as if fully set forth herein.

451. Plaintiffs are entitled to state legislative post-election certification of their Presidential votes and of Presidential electors so their votes count equally with other states' citizens' votes.

452. The Equal Protection Clause prohibits the use of differential standards in the treatment and tabulation of ballots within a State. Bush, 531 U.S. at 107.

453. The one-person, one-vote principle requires counting valid votes and not counting invalid votes. Reynolds, 377 U.S. at 554-55; Bush, 531 U.S. at 103 (“the votes eligible for inclusion in the certification are the votes meeting the properly established legal requirements”).

454. The Defendant States, in violation of the Equal Protection Clause, have failed to provide state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of the Presidential Electors as they do in other states; so, voters' votes in the Defendant States will not count—a disenfranchisement of that state's voters.

455. Absent the state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors and of the Presidential Electors in the Defendant States, the Defendant States violate the one-person, one-vote principle because their Presidential votes and their state's Presidential electors' votes will not count toward the election of President and Vice President.

456. Plaintiffs are therefore harmed by Defendants' unconstitutional conduct in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

457. A declaratory judgment should issue, applicable to the current and future elections, declaring that the Equal Protection Clause requires state legislative post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors for Presidential elector votes to count in the U.S. Congress for the election of the President and Vice President.

458. Further, any count of Presidential electors in the November 3, 2020 or future elections should be declared invalid if based on votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

459. The Vice President and U.S. Congress should be enjoined from counting Presidential elector votes from states in the current election and future elections unless the respective state legislatures has voted affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify Presidential votes and their Presidential electors.

COUNT 3:
DUE PROCESS CLAUSE

460. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges the allegations above, as if fully set forth herein.

461. Plaintiffs as voters are entitled to state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors so their votes are subjected to the same due process as other citizens' votes.

462. When election practices reach "the point of patent and fundamental unfairness," the integrity of the election itself violates substantive due process. Griffin v. Burns, 570 F.2d 1065, 1077 (1st Cir. 1978); Duncan v. Poynbress, 657 F.2d 691, 702 (5th Cir. 1981); Florida State Conference of N.A.A.C.P. v. Browning, 522 F.3d 1153, 1183-84 (11th Cir. 2008); Roe v. State of Ala. By & Through Evans, 43 F.3d 574, 580-82 (11th Cir. 1995); Roe v. State of Ala., 68 F.3d 404, 407 (11th Cir. 1995); Marks v. Stinson, 19 F. 3d 873, 878 (3rd Cir. 1994).

463. Under this Court's precedents on procedural due process, not only intentional failure to follow election law as enacted by a State's legislature but also random and unauthorized acts by state election officials and their designees in local government can violate the Due Process Clause. Parratt v. Taylor, 451 U.S. 527, 537-41 (1981), overruled in part on other grounds by Daniels v. Williams, 474 U.S. 327, 330-31 (1986); Hudson v. Palmer, 468 U.S. 517, 532 (1984).

464. The difference between intentional acts and random and unauthorized acts is the degree of pre-deprivation review.

465. Defendants acted unconstitutionally by certifying Presidential electors and counting their votes without prior state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

466. Defendant States acted unconstitutionally by their state legislatures not voting for post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors.

467. Federal Defendants acted unconstitutionally under federal laws requiring counting votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

468. The actions set out in the paragraphs above constitute intentional violations of the law by Defendants in violation of the Due Process Clause.

469. The Defendants, in violation of the Due Process Clause, prohibit state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of the Presidential Electors.

470. Plaintiffs' voting rights are disenfranchised by Defendants' unconstitutional conduct in violation of the Due Process Clause.

471. A declaratory judgment should issue, applicable to current and future elections, declaring that the Due Process Clause requires state legislative post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors for Presidential elector votes to count in the U.S. Congress for the election of the President and Vice President.

472. Further, any count of Presidential electors in the current and future elections should be declared invalid if based on votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

473. The Vice President and U.S. Congress should be enjoined from counting Presidential elector votes, in the current and future elections, unless their respective state legislature has voted affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify Presidential votes and their Presidential electors.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court issue the following relief for the 2020 and future Presidential elections:

- A. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to the current and future elections, declaring that 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 were and are unconstitutional deprivations of the state legislatures' constitutional prerogative to post-election certification of the Presidential electors;
- B. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to current and future elections, declaring that Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar state laws are unconstitutional delegations by the respective states of post-election Presidential election certification duties to their respective executive branch officers when Article II requires such certifications to be made by the respective state legislatures;
- C. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to current and future elections, that the Plaintiff-voters' constitutionally-protected voting rights in Presidential elections are being violated by Defendants;
- D. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to current and future elections, that the Plaintiffs' voting rights were violated under Article II, the Equal Protection Clause and the Due Process Clause;
- E. Enjoin the Vice President and U.S. Congress, in the current and future elections, from counting Presidential elector votes from states unless their respective state legislatures vote affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify their Presidential electors;
- F. Alternatively, enjoin, in the current and future elections, the State Defendants' state legislatures to meet in their respective States to consider post-election certification of their respective Presidential electors;
- G. Award attorney's fees and costs under 42 U.S.C. § 1988 to Plaintiffs against State Defendants; and

H. Grant such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Kucksdorf, Debbie Jacques, John Wood, Sonny Borrelli, Warren Peterson, Matthew Maddock,

A. State Legislatures are Prohibited from Fulfilling Their Constitutional Responsibility.

This lawsuit seeks protection of voters' rights in Presidential elections. Voters in Presidential elections have a constitutional right to have their respective state legislatures meet after the election and certify their votes and, based on the votes, certify the Presidential electors whose votes are counted in Congress to elect the President and Vice President.

In drafting Article II, the Framers of the Constitution reasoned state legislatures should select Presidential electors so as “to afford as little opportunity as possible to tumult and disorder” and to place “every practicable obstacle [to] cabal, intrigue, and corruption,” including “foreign powers” that might try to insinuate themselves into our elections.<sup>1</sup>

Article II limited Congress's role in selecting the President and provided no constitutional role for Governors. Yet, at present state legislatures are unable to meet. This inability to meet has existed from election day and continues through various congressionally set deadlines for the appointment of presidential electors and the counting of presidential elector votes. The states legislatures of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Georgia and Arizona (“Defendant States”) are unable to review the manner in which the election was conducted, are prevented from exercising their investigative powers and are unable to vote, debate or as a body speak to the conduct of the election. In sum, State legislatures are impotent to respond to what happened in the November 3, 2020 election.

This impotency is caused by the ministerial functions of Congress and the Vice President regarding the counting of the Presidential Elector’s votes and also by state law prohibiting the legislative body from meeting without a supermajority or governor or leadership agreement during a time they can respond to what happened in the election. Accordingly, even if the state legislatures were aware of clear fraud by the executive branch – the state legislatures could not meet unless a supermajority, or a governor, or legislative leadership agreed they should meet.

This wholesale delegation of legislative authority operates contrary to the Constitution by inviting “cabal, intrigue and corruption” rather than operating to prevent the same. State legislative bodies have been relegated to observing the ministerial functions of a small group of executive officials who have refused various requests by legislators to be called into special session. Consequently, the legislative bodies as a whole of Defendant States have not engaged in any open discussion, review, investigation, or debate regarding the 2020 general election.

B. A Cabal of Public-Private Partnerships Directed the Manner of the Election Contrary to State Law Creating Disorder the State Legislatures were Unable to Address.

The management of elections is a core government function of Congress and state legislatures whose responsibilities are constitutionally defined.<sup>2</sup> “Safeguarding the integrity of the electoral process is a fundamental task of the Constitution, and [the courts] must be keenly sensitive to signs that its validity may be impaired.”<sup>3</sup>

This is especially so when state legislatures have abrogated their responsibilities through the improper delegation of their authority and when a cabal of state and local executives have partnered with private interests to undermine state statutes and plans designed to protect the integrity of the election.

C. Unprecedented Private Monies Purchased Local Election Offices and Dictated Election Management Encouraging the Evasion of State Laws and Government Partisan Involvement.

On March 27, 2020 President Trump signed into law the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES) which provided $400 million to states to manage the 2020 elections during the pandemic.<sup>5</sup> This funding joined previous monies provided by the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) to afford states sufficient federal funding to assist in managing the election.

The CARES Act funding, however, was exceeded by one individual who passed $400 million to local and state executives through a private charity that dictated how the recipient local government officials would manage the election.<sup>6</sup>

These dictates included the unprecedented use of drop boxes, mobile ballot retrieval, the location and number of polling places or satellite locations, and the consolidation of urban counting centers. Election judges, inspectors and poll workers were paid by these private funds and the tabulating machines purchased with private monies.<sup>7</sup>

The private funds flowed through the Center for Tech and Civic Life (CTCL) and were targeted to facilitate voter turnout of certain demographics in geographic areas dominated by one political party.<sup>8</sup> CTCL recruited specific cities to apply for the grants and provided grants to select cities to assist those cities in their grant applications.<sup>9</sup>

The funding to local election officials in Democratic strongholds was provided simultaneously with executive decisions to close in-person voting locations in areas not receiving CTCL grants. The CTCL funding and local executive official acceptance created a two-tier election system in which geographic areas benefitting one political party were flush with cash used to increase voter opportunities and turnout, including one city's no-bid purchase of a $250,000 Winnebago for local voter turnout efforts. The geographic areas dominated by the other party, however, experienced greater difficulty voting due to COVID emergency orders.<sup>10</sup>

For example, CTCL provided funds to 100% of the Pennsylvania counties carried by Hillary Clinton in 2016, including over $10 million to Philadelphia County.<sup>11</sup> The charity required the heavily Democratic county to establish 800 "satellite" voting locations and implement the drop box collection of ballots. In neighboring Democratic Delaware County, Pennsylvania one drop box was available for every 4,000 voters and one drop box was placed for every four-square-miles.

On the other hand, President Trump carried 59 of 67 Pennsylvania counties in 2016. CTCL contributed to 22% of those counties providing much smaller grants. There was one drop box for every 72,000 voters and every 1,159 square-miles in those counties.

Wisconsin city election officials sought private money to register voters*, <https://justthenews.com/politics-policy/elections/documents-show-wi-municipal-authorities-sought-use-grant-money-voter>; City of Green Bay – Center for Tech and Civic Life grant agreement (July 24, 2020).

CTCL funding produced similar results in the other Defendant States. Moreover, the use of drop boxes materially breached the chain of custody of ballots. For example, ballot transfer forms in Cobb County, Georgia show 78% of the 89,000 absentee ballots were not transported as Georgia election rules require.<sup>12</sup> Additionally, the use of drop boxes and changes in the signature comparison requirements for absentee ballots were approved by the Georgia Secretary of State without legislative approval.<sup>13</sup>

The presence of CTCL funds in other states facilitated conduct contrary to state law as well. In Wisconsin, at CTCL's request, five cities used CTCL seed monies to draft the "Wisconsin Safe Voting Plan 2020," so named despite the failure of the city leaders to include any other Wisconsin election officials. The plan, and communications relating to the plan, provided for extensive voter turnout efforts, considered state voter identification laws an obstacle and required the use of drop boxes, curbside voting and salaries for additional staffing.<sup>14</sup>

CTCL funding was used to "dramatically expand voter and community education and outreach, particularly to historically disenfranchised residents."<sup>15</sup>

CTCL funding enabled urban areas in defendant states to consolidate counting facilities. This consolidation precipitated the exclusion of Republican officials from the ability to view the management, handling and counting of absentee and mail-in ballots.

Election transparency is a prophylactic to fraud. Each defendant state has laws requiring members of both major political parties be present in the location of the receipt, management and counting of ballots. Such common-sense policy is necessary due to the significant afforded election officials.

Local election officials determine the ballots to be received, the ballots eligible to be counted and supervise the count of the ballots. Legislatures have wisely determined the best way to bring accountability to such decisions is to require the participation, or at least the observation, of both political parties.

Yet, these laws were not followed. In Wayne County, Michigan, CTCL paid poll workers boarded up the windows to the counting facility to prevent observation.<sup>16</sup> Inside Detroit's TCF Center, election inspectors were receiving, counting and "curing" absentee ballots. The "curing" process involves discerning the voting intent of an absent voter and reflecting that intent on a newly ballot which is then cast and counted.

Michigan law requires representatives of both major political parties to view the process and then sign a form stating the "curing" was completed consistent with voter intent.<sup>17</sup> Yet, Republican inspectors were not appointed in Wayne County. Moreover, Republican poll watchers were kept at such a distance in the cavernous TCF Center they were unable to view the conduct of the inspectors at the 134 counting tables operating in the center.<sup>18</sup> City election officials later argued that allowing republicans in the “place” of the counting satisfied state law despite the “place” these poll watchers were required to stand was so remote they could not observe the activity of the democrat party officials.

Urban election officials in other Defendant States which received CTCL funding also restricted or prohibited Republican poll watchers from viewing the receipt, management, curing and counting of ballots.<sup>19</sup> Local election officials in each state represented here received significant funds from CTCL and each also engaged in election improprieties with local officials acting contrary to state law.

State hostility to Republican participation in reviewing the management of the 2020 general election manifested in threats to Republican officeholders and their counsel in Michigan. On December 14, 2020 Governor Gretchen Whitmer mobilized the state police to secure the state capitol to prevent Republican legislators entry to the building while allowing Democrat legislators to enter.<sup>20</sup>

Moreover, Democrat Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel announced she was criminally investigating Republican legislators who voiced concerns regarding the election outcome and threatened those officials with criminal prosecution for “bribery, perjury, and conspiracy.”<sup>21</sup>

General Nessel also tweeted a claim “GOP efforts to overturn President Trump’s electoral defeat...and [t]hreats against election officials are domestic terrorism. My message to them is ‘We are looking for you. We will find you. You will be held accountable.’”<sup>22</sup> The Michigan State Police whom the Governor ordered to bar Republicans from entering the capitol on the fourteenth<sup>23</sup>, however, announced they “did not recommend the closure of legislative offices ahead of the Electoral College meeting and they were not aware of ‘any credible threats of violence related to Michigan....’”<sup>24</sup>

Accordingly, the Plaintiffs who are voter groups, voters and state legislators in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Georgia and Arizona file this complaint seeking to restore the constitutional authority and duty of the legislative bodies of their respective states in the selection of presidential electors to correct “the tumult and disorder”<sup>26</sup> and lawlessness

The federal laws regarding the Presidential electors, codified at 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 are constitutionally unauthorized and violate Presidential voters’ rights to state legislative post-election certification. Article II of the Constitution establishes a non-delegable process where at least state legislative post-election certification of the state’s Presidential electors is constitutionally required for Presidential elector votes to be counted in the election of the President and Vice President. In contradiction, the federal laws, particularly 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6, establish a different process where Presidential electors are designated by the Governor of each Defendant State without state legislative post-election certification. Then, 3 U.S.C. § 15 authorizes the Vice President and Congress to count those votes in contradiction of the constitutional obligation to only count votes of Presidential electors who have state legislative post-election certification.

Further, the Defendant States have legally acquiesced to the federal laws by enacting statutes transferring post-election certification from the state legislatures to state executive branch officials: Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor). These state laws also violate Article II which establishes the state legislative prerogative to post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

Plaintiffs hope a constitutional crisis can be avoided. There is time before the January 20, 2021 inaugural of the President and Vice President for the Court to require the state legislatures to meet and consider post-election certification of the Presidential electors. The people's representatives comprising the state legislatures of the respective states must be afforded the opportunity to act as a whole to fulfill their constitutional responsibilities and to restore faith in the election process.

Moreover, this Court has continuing jurisdiction, after this Presidential election, because the federal laws and state laws violating Article II have continuing force applied to future Presidential elections.

JURISDICTION

1. The Court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question), 28 U.S.C. § 1343 (civil rights and elective franchise), 28 U.S.C. § 2201 (declaratory judgment), 28 U.S.C. § 1651 ("All Writs Act"), 42 U.S.C. § 1983 (civil rights) and D.C. Code § 16-3501, et seq (ouster of national officials).

2. The Court has venue under 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because many of the Defendants reside or are located in the District of Columbia and a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred or will occur there.

PARTIES

A. Plaintiffs

3. Plaintiffs Wisconsin Voters Alliance, Pennsylvania Voters Alliance, Georgia Voters Alliance, Election Integrity Forum and Arizona Election Integrity Alliance are election integrity entities and associations which have a purpose of promoting election integrity in Pennsylvania,

Wisconsin, Georgia, Michigan and Arizona, respectively. They do not support any particular candidate for any public office.

4. Plaintiffs Lynie Stone and Baron Benham are residents, voters and taxpayers of Arizona. They are members of the Arizona Election Integrity Alliance.

5. Plaintiffs Debi Haas and Brenda Savage are residents, voters and taxpayers of Michigan. They are members of the Election Integrity Forum.

6. Plaintiffs Matthew Dadich and Leah Hoopes are residents, voters and taxpayers of Pennsylvania. They are members of the Pennsylvania Voters Alliance.

7. Plaintiffs Ron Hueur, Richard W. Kucksdorf and Debbie Jacques are residents, voters and taxpayers of Wisconsin. They are members of the Wisconsin Voters Alliance.

8. Plaintiff John Wood is a resident, voter and taxpayer of Georgia. He is a member of the Georgia Voters Alliance.

9. Plaintiff Senator Sonny Borrelli member of the Arizona Senate.

10. Plaintiff Representative Warren Peterson is a member of the Arizona House of Representatives.

11. Plaintiff Representative Matthew Maddock is a member of the Michigan House of Representatives.

12. Plaintiff Representative Daire Rendon is a member of the Michigan House of Representatives.

13. Plaintiff Representative David Steffen is a member of the Wisconsin State Assembly.

14. Plaintiff Representative Jeff L. Mursau is a member of the Wisconsin State Assembly.

15. Plaintiff Senator William T. Ligon is a member of the Georgia Senate.

16. Plaintiff Senator Brandon Beach is a member of the Georgia Senate.

17. All of the individual Plaintiffs are residents, voters and taxpayers of their respective states.

18. All of the individual Plaintiffs voted in the November 3, 2020 election for President and Vice President and plan to vote in future Presidential elections.

B. Defendants

19. Vice President Michael Richard Pence is a Defendant sued in his official capacity as President of the United States Senate. As such, Pence is identified as having legal obligations under the Constitution and federal law regarding opening and counting the ballots of Presidential electors for President and Vice President.

20. The U.S House of Representatives, U.S. Senate, and Electoral College are Defendants. They are constituted under the Constitution and federal law.

21. Governor Tom Wolf of Pennsylvania is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

22. Speaker Bryan Carter of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives and Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman of the Pennsylvania Senate, are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

23. Governor Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan is a Defendant sued in her official capacity. She has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

24. Speaker Lee Chatfield of the Michigan House of Representatives and Senate Majority Leader Mike Shirkey of the Michigan Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

25. Governor Tony Evers of Wisconsin is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

26. Speaker Robin Vos of the Wisconsin State Assembly and Senate Majority Leader Howard Marklein of the Wisconsin Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

27. Governor Brian Kemp of Georgia is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

28. Speaker David Ralston of the Georgia House of Representatives and President Pro Tempore Butch Miller of the Georgia Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

29. Governor Doug Ducey of Arizona is a Defendant sued in his official capacity. He has legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

30. Speaker Russell Bowers of the Arizona House of Representative and Senate Majority Leader Rick Gray of the Arizona Senate are sued in their official capacities. They and their respective houses of their state legislature have legal responsibilities under federal and state law in post-election certification of Presidential electors.

STANDING

31. As voters, the Plaintiffs have legal standing to bring these constitutional claims to ensure that Presidential elections are constitutionally conducted by Defendants.<sup>27</sup>

32. The Plaintiffs claim that Article II of the U.S. Constitution provides a voter a constitutional right to the voter's Presidential vote being certified as part of the state legislature's post-election certification of Presidential electors. Absence such certification, the Presidential electors' votes from that state cannot be counted by the federal Defendants toward the election of President and Vice President. Because the Plaintiffs' votes are not counted as part of the constitutionally-required state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors, the Defendants are causing the Plaintiffs to be disenfranchised. See Baten v. McMaster, 967 F.3d 345, 352–53 (4th Cir. 2020) (voters who vote in Presidential elections have standing on claims of government causing disenfranchisement).

33. When Defendants violate the Constitution as it relates to Presidential elections in the Defendant, all voters in Presidential elections suffer an injury-in-fact caused by the Defendants. Voters in a Presidential election, in this instance, have an injury-in-fact different than the public because when they voted and they had an interest that the election in which they voted is constitutionally-conducted. The same is true of future elections. Finally, the Court can redress the Plaintiffs' injuries by issuing a declaratory judgment and accompanying injunction to enjoin the Defendants' unconstitutional conduct.

34. As voters, each Plaintiff has a fundamental right to vote.<sup>28</sup> Thus, each Plaintiff has a recognized protectable interest. As the U.S. Supreme Court has long recognized, a person's right to vote is “individual and personal in nature.”<sup>29</sup> Thus, “voters who allege facts showing disadvantage to themselves as individuals have standing to sue” to remedy that disadvantage.<sup>30</sup> “Safeguarding the integrity of the electoral process is a fundamental task of the Constitution, and [the courts] must be keenly sensitive to signs that its validity may be impaired.”<sup>31</sup> “Confidence in the integrity of our electoral processes is essential to the functioning of our participatory democracy.”<sup>32</sup>

35. By federal and state election laws, the federal and state governments have agreed to protect the fundamental right to vote by maintaining the integrity of an election contest as fair, honest, and unbiased to maintain the structure of the democratic process.<sup>33</sup> The voters, in turn, agree to accept the government’s announcement of the winner of an election contest, including federal elections, to maintain the integrity of the democratic system of the United States. “No right is more precious in a free country than that of having a voice in the election of those who make the laws under which, as good citizens, we must live.”<sup>34</sup> But the right to vote is the right to participate in an electoral process that is necessarily structured to maintain the integrity of the democratic system.<sup>35</sup>

36. This arrangement constitutes a “social contract” between the voter and the government as an agreement among the people of a state about the rules that will define their government.<sup>36</sup> Social contract theory provided the background against which the Constitution was adopted. “Because of this social contract theory, the Framers and the public at the time of the revolution and framing conceived governments as resulting from an agreement among people to provide a means for enforcing existing rights.”<sup>37</sup> “The aim of a social contract theory is to show that members of some society have reason to endorse and comply with the fundamental social rules, laws, institutions, and/or principles of that society. Put simply, it is concerned with public justification, i.e., ‘of determining whether or not a given regime is legitimate and therefore worthy of loyalty.’”<sup>38</sup>

37. The uniformity of election laws is part of that contract to protect the right to vote. Hence, the right to vote is intertwined with the integrity of an election process. The loss of the integrity of the election process renders the right to vote meaningless.<sup>39</sup> Here, the Defendant States’ election irregularities and improprieties so exceed the razor-thin margins to cast doubt on the razor-thin margins of victory and, thus, threaten the social contract itself.

38. The same will happen in future elections too if it is not stopped.

39. The Article II social contract with the voters is, in part, the assurance of their state legislature voting for post-election certification of Presidential electors. Arising from the social contract is the integrity of the election process to protect the voter’s right to vote. In the state legislatures perpetually delegating post-election certification of Presidential electors to election officials—as a core government function—the state legislatures, required by federal law, delegated post-election certification to state executive branch officials when Article II requires the state legislatures to conduct post-election certification of every voter's vote.

40. This social contract is what is personally at risk for the Plaintiffs in the outcome of the controversy.<sup>40</sup> As much as the government has a compelling interest in fair and honest elections with accompanying laws and regulations to ensure that objective to preserve the democratic system of government, so too the voter has an interest in state and local election officials violating the election laws in favor of a pre-determined result.

41. Furthermore, the voter has a compelling interest in the maintenance of a democratic system of government under the Ninth Amendment through the election process, beyond controversies regarding governmental attempts to interfere with the right to vote. Here, the voter did not enter into a contract with the state election official to give them discretion for state election irregularities and improprieties—of any kind—regardless of how benign they might be. The voter's social contract is with the state legislature—who under Article II must conduct post-election certification of the Presidential electors. The Article II requirement of the state legislature casting a post-election certification vote for Presidential electors is the voters' constitutional "insurance policy" against the risk of state and local election officials engaging in election irregularities and improprieties in favor of a pre-determined outcome.

42. The voters have been willing to accept laws and regulations imposed upon an election process to serve the government's compelling interest in the integrity of that process. So, while it is fair to create public governmental regulatory schemes to promote the compelling interests to protect the right to vote, and therefore, a voter's right of associational choices under the First

Amendment,<sup>41</sup> those rights are infringed when the state legislatures abdicate the constitutionally-required role of post-election certification of Presidential electors.<sup>42</sup>

43. For federal elections, state legislatures under Article II have no authority to delegate post-election certification of Presidential electors to state executive branch officials. Yet, they did. That is the harm for the voters. It is the Electors Clause that gives state legislatures the exclusive right to post-election certification of Presidential electors—not state executive branch officials.

44. This lawsuit is not about voter fraud. The harm here is the loss of a voter remedy under Article II conducted as a core governmental function under federal and state election laws to ensure the integrity of the election. In turn, the acceptance of the outcome without state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors interferes with the social contract between the voter and the government—causing injury to the voter.

BACKGROUND

A. Legal background

45. Under the Supremacy Clause, the “Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof . . . shall be the supreme law of the land.”<sup>43</sup>

46. “The individual citizen has no federal constitutional right to vote for electors for the President of the United States unless and until the state legislature chooses a statewide election as the means to implement its power to appoint members of the electoral college.”<sup>44</sup>

47. State legislatures have plenary power to set the process for appointing presidential electors: “Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors.”<sup>45</sup>

48. At the time of the Founding, most States did not appoint electors through popular statewide elections. In the first presidential election, six of the ten States that appointed electors did so by direct legislative appointment.<sup>46</sup>

49. In the second presidential election, nine of the fifteen States that appointed electors did so by direct legislative appointment.<sup>47</sup>

50. In the third presidential election, nine of sixteen States that appointed electors did so by direct legislative appointment. Id. at 31. This practice persisted in lesser degrees through the Election of 1860.

51. Though “[h]istory has now favored the voter,” Bush, 531 U.S. at 104, “there is no doubt of the right of the legislature to resume the power [of appointing presidential electors] at any time, for it can neither be taken away nor abdicated.”<sup>48</sup>

52. Given the State legislatures’ constitutional primacy in selecting presidential electors, the ability to set rules governing the casting of ballots and counting of votes cannot be usurped by other branches of state government—nor the federal government.

53. The Framers of the Constitution decided to select the President through the Electoral College “to afford as little opportunity as possible to tumult and disorder” and to place

54. The Plaintiffs constitutional claims in this lawsuit are principally based on one sentence in Article II of the U.S. Constitution. The sentence has eighty-five words. The constitutional sentence provides:

He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected, as follows: Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

55. The Plaintiffs’ claims, based on this constitutional, imperative, sentence, are that post-election certification of Presidential votes and post-election certification of Presidential electors are exclusively state legislative decisions; accordingly, Governors, federal courts and state courts have no constitutionally-permitted role in post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

56. Accordingly, the Plaintiffs claim that 3 U.S.C. § 5, 6 and 15 and state laws (such as Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166) eviscerating these state legislative prerogatives, every four years, are unconstitutional.

57. Under Article II, Congress lacks legal authority to enact laws interfering with the state-by-state state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors as it has done with 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15. There are textual and structural arguments for these federal statutes being unconstitutional.<sup>50</sup> The Plaintiffs claim that 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 are unconstitutional interferences with the state legislative prerogatives guaranteed by the Constitution.

58. Analogously, under Article II, the state legislatures lack legal authority to enact state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor).

59. Article II, and its non-delegation doctrine, left it to the state legislatures to “direct” post-election certification of Presidential electors—not to “delegate” post-election certifications, perpetually and in a wholesale fashion, to state executive branch officials as a ministerial duty. There are textual and structural arguments for these state statutes being unconstitutional. Plaintiffs claim that Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 are unconstitutional delegation of the state legislative prerogatives of post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

60. Further, the state constitutions of the Defendant States do not require the state legislature to meet for post-election certification of the Presidential electors. Arizona’s, Georgia’s and Pennsylvania’s Constitutions have the state legislature adjourned until January 2021.<sup>51</sup> Michigan’s and Wisconsin's Constitutions permit the state legislature to be in session, but do not require a joint session of the state legislature to affirmatively vote for Presidential post-election certifications.<sup>52</sup>

61. Based on this legal background, Plaintiffs claim, under the Article II, that if there is no state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors in the Defendant States, then those Defendant States' Presidential electors votes, not so certified, cannot be counted by the federal Defendants for President and Vice President under Article II.

B. The Defendants, except state legislatures, are involved in post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors or counting their ballots to elect the President and Vice President.

62. Under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 12, each of the Defendants, except the state legislatures, have a role to play in state post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of a state's Presidential electors or counting of the Presidential Electors' votes.

63. Under 3 U.S.C. § 15, "Congress shall be in session on the sixth day of January succeeding every meeting of electors. The Senate and House of Representatives shall meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the hour of 1 o'clock in the afternoon on that day."

64. Under 3 U.S.C. § 15, Vice President Michael Richard Pence is the presiding officer on January 6, 2021: "and the President of the Senate shall be their presiding officer."

65. Vice President Pence, the U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives are Defendants presume under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6, that each state's Presidential elector votes because they are designated by the Governor of each Defendant State can be counted without state legislative post-election certification.

66. 3 U.S.C. § 5 provides:

If any State shall have provided, by laws enacted prior to the day fixed for the appointment of the electors, for its final determination of any controversy or contest concerning the appointment of all or any of the electors of such State, by judicial or other methods or procedures, and such determination shall have been made at least six days before the time fixed for the meeting of the electors, such determination made pursuant to such law so existing on said day, and made at least six days prior to said time of meeting of the electors, shall be conclusive, and shall govern in the counting of the electoral votes as provided in the Constitution, and as hereinafter regulated, so far as the ascertainment of the electors appointed by such State is concerned.

67. 3 U.S.C. § 6 provides:

It shall be the duty of the executive of each State, as soon as practicable after the conclusion of the appointment of the electors in such State by the final ascertainment, under and in pursuance of the laws of such State providing for such ascertainment, to communicate by registered mail under the seal of the State to the Archivist of the United States a certificate of such ascertainment of the electors appointed, setting forth the names of such electors and the canvass or other ascertainment under the laws of such State of the number of votes given or cast for each person for whose appointment any and all votes have been given or cast; and it shall also thereupon be the duty of the executive of each State to deliver to the electors of such State, on or before the day on which they are required by section 7 of this title to meet, six duplicate-originals of the same certificate under the seal of the State; and if there shall have been any final determination in a State in the manner provided for by law of a controversy or contest concerning the appointment of all or any of the electors of such State, it shall be the duty of the executive of such State, as soon as practicable after such determination, to communicate under the seal of the State to the Archivist of the United States a certificate of such determination in form and manner as the same shall have been made; and the certificate or certificates so received by the Archivist of the United States shall be preserved by him for one year and shall be a part of the public records of his office and shall be open to public inspection; and the Archivist of the United States at the first meeting of Congress thereafter shall transmit to the two Houses of Congress copies in full of each and every such certificate so received at the National Archives and Records Administration.

68. The Plaintiffs claim that the presumption is constitutionally incorrect; under Article II, Defendants Vice President Pence, the U.S. House of Representatives and the United States Senate can only open up and count Presidential elector ballots if the state legislature has affirmatively voted to certify the Presidential electors; otherwise, the votes of the Presidential electors cannot be counted. The Plaintiffs claim that the Vice President and U.S. Congress act unconstitutionally in this election and future elections when they count votes of Presidential electors where the respective state legislature has not affirmatively voted in favor of post-election certification.

70. But, Governor Tom Wolf of Pennsylvania, Governor Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan, Governor Tony Evers of Wisconsin, Governor Brian Kemp of Georgia, and Governor Doug Ducey of Arizona are constitutionally mistaken because the designated by the Governor of each Defendant State cannot cure that the Presidential electors are without state legislative post-election certification. Until the state legislature certifies the Presidential electors, the respective Governor's designation under 3 U.S.C. § 6 and their respective state's laws have no legal effect.

71. Absent the state legislative post-election certification required by Article II, the Governor's designation of Presidential electors has no legal effect because their votes cannot be counted by the Vice President, U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives.

72. Finally, Article II requires the Defendants' state legislative leaders to act to vote on post-election certification of the Presidential electors. But, instead, the state legislatures violate this constitutional duty because of their state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certifications to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor).

73. The Plaintiffs claim that Article II, and its non-delegation doctrine, permanently left it to the state legislatures to “direct” post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors, not to delegate post-election certifications, perpetually and in a wholesale fashion, to state executive branch officials as a ministerial duty.

74. In this way, the Defendant States’ legislative leaders, including Speaker Bryan Carter of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman of the Pennsylvania Senate, Speaker Lee Chatfield of the Michigan House of Representatives, Senate Majority Leader Mike Shirkey of the Michigan Senate, Speaker Robin Vos of the Wisconsin State Assembly, Senate Majority Leader Howard Marklein of the Wisconsin Senate, Speaker David Ralston of the Georgia House of Representatives, Senate President Pro Tempore Butch Miller of the Georgia Senate, Speaker Russell Bowers of the Arizona House of Representatives, and Senate Majority Leader Rick Gray of the Arizona Senate are violating their duties under Article II by not voting on post-election certification of the Presidential electors so their votes can constitutionally count.

75. State legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors are part of constitutionally-protected voting rights. Everyone who votes—distinguishable from those who don’t—have a constitutionally-protected interest in state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors. The Defendants violate those voting rights by counting ballots of Presidential electors without the constitutionally-required state legislative post-election certification.

C. Presidential post-election court proceedings—like the 2000 Bush v. Gore litigation, the 2020 Texas original action and the 2020 thirty post-election lawsuits in Defendant States—are in constitutional error and unnecessarily politicize the federal and state courts in a national way.

76. The Presidential post-election court proceedings—like the 2000 Bush v. Gore litigation, the 2020 Texas original action and the 2020 thirty post-election lawsuits in Defendant

States—are in constitutional error and unnecessarily politicize the federal and state courts—and in a nationwide way. Under Article II, all of those Presidential post-election cases should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction—and the plaintiffs should have been instructed to file their Presidential election contests with their respective state legislatures.

77. The Defendant States have election contest or recount laws, which apply to Presidential elections, but unconstitutionally preclude state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors: Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-672; Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-521; Mich. Comp. Laws § 168.862; Wis. Stat. § 9.01; and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3351.

78. Interestingly, the Pennsylvania laws have a state legislative post-election certification process for its Governor and Lieutenant Governor elections—but not for President and Vice President. 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3312, et seq.

D. In 2000, the U.S. Supreme Court engaged in a Presidential post-election litigation in Florida.

79. In 2000, the U.S. Supreme Court engaged in Presidential post-election litigation in Florida. Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98 (2000).

80. Plaintiffs claim, under Article II, that this post-election case in 2000 likely should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction with instructions for the Plaintiffs to file their election claims with the Florida state legislature.

E. In 2020, approximately thirty post-election lawsuits are filed in Defendants States regarding election official errors and improprieties.

82. Plaintiffs claim, under Article II, that these post-election cases should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction with instructions that the Plaintiffs should file such claims with their respective state legislatures in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Georgia and Arizona.

F. In 2020, Texas sued Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Georgia in the U.S. Supreme Court to adjudicate election irregularities and improprieties.

83. On December 7, 2020, Texas filed an original action in the U.S. Supreme Court, Case No. 20O155, against Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Georgia for election irregularities and improprieties. On December 9, Missouri and 16 other states filed a motion for leave to file an amicus curiae brief in support of Texas. On December 10, U.S. Representative Mike Johnson and 105 other members submitted a motion for leave to file amicus brief in support of Texas. On December 11, the U.S. Supreme Court dismissed the original action in a text order:

The State of Texas’s motion for leave to file a bill of complaint is denied for lack of standing under Article III of the Constitution. Texas has not demonstrated a judicially cognizable interest in the manner in which another State conducts its elections. All other pending motions are dismissed as moot. Statement of Justice Alito, with whom Justice Thomas joins: In my view, we do not have discretion to deny the filing of a bill of complaint in a case that falls within our original jurisdiction. See Arizona v. California, 589 U. S. ____ (Feb. 24, 2020) (Thomas, J., dissenting). I would therefore grant the motion to file the bill of complaint but would not grant other relief, and I express no view on any other issue.<sup>55</sup>

84. Plaintiffs claim, under Article II, that this post-election case filed in the U.S. Supreme Court should have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction with instructions that voter in each state could file their respective claims with their respective state legislatures in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Georgia.

Arizona lawsuits alleging election official errors and improprieties. In Defendants’ states, voter allegations exist which allege that the election officials’ errors and improprieties exceed the razor-thin margins of Presidential contests—as further herein.

<sup>55</sup> Plaintiffs agree that the State of Texas lacked standing, but the original action itself begs the question, “Is the U.S. Supreme Court the final adjudicator for certification of Presidential electors?” The Plaintiffs’ answer is no; the respective state legislatures are the final determiner of post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors—and, in a non-delegable way.

G. The Presidential electors for Biden and Trump in the Defendant States voted on December 14, but none of the Presidential Electors received state legislative post-election certification.

85. Under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6, the Presidential electors for Biden and Trump met and voted in their Defendant States on December 14.

86. The Presidential electors for Biden in the Defendant States were certified by state executive branch officials in the Defendant States under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5 and 6 and the respective state laws.

87. Neither the Presidential electors for Biden nor the Presidential electors for Trump in the Defendant States received a state legislative post-election affirmative vote for certification.

88. The Presidential electors for Biden in the Defendant States voted for Biden as President and Harris as Vice President.

89. The Presidential electors for Trump in the Defendant States voted for Trump as President and Pence as Vice President.<sup>56</sup>

90. Plaintiffs claim that none of these Presidential electors' votes should be counted by federal Defendants in the election of President and Vice President until the Presidential electors receive from their respective state legislatures an affirmative vote for post-election certification.

H. Under federal and state law, in the Defendant States, the respective state legislatures do not vote on post-election certification of Presidential electors.

91. Congress has enacted 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 which significantly restrict state legislatures' constitutional prerogative to post-election certification of Presidential electors.

92. In turn, the state legislatures in the Defendant States have enacted state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certification to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code

93. Further, the state constitutions of the Defendant States fail to require the state legislature to meet for post-election certification of the Presidential electors in violation of state legislative constitutional duties under Article II of the U.S. Constitution. Arizona's, Georgia's and Pennsylvania's Constitutions have the state legislature adjourned until January 2021.<sup>57</sup> Michigan's and Wisconsin's Constitutions permit the state legislature to be in session, but do not require a joint session of the state legislature to affirmatively vote for post-election certification of Presidential electors.<sup>58</sup>

I. Voters' allegations in each of the Defendant States—alleging election officials' absentee ballot errors and improprieties exceed Presidential vote margins—are constitutionally resolved by state legislative post-certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors—not in this Court or any other court.

94. Plaintiffs allege that voters allege in each of the Defendant States that election officials' absentee ballot errors and improprieties exceed Presidential vote margins.

95. The Defendant States' voters' claims should be constitutionally resolved by state legislative post-certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors—as Article II requires.

96. None of the voters' allegations in each of the Defendant States—that is the allegations stated further below—should be adjudicated in this Court or any other Court, because it is the exclusive constitutional prerogative of the state legislatures to determine post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

J. Defendant States' voters allege Zuckerberg moneys gifted to urban election officials in Defendant States who violated absentee ballot security measures.

97. Defendant States' voters have alleged, in 2020, a systematic effort was launched in Defendant States, using $350,000,000 in private money sourced to Mark Zuckerberg, the Facebook billionaire, to illegally circumvent absentee voting laws to cast tens of thousands of illegal absentee ballots.<sup>59</sup>

98. Defendants States' votes have alleged that the Zuckerberg-funded private organization, the Center for Technology and Civic Life (CTCL), gifted millions of dollars to election officials in Democratic Party urban strongholds in Georgia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Arizona in order for those cities to facilitate the use of absentee voting: Fulton County (GA), Milwaukee (WI), Madison (WI), Philadelphia (PA), Wayne County (MI) and Maricopa County (AZ).<sup>60</sup>

99. Defendant States' voters have alleged that in these counties and cities receiving CTCL funds, election officials adopted various respective policies and customs eviscerating state law absentee ballot security measures such as witness address, name and signature requirements and voter address, name and signature requirements.<sup>61</sup>

100. Defendant States' voters have alleged that these urban election officials also used the CTCL funds for absentee ballot drop boxes treating urban voters preferentially to small-town and rural voters.<sup>62</sup>

K. The government's pre-election certification error rate of voting system's software and hardware is 0.0008%.

101. The federal government has a pre-election standard for state voting system's software and hardware.<sup>63</sup>

102. Under federal law, this maximum-acceptable error rate is one in 500,000 ballot positions, or, alternatively one in 125,000 ballots—0.0008 %.<sup>64</sup>

103. Section 3.2.1 of the voting systems standards issued by the Federal Elections Commission (FEC) which were in effect on the date of the enactment of the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) provides that the voting system shall achieve a maximum acceptable error rate in the test process of one in 500,000 ballot positions.<sup>65</sup>

104. A ballot position is every possible selection on the ballot, to include empty spaces. As stated in the voting systems standards (VSS), "[t]his rate is set at a sufficiently stringent level such that the likelihood of voting system errors affecting the outcome of an election is exceptionally remote even in the closest of elections."<sup>66</sup>

105. An update to the FEC VSS was made by the Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to enhance the FEC VSS standards, which each state has adopted by law.<sup>67</sup>

106. The FEC VSS standard provides for an error rate of one in 125,000 ballots (0.0008%) as an alternative to the one in 500,000 ballot positions to make it easier to calculate the error rate.<sup>68</sup>

L. Voters' allegations in each of the Defendant States support that election officials' absentee ballot errors and improprieties exceed Presidential vote margins.

108. The use of absentee and mail-in ballots skyrocketed in 2020, not only as a public-health response to the COVID-19 pandemic but also at the urging of mail-in voting's proponents, and most especially executive branch officials in Defendant States. According to the Pew Research Center, in the 2020 general election, a record number of votes—about 65 million—were cast via mail compared to 33.5 million mail-in ballots cast in the 2016 general election—an increase of more than 94 percent.<sup>70</sup>

109. In the wake of the contested 2000 election, the bipartisan Jimmy Carter-James Baker commission identified absentee ballots as “the largest source of potential voter fraud.”<sup>71</sup>

110. Concern over the use of mail-in ballots is not novel to the modern era,<sup>72</sup> but it remains a current concern.<sup>73</sup>

111. Absentee and mail-in voting are the primary opportunities for unlawful ballots to be cast.

112. Defendant States voters allege that as a result of expanded absentee and mail-in voting in Defendant States, combined with Defendant States' unconstitutional modification of statutory protections designed to ensure ballot integrity, Defendant States created a massive opportunity for fraud.

113. Defendant States voters allege that the Defendant States have made it difficult or impossible to separate the constitutionally tainted mail-in ballots from all mail-in ballots.

114. Defendant States voters allege that rather than augment safeguards against illegal voting in anticipation of the millions of additional mail-in ballots flooding their States, Defendant States materially weakened, or did away with, security measures, such as witness or signature verification procedures, required by their respective legislatures. Their legislatures established those commonsense safeguards to prevent—or at least reduce—fraudulent mail-in ballots.

115. Defendant States voters allege, in Defendant States, that Democrat voters voted by mail at two to three times the rate of Republicans. Thus, the Democratic candidate for President thus greatly benefited from this unconstitutional usurpation of legislative authority, and the weakening of legislative mandated ballot security measures.

116. Defendant States voters allege that the outcome of the Electoral College vote is directly affected by the constitutional violations committed by Defendant States. Defendant States violated the Constitution in the process of appointing presidential electors by unlawfully abrogating state election laws designed to protect the integrity of the ballots and the electoral process, and those violations proximately caused the unconstitutional appointment of presidential electors.

117. Plaintiffs will therefore be injured if Defendant States' unlawful certification of these Presidential electors, because the Presidential electors have not received state legislative post-election certification, is allowed to stand.

118. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania voters allege election official errors and improprieties which exceed the Presidential vote margin.

119. Pennsylvania has 20 electoral votes, with a statewide vote tally currently estimated at 3,363,951 for President Trump and 3,445,548 for former Vice President Biden, a margin of 81,597 votes.<sup>75</sup>

120. Pennsylvania voters have alleged the number of votes affected by the various constitutional violations exceeds the margin of votes separating the candidates.

121. By letter dated December 13, 2019, the Auditor General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Eugene A. DePasquale, issued to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a Performance Audit Report of the Pennsylvania Department of State's Statewide Uniform Registry of Electors.<sup>76</sup>

122. The Performance Audit Report was conducted pursuant to an Interagency Agreement between the Pennsylvania Department of State and the Pennsylvania Department of the Auditor General.

123. The Performance Audit Report contained seven Findings, to wit:

- i. Finding One: As a result of the Department of State's denial of access to critical documents and excessive redaction of documentation, the Department of the Auditor General was severely restricted from meeting its audit objectives in an audit which the Department of State itself had requested.

- ii. Finding Two: Data analysis identified tens of thousands of potential duplicate and inaccurate voter records, as well as voter records for nearly three thousand potentially deceased voters that had not been removed from the SURE system.
- iii. Finding Three: The Department of State much implement leading information technology security practices and information technology general controls to protect the SURE system and ensure the reliability of voter registration.
- iv. Finding Four: Voter record information is inaccurate due to weakness in the voter registration application process and the maintenance of voter records in the SURE system.
- v. Finding Five: Incorporating edit checks and other improvements into the design of the replacement system for SURE will reduce data errors and improve accuracy.
- vi. Finding Six: A combination of a lack of cooperation by certain county election offices and PennDOT, as well as source documents not being available for seventy percent of our test sample, resulted in our inability to form any conclusions as to the accuracy of the entire population of voter records maintained in the SURE system.
- vii. Finding Seven: The Department of State should update current job aids and develop additional job aids and guidance to address issues such as duplicate voter records, records of potentially deceased voters on the voter rolls, pending applications, and records retention. See Auditor General's Performance Audit Report.<sup>77</sup>

124. In addition to the Findings, the Performance Audit Report contained specific detailed Recommendations to correct the significant deficiencies identified in the Findings of the Performance Audit Report.

125. In 2018, Secretary Boockvar was quoted as stating "Rock the Vote's web tool was connected to our system, making the process of registering through their online programs, and those of their partners, seamless for voters across Pennsylvania."<sup>78</sup>

126. In addition, Plaintiffs have obtained a sworn Affidavit from Jesse Richard Morgan, who was contracted to haul mail for the United States Postal Service within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Mr. Morgan's Affidavit alleges that he was directed to transport from New York to Pennsylvania what he believes to be completed Pennsylvania ballots in the 2020 General Election.<sup>79</sup>

127. Plaintiffs based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations that this matter is currently under investigation by various entities and that such investigation is essential to the determination of whether or not approximately 200,000 ballots were delivered into the Pennsylvania System improperly or illegally. Pending such determination, there is no possible way that the validity of Pennsylvania's Presidential Election could possibly be certified by anyone.

128. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, there is evidence of possible back-dating of ballots in the United States Postal facility at Erie, Pennsylvania. And, further, Francis X. Ryan's Report, discussed in detail below, evidences thousands of questionable or improper ballots cast in the 2020 Presidential Election in Pennsylvania.<sup>80</sup>

129. In addition, Plaintiffs have obtained a Declaration from Ingmar Njus in support of Mr. Morgan's Affidavit.<sup>81</sup>

130. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in the run-up to the election, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court usurped the powers of the General Assembly when it permitted county boards of election to accept hand-delivered mail-in ballots at locations other than the respective offices of the boards of election, including through the use of drop-boxes arbitrarily located

131. In the same Opinion, the Court held that "although the Election Code provides the procedure for casting and counting a vote by mail, it does not provide for the 'notice and opportunity to cure' ..."<sup>83</sup>

132. The Court went on to state "... we agree that the decision to provide a 'notice and opportunity to cure' procedure ... is one best suited for the Legislature."<sup>84</sup>

133. Of note, Secretary Boockvar agreed with the Court that Pennsylvania's Election Code does not provide a notice and opportunity to cure procedure.

134. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, despite the lack of any statutory authorization or legal authority, county boards of elections in democratic counties, such as, Montgomery County, routinely helped identify, facilitate and permitted electors to alter their defective absentee and mail-in ballots in violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code.<sup>85</sup>

135. In an October 31, 2020, e-mail, Frank Dean, Director of Mail-in Elections of Montgomery County emailed the latest list of confidential elector information to two other Montgomery County election officials, Lee Soltysiak and Josh Stein, and wrote:

136. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, there is no authority within Pennsylvania's Election Code that authorizes election officials to manually alter the information contained within the SURE system for the purposes described by Director Dean.

137. In order to cancel or replace an elector's absentee or mail-in ballot, election officials would be required to manually alter or override the information contained in the Commonwealth's Statewide Uniform Registry of Electors ("SURE").

138. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, there is no authority within Pennsylvania's Election Code that authorizes election officials to cancel and/or replace an elector's absentee or mail-in ballot as described by Director Dean.

139. Further, based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in violation of electors' right to secrecy in their ballots, election officials in democratic counties, such as Montgomery County, used the information gathered through their inspection of the ballot envelopes to identify the names of electors who had cast defective absentee or mail-in ballot envelopes.<sup>86</sup>

140. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the Excel spreadsheet attached to Director Dean's October 31, 2020, e-mail notes that when mail-in or absentee ballot envelopes were found to be defective, some electors were provided with the opportunity to alter their ballot envelopes.

141. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the photograph below shows some of the thousands of absentee and mail-in ballots pre-canvassed by the Montgomery County Board of Elections in violation of the Election Code.<sup>87</sup> These defective ballots were not secured in any way and were easily accessible to the public.<sup>88</sup>

142. Further, based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the next picture shows page 1 or 124 pages that include thousands of defective ballot envelopes that Montgomery County elections officials were trying to "cure" in violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code and Constitution.

143. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in a further effort to circumvent Pennsylvania's Election Code and the prohibition against efforts to "cure" absentee ballot envelopes, Secretary Boockvar, issued guidance, through Jonathan Marks, the Deputy Secretary of Elections and Commissions, just hours before Election Day directing county boards of elections to provide electors who have cast defective absentee or mail-in ballots with provisional ballots and to promptly update the SURE system.

144. The Deputy Secretary for Elections and Commissions issued an email which stated:

Subject: Important DOS Email - Clarification regarding Ballots Set Aside During Pre-canvass

Dear County Election Directors,

The Department of State has been asked whether county boards of elections can provide information to authorized representatives and representatives of political parties during the pre-canvass about voters whose absentee and mail-in ballots have been rejected. The Department issued provisional ballot guidance on October 21, 2020, that explains that voters whose completed absentee or mail-in ballots are rejected by the county board for reasons unrelated to voter qualifications may be issued a provisional ballot. To facilitate communication with these voters, the county boards of elections should provide information to party and candidate representatives during the pre-canvass that identifies the voters whose ballots have been rejected and should promptly update the SURE system.

Kind regards,

Jonathan M. Marks
Deputy Secretary for Elections & Commissions
Pennsylvania Department of State

145. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in order to obtain a provisional ballot on Election Day, an elector who previously requested an absentee or mail-in ballot must sign an affidavit stating "I do solemnly swear or affirm that my name is ... and that this is the only ballot that I cast in this election."<sup>89</sup>

146. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, if an elector has already submitted an absentee or mail-in ballot and that ballot was received by his or her county board of elections, the elector cannot truthfully affirm that the provisional ballot is the only ballot cast by them in the election. The provisional ballot would in fact be a second ballot cast by the elector.

147. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Secretary Boockvar's actions appear conveniently timed with the actions of the Democratic Party who apparently considered the matter to be URGENT.

148. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Deputy Secretary Marks issued his email at 8:38 p.m. on November 2, 2020, on the eve of Election Day. Under the Election Code, provisional ballots are only used on Election Day. Less than twelve hours after Deputy Secretary Marks' email, the Democratic Party had printed handbills telling electors "Public records show that your ballot had errors and was not accepted." and to "Go in person to vote at your polling place today by 8:00 EST and ask for a provisional ballot."

149. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the effect to utilize provisional ballots to "cure" defective absentee and mail-in ballots is in clear violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code. The number of provisional ballots cast in Pennsylvania is approximately 90,000 which is significantly higher than previous General Elections.

150. Further, based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, it is not clear what Deputy Secretary Marks intended when he stated "To facilitate communication with these voters, the county boards of elections should provide information to party and candidate representatives during the pre-canvassing that identifies the voters whose ballots have been rejected and should promptly update the SURE system."

151. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Pennsylvania's Election Code makes no provision for the acceptance or rejection of ballots during the pre-canvassing process, nor does the Election Code provide boards of elections with the authority to "update the SURE system" so that an electors who previously submitted an absentee or mail-in ballot may vote with a provisional ballot.

152. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that county boards of elections are prohibited from using signature comparison to challenge and reject absentee or mail-in ballots.<sup>90</sup>

153. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the Court's decision is contrary to the applicable provisions of Pennsylvania's Election Code.

154. In addition, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that county boards of elections could prevent and exclude designated representatives of the candidates and political parties, who are authorized by the Election Code to observe the pre-canvassing and canvassing of ballots, from being in the room during pre-canvassing and canvassing of ballots.<sup>91</sup>

155. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in predominantly Democratic counties, such as Philadelphia, Delaware and Montgomery Counties, authorized representative of the candidates and the Republican Party attempted to observe the actions of election officials; however, the authorized representatives were routinely denied the access necessary to properly observe the handling of ballot envelopes and ballots during the pre-canvassing and canvassing process.

156. Plaintiffs have obtained a sworn Affidavit from Gregory Stenstrom, who was appointed by the Delaware County Republican Party to observe the election process within Delaware County. Mr. Stenstrom attests to numerous election code violations by the Delaware County Board of Elections. Plaintiffs have numerous other Declarations regarding similar election code violations in other predominantly Democratic counties.<sup>92</sup>

157. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, absentee and mail-in ballots are required to be canvassed in accordance with subsection (g) of Section 3146.8 - Canvassing of official absentee and mail-in ballots.<sup>93</sup>

158. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, Pennsylvania's Election Code defines the term "pre-canvass" to mean "the inspection and opening of all envelopes containing official absentee ballots or mail-in ballots, the removal of such ballots from the envelopes and the counting, computing and tallying of the votes reflected on the ballots. The term does not include the recording or publishing of the votes reflected on the ballots."<sup>94</sup>

159. Prior to any pre-canvassing meeting, county boards of elections are required to provide at least forty-eight hours' notice by publicly posting a notice of a pre-canvass meeting on its publicly accessible Internet website.<sup>95</sup>

160. Each candidate and political party is entitled to have one designated and authorized representative in the room any time absentee and mail-in ballots are being canvassed by a board of elections.<sup>96</sup>

161. The candidates' watchers or other representatives are permitted to be present any time the envelopes containing absentee and mail-in ballots are opened.<sup>97</sup>

162. The candidates and political parties are entitled to have watchers present any time there is canvassing of returns.<sup>98</sup>

163. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in predominantly Democratic counties, such as Montgomery, election would weigh absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes to determine whether secrecy envelopes were contained within the outer envelopes. Election officials would also review and inspect the absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes to determine whether they complied with the requirements of the Election Code.

164. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, this pre-canvassing of ballot envelopes is in direct violation of Pennsylvania's Election Code.

165. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, under the Election Code, county boards of elections are required, upon receipt of sealed official absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes, to

"safely keep the ballots in sealed or locked containers until they are to be canvassed by the county board of elections."<sup>99</sup>

166. County boards of elections are prohibited from pre-canvassing absentee and mail-in ballots prior to 7:00 a.m. of Election Day.<sup>100</sup>

167. As such, from the time ballot envelopes are received by county boards of elections through 7:00 a.m. on Election Day, the ballot envelopes are to be safely kept in sealed or locked containers.<sup>101</sup> Stated in a different way, county boards of elections are not permitted to remove absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes from their sealed or locked containers until the ballots are pre-canvassed at 7:00 a.m. on Election Day.

168. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that county boards of elections were not required to enforce or follow Pennsylvania's Election Code requirements for absentee and mail-in ballot envelopes, including the requirements related to elector signatures, addresses, dates, and signed declarations.<sup>102</sup>

169. During pre-canvassing, county boards of elections are required to examine each ballot cast to determine if the declaration envelope is properly completed and to compare the information with the information contained in the Registered Absentee and Mail-in Voters File.<sup>103</sup>

170. Only then are county boards of elections authorized to open the outer envelope of every unchallenged absentee or mail-in envelope in such a manner so as not to destroy the declaration executed thereon.<sup>104</sup>

171. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, in predominantly Democratic counties, such as Allegheny County, election officials disregarded the requirements of the Election Code and counted absentee and mail-in ballot ballots with defective elector signatures, addresses, dates, and signed declarations.<sup>105</sup> In other counties, such as Westmoreland, such ballots were not counted by the county board of elections.

172. In addition to substantial evidence of the violations of Pennsylvania's Election Code, as set forth above, Plaintiffs have produced an expert report authored by Francis X. Ryan who could testify and identify significant and dispositive discrepancies and errors which call into questions the results of the Presidential Election in Pennsylvania.<sup>106</sup>

173. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, as described above, the 2020 General Election in Pennsylvania was fraught with numerous violations of Pennsylvania's Election Code perpetrated by predominantly Democratic county election officials. In addition, there are countless documented election irregularities and improprieties that prevent an accurate accounting of the election results in the Presidential election.

174. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, many of the irregularities directly relate to the county boards of elections' handing of absentee and mail-in ballots; the pre-canvassing and canvassing of ballots; the failure to permit legally appropriate and adequate oversight and transparency of the process; and, the failure to maintain and secure ballot integrity and security throughout the election process.

175. Based on Pennsylvania voters' allegations, as such, the 2020 General Election results are so severely flawed that it is impossible to certify the accuracy of the purported results.

176. Based on analysis by data analyst Matthew Braynard and Professor Steven J. Miller, in Pennsylvania, the government data shows election officials’ absentee ballot errors of 121,297 far exceed the margin of victory of 81,749.<sup>107</sup>

177. According to the Braynard-Miller analysis, the government data shows election officials’ absentee ballot error rate of at least 1.43% which far exceeds federal law’s pre-election certification error rate for voting systems’ hardware and software of 0.0008%.<sup>108</sup>

178. State of Georgia voters allege election official errors and improprieties which exceed the Presidential vote margin.

179. Georgia has 16 electoral votes, with a statewide vote tally currently estimated at 2,458,121 for President Trump and 2,472,098 for former Vice President Biden, a margin of approximately 12,670 votes.

180. The number of votes affected by the various constitutional violations exceeds the margin of votes dividing the candidates.

181. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, Georgia's Secretary of State, Brad Raffensperger, without legislative approval, unilaterally abrogated Georgia's statute governing the signature verification process for absentee ballots.<sup>115</sup>

182. O.C.G.A. § 21-2-386(a)(2) prohibits the opening of absentee ballots until after the polls open on Election Day: In April 2020, however, the State Election Board adopted Secretary of State Rule 183-1-14-0.9-.15, Processing Ballots Prior to Election Day.

183. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, that rule purports to authorize county election officials to begin processing absentee ballots up to three weeks before Election Day.

184. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, Georgia law authorizes and requires a single registrar or clerk—after reviewing the outer envelope—to reject an absentee ballot if the voter failed to sign the required oath or to provide the required information, the signature appears invalid, or the required information does not conform with the information on file, or if the voter is otherwise found ineligible to vote.<sup>116</sup>

185. Georgia law provides absentee voters the chance to “cure a failure to sign the oath, an invalid signature, or missing information” on a ballot’s outer envelope by the deadline for verifying provisional ballots (i.e., three days after the election).<sup>117</sup> To facilitate cures, Georgia law requires the relevant election official to notify the voter in writing: “The board of registrars or absentee ballot clerk shall promptly notify the elector of such rejection, a copy of which notification shall be retained in the files of the board of registrars or absentee ballot clerk for at least two years.”<sup>118</sup>

186. Based on Georgia voters’ allegations, on March 6, 2020, in Democratic Party of Georgia v. Raffensperger, No. 1:19-cv-5028-WMR (N.D. Ga.), Georgia’s Secretary of State entered a Compromise Settlement Agreement and Release with the Democratic Party of Georgia (the “Settlement”) to materially change the statutory requirements for reviewing signatures on absentee ballot envelopes to confirm the voter’s identity by making it far more difficult to challenge defective signatures<sup>119</sup> beyond the express mandatory procedures.<sup>120</sup>

187. Based on Georgia voters’ allegations, among other things, before a ballot could be rejected, the Settlement required a registrar who found a defective signature to now seek a review by two other registrars, and only if a majority of the registrars agreed that the signature was defective could the ballot be rejected but not before all three registrars’ names were written on the ballot envelope along with the reason for the rejection. These cumbersome procedures are in direct conflict with Georgia's statutory requirements, as is the Settlement's requirement that notice be provided by telephone (i.e., not in writing) if a telephone number is available. Finally, the Settlement purports to require election officials to consider issuing guidance and training materials drafted by an expert retained by the Democratic Party of Georgia.

188. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, Georgia's legislature has not ratified these material changes to statutory law mandated by the Compromise Settlement Agreement and Release, including altered signature verification requirements and early opening of ballots. The relevant legislation that was violated by Compromise Settlement Agreement and Release did not include a severability clause.

189. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, this unconstitutional change in Georgia law materially benefitted former Vice President Biden. According to the Georgia Secretary of State's office, former Vice President Biden had almost double the number of absentee votes (65.32%) as President Trump (34.68%).

190. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, specifically, there were 1,305,659 absentee mail-in ballots submitted in Georgia in 2020. There were 4,786 absentee ballots rejected in 2020. This is a rejection rate of .37%. In contrast, in 2016, the 2016 rejection rate was 6.42% with 13,677 absentee mail-in ballots being rejected out of 213,033 submitted, which more than seventeen times greater than in 2020.<sup>121</sup>

191. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, if the rejection rate of mailed-in absentee ballots remained the same in 2020 as it was in 2016, there would be 83,517 less tabulated ballots in 2020. The statewide split of absentee ballots was 34.68% for Trump and 65.2% for Biden. Rejecting at the higher 2016 rate with the 2020 split between Trump and Biden would decrease Trump votes

by 28,965 and Biden votes by 54,552, which would be a net gain for Trump of 25,587 votes. This would be more than needed to overcome the Biden advantage of 12,670 votes, and Trump would win by 12,917 votes. Regardless of the number of ballots affected, however, the non-legislative changes to the election rules violated Article II.

192. Further, based on Georgia voters' allegations, the Zuckerberg-funded absentee drop boxes caused a disparate impact in Georgia.<sup>122</sup>

194. Georgia has 300 total drop boxes for electors to submit absentee ballots.<sup>126</sup>

195. In 2020, Georgia counties utilized CTCL funding to install additional drop boxes in areas that would make it easier for voters to cast their absentee ballot. The four counties won by the Clinton campaign contain a plurality of the drop boxes.

196. Fulton County was home to 39 drop boxes<sup>127</sup>, Cobb County provided 16 drop boxes,<sup>128</sup> 23 drop boxes in Gwinnett County<sup>129</sup>, and Dekalb County has 34 boxes.<sup>130</sup>

197. These four localities account for 112 drop boxes, spread out over 1,587 square miles.<sup>131</sup> Meaning, voters in these four Clinton strongholds have one drop box for every 14 square miles. Meanwhile, in the remaining 155 counties, spread out over 55,926 square miles, a republican voter will find one drop box for every 294 square miles.

198. Based on Georgia voters' allegations, the effect of this unconstitutional change in Georgia election law, which made it more likely that ballots without matching signatures would be counted, had a material impact on the outcome of the election.<sup>132</sup>

199. Finally, in Georgia, analysis of government data by data analyst Matthew Braynard and Professor Qianying (Jennie) Zhang shows election officials' absentee ballot errors of 204,143 far exceed the margin of victory of 12,670.<sup>133</sup>

200. And, the Braynard-Zhang analysis of the government data shows election officials' absentee ballot error rate of at least 1.28% which far exceeds federal law's pre-election certification error rate for voting systems' hardware and software of 0.0008%.<sup>134</sup>

202. Michigan has 16 electoral votes, with a statewide vote tally currently estimated at 2,650,695 for President Trump and 2,796,702 for former Vice President Biden, a margin of 146,007 votes. In Wayne County, Mr. Biden's margin (322,925 votes) significantly exceeds his statewide lead.

203. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the number of votes affected by the various constitutional violations exceeds the margin of votes dividing the candidates.

204. Michigan law generally allows the public the right to observe the counting of ballots. See MCL 168.765a(12) ("At all times, at least 1 election inspector from each major political party must be present at the absent voter counting place and the policies and procedures adopted by the secretary of state regarding the counting of absent voter ballots must be followed.").

205. The Michigan Constitution provides all lawful voters with "[t]he right to have the results of statewide elections audited, in such a manner as prescribed by law, to ensure the accuracy and integrity of elections."<sup>141</sup>

206. Indeed, "[a]ll rights set forth in this subsection shall be self-executing. This subsection shall be liberally construed in favor of voters' rights in order to effectuate its purposes."<sup>142</sup>

207. The public's right to observe applies to counting both in-person and absentee ballots.<sup>143</sup>

<sup>143</sup> Regrettably, Defendants and their agents have exclusive possession of the ballots, ballot boxes, and other indicia of voting irregularities so a meaningful audit cannot timely occur. Normally, "[a] person requesting access to voted ballots is entitled to a response from the public body within 5 to 10 business days; however, the public body in possession of the ballots may not provide access for inspection or copying until 30 days after certification of the election by the relevant board of canvassers." Op. Atty. Gen. 2010, No. 7247, 2010 WL 2710362.

208. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Michigan's election officials failed to grant meaningful observation opportunities to the public over the absentee ballots.<sup>144</sup>

209. Wayne County is the most populous county in Michigan.

210. Detroit is the largest city in Wayne County.

211. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the City of Detroit's observation procedures, for example, failed to ensure transparency and integrity as it did not allow the public to see election officials during key points of absentee ballot processing in the AVCBs at TCF Arena (f/k/a Cobo Hall). Id.

212. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these irregularities were repeated elsewhere in Wayne County, including in Canton Township, and throughout the State.<sup>145</sup>

213. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, for instance, when absentee ballots arrived, the ballots should have been in an envelope, signed, sealed (and delivered) by the actual voter. Often it was not.

214. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, ballots were taken from their envelopes and inspected to determine whether any deficiencies would obstruct the ballot from being fed through a tabulation machine. If any deficiencies existed (or were created by tampering), the ballot was hand duplicated.

215. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Democrat officials and election workers repeatedly scanned ballots in high-speed scanners, often counting the same ballot more than once.<sup>146</sup>

216. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the evidence will also show that these hand duplication efforts ignored the legislative mandate to have one person from each major party sign every duplicated vote (i.e., one Republican and one Democrat had to sign each "duplicated" ballot and record it in the official poll book).

217. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, several poll watchers, inspectors, and other whistleblowers witnessed the surge of unlawful practices described above.<sup>147</sup>

218. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these unlawful practices provided cover for careless or unscrupulous officials or workers to mark choices for any unfilled elections or questions on the ballot, potentially and substantially affecting down ballot races where there are often significant undervotes, or causing the ballots to be discarded due to overvotes.

Based on Michigan voters' allegations, on election day, election officials at the TCF Center systematically processed and counted ballots from voters whose names failed to appear in either the Qualified Voter File ("QVF") or in the supplemental sheets. When a voter's name could not be found, the election worker assigned the ballot to a random name already in the QVF to a person who had not voted.<sup>150</sup>

221. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, on election day, election officials at the TCF Center instructed election workers to not verify signatures on absentee ballots, to backdate absentee ballots, and to process such ballots regardless of their validity.<sup>151</sup>

222. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, after the statutory deadlines passed and local officials had announced the last absentee ballots had been received, another batch of unsecured and unsealed ballots, without envelopes, arrived in unsecure trays at the TCF Center.

223. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, there were tens of thousands of these late-arriving absentee ballots, and apparently every ballot was counted and attributed only to Democratic candidates.<sup>152</sup>

224. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials at the TCF Center instructed election workers to process ballots that appeared after the election deadline and to inaccurately report or backdate those ballots as having been received before the November 3, 2020, deadline.<sup>153</sup>

systematically used inaccurate information to process ballots.<sup>154</sup>

226. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, many times, the election workers overrode the software by inserting new names into the QVF after the election deadline or recording these new voters as having a birthdate of "1/1/1900," which is the "default" birthday.<sup>155</sup>

227. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, each day before the election, City of Detroit election workers and employees coached voters to vote for Joe Biden and the Democratic Party candidates.<sup>156</sup>

228. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these workers, employees, and so-called consultants encouraged voters to vote a straight Democratic Party ticket. These election workers went over to the voting booths with voters to watch them vote and to coach them as to which candidates they should vote for.<sup>157</sup>

231. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials repeatedly obstructed poll challengers from observing.<sup>160</sup>

232. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials violated the plain language of the law MCL 168.765a by permitting thousands of ballots to be filled out by hand and duplicated on site without oversight from bipartisan poll challengers.

233. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, after poll challengers started uncovering the statutory violations at the TCF Center, election officials and workers locked credentialed challengers out of the counting room so they could not observe the process, during which time tens of thousands of ballots, if not more, were improperly processed.<sup>161</sup>

234. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in September, the Detroit City council approved a $1 million contract for the staffing firm P.I.E. Management, LLC to hire up to 2,000 workers to work the polls and to staff the ballot counting machines at the TCF Center. P.I.E. Management, LLC is owned and controlled by a Democratic Party operative.

235. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, a week after approval, P.I.E. Management, LLC began advertising for workers, stating, "Candidates must be 16 years or older. Candidates are required to attend a 3-hour training session before the General Election. The position offers two shifts and pay-rates: 1) From 7 am to 7 pm at $600.00; and 2) From 10 pm to 6 am at $650."

Consequently, these temporary workers were earning at least $50 per hour—far exceeding prevailing rates at most rural communities.

236. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the evidence exists to show that this money and much more came from a single private source: Mark Zuckerberg and his spouse, through the charity called Center for Tech and Civic Life (CTCL), which paid over $400 million nationwide to Democrat-favoring election officials and municipalities.<sup>162</sup>

237. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the improper private funding to Michigan exceeded $9.8 million.<sup>163</sup>

c. Michigan Voter Allege Forging Ballots on the QVF

238. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whistleblowers observed election officials processing ballots at the TCF Center without confirming that the voter was eligible to vote.<sup>164</sup>

239. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whistleblowers observed election officials assigning ballots to different voters, causing a ballot being counted for a non-eligible voter by assigning it to a voter in the QVF who had not yet voted.<sup>165</sup>

d. Michigan Voters Allege Changing Dates on Ballots

240. All lawful absentee ballots were supposed to be in the QVF system by 9:00 p.m. on November 3, 2020.

242. To have enough time to process the absentee ballots, election officials told polling locations to collect the absentee ballots from the drop-boxes every hour on November 3, 2020.

243. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, on November 4, 2020, a City of Detroit election whistleblower at the TCF Center was told to improperly pre-date the receive date for absentee ballots that were not in the QVF as if they had been received on or before November 3, 2020. The Whistleblower swore she was told to alter the information in the QVF to inaccurately show that the absentee ballots had been timely received. She estimates that this was done to thousands of ballots.<sup>166</sup>

e. Michigan Voters allege Double Voting.

244. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, an election worker in the City of Detroit observed several people who came to the polling place to vote in-person, but they had already applied for an absentee ballot.<sup>167</sup>

245. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials allowed these people to vote in-person, and they did not require them to return the mailed absentee ballot or sign an affidavit that the voter lost or "spoiled" the mailed absentee ballot as required by law and policy.

246. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, this illicit process allowed people to vote in person and to send in an absentee ballot, thereby voting twice. This "double voting" was made possible by the unlawful ways in which election officials were counting and inputting ballots at the TCF Center from across the City's several polling places.

247. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the Secretary of State's absentee ballot scheme exacerbated this "double voting," as set forth further in this Petition.<sup>168</sup>

f. Michigan Voters Allege Problems With First Wave of New Ballots at TCF Center.

248. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, early in the morning of November 4, 2020, tens of thousands of ballots were suddenly brought into the counting room at the TCF Center through the back door.<sup>169</sup>

249. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these new ballots were brought to the TCF Center by vehicles with out-of-state license plates.<sup>170</sup>

250. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whistleblowers claim that all of these new ballots were cast for Joe Biden.<sup>171</sup>

251. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these ballots still do not share or have the markings establishing the proper chain of custody from valid precincts and clerks and are among the approximately 70% of unmatched AVCB errors identified by Palmer and Hartmann.

g. Michigan Voters Allege Problems With Second Wave of New Ballots at TCF Center.

252. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the ballot counters needed to check every ballot to confirm that the name on the ballot matched the name on the electronic poll list—the list of all persons who had registered to vote on or before November 1, 2020 (the QVF).

253. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the ballot counters were also provided with supplemental sheets which had the names of all persons who had registered to vote on either November 2, 2020 or November 3, 2020.

254. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the validation process for a ballot requires the name on the ballot match with a registered voter on either the QVF or the supplemental sheets.

255. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, at around 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 4, 2020, several more boxes of ballots were brought to the TCF Center. This was a second wave of new ballots.

256. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials instructed the ballot counters to use the "default" date of birth of January 1, 1900, on all of these newly appearing ballots.<sup>172</sup>

257. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, none of the names on these new ballots corresponded with any registered voter on the QVF or the supplemental sheets.<sup>173</sup>

258. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, despite election rules requiring all absentee ballots to be inputted into the QVF system before 9:00 p.m. the day before, election workers inputted these new ballots into the QVF, manually adding each voter to the list after the deadline.

259. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, almost all of these new ballots were entered into the QVF using the "default" date of birth of January 1, 1900.<sup>174</sup>

260. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these newly received ballots were either fabricated or apparently cast by persons who were not registered to vote before the polls closed at 8:00 p.m. on election day.

262. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, this means there were more votes tabulated than there were ballots in over 71% of the 134 AVCBs in Detroit. That equates to over 95 AVCB being significantly "off." Id.

263. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, according to public testimony before the state canvassers on November 23, City of Detroit Election Consultant Daniel Baxter admitted in some instances the imbalances exceeded 600 votes per AVCB. He did not reveal the total disparity.

h. Michigan Voters Allege a Concealment of the Malfeasance in Violation of Michigan law.

264. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, many election challengers were denied access to observe the counting process by election officials at the TCF Center.<sup>176</sup>

265. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, after denying access to the counting rooms, election officials at the TCF Center used large pieces of cardboard to block the windows to the counting room, thereby preventing anyone from watching the ballot counting process.<sup>177</sup>

266. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials have continued to conceal their efforts by refusing meaningful bipartisan access to inspect the ballots. Even if Republicans were involved in oversight roles by statute (such as with the Wayne County Canvassing Board), the Republican members have been harassed, threatened, and doxed (including publicly revealing where their children go to school) to pressure them to capitulate and violate their statutory duties. This conduct is beyond the pale and shocking to the conscience.<sup>178</sup>

i. Michigan voters allege unsecured QVF Access further Violating MCL 168.765a, et seq.

267. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, whenever an absentee voter application or in-person absentee voter registration was finished, election workers at the TCF Center were instructed to input the voter's name, address, and date of birth into the QVF system.

268. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the QVF system can be accessed and edited by any election processor with proper credentials in the State of Michigan at any time and from any location with Internet access.

269. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, this access permits anyone with the proper credentials to edit when ballots were sent, received, and processed from any location with Internet access.

270. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, many of the counting computers within the counting room had icons that revealed that they were connected to the Internet.

271. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Secretary of State Benson executed a contract to give a private partisan group, Rock the Vote, unfettered real-time access to Michigan's QVF.<sup>179</sup>

272. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Benson sold or gave Michigan citizens' private voter information to private groups in furtherance of her own partisan goals.

273. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Benson and the State repeatedly concealed this unlawful contract and have refused to tender a copy despite several lawful requests for the government contract under FOIA.

274. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, improper access to the QVF was one of the chief categories of serious concern identified by the Michigan Auditor General's Report.<sup>180</sup>

275. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, a poll challenger witnessed tens of thousands of ballots, and possibly more, being delivered to the TCF Center that were not in any approved, sealed, or tamper-proof container.

278. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, some ballots were found unsecured on the public sidewalk outside the Department of Elections in the City of Detroit, reinforcing the claim that boxes of ballots arrived at the TCF Center unsealed, with no chain of custody, and with no official markings. A photograph of ballots found on the sidewalk outside the Department of Elections appears below:

was done. This was not a secured drop-box with video surveillance. To encourage this practice, free food and beverages were provided to those who dropped off their ballots using this method.<sup>183</sup>

j. Michigan Voters Allege a Breaking of the Seal of Secrecy Undermines Constitutional Liberties under Michigan Constitution Art 2, § 4(1)(a).

280. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, many times, election officials at the TCF Center broke the seal of secrecy for ballots to check which candidates the individual voted for on his or her ballot, thereby violating the voter's expectation of privacy.<sup>184</sup>

281. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, voters in Michigan have a constitutional right to open elections, and the Michigan Legislature provided them the right to vote in secret. The election officials' conduct, together with others, violates both of these hallmark principles.<sup>185</sup>

282. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in Michigan, it is well-settled that the election process is supposed to be transparent and the voter's ballot secret, not the other way around.

283. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the election officials' absentee ballot scheme has improperly revealed voters' preferences exposing Petitioners' and similarly-situated voters to dilution or spoliation while simultaneously obfuscating the inner workings of the election process.

284. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, now the Michigan election officials seek to perform an "audit" on themselves.

k. Michigan Voters Allege Statewide Irregularities Over Absentee Ballots Reveal Widespread Mistake or Fraud.

285. When a person requested an absentee ballot either by mail or in-person, that person needed to sign the absentee voter application.

286. When the voter returned their absentee ballot to be counted, the voter was required to sign the outside of the envelope that contained the ballot.

287. Election officials who process absentee ballots are required to compare the signature on the absentee ballot application with the signature on the absentee ballot envelope.<sup>186</sup>

288. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials at the TCF Center, for example, instructed workers not to validate or compare signatures on absentee ballot applications and absentee ballot envelopes to ensure their authenticity and validity.<sup>187</sup>

289. Michigan law requires absentee votes to be counted by election inspectors in a particular manner. It requires, in relevant part:

(10) The oaths administered under subsection (9) must be placed in an envelope provided for the purpose and sealed with the red state seal. Following the election, the oaths must be delivered to the city or township clerk. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (12), a person in attendance at the absent voter counting place or combined absent voter counting place shall not leave the counting place after the tallying has begun until the polls close. Subject to this subsection, the clerk of a city or township may allow the election inspectors appointed to an absent voter counting board in that city or township to work in shifts. A second or subsequent shift of election inspectors appointed for an absent voter counting board may begin that shift at any time on election day as provided by the city or township clerk. However, an election inspector shall not leave the absent voter counting place after the tallying has begun until the polls close. If the election inspectors appointed to an absent voter counting board are authorized to work in shifts, at no time shall there be a gap between shifts and the election inspectors must never leave the absent voter ballots unattended. At all times, at least 1 election inspector from each major political party must be present at the absent voter counting place and the policies and procedures adopted by the secretary of state regarding the counting of absent voter ballots must be followed. A person who causes the polls to be closed or who discloses an election result or in any manner characterizes how any ballot being counted has been voted in a voting precinct before the time the polls can be legally closed on election day is guilty of a felony.<sup>188</sup>

290. Under MCL 168.31, the Secretary of State can issue instructions and rules consistent with Michigan statutes and the Constitution that bind local election authorities. Likewise, under

MCL 168.765a(13), the Secretary can develop instructions consistent with the law for the conduct of Absent Voter Counting Boards (“AVCB”) or combined AVCBs. “The instructions developed under [] subsection [13] are binding upon the operation of an absent voter counting board or combined absent voter counting board used in an election conducted by a county, city, or township.”<sup>189</sup>

291. Benson also promulgated an election manual that requires bipartisan oversight:

Each ballot rejected by the tabulator must be visually inspected by an election inspector to verify the reason for the rejection. If the rejection is due to a false read the ballot must be duplicated by two election inspectors who have expressed a preference for different political parties. Duplications may not be made until after 8 p.m. in the precinct (place the ballot requiring duplication in the auxiliary bin). At an AV counting board duplications can be completed throughout the day. NOTE: The Bureau of Elections has developed a video training series that summarizes key election day management issues, including a video on Duplicating Ballots. These videos can be accessed at the Bureau of Elections web site at www.michigan.gov/elections; under “Information for Election Administrators”; Election Day Management Training Videos. Election Officials Manual, Michigan Bureau of Elections, Chapter 8, last revised October 2020.<sup>190</sup>

292. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, election officials at the TCF Center flouted § 168.765a because there were not, at all times, at least one inspector from each political party at the absentee voter counting place. Rather, the many tables assigned to precincts under the authority of the AVCB were staffed by inspectors for only one party. Those inspectors alone were deciding on the processing and counting of ballots.<sup>191</sup>

293. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, this processing included the filling out of brand new “cure” or “duplicate” ballots. The process the election officials sanctioned worked in this way. When an absentee ballot was processed and approved for counting, it was fed into a counting machine. Some ballots were rejected—that is, they were a “false read”—because of tears, staining

(such as coffee spills), over-votes, and other errors. In some of these cases, inspectors could visually inspect the rejected ballot and determine what was causing the machine to find a “false read.” When this happened, the inspectors could duplicate the ballot, expressing the voter’s intent in a new ballot that could then be fed into the machine and counted.

294. Under § 168.765a and the Secretary of State’s controlling manual, as cited above, an inspector from each major party must be present and must sign to show that they approve of the duplication.

295. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, rather than following this controlling mandate, the AVCB was allowing a Democratic Party inspector only to fill out a duplicate. Republicans would sign only “if possible.”<sup>192</sup> A photograph evidencing this illicit process appears below:

296. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, the TCF Center election officials allowed hundreds or thousands of ballots to be “duplicated” solely by the Democratic Party inspectors and then counted in violation of Michigan election law.<sup>193</sup>

297. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, according to eyewitness accounts, election officials at the TCF Center habitually and systematically disallowed election inspectors from the Republican Party to be present in the voter counting place and refused access to election inspectors from the Republican party to be within a close enough distance from the absentee voter ballots to see for whom the ballots were cast.

298. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, election officials at the TCF Center refused entry to official election inspectors from the Republican Party into the counting place to observe the counting of absentee voter ballots. Election officials even physically blocked and obstructed election inspectors from the Republican party by adhering large pieces of cardboard to the transparent glass doors so the counting of absent voter ballots was not viewable.<sup>194</sup>

299. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, absentee ballots from military members, who tend to vote Republican in the general elections, were counted separately at the TCF Center. All (100%) of the military absentee ballots had to be duplicated by hand because the form of the ballot was such that election workers could not run them through the tabulation machines used at the TCF Center.<sup>195</sup>

300. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these military ballots were supposed to be the last ones counted, but there was another large drop of ballots that occurred during the counting of the military absentee ballots.<sup>196</sup>

301. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the military absentee ballot count at the TCF Center occurred after the Republican challengers and poll watchers were kicked out of the counting room.<sup>197</sup>

302. The Michigan Legislature also requires City Clerks to post the following absentee voting information anytime an election is conducted that involves a state or federal office:

- a. The clerk must post before 8:00 a.m. on Election Day: 1) the number of absent voter ballots distributed to absent voters 2) the number of absent voter ballots returned before Election Day and 3) the number of absent voter ballots delivered for processing.
- b. The clerk must post before 9:00 p.m. on Election Day: 1) the number of absent voter ballots returned on Election Day 2) the number of absent voter ballots returned on Election Day which were delivered for processing 3) the total number of absent voter ballots returned both before and on Election Day and 4) the total number of absent voter ballots returned both before and on Election Day which were delivered for processing.
- c. The clerk must post immediately after all precinct returns are complete: 1) the total number of absent voter ballots returned by voters and 2) the total number of absent voter ballots received for processing.<sup>198</sup>

303. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the clerk for the City of Detroit failed to post by 8:00 a.m. on "Election Day" the number of absentee ballots distributed to absent voters and failed to post before 9:00 p.m. the number of absent voter ballots returned both before and on "Election Day."

304. According to Michigan Election law, all absentee voter ballots must be returned to the clerk before polls close at 8 p.m.<sup>199</sup> Any absentee voter ballots received by the clerk after the close of the polls on election day should not be counted.

305. The Michigan Legislature allows for early counting of absentee votes before the closings of the polls for large jurisdictions, such as the City of Detroit and Wayne County.

306. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, receiving tens of thousands more absentee ballots in the early morning hours after Election Day and after the counting of the absentee ballots had already concluded, without proper oversight, with tens of thousands of ballots attributed to just one candidate, Joe Biden, confirms that election officials failed to follow proper election protocols and established Michigan election law.<sup>200</sup>

307. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, missing the statutory deadline proscribed by the Michigan Legislature for turning in the absentee ballot or timely updating the QVF invalidates the vote under Michigan Election Law and the United States Constitution.

308. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, poll challengers observed election workers and supervisors writing on ballots themselves to alter them, apparently manipulating spoiled ballots by hand and then counting the ballots as valid, counting the same ballot more than once, adding information to incomplete affidavits accompanying absentee ballots, counting absentee ballots returned late, counting unvalidated and unreliable ballots, and counting the ballots of "voters" who had no recorded birthdates and were not registered in the QVF or on any supplemental sheets.<sup>201</sup>

310. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Secretary of State Benson's absentee ballot scheme, as explained above, achieved the same purpose as mail-in ballots—contrary to Michigan law. In the most charitable light, this was profoundly naïve and cut against the plain language and clear intent of the Michigan Legislature to limit fraud. More cynically, this was an intentional effort to favor her preferred candidates.

311. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, Benson put this scheme in place because it is generally understood that Republican voters were more likely to vote in-person. This trend has been true for decades and proved true with this Election too.<sup>203</sup>

312. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, to counter this (i.e., the fact that Republicans are more likely than Democrats to vote in-person), Benson implemented a scheme to permit mail-in voting, leading to this dispute and the absentee ballot scheme that unfairly favored Democrats over Republicans.

313. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in her letter accompanying her absentee ballot scheme, Benson misstated, "You have the right to vote by mail in every election." Playing on the fears created by the current pandemic, Benson encouraged voting "by email," stating, "During the outbreak of COVID-19, it also enables you to stay home and stay safe while still making your voice heard in our elections."<sup>204</sup>

314. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, prior to Election Day, the Democratic Party's propaganda was to push voters to vote by mail and to vote early. Democratic candidates used the fear of the current pandemic to promote this agenda—an agenda that would benefit Democratic Party candidates. For example, on September 14, 2020, the Democratic National Committee announced the following:

Today Biden for President and the Democratic National Committee are announcing new features on IWillVote.com—the DNC’s voter participation website—that will help voters easily request and return their ballot by mail, as well as learn important information about the voting process in their state as they make their plan to vote.

Previously, an individual could use the site to check or update their registration and find voting locations. Now the new user experience will also guide a voter through their best voting-by-mail option . . . .<sup>205</sup>

According to the Associated Press:

“We have to make it easier for everybody to be able to vote, particularly if we are still basically in the kind of lockdown circumstances we are in now,” Biden told about 650 donors. “But that takes a lot of money, and it’s going to require us to provide money for states and insist they provide mail-in ballots.”<sup>206</sup>

315. Based on Michigan voters’ allegations, similar statements were repeatedly publicly on the Secretary of State’s website:

Voters are encouraged to vote at home with an absentee ballot and to return their ballot as early as possible by drop box, in person at their city or township clerk’s office, or well in advance of the election by mail.<sup>207</sup>

316. The Michigan Legislature set forth detailed requirements for absentee ballots, and these requirements are necessary to prevent voter fraud because it is far easier to commit fraud via an absentee ballot than when voting in person.<sup>208</sup> Michigan law plainly limits the ways you may get an absentee ballot:

(1) Subject to section 761(3), at any time during the 75 days before a primary or special primary, but not later than 8 p.m. on the day of a primary or special primary, an elector may apply for an absent voter ballot. The elector shall apply in person or by mail with the clerk of

The clerk of a city or township shall not send by first-class mail an absent voter ballot to an elector after 5 p.m. on the Friday immediately before the election. Except as otherwise provided in section 761(2), the clerk of a city or township shall not issue an absent voter ballot to a registered elector in that city or township after 4 p.m. on the day before the election. An application received before a primary or special primary may be for either that primary only, or for that primary and the election that follows. An individual may submit a voter registration application and an absent voter ballot application at the same time if applying in person with the clerk or deputy clerk of the city or township in which the individual resides. Immediately after his or her voter registration application and absent voter ballot application are approved by the clerk or deputy clerk, the individual may, subject to the identification requirement in section 761(6), complete an absent voter ballot at the clerk's office.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (1) and subject to section 761(3), at any time during the 75 days before an election, but not later than 8 p.m. on the day of an election, an elector may apply for an absent voter ballot. The elector shall apply in person or by mail with the clerk of the township, city, or village in which the voter is registered. The clerk of a city or township shall not send by first-class mail an absent voter ballot to an elector after 5 p.m. on the Friday immediately before the election. 317. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the Secretary of State sent unsolicited absentee ballot applications to every household in Michigan with a registered voter, no matter if the voter was still alive or lived at that address.

318. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the Secretary of State also sent absentee ballot requests to non-residents who were temporarily living in Michigan, such as out-of-state students who are unregistered to vote in Michigan.

319. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in many instances, the Secretary of State's absentee ballot scheme led to the Secretary of State sending ballot requests to individuals who did not request them.<sup>210</sup>

o. Unsolicited ballots not cast in General Election

324. Out of the 139,190 individuals who the State's database identifies as having not requested (unsolicited) and not returned an absentee ballot, 24.14% of these absentee voters in the State did not request an absentee ballot.<sup>215</sup>

325. These data extrapolate with 99% confidence interval that between 28,932 and 38,409 of the absentee ballots the State issued were not requested by an eligible State voter (unsolicited).<sup>216</sup>

p. Absentee ballots were also cast but not properly counted (improperly destroyed or spoiled)

327. Out of the 139,190 individuals who the State's database identifies as having not returned an absentee ballot, 22.95% of those absentee voters did in fact mail back an absentee ballot to the clerk's office.<sup>218</sup>

330. Out of the 51,302 individuals that had changed their address before the election who the State's database shows as having voted, 1.38% of those individuals denied casting a ballot.<sup>220</sup>

331. This suggests that bad actors exploited election officials' unlawful practice of sending unsolicited ballots and improperly harvested ballots on a widespread scale.

332. Indeed, by not following the anti-fraud measures mandated by the Michigan Legislature, the Secretary of State's absentee ballot scheme invited the improper use of absentee ballots and promoted such unlawful practices as ballot harvesting.<sup>221</sup>

333. Using the State's databases, the databases of the several states, and the NCOA database, at least 13,248 absentee or early voters were not residents of Michigan when they voted.<sup>222</sup>

345. According to state records, at least 63 people voted absentee at PO BOX 48531, OAK PARK, MI 48237, which is registered to a professional guardian and implies improper ballot harvesting.

353. Not only were the Auditor General's red flags ignored by Benson, but she arguably made them worse through her absentee ballot scheme.

355. The abuses permitted by the Secretary of State's ballot scheme were on display at the TCF Center, and elsewhere throughout the State.

356. Because this absentee ballot scheme applied statewide, it undermined the integrity and purity of the general election statewide, and it dilutes the lawful votes of millions of Michigan voters.

359. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the 2020 election saw the evisceration of state statutes designed to treat voters equally, thereby causing disparate treatment of voters and thus violating the constitutional rights of millions of Michiganders and Americans citizens.

360. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, to date, investigations have uncovered more than $400 million funneled through a collection of non-profits directly to local government coffers nationwide dictating to these local governments how they should manage the election, often contrary to state law.<sup>240</sup>

361. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these funds were mainly used to: 1) pay "ballot harvesters" bounties, 2) fund mobile ballot pick up units, 3) deputize and pay political activists to manage ballots; 4) pay poll workers and election judges (a/k/a inspectors or adjudicators); 5) establish drop-boxes and satellite offices; 6) pay local election officials and agents "hazard pay" to recruit cities recognized as Democratic Party strongholds to recruit other cities to apply for grants from non-profits; 7) consolidate AVCBs and counting centers to facilitate the movement of hundreds of thousands of questionable ballots in secrecy without legally required bi-partisan observation; 8) implement a two-tier ballot "curing" plan that unlawfully counted ballots in Democrat Party strongholds and spoiled similarly situated ballots in Republican Party areas; and 9) subsidized and designed a scheme to remove the poll watchers from one political party so that the critical responsibility of determining the accuracy of the ballot and the integrity of the count could be done without oversight.

In turn, Congress used HAVA to create the non-regulatory Election Assistance Commission (EAC), which was delegated the responsibility of providing information, training standards, and funding management to states. The mechanism for administrating HAVA is legislatively adopted state HAVA Plans.

364. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these private funds exceeded the federal government's March 2020 appropriation under HAVA and CARES Acts to help local governments manage the general election during the pandemic.

365. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, as these unmonitored funds flowed through the pipeline directly to hand-picked cities, the outlines of two-tiered treatment of the American voter began to take place. Local governments in Democrat Party strongholds were flush with cash to launch public-private coordinated voter registration drives allowing private access directly to government voter registration files, access to early voting opportunities, the provision of incentives such as food, entertainment, and gifts for early voters, and the off-site collection of ballots. Outside the urban core and immediate suburbs, unbiased election officials were unable to start such efforts for lack of funding.

366. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, difficult to trace private firms funded this scheme through private grants, which dictated methods and procedures to local election officials and where the grantors retained the right to "claw-back" all funds if election officials failed to reach privately set benchmarks—thus entangling the private-public partnership in ways that demand transparency—yet none has been given.

Based on Michigan voters' allegations, the state officials implicated, and the private interests involved, have refused repeated demands for the release of communications outlining the rationale and plan behind spending more than $400 million provided directly to various election officials before the 2020 general election.

368. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, these funds greased the skids of Democrat-heavy areas violating mandates of the Michigan Legislature, the Michigan HAVA Plan, the dictates of Congress under HAVA, and equal protection and Separation of Powers demanded under the United States Constitution.

369. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, in Michigan specifically, CTCL had awarded eleven grants as of the time of this survey. CTCL funded cities were:

- ii. Lansing ($443,742);
- iii. East Lansing ($43,850);

373. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, a report regarding Antrim County, Michigan, alleges that Dominion Voting Systems, the election technology used by Antrim County and elsewhere, "is intentionally and purposefully designed with inherent errors to create systemic fraud and influence election results." It's unclear how Allied Security Operations Group (ASOG) reached this conclusion, however.<sup>244</sup>

374. Based on Michigan voters' allegations, likewise, the report, authored by Russell James Ramsland, Jr., who is part of ASOG's management team, says the group found an "error rate" of 68% when examining "the tabulation log" of the server for Antrim County. It's also unclear what the "error rate" data refers to specifically and how it impacts the results.<sup>245</sup>

In two counties, Milwaukee and Dane, Mr. Biden's margin (364,298 votes) significantly exceeds his statewide lead.

379. In the 2016 general election some 146,932 mail-in ballots were returned in Wisconsin out of more than 3 million votes cast. In stark contrast, 1,275,019 mail-in ballots, nearly a 900 percent increase over 2016, were returned in the November 3, 2020 election.

380. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, on November 30, 2020, Governor Tony Evers certified Joe Biden's victory in Wisconsin in a Certificate of Ascertainment, soon after he received a certification from Ann Jacobs, chairwoman of the Wisconsin Election Commission.

Jacobs signed a statement of canvass to confirm who won the election. The Wisconsin Election Commission was due to meet on Tuesday, December 1, 2020. Republican Commissioners Dean Knudson had requested that Jacobs wait until Tuesday, when the Commission was to meet, to determine the results, the statutory deadline.<sup>257</sup>

381. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, by certifying the election on her own, Jacobs usurped power that belongs to the Wisconsin Election Commission. Wisconsin Statutes § 7.70 sets forth the proper procedure for certifying Wisconsin's election results. The chairperson is required to examine the certified statements of the county board of canvassers, and obtain input from the county boards if it appears material mistakes have been made. Thereafter, under § 7.70(3)(d), the chairperson is to "examine and make a statement of the total number of votes cast at any election for the offices involved in the election for president and vice president..." Under § 7.70(3)(f), these statements are to show the "persons' names receiving votes" and "the whole number of votes given to each..." § 7.70(3)(g) states that following "each other election [other than a primary election] the chairperson of the commission or the chairperson's designee shall prepare a statement certifying the results of the election and shall attach to the statement a certificate of determination which shall indicate the names of persons who have been elected to any state or national office .... The chairperson of the commission or the chairperson's designee shall deliver each statement and determination to the commission."<sup>258</sup>

382. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, Wisconsin Statutes § 7.70(5)(b) states what is supposed to come next in a presidential election. "For presidential electors, the commission shall prepare a certificate showing the determination of the results of the canvass and the names of the persons elected, and the governor shall sign, affix the great seal of the state, and transmit the certificate by registered mail to the U.S. administrator of general services. The governor shall also prepare 6 duplicate originals of such certificate and deliver them to one of the presidential electors on or before the first Monday after the 2nd Wednesday in December.” (emphasis supplied).

383. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, as set forth clearly in the statute, Wisconsin law requires the chairperson of the commission to prepare a certificate of the votes received by each candidate in the presidential election, and transmit these results to the commission. Thereafter, the commission is required to prepare a certificate showing the names of the persons elected, and transmit this certificate to the governor. Only then is the governor authorized to transmit this certificate to the U.S. administrator of general services.

384. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, Chairwoman Jacobs certified these results, without authority, before the Wisconsin Election Commission meeting, in an attempt to bypass the Wisconsin Election Commission, who had a lawful duty to examine and certify the results for themselves. Chairwoman Jacobs’ certification is a usurpation of the statutory authority of the Wisconsin Election Commission. Furthermore, the Governor’s Certificate of Ascertainment, based on Chairwoman Jacobs’ certification, rather than the lawful certification of the Commission, is a usurpation of authority, and is legally null and void.

385. Further, based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, Wisconsin statutes guard against fraud in absentee ballots: “[V]oting by absentee ballot is a privilege exercised wholly outside the traditional safeguards of the polling place. The legislature finds that the privilege of voting by absentee ballot must be carefully regulated to prevent the potential for fraud or abuse[.]”<sup>259</sup>

386. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, in direct contravention of Wisconsin law, leading up to the 2020 general election, the Wisconsin Elections Commission ("WEC") and other local officials unconstitutionally modified Wisconsin election laws—each time taking steps that weakened, or did away with, established security procedures put in place by the Wisconsin legislature to ensure absentee ballot integrity.<sup>260</sup>

387. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, for example, the WEC undertook a campaign to position hundreds of drop boxes to collect absentee ballots—including the use of unmanned drop boxes.

388. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, the mayors of Wisconsin's five largest cities—Green Bay, Kenosha, Madison, Milwaukee, and Racine, which all have Democrat majorities—joined in this effort, and together, developed a plan use purportedly "secure drop-boxes to facilitate return of absentee ballots." Wisconsin Safe Voting Plan 2020, at 4 (June 15, 2020).<sup>261</sup>

389. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, it was alleged in an action filed in United States District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin that over five hundred unmanned, illegal, absentee ballot drop boxes were used in the Presidential election in Wisconsin.

390. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, however, the use of any drop box, manned or unmanned, is directly prohibited by Wisconsin statute. The Wisconsin legislature specifically described in the Election Code "Alternate absentee ballot site[s]" and detailed the procedure by which the governing body of a municipality may designate a site or sites for the delivery of absentee ballots "other than the office of the municipal clerk or board of election commissioners as the location from which electors of the municipality may request and vote absentee ballots and to which voted absentee ballots shall be returned by electors for any election.”<sup>262</sup>

391. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, any alternate absentee ballot site “shall be staffed by the municipal clerk or the executive director of the board of election commissioners, or employees of the clerk or the board of election commissioners.”<sup>263</sup> Likewise, Wis.Stat. 7.15(2m) provides, “[i]n a municipality in which the governing body has elected to establish an alternate absentee ballot site under s. 6.855, the municipal clerk shall operate such site as though it were his or her office for absentee ballot purposes and shall ensure that such site is adequately staffed.”

392. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, thus, the unmanned absentee ballot drop-off sites are prohibited by the Wisconsin Legislature as they do not comply with Wisconsin law expressly defining “[a]lternate absentee ballot site[s].”<sup>264</sup>

393. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, in addition, the use of drop boxes for the collection of absentee ballots, positioned predominantly in Wisconsin’s largest cities, is directly contrary to Wisconsin law providing that absentee ballots may only be “mailed by the elector, or delivered in person to the municipal clerk issuing the ballot or ballots.”<sup>265</sup>

394. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, The fact that other methods of delivering absentee ballots, such as through unmanned drop boxes, are not permitted is underscored by Wis. Stat. § 6.87(6) which mandates that, “[a]ny ballot not mailed or delivered as provided in this subsection may not be counted.” Likewise, Wis. Stat. § 6.84(2) underscores this point, providing that Wis. Stat. § 6.87(6) “shall be construed as mandatory.” The provision continues—“Ballots cast in contravention of the procedures specified in those provisions may not be counted. Ballots counted in

395. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, as a result of the Zuckerberg-funded absentee drop boxes, the Milwaukee County and Dane County had 1 drop box for every 30.7 square miles. But, the rest of Wisconsin had 1 drop box for every 145 square miles. Wisconsin localities provided approximately 514 ballot drop boxes leading up to the 2020 election.<sup>267</sup>

397. Wisconsin is a total of 65,498 square miles. Milwaukee and Dane Counties represent a combined 2,427 square miles. These two counties received about one-sixth of the total number of ballot drop boxes with 79 boxes. Milwaukee received 25 drop boxes, while Dane County (Madison) had 54 drop boxes.<sup>271</sup> This left the rest of the state with 435 ballot drop boxes.<sup>272</sup>

398. Voters in Hillary Clinton's two largest counties: Milwaukee and Dane, where she received 506,519 votes, received 79 drop boxes spread out over a combined 2,427 square miles, or 1 drop box for every 30.7 square miles. Meanwhile, voters in the rest of the state received 435 drop boxes to cover 63,071 square miles, meaning that the rest of Wisconsin had a single drop box for every 145 square miles.

399. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, these were not the only Wisconsin election laws that the WEC violated in the 2020 general election. The WEC and local election officials also took it upon themselves to encourage voters to unlawfully declare themselves "indefinitely confined"—which under Wisconsin law allows the voter to avoid security measures like signature verification and photo ID requirements.

400. Specifically, registering to vote by absentee ballot requires photo identification, except for those who register as "indefinitely confined" or "hospitalized."<sup>273</sup> Registering for indefinite confinement requires certifying confinement "because of age, physical illness or infirmity or [because the voter] is disabled for an indefinite period."<sup>274</sup> Should indefinite confinement cease, the voter must notify the county clerk,<sup>275</sup> who must remove the voter from indefinite-confinement status.<sup>276</sup>

402. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, on March 25, 2020, in clear violation of Wisconsin law, Dane County Clerk Scott McDonnell and Milwaukee County Clerk George Christensen both issued guidance indicating that all voters should mark themselves as "indefinitely confined" because of the COVID-19 pandemic.<sup>278</sup>

403. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, believing this to be an attempt to circumvent Wisconsin's strict voter ID laws, the Republican Party of Wisconsin petitioned the Wisconsin Supreme Court to intervene. On March 31, 2020, the Wisconsin Supreme Court unanimously confirmed that the clerks' "advice was legally incorrect" and potentially dangerous because "voters may be misled to exercise their right to vote in ways that are inconsistent with WISC. STAT. § 6.86(2)."

404. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, on May 13, 2020, the Administrator of WEC issued a directive to the Wisconsin clerks prohibiting removal of voters from the registry for indefinite-confinement status if the voter is no longer "indefinitely confined."

405. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, the WEC's directive violated Wisconsin law. Specifically, WISC. STAT. § 6.86(2)(a) specifically provides that "any [indefinitely confined] elector [who] is no longer indefinitely confined ... shall so notify the municipal clerk." WISC. STAT. § 6.86(2)(b) further provides that the municipal clerk "shall remove the name of any other elector from the list upon request of the elector or upon receipt of reliable information that an elector no longer qualifies for the service."

406. Based on Wisconsin voters' allegations, according to statistics kept by the WEC, nearly 216,000 voters said they were indefinitely confined in the 2020 election, nearly a fourfold increase from nearly 57,000 voters in 2016. In Dane and Milwaukee counties, more than 68,000 voters said they were indefinitely confined in 2020, a fourfold increase from the roughly 17,000 indefinitely confined voters in those counties in 2016.

407. Under Wisconsin law, voting by absentee ballot also requires voters to complete a certification, including their address, and have the envelope witnessed by an adult who also must sign and indicate their address on the envelope.<sup>279</sup> The sole remedy to cure an “improperly completed certificate or [ballot] with no certificate” is for “the clerk [to] return the ballot to the elector[.]”<sup>280</sup> “If a certificate is missing the address of a witness, the ballot may not be counted.”<sup>281</sup>

408. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, however, in a training video issued April 1, 2020, the Administrator of the City of Milwaukee Elections Commission unilaterally declared that a “witness address may be written in red and that is because we were able to locate the witnesses’ address for the voter” to add an address missing from the certifications on absentee ballots. The Administrator’s instruction violated WISC. STAT. § 6.87(6d). The WEC issued similar guidance on October 19, 2020, in violation of this statute as well.<sup>282</sup>

409. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, in the Wisconsin Trump Campaign Complaint, it is alleged, supported by the sworn affidavits of poll watchers, that canvas workers carried out this unlawful policy, and acting pursuant to this guidance, in Milwaukee used red-ink pens to alter the certificates on the absentee envelope and then cast and count the absentee ballot. These acts violated WISC. STAT. § 6.87(6d) (“If a certificate is missing the address of a witness, the ballot may not be counted”).<sup>283</sup>

410. Wisconsin’s legislature has not ratified these changes, and its election laws do not include a severability clause.

411. Based on Wisconsin voters’ allegations, in addition, Ethan J. Pease, a box truck delivery driver subcontracted to the U.S. Postal Service (“USPS”) to deliver truckloads of mail-in

413. The Braynard-Zhang analysis of government data shows election officials’ absentee ballot error rate of at least 0.89% which far exceeds federal law’s pre-election certification error rate for voting systems’ hardware and software of 0.0008%.<sup>287</sup>

- M. The government data, state-by-state, shows election officials' absentee ballot errors far exceed the margin of victory—and they far exceed the pre-election certification error rate of 0.0008%.

428. The federal government has a pre-election standard for state voting system's software and hardware.

429. As explained above, this maximum-acceptable error rate is one in 500,000 ballot positions, or, alternatively one in 125,000 ballots—0.0008%.<sup>307</sup>

<sup>308</sup> According to Plaintiffs' analysis, it is possible to have more than one type of error per ballot (e.g., double voting and voting while resident of another state).

431. Based on the Defendant States' voters' allegations, the government data in each of the states shows election officials' absentee ballot errors far exceed the federal law's pre-election certification error rate for voting systems' hardware and software.

COUNT 1:
ARTICLE II

432. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations above, as if fully set forth herein.

433. The Plaintiffs as voters file this complaint against federal and state officials in Arizona, Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin seeking a declaratory judgment, and related injunction, for a constitutionally-compliant process for state-by-state post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors and for counting of their votes for the November 3, 2020 Presidential election and future elections.

434. Under Article II, if a state has authorized a Presidential election in that state, voters have voting rights to state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

435. Since Defendant States have authorized Presidential elections, voters in the Defendant States, including Plaintiffs, have voting rights under Article II to state legislative post-election certification of their Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

436. Part of Plaintiffs' voting rights in Defendant States under Article II is the right that their Presidential votes be counted by in their respective state legislatures' post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors in the 2020 and future elections.

437. Under Article II, Congress lacks legal authority to enact laws interfering with the state-by-state state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors as it has done with 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15.

438. The text and structure of the Constitution—as evidenced in Article II and the rest of the Constitution—preempts 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 as unconstitutional interference with the state legislative prerogative to post-election Presidential elector certification guaranteed by the Constitution.<sup>309</sup>

439. Therefore, Article II renders 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15, in the 2020 and future Presidential elections, as unconstitutional interference with the state legislative prerogative to post-election Presidential elector certification guaranteed by the Constitution—and a violation of voters’ rights.<sup>310</sup>

440. Analogously, under Article II, the Defendant States lack legal authority to enact state laws which are a perpetual and wholesale delegation of post-election certifications to state executive branch officials—as they have done in Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B) (Arizona Secretary of State), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B) (Georgia Secretary of State and Governor), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46 (Michigan State Board of Canvassers and Governor), Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b) (Wisconsin Elections Commission); and 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 (Secretary of Commonwealth and Governor).

441. Article II, and its non-delegation doctrine, left it exclusively to the state legislatures to “direct” post-election certifications of Presidential voters and of Presidential electors—not to Defendant States to “delegate” post-election certifications, perpetually and in a wholesale fashion, to state executive branch officials as a ministerial duty.

442. The text of Article II preempts Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar state laws which delegate Presidential post-election certifications to state executive branch officials when it is constitutionally required for state legislatures to conduct post-election Presidential election certifications.

443. The structure of the Constitution, as evidenced in Article II and the rest of the Constitution, preempts Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar state laws which delegate Presidential post-election certifications to state executive branch officials when it is constitutionally-required for state legislatures to conduct post-election Presidential election certifications.

444. Therefore, the Court should hold Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar laws unconstitutional as they apply to Presidential state legislative post-election certifications.

445. The Defendant States' lack of state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors in the 2020 and future Presidential elections violate the Plaintiffs' voting rights under Article II.

446. The Defendant States, in violation of Article II, have failed to provide state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of the Presidential Electors; so, voters' votes in the Defendant States do not count in the current and future elections—a disenfranchisement.

447. A declaratory judgment should issue, applicable to the current and future elections, declaring that Article II requires state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors for Presidential elector votes to count in the U.S. Congress for the election of the President and Vice President.

448. Further, any count of Presidential electors in the November 3, 2020 or future elections should be declared invalid if based on votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

449. The Vice President and U.S. Congress should be enjoined from counting Presidential elector votes from any states in the current and future elections unless their respective state legislatures have voted affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify Presidential votes and their Presidential electors for the current and future Presidential elections.

COUNT 2:
EQUAL PROTECTION CLAUSE

450. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations above, as if fully set forth herein.

451. Plaintiffs are entitled to state legislative post-election certification of their Presidential votes and of Presidential electors so their votes count equally with other states' citizens' votes.

452. The Equal Protection Clause prohibits the use of differential standards in the treatment and tabulation of ballots within a State. Bush, 531 U.S. at 107.

453. The one-person, one-vote principle requires counting valid votes and not counting invalid votes. Reynolds, 377 U.S. at 554-55; Bush, 531 U.S. at 103 (“the votes eligible for inclusion in the certification are the votes meeting the properly established legal requirements”).

454. The Defendant States, in violation of the Equal Protection Clause, have failed to provide state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of the Presidential Electors as they do in other states; so, voters' votes in the Defendant States will not count—a disenfranchisement of that state's voters.

455. Absent the state legislative post-election certification of Presidential electors and of the Presidential Electors in the Defendant States, the Defendant States violate the one-person, one-vote principle because their Presidential votes and their state's Presidential electors' votes will not count toward the election of President and Vice President.

456. Plaintiffs are therefore harmed by Defendants' unconstitutional conduct in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

457. A declaratory judgment should issue, applicable to the current and future elections, declaring that the Equal Protection Clause requires state legislative post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors for Presidential elector votes to count in the U.S. Congress for the election of the President and Vice President.

458. Further, any count of Presidential electors in the November 3, 2020 or future elections should be declared invalid if based on votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

459. The Vice President and U.S. Congress should be enjoined from counting Presidential elector votes from states in the current election and future elections unless the respective state legislatures has voted affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify Presidential votes and their Presidential electors.

COUNT 3: DUE PROCESS CLAUSE

460. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges the allegations above, as if fully set forth herein.

461. Plaintiffs as voters are entitled to state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors so their votes are subjected to the same due process as other citizens' votes.

462. When election practices reach "the point of patent and fundamental unfairness," the integrity of the election itself violates substantive due process. Griffin v. Burns, 570 F.2d 1065, 1077 (1st Cir. 1978); Duncan v. Poytbress, 657 F.2d 691, 702 (5th Cir. 1981); Florida State Conference of N.A.A.C.P. v. Browning, 522 F.3d 1153, 1183-84 (11th Cir. 2008); Roe v. State of Ala. By & Through Evans, 43 F.3d 574, 580-82 (11th Cir. 1995); Roe v. State of Ala., 68 F.3d 404, 407 (11th Cir. 1995); Marks v. Stinson, 19 F. 3d 873, 878 (3rd Cir. 1994).

463. Under this Court's precedents on procedural due process, not only intentional failure to follow election law as enacted by a State's legislature but also random and unauthorized acts by state election officials and their designees in local government can violate the Due Process Clause. Parratt v. Taylor, 451 U.S. 527, 537-41 (1981), overruled in part on other grounds by Daniels v. Williams, 474 U.S. 327, 330-31 (1986); Hudson v. Palmer, 468 U.S. 517, 532 (1984).

464. The difference between intentional acts and random and unauthorized acts is the degree of pre-deprivation review.

465. Defendants acted unconstitutionally by certifying Presidential electors and counting their votes without prior state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors.

466. Defendant States acted unconstitutionally by their state legislatures not voting for post-election certifications of Presidential votes and Presidential electors.

467. Federal Defendants acted unconstitutionally under federal laws requiring counting votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

468. The actions set out in the paragraphs above constitute intentional violations of the law by Defendants in violation of the Due Process Clause.

469. The Defendants, in violation of the Due Process Clause, prohibit state legislative post-election certifications of Presidential votes and of the Presidential Electors.

470. Plaintiffs' voting rights are disenfranchised by Defendants' unconstitutional conduct in violation of the Due Process Clause.

471. A declaratory judgment should issue, applicable to current and future elections, declaring that the Due Process Clause requires state legislative post-election certification of Presidential votes and of Presidential electors for Presidential elector votes to count in the U.S. Congress for the election of the President and Vice President.

472. Further, any count of Presidential electors in the current and future elections should be declared invalid if based on votes of Presidential electors who have not received state legislative post-election certification.

473. The Vice President and U.S. Congress should be enjoined from counting Presidential elector votes, in the current and future elections, unless their respective state legislature has voted affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify Presidential votes and their Presidential electors.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court issue the following relief for the 2020 and future Presidential elections:

- A. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to the current and future elections, declaring that 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 6 and 15 were and are unconstitutional deprivations of the state legislatures' constitutional prerogative to post-election certification of the Presidential electors;
- B. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to current and future elections, declaring that Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-212 (B), Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499 (B), Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46, Wis. Stat. § 7.70 (5) (b), 25 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 3166 and similar state laws are unconstitutional delegations by the respective states of post-election Presidential election certification duties to their respective executive branch officers when Article II requires such certifications to be made by the respective state legislatures;
- C. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to current and future elections, that the Plaintiff-voters' constitutionally-protected voting rights in Presidential elections are being violated by Defendants;
- D. Issue a declaratory judgment, applying to current and future elections, that the Plaintiffs' voting rights were violated under Article II, the Equal Protection Clause and the Due Process Clause;
- E. Enjoin the Vice President and U.S. Congress, in the current and future elections, from counting Presidential elector votes from states unless their respective state legislatures vote affirmatively in a post-election vote to certify their Presidential electors;
- F. Alternatively, enjoin, in the current and future elections, the State Defendants' state legislatures to meet in their respective States to consider post-election certification of their respective Presidential electors;
- G. Award attorney's fees and costs under 42 U.S.C. § 1988 to Plaintiffs against State Defendants; and

H. Grant such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WISCONSIN VOTERS ALLIANCE, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

v.

VICE PRESIDENT MICHAEL R.
PENCE, et al.,

Defendants.

Civil Action No. 20-3791 (JEB)

MEMORANDUM OPINION

Plaintiffs' aims in this election challenge are bold indeed: they ask this Court to declare unconstitutional several decades-old federal statutes governing the appointment of electors and the counting of electoral votes for President of the United States; to invalidate multiple state statutes regulating the certification of Presidential votes; to ignore certain Supreme Court decisions; and, the coup de grace, to enjoin the U.S. Congress from counting the electoral votes on January 6, 2021, and declaring Joseph R. Biden the next President.

Voter groups and individual voters from the states of Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Michigan, and Arizona have brought this action against Vice President Michael R. Pence, in his official capacity as President of the Senate; both houses of Congress and the Electoral College itself; and various leaders of the five aforementioned states. Simultaneous with the filing of their Complaint, Plaintiffs moved this Court to preliminarily enjoin the certifying of the electors from the five states and the counting of their votes. In addition to being filed on behalf of Plaintiffs without standing and (at least as to the state Defendants) in the wrong court and with no effort to even serve their adversaries, the suit rests on a fundamental and obvious misreading of the Constitution. It would be risible were its target not so grave: the undermining of a democratic election for President of the United States. The Court will deny the Motion.

I. Background

To say that Plaintiffs' 116-page Complaint, replete with 310 footnotes, is prolix would be a gross understatement. After explicitly disclaiming any theory of fraud, see ECF No. 1 (Complaint), ¶ 44 ("This lawsuit is not about voter fraud."), Plaintiffs spend scores of pages cataloguing every conceivable discrepancy or irregularity in the 2020 vote in the five relevant states, already debunked or not, most of which they nonetheless describe as a species of fraud. E.g., id., at 37–109. Those allegations notwithstanding, Plaintiffs' central contention is that certain federal and state election statutes ignore the express mandate of Article II of the Constitution, thus rendering them invalid. Id. at 109–12. Although the Complaint also asserts causes of action for violations of the Equal Protection and Due Process Clauses, those are merely derivative of its first count. Id. at 112–15.

In order to provide an equitable briefing and hearing schedule on a very tight timetable, this Court immediately instructed Plaintiffs to file proofs of service on Defendants so that they could proceed on their preliminary-injunction Motion. See 12/23/20 Min. Order; Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(a)(1) ("The court may issue a preliminary injunction only on notice to the adverse party."). Twelve days later, Plaintiffs have still not provided proof of notice to any Defendant, let alone filed a single proof of service or explained their inability to do so.

II. Legal Standard

"A preliminary injunction is an extraordinary remedy never awarded as of right." Winter v. NRDC, 555 U.S. 7, 24 (2008). "A plaintiff seeking a preliminary injunction must establish [1] that he is likely to succeed on the merits, [2] that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of preliminary relief, [3] that the balance of equities tips in his favor, and [4] that an injunction is in the public interest.” Sherley v. Sebelius, 644 F.3d 388, 392 (D.C. Cir. 2011) (quoting Winter, 555 U.S. at 20). “The moving party bears the burden of persuasion and must demonstrate, ‘by a clear showing,’ that the requested relief is warranted.” Hospitality Staffing Solutions, LLC v. Reyes, 736 F. Supp. 2d 192, 197 (D.D.C. 2010) (citing Chaplaincy of Full Gospel Churches v. England, 454 F.3d 290, 297 (D.C. Cir. 2006)).

Before the Supreme Court’s decision in Winter, courts weighed these factors on a “sliding scale,” allowing “an unusually strong showing on one of the factors” to overcome a weaker showing on another. Davis v. Pension Ben. Guar. Corp., 571 F.3d 1288, 1291–92 (D.C. Cir. 2009) (quoting Davenport v. Int’l Bhd. of Teamsters, 166 F.3d 356, 361 (D.C. Cir. 1999)). Both before and after Winter, however, one thing is clear: a failure to show a likelihood of success on the merits alone is sufficient to defeat the motion. Ark. Dairy Coop. Ass’n, Inc. v. USDA, 573 F.3d 815, 832 (D.C. Cir. 2009) (citing Apotex, Inc. v. FDA, 449 F.3d 1249, 1253–54 (D.C. Cir. 2006)); Archdiocese of Wash. v. Wash. Metro. Area Transit Auth., 281 F. Supp. 3d 88, 99 (D.D.C. 2017), aff’d on other grounds, 897 F.3d 314 (D.C. Cir. 2018).

III. Analysis

Given that time is short and the legal errors underpinning this action manifold, the Court treats only the central ones and in the order of who, where, what, and why. Most obviously, Plaintiffs have not demonstrated the “irreducible constitutional minimum of standing.” Lujan v. Defs. of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560 (1992). Although they claim to have been “disenfranchised,” ECF No. 4 (PI Mem.) at 37, this is plainly not true. Their votes have been counted and their electors certified pursuant to state-authorized procedures; indeed, any vote nullification would obtain only were their own suit to succeed. To the extent that they argue more broadly that voters maintain an interest in an election conducted in conformity with the Constitution, id. at 38, they merely assert a “generalized grievance” stemming from an attempt to have the Government act in accordance with their view of the law. Hollingsworth v. Perry, 570 U.S. 693, 706 (2013). This does not satisfy Article III’s demand for a “concrete and particularized” injury, id. at 704, as other courts have recently noted in rejecting comparable election challenges. See Wood v. Raffensperger, 981 F.3d 1307, 1314–15 (11th Cir. 2020); Bowyer v. Ducey, No. 20-2321, 2020 WL 7238261, at *4–5 (D. Ariz. Dec. 9, 2020); King v. Whitmer, No. 20-13134, 2020 WL 7134198, at *10 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 7, 2020). Plaintiffs’ contention that the state legislature is being deprived of its authority to certify elections, moreover, cannot suffice to establish a distinct injury-in-fact to the individuals and organizations before this Court. Finally, to the extent that Plaintiffs seek an injunction preventing certain state officials from certifying their election results, see PI Mem. at 1, that claim is moot as certification has already occurred. Wood, 981 F.3d at 1317.

Moving on from subject-matter jurisdiction, the Court must also pause at personal jurisdiction. Plaintiffs cannot simply sue anyone they wish here in the District of Columbia. On the contrary, they must find a court or courts that have personal jurisdiction over each Defendant, and they never explain how a court in this city can subject to its jurisdiction, say, the Majority Leader of the Wisconsin State Senate. Absent personal jurisdiction over a particular Defendant, of course, this Court lacks authority to compel him to do anything.

Even if the Court had subject-matter and personal jurisdiction, it still could not rule in Plaintiffs’ favor because their central contention is flat-out wrong. “Plaintiffs claim that Article II of the U.S. Constitution provides a voter a constitutional right to the voter’s Presidential vote being certified as part of the state legislature’s post-election certification of Presidential electors.

Absence [sic] such certification, the Presidential electors' votes from that state cannot be counted by the federal Defendants toward the election of President and Vice President.” Compl., ¶ 32 (emphasis added); see also PI Mem. at 1. More specifically, “Plaintiffs [sic] constitutional claims in this lawsuit are principally based on one sentence in Article II of the U.S. Constitution.” Compl., ¶ 54; see also PI Mem. at 1. That sentence states in relevant part that the President “shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and . . . be elected[] as follows: [¶] Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors . . . .” U.S. Const., art. II, § 1.

Plaintiffs somehow interpret this straightforward passage to mean that state legislatures alone must certify Presidential votes and Presidential electors after each election, and that Governors or other entities have no constitutionally permitted role. See Compl., ¶ 55. As a result, state statutes that delegate the certification to the Secretary of State or the Governor or anyone else are invalid. Id., ¶ 58. That, however, is not at all what Article II says. The above-quoted language makes manifest that a state appoints electors in “such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct.” So if the legislature directs that the Governor, Secretary of State, or other executive-branch entity shall make the certification, that is entirely constitutional. This is precisely what has happened: in each of the five states, the legislature has passed a statute directing how votes are to be certified and electors selected. See Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 16-212(B); Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499(b); Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46; Wis. Stat. Ann. § 7.70(5)(b); 25 Pa. Stat. § 3166.

For example, Georgia requires its Secretary of State to “certify the votes cast for all candidates . . . and lay the returns for presidential electors before the Governor. The Governor shall enumerate and ascertain the number of votes for each person so voted and shall certify the slates of presidential electors receiving the highest number of votes.” Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499(b). Similarly, under Michigan law, “the governor shall certify, under the seal of the state, to the United States secretary of state, the names and addresses of the electors of this state chosen as electors of president and vice-president of the United States.” Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46. Plaintiffs’ theory that all of these laws are unconstitutional and that the Court should instead require state legislatures themselves to certify every Presidential election lies somewhere between a willful misreading of the Constitution and fantasy.

Plaintiffs readily acknowledge that their position also means that the Supreme Court’s decisions in Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98 (2000), and Texas v. Pennsylvania, No. 155 (Orig.), 2020 WL 7296814 (U.S. Dec. 11, 2020), “are in constitutional error.” Compl., ¶ 76. They do not, however, explain how this District Court has authority to disregard Supreme Court precedent. Nor do they ever mention why they have waited until seven weeks after the election to bring this action and seek a preliminary injunction based on purportedly unconstitutional statutes that have existed for decades — since 1948 in the case of the federal ones. It is not a stretch to find a serious lack of good faith here. See Trump v. Wis. Elections Comm’n, No. 20-3414, 2020 WL 7654295, at *4 (7th Cir. Dec. 24, 2020).

Yet even that may be letting Plaintiffs off the hook too lightly. Their failure to make any effort to serve or formally notify any Defendant — even after reminder by the Court in its Minute Order — renders it difficult to believe that the suit is meant seriously. Courts are not instruments through which parties engage in such gamesmanship or symbolic political gestures. As a result, at the conclusion of this litigation, the Court will determine whether to issue an order to show cause why this matter should not be referred to its Committee on Grievances for potential discipline of Plaintiffs’ counsel.

IV. Conclusion

As Plaintiffs have established no likelihood of success on the merits here, the Court will deny their Motion for Preliminary Injunction. A contemporaneous Order so stating will issue this day.

Hollingsworth v. Perry, 570 U.S. 693, 706 (2013). This does not satisfy Article III’s demand for a “concrete and particularized” injury, id. at 704, as other courts have recently noted in rejecting comparable election challenges. See Wood v. Raffensperger, 981 F.3d 1307, 1314–15 (11th Cir. 2020); Bowyer v. Ducey, No. 20-2321, 2020 WL 7238261, at *4–5 (D. Ariz. Dec. 9, 2020); King v. Whitmer, No. 20-13134, 2020 WL 7134198, at *10 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 7, 2020). Plaintiffs’ contention that the state legislature is being deprived of its authority to certify elections, moreover, cannot suffice to establish a distinct injury-in-fact to the individuals and organizations before this Court. Finally, to the extent that Plaintiffs seek an injunction preventing certain state officials from certifying their election results, see PI Mem. at 1, that claim is moot as certification has already occurred. Wood, 981 F.3d at 1317.

Moving on from subject-matter jurisdiction, the Court must also pause at personal jurisdiction. Plaintiffs cannot simply sue anyone they wish here in the District of Columbia. On the contrary, they must find a court or courts that have personal jurisdiction over each Defendant, and they never explain how a court in this city can subject to its jurisdiction, say, the Majority Leader of the Wisconsin State Senate. Absent personal jurisdiction over a particular Defendant, of course, this Court lacks authority to compel him to do anything.

Even if the Court had subject-matter and personal jurisdiction, it still could not rule in Plaintiffs’ favor because their central contention is flat-out wrong. “Plaintiffs claim that Article II of the U.S. Constitution provides a voter a constitutional right to the voter’s Presidential vote being certified as part of the state legislature’s post-election certification of Presidential electors.

Absence [sic] such certification, the Presidential electors' votes from that state cannot be counted by the federal Defendants toward the election of President and Vice President.” Compl., ¶ 32 (emphasis added); see also PI Mem. at 1. More specifically, “Plaintiffs [sic] constitutional claims in this lawsuit are principally based on one sentence in Article II of the U.S. Constitution.” Compl., ¶ 54; see also PI Mem. at 1. That sentence states in relevant part that the President “shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and . . . be elected[] as follows: [¶] Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors . . . .” U.S. Const., art. II, § 1.

Plaintiffs somehow interpret this straightforward passage to mean that state legislatures alone must certify Presidential votes and Presidential electors after each election, and that Governors or other entities have no constitutionally permitted role. See Compl., ¶ 55. As a result, state statutes that delegate the certification to the Secretary of State or the Governor or anyone else are invalid. Id., ¶ 58. That, however, is not at all what Article II says. The above-quoted language makes manifest that a state appoints electors in “such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct.” So if the legislature directs that the Governor, Secretary of State, or other executive-branch entity shall make the certification, that is entirely constitutional. This is precisely what has happened: in each of the five states, the legislature has passed a statute directing how votes are to be certified and electors selected. See Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 16-212(B); Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499(b); Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46; Wis. Stat. Ann. § 7.70(5)(b); 25 Pa. Stat. § 3166.

For example, Georgia requires its Secretary of State to “certify the votes cast for all candidates . . . and lay the returns for presidential electors before the Governor. The Governor shall enumerate and ascertain the number of votes for each person so voted and shall certify the slates of presidential electors receiving the highest number of votes.” Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-499(b). Similarly, under Michigan law, “the governor shall certify, under the seal of the state, to the United States secretary of state, the names and addresses of the electors of this state chosen as electors of president and vice-president of the United States.” Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 168.46. Plaintiffs’ theory that all of these laws are unconstitutional and that the Court should instead require state legislatures themselves to certify every Presidential election lies somewhere between a willful misreading of the Constitution and fantasy.

Plaintiffs readily acknowledge that their position also means that the Supreme Court’s decisions in Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98 (2000), and Texas v. Pennsylvania, No. 155 (Orig.), 2020 WL 7296814 (U.S. Dec. 11, 2020), “are in constitutional error.” Compl., ¶ 76. They do not, however, explain how this District Court has authority to disregard Supreme Court precedent. Nor do they ever mention why they have waited until seven weeks after the election to bring this action and seek a preliminary injunction based on purportedly unconstitutional statutes that have existed for decades — since 1948 in the case of the federal ones. It is not a stretch to find a serious lack of good faith here. See Trump v. Wis. Elections Comm’n, No. 20-3414, 2020 WL 7654295, at *4 (7th Cir. Dec. 24, 2020).

Yet even that may be letting Plaintiffs off the hook too lightly. Their failure to make any effort to serve or formally notify any Defendant — even after reminder by the Court in its Minute Order — renders it difficult to believe that the suit is meant seriously. Courts are not instruments through which parties engage in such gamesmanship or symbolic political gestures. As a result, at the conclusion of this litigation, the Court will determine whether to issue an order to show cause why this matter should not be referred to its Committee on Grievances for potential discipline of Plaintiffs’ counsel.

IV. Conclusion

As Plaintiffs have established no likelihood of success on the merits here, the Court will deny their Motion for Preliminary Injunction. A contemporaneous Order so stating will issue this day.

A Message From Attorney General Mark Brnovich

At the end of the year, I've always believed it's important to be with our families, raise a glass with friends and reflect on what is really important in our lives. In 2020, however, even that time honored tradition may look different. Health officials say we should avoid large gatherings of extended family and friends, especially for those at higher risk for COVID 19 due to age and comorbidities. That is both awful and solid advice. It turns out that it's not just the Grinch and fraudsters who are out to steal our holiday cheer.

While family gatherings may look different or even be virtual, we can nevertheless still engage in the part of the Season where we reflect on what's important in our lives. When we do, we are reminded that protecting ourselves and each other is not just something that we do at home, but throughout our career at the Attorney General's Office. From the Supreme Court to the Internet, Election Integrity to Community Shred-a-thons, Family Court to representing State Agencies, and from Law Enforcement to Student Outreach, our team continues to do fantastic work in protecting the public and making our state a better place for all Arizonans.

I know this month's newsletter cannot replace the joy of sharing a home-cooked meal with our families, but perhaps it can provide food for thought and some inspiration regarding the difference we are making. I also hope you know just how much I appreciate all of your efforts during this especially challenging time. I wish everyone Peace and Joy this Holiday Season and good health and cheer as we welcome the New Year.

A Message From Chief Deputy & Chief of Staff Joe Kanefield

Wiley E. Jones served as Arizona Attorney General from 1915 to 1921. He was our State's second Attorney General and had the dubious honor of serving during the 1918 flu pandemic which lasted from 1918 to 1920 and infected 500 million people, nearly a third of the world's population at the time. Through four devastating waves this flu was one of the most deadly pandemics in human history. Although the State and the Office of the Attorney General were much smaller at the time, General Jones and his team were able to help guide Arizonans through the turmoil and usher in more prosperous times.

We can glean great knowledge and inspiration from history. With General Brnovich's leadership and everyone's help, we have and will continue to do our part to guide Arizona through the current pandemic and follow in the footsteps of our predecessors who overcame similar adversity.

As I have said many times, the people who work at the Attorney General's Office are committed to serving the public with pride and professionalism. We choose to be here because we believe in our mission. It's for this reason more than any other that we have been able to navigate the challenges of protecting the public during this health crisis with the unwavering ability to adapt to what has become the new norm of remote working. Attorney General Brnovich and I thank you again for doing your part to accomplish this mission without missing a beat.

To close, I'll share some trivia about AG Jones who was quite a character. A few months after being defeated by W.J. Galbraith in the election of 1920, AG Jones was bit by a gila monster while staying at the Jones Hotel in Safford, Arizona. To add embarrassment to injury, it was a gila monster that he had brought with him into the hotel in a failed effort to impress some women in the lobby. As the former AG discussed the beauty and virtues of the reptile, it bit into his left middle finger and did not release its grip for more than a minute. Jones couldn't speak for five hours as a result of the swelling in his tongue. Perhaps that was a good thing.

There's no doubt a lesson to be learned from AG Jones' gila monster experience in Safford, but I'll leave that one for you to contemplate. Right now, let's just reflect on his success in assisting Arizona through a pandemic in 1921 ... and how we will do the same in 2021.

With that said, Attorney General Brnovich and I would like to wish you and your families a safe and happy holiday season.

Operations Division

Let's Celebrate!

In October, Leslie Welch and Brock Heathcotte had an "Unprecedented" wedding! Congratulations to the happy couple!!

Michael Burkett Crist and his wife have a new daughter! Cosima Guinevere was born November 3rd at 9:48am weighing 6 lbs 4 oz, and was 19.75 inches long. Welcome to the world!

Operations Division

Mailroom Makeover

In November, the Palm building mailroom underwent a much needed renovation. To make things more convenient, the mail boxes are now located within the mailroom, and we also created an area where employees can stock up on necessary PPE (hand sanitizers, surface wipes, masks and more!).

State Government Division

Agency Counsel Section

AAG Caroline Guerrero and husband TJ welcomed beautiful daughter Zara Ada on November 1, 2020. She was 6 pounds, 9 ounces and 19 inches!

AAG Kara Karlson made the news by volunteering to test Moderna's COVID19 vaccine:

Mesa mom volunteered to test Moderna's COVID-19 vaccine

Thousands of Americans have volunteered to test the COVID-19 vaccine, and one of them lives in Mesa. Kara Karlson says she did it to protect her 2-year-old daughter.

AAG Kelly Gillilan-Gibson's sons, Kellen #45 (2021 graduate) and Cayden #42 (2024 graduate), attend Arizona College Prep and are on its football team. Their team won the Metro East title and they played in the state playoffs.

Licensing & Enforcement Section

AAG Sunita Krishna Cairo and her husband Manny welcomed their son Emilio Gael Cairo to their family on July 16, 2020. Baby Emilio joins big sister Indra who is 2. Congratulations to all!

Tanya Martinez joined LES as a legal secretary. Tanya relocated back to Phoenix after spending several years in Gallup, New Mexico, where she worked as an assistant to the Gallup City Attorney and Mayor.

Former AAG and LES Section Chief Monty Lee unexpectedly passed away on September 1, 2020. Monty was a great friend and mentor to the attorneys in LES who had the pleasure of working with him.

The Licensing and Enforcement Section spread holiday cheer by participating in the St. Vincent De Paul's Adopt-a-Family program. LES provided gifts for a family of five from Chandler. The gifts included games, sporting equipment and clothes along with a gift card for groceries. Employees of LES delivered the gifts on December 18th. All of the LES staff enjoyed contributing to such a worthy cause.

Natural Resources Section

NRS closed two huge deals this year!

Jack Crestin, born Leap Day, February 29, 2020, to Kevin Crestin and his wife, Christy.

Melody Rose Rigsby, born July 17, 2020, to Maracia Rigsby and her husband, James.

In addition, NRS assisted the State Land Department to close two substantial deals bringing hundreds of millions of dollars into the State Land Trust to benefit K-12 education. On November 4, 2020, ASLD auctioned 2,800 acres of land east of Apache Junction in return for $245 million plus a 50% share in future net revenues from development of a master planned community. And on December 9, 2020, ASLD auctioned 1,200 acres of land in north Phoenix west of I-17 in return for $89 million plus the installation of over $200 million of infrastructure. The successful bidder, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, is expected to begin construction shortly on a $12 billion semiconductor plant.

Civil Litigation Division

CLD New Employee

Marie Elena Cobb, Executive Assistant

Marie has been with the AGO since July 2016 but has been in and around the legal field for 23+ years. Prior to joining CLD in October, Marie was with the Liability Management and Protective Services Sections as a Legal Secretary. Marie is an Arizona native originally from Sierra Vista near Fort Huachuca. She has 2 daughters, Isabelle and Makayla, ages 13 and 10, respectively, and enjoys doing re-enactments in Tombstone, Arizona. In her free time Marie also enjoys photography, geocaching, hiking, crafting, live theatre, singing, jewelry making and anything else that allows her to explore her creative side.

In January, CLD OA Kim Cundiff and husband Tony celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary in Las Vegas with their children.

Civil Litigation Division

Bankruptcy Collection & Enforcement Section (BCE)

Kristin McDonald, Assistant Attorney General

Prior to joining the AGO, Kristin represented institutional mortgage lenders for 10 years in the default servicing industry including foreclosure related matters, bankruptcy, excess proceeds, and title curative litigation. Kristin grew up in the Seattle area and upon moving to AZ in 1997 (Go Sundevils!!) was shocked to learn it was possible to live in sunshine and a warm climate versus constant grey and rain. In her spare time, she enjoys reading – currently binging on Elin Hilderbrand novels, volunteering with Phoenix Children’s Chorus, taking random group fitness classes, and spending time with her husband and 10 year old daughter.

Alexis Galindo, Administrative Assistant, started with BCE in January.

BCE, on the personal side:

On October 29, Andrea Freeman, Collector III, retired. Even during COVID she was given a proper send off as we thanked her for 25 years of service to the State of Arizona with a buffet of treats, snacks and gifts.

Community Outreach & Education Section (COED)

COED New Employees:

Marle Ethelbah, Community Outreach and Education Coordinator
Marle started with COED in November. She is an ASU graduate, with a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work. After graduation, she decided to teach English in Japan. This is where she developed a passion for education and public speaking. Upon her return to the United States, Marle worked for agencies that helped at-risk populations. She is excited to work for the Community Outreach section of the Attorney General's Office, because it combines her educational background and passion for helping vulnerable populations. In her spare time, Marle enjoys painting, reading, and spending time with friends and family.

In June of 2020, Community Outreach was excited to learn we would be moving to the Civil Litigation Division. This move allows Community Outreach to work more closely with Consumer Protection, Civil Rights, and the Tobacco Enforcement Unit to help constituents across Arizona.

Since the beginning of the pandemic, Community Outreach, like the rest of the office, had to adapt to a new way of reaching the public. Outreach staff was able to quickly transition to virtual trainings and were able to offer live webinars to the public as well as recorded webinars for the public to watch when convenient. Because of this, Outreach has been able to reach thousands of Arizonans virtually.

Civil Litigation Division

In addition to virtual learning, in September of 2020 Community Outreach began offering free No Contact Shred-a-thons and Prescription Drug take back events to the public. Because of these events we were able to help over 900 Arizonans shred over 50,000 pounds of documents and recover hundreds of pounds of prescription medications.

Civil Litigation Division

Division of Civil Rights Section (DCRS)

DCRS New Employees:

Chris Carlsen, Senior Litigation Counsel

Chris Carlsen rejoined DCRS in April. As an experienced trial and appellate attorney, Chris has worked in private and public practice, primarily litigating civil rights, family law, and personal injury actions. Previously with the Attorney General's Office and while employed with 501(c)(3) non-profit entities, Chris practiced before the Ninth Circuit. In addition to his wealth of knowledge regarding civil and appellate practice, Chris brings to DCRS an expertise in disability law and employment law. Chris also teaches disability law classes at Northern Arizona University.

Valerie Grijalva, Compliance Officer

Valerie Grijalva joined DCRS in August as a Compliance Officer. Valerie is an experienced investigator who has worked with some of Arizona's largest State agencies. Valerie's expertise involves working with vulnerable populations in high pressure situations. In her spare time she enjoys spending time with her family and taking family hikes with her dog.

Karla Mejia Rivera, Administrative Assistant, started with DCRS in June.

La-Rae Subay, Compliance Officer II, started with DCRS in October.

Virgil Clark, Compliance Officer I, started with DCRS in June.

Ryan Bishop, Assistant Attorney General, started with DCRS in August.

Sasha Gonzalez, Compliance Officer, started with DCRS in November.

Civil Litigation Division

DCRS, on the personal side:

On July, 21, the Civil Rights Section welcomed its youngest addition, Vivienne Rai weighing 7 pounds. Congratulations to Compliance Officer Ian Rai and wife Genesis on their beautiful baby girl.

Congratulations to Compliance Officer Gamaliel Vance on his marriage to his longtime girlfriend Desiree on July 25.

In December, two valued DCRS team members will be retiring – Dorothy Jim, Compliance Officer III and Patricia Bianchi, Tucson Compliance Manager. We are grateful to their service to Arizonans, to civil rights, and to the Arizona Attorney General's Office.

DCRS Case Highlights

State of Arizona v. Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar

In February, 2020, DCRS resolved its lawsuit against Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar. In its October 25, 2019 lawsuit, DCRS alleged that Obrigis violated the Arizona Americans with Disabilities Act (AzDA) when it refused to serve Bill Larson because of his service animal. Mr. Larson has a brain injury which causes him to experience transient ischemic attacks (referred to as mini-strokes). His American Bulldog service animal, Whopper, is trained to detect the onset of the mini-strokes and alert Mr. Larson so that he may take steps to ensure his safety and the safety of others.

DCRS resolved this matter through Consent Decree. Under the terms of the Consent Decree, Obrigis was required to pay monetary damages of $7,500 to Mr. Larson and $2,500 in civil penalties to the State. In addition, Obrigis agreed to create and disseminate policies prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disability and permitting reasonable modifications to its policies as necessary to serve customers with disabilities. The Consent Decree further required that Obrigis pay for and participate in robust training on disability law under AzDA and Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

State of Arizona v. Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers

On May 30, 2019, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers, a company which sells, rents, and services trailers from its three Arizona locations. DCRS alleged that Big Tex violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when it failed to make reasonable accommodations to the known physical limitations of its employee, Ed Litzinger. DCRS further alleged that Big Tex terminated Litzinger on the basis of his disability in violation of ACRA. Mr. Litzinger, a retired detective, filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS on May 31, 2018. While employed as a Sales Representative in Big Tex's Tucson location, Litzinger underwent hip replacement surgery and returned to work with the assistance of a cane. Litzinger alleged that Big Tex would not reasonably accommodate his return to work condition and subsequently terminated him due to his disability.

DCRS resolved the litigation through a Consent Decree that provided for monetary damages of $45,000 to Mr. Litzinger and injunctive relief for DCRS including Big Tex's obligation to revise its policies and practices, pay for and participate in mandatory training, and maintain employment records related to its Arizona business operations subject to audit by DCRS.

State of Arizona v. Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista

On October 22, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit alleging that that employers Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista (collectively, Defendants) violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when its supervisors harassed their joint employee because of her disability and created a hostile work environment. On October 23, 2019, an aggrieved party and employee of Defendants filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS alleging that her employers subjected her to different terms and conditions of employment and a hostile and intimidating work environment based on her disability. Specifically, the aggrieved party, who has intellectual disabilities and speech delays, alleged that her supervisors repeatedly referred to her in unwelcome and derogatory ways,

Civil Litigation Division

openly chastised her in employee meetings and in front of guests, shoved her head into a sink until she cried, and poked her between the shoulders so that she would move quicker. After investigating the charge, DCRS issued a reasonable cause determination on September 14, 2020. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

State of Arizona v. Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla

On November 2, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla (Solterra), alleging that it violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act when it failed to remedy a hostile work environment based on sex and terminated its employee after she complained about being sexually assaulted by a colleague while at work. On November 24, 2019, DCRS received a charge of discrimination from Solterra's former employee alleging that (1) Solterra subjected her to sexual harassment and a sex-based hostile work environment, (2) Solterra terminated her, and (3) Solterra retaliated against her after she engaged in protected activity. Specifically, the aggrieved party alleged that while at work she was sexually assaulted by a colleague. Additionally, she alleged that the colleague followed her outside the facility while she was on break and attempted to sexually assault her again. The aggrieved party complained to management about the sexual assault and was thereafter terminated. On September 30, 2020, DCRS completed its investigation and issued a reasonable cause determination. It thereafter filed this lawsuit. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

CPA New Employees:

Alex Bernard, Pre-Law Legal Assistant

Alex started with CPA in February after working for the Maricopa County Attorney's Office in the Grand Jury/Probation Violation Bureau. Before the County Attorney's Office, Alex graduated Arizona State University in May 2018 with a degree in Political Science where he received the Moeur Award. In his spare time, Alex loves to hike, read, and spend time with his family.

Leticia Bdeir, Legal Administrative Assistant

Leticia started with CPA in February. She previously worked with The Department of Economic Security as an Administrative Assistant serving as a middle man to State AHCCCS by sending referrals for medical emergencies for Arizona families. Leticia was born and raised in Northern California. She has 4 children and 3 grandchildren. Her fur babies are Aslan (dog) and Sophie (cat). She loves to cook, travel, listen to music and spend time with her husband and family. Leticia is happy to be at the AG's office.

Gabriella Guzman, Administrative Assistant

Gabby started with the Tobacco Enforcement Unit ("TEU") in January. She graduated from Northern Arizona University with a Justice Study degree, emphasis in intelligence and minor in Homeland Security. She has previously worked in child care and more recently, as a customer service representative. Her favorite TV show is The Office and her dogs name is Diamond.

Civil Litigation Division

Alexes Ramirez, Legal Administrative Assistant

Alexes returned to CPA in November and is excited to be back. She graduated from Southern Utah University with a degree in Sociology. She enjoys traveling, going on walks with her dog, and spending time with her younger sisters.

Dominique Jackson, Legal Assistant II

Dominique started with TEU in March. She graduated in 2017 with a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice from New Mexico State University, where she also excelled as a track athlete for the Aggies. After graduation, Dominique returned to Arizona and enrolled at Grand Canyon University, where she is currently pursuing a Masters in Criminal Justice with Emphasis in Legal Studies. Prior to joining the AG's Office, Dominique worked in private practice for a civil litigation firm. Dominique has quickly become an integral member of TEU, supporting the AG's Youth Tobacco Program in our efforts to reduce youth exposure to tobacco products.

Jocelyne Jones, Administrative Assistant

Jocelyn started with the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit ("CIC") in November.

Civil Litigation Division

Justin Heywood, Pre-Law Legal Assistant

Justin started with CIC in July. He is a native Arizonan who graduated from Arizona State University with a bachelor's in political science and civic and economic thought. In his free time, he enjoys learning new things and finding new experiences, which led him to learn how to juggle and go bungee jumping. He considers himself an ice cream enthusiast, with his favorite flavors being mint chocolate chip and salted caramel.

Christopher Slood, Assistant Attorney General

Christopher started with CPA in November. He is a 2016 University of Arizona Law grad. Prior to joining the Arizona Attorney General's Office, Christopher clerked at the Arizona Court of Appeals, Arizona Supreme Court, and the United States District Court for the District of Arizona. In his spare time, he enjoys hanging out with family and getting outside.

Mitchell Allee, Senior Litigation Counsel, returned to CPA in June.

Syreeta Tyrell, Assistant Attorney General, started with CPA in August.

Laura Dilweg, Senior Litigation Counsel, started with CPA in November.

DCRS, on the personal side:

On February 20 at 4:04pm, Alyse Meislik, Assistant AG, and her husband Matt, welcomed their son Robert ("Robbie") into the world. He weighed in at 8 lbs. 7 oz., 20.5 inches.

Civil Litigation Division

Senior Lit Counsel Mitchell Allee and wife, Tara, welcomed their son, Harrison William Allee, into the world on October 30. He weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs.

CPA Case Highlights

- As of July 2020, CPA had secured well over $100 million in restitution for Arizona consumers since Attorney General Mark Brnovich took office in 2015. Significantly, this is more than the total restitution from 2001 to 2014.
- Obtained tens of millions of dollars of relief for consumers who had loans from Santander, one of the nation's largest subprime auto lenders. Santander had provided high-interest loans to consumers that Santander knew were likely to default.
- Sued JUUL Labs and Eon Smoke, alleging that both companies engaged in deceptive and unfair practices in their sales and marketing of vaping products, particularly to youth. The AGO also obtained a permanent injunction banning Eon Smoke from selling certain products in Arizona.
- Obtained an $11 million settlement with Century Link regarding deceptive and unfair billing and marketing practices, under which Century Link paid nearly $2 million in refunds to consumers and $2 million toward fiber-optic infrastructure in Arizona.
- Obtained a consent judgment against Equifax, resolving the multistate investigation into the company's massive 2017 data breach. The multistate settlement included a $425 million restitution fund, a $175 million payment to the states, and injunctive relief.
- Sued several former executives of the Chandler-based opioid manufacturer Insys Therapeutics, Inc., including the company's founder, John Kapoor, alleging that the company illegally paid doctors to prescribe its highly addictive opioid medication.
- Sued several members of the Sackler family, who were responsible for operating Purdue Pharma, which the State has alleged violated a consent judgment ordering Purdue not to engage in deceptive marketing of its opioids.

Civil Litigation Division

- Obtained over $90,000 in restitution from Dependable Auto, a Tucson-based car dealership that allegedly engaged in a wide variety of unlawful practices.
- Sued Choice Home Warranty, alleging that the company raked in millions of dollars by deceiving and misleading Arizonans about what its home warranties would cover.
- Obtained over $100,000 in restitution for consumers from a former owner of DIY Neurocare, which sold LED light pads as neuropathy treatments and failed to deliver on its money-back guarantee.
- Sued Valley Delivery, alleging that the company put up fake delivery slips in order to trick new homeowners into giving the company their phone numbers.
- Obtained $600,000 in a settlement with a Sun City vacuum seller that repeatedly violated the Do Not Call list.
- The Division Chief and members of CPA and the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit participated in a phone bank broadcast by ABC15.
- Secured an Amended Final Judgment with Live Nation after discovering that Live Nation violated terms of a 2010 Consent Judgment related to its merger with Ticketmaster by pulling or threatening to pull its shows from a venue if the venue chose not to use Ticketmaster for its ticketing services. The antitrust judgment contains injunctive terms and an additional five-year monitoring period to prevent Live Nation from engaging in future anti-retaliation and anti-conditioning activities and hold Live Nation accountable for any further violations.
- Filed an antitrust complaint against Taro Pharmaceuticals, Perrigo New York, Fougera Pharmaceuticals (now Sandoz), and 23 more of the nation's largest generic drug manufacturers, alleging a broad conspiracy to artificially inflate and manipulate prices and reduce competition for approximately 80 different generic dermatology drugs.

Tobacco Enforcement Unit Highlights:

Youth Volunteer Recognition and Recruitment

- The Counter Strike Youth Tobacco Program usually holds an annual Recognition Ceremony to honor the youth volunteers who donate thousands of hours of time to keep tobacco products out of the hands of Arizona's kids. The Recognition Ceremony is typically hosted by the Arizona Diamondbacks and held at Chase Field with lots of fun and a little pomp and circumstance. Unfortunately, like so many large gatherings this year, the Recognition Ceremony had to be cancelled for the safety of everyone involved. However, the Program could not let this year's group of dedicated volunteers go without recognition. We created certificates for each youth volunteer, signed by the AG, and mailed each youth a package with their certificate, a thank you letter, and an official Counter Strike t-shirt. It was nice to touch base with everyone and let these volunteers know that we did not forget about their contributions!

Civil Litigation Division

- As we look towards resuming youth tobacco inspections in the near future, the Program has started ramping up youth volunteer recruitment- virtually! We have started reaching out to our school and club partners and scheduling video-conference recruitment presentations. Our Special Agents are becoming Zoom pros as they venture into virtual classrooms! We have had a fantastic response with dozens of new volunteers submitting paperwork. The schools have also been very responsive to presentations in a virtual format. And, while we miss seeing the kids in person, this allows the agents to present to youth all over the state in the same day!

Non-Participating Manufacturer Adjustment Arbitration Settlement

- The Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement (“MSA”) entitles Arizona to an annual payment of approximately $100 million. The Tobacco Enforcement Unit goes to great lengths each year to satisfy this diligent enforcement requirement, which requires, among other things, collecting millions of dollars from cigarette manufacturers that have chosen to not join the MSA. These efforts have resulted in a multi-year settlement of the NPM Adjustments for years 2018 – 2022, protecting approximately $450 Million.

2019 Data Clearinghouse Proceeding

- Pursuant to the terms of the Tobacco Non-Participating Manufacturer (NPM) Adjustment settlement, the Settling States and the Participating Manufacturers (PMs) must participate in an annual Data Clearinghouse (DCH) Proceeding, during which BDO USA, a national economics firm, will review state-specific data supplied by the Settling States and PMs to determine if the state in question received Escrow Statute (A.R.S. § 44-7101) compliance on all NPM cigarettes on which state excise tax (SET) was collected. In the event Escrow Statute compliance was not received on all SET-paid NPM cigarettes, the state in question could be subject to an adjustment to its annual Master Settlement Agreement payment if the non-compliance amount goes beyond the safe harbor set forth in the settlement agreement. The 2019 DCH Proceeding began in August 2019. Due to the Tobacco Enforcement Unit’s diligent efforts to enforce the Escrow Statute as to all NPM cigarettes sales in Arizona, BDO USA was able to quickly determine that Arizona has zero non-compliant cigarettes resulting in no adjustment to Arizona’s MSA Payment to be received April 2021.

Fond Farewells and New Faces in Great Places!

Criminal Appeals

On May 1, 2020 we bid farewell to Criminal Appeals Section Chief, Joe Maziarz. Joe was with the office for 35 years, with the last 8.5 years serving as CAS Section Chief. We would like to give a big thank you to CAS Unit Chief Mike O'Toole for taking on the role of Interim Section Chief until Linley Wilson officially stepped into the position on November 30, 2020. Congratulations, Linley!

CAS also said farewell to Unit Chief Rob Walsh on May 15, 2020. Rob had been in CAS for over 25 years! With Rob leaving, we welcomed back Alice Jones who returned to the office on May 26, 2020 and took over the Unit Chief position. Congratulations, Alice!

On April 21, 2020 we said goodbye to Legal Secretary II, Nancy Romero. In the blink of an eye, Oscar Lopez swiftly learned the ropes and stepped in to that position! On December 4, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Terry Crist, and on December 16, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Heather Mosher.

Capital Litigation

On January 13, 2020 the Capital Litigation Section welcomed two new AAG's, David Ahl and Elizabeth Bingert! Welcome to the AGO David and Elizabeth! On March 16, 2020, CLS said goodbye to Senior Legal Assistant, Stacy Coleman as she reached out for new endeavors!

On April 6, 2020 we were happy to have Jeff Sparks return to the office as a CLS Unit Chief. Welcome back, Jeff! On November 25, 2019, Andrew Reilly transferred from CAS into a Unit Chief position for CLS. Congratulations, Andrew! On September 4, 2020, we said goodbye to AAG Jason Lewis.

Special Litigation Section

On November 15, 2019 we said goodbye to Deputy Solicitor General, Andrew Pappas as he accepted a position as counsel for the Arizona House of Representatives. On May 18, 2020 we were happy to have Mike Catlett come on board with us as Deputy Solicitor General, and on July 27, 2020 we welcomed Sarah Crank into a Legal Assistant position. Welcome to the AGO, Mike and Sarah!

On September 8, 2020 we bid a fond farewell to Solicitor General/Special Litigation Section Chief Counsel, O.H. Skinner, as he left the office to work on other legal endeavors! And a month later on October 9, 2020, we bid farewell to Deputy Solicitor General/Federalism Unit Chief Rusty Crandell after his appointment to serve as a Maricopa County Superior Court Judge!

FOUR CRIMINAL DIVISION MEMBERS WIN APAAC HONORS

The Criminal Division would like to recognize the following staff members that were nominated and received 2020 APAAC awards:

Administrator of the Year: FSP Legal Secretary Stacey Canez received APAAC's 2020 Administrator of the Year award. Stacey is a hard-working and dedicated individual who exhibits all the qualities of an exemplary employee. She completes her assignments with diligence and attention-to-detail. Over the past 15 years, Stacey advanced from a student clerk to a lead legal secretary with a great deal of operational skills and responsibilities. She possesses excellent administrative skills and an ability to work well with everyone. Stacey has taken on additional duties and responsibilities to assist others in the Division. She is able to handle Division fiscal matters including travel, procurement and budgetary issues as well as being able to assist the Division Chief as necessary in the absence of the Division OA. During the past year, Stacey has been instrumental in helping with the transition to a new AGO case management system, which has involved many meetings, additional assignments and the creation of training protocols for all employees.

Legal Assistant of the Year: HCFA Senior Legal Assistant Peni Cox received APAAC's 2020 Legal Assistant of the Year award. Peni is known for her tireless dedication and exceptional legal assistance to the attorneys she supports. Peni is tasked with running the HCFA Section in Prescott where she serves as not only a Legal Assistant, but also assists with secretarial and administrative matters as well. For the past nine years, Peni has been an exceptional employee with unwavering dedication to the AGO. She is a key component of the investigation and prosecution team that covers nearly half of the geographic area of the State. Peni is a leader in providing services in the Prescott office and also her assistance to the Phoenix and Tucson HCFA staff. She is always approachable, knowledgeable and is willing to do whatever it takes to get the job done. Thank you, Anne. We appreciate all you do!

David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award: FSP prosecutor Shawn Steinberg received APAAC's 2020 David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award. Shawn is a remarkable voice for the crime victims she represents and she deserves special recognition for her work with the victim's family in State v. Luna/Carrasco, a murder case involving two defendants who frequently committed home-invasions in an attempt to steal drugs. When she noticed these dangerous offenders would taunt the next of kin, she made appropriate records with the court, often drawing the ire of the defendants and sometimes their attorneys. When confrontations would occur in the hallway, Shawn skillfully defused the situation and protected the victim's family with the assistance of court security, often times securing the removal of antagonistic persons from the courtroom. Shawn worked closely with the victim advocate and the victim's family to craft plea agreements that reflected the nature of the case, the defendants' criminal histories and relative involvement, and at the same time, ensuring that justice prevailed for the victim. Both defendants pled guilty to the murder. Luna was sentenced to 23 years and Carrasco was sentenced to 17 years in prison. The victim's family was pleased with the outcome and Shawn's hard work helped to minimize the trauma that they experienced in the court process. The family expressed their appreciation for Shawn's hard work and dedication.

Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award: FSP Section Chief Blaine Gadow received APAAC's 2020 Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award for his prosecution of a human sex trafficking trial. The victim's testimony was necessary for the case to proceed. The victim was very anxious and worried about testifying. Instead of using the procedural tools available to prosecutors such as an arrest warrant to ensure the victim's participation at trial, he empowered her in a multidisciplinary manner through support, empathy and providing options that resulted in her choosing to testify. Thanks to Blaine and his team's ability to empower the victim to testify, justice prevailed. The jury found the defendant guilty on 11 felony counts, including Child Sex Trafficking, Conspiracy, Money Laundering and Sexual Exploitation of a Minor. After the verdict, the victim's name and location had been released on social media by acquaintances of the defendant. Her safety and well-being were a large concern for Blaine while the defendant awaited sentencing. Blaine advocated for the safety and well-being of the victim after she provided testimony. He collaborated with others in the agency to achieve a unique solution to maintain the victim's safety until her transition to Department of Child Safety (DCS) services could be obtained. Blaine is a compassionate prosecutor and is very deserving of this award.

In addition, the Criminal Division would like to recognize the following additional staff members who were nominated for APAAC recognition:

Advocate of the Year: OVS Victim Advocate Evelyn Robles was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Advocate of the Year. Evelyn has been employed with the AGO since 2017. Evelyn has a complex case load consisting of fraud, child sexual exploitation, and human trafficking cases in both direct prosecution and appellate cases, also including death penalty cases. Her passion for meeting the needs of survivors of trafficking has positively affected the fight against predators and perpetrators on an international scale. Each victim is an individual often requiring creative advocacy and partnerships atypical for standard prosecution-based advocates. In 2019, Evelyn was an integral part of the successes in the case against Robert Hood. She worked with the trafficking survivor through the investigation and prosecution phases which resulted in the survivor testifying against Hood on her 18th birthday.

These efforts helped to secure a 108-year prison sentence while at the same time helping to find creative ways to serve the survivor post-conviction.

Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award: HCFA Section Chief Steve Duplissis was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award. Under Steve's leadership, HCFA was recognized in 2019 as the second highest performing Medicaid Fraud Unit in the nation for filing criminal indictments. This impressive achievement is unsurprising given Steve's unwavering passion to investigate and prosecute medical professionals who defraud the government and abuse some of Arizona's most vulnerable residents. Steve inspires that same passion in his employees, and they directly benefit from his thoughtful leadership and mentoring. Steve's section oversaw over 100 cases in 2019, ranging from

Criminal Division

large-scale Medicaid billing fraud to a former doctor's murder-for-hire prosecution. Steve's leadership has made HCFA a model for similar offices across the nation. He is a dedicated prosecutor who cares about the profession, his employees, victims and Arizona's citizens. In fact, the Arizona MFCU team was selected for the Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Inspector General's Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste, and Abuse. Steve is an asset to Arizona's prosecution community.

Rising Star Award: FSP prosecutor Evan Malady was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Rising Star Award. Evan started working in FSP in February 2019. Evan became quickly proficient in his position, developing his skills in directing and managing complex fraud and other investigations. Although only a two-year lawyer, Evan has successfully handled a wide variety of complex fraud cases. He has exceptional organizational skills, communicates well with law enforcement agents, defense attorneys and court staff and is known for working very hard. When Evan joined the Section, he immediately became involved in several high-profile and complex matters. Evan was instrumental in the Paul Petersen AHCCCS-fraud case. He was part of the initial investigation, participated in witness interviews, attended the search warrants and ultimately presented the case to the State Grand Jury. The Petersen case was extremely complex and it consisted of several different criminal investigations across multiple jurisdictions. Evan has handled the complexity of this case with skill and professional maturity. The defendant in this matter had skilled and experienced defense attorneys. Evan diligently worked with them to move the prosecution forward and effectively represent the State's interests. In June 2020, Petersen pled guilty to Fraudulent Schemes and Artifices, Forgery and Fraudulent Schemes and Practices and was sentenced to six years in prison.

Drug & Racketeering Enforcement Section

The DRG Section would like the welcome to following team members:

05/18/20 AAG Nichole Galusha-Troicke
06/15/20 AAG Rebecca Kennelly
07/27/20 Sr. LA Ronnie Danko

In August, AAG Gina Cucuzella resigned as she accepted a position with the Pinal County Attorney's Office. Good luck Ginal!

In September, SLC Nick Saccone resigned as he accepted a position as a Court Commissioner with the Maricopa County Superior Court. Congrats Honorable Saccone!

Criminal Division

AAG Rebecca Jones resolved the case of State v. Angel Bonilla-Hernandez. This case involved a lingering co-defendant on a case where the primary defendants transported five kg of cocaine and were part of a wiretap case. Bonilla-Hernandez had a viable "mere presence" defense and was asking for a class six undesignated plea. Law enforcement was pushing for a prison resolution. The case resolved with a class 4 felony and a three year term of supervised probation, along with a hefty fine. This resolution will allow the defendant to continue working, which will hopefully discourage recidivism

Section Chief Theresa Rassas' daughters Regan (13) and MoMo (4) diligently worked on cards for the troops.

Theresa Rassas and her daughter Regan also volunteered to sort and pack holiday groceries for Feed Our Babies.

SLA Linda Pfohl retired after working nearly eight years in the DRG Section. Linda was extremely knowledgeable and helpful in large, complex wiretap cases. Unfortunately, a retirement party had to be postponed. Linda

After a lot of hard work and testing, AAG Rebecca Jones was chosen to be on the game show Jeopardy! The episode aired on December 10th. She was fortunate to have appeared with Alex Trebek. Great job Rebecca!

Criminal Division

Financial Remedies Section

FRS welcomed four new staff during the last several months.

In July 2020, LSII Jennifer Villescas started in FRS and she has smoothly transitioned into her position. She brings 13+ years of criminal and civil legal secretarial experience to FRS, making her an asset to the team.

In September 2020, AAG Elliot Stratton was hired. Elliot received his JD in 2017 and also holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration. For his first three years of practice, Elliot was a judicial staff clerk for federal judges in Florida and Washington, D.C. Elliot was recommended to FRS by our Solicitor General, under whom Elliot performed an internship at the AGO. That recommendation has proved to be well earned as Elliot is already working on some major cases.

Also in September 2020, AAG Mukai "Kai" Amoo transferred from CFPD to FRS. Kai also holds a Master's Degree and brings nine years of experience and a background in family law, estate planning, criminal defense and civil litigation to her position. Her familiarity with civil practice and procedure has given her a running start on the work she is doing in FRS.

In October 2020, AAG Jake Rapp passed the Bar and started with FRS shortly after. Jake interned with FRS in 2018, during which he authored an article on tactical investigations and enforcement remedies against illegal massage parlor businesses for ANOA Magazine. Jake's strong interest in addressing white collar crime made him an ideal candidate for FRS and a welcome addition.

Recent FRS case work has concentrated on fraud victim recovery. This includes completion of the Paul Petersen adoption fraud case and the recovery of nearly $700,000 for AHCCCS; assistance in the Hacienda Health Care case in completing a settlement agreement under which Hacienda will be re-paying over $10 million dollars to AHCCCS and a $1 million dollar fine; and the execution of search and seizure warrants and the initiation of an FRS case on another AHCCCS fraud case in conjunction with the SIS and HCFA sections based on a $12 million dollar fraud amount.

Fraud & Special Prosecutions Section

The FSP Section would like to welcome the following team members that were hired in the last several months!

06/29/20 – AAG John Hudson

07/13/20 – AAG Maura Quigley (re-hire!)

08/24/20 – SLA David Rohe

Criminal Division

09/21/20 – AAG Carmine Mediate
09/21/20 – LSI Anna Hunt
10/05/20 – AAG Tom Maksemous

to our team!

In December 2020, AAG Rachel Nava resigned to return to the Arizona Supreme Court as a staff attorney. We wish her well in her new position!

In June 2020, the FSP Section bid farewell to SLA Dominique Rivas.

Welcome Baby George! On June 29th, AAG Tarah White and her husband Patrick welcomed their first child! Congrats!

On October 3rd, LSII Sarah Garrett married her long-time love Heath Karr! They have combined their households and their family has multiplied by four. Congrats Sarah!

In October 2020, the FSP Section said farewell to our friend and colleague SLC Scott Blake. Scott left the AGO to return to the cool pines of Prescott and the friendly confines of the Yavapai County Attorney's Office. Normally, for a long-serving employee like Scott, we would have had a potluck or some kind of gathering to celebrate his service and wish him well, but COVID prevents us from doing that this year. Scott has been a dedicated prosecutor and we thank him for his service and dedication to the mission of the office, and to ethical and honest prosecution in general, setting a great standard for the office. He carried a case heavy load and he will be missed. Good luck Scott!

Criminal Division

Healthcare Fraud & Abuse Section

In October 2020, the United States Department of Health and Human Services had their virtual annual awards meeting. Of the 50 state Medicaid Fraud Control Units (MFCU), Arizona's Unit had been chosen and formally awarded the Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste and Abuse. In making their announcement, HHS-OIG remarked that the Arizona MFCU obtained an impressive number of case outcomes, with 84 indictments, 70 convictions, and total recoveries of over $7.5 million. The Unit also opened 239 investigations, with a particular focus on drug diversion cases, which accounted for 115 of those investigations. The Unit employs a staff of 27 that includes attorneys, special agents, and other professionals. The Unit is led by Section Chief Steve Duplissis, who has served as the Unit's director since 2005 and is one of the longest serving directors among the MFCUs. Congrats MFCU Team!!

In September 2020, after a thorough Medicaid fraud investigation into Hacienda Healthcare, Inc., it was determined that the former officers improperly allocated direct and indirect costs, inflated reported expenses and engaged in improper billing during 2013-2018, resulting in an overpayment of at least $10,895,648 from AHCCCS to Hacienda. SIS SAs and AAGs from HCFA, FSP and FRS worked together to reach a civil settlement with Hacienda. Hacienda is to pay the State more than $11,000,000 to resolve this case. Congrats Team!

HCFA would like to welcome the following SIS Special Agents assigned to HCFA Units 1 and 2.

SA Kelly Angel started her law enforcement career with the Glendale Police Department. Kelly spent the past eight years with the Tempe Police Department where she served as a Patrol Field Training Officer, DUI Officer, Public Information Officer and IACP Drug Recognition Expert.

Criminal Division

SA Peter Tran previously served in New York City with the New York County District Attorney's Office as a Detective Investigator for five years where he specialized in financial fraud and organized crime investigations, along with fugitive extraditions. Peter earned his Bachelor's and Master of Science in Criminal Justice from Rochester Institute of Technology.

SA Roy Garrison previously worked for nine years with City of Eloy Police Department in Pinal County where the majority of the time he worked as a General Detective. Roy is a University of Arizona graduate where he majored in Accounting.

Prescott Valley Police Department contacted HCFA-Prescott regarding Emma-Kaye Parrish. Parrish had been employed as a finance manager by a behavioral health facility in Yavapai County. One of Parrish's duties at the facility was paying vendors for goods and services rendered to the AHCCCS funded facility where she worked. Although Parrish would input the information correctly into the facility's financial program, thus indicating that the vendor had been paid, she would manually change the payee on the check to herself or to other entities for her personal expenses. In June 2020, Parrish pled guilty to Theft and Forgery and was later sentenced to three years in prison, followed by five years' supervised probation. She was also ordered to pay restitution to AHCCCS in the amount of $65,436. Congrats to SA Mark McClain and AAG Courtney Kramer on resolving this case!

Office of Victim Services

OVS extends a warm welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20 – VA Jill Blass

07/27/20 – VA Amberly Frank

Special thanks to OALaura Lyons, VALinda Carthen and VAAAlbert Fimbres for their excellent work on developing a comprehensive, thoughtful and engaging plan to help the AGO recognize Domestic Violence Awareness month! By helping bring awareness, their plan also was a source of support to others who may be experiencing or others working in the field of domestic violence. Thanks for the time and effort spent to develop this necessary plan!

The OVS Outreach team worked hard converting its five hour Basic and three hour Advanced victims' rights trainings to engaging, effective Webinars over the last few months. In September 2020, trainings included videos, polling and even a crossword puzzle. Remarkably, the team successfully trained over 800 victims' rights professionals from all 15 counties in just three weeks. Attendee evaluations were overwhelmingly positive for the content and method of delivery.

On September 26th, OVS Outreach Coordinator Ashtyn Cronk (now Beuchler) got married. Although it was not her original plan, the couple had a small family-only ceremony that was beautiful. Congrats!

In November 2020, VA Supervisor Evelyn Robles who, as of November, 2020, is a new homeowner! House comes complete with a rooftop terrace sporting a city view! Congrats Evelyn!

OVS Advocate Program Manager, Amy Bocks, was awarded a Director's Unit Citation from the Arizona Department of Public Safety for her volunteer work on the 2019 DPS Annual Memorial 5K in Tucson. She has been part of the main planning committee for more than five years. Although challenging, this year's virtual event ran smoothly thanks to Amy's commitment.

Southern Arizona White Collar and Criminal Enterprise Section:

Section Chief Nick Klingerman and OA Martita Jimenez (in background) are taking cleaning seriously by sanitizing the entire section.

Criminal Division

In October 2020, Section Chief Nick Klingerman argued in front of the Arizona Supreme Court in State v. Goldin. While bantering with the justices, Nick articulately and persuasively explained to the full court why the appearance of impropriety standard set out on State v. Gomez should not apply to imputed disqualification of the entire Tucson office of the AGO. Nick highlighted the strategic nature and timing of defendant's motion to disqualify the office from prosecuting a 20 year old cold case homicide and proposed a new standard of analysis. He stepped back into his old appellate shoes, briefing and preparing tirelessly for oral argument, while continuing to supervise the unit. While a ruling is still pending, Nick won unanimous praise and enthusiasm from his SAWCEE colleagues who eagerly watched a livestream of the arguments! Special thanks to AAG Lindsay St. John as well. Lindsay is the second chair on this case and has provided valuable legal analysis and assistance.

In June 2020, AAG Julia Kaiserman joined the Section. She previously worked for the last 12 years at the Pima County Attorney's Office. While at PCAO, she was a dedicated trial and charging attorney, along with an 88-CRIME Safe School Program Manager. She hit the ground running at the AGO. Welcome, Julia!

In September 2020, SLA Adrienne Gutierrez welcomed her granddaughter, Lucy Grace Gutierrez. Congrats Mimi!

On October 7, 2020, LSII Maria Slinger and family welcomed daughter, Faith Gabrielle Slinger. Big Sister Sienna LOVES her real life baby doll. Congrats!

After an exceptional 20 year career with the AGO, LA PS Allison Bradford decided to retire. The Section has benefited from Allison's experience, institutional knowledge and mentorship. Her "Cheat Sheet" for tracking cases will continue to benefit others after she retires. Allison is a dedicated, thoughtful public servant, who truly cares about her community. Her drive to make Tucson, and Arizona, better showed in her work, with Allison receiving numerous awards during her tenure. Notably, Allison was APAAC's 2018 Legal Assistant of the Year. Congrats Allison! We are excited for your new journey!

Criminal Division

In November 2020, LSII Jenny Lewis accepted a job offer at Raytheon. It has been great working with Jenny over the past year. We wish her well in her new position!

Special Investigations Section:

SIS extends a huge welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20	SA Carri Stubblefield
07/27/20	SA Mark Smith
08/10/20	SA John Hillman
09/08/20	SA Peter Tran
09/21/20	SA Desire Urbina
10/05/20	SA Kelly Angel
10/19/20	SA Jeffery Whitbeck
11/16/20	SA Roy Garrison
12/14/20	Eric Marlowe

SA Steven Sussen was recognized as a recipient by the Tucson Police Department for his efforts on behalf of vulnerable children. This achievement is truly representative of his commitment to ensure the safety of those least able to protect themselves. The Awards presentation is scheduled for January 2021. Congrats Steven! We are proud to work with you!

On July 9, 2020, SA Danny Miller and his wife Ramona extended their family. Cameron Arman Miller weighed in at 8lbs 2oz, and was 20.25 inches long. Congrats Danny!

On November 3, 2020, members of the SIS Election Integrity Unit, SA Bill Knuth, SA Annalisa Madsen and Criminal Investigator Don Carroll worked a 16 hour day monitoring a law enforcement hotline that had been established to assist other law enforcement agencies and personnel who were called out to respond to any election or voting fraud matters. Members of the unit were also available to respond to any polling locations or election scenes as needed. Members of the unit have coordinated with various agencies and had the opportunity to resolve several matters. Outstanding work by all involved.

Criminal Division

SA Annalisa Madsen conducted the investigation into former charter school principal, Harold Cadiz. In September 2020, Cadiz was sentenced to 3.75 years in prison followed by five years' probation and ordered to pay $2,538,722 in restitution for his role in enrolling fake students to obtain funding from the Arizona Department of Education, the U.S. Department of Education and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. As part of the investigation, the AGO seized hundreds of fraudulent documents. SLC Mary Harriss prosecuted the case. Congrats Team!

After serving 34 years in law enforcement, nine years with the AGO, SA Ron Perreira, is officially retired. SA Perreira has worked tirelessly on many wiretaps and drug related crimes with the AGO. Congrats Ron – you have fought the good fight, you have finished the race! You will be missed at the AGO.

In November 2019, former SA John "JT" Walsh passed away unexpectedly. As a former long-standing member of the AGO Running Team, it had been planned to honor JT at the Baker to Vegas Race with a custom designed runner's bib for the 2020 race. However, the 2020 race was canceled due to the pandemic. The AGO Running Team still ordered the bibs in remembrance of our dear friend and colleague. The team will present the bib to JT's wife Franzi who was going to attend the 2020 race in his honor.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

The court below held that Arizona's policy of refusing to count ballots, even for statewide offices, if they were cast by voters in precincts where the voters did not reside resulted in a denial or abridgement of the right to vote on account of race or language-minority status in violation of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. The court likewise held that an Arizona statute that criminalizes non-fraudulent collection of another person's early ballot not only violated Section 2's results test, but also was intentionally discriminatory, in violation of both Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment. The questions presented are:

1. Did the court below correctly interpret Section 2's plain text to find that Arizona's out-of-precinct policy and ballot-collection statute violate Section 2?
2. Did the court below correctly find that the ballot-collection statute was enacted with discriminatory intent in violation of Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment?

INTRODUCTION

“[V]oting discrimination still exists; no one doubts that.” Shelby Cnty. v. Holder, 570 U.S. 529, 536 (2013). Since this Court’s 2013 decision in Shelby County, plaintiffs seeking to redress voting discrimination have relied primarily on Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act (“VRA”). The en banc court below applied the two-step test generally used by the circuit courts to address such claims and found that both Arizona’s policy of refusing to count ballots cast out of precinct (the “OOP Policy”) and its law prohibiting the non-fraudulent collection of early ballots (“H.B. 2023”) resulted in voting discrimination in violation of Section 2.

In a radical departure from the status quo, Petitioners argue that Section 2’s results test should not even apply to supposedly facially race-neutral policies or practices like those at issue here, regardless of their actual impact on minority voters. That position finds no support in the text, structure, or purpose of the statute. The United States, in contrast, offers a more modest approach—restyling the circuits’ two-step test as a three-part inquiry, but leaving largely undisturbed the substantive standard for determining the existence of unlawful voting discrimination. In the United States’ formulation, Section 2 prohibits a result where (1) voters of one racial group have less ability to vote, and (2) the challenged practice is found to be a cause of that lesser ability, after (3) considering the government’s justifications for the practice and all other relevant circumstances. U.S. Br. 11-12, 25. Although the en banc court articulated the Section 2 results test in different terms, it nonetheless applied each element the United States demands. Accordingly, even if the Court adopts the United States’ articulation of the results test, the decision below should be affirmed.

In line with the United States’ emphasis on looking to the justifications for the challenged practice, the court below underscored that the OOP Policy lacked any legitimate justification. As Arizona’s chief elections officer, Respondent Secretary of State Katie Hobbs is particularly well-positioned to speak to the Policy’s lack of justification. Precisely because she determined—in consultation with county election officials—that there is no justification for the Policy, Respondent Hobbs chose not to appeal the decision below. Because State law explicitly charges Respondent Hobbs with that determination, and prohibits the Attorney General from appealing against her wishes, the OOP Policy is not even properly before this Court.

As to H.B. 2023, the ballot-collection statute, the court below followed the same analysis the United States recommends: It applied Section 2 to “smoke out” disparate treatment and the risk of intentional discrimination. U.S. Br. 16 (quotation marks omitted). Looking at the undisputed facts, the court found not only a risk of intentional discrimination, but also actual intentional discrimination, in violation of Section 2’s results and intent tests and the Fifteenth Amendment.

Properly read, the decision below does exactly what the United States advocates. It applies the plain text of Section 2 to an “intensely local appraisal” of the facts before it. U.S. Br. 18 (quoting Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 78 (1986)). The decision should be affirmed.

STATEMENT

A. Arizona's Election-Administration Structure.

Elections in Arizona are conducted under the authority of the Secretary of State, “Arizona’s chief elections officer.” JA244; accord Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-142(A)(1); see also Mi Familia Vota v. Hobbs, 977 F.3d 948, 950-51 (9th Cir. 2020). Like most states, Arizona provides for voting either by mail or in person. Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-541; JA259. Since 2011, Arizona has allowed counties to choose whether to conduct in-person voting at precinct polling places or at countywide “vote centers.” JA262-63. The vote-center model “allow[s] any voter in that county,” regardless of home precinct, “to receive the appropriate ballot for that voter on election day” at a voting center “and to lawfully cast the ballot.” Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-411(B)(4). In the 2020 election, the great majority of Arizona’s counties—including the most populous county, Maricopa—opted to use either a vote-center model or a hybrid model in which voters could vote at either their assigned precinct or a vote center. 2020 November Election, Arizona Citizens Clean Elections Commission.<sup>1</sup> As the United States acknowledges, the OOP Policy “ha[s] no impact’ in counties using the vote-center system.” U.S. Br. 4 n.1 (quoting JA263).

The Arizona Legislature has charged the Secretary of State with drafting an “Elections Procedures Manual” to govern how elections are conducted in the State. The Manual must “prescribe rules” for, among other things,

“the procedures for early voting and voting,” as well as for “producing, distributing, collecting, counting, tabulating and storing ballots.” Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-452(A); see Ariz. Libertarian Party, Inc. v. Bayless, 351 F.3d 1277, 1280 (9th Cir. 2003) (per curiam). Though she need not follow their advice, the Secretary must consult with county election officials before prescribing these rules. Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-452(A).

Where Arizona’s statutes do not mandate a specific policy, the Secretary may choose between permissible alternatives and enshrine her choice in the Manual.<sup>2</sup> See, e.g., Gonzalez v. Arizona, 677 F.3d 383, 404 (9th Cir. 2012), aff’d sub nom. Arizona v. Inter Tribal Council of Ariz., Inc., 570 U.S. 1 (2013). The Manual “has the force and effect of law,” independent of the statutes it implements and interprets. Id. at 397.

The current Secretary of State, Respondent Hobbs, took office in January 2019. She campaigned in 2018 on a platform that emphasized “removing barriers that can make it harder for minorities, seniors and low-income people to vote.” Dustin Gardiner, Gaynor, Hobbs Have Vastly Different Views on Access to Ballot, Dark Money in Elections, The Republic (Oct. 26, 2018). Respondent Hobbs expressly opposed H.B. 2023 (the ballot-collection law) during her campaign, stating that it was “certainly meant to disenfranchise voters” and was <sup>2</sup> The Attorney General and Governor must approve the Manual before it is published, Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-452(B), but the Attorney General has described this duty as “ministerial,” State Defs.’ Reply in Supp. of Mot. to Dismiss Second Am. Compl. at 2, 4 n.4, Ariz. Democratic Party v. Ariz. Sec’y of State’s Office, 2017 WL 840693 (D. Ariz. Feb. 14, 2017) (No. 2:16-CV-01065-DLR), ECF No. 262.

“unnecessary because voter fraud already is a felony” in Arizona. Id. Her opponent, by contrast, supported H.B. 2023 and advocated, among other things, that election materials no longer be printed in Spanish. Id.

Upon assuming office, Respondent Hobbs inherited this lawsuit from her predecessor. She never defended H.B. 2023 in court. See Notice of Substitution of Party, DNC v. Hobbs, 948 F.3d 989 (9th Cir. 2020) (No. 18-15845), ECF No. 82. Following the en banc court’s ruling below, she consulted with county officials and decided that she also would no longer defend the OOP Policy. Press Release, Ariz. Sec’y of State, Hobbs Opposes AG’s Appeal of DNC v. Hobbs (Jan. 29, 2020). She engaged in “conversations with county recorders and election officials in all 15 counties” and was “confident in their ability to address the issues associated with out-of-precinct voting without needlessly extending this litigation.” Id. The Secretary thus determined that she would not seek further review. Id. The Attorney General nonetheless appealed against her wishes.

B. Arizona’s Policy Regarding Provisional Ballots Cast “Out of Precinct.”

Arizona’s OOP Policy “derives from the collective effect of” several Arizona statutes “and related rules in the Arizona Elections Procedures Manual.” JA243. Statutory provisions require that voters appear on the register in the precinct in which they reside, Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-122, and that those not listed on a precinct’s register be allowed to cast provisional ballots, id. §§ 16-135(B), 16-584(B)-(C).

No Arizona statute prohibits county recorders from counting provisional ballots for those offices for which out-of-precinct (“OOP”) voters are eligible to vote, including all statewide offices. That directive comes from the Manual alone. JA37-38. The Manual states that county recorders may only count a provisional ballot if “the voter is eligible to vote in the precinct” and is not “in the wrong precinct/voting area.” Id. Unless voters meet these requirements, their “ballot[s] shall remain unopened and shall not be counted.” JA37.

County officials “are not empowered to count or reject ballots at their discretion.” JA266. Instead, “[a]ll proceedings at the counting center ... shall be conducted in accordance with the approved instructions and procedures manual.” Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-621(A). The Manual is thus the operative source of the OOP Policy. See JA266 (holding that plaintiffs’ injuries from the OOP Policy were redressable because the court could require the Secretary “to prescribe [plaintiffs’ proffered] procedure in the Elections Procedures Manual, which county election officials then would be bound by law to follow”).

Relying on the district court’s factual findings but disagreeing with its ultimate conclusion, the en banc Ninth Circuit held that the OOP Policy violates Section 2. JA659. The court applied the two-step test the circuits generally use for vote-denial claims. JA612. Under that test, the court first determined whether the Policy resulted in a disparate burden on members of the protected class. Id. Next, the court analyzed whether the Policy “interacted with social and historical conditions” to cause that disparate burden. JA613.

At the first step, the court found that the OOP Policy clearly resulted in a disparate burden on minority voters. “Uncontested evidence in the district court established that minority voters in Arizona cast OOP ballots at twice the rate of white voters.” JA617; see JA332-33, 594-96. This was in part because minority voters in Arizona experience 30% less polling-place stability than white voters across elections. JA111, 590. In key counties, Hispanic and Native American voters lived further from their polling places than white voters. JA592-93. The court found that “[v]oters who live more than 1.4 miles from their assigned polling place are 30 percent more likely to vote OOP than voters who live within 0.4 miles of their assigned polling place.” JA592. The undisputed evidence also showed that Arizona is an “extreme outlier,” rejecting OOP ballots at a rate more than 11 times higher than the next highest state. JA588-89. Relying on this evidence, the en banc court concluded that “[t]he challenged practice—not counting OOP ballots [at all]—results in ‘a prohibited discriminatory result’; a substantially higher percentage of minority votes than white votes are discarded.” JA622 (quotation marks omitted).

At the second step, the court considered the Senate Report factors (“Senate factors”) this Court embraced in Gingles to perform Section 2’s totality-of-circumstances inquiry. JA623-24. The court gave particular weight to the “tenuousness” of the State’s justification for the OOP Policy, noting “[t]here is no finding by the district court that would justify, on any ground, Arizona’s policy of entirely discarding OOP ballots.” JA655. The State justified the OOP Policy solely by pointing to the importance of Arizona’s precinct-based voting system. JA654-55. However, the district court made “no finding that counting or partially counting OOP ballots would threaten the integrity of” this system. JA655.

Absent the OOP Policy, Arizona would count OOP ballots for all eligible elections, including national and statewide elections. After consulting with county election officials, Respondent Hobbs determined that counties are able to implement such a system. See Press Release, Ariz. Sec’y of State, supra. The district court likewise acknowledged that properly counting OOP ballots was “administratively feasible.” JA307. Indeed, in recent elections, most Arizona counties have abandoned the precinct-based model and instead used either a vote-center or a hybrid model—successfully counting votes cast outside the precincts where voters resided. Supra at 3. This confirms the Secretary’s determination that counties can account for OOP votes without disenfranchising voters.

C. Arizona’s Ballot-Collection Statute, H.B. 2023.

Arizona introduced “early” voting-by-mail in the 1990s. JA259. Since 1997, Arizona has prohibited anyone from possessing another voter’s unmarked early ballot. Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-542(D); JA260. Arizona also “has long” criminalized fraudulent ballot-collection practices, including “knowingly mark[ing] a voted or unvoted ballot or ballot envelope with the intent to fix an election.” JA293 (quoting Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-1005(A)) (alteration in original). However, in 2016, Arizona passed H.B. 2023, which criminalized non-fraudulent third-party ballot collection. JA605-06. Except for a “family member, household member or caregiver of the voter,” any “person who knowingly collects voted or unvoted early ballots from another person is guilty of a class 6 felony.” Ariz. Rev. Stat. § 16-1005(H), (I)(2). Under this law, someone who helps an elderly neighbor by dropping her ballot in the mailbox can be punished by up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine. Id. §§ 13-702(D), 13-801(A); see Press Release, Ariz. Att’y Gen. (Dec. 23, 2020).

The State provided two justifications for H.B. 2023: preventing absentee voter fraud and maintaining the reality and public perception of election integrity. JA288. However, “no evidence of any fraud in the long history of third-party ballot collection in Arizona” has been found, JA601, even after Arizona counties were subpoenaed in this case for such evidence, JA290. The district court likewise found no evidence of widespread public concern about ballot-collection fraud either in the record or before the Arizona Legislature when it passed H.B. 2023. JA290. Moreover, fraudulent ballot collection was a felony long before H.B. 2023 criminalized non-fraudulent collection, and, of course, fraudulent collection remains a felony.

While there is no record evidence of absentee voter fraud in Arizona, there is “[e]xtensive and uncontradicted evidence ... that prior to the enactment of H.B. 2023, third parties collected a large and disproportionate number of early ballots from minority voters.” JA659; see JA325-30. The district court received “direct evidence from witnesses who had themselves acted as third-party ballot collectors” or who had “personally supervised” or “witnessed” third-party ballot collection. JA661. These witnesses “established that many thousands of early ballots were collected from minority voters by third parties” but, the district court found, white voters “did not significantly rely on third-party ballot collection.” JA661.

The district court thus concluded that minority voters in Arizona are far more likely than white voters to rely on third-party ballot collection. JA329-30. Relying on these findings but disagreeing with the district court’s legal conclusions, the en banc court found that H.B. 2023 had a significant, discriminatory effect on minority voters. The en banc court then examined the totality of circumstances, drawing on its analysis of the OOP Policy and citing additional record evidence. JA662-70.

First, the court noted that H.B. 2023 “grows directly out of” Arizona’s history of race discrimination. JA663. Legislators abandoned their initial attempt to ban non-fraudulent ballot collection in 2011 after the Department of Justice discovered “evidence in the record that the provision intentionally targeted Hispanic voters” while reviewing Arizona’s preclearance request under Section 5 of the VRA. Id. Legislators passed a second, similar law in 2013, but soon faced a voter referendum that would have both repealed the law and imposed a supermajority requirement on any future legislation on the topic. Id. To avoid that result, legislators repealed the law themselves. Id. Only after this Court eliminated the preclearance formula in Shelby County did the Arizona Legislature proceed to pass H.B. 2023, after a campaign “marked by race-based appeals.” Id.

Second, the court recognized that “H.B. 2023 is closely linked to the effects of discrimination that 'hinder' the ability of American Indian, Hispanic, and African American voters 'to participate effectively in the political process.'" JA664 (quoting Gingles, 478 U.S. at 37). Most relevant, "[r]eady access to reliable and secure mail service is nonexistent in some minority communities," including on Arizona's 21 reservations. JA327. Outside of major urban centers, only 18% of Native Americans in Arizona have access to home mail service. JA124, 183. And the district court found that "[a] surprising number of voters in the Hispanic community also distrust returning their voted ballot via mail" and that "unsecure mailboxes are an impediment for urban minorities who distrust the mail service and prefer instead to give their ballots to a volunteer." Id.

Third, "[t]he enactment of H.B. 2023 was the direct result of racial appeals in a political campaign." JA665; see JA343-45. Proponents of H.B. 2023 circulated a video created by Maricopa County Republican Chair A.J. LaFaro that featured "surveillance footage of a man of apparent Hispanic heritage appearing to deliver early ballots" and included commentary from LaFaro stating he "did not know if the person was an illegal alien, a [D]reamer, or citizen, but knew that he was a thug." JA344. The video played a prominent role in the debates over H.B. 2023 and was featured in campaign advertisements for Respondent Hobbs's predecessor, Michele Reagan. JA345.

Finally, the en banc court concluded that Arizona's justifications for H.B. 2023 were tenuous. JA666-70. The State justified H.B. 2023 as a fraud-prevention and election-integrity measure. JA288. But the district court found "no direct evidence that the type of ballot collection fraud the law is intended to prevent or deter has occurred,” JA347, despite bill advocates’ extensive efforts to find such fraud, JA290, 347, 667-68. Nor was election integrity a justification: “[T]hird-party ballot collection has had a long and honorable history” in Arizona, and any recent distrust of it stemmed from “the fraudulent campaign mounted by proponents of H.B. 2023.” JA669-70.

After holding that H.B. 2023 failed Section 2’s results test, the en banc court held that H.B. 2023 was passed with discriminatory intent in violation of both Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment. JA681. The court canvassed the four factors from Village of Arlington Heights v. Metropolitan Housing Development Corp., 429 U.S. 252, 266-68 (1977), and found that all supported the finding that racial discrimination was “a motivating factor” for H.B. 2023’s passage and that the law would not have been enacted without race-based allegations. JA679-80, 357.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

I. Under Section 2, a state may not impose or apply any policy or practice that “results in a denial or abridgement of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote on account of race or color [or language-minority status].” 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a). A Section 2 violation is established by showing, “based on the totality of circumstances, ... that the political processes leading to nomination or election in the State or political subdivision are not equally open to participation by members of a [protected] class of citizens ... in that its members have less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political process and to elect representatives of their choice.” Id. § 10301(b).

A. The plain text of the statute dictates its application. Whether that text is styled as the two-step test the circuits use or the three-part test the United States proposes, the text recognizes one core principle: To prevail on a vote-denial claim, plaintiffs must show that—based on the totality of circumstances and with particular attention to the government’s justification—the challenged practice results in minority voters’ having less ability to vote than other citizens. While Respondent Hobbs largely agrees with the United States’ reading of Section 2, the United States’ arguments that Section 2 requires proximate rather than but-for causation, that only state action is relevant to causation, and that theoretical alternative voting methods can excuse discriminatory policies misread the statute and misunderstand its purpose.

B. Petitioners depart radically from both the established circuit test and the United States’ standard by proposing limits on Section 2 that have no basis in text, purpose, or precedent. Petitioners wrongly assert that Congress’s 1982 amendments to Section 2 targeted only vote dilution (not vote denial) and that any purportedly race-neutral “time, place, and manner” voting restriction is immune from scrutiny under Section 2. A review of text and precedent easily disposes of both arguments. And, tellingly, the United States embraces neither. The United States likewise disavows Petitioners’ textually baseless arguments that the size of a disparity under Section 2 must be quantified to prove liability and that the Senate factors do not apply to vote-denial claims.

C. Properly read, Section 2 raises no constitutional issues. Under the statute’s plain language, a violation can never be proven merely by showing a statistical disparity in voting; the government’s policy must be a but-for cause of that disparity. Governments thus cannot be liable for racial disparities they did not help create. And Section 2’s totality-of-circumstances inquiry gives governments the opportunity to justify their policies. Section 2 fully recognizes that states bear primary responsibility for administering elections—including by establishing various time, place, and manner restrictions. It simply prohibits racial discrimination in election administration, even when caused by facially race-neutral policies.

II. The OOP Policy is not properly before this Court; and, in any event, it violates Section 2’s results test under either the en banc court’s or the United States’ formulation.

A. No Petitioner has standing to appeal the decision on the OOP Policy. This Court looks to Arizona law to determine who has standing to represent the State’s interests in court. For the OOP Policy—a policy the Secretary of State promulgated, not a statute the Legislature enacted—that person is the Respondent, Secretary of State Hobbs. Arizona’s Attorney General cannot appeal against Respondent Hobbs’s wishes, and the Arizona Republican Party (“ARP”) Petitioners also lack standing.

B. Even if any Petitioner had standing, the decision below was correct in finding that the OOP Policy violates Section 2. As the United States agrees, the district court was wrong to uphold the Policy based on the ground that it affected only a “small” number of voters. Moreover, Petitioners cannot justify the Policy. Indeed, Respondent Hobbs chose not to appeal the decision below precisely because the Policy is unjustified. This lack of justification is even more apparent today, when the great majority of Arizona’s counties use vote-center or hybrid models that belie any interest in protecting a precinct-based system.

III. The ballot-collection statute, H.B. 2023, violates Section 2’s results and intent tests, and likewise violates the Fifteenth Amendment.

A. Undisputed evidence demonstrated that minority voters rely on ballot collection at higher rates than white voters, and that being unable to rely on anyone other than family/household members or caregivers to assist with ballot delivery would disproportionately burden minority voters. H.B. 2023 thus led minority voters to have less ability to vote than other voters. None of Arizona’s proffered justifications explains how criminalizing non-fraudulent ballot collection prevents fraudulent ballot collection—which Arizona outlawed long before H.B. 2023.

B. In finding that H.B. 2023 was enacted with discriminatory intent, the en banc court did not transgress the limits of clear-error review. It simply applied the Arlington Heights factors to a record replete with evidence of racially motivated appeals.

ARGUMENT

I. Section 2 Prohibits Any Voting Practice that Results in a Denial of the Right to Vote on Account of Race.

For the reasons explained by DNC Respondents, the court below properly articulated and applied the two-part test used by the circuits for vote-denial claims. Although the United States restates the test as a three-part analysis, U.S. Br. 14-25, its elements are largely the same as those applied by the en banc court. Petitioners, by contrast, invent from whole cloth various restrictions or additional elements they want this Court to graft onto Section 2. Free of the caricature drawn by Petitioners, Section 2's results test does not implicate any constitutional concerns.

A. Section 2's Results Test Follows the Plain Text.

As with any statute, interpreting Section 2 requires “a careful examination of the ordinary meaning and structure of the law itself. Where ... that examination yields a clear answer, judges must stop.” Food Mktg. Inst. v. Argus Leader Media, 139 S. Ct. 2356, 2364 (2019).

Section 2 begins with an express prohibition: “No voting qualification or prerequisite to voting or standard, practice, or procedure shall be imposed or applied by any State or political subdivision in a manner which results in a denial or abridgement of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote on account of race or color [or language-minority status].” 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a). The statute then details what violates that prohibition—a showing that, “based on the totality of circumstances, ... the political processes leading to nomination or election in the State or political subdivision are not equally open to participation by members of a [protected] class of citizens ... in that its members have less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political process and to elect representatives of their choice.” Id. § 10301(b). Congress further defined the terms “vote” and “voting” to encompass “all action necessary to make a vote effective,” including “registration, ... casting a ballot, and having such ballot counted properly and included in the appropriate totals of votes cast.” Id. § 10310(c)(1).

1. The United States translates this text into a three-part test: “[F]irst, members of a protected group must have less ability to vote than other voters in light of the burdens imposed by the challenged practice and readily available alternative voting methods; second, the challenged practice must be responsible for that lesser ability, rather than other external factors not fairly attributed to the practice; and third, courts must take account of the totality of circumstances, including, among other things, the specific justifications for the challenged practice.” U.S. Br. 18.

Respondent Hobbs concurs with much of this interpretation. First, because Section 2’s language “refers to the consequences of actions and not just to the mindset of actors,” Section 2 imposes disparate-impact liability. Tex. Dep’t of Hous. & Cmty. Affairs v. Inclusive Cmty. Project, Inc., 576 U.S. 519, 533 (2015); see Chisom v. Roemer, 501 U.S. 380, 394-95 (1991). Both the court below and the United States agree. JA610; U.S. Br. 16-17. Second, because Section 2 includes a causation requirement, a plaintiff cannot prevail merely by showing a statistical disparity. Inclusive Cmty. Project, 576 U.S. at 542. Both the court below and the United States agree. JA613; U.S. Br. 17. Third, Section 2 guarantees equality of “opportunity” but does not guarantee particular electoral outcomes. Both the court below and the United States agree. JA 613; U.S. Br. 18-19. Fourth, Section 2 protects “the right of any citizen of the United States to vote” and thus its “focus should be on individuals” rather than solely on the broader electorate. Bostock v. Clayton Cnty., 140 S. Ct. 1731, 1740 (2020); see Holder v. Hall, 512 U.S. 874, 918 (1994) (Thomas, J., concurring in the judgment). Both the court below and the United States agree. JA619-21; U.S. Br. 29. Finally, Congress expressly mandated that courts consider the totality of circumstances—not merely some subset of circumstances. Both the court below and the United States agree. JA613; U.S. Br. 24.

The United States and Respondent Hobbs differ on just three aspects of the United States’ standard. First, the United States claims that the statute requires proximate, not but-for, causation.<sup>3</sup> U.S. Br. 22. That is wrong. It is the “ancient and simple ‘but for’ common law causation test,” not proximate causation, that “supplies the ‘default’ or ‘background’ rule against which Congress is normally presumed to have legislated when creating its own new causes of action.” Comcast Corp. v. Nat’l Ass’n of Af. Am.-Owned Media, 140 S. Ct. 1009,

<sup>3</sup> Although ARP Petitioners also advocate for proximate causation, Brnovich Petitioners appear to accept that the statute requires only “actual causality.” Brnovich Br. 23 (quotation marks omitted).

1014 (2020). Here, Section 2’s plain text confirms that Congress intended this lesser, default causation standard to apply: The statute uses the phrases “results in” and “on account of race” to describe its causation elements. 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a). Both indicate but-for causation.

As an initial matter, “[a] thing ‘results’ when it [a]rise[s] as an effect, issue, or outcome from some action, process, or design.” Burrage v. United States, 571 U.S. 204, 210 (2014) (alterations in original). This Court has therefore held that the phrase “[r]esults from’ imposes ... a requirement of actual causality.” Id. at 211; see also People v. Wood, 741 N.W.2d 574, 576 (Mich. Ct. App. 2007) (“by using the word ‘result’ instead of ‘cause’ in the statute, the Legislature specifically directed that only factual causation need be established”) (cited by Burrage, 571 U.S. at 214). Thus, “‘the ordinary meaning of ‘result[s] in’ imposes a requirement of actual or but-for causation,’ and not proximate causation.” United States v. Burkholder, 816 F.3d 607, 614 (10th Cir. 2016) (first alteration in original).

Meanwhile, the phrase “on account of race” is synonymous with “because of race.” See Bostock, 140 S. Ct. at 1739. And this Court has repeatedly held that a statutory “‘because of’ test incorporates the ‘simple’ and ‘traditional’ standard of but-for causation.” Id. (quoting cases). Likewise, the Fifteenth Amendment—which also uses “on account of race,” U.S. Const. amend. XV—is “best understood to forbid any voter qualification that makes race ... a but-for cause of the denial of the right to vote.” Jones v. Governor of Fla., 975 F.3d 1016, 1042 (11th Cir. 2020) (opinion of W. Pryor, C.J.).

The text leaves no doubt about either causation element, as Section 2's context and purpose confirm. Nothing in the provision's "context" indicates a higher causation standard; but-for causation would not, for instance, "cannibalize" other language in the statute. Husted v. A. Philip Randolph Inst., 138 S. Ct. 1833, 1842-43 (2018). Quite the opposite. Section 2 requires courts to evaluate a challenged policy in "the totality of circumstances." 52 U.S.C. § 10301(b). Imposing a proximate-cause requirement would unduly restrict the scope of this congressionally mandated inquiry. "It would be unacceptable to adopt a causal standard so strict that it would undermine congressional intent where neither the plain text of the statute nor legal tradition demands such an approach." Paroline v. United States, 572 U.S. 434, 458 (2014).

Second and relatedly, the United States asserts that Section 2 requires plaintiffs to prove that state action caused the racial disparity. U.S. Br. 21-24; see also ARP Br. 29-30; Brnovich Br. 24, 32. If the United States means that governmental policy must be the vehicle by which societal disparities are channeled into the electoral realm, it is correct—and the court below already required as much. But a claim that a court may consider only state-sponsored discrimination in its analysis runs headlong into precedent. This Court has long held that "Section 2 ... prohibits any practice or procedure that, 'interact[ing] with social and historical conditions,' impairs the ability of a protected class to elect its candidate of choice on an equal basis with other voters." Voinovich v. Quilter, 507 U.S. 146, 153 (1993) (emphasis added) (alterations in original). Thus, though the challenged practice must be a but-for cause of minority voters' unequal opportunity to participate and elect, Section 2 allows courts to consider private activity and societal and historical discrimination, as well.<sup>4</sup>

This does not make governments liable for discrimination they did not cause or caused only in the past. See U.S. Br. 22-23; ARP Br. 30. Nor does it force courts to impose Section 2 remedies that would require the government to eliminate private discrimination. See Inclusive Cmty's., 576 U.S. at 544; S. Rep. No. 97-417, at 31 (1982), as reprinted in 1982 U.S.C.C.A.N. 177, 208 (“the remedy fashioned must be commensurate with the right that has been violated”). Rather, it recognizes that electoral laws do not exist in a vacuum and that certain election practices, interacting with preexisting inequities, can create predictably unequal electoral opportunities. Thus, a government policy violates Section 2 if it “combines with other factors to produce the [prohibited] result, so long as the other factors alone would not have done so.” Burrage, 571 U.S. at 211. If the challenged policy is a cause of a disparity in opportunity, <sup>4</sup> See, e.g., League of United Latin Am. Citizens v. Perry (LULAC), 548 U.S. 399, 438-40 (2006) (finding districting change violated Section 2 because local Hispanics “were becoming more politically active,” and “the ‘political, social, and economic legacy of past discrimination’” against “Latinos in Texas ... may well ‘hinder their ability to participate effectively in the political process’”); Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 80 (1986) (holding multimember-districting scheme in violation of Section 2 based on its interaction with “racially polarized voting; the legacy of official discrimination in voting matters, education, housing, employment, and health services; and the persistence of campaign appeals to racial prejudice”).

and if that disparity would not exist but for voters' race, that is the causation Section 2 requires.

Third and finally, the United States argues that “courts considering limitations on one voting method must account for available alternative methods.” U.S. Br. 20-21.<sup>5</sup> To be sure, no voting practice exists in isolation. And courts should consider the challenged practice’s interaction with other election laws as part of the totality-of-circumstances inquiry—for other laws, while “neither in themselves improper nor invidious,” may “enhance[] the opportunity for racial discrimination” resulting from the challenged practice. White v. Regester, 412 U.S. 755, 766 (1973).

But just as a plaintiff cannot establish liability merely by pointing to statistical disparities in voting practices, so, too, a defendant cannot escape liability merely by pointing to the availability of alternative voting practices. Minority voters always will have some theoretical other means to vote. Simply claiming that whatever other practices the government has are equally open will not do. Section 2 does not give defendants a get-out-of-jail-free card for one policy with discriminatory results just because they have other non-discriminatory policies. The entire political process must be “equally open” to voters of all races. 52 U.S.C. § 10301(b) (emphasis added). If the government gives voters of one race more opportunity to vote than voters of other races, it is no answer to say the process is open enough for the disadvantaged voters.<sup>6</sup>

This standard does not prevent states from “eliminat[ing] a [voting] method some prefer” if the resulting process remains equally open, nor does it force states to “adopt” a new voting method that “members of one race would prefer” if the status quo already provides equal opportunity. U.S. Br. 21. Section 2 does not mandate “maximiz[ing]” minority voters’ opportunities. Johnson v. De Grandy, 512 U.S. 997, 1017 (1994). Instead, when considering the availability of alternative methods, courts must undertake an “intensely local appraisal of the design and impact’ of the contested electoral mechanisms.” Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 79 (1986) (emphasis added). And they must bear in mind that deliberate elimination of a voting practice known to be used disproportionately by minority voters creates exactly the “risk of purposeful discrimination” that the United States warns against. U.S. Br. 16 (quoting City of Rome v. United States, 446 U.S. 156, 177 (1980)); cf. League of United Latin Am. Citizens v. Perry (LULAC), 548 U.S. 399, 440 (2006).

2. This reading of Section 2 is bolstered “in light of the purpose underlying” the statute. Reno v. Bossier Par. Sch. Bd., 520 U.S. 471, 487 (1997). This Court has long recognized that “[t]he Voting Rights Act was aimed at the subtle, as well as the obvious, state regulations which have the effect of denying citizens their right to vote because of their race.” Allen v. State Bd. of Elections, 393 U.S. 544, 565 (1969). Consistent with that tenet, Section 2 “should be interpreted in a manner that provides ‘the broadest possible scope’ in combating racial discrimination.” Chisom, 501 U.S. at 403.

<sup>6</sup> ARP Petitioners’ example illustrates this. They note that, “[i]f a state sends unsolicited ballot applications to residents of white neighborhoods, ... but not to residents of black neighborhoods, that would amount to giving the latter less ‘opportunity’ to participate.” ARP Br. 27. But that is of course true even though black voters could vote in other ways.

Congress passed this sweeping law to address a sweeping problem. For a century after the Fifteenth Amendment formally guaranteed minorities the right to vote, “[m]anipulative devices and practices were ... employed to deny the vote to blacks.” Rice v. Cayetano, 528 U.S. 495, 513 (2000). “Early attempts to cope with this vile infection resembled battling the Hydra. Whenever one form of voting discrimination was identified and prohibited, others sprang up in its place.” Shelby Cnty., 570 U.S. at 560 (Ginsburg, J., dissenting). Indeed, when pre-VRA adjudication “produced favorable results, affected jurisdictions often ‘merely switched to discriminatory devices not covered by the federal decrees.’” City of Rome v. United States, 446 U.S. 156, 174 (1980).

Congress devised an intentionally expansive solution. In 1982, it overruled this Court’s decision in City of Mobile v. Bolden that Section 2 forbade only intentional discrimination. Gingles, 478 U.S. at 43-44. In so doing, Congress reinstated the pre-Bolden standards from White v. Regester with the “specific intent” of allowing liability based on “discriminatory results without proving any kind of discriminatory purpose.” S. Rep. No. 97-417, at 27-28, 1982 U.S.C.C.A.N. at 205-06.

The Regester Court struck down a multimember district, based in part on its interaction with other unchallenged election laws that were “neither in themselves improper nor invidious,” but potentially “enhanced the opportunity for racial discrimination.” 412 U.S. at 766. Crucial to the decision were the discriminatory practices of a private “white-dominated organization” that controlled the area’s political life. Id. And the Regester Court affirmed elimination of another multimember district because of how it “overlaid ... on the cultural and economic realities of the Mexican-American community in Bexar County.” Id. at 769.

In restoring the standards from Regester, and directing consideration of the “totality of circumstances,” Congress affirmed courts’ ability to consider evidence of private discrimination—or the lingering effects of past public discrimination—that interact with the challenged practice to cause the complained-of disparity. Indeed, the Senate factors “were derived from the analytical framework of White [v. Regester] ... as refined and developed by the lower courts.” Gingles, 478 U.S. at 36 n.4. Thus, Congress adopted the Regester Court’s view that “whether the political processes are ‘equally open’ depends upon a searching practical evaluation of the [state’s] ‘past and present reality.’” De Grandy, 512 U.S. at 1018.

B. Petitioners Depart from Section 2’s Text by Inventing Restrictions.

In contrast to the United States, Petitioners suggest radical departures from the statute that have no basis in text, purpose, or precedent. The United States either fails to embrace or expressly disavows each of Petitioners' positions.

First, Petitioners claim that Section 2 is aimed “principally” at combating vote dilution, not vote denial. ARP Br. 18, 36-38. Not true. Section 2 “refer[s] to any methods for conducting a part of the voting process that might ... be used to interfere with a citizen’s ability to cast his vote” and have it properly counted. Holder, 512 U.S. at 917-18. Thus, the amended “Section 2 prohibits all forms of voting discrimination, not just vote dilution.” Gingles, 478 U.S. at 45 n.10 (emphasis added). The “unusually extensive legislative history of the 1982 amendment” belies Petitioners’ claims. Chisom, 501 U.S. at 396. The Senate Report acknowledged that Congress borrowed its standard from cases that “dealt with [dilutive] electoral system features” but reiterated that “Section 2 remains the major statutory prohibition of all voting rights discrimination.” S. Rep. No. 97-417, at 30, 1982 U.S.C.C.A.N. at 207 (emphasis added). No matter what the claim, “the ultimate test would be the White [v. Regester] standard codified by this amendment of Section 2.” Id.

To be sure, most post-1982 Section 2 claims have involved vote dilution rather than vote denial. But that is only because the “effectiveness of the now-defunct Section 5 preclearance requirements ... stopped would-be vote denial from occurring in covered jurisdictions.” League of Women Voters of N.C. v. North Carolina, 769 F.3d 224, 239 (4th Cir. 2014). Since this Court struck down the preclearance formula in Shelby County, Section 2 has become the principal bulwark against policies and practices that disenfranchise minority voters. See Daniel P. Tokaji, Applying Section 2 to the New Vote Denial, 50 Harv. C.R.-C.L. L. Rev. 439, 440 (2015). But Section 2 claims are expensive to litigate, place the burden of proof on plaintiffs, and generally cannot stop laws prior to implementation. So it is unsurprising that pre-Shelby County, Section 5 was plaintiffs' primary tool for combating vote denial.

Second, Petitioners wrongly claim that “[r]ace-neutral time, place, or manner regulations” cannot implicate Section 2. ARP Br. 19; see Brnovich Br. 20. As discussed above, Congress intentionally drafted Section 2 broadly to apply to any policy—even those that are facially race-neutral—so long as the policy results in reduced electoral opportunity for minority voters on account of race.

Indeed, many of the policies that inspired the VRA were facially neutral. Some states sought to prevent minorities from voting by “ma[king] the ability to read and write a registration qualification.” South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S. 301, 310-11 (1966). They also imposed “property qualifications, ‘good character’ tests, and the requirement that registrants ‘understand’ or ‘interpret’ certain matter.” Id. at 311. These facially neutral laws caused racially disparate outcomes through discriminatory application, id. at 311-12, and because of their predictable interactions with other societal inequalities like racially disparate literacy rates, id. at 310-11, or education rates, see Gaston Cnty. v. United States, 395 U.S. 285, 289, 293 (1969).

Members of this Court have therefore recognized that Section 2 “covers all manner of registration requirements,” as well as “the locations of polling places, the times polls are open, the use of paper ballots as opposed to voting machines, and other similar aspects of the voting process that might be manipulated to deny any citizen the right to cast a ballot and have it properly counted.” Holder, 512 U.S. at 922. Section 2’s broad coverage means that “[i]f, for example, a county permitted voter registration for only three hours one day a week, and that made it more difficult for blacks to register than whites, blacks would have less opportunity ‘to participate in the political process’ than whites, and § 2 would therefore be violated.” Chisom, 501 U.S. at 408 (Scalia, J., dissenting).

The vast majority of this Court’s Section 2 cases involved practices that were, under Petitioners’ view, race-neutral time, place, and manner regulations: multimember districts, see Gingles, 478 U.S. at 46, “at-large voting schemes,” id. at 47, and “anti-single-shot voting rule[s],” Holder, 512 U.S. at 880 (plurality opinion), to name a few.<sup>7</sup> This Court thus has already recognized that Section 2 reaches practices that regulate only “how citizens vote,” ARP Br. 19, even if the laws are uniform and race-neutral.

<sup>7</sup> Petitioners’ own examples undermine their position. For instance, ARP Petitioners posit that Section 2 would prohibit leaving polling places open longer in white neighborhoods than in minority neighborhoods. ARP Br. 24-25. They also concede that Section 2 prohibits laws such as “[l]imiting the franchise to people who own a home or hold a college degree ... if minority voters have lower home ownership or graduation rates.” Id. at 19; accord id. at 27. ARP Petitioners try to distinguish this last example by claiming that a race-neutral education test can violate Section 2 because it involves voter qualifications rather than time, place, and manner regulations. Id. at 19. But nothing in Section 2 suggests that race-neutral voter qualifications can violate the statute but race-neutral time, place, and manner regulations cannot.

Ultimately, Petitioners ask this Court to carve a huge swath of election laws out of Section 2’s domain. But such “[a]n inflexible rule would run counter to the textual command of § 2” to examine “the totality of circumstances.” De Grandy, 512 U.S. at 1018. Creating safe harbors for entire categories of voting practices would be particularly nonsensical when the very “need for such ‘totality’ review springs from the demonstrated ingenuity of state and local governments in hobbling minority voting power.” Id.

Third, Petitioners contend that the decision below “diverges from § 2’s textual requirements” because it “does not require a substantial disparate impact” to trigger liability. Brnovich Br. 31; see id. at 21, 30-31. But it is Petitioners’ “substantial” disparity requirement that floats free of the text. What is more, because Petitioners never explain what qualifies as “substantial” disparity, this requirement remains hopelessly vague.

In any event, this Court already rejected Petitioners’ contention in Chisom, when it ruled that Section 2 requires plaintiffs to prove inequality in both opportunity to participate and opportunity to elect. 501 U.S. at 397. Justice Scalia argued that “a small minority” would have “no protection against infringements of its right ‘to participate in the political process’” under the majority’s reading of Section 2, because the small minority “will always lack the numbers necessary ‘to elect its candidate.’” Id. at 397 n.24. But the Court dismissed this concern, stating that it “rests on the erroneous assumption that a small group of voters can never influence the outcome of an election.” Id.

That reading hews to Section 2’s text, which addresses “the right of any citizen of the United States to vote.” 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a) (emphasis added). Thus, as the United States correctly explains, “a practice can violate Section 2 even if it affects only a small number of voters.” U.S. Br. 29; accord JA522. The percentage disparity between racial groups need not reach some (undefined) threshold to affect the opportunity to vote: Vote-denial cases involve inequalities in the voting process itself, and “[a]ny abridgment of the opportunity of members of a protected class to participate in the political process inevitably impairs their ability to influence the outcome of an election.” Chisom, 501 U.S. at 397 (emphasis added).

To be sure, the size of a disparity may bear on whether causation can be established, or whether the totality of circumstances shows a discriminatory result. But, as the United States recognizes (U.S. Br. 29), the number of voters affected cannot limit threshold liability under Section 2.

Finally, Petitioners seek to restrict the congressionally mandated review of the “totality of circumstances” to something less than a “totality.” They begin by asserting that Section 2 guarantees only equality of opportunity, not equality of outcomes. ARP Br. 22; Brnovich Br. 20. Nobody quarrels with this standard. The text of Section 2 requires it, both by asking whether voters of one race “have less opportunity” than others and by expressly disclaiming that Section 2 mandates proportional representation. 52

U.S.C. § 10301(b). But Petitioners go further in claiming that Section 2 does not apply to laws when minority voters simply take less advantage of them. See ARP Br. 22, 28; Brnovich Br. 20.

To read Section 2 as Petitioners ask would make mincemeat of its totality-of-circumstances inquiry. What may seem like individual choices in a vacuum can be the result of unequal underlying conditions' interaction with the challenged policy. That is precisely why the 1982 amendments "ma[d]e clear that an application of the results test requires an inquiry into 'the totality of the circumstances.'" Chisom, 501 U.S. at 394. The text "requires courts to consider 'the whole picture.'" District of Columbia v. Wesby, 138 S. Ct. 577, 588 (2018). When considering the "choices" made by minority voters, courts must ask if the challenged policy "interacts with social and historical conditions to cause an inequality." Gingles, 478 U.S. at 47.

Attempting an analogy, ARP Petitioners claim that every person has an equal opportunity to attend free high school, even if some choose to drop out. ARP Br. 28. But if a county refuses to bus students to school, and minority students in the county are far more likely to lack the means to get to school without busing, then the county's policies have interacted with social factors to result in minorities lacking an "equal opportunity" to graduate. Cf. Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Bd. of Ed., 402 U.S. 1, 30 (1971) (affirming use of busing as court-ordered remedy because "[d]esegregation plans cannot be limited to the walk-in school"). Similarly, voters' own choices can lead to disparities in voting, but if those disparities would not have occurred but for the state’s policy—and but for the voters’ race—Section 2 applies.

Petitioners further mount a wholesale attack on the circuits’ consideration of the Senate factors, arguing wrongly that they are relevant only to vote-dilution claims. ARP Br. 20, 33; Brnovich Br. 32-33. But, as the United States recognizes, courts may consider the Senate factors whenever they “bear on the proper Section 2 inquiry in a particular case.” U.S. Br. 31.

The Senate Report, as discussed, adopted those factors from Regester and its progeny. Gingles, 478 U.S. at 36 n.4. As ARP Petitioners note, these factors are “indicative of intentional discrimination.” ARP Br. 36. The Senate factors thus serve a similar function as the indicia of intentional discrimination this Court articulated in Arlington Heights. Indeed, several Senate factors directly parallel the Arlington Heights factors. For instance, Senate factors 1 and 5, on the history and effects of discrimination, see Gingles, 478 U.S. at 36-37, mirror Arlington Heights’ focus on “[t]he historical background of the decision,” 429 U.S. at 267. And Senate factor 9, on the government’s justification for the policy, see Gingles, 478 U.S. at 37, plays a role similar to Arlington Heights’ examination of the “specific sequence of events leading up to the challenged decision” and “[t]he legislative or administrative history” of the act, 429 U.S. at 267-68.

Although the Senate Report derived its factors from vote-dilution cases, the Report’s authors emphasized that the same standards apply to all Section 2 claims. S. Rep. No. 97-417, at 30, 1982 U.S.C.C.A.N. at 207. The Report recognized that “[t]o establish a violation, plaintiffs could show a variety of factors, depending upon the kind of rule ... called into question.” Id. at 28, 1982 U.S.C.C.A.N. at 206. This does not mean that all the Senate factors always apply. See Gingles, 478 U.S. at 45 (“this list of typical factors is neither comprehensive nor exclusive” and “there is no requirement that any particular number of factors be proved” (quoting S. Rep. No. 97-417, at 29, 1982 U.S.C.C.A.N. at 206)). Section 2’s text mandates examination of “the totality of circumstances,” 52 U.S.C. § 10301(b), and the Senate factors simply enumerate possibly relevant circumstances.<sup>8</sup>

C. Properly Read, Section 2 Raises No Constitutional Issues.

Properly read, Section 2 raises none of the constitutional issues Petitioners attempt to inject into this case. Though the Fifteenth Amendment prohibits only intentional discrimination, this Court’s decisions “foreclose any argument that Congress may not, pursuant to [the Amendment], outlaw voting practices that are discriminatory in effect.” City of Rome, 446 U.S. at 173. That is exactly what Section 2 does. It does not impose liability “based solely on a showing of a statistical disparity.” Inclusive Cmty., 576 U.S. at 540. Rather, the plaintiff must “point to a defendant’s policy or policies causing that disparity.” Id. at 542.

<sup>8</sup> Given Section 2’s totality-of-circumstances element, the Senate factors’ nonexclusive nature, and their basis in precedent, the factors’ provenance as legislative history matters little. Contra Brnovich Br. 33. This Court regularly applies the Senate factors in Section 2 cases. See, e.g., LULAC, 548 U.S. at 426.

Socioeconomic or other inequalities may interact with the policy, but the challenged election policy itself must help transform those differences into disparate opportunities to participate in the political process. Defendants are responsible not for preexisting societal discrimination, but for their decisions to superimpose laws that erect barriers to minority voting by exacerbating existing discrimination. Section 2 thus “protects defendants from being held liable for racial disparities they did not create.” Id.

By requiring courts to consider the totality of circumstances, Section 2 also gives defendants “leeway to state and explain the valid interest served by their policies.” Id. at 541. This leeway, combined with the statute’s causation requirement, ensures that governments need not use race “in a pervasive way” or adopt quotas. Id. at 542.<sup>9</sup> However, the Constitution does not mandate that governments be given the benefit of all doubt. It requires only that they “be allowed to maintain a policy if they can prove it is necessary to achieve a valid interest.” Id. at 541 (emphasis added).

Petitioners nevertheless insist that any reading of Section 2 other than theirs substantively expands the Fifteenth Amendment’s meaning, in violation of City of Boerne v. Flores, 521 U.S. 507 (1997). ARP Br. 39-41; Brnovich Br. 26-28. That is wrong. While Fourteenth Amendment legislation must exhibit “congruence and proportionality” between injury and remedy, City of

<sup>9</sup> With these safeguards in place, Section 2 does not “prioritize race” and so does not raise Fourteenth Amendment concerns, either. ARP Br. 41; see Brnovich Br. 26-27.

Boerne, 521 U.S. at 520, this Court recognizes that Congress may pass prohibitions under the Fifteenth Amendment as long as they are “rational means [of] effectuat[ing]” the Amendment under McCulloch v. Maryland. Katzenbach, 383 U.S. at 324; see City of Rome, 446 U.S. at 177; Shelby Cnty., 570 U.S. at 550-51, 556. In any event, even if City of Boerne’s standard applied, but see Tennessee v. Lane, 541 U.S. 509, 558 (2004) (Scalia, J., dissenting) (noting the standard’s lack of any “demonstrable basis in the text of the Constitution”), Section 2 is a congruent and proportional mechanism for enforcing the Fifteenth Amendment’s broad mandate. Section 2 places the burden of proof on plaintiffs, focuses on local conditions, and tailors liability to laws that cause discriminatory results. Given these safeguards, Section 2 raises none of the constitutional issues invented by Petitioners.

Petitioners also invoke the Elections Clause and states’ role in regulating the times, places, and manner of federal elections. ARP Br. 22-23, 35; Brnovich Br. 28-29. But, again, the VRA “was passed pursuant to Congress’ authority under the Fifteenth Amendment,” and “the Reconstruction Amendments by their nature contemplate some intrusion into areas traditionally reserved to the States.” Lopez v. Monterey Cnty., 525 U.S. 266, 282 (1999). In any event, the same Elections Clause that giveth to the states may taketh away when Congress acts. The Clause “embrace[s] authority to provide a complete code for congressional elections.” Arizona v. Inter Tribal Council of Ariz., Inc., 570 U.S. 1, 8-9 (2013) (quotation marks omitted). Congress has the authority not only to regulate OOP voting and ballot collection directly, but also to prohibit discrimination in these practices through the VRA.

II. No Petitioner Has Standing to Appeal the Decision on the OOP Policy, Which the Court Below Correctly Held Violates Section 2.

Because the OOP Policy is just that—a policy, promulgated under Arizona law by the Secretary of State—whether to continue to defend it in court is up to her. Under Arizona law, the Attorney General cannot appeal the decision below against her wishes. Nor do ARP Petitioners have standing.

Even if any Petitioner had standing, the court below correctly found that the OOP Policy violates Section 2. The Policy results in minority voters having less opportunity to vote, without justification. As the State’s chief elections officer, the Secretary is empowered to determine if any legitimate interest justifies the Policy, and she has determined there is none.

A. Petitioners Lack Standing to Appeal the Decision Below on the OOP Policy.

Petitioners lack standing to appeal the en banc court’s ruling on the OOP Policy. Arizona law provides that Attorney General Brnovich may not pursue this appeal against the wishes of the Secretary—either in his capacity as Attorney General or on behalf of the State. ARP Petitioners also lack standing because they have failed to demonstrate any particularized stake in the outcome of the dispute.

1. The OOP Policy is not a legislative enactment; it is a creature of the Elections Procedure Manual. That Manual is promulgated by the Secretary, who is charged under Arizona law with using her discretion to implement rules for counting ballots in the Manual. See supra at 6. Although her predecessor supported the OOP Policy, Respondent Hobbs ran for office in 2018 on a platform of removing barriers that made it harder for Arizona's minority citizens to have their votes counted. See supra at 4-5. The voters of Arizona elected Respondent Hobbs to do just that, and her decision not to appeal the decision on the OOP Policy reflects her mandate from the voters.

This Court looks to state law to determine who has standing to represent Arizona and its officials in federal court. See, e.g., Va. House of Delegates v. Bethune-Hill, 139 S. Ct. 1945, 1951-52 (2019). And under clearly established Arizona law, Brnovich Petitioners have no authority to appeal the decision on the OOP Policy. In fact, the Arizona Supreme Court has held that the Attorney General is prohibited from appealing on behalf of another state official who does not wish to appeal.

In Santa Rita Mining Co. v. Department of Property Valuation, 530 P.2d 360, 363 (Ariz. 1975), the Arizona Supreme Court held that the Attorney General could not appeal a tax suit when the Director of Property Valuation did not wish to appeal. The court acknowledged that Arizona law "contemplates that the Attorney General act as the legal representative of the people; so that, whenever the State is a party to a law[s]uit, it is the Attorney General who must act as its lawyer." Id. at 362. However, the Attorney General lacked authority "to exercise the power of discretion placed by the Constitution and applicable statutes in other executive and administrative officers.” Id. The court therefore concluded that “the Attorney General is not the proper person to decide the course of action which should be pursued by another public officer, nor should he be allowed to maintain a lawsuit at his own instigation under the cloak and in the guise that the action is by the State of Arizona in order to accomplish the same result.” Id. (quotation marks omitted) (emphasis added). Thus, Attorney General Brnovich lacks authority to appeal the decision below against the wishes of Respondent Hobbs—either in his own right or “in the guise that the action is by the State of Arizona.” Id.

2. ARP Petitioners also lack standing. They do not represent the State in any capacity. See Karcher v. May, 484 U.S. 72, 77-78, 81 (1987). Nor do they have any role in formulating or enforcing the OOP Policy. See Hollingsworth v. Perry, 570 U.S. 693, 707 (2013). Like the Hollingsworth petitioners, ARP Petitioners have no particularized stake in the appeal because the decision below “ha[s] not ordered them to do or refrain from doing anything.” Id. at 705. And like the Wittman petitioners, ARP Petitioners have failed to present evidence that they have suffered an injury-in-fact from the ruling. See Wittman v. Personhuballah, 136 S. Ct. 1732, 1737 (2016). ARP Petitioners are quintessential “concerned bystanders,” whose interest in this litigation is indistinguishable from the general interest of every citizen in Arizona. See Hollingsworth, 570 U.S. at 707.

The Court therefore must dismiss the petition for lack of standing on the OOP Policy.

B. The OOP Policy Violates Section 2.

Even if any Petitioner had standing to defend the OOP Policy on appeal, that defense fails on the merits. Plaintiffs easily met their burden to show that the OOP Policy “results in a denial or abridgment of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote.” 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a). Under either the circuits’ test or the United States’ proposed test, plaintiffs demonstrated that minority voters had less ability to vote; the OOP Policy was a but-for cause of that lesser ability; and the Policy was unjustified. Respondent Hobbs focuses here on the United States’ test. See U.S. Br. 14-25.

1. On the first prong of the test, plaintiffs demonstrated that they had less ability to vote. There was “[e]xtensive and uncontradicted” evidence that minority voters in Arizona were disproportionately subject to vote denial by the OOP Policy. JA618. Across Arizona, minority voters were twice as likely as white voters to have their ballots thrown out under the OOP Policy. JA594-95; see JA 332-33, 617. In Pima County, Hispanic voters’ rate of OOP ballots was 250% of white voters’ rate, and the comparable figures were 180% for African-Americans and 174% for Native American voters. JA595; see id. (similar disparities in Maricopa County).

In arguing that no disparity in ability to vote exists, the United States misapplies its own standard to the facts. The United States faults plaintiffs for failing to “demonstrate that minority voters are less able to identify and appear at the proper precinct ... let alone that they are less able to vote once the multiple other accessible (and much more popular) voting methods Arizona affords are considered.” U.S. Br. 26.

As to the first charge, plaintiffs did show that minority voters were less able to identify and appear at the proper precinct due to unusually frequent and confusing changes to polling-place locations in minority neighborhoods. JA590-93. Indeed, African-American and Hispanic voters in Arizona experienced 30% more instability in their polling-place sites than white voters. JA590. Chief Judge Thomas described Arizona’s polling-place locations as “like the changing stairways at Hogwarts, constantly moving and sending everyone to the wrong place.” JA590 (quotation marks omitted).

As to the second charge, the availability of other voting methods cannot excuse a method that causes discriminatory results. For one thing, voting methods are not necessarily equal substitutes. To wit, “[m]ail-in voting involves a complex procedure that cannot be done at the last minute” and “deprives voters of the help they would normally receive in filling out ballots at the polls”—particularly when considered in light of the ballot-collection statute also at issue here. Veasey v. Abbott, 830 F.3d 216, 255 (5th Cir. 2016) (en banc).

But regardless of whether Arizona offers other voting methods, the United States’ argument ignores that any voter who appears at the wrong precinct on Election Day and casts a provisional ballot is guaranteed at that point to have her vote denied. Under the OOP Policy, when voters cast ballots outside their assigned precinct, their ballots are discarded—even when voters’ assigned precincts have nothing to do with their eligibility to vote, like in contests for nearly all federal officers, “all statewide officers ... and statewide propositions,” and many county and local officers and propositions. JA586.

This Court has long recognized that “the right to have one’s vote counted has the same dignity” under the Constitution as “the right to put a ballot in a box.” Gray v. Sanders, 372 U.S. 368, 380 (1963) (quotation marks omitted). The right to have one’s ballot counted is guaranteed by the VRA’s text and is foundational to this Court’s vote-dilution jurisprudence. See 52 U.S.C. § 10310(c)(1). If anything, it applies even more strongly to vote-denial cases: Refusing to count ballots at all is a more direct means of infringing the right to vote than refusing to give votes their full weight. See Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U.S. 533, 554-55 & n.29 (1964).

The United States agrees that the district court erred by concluding that the OOP Policy’s impact was simply too small to sustain a Section 2 claim. See U.S. Br. 29. Like Petitioners, the district court fixated on the declining number of OOP ballots cast in Arizona from 2008 to 2016, and the declining percentage of OOP ballots as a share of all ballots. JA297-300; Brnovich Br. 34-35; ARP Br. 7-8, 25. But as the en banc court correctly determined (and the United States agrees, see U.S. Br. 29), the district court’s focus on the “small” number of voters affected was wrong. JA619-21. Section 2 protects “the right of any citizen of the United States to vote,” 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a) (emphasis added). Thus, “if a polling place denies an individual minority voter her right to vote based on her race or color, Section 2 is violated based on that single denial.” JA619; accord Holder, 512 U.S. at 918 (Thomas, J., concurring in the judgment). For vote-denial claims, “[t]he number of minority voters adversely affected, and the mechanism by which they are affected, may vary considerably.” JA619.<sup>10</sup>

2. On the second prong, the court below correctly held that requiring plaintiffs to show that the OOP Policy itself caused minority voters to cast ballots at the wrong precincts was error. JA622. Obviously, a policy instructing election officials to throw out a class of ballots will never be the cause of citizens casting that type of ballot. No voter would go to the polls knowing that her ballot would not be counted. Yet this absurdity is precisely what the United States’ proposed proximate-cause requirement invites. Suppose, for example, that the policy at issue was to throw out the OOP ballots of minority but not white voters. Clearly that would be unlawful, but no plaintiff could ever show that the policy itself caused any minority voter to vote OOP. The same would be true of any restrictive rules governing ballot counting. The United States’ proposed proximate-cause standard would impose an impossibly high burden.

<sup>10</sup> Even if it were appropriate to apply some de minimis threshold to a Section 2 claim, Arizona’s OOP Policy clears that bar. Arizona threw out 38,335 OOP ballots from 2008 to 2016. JA588. That includes 3,709 OOP ballots in 2016 alone. JA619-20. Minority votes are overrepresented in those discarded ballots by two-to-one. JA19; see JA332-33, 594-96, 617. Petitioners try to downplay the denial of thousands of votes by comparing the OOP ballot number to the number of all ballots cast statewide. Brnovich Br. 34-35; ARP Br. 7-8, 25. But the 3,709 rejected OOP ballots from Arizona’s 2016 general election far exceeds the 537 votes that famously decided the 2000 presidential election in Florida. JA621.

Section 2's but-for causation requirement is the proper standard and, as the court below found, is clearly met here. "The challenged practice—not counting OOP ballots [at all]—results in 'a prohibited discriminatory result'; a substantially higher percentage of minority votes than white votes are discarded." JA622 (quotation marks omitted). These disparities would not have occurred but for the OOP Policy and but for the voters' race.

3. On the third prong, the en banc court relied heavily—as the United States suggests, see U.S. Br. 24-25—on the State's justification for the OOP Policy. The court observed that "[t]here is no finding by the district court that would justify, on any ground, Arizona's policy of entirely discarding OOP ballots. There is no finding that counting or partially counting OOP ballots would threaten the integrity of Arizona's precinct-based system. Nor is there a finding that Arizona has ever sought to minimize the number of OOP ballots." JA655. "The only plausible justification for Arizona's OOP [P]olicy," the en banc court found, "would be the delay and expense entailed in counting OOP ballots." JA656. But the district court never made any findings to that effect. In fact, the district court expressly found that "[c]ounting OOP ballots is administratively feasible." Id. (quotation marks omitted).

Although the United States attempts to manufacture new justifications for the OOP Policy, U.S. Br. 27, Respondent Hobbs has refused to defend the Policy precisely because it has no legitimate justification. See supra at 5. As she has determined through consultation with election officials from every Arizona county, ballots cast OOP do not present any issue for election administration; they can and should be counted. That the great majority of Arizona counties have transitioned to vote-center or hybrid models, in which votes routinely are cast outside voters' assigned precincts and then counted, likewise demonstrates that there is no legitimate interest in keeping the precinct-based system.

Thus, even applying the United States' reformulation of the results test, the en banc court correctly determined that Arizona's OOP Policy violates Section 2. Accordingly, if the Court concludes that any Petitioner has standing on the OOP Policy, it should affirm.

III. The Court Below Correctly Held that Arizona's Statute Criminalizing Non-Fraudulent Ballot Collection Violates Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment.

The court below also correctly held that H.B. 2023—which makes mere knowing possession of a ballot by a person who is not a family or household member or a caregiver a felony punishable by up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine—violates both Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment.

A. H.B. 2023 Violates Section 2's Results Test.

Again, even under the United States' reformulated Section 2 test, plaintiffs demonstrated that H.B. 2023 resulted in less ability for minorities to vote than other voters, was a but-for cause of that lesser ability, and was unjustified.

1. On the test's first prong, uncontested evidence showed that H.B. 2023 resulted in minority voters' having less ability to vote than others. JA659-60. The United States ignores record evidence of H.B. 2023's discriminatory results and faults plaintiffs for not proffering evidence that Section 2 does not require.

The United States argues that plaintiffs offered only "circumstantial and anecdotal evidence" that minorities were more likely to use ballot collection to vote. U.S. Br. 27 (quotation marks omitted). In fact, plaintiffs presented extensive—and uncontested—evidence that third parties collected thousands of early ballots from minority voters and, as the district court found, that white voters did not similarly rely on third-party ballot collection. JA329-30, 659-60. This evidence was not "selective anecdotes," contra Brnovich Br. 41, but direct, credible testimony from third-party ballot collectors and witnesses who personally supervised or observed third-party ballot collection. JA661. Plaintiffs also showed that minority voters in Arizona lack access to home mail services at dramatically higher rates than white voters—for instance, outside of Maricopa and Pima Counties, 86% of non-Hispanic whites and 80% of Hispanics, but only 18% of Native Americans, have access to home mail service. JA124, 183.

2. On the second prong, plaintiffs showed that H.B. 2023 caused minorities to have less ability to vote. Individual voters were not required to testify that H.B. 2023 "would make it significantly more difficult to vote." Contra U.S. Br. 28 (quoting JA331). Nothing in Section 2 requires testimony from individual voters that a challenged law will make voting "significantly more difficult.” The United States ignores the aforementioned evidence of minority voters’ disproportionate reliance on third-party ballot collection—i.e., undisputed evidence that minority voters used ballot collectors more frequently than white voters out of practical necessity. And because those minority voters were using third-party ballot collection for wholly legitimate reasons, H.B. 2023’s extension of the criminal code to encompass non-fraudulent ballot collection was entirely responsible for their lesser ability to vote.

3. On the third prong, the en banc court used the totality-of-circumstances analysis both to evaluate the State’s justifications for the law and to smoke out discriminatory intent—exactly as the United States proposes. U.S. Br. 16.

The evidence showed that Arizona lawmakers were well aware that H.B. 2023 would hinder minorities’ ability to vote: Proponents of H.B. 2023 made explicit racial appeals in promoting the bill; Senator Shooter, who introduced the bill, had previously introduced a similar law limiting, but not criminalizing or otherwise banning, third-party ballot collection that was “motivated by the high degree of racial polarization” in his district; and Arizona later withdrew a preclearance request for that prior version of the law because of evidence that it “intentionally targeted Hispanic voters.” JA663-64 (quotation marks omitted).

By contrast, no evidence supported the State’s “justifications” for the law. Though the Carter-Baker Commission recommended limits on third-party ballot collection, these recommendations were meant to “reduce the risks of fraud and abuse in absentee voting,”

JA669 (quotation marks omitted)—a purpose that Arizona’s existing criminal prohibition of fraudulent third-party ballot collection already fulfilled, and that H.B. 2023, which prohibits non-fraudulent third-party ballot collection, does not advance. Nor was there any reason to conclude that non-fraudulent third-party ballot collection in Arizona presents a “risk of fraud or abuse,” when despite the “unique” and “long-standing” role of third-party ballot collection in Arizona, “[e]vidence in the record show[ed] that Arizona has never, in its long history of third-party ballot collection, found a single case of fraud.” JA689.

For the same reasons, other states’ restrictions on third-party ballot collection, and incidents of ballot-collection fraud in North Carolina, Brnovich Br. 44, or other states, ARP Br. 9-10, are not persuasive (which may explain why the United States does not advance those arguments). In any event, comparison to other states is irrelevant. By making the mere possession of a single ballot by persons other than family or household members or caregivers a felony punishable by up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine, H.B. 2023 is an extreme outlier.<sup>11</sup>

B. H.B. 2023 Violates Section 2’s Intent Test and the Fifteenth Amendment.

The en banc court also held that “racial discrimination was a motivating factor in enacting H.B.

<sup>11</sup> North Carolina is the only other state that criminalizes third-party possession of a single absentee ballot as a felony punishable by up to two years’ imprisonment. See N.C. Gen. Stat. Ann. §§ 163-226.3(a)(5), 15A-1340.17(c)-(d).

2023” and that Arizona did not offer evidence showing “that H.B. 2023 would have been enacted without the motivating factor of racial discrimination,” in violation of Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment. JA679-80. This decision correctly rested on application of the Arlington Heights framework to the district court’s findings that Arizona has a “long history of race-based voting discrimination”; “the Arizona legislature [made] unsuccessful efforts to enact less restrictive versions of [H.B. 2023] when preclearance was a threat”; “false, race-based claims of ballot collection fraud [were] used to convince Arizona legislators to pass H.B. 2023”; H.B. 2023 targeted “the substantial increase in American Indian and Hispanic voting attributable to ballot collection”; and “racially polarized voting” exists in Arizona. JA679.

Petitioners fixate on the en banc court’s reference to the “cat’s paw” theory of liability. JA673; see Brnovich Br. 45-47; ARP Br. 46-47; JA677. But the roots of “cat’s paw” liability in agency law (and whether it applies to “independent, co-equal” legislators, Brnovich Br. 46) are irrelevant because “[d]etermining whether invidious discriminatory purpose was a motivating factor demands a sensitive inquiry into such circumstantial and direct evidence of intent as may be available.” Arlington Heights, 429 U.S. at 266. H.B. 2023’s legislative history was just one of many reasons the en banc court deemed the law racially motivated.<sup>12</sup> See id. at 266-68.

<sup>12</sup> For instance, the en banc court cited the district court’s findings on Arizona’s prior legislative efforts to restrict third-party ballot collection, as well as the “Arizona legislature[’s] ... long history of race-based discrimination, disenfranchisement, and voter

ARP Petitioners insist that some legislators' "sincere belief" in nonexistent fraud must be credited, and evidence showing the racial animus that created that "sincere belief" ignored. ARP 45-47. But ignoring this evidence would run counter to Arlington Heights' instruction that discriminatory purpose need not be the "sole[]" or even "primary" motive for a law to run afoul of Section 2 and the Fifteenth Amendment, 429 U.S. at 265-66, as well as Congress's recognition that "[d]iscrimination today is more subtle than the visible methods used in 1965," H.R. Rep. No. 109-478, at 6 (2006), as reprinted in 2006 U.S.C.C.A.N. 618, 620.

Petitioners also argue that the court's analysis of H.B. 2023 violated this Court's decision in Crawford v. Marion County Election Board, 553 U.S. 181 (2008). Brnovich Br. 47-49; ARP Br. 48-49. Not so. Crawford is not a Section 2 or Fifteenth Amendment case, and its controlling opinion does not address the standards for discriminatory motive at issue here. See Crawford, 553 U.S. at 189-91 (plurality opinion). Crawford does not hold that racial animus can never be inferred from a law enacted to combat non-existent fraud, or that a state's purported interest in prophylactically preventing fraud displaces the "intensely local appraisal" Section 2 mandates. And Crawford's consideration of evidence of out-of-state fraud has no bearing on H.B. 2023, which outlaws non-fraudulent ballot collection. The incident of suppression." JA600-08, 674-75. ARP Petitioners' claim that the latter evidence is too old to be probative, ARP Br. 49, ignores the en banc court's reliance on evidence (see JA635-43) that was "reasonably contemporaneous" with H.B. 2023, McCleskey v. Kemp, 481 U.S. 279, 298 n.20 (1987).

third-party ballot-collection fraud in North Carolina, for instance, would have been illegal under Arizona laws independent of H.B. 2023. JA690. The court below did not question the legitimacy of these laws, nor did it question Arizona's interest in prohibiting fraudulent ballot collection, even given the absence of any evidence of third-party ballot-collection fraud in Arizona.

Although Petitioners accuse the court of “improperly conflat[ing] partisan motivations with racial ones,” Brnovich Br. 42 (citing JA329), “racial identification is highly correlated with political affiliation,” Easley v. Cromartie, 532 U.S. 234, 243 (2001). The mere invocation of partisanship in defense of H.B. 2023 does not inoculate Arizona against VRA liability when the weight of the evidence shows that the law was racially motivated. See Cooper v. Harris, 137 S. Ct. 1455, 1473 & n.7 (2017); cf. LULAC, 548 U.S. at 440 (on vote-dilution claim under Section 2, finding violation “[e]ven if we accept the District Court’s finding that the State’s action was taken primarily for political, not racial, reasons”).

Finally, Petitioners and the United States maintain that the en banc court exceeded the scope of clear-error review. Brnovich Br. 49-50; ARP Br. 43-45; U.S. Br. 32-35. But the court neither set aside any of the district court’s findings on discriminatory intent, Brnovich Br. 49, nor “weighed the evidence” of discriminatory intent “differently,” Anderson v. City of Bessemer, 470 U.S. 564, 574 (1985). Instead, the en banc court concluded that the district court clearly erred by “discounting the importance” of undisputed evidence on the historical background of racial discrimination and voter suppression in Arizona (both generally and through restrictions on third-party ballot collection), the specific legislative history of H.B. 2023, and the law's disparate impact on minority voters in Arizona. JA678. The en banc court thus found that "on the entire evidence" of H.B. 2023's racial motivations, it was "left with the definite and firm conviction that a mistake" had been committed by the district court. Anderson, 470 U.S. at 573 (quotation marks omitted); see JA678. That decision was correct.

CONCLUSION

The Court should affirm the judgment below.

KAREN FANN, in her official capacity as President of the Arizona Senate; WARREN PETERSEN, in his official capacity as Chairman of the Arizona Senate Judiciary Committee,

Plaintiffs-in-Counterclaim,

v.

MARICOPA COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, the governing body of Maricopa County, Arizona; JACK SELLERS, in his official capacity as a member of the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors; STEVE CHUCRI, in his official capacity as a member of the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors; BILL GATES, in his official capacity as a member of the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors; CLINT HICKMAN, in his official capacity as a member of the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors; and STEVE GALLARDO, in his official capacity as a member of the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors, Defendants-in-Counterclaim.

1 Karen Fann, in her capacity as President of the Arizona Senate, and Warren Petersen,
2 in his capacity as Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, respectfully submit this
3 response in opposition to the Motion to Intervene of the Republican Presidential Electors.

4 I. The Proposed Intervenors May Not Intervene As of Right

5 A party may intervene as of right if, upon filing a “timely motion,” it “claims an 6 interest relating to the subject of the action, and is so situated that disposing of the action in 7 the person’s absence may as a practical matter impair or impede the person’s ability to 8 protect that interest, unless existing parties adequately represent that interest.” Ariz. R. Civ.
9 P. 24(a). It appears that the Proposed Intervenors advance four ostensible “interests” to 10 support intervention:

- 11 1. The risk that “they were improperly deprived of recognition as Arizona’s true 12 [presidential] electors”;
- 13 2. The availability of “certain categories of public records”;
- 14 3. “Ensuring that legislative subpoenas are complied with”; and
- 15 4. Ensuring that Maricopa County “cannot now evade the cause of transparency” by 16 taking a position in this case that is inconsistent with its representations to the Court 17 in another proceeding.

18 See Motion at pp. 3-4.

19 Although the motion was timely, the purported “interests” posited by the Proposed 20 Intervenors either are irrelevant to this action or are already adequately represented by 21 President Fann and Chairman Petersen.

22 A. The Proposed Intervenors’ Alleged “Interests” in Securing Recognition 23 as Electors, Obtaining Public Records, and the Consistency of the 24 County’s Litigation Positions Are Not Germane to These Proceedings

25 “For the purposes of intervention of right, an applicant must show it has such an 26 interest in the case that the judgment would have a direct legal effect upon its rights. A mere 27 possible or contingent equitable effect is insufficient.” Woodbridge Structured Funding, 28 LLC v. Arizona Lottery, 235 Ariz. 25, 28, ¶ 15 (App. 2014) (emphasis in original; internal

1 citation omitted). “A bare allegation that one’s interest may become impaired does not,
2 without more, create a right to intervene.” Weaver v. Synthes, Ltd. (U.S.A.), 162 Ariz. 442, 3 447 (App. 1989).

4 Three of the interests alleged by the Proposed Intervenors are wholly irrelevant and 5 immaterial to the claims, defenses and issues presented in this case, and so cannot sustain
6 intervention as of right.

7 1. Status as Presidential Electors

8 The 2020 presidential election is conclusively and definitively over. The Congress
9 of the United States has certified the returns of the Electoral College, and Joseph Biden will 10 take the oath of office as President of the United States on January 20, 2021. Whatever 11 interest the Proposed Intervenors may once have had in serving as Arizona’s presidential 12 electors is now irrevocably extinguished.

13 More fundamentally, at the crux of these proceedings is one—and only one—issue:
14 the constitutional and statutory authority of the Arizona Legislature, acting through its 15 designated officers and committee chairmen, to obtain by compulsory process documents
16 and information in furtherance of valid legislative purposes. Even assuming arguendo that 17 the Proposed Intervenors’ status as presidential electors were somehow unresolved, the 18 relief requested—i.e., an order compelling production of subpoenaed information and 19 documents—bears no discernible nexus to that interest. It appears that Proposed 20 Intervenors are hypothesizing that data yielded by the subpoenas might furnish a basis for 21 challenging the certified results of the presidential election, which in turn could be 22 introduced in some type of proceeding in some other forum, and thereby could potentially 23 affect the certification of electors. Even if this scenario were factually and legally plausible, 24 the attenuated chain of remote contingencies upon which it depends does not constitute a 25 “direct,” Woodbridge, 235 Ariz. at 28, ¶ 15, relationship between the Proposed Intervenors’
26 interests and the claims in this case. “An interest that is ... contingent upon the occurrence 27 of a sequence of events before it becomes colorable will not satisfy the rule’ for 28 intervention.” Silver v. Babbitt, 166 F.R.D. 418, 426 (D. Ariz. 1994) (internal citation

1 omitted); see also Weaver, 162 Ariz. at 448 (“While the prospective intervenors’ interest
2 may relate to the subject matter of a possible future” claim, “it has nothing to do with the 3 subject matter of the” instant litigation, and thus could not support intervention).

4 2. Availability of Public Records

5 The Proposed Intervenors’ concern with preserving access to public records appears
6 to be a solution in search of a problem. It is undisputed that voter rolls, which contain 7 information such as the elector’s name, address and political party affiliation, are and will 8 remain public records. A.R.S. § 16-168(F). At issue is whether certain specific items of 9 personally identifying voter information (e.g., Social Security numbers, dates of birth, and 10 signatures) that inarguably are not public records are also immune from compulsory 11 process. As President Fann and Chairman Petersen have argued extensively in their 12 submissions, such data is available to any “authorized government official in the scope of 13 the official’s duties,” id., and is otherwise subject to disclosure through the subpoena
14 process. The Court’s disposition of that question, however, will not affect the availability
15 of public records to the Proposed Intervenors. As far as President Fann and Chairman 16 Petersen are aware, no party is asking the Court to expand or contract the universe of 17 documents and materials that are considered “public records” under existing law.

18 3. Monitoring County’s Inconsistent Litigation Positions

19 The Proposed Intervenors point out that Maricopa County represented in other 20 proceedings that it would support a legislative audit of election equipment and data, but 21 now seeks to obstruct precisely such an inquiry. According to the Proposed Intervenors, 22 they have an interest in “prevent[ing] both sides from being played against one another in 23 this fashion to defeat the cause of transparency and election integrity.” Motion at 12.

24 While President Fann and Chairman Petersen appreciate the Proposed Intervenors’
25 illumination of the County’s opportunistic inconsistencies, they do not believe that this is a 26 cognizable “interest” for intervention purposes. The claims and issues in Boyer v. Ducey
27 (if they are even still live) are unrelated to those now pending before the Court, and so the 28 outcome of this proceeding could not impair or prejudice any rights of the Proposed

1 Intervenor in the former.

2 While the Proposed Intervenor's objective of calling out the County's hypocrisy is a
3 worthy principle, it is not a concrete or cognizable legal "interest." See generally Planned
4 Parenthood Arizona, Inc. v. Am. Ass'n of Pro-Life Obstetricians & Gynecologists, 227 Ariz.
5 262, 280, ¶ 64 (App. 2011) (rejecting claim of asserted "interest in upholding or challenging
6 the constitutionality of legislation") Am. Ass'n of People With Disabilities v. Herrera, 257
7 F.R.D. 236, 251–52 (D.N.M. 2008) (holding that proposed intervenor's "passionate interest
8 in preventing voter fraud" was not a "protectable interest under rule 24(a)").

9 B. Any Putative Interest in the Enforcement of Legislative Subpoenas is 10 Already Adequately Represented

11 "A presumption of adequate representation arises when a current party to the 12 litigation has the same 'ultimate objective' as the proposed intervenor." In re Weingarten, 13 492 Fed. Appx. 754, 756 (9th Cir. 2012) (quoting Arakaki v. Cayetano, 324 F.3d 1078,
14 1086 (9th Cir. 2003). Even assuming that one or more of the Proposed Intervenor has a 15 "interest" in the sole legal question actually in dispute (to wit, the enforcement of legislative 16 subpoenas), it is already amply and fully represented by President Fann and Chairman
17 Petersen. As the officers to whom the legislative body has expressly delegated the subpoena 18 power, see A.R.S. § 41-1151, President Fann and Chairman Petersen have an acute and 19 singular interest in vindicating this critical constitutional and statutory prerogative. They 20 have vigorously litigated their claims and defenses in these proceedings, and intend to 21 continue to do so in this Court and in the appellate courts, if necessary. There is simply no 22 basis for positing that any purported interest of the Proposed Intervenor in the vitality of 23 the Legislature's investigatory powers will not be adequately safeguarded and represented
24 by President Fann and Chairman Petersen. See generally Planned Parenthood, 227 Ariz.
25 at 280, ¶ 60 ("The Attorney General has been charged with upholding the constitutionality
26 of the statute, and [proposed intervenor] has identified no aspects of its own interests as a 27 supporter of the challenged legislation that will be inadequately represented by the state.");
28 Perry v. Proposition 8 Official Proponents, 587 F.3d 947, 952 (9th Cir. 2009) (finding that

1 “any differences between [the named party] and the [proposed intervenor] are primarily
2 differences as to litigation tactics,” which is insufficient to establish inadequate
3 representation); Idaho Bldg. & Const. Trades Council, AFL-CIO v. Inland Pac. Chapter of 4 Associated Builders & Contractors, Inc., 616 Fed. Appx. 319, 320 (9th Cir. 2015) (noting 5 that proposed intervenor’s ability to file an amicus brief also undermined assertion of 6 inadequate representation).

7 In sum, because the putative interests asserted by the Proposed Intervenors are either
8 inapposite to (and thus will not be directly affected by) these proceedings or are already 9 adequately represented by existing parties, the Court should find that they lack a right to 10 intervene.

11 II. The Court Should Deny Leave to Intervene Permissively

12 Permissive intervention is inappropriate if it would “unduly delay or prejudice the 13 adjudication of the original parties’ rights.” Ariz. R. Civ. P. 24(b)(3). It appears that the 14 Proposed Intervenors intend to augment the scope of these proceedings to encompass 15 questions relating to the accuracy of the certified results of the 2020 election and the 16 appointment of presidential electors. Those concerns are far afield from the subject matter 17 of the parties’ dispute, which is narrow and discrete—i.e., the validity and enforceability of 18 legislative subpoenas seeking the production by Maricopa County to certain legislative 19 officers of specific information and materials. If and to the extent that the Proposed 20 Intervenors believe they can assert colorable claims and arguments relating to the conduct
21 of the 2020 election, they are free to do so in a separate proceeding; such questions have no
22 bearing on the issues now before the Court and should not be injected into this case. See
23 Dowling v. Stapley, 221 Ariz. 251, 273, ¶ 71 (App. 2011) (declining to grant permissive 24 intervention that would have the effect of protracting litigation and would “unduly delay[]
25 or prejudice[] the adjudication of the” parties’ rights); Bechtel v. Rose In and For Maricopa 26 Cnty., 150 Ariz. 68, 72 (1986) (factors such as (a) an attenuated relationship between a 27 proposed intervenor’s interests and the merits of the case and (b) the tendency of 28 intervention to “prolong or unduly delay the litigation” weigh against permissive

1 intervention).

2 Accordingly, the Court should exercise its discretion to deny leave to intervene on a 3 permissive basis.

4 CONCLUSION

5 For the foregoing reasons, the Court should deny the Motion to Intervene in its 6 entirety.

5 parties to immediately produce or make available in full to President Fann or Chairman
6 Petersen (or their designees) all documents, records, materials, and information responsive
7 to either or both of the subpoenas issued on December 15, 2020 (the "Subpoenas").

8 INTRODUCTION

9 The "power of inquiry—with process to enforce it—is an essential and appropriate
10 auxiliary to the legislative function," and thus "[t]he [legislative] power to obtain 11 information is 'broad' and 'indispensable.'" Trump v. Mazars USA, LLP, 140 S. Ct. 2019,
12 2031 (2020) (internal citations omitted). Only in the febrile imaginations of the Maricopa
13 County Board of Supervisors (hereafter, the "County") could requests by elected
14 representatives for the same documents and materials already accessible to county
15 bureaucrats be considered akin to the regicidal mayhem of revolutionary France. See
16 County's Response at 3. But thunderous remonstrances are not substitutes for articulable 17 facts and righteous indignation is not a proxy for sound reasoning.

18 Stripped of their rhetorical histrionics, the submissions of the County and their 19 Democratic allies on the Senate Judiciary Committee<sup>2</sup> proffer no basis for quashing the 20 Subpoenas or finding a jurisdictional inability to enforce them. As the County itself has

21 _____
22 <sup>1</sup> Pursuant to Ariz. R. Civ. P. 25(d), Senator Petersen has been automatically 23 substituted for former Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Eddie Farnsworth as a defendant in the main action and as a plaintiff in the Counterclaim.

24 <sup>2</sup> Although they filed a response in opposition to the Counterclaim Plaintiffs' Motion
25 for Preliminary Injunction, it bears noting that the Democratic members of the Senate
26 Judiciary Committee are not parties to the Counterclaim proceedings at all. Why they are 27 named defendants in the County's main action remains unclear. Pursuant to A.R.S. § 41-
28 1151, the Subpoenas were issued by President Fann and then-Chairman Farnsworth. No other member of the Legislature executed, or was required to execute, the Subpoenas. Thus, even if the County were entitled to the relief it seeks, the resulting judgment would not, and could not, mandate any members of the Judiciary Committee other than the Chairman to undertake or refrain from any action.

1 already conceded by initiating these proceedings in the first instance, the Superior Court of 2 course has subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate the lawfulness of legislative subpoenas,
3 and A.R.S. §§ 12-2212, -1801 and -1831 each supplies an independent and sufficient
4 predicate for the Counterclaim.

5 Perhaps recognizing that President Fann's sworn averments that the Subpoenas were 6 issued in furtherance of legislative efforts to explore electoral reforms, see Counterclaim ¶¶
7 25-27, are fatal to its position, the County labors to construct and then demolish a strawman
8 argument that the Subpoenas are actually a stealth instrument to "overturn," Motion to 9 Dismiss at 1, the 2020 presidential election. This farcical notion dissipates quickly under 10 the glare of common sense and empirical reality. The results of 2020 election have been 11 tabulated, canvassed and certified by the Governor and Secretary of State; the deadline for 12 any person to initiate any variety of an election contest has long since elapsed. The United 13 States Congress has certified the Electoral College returns,<sup>3</sup> and Joseph Biden will be 14 inaugurated President of the United States on January 20. Neither the Arizona Legislature
15 nor anyone else could "overturn" the election, even if they wanted to do so.

16 These circumstances, however, do not extinguish the critical questions animating the 17 Subpoenas. Were there tabulation errors, the casting of unlawful ballots, or security 18 vulnerabilities in voting devices (regardless of whether such irregularities affected the 19 outcome of any race)? Could legislative reforms decrease the risk of mistakes or anomalies
20 in future elections? Is the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors a competent administrator
21 of elections in Arizona's most populous counties, or should the Legislature consider 22 assigning these vital responsibilities to a more qualified regulatory authority? That 23 President Fann and Chairman Petersen remain steadfast in their enforcement of the 24 Subpoenas itself attests to their lawful legislative purpose, which transcends the outcome
25 of any given candidate race.

27 <sup>3</sup> While information yielded by the Subpoenas may or may not have proved useful to 28 the United States Congress during the certification process, the County's unlawful obstinance succeeded in extinguishing that possibility.

1 Further, the County’s exertions to establish the undisputed proposition that certain
 2 voter registration information and ballot materials are not publicly accessible simply evades
 3 the operative question of how or why the County—a subordinate political subdivision—
 4 could possibly assert a privilege of non-disclosure in response to compulsory process issued
 5 by the sovereign Legislature. The County is at a loss to produce any Arizona authority that 6 could sustain that untenable position.

7 Finally, the County lobs a scattershot of miscellaneous additional defenses to the 8 Counterclaim, all of which fall flat. As the officers expressly authorized by the Legislature
 9 to issue the Subpoenas on its behalf, see A.R.S. § 41-1151, President Fann and Chairman
 10 Petersen have legal standing to assert claims arising out of non-compliance with them.
 11 Because the newly inaugurated Fifty-Fifth Legislature will imminently reissue subpoenas 12 substantially identical to the ones now in dispute, the questions underlying these 13 proceedings are not moot. Finally, documents maintained by the County Recorder are 14 within the legal control of the Board of Supervisors, and even if the Recorder were a 15 “necessary party,” the Court can simply join him.

16 I. The Court Has Jurisdiction to Hear and Adjudicate the Counterclaim Pursuant 17 to A.R.S. §§ 12-2212, 12-1801 and 12-1831

18 A. The Superior Court Has Subject Matter Jurisdiction Over Claims
 19 Relating to Legislative Subpoenas

20 As discussed below, the County has waived any argument that the validity and 21 enforceability of legislative subpoenas are not justiciable. To avert this outcome, the 22 County struggles unsuccessfully to cast the issue as one of the Court’s “subject matter
 23 jurisdiction.” The Court should not indulge this misnomer. “Subject matter jurisdiction is 24 the court’s fundamental power to grant relief in a pending case.” Pritchard v. State, 163
 25 Ariz. 427, 430 (1990). As a general jurisdiction tribunal, the Superior Court of Arizona is 26 vested with plenary authority to hear and adjudicate nearly every species of civil claim.
 27 Indeed, the Arizona Constitution directs that “[t]he superior court shall have original 28 jurisdiction of . . . cases and proceedings in which exclusive jurisdiction is not vested by

1 law in another court,” as well as “special cases and proceedings not otherwise provided
2 for.” Ariz. Const. art. VI, § 14(1), (11).

3 No constitutional provision, statute or other source of law lodges exclusive
4 jurisdiction over the enforcement of legislative subpoenas in any other court. While each
5 house of the Legislature may employ contempt remedies, see A.R.S. § 41-1153, nothing in 6 Title 41, Chapter 7, Article 4 divests the Superior Court of concurrent jurisdiction over the 7 same subject matter. See State ex rel. Ronan v. Superior Court In & For Maricopa County, 8 96 Ariz. 229, 232 (1964) (“The jurisdiction so declared to reside in the superior courts is 9 not taken away from such courts by a statute declaring that some other court shall have 10 jurisdiction over such cases, unless the statute declares and vests jurisdiction exclusively in 11 such other court” (internal citation omitted)); Pritchard, 163 Ariz. at 430 (“Because the 12 superior court is a court of general jurisdiction, a presumption exists in favor of retention 13 of jurisdiction, and a divestiture of jurisdiction cannot be inferred but must be clearly and 14 unambiguously found.”).

15 Maintaining a bifurcation between contempt proceedings and civil enforcement
16 mechanisms is entirely sensible. As one court has remarked in a virtually identical context, 17 “the two remedies serve different purposes;” while contempt citations are fundamentally 18 punitive, civil relief is aimed primarily at eliciting the sought-after documents or 19 information. See Comm. on the Judiciary, U.S. House of Representatives v. Miers, 558 F.
20 Supp. 2d 53, 92 (D.D.C. 2008) (adding that “imprisoning” and “prosecuting” recalcitrant 21 officials “would present a grave risk of precipitating a constitutional crisis” and that “the 22 disputed issue would in all likelihood end up before this Court, just by a different vehicle—
23 a writ of habeas corpus . . . In either event there would be judicial resolution of the 24 underlying matter”<sup>4</sup>).

25 _____
26 <sup>4</sup> Precisely this scenario was actualized in the only published Arizona case
27 adjudicating the validity of a legislative subpoena, which reached the Superior Court on a 28 writ of habeas corpus, see Buell v. Superior Court, 96 Ariz. 62 (1964). The Buell court had no occasion to consider whether the legislative officers who issued the subpoena could have procured civil remedies as an alternative to contempt proceedings.

1 Thus, even assuming arguendo that President Fann and Chairman Farnsworth have
2 failed to state a claim that aligns with the elements of A.R.S. § 12-2212 or some other
3 governing statute, it would not establish an absence of general jurisdiction over the subject
4 matter of legislative subpoenas.

5 B. The County Has Waived Any Argument That Pre-Contempt Judicial
6 Review is Improper

7 The County's own representations to this Court in this action foreclose its recently
8 discovered conviction that the Court may not opine on the validity of a legislative subpoena
9 prior to a legislative finding of contempt. In its own Complaint for declaratory relief the 10 County "asks the Court for a declaration that the Subpoenas are unlawful and to quash 11 them." See Compl. ¶ 9. This critical admission that the Court can—and in fact must—12 assess the enforceability of the Subpoenas discredits the County's newfound insistence that 13 such questions lie beyond the realm of the judiciary's institutional competence. See
14 generally Bank of Am. Nat. Tr. & Sav. Ass'n v. Maricopa County, 196 Ariz. 173, 176, ¶ 11
15 (App. 1999) (adverse party's admission in a prior proceeding could carry evidentiary value
16 (citing Fox v. Weissbach, 76 Ariz. 91, 95 (1953)); KCI Rest. Mgmt. LLC v. Holm Wright
17 Hyde & Hays PLC, 236 Ariz. 485, 488, ¶¶ 12-13 (App. 2014) (same).

18 The County cannot have it both ways. "A lawsuit that asserts that a legislative 19 subpoena should be quashed as unlawful is merely the flip side of a lawsuit that argues that 20 the legislative subpoena should be enforced." Comm. on the Judiciary, U.S. House of 21 Representatives v. McGahn, 415 F. Supp. 3d 148, 182 (D.D.C. 2019); see also Comm. on 22 the Judiciary, U.S. House of Representatives v. Miers, 558 F. Supp. 2d 53, 85 (D.D.C. 2008)
23 (finding that court had jurisdiction to adjudicate House committee's claims to enforce its 24 subpoena, noting that a prior case had considered a declaratory judgment action brought by 25 a subpoena recipient and reasoning that "[t]he difference between that case and this one is 26 that the parties are reversed . . . This Court fails to see why that fact should alter the 27 [declaratory judgment] analysis in any material respect").

28 Either the Court can adjudicate the validity of a legislative subpoena prior to

1 contempt proceedings—or it cannot. To posit that the County can appropriately invoke the 2 Court’s jurisdiction for a declaration concerning the Subpoenas’ lawfulness but that 3 legislative officers cannot present the same question in the same proceedings is untenable.

4 C. The Counterclaim States a Valid Claim Under A.R.S. § 12-2212

5 As “public officers” who are expressly “authorized by law,” namely, A.R.S. § 41-
6 1151, to “take evidence” via the subpoena process, President Fann and Chairman
7 Farnsworth are entitled to “apply” to this Court for civil remedies to enforce the Subpoenas.
8 See A.R.S. § 12-2212. The interpretive inquiry is that simple. To evade the controlling 9 force of the unambiguous text, the County, citing R.L. Whitmer v. Hilton Casitas
10 Homeowners Ass’n, 245 Ariz. 77 (App. 2018), insists that for Section 12-2212 to apply,
11 “the statutory framework authorizing the subpoena must also authorize superior court
12 enforcement of contempt proceedings,” MTD at 15. How the County managed to extrude
13 that sweeping proposition from the narrow question presented in Whitmer is baffling.
14 There, the Court held that the Office of Administrative Courts lacked any statutory power 15 to enforce its orders, but added that “the statutory schemes governing several administrative 16 bodies allow the superior court to act as a forum for such contempt proceedings,” citing 17 Section 12-2212 as an example. 245 Ariz. at 81, ¶ 14. Nowhere did the court state that the 18 existence of some other statute authorizing Superior Court contempt proceedings is a 19 condition precedent to the invocation of Section 12-2212. To the contrary, if Whitmer
20 carries some broader import, it only confirms that Section 12-2212 is itself a sufficient and 21 independent predicate for enforcement jurisdiction. Indeed, if a plaintiff relying on Section
22 12-2212 were required to cite another statute authorizing Superior Court jurisdiction, then 23 Section 12-2212 would be entirely nugatory and pointless.

24 The County’s additional contention that Title 41 does not authorize legislative 25 officers to take “evidence” finds easy refutation in the dictionary and in the controlling 26 statutes. “Evidence” is simply “something (including testimony, documents, and tangible 27 objects) that tends to prove or disprove the existence of an alleged fact; anything presented
28 to the senses and offered to prove the existence or nonexistence of a fact.” BLACK’S LAW

1 DICTIONARY (11th ed. 2019). The documents, materials and information demanded by the 2 Subpoenas fall squarely within this definitional domain; they are things that may prove or 3 disprove facts relating to the accuracy, reliability and security of election procedures.
4 Notably, even Title 41 itself denominates the materials yielded by legislative subpoenas as 5 “evidence.” See A.R.S. § 41-1152 (conferring certain immunities in connection with 6 “[t]estimony or evidence produced pursuant to this article”). Hence, the Counterclaim
7 states a valid cause of action under A.R.S. § 12-2212.

8 D. The Court Also Has Jurisdiction Under the Declaratory Judgment and 9 Injunction Statutes

10 Even if the County were correct that A.R.S. § 12-2212 is somehow inapplicable, the 11 Court nevertheless maintains jurisdiction over the Counterclaim pursuant to the Uniform
12 Declaratory Judgment Act, A.R.S. § 12-1831, et seq. as well as its statutory injunctive
13 authority, see A.R.S. § 12-1801, et seq. See Counterclaim ¶¶ 6, 43-67. Arizona law broadly 14 entrusts to the courts “power to declare rights, status, and other legal relations whether or 15 not further relief is or could be claimed,” A.R.S. § 12-1831—a directive that is interpreted 16 “liberally,” Russell Piccoli P.L.C. v. O’Donnell, 237 Ariz. 43, 47, ¶ 12 (App. 2015). In the 17 words of the County itself, “[t]here is a present controversy” relating to the validity and 18 enforceability of the Subpoenas, and so “[t]his Court has jurisdiction pursuant to the 19 Uniform Declaratory Judgments Act.” County Compl. ¶¶ 10-11.

20 Courts’ consideration of this issue in the context of subpoenas issued by the United 21 States House of Representatives or its committees reinforces the conclusion. Whereas the 22 U.S. Senate’s right to initiate civil enforcement proceedings in the district courts is secured
23 by statute, see 2 U.S.C. § 288d, no such statutory prerogative attaches to House subpoenas.
24 The District of Columbia’s federal courts thus have confronted the question of whether the 25 House or its committees can assert a right of action to pursue civil remedies. They have 26 twice answered in the affirmative.

27 In 2007, the House Judiciary Committee issued to two high-ranking White House 28 officials subpoenas seeking testimony and documents relating to the dismissal of multiple

1 U.S. Attorneys. After the officials declined to comply and the Justice Department refused
2 to bring the House’s contempt citations to a grand jury, the Judiciary Committee filed suit
3 in the district court seeking declaratory and injunctive relief. See Comm. on the Judiciary,
4 U.S. House of Representatives v. Miers, 558 F. Supp. 2d 53 (D.D.C. 2008). Observing that 5 “there can be no question that Congress has a right . . . to issue and enforce subpoenas, and 6 a corresponding right to the information that is the subject of such subpoenas,” it followed 7 that there was “no reason why that right cannot be vindicated by recourse to the federal 8 courts through the [Declaratory Judgment Act].” Id. at 84. The D.C. District Court
9 reaffirmed this precept just a year ago, emphasizing that “[i]f Congress does somehow need
10 a statute to authorize it to file a lawsuit to enforce its subpoenas . . . then the Declaratory 11 Judgment Act plainly serves that purpose.” Comm. on the Judiciary, U.S. House of 12 Representatives v. McGahn, 415 F. Supp. 3d 148, 195 (D.D.C. 2019).<sup>5</sup>

13 The analytical framework expounded in Miers and McGahn transposes easily onto 14 this case. The Legislature, acting through its presiding officers and committee chairmen, 15 has a right to issue subpoenas, see A.R.S. § 41-1151, which in turn engenders a subsidiary
16 right to the documents, materials and information requested therein. When, as here, there
17 arises a resultant controversy relating to the validity or enforceability of specific subpoenas, 18 it may be presented to the Court for a declaratory resolution. For the same reason, if the 19 Court declares that the Subpoenas were lawfully issued, it may appropriately enlist its 20 remedial powers to devise appropriate injunctive relief. See A.R.S. § 12-1801(1), (3) 21 (authorizing writ of injunction “[w]hen it appears that the party applying for the writ is 22 entitled to the relief demanded, and such relief or any part thereof requires the restraint of 23

24 <sup>5</sup> A divided three-judge panel of the D.C. Circuit reversed the district court’s order, 25 see 951 F.3d 510 (D.C. Cir. Feb. 28, 2020), but the en banc court subsequently vacated the 26 panel opinion, agreeing with the district court that the committee had Article III standing to 27 enforce its subpoena and remanding the case to the panel to consider the cause of action 28 issue, see 968 F.3d 755, 778 (D.C. Cir. Aug. 7, 2020). On remand, the panel found that the committee lacked a valid cause of action, see 973 F.3d 121 (D.C. Cir. Aug. 31, 2020)—but the en banc court has since vacated that opinion as well, granting the committee’s petition for rehearing and scheduling oral arguments for February 2021, see Comm. on the Judiciary
v. McGahn, No. 19-5331 (D.C. Cir.), Per Curiam Order of Oct. 15, 2020.

1 some act prejudicial to the applicant,” as well as “[i]n all other cases when applicant is
2 entitled to an injunction under the principles of equity”); cf. Arizona Pub. Integrity All. v.
3 Fontes, -- Ariz. --, 475 P.3d 303, 307 (2020) (“[L]ike all public officials, the Recorder ‘may 4 be enjoined from acts’ that are beyond his power.”); Rivera v. City of Douglas, 132 Ariz.
5 117, 119 (App. 1982) (holding that “injunction is an appropriate remedy to determine 6 whether rights have been or will be affected by arbitrary or unreasonable action of an
7 administrative officer or agent”).<sup>6</sup>

8 In sum, the Superior Court has subject matter jurisdiction over disputes concerning 9 the enforceability of legislative subpoenas because no source of law invests jurisdiction
10 exclusively in some other tribunal. See Ariz. Const. art. VI, § 14(1). Further, A.R.S. §§
11 12-2212, 12-1831, and 12-1801 each supplies a sufficient jurisdictional premise and cause
12 of action for the relief sought by the Counterclaim.

13 II. The Subpoenas Were Issued for the Valid Legislative Purposes of Investigating 14 the Adequacy of Existing Election Procedures and Assessing the Necessity of 15 Reforms

16 Finding the sworn factual averments of the Counterclaim uncongenial to its legal 17 theories, the County instead concocts a fanciful, fictive narrative in which the Subpoenas
18 are simply means of “overturning the People’s lawful election of presidential electors.”
19 MTD at 5. Lacking any actual evidence for this subversive proposition, the County relies 20 on the hearsay claims of third parties, such as the tweets of TV personalities, that the 21 Legislature will “provide the information to counsel for the losing candidate so that he 22 might attempt to use it to overturn the election results.” See County Compl. ¶ 88, Exh. 8.

23 Although it is difficult to extract coherent principles of law from this yarn, the 24 County appears to argue that (1) the Subpoenas and underlying investigation are actually a 25 statutory “election contest,” and (2) a legislative subpoena cannot be valid unless it is

26
27 <sup>6</sup> In arguing that Section 12-2212 does not admit of injunctive remedies, the County 28 conflates two separate and distinct remedial schemes. Section 12-2212 is merely an alternative basis for adjudicating the Counterclaim; it does not subsume or abridge causes of action or remedies arising under different statutes, such as Section 12-1801.

1 explicitly tied to some specific item of pending legislation. Both contentions can be easily 2 dispatched.

3 A. The Subpoenas Are Not—and Could Not Be—Part of an “Election
4 Contest”

5 Preliminarily, whatever the County hypothesizes may or may not be the “true”
6 motives undergirding the Subpoenas is devoid of any legal significance. See Eastland v.
7 U.S. Servicemen’s Fund, 421 U.S. 491, 508 (1975) (holding in subpoena context that “in 8 determining the legitimacy of a congressional act we do not look to the motives alleged to 9 have prompted it”); Barenblatt v. United States, 360 U.S. 109, 132 (1959) (“So long as 10 Congress acts in pursuance of its constitutional power, the Judiciary lacks authority to 11 intervene on the basis of the motives which spurred the exercise of that power.”).

12 That being said, the County’s sophistic notion that any legislative inquiry into the 13 conduct of election procedures is somehow an “election contest” under A.R.S. § 16-672
14 depends on a profound definitional confusion. An “election contest” is a statutory term of 15 art that denotes a judicial proceeding in which a qualified elector alleges, on one or more 16 statutorily enumerated grounds, that someone other than the declared winner received the 17 highest number of lawful votes, and should be certified by the Court as elected to the office.
18 At the risk of stating the obvious: the Judiciary Committee’s investigation is not, never was,
19 and never could be an “election contest” that should be governed by A.R.S. § 16-672, et 20 seq.

21 To be sure, one impetus for the Subpoenas’ issuance was the possibility that they 22 may yield information relevant to the certification of presidential electors by the United 23 States Congress. As an initial matter, that in itself was a valid legislative purpose. The 24 Arizona Legislature is charged by the federal Constitution with controlling the manner in 25 which the state’s presidential electors are selected, see U.S. Const. art. II, § 1. Further, 26 because certification objections can be raised and adjudicated exclusively in the United 27 States Congress, see 3 U.S.C. § 15, the Subpoenas intrinsically lacked any capacity to 28 derogate the authority of the Arizona judiciary, even if they had impacted Congress’

1 certification determinations.

2 In any event, the County has, through its unlawful obstruction, rendered moot any
3 relationship between the Subpoenas and Congress' certification of the Electoral College
4 returns. Because all parties to this proceeding agree that the 2020 presidential election has 5 definitively and irrevocably concluded, the County's continued ruminations about 6 "overturning" it are a non sequitur. Notwithstanding the County's dogged efforts to 7 resuscitate this dead issue, its continued defiance of the Subpoenas must rely on something 8 other than tired canards about "overturning" the election.

9 B. Legislative Subpoenas Need Not Be Predicated on Specific Introduced
10 Bills

11 Perhaps recognizing that its shibboleths about election subversions are rapidly losing 12 any plausibility, the County instead pivots to a new theory that there must be "actual,
13 currently-pending legislation," MTD at 4, before a subpoena may be properly issued. This 14 novel "pending legislation rule" is a pure contrivance of the County. It is not, and never 15 has been, a judicially ordained prerequisite to a lawful legislative subpoena. While the 16 circumstances in Wilkinson v. United States, 365 U.S. 399 (1961)—the sole case cited by 17 the County—may have included a particular relevant legislative item, the Supreme Court
18 never suggested, let alone held, that a subpoena must be conjoined to an extant bill. To the 19 contrary, the seminal case recognizing the congressional subpoena power eschewed exactly
20 that proposition. Dismissing the contention that a Senate investigation into the Attorney
21 General lacked any valid legislative purpose, the court reasoned, in words that resonate
22 when contemplating the relationship of the Arizona Senate to County officials:

23
24 It is quite true that the resolution directing the investigation does not in terms 25 avow that it is intended to be in aid of legislation; but it does show that the 26 subject to be investigated was the administration of the Department of 27 Justice—whether its functions were being properly discharged or were being 28 neglected or misdirected, and particularly whether the Attorney General and his assistants were performing or neglecting their duties in respect of the institution and prosecution of proceedings to punish crimes and enforce appropriate remedies against the wrongdoers; specific instances of alleged

1 neglect being recited. Plainly the subject was one on which legislation could 2 be had and would be materially aided by the information which the 3 investigation was calculated to elicit. This becomes manifest when it is 4 reflected that the functions of the Department of Justice, the powers and 5 duties of the Attorney General, and the duties of his assistants are all subject 6 to regulation by congressional legislation, and that the department is maintained and its activities are carried on under such appropriations as in the judgment of Congress are needed from year to year.

7 McGrain v. Daugherty, 273 U.S. 135, 177–78 (1927). Subsequent cases have reaffirmed 8 the maxim that a legislative subpoena is in furtherance of a valid legislative purpose if its 9 demands “concern a subject upon which legislation could be had.” Trump v. Mazars USA,
10 LLP, 140 S. Ct. 2019, 2031 (2020) (citation omitted; emphasis added); see also id. at 2027
11 (subpoena was premised in part on committee’s averment that it “planned ‘to develop 12 legislation and policy reforms to ensure the U. S. government is better positioned to counter 13 future efforts to undermine our political process and national security’”); Eastland, 421 U.S.
14 at 493 (upholding congressional subpoena issued pursuant to efforts to “make a complete
15 and continuing study and investigation of . . . the administration, operation, and enforcement
16 of” certain laws); Bean LLC v. John Doe Bank, 291 F. Supp. 3d 34, 43 (D.D.C. 2018)
17 (congressional investigation into alleged Russian interference in U.S. elections was a valid 18 legislative purpose).

19 Further, even if the County’s chimerical “pending legislation” restriction could be 20 unearthed in federal law (and, as discussed above, it cannot), it certainly has no application
21 in Arizona. Recognizing that “[i]t is within the powers of legislative committees to conduct
22 investigations,” the Arizona Supreme Court affirmed the validity of a legislative subpoena 23 issued pursuant to a legislative examination of “all phases of the existing relationship
24 between Corporation Commission personnel, elective and appointive, and persons and 25 corporations subject to the regulatory jurisdiction of the Corporation Commission” and the 26 Commission’s political contribution solicitation practices—notwithstanding that this 27 endeavor appeared to be untethered from any identified legislative proposal. Buell v.
28

1 Superior Court, 96 Ariz. 62, 64, 66 (1964).

2 The County’s doctrinal invention also makes no practical sense. The purpose of 3 many legislative inquiries—including this one—is to discern whether reform legislation is 4 warranted at all, and if so, what ills it should seek to remedy. The County’s proposed rule
 5 would invert this logic, requiring the legislative body to first formulate a solution before it
 6 can ascertain the existence and nature of the problem. This notion that some antecedent 7 item of pending legislation is a condition precedent to a valid subpoena lacks any legal or 8 logical sustenance. The Legislature’s inherent investigatory powers are expansive and 9 indefinite; their validity is not contingent on the existence of past (or, for that matter, future)
 10 specific legislative proposals. See Eastland, 421 U.S. at 509 (“Nor is the legitimacy of a
 11 congressional inquiry to be defined by what it produces . . . To be a valid legislative inquiry 12 there need be no predictable end result.”).

13 In short, the Judiciary Committee’s objective of using data and information gleaned
 14 through the Subpoenas to evaluate the accuracy and efficacy of existing vote tabulation
 15 systems and the competence of county officials in performing their statutory duties—all 16 with an eye to introducing potential reform proposals in the Fifty-Fifth Legislature— is self-17 evidently a valid legislative purpose.

18 III. The Confidentiality Laws Cited By the County Do Not Create a Privilege of the 19 County to Defy Compulsory Process

20 President Fann and Chairman Petersen already have addressed at length in the 21 Motion for Preliminary Injunction (pp. 13-15) the inapplicability of various statutes and 22 provisions of the Election Procedures Manual to the Subpoenas. Those arguments need not 23 be reiterated here. Two particular points, however, merit reemphasis in light of the 24 County’s submissions.

25 First, the County spills much ink to establish an undisputed proposition: certain voter 26 information and balloting materials are confidential and insulated from access by the 27 general public. But “[t]he terms ‘privileged’ and ‘confidential’ are not interchangeable.”
 28 Catrone v. Miles, 215 Ariz. 446, 454, ¶ 21 (App. 2007). The County remains at a loss to

1 explain how general statutory restrictions on public access can be transmogrified into a
2 cognizable privilege against disclosure demanded by lawfully issued compulsory process.
3 Whatever the law may be in other states,<sup>7</sup> the Arizona authorities are bereft of support for 4 the notion that general statutory confidentiality restrictions vest in an inferior political 5 subdivision a personal privilege that can abrogate a valid legislative inquiry. Indeed, the 6 Arizona Supreme Court has clarified that even recognized privileges do not necessarily 7 immunize documents or information from compulsory process. See Buell, 96 Ariz. at 69
8 (rejecting claims of attorney-client privilege raised in response to legislative subpoena); see
9 also State v. Zeitner, 246 Ariz. 161, 167, ¶ 22 (2019) (“We cannot infer that the legislature,
10 in granting such broad investigatory authority [to state agencies], intended the [physician-
11 patient] privilege to stand as a bulwark against [Medicaid] fraud investigations”).

12 Second, many of the statutes invoked by the County either explicitly permit or 13 impliedly contemplate the Legislature’s access to the subpoenaed materials. A.R.S. § 16-
14 168(F) expressly provides that otherwise confidential voter information is available to any 15 “authorized government official in the scope of the official’s duties.” That A.R.S. § 16-624
16 mandates the retention of ballots for up to two years implicitly acknowledges that these 17 materials may be responsive to, and subject to disclosure by, compulsory process in various 18 proceedings arising long after the election has been certified and the contest period has 19 elapsed. Other of the County’s statutory arguments amble into the realm of the absurd. For 20 example, A.R.S. § 16-1018(4) generally prohibits showing “another voter’s” completed
21 ballot to a third party. It self-evidently has no application to the review of ballots by 22 government officials—and if it did, every County employee who exposes himself or a 23 colleague to a ballot image during routine processing and tabulation activities would be 24 committing a criminal act. This is nonsensical. The statutory safeguards governing public

25 _____
26 <sup>7</sup> The Washington State case the County relies upon does not illuminate questions of 27 Arizona law, and appears to have been impelled in part by separation of powers concerns
28 implicated by the compelled disclosure of documents relating to state judges, see Garner v. Cherberg, 765 P.2d 1284, 1288 (Wash. 1988) (“This court has recognized that confidentiality of Commission proceedings is essential to the preservation of fundamental judicial independence.”).

1 access to voter information and ballot materials simply do not clothe the County with an
2 evidentiary privilege that it may assert against the sovereign Legislature in response to a 3 valid subpoena.

4 IV. The Counties' Remaining Defenses All Fail as a Matter of Law

5 A. President Fann and Chairman Petersen Have Standing to Enforce the 6 Subpoenas in this Court

7 Assuming that this Court has jurisdiction to fashion civil remedies enforcing the 8 Subpoenas—and, for the reasons discussed in Section I above, it does—President Fann and 9 Chairman Petersen undoubtedly maintain standing to obtain them. Preliminarily, the 10 County appears to conflate two discrete and distinct remedial rubrics. While a resolution
11 of the relevant legislative house is required for a formal finding of contempt, see A.R.S. §
12 41-1153(A), there is no textual basis for engrafting this prerequisite onto the civil claims 13 raised in these proceedings.

14 Although a vote of the full legislative chamber is sufficient to initiate a civil suit, see
15 Forty-Seventh Legislature v. Napolitano, 213 Ariz. 482, 487, ¶ 16 (2006), it is not a 16 necessary precondition to doing so. When a constitutional or statutory provision empowers
17 an individual legislator or subset of legislators to effectuate some legal act, those lawmakers
18 have independent standing to pursue claims arising out of this prerogative. See, e.g., Adams
19 v. Comm'n on Appellate Court Appointments, 227 Ariz. 128, 131, ¶ 9 (2011) (finding that 20 Speaker of the House and the Senate President, as the officials designated by the 21 Constitution to make appointments to the Independent Redistricting Commission, “have 22 standing to challenge the legality of the Appointment Commission’s list of nominees” for 23 those positions); Biggs v. Cooper ex rel. County of Maricopa, 236 Ariz. 415, 418, ¶ 8 (2014)
24 (concluding that “a group of plaintiff legislators sufficient to have blocked [a bill’s] passage
25 has standing to challenge the law’s enactment by only a majority vote”). Federal courts 26 likewise have indicated that the legislative subunit authorized to issue subpoenas has 27 standing to seek their enforcement. See Comm. on Judiciary of United States House of 28 Representatives v. McGahn, 968 F.3d 755, 765-66 (D.C. Cir. 2020) (concluding that

1 because the issuing committee was assigned the House’s investigatory powers, the alleged 2 disregard of the subpoena caused an informational injury to the committee, which in turn
3 sustained the committee’s Article III standing).

4 Thus, because A.R.S. § 41-1151 delegates each house’s investigatory powers to its
5 presiding officers and committee chairs, those legislators incur a concrete injury—
6 redressable in this Court—when, as here, a properly issued subpoena is defied.

7 B. The Parties’ Controversy Over the Validity and Enforceability of the 8 Subpoenas Is Not Moot

9 The County’s attempt to evade on ostensible “mootness” grounds judicial review of 10 its ongoing obstruction of the Subpoenas is lacking. Courts “will consider cases that have 11 become moot when significant questions of public importance are presented and are likely 12 to recur.” Big D Const. Corp. v. Court of Appeals for State of Ariz., Div. One, 163 Ariz.
13 560, 563 (1990). President Fann has averred under oath that she will reissue a substantively
14 identical subpoena when the Fifty-Fifth Legislature commences its regular session on 15 January 11 and that Chairman Petersen intends to do the same. See Verified Counterclaim
16 ¶¶ 40-41. Although delay has been the modus operandi of the County in this case, its current 17 mootness gambit is unavailing.

18 C. The Recorder Is Not a Necessary Party

19 The County’s effort to deflect by pointing a finger at the Recorder fares no better.
20 The Legislature has expressly charged the Board of Supervisors with the duty and authority 21 to “[s]upervise the official conduct of all county officers . . . and, when necessary, require 22 the officers to . . . make reports and present their books and accounts for inspection.”
23 A.R.S. § 11-251(1). Although the County Recorder’s Office may be the physical repository
24 for certain of the documents and records demanded by the Subpoenas, those materials thus 25 remain under the legal supervision and control of the Board of Supervisors. See A.R.S. § 26 41-1154 (legislative subpoena may require recipient to produce documents “in his 27 possession or under his control” (emphasis added)); Helge v. Druke, 136 Ariz. 434, 437– 28 38 (App. 1983) (noting that “a witness may be compelled to produce a document that

1 he controls though he does not have possession of it”). Indeed, the Board has publicly
 2 endorsed “a forensic audit of election equipment,” which necessarily presupposes that the 3 Board possesses the authority to requisition the necessary materials from the County
 4 Recorder. See The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors, Board of Supervisors Responds
 5 to Legislative Subpoenas, DAILY INDEPENDENT, Dec. 22, 2020, available at 6 https://www.yourvalley.net/stories/board-of-supervisors-responds-to-legislative-
 7 subpoenas,205361.

8 Further, even if the Board did lack legal control over some of the materials sought
 9 by the Subpoenas, it is not immune from an injunction or other order compelling production
 10 of the remainder. And if the Court for whatever reason concludes that the County
 11 Recorder’s presence is necessary, it may simply add him. Arizona Rule of Civil Procedure 12 19(a)(2) instructs that “[i]f a person required to be made a party has not been joined, the 13 court must order that the person be made a party.” Dismissal is proper only if a missing
 14 party is necessary and his joinder is not feasible. See id. Rule 19(b); 59 AM. JUR. 2D
 15 PARTIES § 350 (“[T]he failure to join an indispensable party may be overcome by joining
 16 that party; dismissal for failure to join a necessary party is warranted only when the defect 17 cannot be cured.”).

18 D. Electronic Documents Are Subject to the Legislative Subpoena Power

19 Materials are not immune from compelled disclosure merely because they exist in 20 electronic form. A legislative subpoena may command a recipient to produce “any material
 21 and relevant books, papers or documents.” A.R.S. § 41-1154. When construing a statute, 22 “[e]ach word, phrase, clause, and sentence must be given meaning so that no part will be 23 void, inert, redundant, or trivial.” State v. Burbey, 243 Ariz. 145, 147, ¶ 10 (2017) (quoting
 24 City of Phoenix v. Yates, 69 Ariz. 68, 72 (1949)). That the Legislature enumerated 25 “documents” as a classification distinct from “books” and “papers” imparts an intent to 26 imbue it with an expansive ambit that encompasses not just physical or tactile materials.
 27 Indeed, as commonly understood, the term ‘document’ “embraces any information stored
 28 on a computer, electronic storage device, or any other medium.” BLACK’S LAW

1 DICTIONARY (11th ed. 2019); cf. Lake v. City of Phoenix, 222 Ariz. 547, 551, ¶ 14 (2009)
 2 (“We . . . hold that when a public entity maintains a public record in an electronic format,
 3 the electronic version of the record, including any embedded metadata, is subject to 4 disclosure under our public records law.”).

5 Thus, even if some of the materials sought by the Subpoenas are stored or reified in 6 electronic media, they nonetheless remain “documents” that are subject to disclosure.

7 E. The County Has Had Ample Time to Respond to the Subpoenas

8 That the Subpoenas initially afforded the County three days in which to comply
 9 cannot plausibly excuse its ongoing obduracy. Despite twenty-seven days having elapsed
 10 since the Subpoenas’ issuance, the County still has not produced a single document or item
 11 pursuant to them. Irrespective of whether it is allotted three days or 300 days in which to 12 respond, the County has made clear that it will not comply with the Subpoenas unless and 13 until this Court orders it to do so. If matters of timing are truly a genuine and good faith
 14 concern, President Fann and Chairman Petersen remain amenable to negotiating reasonable
 15 accommodations, provided that the County works diligently to supply the requested 16 materials as expeditiously as possible.

17 CONCLUSION

18 For the reasons set forth herein and in the Motion for a Preliminary Injunction, the 19 Court should (1) deny the County’s Motion to Dismiss in its entirety, and (2) enter a 20 preliminary injunction or other order compelling the County to immediately produce or 21 make available in full to President Fann or Chairman Petersen (or their designees) all 22 documents, records, materials, and information responsive to either or both of the 23 Subpoenas.

·NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP·

BUT WHEN THE SESSION ENDS, ALL EYES WILL BE ON HER

Erika Neuberg, the new IRC chair, put a positive spin to the Census Bureau data being delayed two additional months, saying it gives her and the other four commissioners time to fully digest what they are in for over the next year-plus. Neuberg also said she appreciates the Legislature taking over the headlines because it provides the commission some cover to hunker down and get to work without the full media spotlight in the meantime. “There’s a relief that there is so much state news and so much drama that it takes a ton of focus away from the IRC. And now that there’s delays, there’s less scrutiny, which gives us a little bit of time to kind of get our feet wet,” she said. The IRC is set to meet on Feb 2 and will address the Census delay as well as plans to hire administrative and other potential roles within the commission, but none of those positions are required by statute or the constitution, so Neuberg said she really has no idea what kinds of employees the IRC will hire outside of likely an executive director, mapping consultant and legal team. (Last cycle, there were two legal teams – one for Democrats and the other for Republicans.) She said while the delay offers a reprieve, she’s still not sure what the commission will do first, or what qualities her colleagues will look for in the next executive director, but personally, she wants “somebody of impeccable character, and some experience with how the government works.” That candidate should have strong communication skills and should be “fiercely independent,” she said, adding that she views “fiercely independent” to mean “not easily manipulated” by others. She reiterated what she said in her interview (YS, 1/21) – that she does not want to be a tie-breaking vote all the time, especially favoring one side of the aisle. To avoid that, she said she would lead in one of two ways – either let the other four commissioners hash things out to come to an agreement before she has to take a side, or she will act immediately to break the tie.

IT’ AIN’T THE PARTY OF MCCAIN AND KYL ANYMORE

In a wide-ranging interview with our reporter today, Neuberg acknowledged that she used to be registered as a Republican before becoming an independent in 2016, saying she made the switch because she’s not a partisan and didn’t identify with the Republican Party anymore. She told our reporter that growing up in a deep-red Arizona in the days of Jon Kyl and John McCain shaped her political activity at a young age. “All of my political activity throughout my entire life has been singularly focused on advancing the US-Israel relationship and along those lines, I worked to develop relationships with elected leaders,” she said. “The reality was that most of those relationships were within the Republican Party 20 years ago in Arizona.” She acknowledged that she probably should have changed her registration “a long time ago” as Arizona began to change, but ultimately waited until 2016 – enough time for her to qualify as an independent for the redistricting process. She said it doesn’t mean that she always voted Republican or contributed exclusively to Republican candidates (she has contributed to the campaign of many politicians from both major parties). Ultimately, she said she dropped the Republican label because she felt “it communicated something that wasn’t accurate about me. I am not a party person. I reject identity politics. I focus on policy.”

REMEMBER: HE STOOD WITH STRINGER AND SHOOTER

Former lawmaker Noel Campbell's wife told police he hit her in the face, pushed her to the ground and threatened to "ruin her life" if she told police. According to a police report (LINK) first obtained by CopperState News' Lynne LaMaster (she was the former editor of former Rep David Stringer's newspaper, Prescott E-News, and defended Stringer's white nationalism (LINK)), Mary Beth Hrin went to the Prescott police station on Dec 29 with red marks on her face, near her eye and on her neck from where she said Campbell had struck her multiple times. She was obviously scared and initially used a fake name. "The female advised me that she was scared of retaliation from the male, who ... has political power," officer Chad Worthen wrote in his initial report. "I asked the female if by political power she means sitting on the City Council or higher. The female just looked at me and pointed her thumb in the up direction." She told police that she had been cooking for him over the holiday, but he wouldn't eat. When she told him she felt like she didn't have a good Christmas because of it, he became upset and pushed her and she fell to the ground. "Mary Beth then advised me that Campbell struck her multiple times in the neck and multiple times in the face," Worthen wrote. She told police that she warned Campbell that would be "the last time he would assault her" and that she was going to the police. She said he called her "f*cking pathetic." "Mary Beth advised me that Campbell stated to her that he would ruin her life and that the police can't do anything about it," Worthen wrote. In a supplemental report, officer Terry Carroll wrote that when police followed up the next day, Hrin, who identified herself as a former cop and prosecutor, refused to press charges, saying she believes Campbell is in the beginning stages of dementia. Police contacted Campbell at his house. "It should be noted that he appeared to be irritated once he realized we were law enforcement," the report states. Carroll wrote that he contacted the Prescott City Prosecutor's Office, but that it declined to immediately press charges "because we did not have enough information nor cooperation from the victim." Campbell is seeking a vacant seat on the Prescott City Council. Our reporter attempted to call Campbell today, but his old phone number has been disconnected.

IRONY HAS BEEN STABBED TO DEATH, SET ON FIRE AND BURRIED

AZGOP Chair Kelli Ward thinks that once an election is over, it's over, and the losers should shut up and move on – but only when it comes to her own election. In an attempt to one-up the irony of problems plaguing the AZGOP election that she (allegedly) won and calls for the audit and recount of that election, Ward today went on James T. Harris' Conservative Circus radio show (LINK) to officially deny requests for an audit, saying "there is no way to challenge what happened." "There's no procedure, process, rules, that allow for it to be done," she said. "And you certainly don't allow a challenger who lost an election to demand something that they don't have the right to and we don't have the responsibility for providing. And you especially don't let that challenger who lost the election to determine how it will be done." Of course, that's exactly what Ward has been doing for the last two months, including calling on supporters to be willing to die for their conspiracy. She blamed the Republicans who are talking to "our enemies" in the media, saying they're just trying to take her down.

ANOTHER DAY, ANOTHER ATTACK ON DEMOCRACY

In what one Republican called “the worst bill of the year,” Bolick yesterday filed legislation to allow the Legislature to vote to override the Secretary of State’s certification of electoral votes any day until the inauguration. Obviously, H2720 (ballots; election contests; certificates), which would scrap democracy as we know it, stems from bitterness over Trump losing a free and fair election, and it’s worth noting Bolick’s role with the CEO of ALEC last year over how state legislatures should handle challenging election results they don’t agree with (LINK). The bill almost certainly isn’t going anywhere, as even Ugenti-Rita has already chimed in on Twitter with what seems like a clear knock on the bill. “Sharpiegate + legislative power grab + eliminating voting options = bad news for Arizona voters,” she tweeted (LINK) alongside a picture of Alex Kolodin, who filed the Sharpiegate lawsuit, Bolick, who sponsored H2720, and Blackman, who co-sponsored legislation to repeal the PEVL outright. “Each of these issues represent the wrong way to address election integrity, particularly voter confidence in our election system.” (It’s worth noting all three Republicans pictured worked to defeat Ugenti-Rita in the primary – Kolodin ran against her, and Blackman and Bolick endorsed him.) H2720 would also allow any “party to an election contest” to call for a full jury trial to decide a claim, compared to just allowing a judge to throw out a case if it lacks standing or merit, which is what is currently allowed. (Bolick’s husband Clint is an Arizona Supreme Court justice who was part of a bench to deny all Nov 3 election challenges that came their way.) Her bill states, “a court may not grant a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment that would result in dismissal” until after a jury reaches a verdict. And another provision would automatically fire county supervisors and county recorders and bar them from seeking re-election or any other political office for 10 years if there is any disruption to video coverage of counting ballots. The bill has already attracted national media attention, and Bolick, predictably, is blaming the media for blowing things out of proportion. “The mainstream media is using this elections bill as click bait to generate misleading headlines,” she wrote. “It is a good, democratic check and balance.”

THE WHATDEMIC?

After three full weeks of legislative business, Ducey has four bills awaiting his signature, but none have to do with his top priority – the pandemic. Ducey’s communications director CJ Karamargin told our reporter that the Ninth Floor is “not going to legislate ourselves out of this pandemic,” a play on Ducey’s recent comments that we can “vaccinate our way out” of the pandemic. “The legislative session is just getting underway. We’re confident they’re gonna deal with the governor’s agenda,” he said. The Ninth Floor remains focused on managing the pandemic in other ways like the second state-run vaccine center set to open Feb 1. The bills on the governor’s desk are bipartisan, but are wholly unrelated to the pandemic, which nearly every politician has pledged to make a top priority. In fact, according to our reporter’s analysis, 135 pieces of legislation have made it out of committee (out of 1,442 total bills) and none focus on managing the ongoing crisis. The only Covid-related bills to clear committees so far have to do with limiting or overturning Ducey’s executive authority. Among the four bills lawmaker fast-tracked to Ducey’s desk is Udall’s H2023 (schools; employees; employment; discipline), which would close a loophole to discipline non-certified teachers accused of misconduct. (Boyer introduced the same bill last year, but did not make headway before the pandemic shut down the session.) The legislation stemmed from a joint-investigative report KJZZ and Arizona Republic conducted about the loophole (LINK). Weninger’s H2045 (civil rights; amendments) would crack down on workplaces discriminating against pregnant women. (It’s also a re-run, which Mesnard and Weninger introduced last year.) “While pregnancy discrimination protections existed at the federal level, Arizona did not have similar protections until this bill,” Brnovich, who is backing the bill, said in a press release. “This is an important step to help ensure women are not forced to choose between a career and motherhood.” Griffin’s H2036 (electric cooperatives; broadband service; fees), and Dunn’s H2078 (groundwater; waterlogged area exemption; date) are also awaiting the governor’s signature or veto.

·PRESS RELEASES·

Statement from Representative Bolick on HB 2720

STATE CAPITOL, PHOENIX – State Representative Shawna Bolick issued a statement today regarding HB 2720, election reform legislation introduced this week.

“In two months alone, my office has received well over 30,000 emails, letters, and calls pertaining to the November election. Since August of 2020, I have taken potential election reform ideas from constituents and supporters on suggested changes to update current election-related statutes. I have spoken with election observers and poll watchers about securing, adjudicating and auditing ballots.

“House Bill 2720 amends parts of the state’s election law pertaining to ballots, elections, and certificates. During the last election cycle, many individuals showed frustration not knowing exactly how many mail-in ballots were being printed, mailed, on-hand, etc. This bill offers transparency to address some of these issues. And, of course, until today, our office has received countless requests about an audit.

“The mainstream media is using this elections bill as click bait to generate misleading headlines. This bill would give the Arizona Legislature back the power it delegated to certify the electors. It is a good, democratic check and balance.

“At the end of the day, I hope we can all agree we need to have secure elections cast by legal registered voters across Arizona. Our constituents voted us in to restore the integrity of our elections.”

Senator Shope commends settlement reached in Johnson Utilities case

(Phoenix, State Capitol) --- Nearly 70,000 water customers in Florence, Queen Creek and San Tan Valley have a more certain water future, after the Arizona Corporation Commission (ACC) and the Arizona Department of Environmental Quality (ADEQ) reached settlements in the Johnson Utilities case. Residents in the area have been dealing with water shortages and overflowing sewers for years. The ACC ordered a removal of management of Johnson Utilities in 2018, and EPCOR USA began serving as interim manager of the utility. In December, regulators approved a sale to EPCOR, and this week a settlement agreement was reached between the ACC, ADEQ and EPCOR to finalize the purchase.

Many of these water customers live in LD-8, and Senator T. J. Shope believes they'll now have safe and reliable water service moving forward. "No one should have to go through what these folks have endured," said Senator Shope. "But this utility nightmare is finally over. The taps will work, and wastewater service will be reliable."

The agreement includes a financial plan for a new wastewater treatment facility, savings to ratepayers for prior equipment purchases, and a compliance plan for drinking water and wastewater facilities.

"We're very pleased to be moving forward with a new chapter for these customers and communities," said EPCOR USA President Joe Gysel. "Leaders like Senator Shope have been an important voice and advocate for their communities and customers throughout this process and we look forward to bringing the service and reliability these customers need and deserve."

Board of Supervisors Responds to Arizona Senate Election Audit Announcement

The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors respects the Arizona Senate's decision to hire a company to audit the elections data and documents the Board has provided to date. The Board through its legal team continues to work in good faith with representatives of the Arizona State Senate President Fann.

The Board continues to move forward with the forensic audits of the election tabulation machines approved Wednesday January 27, 2021. The Maricopa County Elections Department plans to hire the two companies that are certified voting system testing laboratories by the U. S. Election Assistance Commission. These are the only companies in our nation that have this certification.

The Department of Homeland Security designated tabulation equipment as critical Election Infrastructure. If the source code from our tabulation equipment is exposed and posted online, that could jeopardize the integrity of voting systems across the country. Therefore, the County prefers to use these companies.

Senate chooses its own qualified auditing firm to conduct forensic audit of Maricopa County election results

Today Senate President Fann announced that the Arizona State Senate has hired an independent, qualified, forensic auditing firm to analyze 2020 election results in Maricopa County.

President Fann: "There are two primary reasons we have determined the Senate needed to retain its own independent auditing firm. The Senate has consistently called for an auditor certified by the U. S. Election Assistance Commission (EAC). We have now learned the EAC does not certify auditors as such. The other primary reason is that the scope of the audit must be broader than the one proposed by the County's vendors. Our firm will perform everything we have required in the subpoenas. We must bring back confidence that the election results reported are how votes were legally cast. The Senate's forensic audit will bring accuracy and detail to the process, and with that restore integrity to the election process."

Senate Judiciary Chairman Warren Petersen: "Maricopa County has chosen two companies to audit their election. Unfortunately, their limited scope does not fulfill the demand of our subpoena, which called for a deep forensic audit. We need to do more than make basic checks on the machines to make sure they were working. We need to check the ballots and ballot scans for abnormalities. We need to look at the machines to see if there was any manipulation. We need to make sure there was no remote or local access that made changes to the results. I'm grateful the President has chosen a firm that will do that work. Only then will our voters feel confident about the results of the election."

Hernandez Introduces “Breonna Taylor” Bill to Ban No-Knock Warrants

PHOENIX – Representative Alma Hernandez this week introduced Arizona’s version of the “Justice for Breonna Taylor” Law, a bill to disallow police from using no-knock warrants like the officers who killed Taylor inside her Louisville, Kentucky, home during a botched raid last year. After the death of Ms. Breonna Taylor, a bipartisan group of lawmakers at the state and federal level have come together to ban No-Knock Warrants. At the federal level Republican Senator Rand Paul introduced a similar ban at the national level.

Hernandez’ HB2751 would require officers to audibly provide notice to the occupants of a place being searched before executing a warrant. Officers would also be required to provide a copy of the search warrant to the person being searched or the owner of the home or location.

“What happened to Breonna Taylor was a travesty and a miscarriage of justice, and we must do all we can to prevent anything like that from happening here,” said Hernandez, D-Tucson. “This is common-sense law enforcement reform that protects officers and the public from tragic mistakes. We know that this is a non-partisan issue to protect all Arizonans.”

Media Advisory: Superintendent Hoffman to Deliver “State of Education” Address

ADHS Continues Refusing to Issue New MMJ Licenses

Arizona Supreme Court has held that all counties must have one dispensary and ADHS must issue licenses whenever it can

Phoenix, January 29, 2021: Yesterday, the Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS) answered a complaint filed in Maricopa County Superior Court alleging that ADHS unlawfully refused the plaintiffs’ applications for a rural medical marijuana dispensary certificate. The companies are controlled by Mason Cave, a board member of the Arizona Cannabis Chamber of Commerce. In its answer, ADHS denies that the Arizona Medical Marijuana Act (AMMA) requires it to ensure that each county has at least one nonprofit medical marijuana dispensary registration certificate.

Judge Mikitish previously ruled against ADHS’ motion to dismiss the complaint, finding that the Arizona Supreme Court’s opinion in Saguaro Healing LLC v. State (2020) “requires ADHS to issue certificates and necessarily open the application process once it determines that an individual county does not have a dispensary.” In the case Judge Mikitish referred to, Saguaro Healing, the supreme court held that the AMMA “requires that ADHS issue registration certificates, and necessarily open the application process, under two distinct circumstances: (1) if the allocation of dispensary certificates is below the one-in-ten ratio [of dispensaries to pharmacies] or (2) a county does not have a dispensary.”

ADHS admits in its answer and on its website that four counties do not have a dispensary. It also admits in its answer that since at least 2017 there has been less than one dispensary for every ten pharmacies in the state.

Arizona NORML’s Director of Politics and Civic Engagement, Julie Gunnigle, offered the following comment:

“For years, medical marijuana patients believed ADHS was neglecting its obligation to ensure that Arizona has the number of dispensaries required by law. ADHS’ position in this case makes clear that their concerns were valid. As medical marijuana patients know, Arizona has a critical shortage of dispensaries, leading to both limited choices for patients and artificially high prices. Further, the surging demand for marijuana as a result of recreational sales threatens to exacerbate these problems.

We are disappointed by ADHS’ continued neglect of patients’ needs and its refusal to accept the will of Arizona’s voters as interpreted by the supreme court. Arizona’s medical marijuana statutes are clear, and our supreme court’s interpretation of them is even clearer. Instead of wasting taxpayer dollars by paying legal fees to a corporate law firm, ADHS should comply with its legal obligations and promptly issue new medical marijuana licenses to qualified applicants.”

To schedule an interview with a member of Arizona NORML, contact Jon Udell, Communications Director of Arizona NORML. Mr. Udell also represents the plaintiffs in this case, along with his colleague Logan Elia, and his law firm, Rose Law Group pc.

Attorney General Brnovich Announces Passage of Pregnancy Discrimination Protections

Bill would add pregnancy discrimination to the Arizona Civil Rights Act, allowing state enforcement

PHOENIX -- Attorney General Mark Brnovich, Representative Jeff Weninger, and Senator J.D. Mesnard announced today the passage of legislation that will prohibit pregnancy discrimination in the workplace under the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA). Pregnancy discrimination is illegal in Arizona, but complaints can currently only be investigated by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). If signed by the Governor, pregnancy discrimination will be enforceable under the ACRA and will authorize the Arizona Attorney General's Office (AGO) to investigate and enforce protections for this type of discrimination.

Representative Jeff Weninger and Senator J.D. Mesnard worked with the AGO to introduce HB2045 and SB1180 this legislative session. A bill was also introduced last session, but did not pass both chambers due to the shortened session. On Thursday, both the Arizona House of Representatives and the Arizona Senate passed companion bills with near unanimous support, leaving the Governor's signature as the last step necessary for the bill to become law. If HB2045 is signed by the Governor, Arizona will be the 28th state to enact state laws prohibiting employers from discriminating against pregnant women.

"While pregnancy discrimination protections existed at the federal level, Arizona did not have similar protections until this bill," said Attorney General Brnovich. "This is an important step to help ensure women are not forced to choose between a career and motherhood. I applaud our Civil Rights Division for identifying this gap in state law and working with the legislature to fix it."

The AGO enforces the ACRA which prohibits discrimination in employment based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, genetic testing, disability, and retaliation. Before the passage of HB2045, when the AGO received a pregnancy discrimination complaint, the AGO had to send the complaint to the EEOC. This additional layer of bureaucracy added unnecessary delays and forced expectant mothers or women who recently gave birth who were discriminated against to risk delayed justice.

"It's time for Arizona to ensure women are protected in the workplace," said Representative Jeff Weninger. "I am proud to work with General Brnovich, Senator Mesnard, and my legislative colleagues to get this bill passed. As a business owner, pregnancy discrimination is not only illegal, but it also hurts women and families."

"When a woman is discriminated against because of her pregnancy, the entire family suffers," said Senator Mesnard. "It undermines what should be a purely celebratory time. As a husband and a new father, it is important to ensure Arizona does not tolerate pregnancy discrimination."

HB2045 stipulates that women affected by pregnancy, childbirth, or other related medical conditions will be treated the same for all employment-related purposes as other employees in their ability to work.

Sierra Bill Aims to Put Youth in Foster Care on Stronger Track for Success

PHOENIX -- The statistics surrounding Arizona foster children after they leave state care at age 18 are stark. Fewer than half find employment, only one in 10 attend college and even fewer graduate, one in five become homeless, and far too many experience post-traumatic stress and get into trouble with the law.

Representative Lorenzo Sierra and foster care advocates believe a simple change to Arizona law could help reverse those statistics. On Wednesday Sierra proposed a bill to make it easier for kids to stay in the foster system beyond age 18 until they turn 21, which would put more former foster children on a path for success. If passed, Sierra's House Bill 2728 would automatically allow young people to stay in the foster system until they turn 21, unless they opt out when they turn 18. Currently foster children are expelled from the system at age 18 and have to take steps to opt back in, a decision too few make, Sierra said.

"We've found that so many kids who age out of the foster care system end up homeless or in the correctional system," said Sierra, D-Avondale. "We want to give them a bridge to be able to get into adulthood productively. We hope this bill will give them the extra lifeline they need."

The bill was inspired by the work of Naketa Ross, a certified clinical trauma specialist who grew up in foster care and now serves on the Phoenix Union High School Governing Board. Ross first proposed the change to Arizona law in her December 2020, white paper "From Foster Care to Resilience: Saving Lives by Changing the Foster Care Model" and in the opinion pages of The Arizona Republic.

“We want the structure to remain the same where the youth’s voice is centered, but the approach would be different,” said Ross, who founded the non-profit Resilient Me to help foster youth. “The State would agree to and offer partnership and support to the young adults during this critical development stage. If youth do not want extended assistance they can decline. And if in the future before the age of 21, they change their minds, they could still come back.”

“QUOTE OF THE DAY”

“You certainly don’t allow a challenger who lost an election to demand something that they don’t have the right to and we don’t have the responsibility for providing. And you especially don’t let that challenger who lost the election to determine how it will be done.”

·NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP·

BUT WE WANNA SEE JOE'S CUFFS!

Shope, whose name on the resolution to hold the Board of Supervisors in contempt surprised many people, told our reporter today that while he doesn't believe the "conspiracies" that the election was stolen, he believes in the power of legislative subpoenas. That's a position informed by his battle as House Ethics Committee chair during the fight to subpoena former lawmaker David Stringer. "I don't completely agree with the underlying cause or reason we got here, but I do think subpoenas should be adhered to in some way, shape or form," he said, adding that he was prepared to hold Stringer in contempt for not complying with a subpoena, but he resigned. The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors has repeatedly said it cannot legally hand over those 2.1 million ballots to the Senate because it would violate the law and voter privacy, and Supervisor Bill Gates yesterday hammered the fact that the Senate's allegedly independent auditor is actually a "known and frequently debunked conspiracy theorist." Shope said he asked Fann yesterday point-blank about who is conducting the audit, and she told him nobody had been selected. A Senate press release on Jan 29 said Fann "has hired an independent, qualified forensic auditing firm," but Fann maintains nobody has been selected. At least one firm in the running is Allied Special Operations Group (YS, 2/3). Shope said he made it "very clear" that the chosen firm needs to be legitimate, but Fann offered no assurances of who she will pick. Shope said he believes Petersen is going to use the audit to look at potential election problems prospectively – and not veer into "fantasy land and conspiracy theory," – but if Petersen does, he'll lose Shope's support. "There's a line somewhere and if we cross over, we'll deal with it then," he said. That line seems to be somewhere between threatening to arrest the board of supervisors and actually arresting them, as Shope said the latter is off the table as far as he is concerned. "I think we all know we're not going to arrest anybody," he said. "That's over the top."

LET'S HOPE IT'S A SHORT SESSION

If supervisors are, in fact, arrested, it wouldn't be the first time someone in Arizona was thrown in jail for not complying with a legislative subpoena, though the last time it happened appears to be more than a half-century ago. In 1964, an attorney refused to produce records during a House investigation into the Corporation Commission, claiming attorney-client privilege. The House committee was digging for more information on a $25,000 transaction that may have been a campaign contribution – or a bribe. The case (Buell v. Superior Court of Maricopa County) made its way to the Arizona Supreme Court (LINK). The Court affirmed the Legislature's power to conduct investigations and issue subpoenas, as well as its power to hold recalcitrant witnesses in contempt and imprison them through the end of the legislative session. ARS 41-1155 states, "No term of imprisonment shall extend beyond final adjournment of the session." The ruling came shortly before impeachment proceedings for one of the sitting corporation commissioners, A.P. "Jack" Buzard (LINK). Buzard also failed to comply with a legislative subpoena during that legislative session, but William Rehnquist (yes, that William Rehnquist), who was working for the Senate, said it was too late in the session to bother with holding him in contempt, even though the issue arose after the Supreme Court ruling. (Buzard was ultimately acquitted.) Following the court ruling, it appears the previously imprisoned attorney testified in the impeachment proceedings.

SO LONG RECALL, HELLO EXPULSION RESOLUTION

The recall effort against Finchem is dead, at least for now, as the group behind the original push handed the reins over to Rural Arizona Action, a nonprofit that plans to have a lawmaker introduce a resolution to expel him Monday. Ralph Atchu, the original organizer of the recall effort, told our reporter that he's not exactly thrilled that the recall morphed into an effort to expel the lawmaker, which he doesn't think is very realistic. "I don't know if they don't believe the group can get the recall done – you know it's a steep hill to climb," he said. "But I've let it go."

Pablo Correa, the executive director of Rural Arizona Action, wouldn't say who, exactly, would introduce the resolution, but an email our reporter obtained shows the group scheduled a press conference at the Capitol Monday. One Dem railbird doesn't think the recall option is off the table, but that the coalition needs to lay the groundwork with a resolution to expel him, which would keep the pressure and media attention up and let fellow Republicans smell the "blood in the water" until a recall is possibly launched. And the source said effort to keep the attention on Finchem is already working. "Mark Finchem has been muzzled, not by leadership, but by his lawyer," the source said, adding that they think that shows "there's something there" about his possible involvement in the riot, which Finchem has denied.

43 IS DEFINITELY A RECORD

The total number of ethics complaints filed against Finchem, who was in Washington DC on Jan 6 when a pro-Trump mob stormed the Capitol and killed a police officer, is now up to 43. Many of the complainants noted they are LD11 residents, while others said they live in Pima County, though not necessarily in Finchem's district. "If Finchem had admitted that traveling to Washington, D.C. was a mistake, we would not be writing but his continued refusal to acknowledge the role he played or to condemn the insurrectionists left us no choice," wrote Thomas and Jean Meconi of Tucson. "He has made false assertions that Antifa was responsible for the violence and has doubled down on his assertions that the AZ 2020 presidential election was fraudulent." Chávez filed the original complaint against Finchem in mid-January. Chavez argued Finchem violated his oath of office by supporting efforts to stop Congress from certifying the electoral vote count. Nutt has not announced yet whether she plans to hold a hearing on the allegations and Finchem has not filed a written response to the complaint. He has denied witnessing or taking part in violence or anything illegal.

THE CLOCK IS TICKING

Ducey signed his first bill of the session today, a fast-tracked effort from Weninger and Mesnard to crack down on workplaces discriminating against pregnant women. Brnovich also backed the bill, which has been introduced for three sessions in a row before finally succeeding. Discrimination against pregnant women is already a federal crime, but the law will allow the AG to investigate potential violations and enforce it at the state level, as well. Ducey now has nine bills on his desk. During the session, the governor has five days after transmittal to sign or veto the legislation before it automatically becomes the law. That excludes Sundays. Three of those bills would have a signing deadline today.

THE IRONY CONTINUES

Fourteen Republican representatives and four senators blasted Kelli Ward, their own party chair, in a letter pointing out her obvious hypocrisy in continuing to spew conspiracies about the presidential election while refusing calls to audit her own election. The 18 Republican lawmakers noted that while the AZGOP election pales in comparison to the importance of the presidential election, the principals they hold about election integrity should apply to both elections. “For more than the last two months, we have all been joined together in a public call for transparency and accountability in our election process,” they wrote. “Now, our collective message is being undermined by your insistence that none of these standards should apply to your election as AZ GOP Chairman. This inconsistency is simply not acceptable.” They added that if Ward won’t submit to an audit of the election that she (allegedly) won, she should “remove yourself from efforts to properly audit the elections” because she would be a “foil for the media to use to discredit our efforts to protect our state’s voters.” The fact that 18 Republican lawmakers signed on to the letter, which Payne spearheaded, is surprising to Shope, who noted that many of the signatories are natural allies of Ward’s. “We went through Robert Graham and Jonathan Lines and I don’t ever recall a single time where you’ve had this many Republicans openly grumbling. And we have a pretty conservative caucus and have had,” he said. Asked if he plans to issue a subpoena for the AZGOP election results as well, Shope chuckled and said he’s not sure he has the authority. “I wish she would have been defeated, and maybe she was, I don’t know,” he said. “We’ve already had one race overturned after everyone turned the lights out and left the building.” He said that after so much losing at the top of the ballot, Ward should have had the grace to not run again, as Fernandez did over Democrats’ failure to take the House. Ultimately, he said if Ward doesn’t come back by Monday and agree to an audit of her (alleged) victory, she should resign. “That was probably unexpected,” he said. “I’ll give her the benefit of the doubt that she didn’t see this coming.”

RULES ARE FOR YOU AND ME, NOT SENATORS

Fann’s move to bar reporters, lobbyists and the public from accessing or viewing rules and caucus meetings all session violates the Senate’s own rules. While the Legislature has made itself exempt from the state’s open meetings law, both chambers adopted portions of the law into their own rules. In the Senate, Rule 7 on committees requires that all committee meetings be open to other members of the Legislature, the press and the public “so long as the proper decorum is maintained.” Rule 31, meanwhile, states “all meetings of a party caucus consisting of members of the Senate shall be open to the public except organizational meetings to elect officers of the caucus and the Senate and meetings to discuss matters, including those permitted in executive session as set forth in section 38-431.03, Arizona Revised Statutes. Each caucus shall establish procedures for convening party caucuses.” (The Senate modified the rules last January, when the Senate granted itself the right to hold closed caucuses for any reason. Prior to 2020, Senate rules only permitted closed meetings if the caucus elected leaders or for the limited executive session exemptions laid out in state open meetings law, such as discussing litigation.) While lawmakers approved a temporary emergency Rule 32 on the first day of session to address Covid safety, nothing in that rule eliminates public access to meetings. Rather, the new rules specify how legislators and members of the public can participate remotely.

SO MANY BILLS, SO LITTLE TIME

K Hoffman hopes bills to restore funding for preschool programs, analyze overcrowded classrooms and provide family and medical leave insurance benefits make it to the governor's desk. She gave a shout out to the bills during her third State of Education address before the Senate Education Committee earlier this week, but her spokesman said the Dept of Education is also lobbying to kill a few bills – chief among them, another push for school voucher expansion. S1452 (Arizona empowerment scholarship accounts; revisions) would expand voucher eligibility to low-income students and students who attend Title I schools, a move some opponents say would effectively create the universal vouchers voters rejected in 2018. One concern is the added burden of administering the program to more students — those costs, ADE spokesman Richie Taylor said, have never been fully funded (LINK). He also pointed to voters' rejection of expanding the voucher program in 2018 with Prop 305. "We thought we should listen to the will of the voters," he said. In her speech, Hoffman pointed to teacher burnout as one reason for the teacher shortage. S1058 (schools; learning materials; activities) would probably add to that burnout, as it would require district and charter schools to provide learning materials to parents for their review. If parents disapprove, they would be able to request to pull their student from the class. Taylor says parents already have ways to review what their children are learning. "Parents do have the right to go and talk to teachers," he said, adding that school board meetings are public and have time for public comment. Next week, Hoffman will deliver her second annual State of Special Education speech to House Education, rather than repeat yesterday's speech as previous superintendents have. Taylor said the gist of her speech is that special education in Arizona needs some work.

Forget Democrats. Independents should be most upset at bills targeting voting by mail

Arizona Republic (Opinion, Abe Kwok)

Voting trends suggest that independents – not Democrats – would be more hurt by Arizona lawmakers' efforts to limit who receives mail ballots.

Pushing Back on Anti-Voters Bills, Democratic Legislators and Secretary of State Partner to Introduce Pro-Democracy Legislation

PHOENIX-- Senator Martin Quezada and Representative Athena Salman, working with Secretary of State Katie Hobbs, have introduced a package of pro-democracy bills to expand voting access, streamline election administration and enhance election security. After months of anti-democracy sentiment and false claims of election fraud from the former President and even Arizona Legislators, these bills will expand access to our Democracy for all Arizonans. "Voting is at the core of American Democracy and we should be fighting to protect it, not attack it," Senator Quezada said. "While Republicans continue casting doubt onto a free and fair election, our slate of bills aim to expand access to democracy and remove hurdles Republicans have placed in front of voters."

"During Black History month, Republicans are dead set on making it harder to participate in an election for any eligible voter they perceive to be not worthy," Representative Salman said. "Elections should be a contest of ideas, not a test of how creatively one side can hold onto power without majority support. Our plan ensures that our government will still depend on the consent of the governed."

"Some of the election bills proposed by Republicans have no intended benefits and create burdens on election officials' ability to make voting as accessible as possible and make it more difficult for Arizonans to register and vote, added Secretary Hobbs. "Senator Quezada and Representative Salman worked with my office to find ways to reassure voters that elections in Arizona are secure and accurate. This is exactly what SB1667 and HB2797 are designed to do. It's time to take the lessons we learned and pass reforms that streamline election administration, expand voting rights, and enhance election security."

See below for the list of pro-democracy bills that have been introduced:

- HB2797 election laws; revisions; appropriation and SB1667 election laws revisions. These Election Reform Omnibus Bills are mirror bills developed with the Arizona Secretary of State to improve election administration and security while expanding voter access.
- SCR1042 conduct of elections; voters; rights. Asks voters to enact an AZ Voters' Bill of Rights to allow registration without unnecessary barriers; Fair districts where voters choose candidates rather than candidates choosing voters; assurance that all Vote By Mail votes will count; Equal access to the ballot box; preserved power of the initiative; and a requirement that elected officials will serve voters, not special interests.
- SB1669 voter registration; youth pre-registration. Allows 16-year old voters to pre-register to vote. The registration becomes effective once they turn 18.
- SB1668 presidential preference caucuses; independent voters. Changes Arizona's Presidential Preference Election to a Caucus Election.
- SB1670 and HB2750 automatic voter registration; same day. Enacts a same day and automatic voter registration programs in Arizona.
- SB1671 early ballot collection; limitations; repeal. Repeals Arizona's unconstitutional ban on assisting fellow voters engage in the democratic process by ensuring their vote is counted.
- SB1672 early voting locations. Allows counties to operate early voting locations up until election day.
- SB1673 polling places; drop boxes; campuses. Requires polling place drop boxes at higher education campuses.
- HB2344 early voting; weekend hours. Keeps early voting locations open until 7 p.m. on the weekend and Monday before Election Day.
- HB2736 presidential preference election; independent voters. Allows voters without a political party to participate in the presidential preference election of their choice.

- HB2343 voting centers; board of supervisors. Allows counties to use voting centers as polling places, and to stay open during the weekend before Election Day.

Senator Shope and Representative Pratt help ensure economic growth in Pinal County through smart water management

(Phoenix, State Capitol) --- The Arizona House of Representatives today passed SB 1274, a bill harnessing smart water management to drive economic development and housing availability in Pinal County. This follows passage of the bill by the Senate on Wednesday.

A product of several years of discussions, the bill sponsored by Senator T.J. Shope implements locally driven solutions to encourage smart and efficient residential development. "I am proud to sponsor this bill as it is critical to Pinal County's economy," said Senator Shope. "This will conserve water while protecting the county's continued growth, and it allows people in cities and towns great flexibility to protect their community."

"This legislation is the product of a lot of hard work on the part of many local, county and state leaders," said Representative Frank Pratt. "I strongly support it and am pleased that we're able to help continue the responsible growth underway in Pinal County and, potentially, other areas of the State."

With strong bipartisan support, the bill is now headed to the Governor for his signature.

Legislative Rural Caucus Elects Leadership Team; Rep. Dunn to Serve as Chair, Rep. Barton as Vice Chair

STATE CAPITOL, PHOENIX -- The Legislative Rural Caucus has announced its leadership for the 2021-2022 legislative term. Representative Timothy Dunn (R-13) was elected to serve as Caucus chairman, and Representative Brenda Barton (R-6) will serve as vice chairman.

The Legislative Rural Caucus is a bipartisan, bicameral group of state legislators who meet weekly to discuss common challenges and needs of rural communities and identify ideas to solve those challenges.

"I am honored to serve as chairman of the Rural Caucus and look forward to serving the people of my district as well as Arizonans across the state," said Representative Dunn. "The Caucus plays an important role in representing the common interests of rural Arizona in the legislature and through building stronger relationships across the state."

"I love the people and unmatched beauty of rural Arizona," said Representative Barton. "As a legislator, and as a member of the Legislative Rural Caucus, I am here to advance good public policy that serves our rural areas."

The Legislative Rural Caucus actively tracks legislation that might diminish the ability of rural counties to provide vital services to those who live outside of the large city centers of metro Phoenix, Tucson, and Flagstaff. Members of the Caucus recognize that there is a rich, untapped resource in the rural communities which, with the right support and infrastructure, can prosper and contribute greatly to the quality of life for all Arizonans and visitors.

Bill to Fund Pinal County Infrastructure Project Passes Transportation Committee

STATE CAPITOL, PHOENIX -- A bill sponsored by State Representative David Cook (R-8) was passed today by the House Transportation Committee.

HB 2394 appropriates $4 million to pay for a tier 2 study of the proposed North-South Corridor highway project in Pinal County. Additionally, it provides $750,000 to the County to supplement a local match to acquire over $15 million in federal grant money to fund road and infrastructure improvements which would increase access to the area around the Nikola Motors plant.

"I am grateful to my colleagues for their bipartisan support in continuing this long-needed project serving the transportation needs in Pinal County and our state," said Representative Cook. "With the passage of my amendment today, the bill would appropriate $750,000 to help enable Pinal County to receive over $15 million in federal money to fund infrastructure projects near the Nikola Motors plant. These projects will be an economic engine in Pinal County and create well-paying jobs for rural Arizona."

The North-South Corridor is a proposed highway project that would improve transit in the Pinal County region.

SB 1379 means responsible reform for Arizona vacation rental marketplace

Statement by Philip Minardi, director, policy communications, Expedia Group

“Today’s approval of SB 1379 by the Arizona Senate Commerce Committee is a good step to responsibly reform the vacation rental industry while preserving its importance as a driver of tourism and economic opportunity. Vacation rentals both empower Arizona homeowners to earn extra money with their own property and create a unique experience for guests to enjoy all that Arizona has to offer.

“We are mindful the growing popularity of vacation rentals has created concern in some communities, especially with regard to a relatively small number of nuisance properties. Through our Stay Neighborly initiative, we’ve instituted a no-tolerance policy toward hosts or guests who have abused the right to rent. We also continue to move swiftly to identify and remove bad actors from the platform, while employing risk-engine technology to flag problems during the booking process. Our support of SB 1379 represents Expedia Group’s continued commitment to a balanced approach and smart reforms for the vacation rental marketplace.

“Specifically, SB 1379 establishes strict occupancy limits for host properties; authorizes local officials to impose stiff penalties for vacation-rental violations, and enables the state to suspend any property’s tax license for repeated violations; requires vacation rental hosts to maintain at least $500,000 worth of insurance; and more. These provisions address some of the primary concerns raised by community members and local officials, but preserve the core of what has made Arizona among the nation’s most successful markets for vacation-rental hosts and guests.

“We believe strongly that a vibrant vacation-rental industry can help lead Arizona’s tourism recovery. Expedia Group looks forward to continued collaboration with our state and local officials.”

Senator Kelly Speaks with Governor Ducey About Arizona’s COVID-19 Response, Priorities

Today, United States Senator Mark Kelly spoke with Governor Doug Ducey about Arizona’s response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the state’s vaccination plan, and ensuring that Arizonans get the support and resources they need during this pandemic.

Kelly told Ducey that he supports his request for additional vaccines from the federal government, and will continue working with the congressional delegation and administration to advocate for more vaccinations for Arizona. Kelly also shared concerns he has heard from Arizona mayors and his Senior Citizen Advisory Group about inadequate vaccine supply in rural and border areas, and the difficulties that seniors and others with limited transportation options are having getting vaccinated.

“Getting Arizonans vaccinated is how we are going to beat this virus for good and get our economy back on track. Governor Ducey and I spoke about the state’s vaccination program, issues that I have heard from Arizonans, and actions that need to be taken to get the vaccinations to the people who need them most,” said Senator Kelly. “It is critical that we all work together, the governor, our congressional delegation, and local leaders, to get our communities the resources to get Arizonans vaccinated and continue to support those who need it most during this crisis.”

Regarding relief, Kelly also raised casework issues that have come to his office including delays in rental and unemployment assistance reaching Arizonans, and the looming threat of evictions for families and individuals. Kelly last spoke with Ducey in December when they discussed the COVID-19 pandemic and the strain that rising cases and hospitalizations were putting on Arizona’s health care system. During that call, Kelly reiterated his support for additional efforts to slow the virus’s spread such as a statewide mask mandate.

Since that call, Kelly has joined a bipartisan working group of 8 Democrats and 8 Republicans working to find common ground on COVID-19 relief, including additional funding for vaccinations. He has also held a number of conversations with his COVID-19 Working Group made up of Arizona public health experts, his Senior Citizen Advisory Group made up of senior leaders and organizations, and mayors from the border to northern Arizona. Kelly has previously written the Department of Health and Human Services urging them to coordinate on-site vaccinations for Customs and Border Protection officers.

Rep. Kirkpatrick Votes to Pass Budget Resolution, A Key Tool to Accelerate Passing COVID Relief for Americans

(WASHINGTON, DC) – Today, Rep. Kirkpatrick voted to pass H. Con. Res. 11, the FY 2021 Budget Resolution. Passing this budget ensures that Congress can act quickly and decisively in the weeks to come to deliver the robust relief that American families, workers and communities need to combat the coronavirus pandemic and strengthen the economy.

“For over a year, the COVID-19 pandemic and economic crises have destroyed Americans’ lives and livelihoods, and Arizonans need to know that help is on the way,” said Rep. Kirkpatrick. “In Arizona alone, upwards of 750,000 people have been infected, nearly 13,500 have died, and thousands remain unemployed as well as food and housing insecure. We must act swiftly and boldly, which is why I am proud to join my colleagues to pass this budget resolution.”

In Congress, there is strong precedent for reconciliation bills, which have been passed on a bipartisan basis 17 times in recent years, including for the bipartisan, landmark Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP). Democrats hope and expect that Republicans in Congress will support assistance that will bring relief to the communities they represent. Passing this budget does not preclude adopting Republican suggestions that would strengthen the package. But it does ensure that Congress can move forward in a timely way and meet Arizona families’ urgent needs.

Reports indicate that without immediate action, an entire cohort of young people in Arizona and across the country may have lower lifetime earnings because they were deprived of another semester of school. Millions of Arizona parents could be forced to stay at home, reducing their wages and future job prospects because they have no choice but to care for their kids. With interest rates at historic lows and the return on smart investments in the economy having never been higher, top economists are saying that now is the time for bold action.

The budget resolution passed today is an essential first step in Congress’s efforts to deliver the comprehensive, strategic and science-based relief laid out in President Biden’s robust American Rescue Plan:

- Beat the virus and safely reopen schools – The plan will mount a national vaccination program that includes setting up community vaccination sites nationwide. It will also take complementary measures to combat the virus, including scaling up testing and tracing, addressing shortages of personal protective equipment and other critical supplies, investing in high-quality treatments and addressing health care disparities. The plan will also make the investments necessary to safely reopen schools.
- Deliver immediate relief to working families bearing the brunt of the crisis – The plan will provide direct assistance to households across America by $1,400 per person, bringing the total (including the $600 down payment enacted in December) to $2,000. The plan will also provide direct housing and nutrition assistance to families struggling to get by, expand access to safe and reliable child care and affordable health care, extend and expand Unemployment Insurance so American workers can pay their bills and give families with children as well as childless workers a boost through enhanced tax credits.
- Support communities struggling with the economic fallout – The plan will provide crucial support for the hardest-hit small businesses, especially those owned by entrepreneurs from racial and ethnic backgrounds that have experienced systemic discrimination. The plan also provides crucial resources to protect the jobs of first responders, frontline public health workers, teachers, transit workers and other essential workers that all Americans depend on.

“I hope to work with Members on both sides of the aisle to meet the urgent needs of our communities,” continued Rep. Kirkpatrick. “But I will not sacrifice more time or the health and well-being of Arizona families at this critical junction. For hard-working Arizonans, the cost of continued inaction is too high.”

Congressman Biggs Named Ranking Member of House Judiciary Subcommittee on Crime, Terrorism and Homeland Security

WASHINGTON, D.C. – This week, Congressman Andy Biggs was named the Ranking Member of the Subcommittee on Crime, Terrorism and Homeland Security for the United States House Committee on the Judiciary. Congressman Biggs released the following statement:

“I’m grateful to Ranking Member Jim Jordan for appointing me as a ranking member for this subcommittee. It has been an honor to serve on the Committee on the Judiciary since being sworn into the U.S. House in 2017 and to work with Ranking Member Jordan on many substantive issues. I am privileged to lead the Republican efforts for this important subcommittee to stand against the Democrats’ dangerous agenda for the future of our nation.”

Congressman Biggs was also appointed to the Subcommittee on Immigration and Citizenship for the U.S. House Committee on the Judiciary. Congressman Biggs also serves on the U.S. House Committee on Oversight and Reform.

Hey guys---

1) Are you meaning they obtained these 4 voted ballots from 1 specific other person, or that they obtained voted ballots from 4 different voters?

2) Did your investigation determine if these two women engaged in ballot harvesting on behalf of an organization? Or for pecuniary benefit?

3) Also was there any determination of whether the 2 women had some relationship with the voters, even if that relationship did not satisfy the statute?

4) Are they being summoned on the indictment or were taken into custody?

Thanks!!!!

Two Individuals Accused of Ballot Harvesting in Yuma County

YUMA - Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced that a State Grand Jury indicted Guillermina Fuentes and Alma Juarez, both of San Luis, Arizona, for 1 count each of Ballot Abuse, also known as “ballot harvesting.”

The indictment alleges that during the August 2020 Primary Election, Fuentes and Juarez knowingly collected four voted ballots from another person, in violation of Arizona law. The early ballots were deposited into a ballot box on Election Day, and were processed and counted by the Yuma County Recorder during the election. Arizona law only provides for a family member, household member, or caregiver of the voter to collect voted or unvoted early ballots from another person.

Ballot abuse under Arizona law is a class 6 felony and each defendant faces up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine.

This investigation was conducted by the Arizona Attorney General’s Office Special Investigations Section, Election Integrity Unit, Special Agent Bill Knuth.

Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson is prosecuting this case.

All defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

No booking photographs are available.

Copy of indictment.

RE: URGENT COMMUNICATION - LETTER OF DEMAND - 'Email to Judge Hannah, Crime in Progress – Report – Maricopa County Administrative Level Voter Count Fraud'

Dear Ms. Adel,

I apologize for the subject matter, but most importantly, I hope you're doing well and congratulations for becoming the first woman elected as County Attorney in Maricopa County.

I believe a crime is being committed and is in progress. On November 18 at 1:28pm, I sent the attached email and 'POLL LIST' to Judge Hannah, the Plaintiff's attorney, and your staff just two hours before oral arguments in the case of 'Arizona Republican Party v. Fontes et al, Exhibit A, FIRST DECLARATION OF SCOTT JARRETT.' Since I was knowledgeable of the process, I realized that Mr. Scott Jarrett, Co-Director of Maricopa County Elections, was lying to the Court. This incident was memorialized in the form of a brief, PLAINTIFF'S REPLY RE: INJUNCTIVE RELIEF.

After reviewing the data and researching all the circumstances of what went on, I could write pages of what is compelling evidence of wrongdoing at MCTEC, however, most of it has already been formally or informally made public or has become record, so I will keep this letter brief.

The County failed to perform under A.R.S. § 16-452(A) which is a tally of ballot batches and a check against the 'POLL LIST' or what was sent to the Secretary of State. The hand counts are nice but were insufficient and a check against the machines is a waste of time, machines can count. A.R.S. § 16-452(A) will identify if a batch was run through many times or if the data was manipulated. When we send batches of checks to the bank, we always check the bank balance, correct? Thus far, the County has acted negligently in both the acquisition of and the administration of a newly installed election system and database. The County did so without seeking legislative advice against a system with many audit trail issues and, although feature-rich, the potential for manipulation of those features. The legislators were not given an opportunity to fill the gaps.

Your office has the authority to conduct an immediate investigation to verify the counts because there is compelling evidence that crimes were committed. If found faulty, then the County needs to rescind the ballot count of 1,915,487 and rescind its number to only include the election day votes, totaling 167,878. Failure to take action immediately is a violation of all of Maricopa County Residents' civil rights.

Maricopa County Defendants' Response to Application for Preliminary Injunction – 11/18/2020, Part 2, Exhibit A, First Declaration of Scott Jarrett

If this is true then how did all 2,076,086 votes get recorded in the Maricopa County Elections Database by precinct, by early vote, by election day turnout, and by provisional ballot.

Attached is the Maricopa County election results published on 11/13/2020 at <https://recorder.maricopa.gov/electionresults/>.

In addition, there is evidence of 44,841 suspect votes found in the State of Arizona Maricopa County Dominion Democracy Suite database.

As compared to the 2016 election and the number of what is known as undervotes and overvotes raises serious questions of suspected tampering. Where are these ballots and were they changed to the benefit of a political party other than that of what the voter intended? The voter would not know since the detail of who they voted for is not provided by the Arizona Secretary of State.

Election	2016	2020
Turnout	1,608,875	2,089,563
Rejected	41,041	13,477	(Actual Overvotes and Undervotes)
	2.6%	0.6%	There is no evidence in the data that this percent of rejected ballots would have decreased by 2% in 2020 versus 2016.

2. Since 2020 had a higher percentage of mail-in ballots this number needs to be adjusted up by .24% or 5015 ballots for a total of 58,318 rejects.

3. The 58,318 ballots less the actual processed amount of 13,477 equals 44,841 missing or ballots possibly tampered with.

Brnovich at arm's length in election suit

Arizona is seeking a voice in the lawsuit Texas has brought against some other states won by President-elect Joe Biden. But exactly who Attorney General Mark Brnovich will side with remains unclear. In legal papers filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, Brnovich said he wants to file a brief to argue the importance of "election integrity." And he said he wants a quick decision in the case.

What's telling, though, is that Brnovich is not joining with 17 other Republican attorneys general who filed their own brief with the Supreme Court siding with Texas. That asks the justices to back Texas in its bid to block a final vote by the Electoral College while the court considers allegations that illegal changes in laws in Pennsylvania, Georgia, Michigan and Wisconsin created the opportunity for fraud. Instead, Brnovich aide Ryan Anderson said his boss wants to ensure that any ruling from the U.S. Supreme Court about laws and rules that govern election laws – in this case, in particular, about the presidential race – do not undermine Arizona's own regulations. And Anderson said as far as his boss is concerned, Arizona does elections right, which is why it wasn't sued by Texas as were the four other states where, like Arizona, Biden won the popular vote. "Had Arizona been sued, that would have put our office in a situation where we would have had to decide what we would have filed and what we would have done," Anderson said. That would have put Brnovich in the position of having to defend not only the state but the election – and Biden's win – against Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton.

Mark Brnovich

And Anderson left no question about what Brnovich thinks of how Arizona conducted the election. "The Arizona attorney general will not be advocating to overturn the election results in Arizona," he said.

Anderson said Brnovich does share one sentiment with his Texas counterpart.

"We all agree that the integrity of our elections are important," he said. "And there are too many Americans who do not trust the outcome of the election."

But Anderson said that Arizona's interest in the legal fight is different than that of the other Republican attorneys general.

The lawsuit filed by Paxton charges that changes made this year to election procedures in the four battleground states, many due to the impact of the pandemic, are illegal.

In essence, he said that the changes, some enacted by courts, weakened ballot-integrity statutes. And that, in turn, has created the opportunity for fraud, though he does not allege any actual instances where that has occurred.

Courts in each of those states have dismissed similar claims. But Paxton is arguing that it is the responsibility of the nation's highest court to intercede and declare that the procedures used in those four states were illegal and therefore the results should not be allowed to stand.

Anderson said it is noteworthy that Texas did not sue Arizona despite the fact that the election returns, which remain standing after several legal challenges, are awarding the state's 11 electoral votes to Biden.

He said some of that is due to the fact that Brnovich has fought off various efforts to allow last-minute changes in election laws, ranging from how county election officials have to handle unsigned early ballots to extending the deadline for people registering to vote.

Anderson said it's not clear the Supreme Court will even consider the Texas petition. But he said if the justices take it up, Brnovich wants to be sure that any ruling they issue respects the interests of Arizona.

Those interests, he said, is that the justices recognize and affirm that it is the legislature that has prime say over how elections are conducted and not courts or even officials of the executive branch. That's crucial because Arizona already has some of the laws that the Texas lawsuit says are lacking or were ignored elsewhere.

For example, Paxton complained that some states do not require that signatures on envelopes with early ballots be compared with records on file. Arizona requires matching of all envelopes received.

He also said that some states “flooded their citizenry with tens of millions of ballot applications and ballots,” ignoring normal controls. Arizona, by contrast, sends early ballots only to those who request them, whether on an election-by-election basis or by signing up on the permanent early voting list. Brnovich is not the only Arizona elected official weighing in at the Supreme Court.

Ten state representatives and three senators, all Republicans, joined with counterparts from Alaska and Idaho on Thursday filed their own brief in support of Texas.

“An elite group of sitting Democrat officers in each of the defendant states coordinated with the Democrat party to illegally and unconstitutionally change the rules established by the legislature in the defendant states, thereby depriving the people of their states a free and fair election — the very basis of a republican form of government,” they charged through their attorneys.

The representatives are Nancy Barto, Frank Carroll, John Fillmore, Mark Finchem, Travis Grantham, Anthony Kern, David Livingston, Steve Pierce, Bret Roberts and Kelly Townsend. The senators are Sylvia Allen, Sonny Borrelli and David Gowan.

Attorney General Mark Brnovich Receives Outpouring of Support in Election Integrity Case at U.S. Supreme Court

AGO is defending Arizona's measures restricting ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting

WASHINGTON, D.C. – With a little over a month before the U.S. Supreme Court (SCOTUS) hears arguments in Brnovich v. DNC, Attorney General Mark Brnovich has once again received an outpouring of support from local and national leaders in his defense of Arizona's commonsense election integrity measures regarding ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting.

"States must maintain the authority to enact and enforce commonsense election integrity measures to ensure the public's trust," said Attorney General Brnovich. "I appreciate the widespread support from leaders across the country who recognize that state legislatures have the responsibility to set election policy, not the courts."

In October 2020, SCOTUS announced it will review Brnovich v. DNC. The Attorney General's Office (AGO) is asking SCOTUS to bring clarity after the Ninth Circuit bizarrely struck down Arizona's measures on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting after previously upholding.

The AGO obtained a stay of the Ninth Circuit's decision in February 2020, leaving Arizona's laws intact for the 2020 election cycle. With similar laws enacted in several other states, this case presents an opportunity to establish a clear rule of law for the country, and the Supreme Court can and should bring clarity to these important matters that are vital to state elections.

Oral argument is expected in late January or early February 2021.

Below are the seventeen amicus briefs filed in support of the AGO:

- 11 United States Senators led by Texas Senator Ted Cruz
- 17 State Attorneys General led by Ohio AG Dave Yost
- House Speaker Rusty Bowers, Senate President Karen Fann, and Governor Doug Ducey
- State Legislative Leaders led by Missouri Representative Elijah Haahr
- Wisconsin Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald and Speaker Robin Vos
- South Dakota Governor Kristi Noem
- United States Department of Justice – Solicitor General
- Former Maricopa County Recorder Helen Purcell

NEWS NOTES AND GOSSIP

THE STORY OF 2020 – TOLD THROUGH MEMES AND QUOTES

Today is our final edition of Yellow Sheet Report for 2020, and we're going out in style with a mashup of our memes, headlines and quotes to tell the story of 2020. And what a year it was... We kicked off with the promise of an early budget deal and a truncated legislative session – a promise more or less fulfilled, though it didn't go down the way anybody expected. 2020 started normally enough, with body shots, lobbyist love letters and unexpected daughters, but when the Covid-19 pandemic hit, it changed the world and upended our little corner of it. And – Oh. My. God. – what a crazy election season. This year, we brought you nearly 2,200 nuggets of news, notes and gossip from the Capitol and beyond, and we hope you enjoyed following along. There were some highs and a lot of lows, but in spite of all the tragedy, we managed to have some fun and produce quality work. None of that would be possible without your help. We cannot thank our readers enough for sticking with us through this dumpster fire of a year. Your support for what we do means more than we can describe. Without our subscribers and railbirds, there would be no YS. We're not publishing this holiday week to take time to retool our website and reflect before the New Year – to think about where we want to focus our resources, what kind of innovations we can bring to YS in 2021 and how better to serve you, our dear reader. To do that, we need to hear from you, loyal subscribers - and yes, even you, bootleggers! Give us a call, text or email to tell us what you love or hate about YS. Tell us what you'd do differently. Nothing is sacred – we may even start using titles and first names for elected officials. We'll leave you with some final bad news from a bad year: Stephanie Stahl Hamilton, an incoming Democratic lawmaker from Tucson, announced she tested positive for Covid, implying she believes she caught it at the new member orientation, and Teller is back in the hospital from complications with his fight against the virus, though he told our reporter he's "on the road to recovery with strong antibiotics and breathing treatments." We'll be back on January 4 with some new faces, new ideas and more of the news, notes and gossip that you love. Until then, stay safe.

Two Individuals Accused of Ballot Harvesting in Yuma County

YUMA - Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced that a State Grand Jury indicted Guillermina Fuentes and Alma Juarez, both of San Luis, Arizona, for 1 count each of Ballot Abuse, also known as “ballot harvesting.”

The indictment alleges that during the August 2020 Primary Election, Fuentes and Juarez knowingly collected four voted ballots from another person, in violation of Arizona law. The early ballots were deposited into a ballot box on Election Day, and were processed and counted by the Yuma County Recorder during the election. Arizona law only provides for a family member, household member, or caregiver of the voter to collect voted or unvoted early ballots from another person.

Ballot abuse under Arizona law is a class 6 felony and each defendant faces up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine.

This investigation was conducted by the Arizona Attorney General’s Office Special Investigations Section, Election Integrity Unit, Special Agent Bill Knuth.

Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson is prosecuting this case.

All defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

LD6 State Representative Walt Blackman Demands Maricopa County BOS be Held Accountable

Phoenix, AZ- December 23, 2020- LD6 State Representative Walt Blackman has written a letter to Senate President Karen Fann demanding the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors be held accountable for ignoring the subpoena issued to them by the Arizona Senate Judiciary Committee on December 14th.

In his letter to President Fann, Representative Blackman writes, “I demand that we hold the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors accountable for their blatant disregard for the rule of law. Their behavior has completely undermined the actions of the senate and shows their disrespect for both the election process and the voters in Maricopa County.”

According to the Arizona Revised Statutes 41-1153, not only does the Arizona Senate have subpoena powers, but they have the power to find the witness in contempt and have them arrested by the sergeant-at-arms and brought before the senate or house upon authority of a copy of the resolution signed by the president.

On Friday, December 18th, the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors voted not to comply with the subpoena issued by the Arizona Senate Judiciary Committee.

Coalition for an Independent Judiciary Announced

Citing the need to defend judges from unwarranted political and social media attacks, a group of citizens has banded together to form a non-profit organization to defend an independent, non-politicized judiciary.

“The need for an independent judiciary has never been greater. Each day it seems judges at all levels are under attack simply because someone didn’t like an opinion they issued,” said Jonathan Paton, chairman of the new committee.

“Our group exists to educate the public and push back against unwarranted attacks and political pressure on judges to protect our judiciary and our democracy. We’re starting out as a 501(c)4 organization but we will establish a political committee down the road if we need to engage in retention elections,” Paton continued.

“Judges do not have the ability to defend themselves publicly. We are going to educate the public and ensure two sides of the story are heard,” Paton said.

Paton is a former State Senator and current member of the Commission on Appellate Court Appointments, which makes judicial recommendations to the governor. Other members of newly formed group include businessman Steve Twist; Yuma businessman Phil Townsend; Arizona Chamber of Commerce and Industry Board Chairman, Dawn

Grove; former Senate President, Steve Pierce; current CEO of the Goldwater Institute, Victory Riches; and former Ducey administration deputy chief of staff Danny Seiden.

Judges in Arizona are selected from a pool of recommendations made to the governor by the Commission. Arizona judges do not have lifetime appointments, as federal judges do. Once they are appointed they face voters on a regular basis regarding “Shall they be retained?”

Formal papers are expected to be filed with the Secretary of State’s office before the end of the year, according to the group.

Rep. Kirkpatrick Overwhelmingly Supports Increased Direct Payments To American Families

(Washington, DC) -- Today, Rep. Kirkpatrick issued the following statement after President Trump’s blasting of the $900 billion, bipartisan coronavirus relief package passed by Congress on Monday.

“In a turn of events, and months after pressure by both House and Senate Democrats to raise the direct stimulus amount, the President came out in support of $2,000 stimulus checks, rather than the $600 Republicans staunchly pushed for.

“Leader Pelosi is prepared to bring a Unanimous Consent standalone bill to make this a reality, and I am wholeheartedly in favor of that,” said Rep. Kirkpatrick. “Once again, it will be up to Leader McConnell to follow through on President Trump’s last minute request. For the sake of the American people, I hope he puts political games aside and delivers this critically needed relief. We need to get this done and delivered — it is beyond overdue.”

A Message From Attorney General Mark Brnovich

At the end of the year, I've always believed it's important to be with our families, raise a glass with friends and reflect on what is really important in our lives. In 2020, however, even that time honored tradition may look different. Health officials say we should avoid large gatherings of extended family and friends, especially for those at higher risk for COVID 19 due to age and comorbidities. That is both awful and solid advice. It turns out that it's not just the Grinch and fraudsters who are out to steal our holiday cheer.

While family gatherings may look different or even be virtual, we can nevertheless still engage in the part of the Season where we reflect on what's important in our lives. When we do, we are reminded that protecting ourselves and each other is not just something that we do at home, but throughout our career at the Attorney General's Office. From the Supreme Court to the Internet, Election Integrity to Community Shred-a-thons, Family Court to representing State Agencies, and from Law Enforcement to Student Outreach, our team continues to do fantastic work in protecting the public and making our state a better place for all Arizonans.

I know this month's newsletter cannot replace the joy of sharing a home-cooked meal with our families, but perhaps it can provide food for thought and some inspiration regarding the difference we are making. I also hope you know just how much I appreciate all of your efforts during this especially challenging time. I wish everyone Peace and Joy this Holiday Season and good health and cheer as we welcome the New Year.

A Message From Chief Deputy & Chief of Staff Joe Kanefield

Wiley E. Jones served as Arizona Attorney General from 1915 to 1921. He was our State's second Attorney General and had the dubious honor of serving during the 1918 flu pandemic which lasted from 1918 to 1920 and infected 500 million people, nearly a third of the world's population at the time. Through four devastating waves this flu was one of the most deadly pandemics in human history. Although the State and the Office of the Attorney General were much smaller at the time, General Jones and his team were able to help guide Arizonans through the turmoil and usher in more prosperous times.

We can glean great knowledge and inspiration from history. With General Brnovich's leadership and everyone's help, we have and will continue to do our part to guide Arizona through the current pandemic and follow in the footsteps of our predecessors who overcame similar adversity.

As I have said many times, the people who work at the Attorney General's Office are committed to serving the public with pride and professionalism. We choose to be here because we believe in our mission. It's for this reason more than any other that we have been able to navigate the challenges of protecting the public during this health crisis with the unwavering ability to adapt to what has become the new norm of remote working. Attorney General Brnovich and I thank you again for doing your part to accomplish this mission without missing a beat.

To close, I'll share some trivia about AG Jones who was quite a character. A few months after being defeated by W.J. Galbraith in the election of 1920, AG Jones was bit by a gila monster while staying at the Jones Hotel in Safford, Arizona. To add embarrassment to injury, it was a gila monster that he had brought with him into the hotel in a failed effort to impress some women in the lobby. As the former AG discussed the beauty and virtues of the reptile, it bit into his left middle finger and did not release its grip for more than a minute. Jones couldn't speak for five hours as a result of the swelling in his tongue. Perhaps that was a good thing.

There's no doubt a lesson to be learned from AG Jones' gila monster experience in Safford, but I'll leave that one for you to contemplate. Right now, let's just reflect on his success in assisting Arizona through a pandemic in 1921 ... and how we will do the same in 2021.

With that said, Attorney General Brnovich and I would like to wish you and your families a safe and happy holiday season.

Operations Division

Let's Celebrate!

In October, Leslie Welch and Brock Heathcotte had an "Unprecedented" wedding! Congratulations to the happy couple!!

Michael Burkett Crist and his wife have a new daughter! Cosima Guinevere was born November 3rd at 9:48am weighing 6 lbs 4 oz, and was 19.75 inches long. Welcome to the world!

Operations Division

Mailroom Makeover

In November, the Palm building mailroom underwent a much needed renovation. To make things more convenient, the mail boxes are now located within the mailroom, and we also created an area where employees can stock up on necessary PPE (hand sanitizers, surface wipes, masks and more!).

Agency Counsel Section

AAG Caroline Guerrero and husband TJ welcomed beautiful daughter Zara Ada on November 1, 2020. She was 6 pounds, 9 ounces and 19 inches!

AAG Kara Karlson made the news by volunteering to test Moderna's COVID19 vaccine:

Mesa mom volunteered to test Moderna's COVID-19 vaccine

Thousands of Americans have volunteered to test the COVID-19 vaccine, and one of them lives in Mesa. Kara Karlson says she did it to protect her 2-year-old daughter.

AAG Kelly Gillilan-Gibson's sons, Kellen #45 (2021 graduate) and Cayden #42 (2024 graduate), attend Arizona College Prep and are on its football team. Their team won the Metro East title and they played in the state playoffs.

Licensing & Enforcement Section

AAG Sunita Krishna Cairo and her husband Manny welcomed their son Emilio Gael Cairo to their family on July 16, 2020. Baby Emilio joins big sister Indra who is 2. Congratulations to all!

Tanya Martinez joined LES as a legal secretary. Tanya relocated back to Phoenix after spending several years in Gallup, New Mexico, where she worked as an assistant to the Gallup City Attorney and Mayor.

Former AAG and LES Section Chief Monty Lee unexpectedly passed away on September 1, 2020. Monty was a great friend and mentor to the attorneys in LES who had the pleasure of working with him.

The Licensing and Enforcement Section spread holiday cheer by participating in the St. Vincent De Paul's Adopt-a-Family program. LES provided gifts for a family of five from Chandler. The gifts included games, sporting equipment and clothes along with a gift card for groceries. Employees of LES delivered the gifts on December 18th. All of the LES staff enjoyed contributing to such a worthy cause.

NRS closed two huge deals this year!

Jack Crestin, born Leap Day, February 29, 2020, to Kevin Crestin and his wife, Christy.

congratulations

Melody Rose Rigsby, born July 17, 2020, to Maracia Rigsby and her husband, James.

In addition, NRS assisted the State Land Department to close two substantial deals bringing hundreds of millions of dollars into the State Land Trust to benefit K-12 education. On November 4, 2020, ASLD auctioned 2,800 acres of land east of Apache Junction in return for $245 million plus a 50% share in future net revenues from development of a master planned community. And on December 9, 2020, ASLD auctioned 1,200 acres of land in north Phoenix west of I-17 in return for $89 million plus the installation of over $200 million of infrastructure. The successful bidder, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, is expected to begin construction shortly on a $12 billion semiconductor plant.

CLD New Employee

Marie Elena Cobb, Executive Assistant

Marie has been with the AGO since July 2016 but has been in and around the legal field for 23+ years. Prior to joining CLD in October, Marie was with the Liability Management and Protective Services Sections as a Legal Secretary. Marie is an Arizona native originally from Sierra Vista near Fort Huachuca. She has 2 daughters, Isabelle and Makayla, ages 13 and 10, respectively, and enjoys doing re-enactments in Tombstone, Arizona. In her free time Marie also enjoys photography, geocaching, hiking, crafting, live theatre, singing, jewelry making and anything else that allows her to explore her creative side.

In January, CLD OA Kim Cundiff and husband Tony celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary in Las Vegas with their children.

Civil Litigation Division

Bankruptcy Collection & Enforcement Section (BCE)

Kristin McDonald, Assistant Attorney General
Prior to joining the AGO, Kristin represented institutional mortgage lenders for 10 years in the default servicing industry including foreclosure related matters, bankruptcy, excess proceeds, and title curative litigation. Kristin grew up in the Seattle area and upon moving to AZ in 1997 (Go Sundevils!!) was shocked to learn it was possible to live in sunshine and a warm climate versus constant grey and rain. In her spare time, she enjoys reading – currently binging on Elin Hilderbrand novels, volunteering with Phoenix Children's Chorus, taking random group fitness classes, and spending time with her husband and 10 year old daughter.

Alexis Galindo, Administrative Assistant, started with BCE in January.

BCE, on the personal side:

On October 29, Andrea Freeman, Collector III, retired. Even during COVID she was given a proper send off as we thanked her for 25 years of service to the State of Arizona with a buffet of treats, snacks and gifts.

Community Outreach & Education Section (COED)

COED New Employees:

Marle Ethelbah, Community Outreach and Education Coordinator
Marle started with COED in November. She is an ASU graduate, with a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work. After graduation, she decided to teach English in Japan. This is where she developed a passion for education and public speaking. Upon her return to the United States, Marle worked for agencies that helped at-risk populations. She is excited to work for the Community Outreach section of the Attorney General's Office, because it combines her educational background and passion for helping vulnerable populations. In her spare time, Marle enjoys painting, reading, and spending time with friends and family.

In June of 2020, Community Outreach was excited to learn we would be moving to the Civil Litigation Division. This move allows Community Outreach to work more closely with Consumer Protection, Civil Rights, and the Tobacco Enforcement Unit to help constituents across Arizona.

Since the beginning of the pandemic, Community Outreach, like the rest of the office, had to adapt to a new way of reaching the public. Outreach staff was able to quickly transition to virtual trainings and were able to offer live webinars to the public as well as recorded webinars for the public to watch when convenient. Because of this, Outreach has been able to reach thousands of Arizonans virtually.

Civil Litigation Division

In addition to virtual learning, in September of 2020 Community Outreach began offering free No Contact Shred-a-thons and Prescription Drug take back events to the public. Because of these events we were able to help over 900 Arizonans shred over 50,000 pounds of documents and recover hundreds of pounds of prescription medications.

Division of Civil Rights Section (DCRS)

DCRS New Employees:

Chris Carlsen, Senior Litigation Counsel

Chris Carlsen rejoined DCRS in April. As an experienced trial and appellate attorney, Chris has worked in private and public practice, primarily litigating civil rights, family law, and personal injury actions. Previously with the Attorney General's Office and while employed with 501(c)(3) non-profit entities, Chris practiced before the Ninth Circuit. In addition to his wealth of knowledge regarding civil and appellate practice, Chris brings to DCRS an expertise in disability law and employment law. Chris also teaches disability law classes at Northern Arizona University.

Valerie Grijalva, Compliance Officer

Valerie Grijalva joined DCRS in August as a Compliance Officer. Valerie is an experienced investigator who has worked with some of Arizona's largest State agencies. Valerie's expertise involves working with vulnerable populations in high pressure situations. In her spare time she enjoys spending time with her family and taking family hikes with her dog.

Karla Mejia Rivera, Administrative Assistant, started with DCRS in June.

La-Rae Subay, Compliance Officer II, started with DCRS in October.

Virgil Clark, Compliance Officer I, started with DCRS in June.

Ryan Bishop, Assistant Attorney General, started with DCRS in August.

Sasha Gonzalez, Compliance Officer, started with DCRS in November.

Civil Litigation Division

DCRS, on the personal side:

On July, 21, the Civil Rights Section welcomed its youngest addition, Vivienne Rai weighing 7 pounds. Congratulations to Compliance Officer Ian Rai and wife Genesis on their beautiful baby girl.

Congratulations to Compliance Officer Gamaliel Vance on his marriage to his longtime girlfriend Desiree on July 25.

In December, two valued DCRS team members will be retiring – Dorothy Jim, Compliance Officer III and Patricia Bianchi, Tucson Compliance Manager. We are grateful to their service to Arizonans, to civil rights, and to the Arizona Attorney General's Office.

DCRS Case Highlights

State of Arizona v. Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar

In February, 2020, DCRS resolved its lawsuit against Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar. In its October 25, 2019 lawsuit, DCRS alleged that Obrigis violated the Arizona Americans with Disabilities Act (AzDA) when it refused to serve Bill Larson because of his service animal. Mr. Larson has a brain injury which causes him to experience transient ischemic attacks (referred to as mini-strokes). His American Bulldog service animal, Whopper, is trained to detect the onset of the mini-strokes and alert Mr. Larson so that he may take steps to ensure his safety and the safety of others.

DCRS resolved this matter through Consent Decree. Under the terms of the Consent Decree, Obrigis was required to pay monetary damages of $7,500 to Mr. Larson and $2,500 in civil penalties to the State. In addition, Obrigis agreed to create and disseminate policies prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disability and permitting reasonable modifications to its policies as necessary to serve customers with disabilities. The Consent Decree further required that Obrigis pay for and participate in robust training on disability law under AzDA and Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

State of Arizona v. Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers

On May 30, 2019, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers, a company which sells, rents, and services trailers from its three Arizona locations. DCRS alleged that Big Tex violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when it failed to make reasonable accommodations to the known physical limitations of its employee, Ed Litzinger. DCRS further alleged that Big Tex terminated Litzinger on the basis of his disability in violation of ACRA. Mr. Litzinger, a retired detective, filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS on May 31, 2018. While employed as a Sales Representative in Big Tex's Tucson location, Litzinger underwent hip replacement surgery and returned to work with the assistance of a cane. Litzinger alleged that Big Tex would not reasonably accommodate his return to work condition and subsequently terminated him due to his disability.

DCRS resolved the litigation through a Consent Decree that provided for monetary damages of $45,000 to Mr. Litzinger and injunctive relief for DCRS including Big Tex's obligation to revise its policies and practices, pay for and participate in mandatory training, and maintain employment records related to its Arizona business operations subject to audit by DCRS.

State of Arizona v. Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista

On October 22, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit alleging that that employers Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista (collectively, Defendants) violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when its supervisors harassed their joint employee because of her disability and created a hostile work environment. On October 23, 2019, an aggrieved party and employee of Defendants filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS alleging that her employers subjected her to different terms and conditions of employment and a hostile and intimidating work environment based on her disability. Specifically, the aggrieved party, who has intellectual disabilities and speech delays, alleged that her supervisors repeatedly referred to her in unwelcome and derogatory ways,

Civil Litigation Division

openly chastised her in employee meetings and in front of guests, shoved her head into a sink until she cried, and poked her between the shoulders so that she would move quicker. After investigating the charge, DCRS issued a reasonable cause determination on September 14, 2020. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

State of Arizona v. Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla

On November 2, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla (Solterra), alleging that it violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act when it failed to remedy a hostile work environment based on sex and terminated its employee after she complained about being sexually assaulted by a colleague while at work. On November 24, 2019, DCRS received a charge of discrimination from Solterra's former employee alleging that (1) Solterra subjected her to sexual harassment and a sex-based hostile work environment, (2) Solterra terminated her, and (3) Solterra retaliated against her after she engaged in protected activity. Specifically, the aggrieved party alleged that while at work she was sexually assaulted by a colleague. Additionally, she alleged that the colleague followed her outside the facility while she was on break and attempted to sexually assault her again. The aggrieved party complained to management about the sexual assault and was thereafter terminated. On September 30, 2020, DCRS completed its investigation and issued a reasonable cause determination. It thereafter filed this lawsuit. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

Civil Litigation Division

Senior Lit Counsel Mitchell Allee and wife, Tara, welcomed their son, Harrison William Allee, into the world on October 30. He weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs.

CPA Case Highlights

- As of July 2020, CPA had secured well over $100 million in restitution for Arizona consumers since Attorney General Mark Brnovich took office in 2015. Significantly, this is more than the total restitution from 2001 to 2014.
- Obtained tens of millions of dollars of relief for consumers who had loans from Santander, one of the nation's largest subprime auto lenders. Santander had provided high-interest loans to consumers that Santander knew were likely to default.
- Sued JUUL Labs and Eon Smoke, alleging that both companies engaged in deceptive and unfair practices in their sales and marketing of vaping products, particularly to youth. The AGO also obtained a permanent injunction banning Eon Smoke from selling certain products in Arizona.
- Obtained an $11 million settlement with Century Link regarding deceptive and unfair billing and marketing practices, under which Century Link paid nearly $2 million in refunds to consumers and $2 million toward fiber-optic infrastructure in Arizona.
- Obtained a consent judgment against Equifax, resolving the multistate investigation into the company's massive 2017 data breach. The multistate settlement included a $425 million restitution fund, a $175 million payment to the states, and injunctive relief.
- Sued several former executives of the Chandler-based opioid manufacturer Insys Therapeutics, Inc., including the company's founder, John Kapoor, alleging that the company illegally paid doctors to prescribe its highly addictive opioid medication.
- Sued several members of the Sackler family, who were responsible for operating Purdue Pharma, which the State has alleged violated a consent judgment ordering Purdue not to engage in deceptive marketing of its opioids.

Civil Litigation Division

- Obtained over $90,000 in restitution from Dependable Auto, a Tucson-based car dealership that allegedly engaged in a wide variety of unlawful practices.
- Sued Choice Home Warranty, alleging that the company raked in millions of dollars by deceiving and misleading Arizonans about what its home warranties would cover.
- Obtained over $100,000 in restitution for consumers from a former owner of DIY Neurocare, which sold LED light pads as neuropathy treatments and failed to deliver on its money-back guarantee.
- Sued Valley Delivery, alleging that the company put up fake delivery slips in order to trick new homeowners into giving the company their phone numbers.
- Obtained $600,000 in a settlement with a Sun City vacuum seller that repeatedly violated the Do Not Call list.
- The Division Chief and members of CPA and the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit participated in a phone bank broadcast by ABC15.
- Secured an Amended Final Judgment with Live Nation after discovering that Live Nation violated terms of a 2010 Consent Judgment related to its merger with Ticketmaster by pulling or threatening to pull its shows from a venue if the venue chose not to use Ticketmaster for its ticketing services. The antitrust judgment contains injunctive terms and an additional five-year monitoring period to prevent Live Nation from engaging in future anti-retaliation and anti-conditioning activities and hold Live Nation accountable for any further violations.
- Filed an antitrust complaint against Taro Pharmaceuticals, Perrigo New York, Fougera Pharmaceuticals (now Sandoz), and 23 more of the nation's largest generic drug manufacturers, alleging a broad conspiracy to artificially inflate and manipulate prices and reduce competition for approximately 80 different generic dermatology drugs.

Tobacco Enforcement Unit Highlights:

Youth Volunteer Recognition and Recruitment

- The Counter Strike Youth Tobacco Program usually holds an annual Recognition Ceremony to honor the youth volunteers who donate thousands of hours of time to keep tobacco products out of the hands of Arizona's kids. The Recognition Ceremony is typically hosted by the Arizona Diamondbacks and held at Chase Field with lots of fun and a little pomp and circumstance. Unfortunately, like so many large gatherings this year, the Recognition Ceremony had to be cancelled for the safety of everyone involved. However, the Program could not let this year's group of dedicated volunteers go without recognition. We created certificates for each youth volunteer, signed by the AG, and mailed each youth a package with their certificate, a thank you letter, and an official Counter Strike t-shirt. It was nice to touch base with everyone and let these volunteers know that we did not forget about their contributions!

Civil Litigation Division

- As we look towards resuming youth tobacco inspections in the near future, the Program has started ramping up youth volunteer recruitment- virtually! We have started reaching out to our school and club partners and scheduling video-conference recruitment presentations. Our Special Agents are becoming Zoom pros as they venture into virtual classrooms! We have had a fantastic response with dozens of new volunteers submitting paperwork. The schools have also been very responsive to presentations in a virtual format. And, while we miss seeing the kids in person, this allows the agents to present to youth all over the state in the same day!

Non-Participating Manufacturer Adjustment Arbitration Settlement

- The Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement ("MSA") entitles Arizona to an annual payment of approximately $100 million. The Tobacco Enforcement Unit goes to great lengths each year to satisfy this diligent enforcement requirement, which requires, among other things, collecting millions of dollars from cigarette manufacturers that have chosen to not join the MSA. These efforts have resulted in a multi-year settlement of the NPM Adjustments for years 2018 – 2022, protecting approximately $450 Million.

2019 Data Clearinghouse Proceeding

- Pursuant to the terms of the Tobacco Non-Participating Manufacturer (NPM) Adjustment settlement, the Settling States and the Participating Manufacturers (PMs) must participate in an annual Data Clearinghouse (DCH) Proceeding, during which BDO USA, a national economics firm, will review state-specific data supplied by the Settling States and PMs to determine if the state in question received Escrow Statute (A.R.S. § 44-7101) compliance on all NPM cigarettes on which state SET-paid NPM cigarettes, the state in question could be subject to an adjustment to its annual Master Settlement Agreement payment if the non-compliance amount goes beyond the safe harbor set forth in the settlement agreement. The 2019 DCH Proceeding began in August 2019. Due to the Tobacco Enforcement Unit's diligent efforts to enforce the Escrow Statute as to all NPM cigarettes sales in Arizona, BDO USA was able to quickly determine that Arizona has zero non-compliant cigarettes resulting in no adjustment to Arizona's MSA Payment to be received April 2021.

Fond Farewells and New Faces in Great Places!

Criminal Appeals

On May 1, 2020 we bid farewell to Criminal Appeals Section Chief, Joe Maziarz. Joe was with the office for 35 years, with the last 8.5 years serving as CAS Section Chief. We would like to give a big thank you to CAS Unit Chief Mike O'Toole for taking on the role of Interim Section Chief until Linley Wilson officially stepped into the position on November 30, 2020. Congratulations, Linley!

CAS also said farewell to Unit Chief Rob Walsh on May 15, 2020. Rob had been in CAS for over 25 years! With Rob leaving, we welcomed back Alice Jones who returned to the office on May 26, 2020 and took over the Unit Chief position. Congratulations, Alice!

On April 21, 2020 we said goodbye to Legal Secretary II, Nancy Romero. In the blink of an eye, Oscar Lopez swiftly learned the ropes and stepped in to that position! On December 4, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Terry Crist, and on December 16, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Heather Mosher.

Capital Litigation

On January 13, 2020 the Capital Litigation Section welcomed two new AAG's, David Ahl and Elizabeth Bingert! Welcome to the AGO David and Elizabeth! On March 16, 2020, CLS said goodbye to Senior Legal Assistant, Stacy Coleman as she reached out for new endeavors!

On April 6, 2020 we were happy to have Jeff Sparks return to the office as a CLS Unit Chief. Welcome back, Jeff! On November 25, 2019, Andrew Reilly transferred from CAS into a Unit Chief position for CLS. Congratulations, Andrew! On September 4, 2020, we said goodbye to AAG Jason Lewis.

Special Litigation Section

On November 15, 2019 we said goodbye to Deputy Solicitor General, Andrew Pappas as he accepted a position as counsel for the Arizona House of Representatives. On May 18, 2020 we were happy to have Mike Catlett come on board with us as Deputy Solicitor General, and on July 27, 2020 we welcomed Sarah Crank into a Legal Assistant position. Welcome to the AGO, Mike and Sarah!

On September 8, 2020 we bid a fond farewell to Solicitor General/Special Litigation Section Chief Counsel, O.H. Skinner, as he left the office to work on other legal endeavors! And a month later on October 9, 2020, we bid farewell to Deputy Solicitor General/Federalism Unit Chief Rusty Crandell after his appointment to serve as a Maricopa County Superior Court Judge!

FOUR CRIMINAL DIVISION MEMBERS WIN APAAC HONORS

The Criminal Division would like to recognize the following staff members that were nominated and received 2020 APAAC awards:

Administrator of the Year: FSP Legal Secretary Stacey Canez received APAAC's 2020 Administrator of the Year award. Stacey is a hard-working and dedicated individual who exhibits all the qualities of an exemplary employee. She completes her assignments with diligence and attention-to-detail. Over the past 15 years, Stacey advanced from a student clerk to a lead legal secretary with a great deal of operational skills and responsibilities. She possesses excellent administrative skills and an ability to work well with everyone. Stacey has taken on additional duties and responsibilities to assist others in the Division. She is able to handle Division fiscal matters including travel, procurement and budgetary issues as well as being able to assist the Division Chief as necessary in the absence of the Division OA. During the past year, Stacey has been instrumental in helping with the transition to a new AGO case management system, which has involved many meetings, additional assignments and the creation of training protocols for all employees.

Legal Assistant of the Year: HCFA Senior Legal Assistant Peni Cox received APAAC's 2020 Legal Assistant of the Year award. Peni is known for her tireless dedication and exceptional legal assistance to the attorneys she supports. Peni is tasked with running the HCFA Section in Prescott where she serves as not only a Legal Assistant, but also assists with secretarial and administrative matters as well. For the past nine years, Peni has been an exceptional employee with unwavering dedication to the AGO. She is a key component of the investigation and prosecution team that covers nearly half of the geographic area of the State. Peni is a leader in providing services in the Prescott office and also her assistance to the Phoenix and Tucson HCFA staff. She is always approachable, knowledgeable and is willing to do whatever it takes to get the job done. Thank you, Anne. We appreciate all you do!

David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award: FSP prosecutor Shawn Steinberg received APAAC's 2020 David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award. Shawn is a remarkable voice for the crime victims she represents and she deserves special recognition for her work with the victim's family in State v. Luna/Carrasco, a murder case involving two defendants who frequently committed home-invasions in an attempt to steal drugs. When she noticed these dangerous offenders would taunt the next of kin, she made appropriate records with the court, often drawing the ire of the defendants and sometimes their attorneys. When confrontations would occur in the hallway, Shawn skillfully defused the situation and protected the victim's family with the assistance of court security, often times securing the removal of antagonistic persons from the courtroom. Shawn worked closely with the victim advocate and the victim's family to craft plea agreements that reflected the nature of the case, the defendants' criminal histories and relative involvement, and at the same time, ensuring that justice prevailed for the victim. Both defendants pled guilty to the murder. Luna was sentenced to 23 years and Carrasco was sentenced to 17 years in prison. The victim's family was pleased with the outcome and Shawn's hard work helped to minimize the trauma that they experienced in the court process. The family expressed their appreciation for Shawn's hard work and dedication.

Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award: FSP Section Chief Blaine Gadow received APAAC's 2020 Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award for his prosecution of a human sex trafficking trial. The victim's testimony was necessary for the case to proceed. The victim was very anxious and worried about testifying. Instead of using the procedural tools available to prosecutors such as an arrest warrant to ensure the victim's participation at trial, he empowered her in a multidisciplinary manner through support, empathy and providing options that resulted in her choosing to testify. Thanks to Blaine and his team's ability to empower the victim to testify, justice prevailed. The jury found the defendant guilty on 11 felony counts, including Child Sex Trafficking, Conspiracy, Money Laundering and Sexual Exploitation of a Minor. After the verdict, the victim's name and location had been released on social media by acquaintances of the defendant. Her safety and well-being were a large concern for Blaine while the defendant awaited sentencing. Blaine advocated for the safety and well-being of the victim after she provided testimony. He collaborated with others in the agency to achieve a unique solution to maintain the victim's safety until her transition to Department of Child Safety (DCS) services could be obtained. Blaine is a compassionate prosecutor and is very deserving of this award.

In addition, the Criminal Division would like to recognize the following additional staff members who were nominated for APAAC recognition:

Advocate of the Year: OVS Victim Advocate Evelyn Robles was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Advocate of the Year. Evelyn has been employed with the AGO since 2017. Evelyn has a complex case load consisting of fraud, child sexual exploitation, and human trafficking cases in both direct prosecution and appellate cases, also including death penalty cases. Her passion for meeting the needs of survivors of trafficking has positively affected the fight against predators and perpetrators on an international scale. Each victim is an individual often requiring creative advocacy and partnerships atypical for standard prosecution-based advocates. In 2019, Evelyn was an integral part of the successes in the case against Robert Hood. She worked with the trafficking survivor through the investigation and prosecution phases which resulted in the survivor testifying against Hood on her 18th birthday.

These efforts helped to secure a 108-year prison sentence while at the same time helping to find creative ways to serve the survivor post-conviction.

Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award: HCFA Section Chief Steve Duplissis was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award. Under Steve's leadership, HCFA was recognized in 2019 as the second highest performing Medicaid Fraud Unit in the nation for filing criminal indictments. This impressive achievement is unsurprising given Steve's unwavering passion to investigate and prosecute medical professionals who defraud the government and abuse some of Arizona's most vulnerable residents. Steve inspires that same passion in his employees, and they directly benefit from his thoughtful leadership and mentoring. Steve's section oversaw over 100 cases in 2019, ranging from

Criminal Division

large-scale Medicaid billing fraud to a former doctor's murder-for-hire prosecution. Steve's leadership has made HCFA a model for similar offices across the nation. He is a dedicated prosecutor who cares about the profession, his employees, victims and Arizona's citizens. In fact, the Arizona MFCU team was selected for the Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Inspector General's Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste, and Abuse. Steve is an asset to Arizona's prosecution community.

Rising Star Award: FSP prosecutor Evan Malady was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Rising Star Award. Evan started working in FSP in February 2019. Evan became quickly proficient in his position, developing his skills in directing and managing complex fraud and other investigations. Although only a two-year lawyer, Evan has successfully handled a wide variety of complex fraud cases. He has exceptional organizational skills, communicates well with law enforcement agents, defense attorneys and court staff and is known for working very hard. When Evan joined the Section, he immediately became involved in several high-profile and complex matters. Evan was instrumental in the Paul Petersen AHCCCS-fraud case. He was part of the initial investigation, participated in witness interviews, attended the search warrants and ultimately presented the case to the State Grand Jury. The Petersen case was extremely complex and it consisted of several different criminal investigations across multiple jurisdictions. Evan has handled the complexity of this case with skill and professional maturity. The defendant in this matter had skilled and experienced defense attorneys. Evan diligently worked with them to move the prosecution forward and effectively represent the State's interests. In June 2020, Petersen pled guilty to Fraudulent Schemes and Artifices, Forgery and Fraudulent Schemes and Practices and was sentenced to six years in prison.

Drug & Racketeering Enforcement Section

The DRG Section would like to welcome the following team members:

05/18/20 AAG Nichole Galusha-Troicke
06/15/20 AAG Rebecca Kennelly
07/27/20 Sr. LA Ronnie Danko

In August, AAG Gina Cucuzella resigned as she accepted a position with the Pinal County Attorney's Office. Good luck Gina!

In September, SLC Nick Saccone resigned as he accepted a position as a Court Commissioner with the Maricopa County Superior Court. Congrats Honorable Saccone!

Criminal Division

AAG Rebecca Jones resolved the case of State v. Angel Bonilla-Hernandez. This case involved a lingering co-defendant on a case where the primary defendants transported five kg of cocaine and were part of a wiretap case. Bonilla-Hernandez had a viable "mere presence" defense and was asking for a class six undesignated plea. Law enforcement was pushing for a prison resolution. The case resolved with a class 4 felony and a three year term of supervised probation, along with a hefty fine. This resolution will allow the defendant to continue working, which will hopefully discourage recidivism

Section Chief Theresa Rassas' daughters Regan (13) and MoMo (4) diligently worked on cards for the troops.

Theresa Rassas and her daughter Regan also volunteered to sort and pack holiday groceries for Feed Our Babies.

SLA Linda Pfohl retired after working nearly eight years in the DRG Section. Linda was extremely knowledgeable and helpful in large, complex wiretap cases. Unfortunately, a retirement party had to be postponed. Linda

After a lot of hard work and testing, AAG Rebecca Jones was chosen to be on the game show Jeopardy! The episode aired on December 10th. She was fortunate to have appeared with Alex Trebek. Great job Rebecca!

Criminal Division

Financial Remedies Section

FRS welcomed four new staff during the last several months.

In July 2020, LSII Jennifer Villescascas started in FRS and she has smoothly transitioned into her position. She brings 13+ years of criminal and civil legal secretarial experience to FRS, making her an asset to the team.

In September 2020, AAG Elliot Stratton was hired. Elliot received his JD in 2017 and also holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration. For his first three years of practice, Elliot was a judicial staff clerk for federal judges in Florida and Washington, D.C. Elliot was recommended to FRS by our Solicitor General, under whom Elliot performed an internship at the AGO. That recommendation has proved to be well earned as Elliot is already working on some major cases.

Also in September 2020, AAG Mukai "Kai" Amoo transferred from CFPD to FRS. Kai also holds a Master's Degree and brings nine years of experience and a background in family law, estate planning, criminal defense and civil litigation to her position. Her familiarity with civil practice and procedure has given her a running start on the work she is doing in FRS.

In October 2020, AAG Jake Rapp passed the Bar and started with FRS shortly after. Jake interned with FRS in 2018, during which he authored an article on tactical investigations and enforcement remedies against illegal massage parlor businesses for ANOA Magazine. Jake's strong interest in addressing white collar crime made him an ideal candidate for FRS and a welcome addition.

Recent FRS case work has concentrated on fraud victim recovery. This includes completion of the Paul Petersen adoption fraud case and the recovery of nearly $700,000 for AHCCCS; assistance in the Hacienda Health Care case in completing a settlement agreement under which Hacienda will be re-paying over $10 million dollars to AHCCCS and a $1 million dollar fine; and the execution of search and seizure warrants and the initiation of an FRS case on another AHCCCS fraud case in conjunction with the SIS and HCFA sections based on a $12 million dollar fraud amount.

Fraud & Special Prosecutions Section

The FSP Section would like to welcome the following team members that were hired in the last several months!

06/29/20 – AAG John Hudson
07/13/20 – AAG Maura Quigley (re-hire!)
08/24/20 – SLA David Rohe

Criminal Division

09/21/20 – AAG Carmine Mediate
09/21/20 – LSI Anna Hunt
10/05/20 – AAG Tom Maksemous

to our team!

In December 2020, AAG Rachel Nava resigned to return to the Arizona Supreme Court as a staff attorney. We wish her well in her new position!

In June 2020, the FSP Section bid farewell to SLA Dominique Rivas.

Welcome Baby George! On June 29th, AAG Tarah White and her husband Patrick welcomed their first child! Congrats!

On October 3rd, LSI Sarah Garrett married her long-time love Heath Karr! They have combined their households and their family has multiplied by four. Congrats Sarah!

In October 2020, the FSP Section said farewell to our friend and colleague SLA Scott Blake. Scott left the AGO to return to the cool pines of Prescott and the friendly confines of the Yavapai County Attorney's Office. Normally, for a long serving employee like Scott, we would have had a potluck or some kind of gathering to celebrate his service and wish him well, but COVID prevents us from doing this year. Scott has been a dedicated prosecutor and we thank him for his service and dedication to the mission of the office, and to ethical and honest prosecution in general, setting a great standard for the office. He carried a case heavy load and will be missed. Good luck Scott!

Healthcare Fraud & Abuse Section

In October 2020, the United States Department of Health and Human Services had their virtual annual awards meeting. Of the 50 state Medicaid Fraud Control Units (MFCU), Arizona's Unit had been chosen and formally awarded the Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste and Abuse. In making their announcement, HHS-OIG remarked that the Arizona MFCU obtained an impressive number of case outcomes, with 84 indictments, 70 convictions, and total recoveries of over $7.5 million. The Unit also opened 239 investigations, with a particular focus on drug diversion cases, which accounted for 115 of those investigations. The Unit employs a staff of 27 that includes attorneys, special agents, and other professionals. The Unit is led by Section Chief Steve Duplissis, who has served as the Unit's director since 2005 and is one of the longest serving directors among the MFCUs. Congrats MFCU Team!!

In September 2020, after a thorough Medicaid fraud investigation into Hacienda Healthcare, Inc., it was determined that the former officers improperly allocated direct and indirect costs, inflated reported expenses and engaged in improper billing during 2013-2018, resulting in an overpayment of at least $10,895,648 from AHCCCS to Hacienda. SIS SAs and AAGs from HCFA, FSP and FRS worked together to reach a civil settlement with Hacienda. Hacienda is to pay the State more than $11,000,000 to resolve this case. Congrats Team!

HCFA would like to welcome the following SIS Special Agents assigned to HCFA Units 1 and 2.

SA Kelly Angel started her law enforcement career with the Glendale Police Department. Kelly spent the past eight years with the Tempe Police Department where she served as a Patrol Field Training Officer, DUI Officer, Public Information Officer and IACP Drug Recognition Expert.

Criminal Division

SA Peter Tran previously served in New York City with the New York County District Attorney's Office as a Detective Investigator for five years where he specialized in financial fraud and organized crime investigations, along with fugitive extraditions. Peter earned his Bachelor's and Master of Science in Criminal Justice from Rochester Institute of Technology.

SA Roy Garrison previously worked for nine years with City of Eloy Police Department in Pinal County where the majority of the time he worked as a General Detective. Roy is a University of Arizona graduate where he majored in Accounting.

Prescott Valley Police Department contacted HCFA-Prescott regarding Emma-Kaye Parrish. Parrish had been employed as a finance manager by a behavioral health facility in Yavapai County. One of Parrish's duties at the facility was paying vendors for goods and services rendered to the AHCCCS funded facility where she worked. Although Parrish would input the information correctly into the facility's financial program, thus indicating that the vendor had been paid, she would manually change the payee on the check to herself or to other entities for her personal expenses. In June 2020, Parrish pled guilty to Theft and Forgery and was later sentenced to three years in prison, followed by five years' supervised probation. She was also ordered to pay restitution to AHCCCS in the amount of $65,436. Congrats to SA Mark McClain and AAG Courtney Kramer on resolving this case!

Office of Victim Services

OVS extends a warm welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20 – VA Jill Blass

07/27/20 – VA Amberly Frank

Special thanks to OALaura Lyons, VALinda Carthen and VAAAlbert Fimbres for their excellent work on developing a comprehensive, thoughtful and engaging plan to help the AGO recognize Domestic Violence Awareness month! By helping bring awareness, their plan also was a source of support to others who may be experiencing or others working in the field of domestic violence. Thanks for the time and effort spent to develop this necessary plan!

The OVS Outreach team worked hard converting its five hour Basic and three hour Advanced victims' rights trainings to engaging, effective Webinars over the last few months. In September 2020, trainings included videos, polling and even a crossword puzzle. Remarkably, the team successfully trained over 800 victims' rights professionals from all 15 counties in just three weeks. Attendee evaluations were overwhelmingly positive for the content and method of delivery.

On September 26th, OVS Outreach Coordinator Ashtyn Cronk (now Beuchler) got married. Although it was not her original plan, the couple had a small family-only ceremony that was beautiful. Congrats!

In November 2020, VA Supervisor Evelyn Robles who, as of November, 2020, is a new homeowner! House comes complete with a rooftop terrace sporting a city view! Congrats Evelyn!

OVS Advocate Program Manager, Amy Bocks, was awarded a Director's Unit Citation from the Arizona Department of Public Safety for her volunteer work on the 2019 DPS Annual Memorial 5K in Tucson. She has been part of the main planning committee for more than five years. Although challenging, this year's virtual event ran smoothly thanks to Amy's commitment.

Southern Arizona White Collar and Criminal Enterprise Section:

Section Chief Nick Klingerman and OA Martita Jimenez (in background) are taking cleaning seriously by sanitizing the entire section.

Criminal Division

In October 2020, Section Chief Nick Klingerman argued in front of the Arizona Supreme Court in State v. Goldin. While bantering with the justices, Nick articulately and persuasively explained to the full court why the appearance of impropriety standard set out on State v. Gomez should not apply to imputed disqualification of the entire Tucson office of the AGO. Nick highlighted the strategic nature and timing of defendant's motion to disqualify the office from prosecuting a 20 year old cold case homicide and proposed a new standard of analysis. He stepped back into his old appellate shoes, briefing and preparing tirelessly for oral argument, while continuing to supervise the unit. While a ruling is still pending, Nick won unanimous praise and enthusiasm from his SAWCEE colleagues who eagerly watched a livestream of the arguments! Special thanks to AAG Lindsay St. John as well. Lindsay is the second chair on this case and has provided valuable legal analysis and assistance.

In June 2020, AAG Julia Kaiserman joined the Section. She previously worked for the last 12 years at the Pima County Attorney's Office. While at PCAO, she was a dedicated trial and charging attorney, along with an 88-CRIME Safe School Program Manager. She hit the ground running at the AGO. Welcome, Julia!

In September 2020, SLA Adrienne Gutierrez welcomed her granddaughter, Lucy Grace Gutierrez. Congrats Mimi!

On October 7, 2020, LSII Maria Slinger and family welcomed daughter, Faith Gabrielle Slinger. Big Sister Sienna LOVES her real life baby doll. Congrats!

After an exceptional 20 year career with the AGO, LA PS Allison Bradford decided to retire. The Section has benefited from Allison's experience, institutional knowledge and mentorship. Her "Cheat Sheet" for tracking cases will continue to benefit others after she retires. Allison is a dedicated, thoughtful public servant, who truly cares about her community. Her drive to make Tucson, and Arizona, better showed in her work, with Allison receiving numerous awards during her tenure. Notably, Allison was APAAC's 2018 Legal Assistant of the Year. Congrats Allison! We are excited for your new journey!

AZ-AG-20-1

Criminal Division

In November 2020, LSII Jenny Lewis accepted a job offer at Raytheon. It has been great working with Jenny over the past year. We wish her well in her new position!

Special Investigations Section:

SIS extends a huge welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20	SA Carri Stubblefield
07/27/20	SA Mark Smith
08/10/20	SA John Hillman
09/08/20	SA Peter Tran
09/21/20	SA Desire Urbina
10/05/20	SA Kelly Angel
10/19/20	SA Jeffery Whitbeck
11/16/20	SA Roy Garrison
12/14/20	Eric Marlowe

SA Steven Sussen was recognized as a recipient by the Tucson Police Department for his efforts on behalf of vulnerable children. This achievement is truly representative of his commitment to ensure the safety of those least able to protect themselves. The Awards presentation is scheduled for January 2021. Congrats Steven! We are proud to work with you!

On July 9, 2020, SA Danny Miller and his wife Ramona extended their family. Cameron Arman Miller weighed in at 8lbs 2oz, and was 20.25 inches long. Congrats Danny!

On November 3, 2020, members of the SIS Election Integrity Unit, SA Bill Knuth, SA Annalisa Madsen and Criminal Investigator Don Carroll worked a 16 hour day monitoring a law enforcement hotline that had been established to assist other law enforcement agencies and personnel who were called out to respond to any election or voting fraud matters. Members of the unit were also available to respond to any polling locations or election scenes as needed. Members of the unit have coordinated with various agencies and had the opportunity to resolve several matters. Outstanding work by all involved.

Criminal Division

SA Annalisa Madsen conducted the investigation into former charter school principal, Harold Cadiz. In September 2020, Cadiz was sentenced to 3.75 years in prison followed by five years' probation and ordered to pay $2,538,722 in restitution for his role in enrolling fake students to obtain funding from the Arizona Department of Education, the U.S. Department of Education and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. As part of the investigation, the AGO seized hundreds of fraudulent documents. SLC Mary Harriss prosecuted the case. Congrats Team!

After serving 34 years in law enforcement, nine years with the AGO, SA Ron Perreira, is officially retired. SA Perreira has worked tirelessly on many wiretaps and drug related crimes with the AGO. Congrats Ron – you have fought the good fight, you have finished the race! You will be missed at the AGO.

In November 2019, former SA John "JT" Walsh passed away unexpectedly. As a former long-standing member of the AGO Running Team, it had been planned to honor JT at the Baker to Vegas Race with a custom designed runner's bib for the 2020 race. However, the 2020 race was canceled due to the pandemic. The AGO Running Team still ordered the bibs in remembrance of our dear friend and colleague. The team will present the bib to JT's wife Franzi who was going to attend the 2020 race in his honor.

A Message From Attorney General Mark Brnovich

At the end of the year, I've always believed it's important to be with our families, raise a glass with friends and reflect on what is really important in our lives. In 2020, however, even that time honored tradition may look different. Health officials say we should avoid large gatherings of extended family and friends, especially for those at higher risk for COVID 19 due to age and comorbidities. That is both awful and solid advice. It turns out that it's not just the Grinch and fraudsters who are out to steal our holiday cheer.

While family gatherings may look different or even be virtual, we can nevertheless still engage in the part of the Season where we reflect on what's important in our lives. When we do, we are reminded that protecting ourselves and each other is not just something that we do at home, but throughout our career at the Attorney General's Office. From the Supreme Court to the Internet, Election Integrity to Community Shred-a-thons, Family Court to representing State Agencies, and from Law Enforcement to Student Outreach, our team continues to do fantastic work in protecting the public and making our state a better place for all Arizonans.

I know this month's newsletter cannot replace the joy of sharing a home-cooked meal with our families, but perhaps it can provide food for thought and some inspiration regarding the difference we are making. I also hope you know just how much I appreciate all of your efforts during this especially challenging time. I wish everyone Peace and Joy this Holiday Season and good health and cheer as we welcome the New Year.

A Message From Chief Deputy & Chief of Staff Joe Kanefield

Wiley E. Jones served as Arizona Attorney General from 1915 to 1921. He was our State's second Attorney General and had the dubious honor of serving during the 1918 flu pandemic which lasted from 1918 to 1920 and infected 500 million people, nearly a third of the world's population at the time. Through four devastating waves this flu was one of the most deadly pandemics in human history. Although the State and the Office of the Attorney General were much smaller at the time, General Jones and his team were able to help guide Arizonans through the turmoil and usher in more prosperous times.

We can glean great knowledge and inspiration from history. With General Brnovich's leadership and everyone's help, we have and will continue to do our part to guide Arizona through the current pandemic and follow in the footsteps of our predecessors who overcame similar adversity.

As I have said many times, the people who work at the Attorney General's Office are committed to serving the public with pride and professionalism. We choose to be here because we believe in our mission. It's for this reason more than any other that we have been able to navigate the challenges of protecting the public during this health crisis with the unwavering ability to adapt to what has become the new norm of remote working. Attorney General Brnovich and I thank you again for doing your part to accomplish this mission without missing a beat.

To close, I'll share some trivia about AG Jones who was quite a character. A few months after being defeated by W.J. Galbraith in the election of 1920, AG Jones was bit by a gila monster while staying at the Jones Hotel in Safford, Arizona. To add embarrassment to injury, it was a gila monster that he had brought with him into the hotel in a failed effort to impress some women in the lobby. As the former AG discussed the beauty and virtues of the reptile, it bit into his left middle finger and did not release its grip for more than a minute. Jones couldn't speak for five hours as a result of the swelling in his tongue. Perhaps that was a good thing.

There's no doubt a lesson to be learned from AG Jones' gila monster experience in Safford, but I'll leave that one for you to contemplate. Right now, let's just reflect on his success in assisting Arizona through a pandemic in 1921 ... and how we will do the same in 2021.

With that said, Attorney General Brnovich and I would like to wish you and your families a safe and happy holiday season.

Licensing & Enforcement Section

AAG Sunita Krishna Cairo and her husband Manny welcomed their son Emilio Gael Cairo to their family on July 16, 2020. Baby Emilio joins big sister Indra who is 2. Congratulations to all!

Tanya Martinez joined LES as a legal secretary. Tanya relocated back to Phoenix after spending several years in Gallup, New Mexico, where she worked as an assistant to the Gallup City Attorney and Mayor.

Former AAG and LES Section Chief Monty Lee unexpectedly passed away on September 1, 2020. Monty was a great friend and mentor to the attorneys in LES who had the pleasure of working with him.

The Licensing and Enforcement Section spread holiday cheer by participating in the St. Vincent De Paul's Adopt-a-Family program. LES provided gifts for a family of five from Chandler. The gifts included games, sporting equipment and clothes along with a gift card for groceries. Employees of LES delivered the gifts on December 18th. All of the LES staff enjoyed contributing to such a worthy cause.

Natural Resources Section

NRS closed two huge deals this year!

Jack Crestin, born Leap Day, February 29, 2020, to Kevin Crestin and his wife, Christy.

congratulations

Melody Rose Rigsby, born July 17, 2020, to Maracia Rigsby and her husband, James.

In addition, NRS assisted the State Land Department to close two substantial deals bringing hundreds of millions of dollars into the State Land Trust to benefit K-12 education. On November 4, 2020, ASLD auctioned 2,800 acres of land east of Apache Junction in return for $245 million plus a 50% share in future net revenues from development of a master planned community. And on December 1, 2020, ASLD auctioned 1,200 acres of land in north Phoenix west of I-17 in return for $89 million plus the installation of over $200 million of infrastructure. The successful bidder, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, is expected to begin construction shortly on a $12 billion semiconductor plant.

CLD New Employee

Marie Elena Cobb, Executive Assistant
Marie has been with the AGO since July 2016 but has been in and around the legal field for 23+ years. Prior to joining CLD in October, Marie was with the Liability Management and Protective Services Sections as a Legal Secretary. Marie is an Arizona native originally from Sierra Vista near Fort Huachuca. She has 2 daughters, Isabelle and Makayla, ages 13 and 10, respectively, and enjoys doing re-enactments in Tombstone, Arizona. In her free time Marie also enjoys photography, geocaching, hiking, crafting, live theatre, singing, jewelry making and anything else that allows her to explore her creative side.

In January, CLD OA Kim Cundiff and husband Tony celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary in Las Vegas with their children.

Civil Litigation Division

Bankruptcy Collection & Enforcement Section (BCE)

Kristin McDonald, Assistant Attorney General
Prior to joining the AGO, Kristin represented institutional mortgage lenders for 10 years in the default servicing industry including foreclosure related matters, bankruptcy, excess proceeds, and title curative litigation. Kristin grew up in the Seattle area and upon moving to AZ in 1997 (Go Sundevils!!) was shocked to learn it was possible to live in sunshine and a warm climate versus constant grey and rain. In her spare time, she enjoys reading – currently binging on Elin Hilderbrand novels, volunteering with Phoenix Children’s Chorus, taking random group fitness classes, and spending time with her husband and 10 year old daughter.

Alexis Galindo, Administrative Assistant, started with BCE in January.

BCE, on the personal side:

On October 29, Andrea Freeman, Collector III, retired. Even during COVID she was given a proper send off as we thanked her for 25 years of service to the State of Arizona with a buffet of treats, snacks and gifts.

Community Outreach & Education Section (COED)

COED New Employees:

Marle Ethelbah, Community Outreach and Education Coordinator
Marle started with COED in November. She is an ASU graduate, with a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work. After graduation, she decided to teach English in Japan. This is where she developed a passion for education and public speaking. Upon her return to the United States, Marle worked for agencies that helped at-risk populations. She is excited to work for the Community Outreach section of the Attorney General's Office, because it combines her educational background and passion for helping vulnerable populations. In her spare time, Marle enjoys painting, reading, and spending time with friends and family.

In June of 2020, Community Outreach was excited to learn we would be moving to the Civil Litigation Division. This move allows Community Outreach to work more closely with Consumer Protection, Civil Rights, and the Tobacco Enforcement Unit to help constituents across Arizona.

Since the beginning of the pandemic, Community Outreach, like the rest of the office, had to adapt to a new way of reaching the public. Outreach staff was able to quickly transition to virtual trainings and were able to offer live webinars to the public as well as recorded webinars for the public to watch when convenient. Because of this, Outreach has been able to reach thousands of Arizonans virtually.

Civil Litigation Division

In addition to virtual learning, in September of 2020 Community Outreach began offering free No Contact Shred-a-thons and Prescription Drug take back events to the public. Because of these events we were able to help over 900 Arizonans shred over 50,000 pounds of documents and recover hundreds of pounds of prescription medications.

Division of Civil Rights Section (DCRS)

DCRS New Employees:

Chris Carlsen, Senior Litigation Counsel
Chris Carlsen rejoined DCRS in April. As an experienced trial and appellate attorney, Chris has worked in private and public practice, primarily litigating civil rights, family law, and personal injury actions. Previously with the Attorney General's Office and while employed with 501(c)(3) non-profit entities, Chris practiced before the Ninth Circuit. In addition to his wealth of knowledge regarding civil and appellate practice, Chris brings to DCRS an expertise in disability law and employment law. Chris also teaches disability law classes at Northern Arizona University.

Valerie Grijalva, Compliance Officer
Valerie Grijalva joined DCRS in August as a Compliance Officer. Valerie is an experienced investigator who has worked with some of Arizona's largest State agencies. Valerie's expertise involves working with vulnerable populations in high pressure situations. In her spare time she enjoys spending time with her family and taking family hikes with her dog.

Karla Mejia Rivera, Administrative Assistant, started with DCRS in June.

La-Rae Subay, Compliance Officer II, started with DCRS in October.

Virgil Clark, Compliance Officer I, started with DCRS in June.

Ryan Bishop, Assistant Attorney General, started with DCRS in August.

Sasha Gonzalez, Compliance Officer, started with DCRS in November.

Civil Litigation Division

DCRS, on the personal side:

On July, 21, the Civil Rights Section welcomed its youngest addition, Vivienne Rai weighing 7 pounds. Congratulations to Compliance Officer Ian Rai and wife Genesis on their beautiful baby girl.

Congratulations to Compliance Officer Gamaliel Vance on his marriage to his longtime girlfriend Desiree on July 25.

In December, two valued DCRS team members will be retiring – Dorothy Jim, Compliance Officer III and Patricia Bianchi, Tucson Compliance Manager. We are grateful to their service to Arizonans, to civil rights, and to the Arizona Attorney General's Office.

DCRS Case Highlights

In February, 2020, DCRS resolved its lawsuit against Obrigis, LLC d/b/a O'Brien's Sports Bar. In its October 25, 2019 lawsuit, DCRS alleged that Obrigis violated the Arizona Americans with Disabilities Act (AzDA) when it refused to serve Bill Larson because of his service animal. Mr. Larson has a brain injury which causes him to experience transient ischemic attacks (referred to as mini-strokes). His American Bulldog service animal, Whopper, is trained to detect the onset of the mini-strokes and alert Mr. Larson so that he may take steps to ensure his safety and the safety of others.

DCRS resolved this matter through Consent Decree. Under the terms of the Consent Decree, Obrigis was required to pay monetary damages of $7,500 to Mr. Larson and $2,500 in civil penalties to the State. In addition, Obrigis agreed to create and disseminate policies prohibiting discrimination on the basis of disability and permitting reasonable modifications to its policies as necessary to serve customers with disabilities. The Consent Decree further required that Obrigis pay for and participate in robust training on disability law under AzDA and Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

State of Arizona v. Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers

On May 30, 2019, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Big Tex Trailer World, Inc. d/b/a Big Tex Trailers, a company which sells, rents, and services trailers from its three Arizona locations. DCRS alleged that Big Tex violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when it failed to make reasonable accommodations to the known physical limitations of its employee, Ed Litzinger. DCRS further alleged that Big Tex terminated Litzinger on the basis of his disability in violation of ACRA. Mr. Litzinger, a retired detective, filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS on May 31, 2018. While employed as a Sales Representative in Big Tex's Tucson location, Litzinger underwent hip replacement surgery and returned to work with the assistance of a cane. Litzinger alleged that Big Tex would not reasonably accommodate his return to work condition and subsequently terminated him due to his disability.

DCRS resolved the litigation through a Consent Decree that provided for monetary damages of $45,000 to Mr. Litzinger and injunctive relief for DCRS including Big Tex's obligation to revise its policies and practices, pay for and participate in mandatory training, and maintain employment records related to its Arizona business operations subject to audit by DCRS.

State of Arizona v. Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista

On October 22, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit alleging that that employers Shree Yogiji d/b/a the Tombstone Grand Hotel and Landmark Hospitality, LLC d/b/a Hampton Inn Sierra Vista (collectively, Defendants) violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act (ACRA) when its supervisors harassed their joint employee because of her disability and created a hostile work environment. On October 23, 2019, an aggrieved party a employee of Defendants filed a charge of discrimination with DCRS alleging that her employers subject her to different terms and conditions of employment and a hostile and intimidating work environment based on her disability. Specifically, the aggrieved party, who has intellectual disabilities and special delays, alleged that her supervisors repeatedly referred to her in unwelcome and derogatory wa openly chastised her in employee meetings and in front of guests, shoved her head into a sink until she cried, and poked her between the shoulders so that she would move quicker. After investigating the charge, DCRS issued a reasonable cause determination on September 14, 2020. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

State of Arizona v. Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla

On November 2, 2020, DCRS filed a lawsuit against employer Solterra of Arizona, LLC d/b/a Solterra La Cholla (Solterra), alleging that it violated the Arizona Civil Rights Act when it failed to remedy a hostile work environment based on sex and terminated its employee after she complained about being sexually assaulted by a colleague while at work. On November 24, 2019, DCRS received a charge of discrimination from Solterra's former employee alleging that (1) Solterra subjected her to sexual harassment and a sex-based hostile work environment, (2) Solterra terminated her, and (3) Solterra retaliated against her after she engaged in protected activity. Specifically, the aggrieved party alleged that while at work she was sexually assaulted by a colleague. Additionally, she alleged that the colleague followed her outside the facility while she was on break and attempted to sexually assault her again. The aggrieved party complained to management about the sexual assault and was thereafter terminated. On September 30, 2020, DCRS completed its investigation and issued a reasonable cause determination. It thereafter filed this lawsuit. This matter is currently pending in Maricopa County Superior Court.

Consumer Protection and Advocacy Section (CPA)

On February 27, (pre-COVID), as part of Consumer Protection Awareness Week, AG Brnovich posed for a picture with CPA staff which includes the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit; Consumer Litigation Unit; Tobacco Enforcement Unit; and Competition, Innovation & Privacy Unit.

After graduation, Dominique returned to Arizona and enrolled at Grand Canyon University, where she is currently pursuing a Masters in Criminal Justice with Emphasis in Legal Studies. Prior to joining the AG's Office, Dominique worked in private practice for a civil litigation firm. Dominique has quickly become an integral member of TEU, supporting the AG's Youth Tobacco Program in our efforts to reduce youth exposure to tobacco products.

Jocelyne Jones, Administrative Assistant
Jocelyn started with the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit ("CIC") in November.

Civil Litigation Division

Justin Heywood, Pre-Law Legal Assistant
Justin started with CIC in July. He is a native Arizonan who graduated from Arizona State University with a bachelor's in political science and civic and economic thought. In his free time, he enjoys learning new things and finding new experiences, which led him to learn how to juggle and go bungee jumping. He considers himself an ice cream enthusiast, with his favorite flavors being mint chocolate chip and salted caramel.

Christopher Sloot, Assistant Attorney General
Christopher started with CPA in November. He is a 2016 University of Arizona Law grad. Prior to joining the Arizona Attorney General's Office, Christopher clerked at the Arizona Court of Appeals, Arizona Supreme Court, and the United States District Court for the District of Arizona. In his spare time, he enjoys hanging out with family and getting outside.

Mitchell Allee, Senior Litigation Counsel, returned to CPA in June.

Syreeta Tyrell, Assistant Attorney General, started with CPA in August.

Laura Dilweg, Senior Litigation Counsel, started with CPA in November.

DCRS, on the personal side:

On February 20 at 4:04pm, Alyse Meislik, Assistant AG, and her husband Matt, welcomed their son Robert ("Robbie") into the world. He weighed in at 8 lbs. 7 oz., 20.5 inches.

Civil Litigation Division

Senior Lit Counsel Mitchell Allee and wife, Tara, welcomed their son, Harrison William Allee, into the world on October 30. He weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs.

CPA Case Highlights

- As of July 2020, CPA had secured well over $100 million in restitution for Arizona consumers since Attorney General Mark Brnovich took office in 2015. Significantly, this is more than the total restitution from 2001 to 2014.
- Obtained tens of millions of dollars of relief for consumers who had loans from Santander, one of the nation's largest subprime auto lenders. Santander had provided high-interest loans to consumers that Santander knew were likely to default.
- Sued JUUL Labs and Eon Smoke, alleging that both companies engaged in deceptive and unfair practices in their sales and marketing of vaping products, particularly to youth. The AGO also obtained a permanent injunction banning Eon Smoke from selling certain products in Arizona.
- Obtained an $11 million settlement with Century Link regarding deceptive and unfair billing and marketing practices, under which Century Link paid nearly $2 million in refunds to consumers and $2 million toward fiber-optic infrastructure in Arizona.
- Obtained a consent judgment against Equifax, resolving the multistate investigation into the company's massive 2017 data breach. The multistate settlement included a $425 million restitution fund, a $175 million payment to the states, and injunctive relief.
- Sued several former executives of the Chandler-based opioid manufacturer Insys Therapeutics, Inc., including the company's founder, John Kapoor, alleging that the company illegally paid doctors to prescribe its highly addictive opioid medication.
- Sued several members of the Sackler family, who were responsible for operating Purdue Pharma, which the State has alleged violated a consent judgment ordering Purdue not to engage in deceptive marketing of its opioids.

AZ-AG-20-1956-C-000699

Civil Litigation Division

- Obtained over $90,000 in restitution from Dependable Auto, a Tucson-based car dealership that allegedly engaged in a wide variety of unlawful practices.
- Sued Choice Home Warranty, alleging that the company raked in millions of dollars by deceiving and misleading Arizonans about what its home warranties would cover.
- Obtained over $100,000 in restitution for consumers from a former owner of DIY Neurocare, which sold LED light pads as neuropathy treatments and failed to deliver on its money-back guarantee.
- Sued Valley Delivery, alleging that the company put up fake delivery slips in order to trick new homeowners into giving the company their phone numbers.
- Obtained $600,000 in a settlement with a Sun City vacuum seller that repeatedly violated the Do Not Call list.
- The Division Chief and members of CPA and the Consumer Information & Complaints Unit participated in a phone bank broadcast by ABC15.
- Secured an Amended Final Judgment with Live Nation after discovering that Live Nation violated terms of a 2010 Consent Judgment related to its merger with Ticketmaster by pulling or threatening to pull its shows from a venue if the venue chose not to use Ticketmaster for its ticketing services. The antitrust judgment contains injunctive terms and an additional five-year monitoring period to prevent Live Nation from engaging in future anti-retaliation and anti-conditioning activities and hold Live Nation accountable for any further violations.
- Filed an antitrust complaint against Taro Pharmaceuticals, Perrigo New York, Fougere Pharmaceuticals (now Sandoz), and 23 more of the nation's largest generic drug manufacturers alleging a broad conspiracy to artificially inflate and manipulate prices and reduce competition for approximately 80 different generic dermatology drugs.

Tobacco Enforcement Unit Highlights:

Youth Volunteer Recognition and Recruitment

- The Counter Strike Youth Tobacco Program usually holds an annual Recognition Ceremony to honor the youth volunteers who donate thousands of hours of time to keep tobacco products out of the hands of Arizona's kids. The Recognition Ceremony is typically hosted by the Arizona Diamondbacks and held at Chase Field with lots of fun and a little pomp and circumstance. Unfortunately, like many large gatherings this year, the Recognition Ceremony had to be cancelled for the safety of everyone involved. However, the Program could not let this year's group of dedicated volunteers go without recognition. We created certificates for each youth volunteer, signed by the AG, and mailed each youth a package with their certificate, a thank you letter, and an official Counter Strike t-shirt. It was nice to touch base with everyone and let these volunteers know that we did not forget their contributions!

Civil Litigation Division

- As we look towards resuming youth tobacco inspections in the near future, the Program has started ramping up youth volunteer recruitment- virtually! We have started reaching out to our school and club partners and scheduling video-conference recruitment presentations. Our Special Agents are becoming Zoom pros as they venture into virtual classrooms! We have had a fantastic response with dozens of new volunteers submitting paperwork. The schools have also been very responsive to presentations in a virtual format. And, while we miss seeing the kids in person, this allows the agents to present to youth all over the state in the same day!

Non-Participating Manufacturer Adjustment Arbitration Settlement

- The Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement ("MSA") entitles Arizona to an annual payment of approximately $100 million. The Tobacco Enforcement Unit goes to great lengths each year to satisfy this diligent enforcement requirement, which requires, among other things, collecting millions of dollars from cigarette manufacturers that have chosen to not join the MSA. These efforts have resulted in a multi-year settlement of the NPM Adjustments for years 2018 – 2022, protecting approximately $450 Million.

2019 Data Clearinghouse Proceeding

- Pursuant to the terms of the Tobacco Non-Participating Manufacturer (NPM) Adjustment settlement, the Settling States and the Participating Manufacturers (PMs) must participate in an annual Data Clearinghouse (DCH) Proceeding, during which BDO USA, a national economics firm, will review state-specific data supplied by the Settling States and PMs to determine if the state in question received Escrow Statute (A.R.S. § 44-7101) compliance on all NPM cigarettes on which state SET-paid NPM cigarettes, the state in question could be subject to an adjustment to its annual Master Settlement Agreement payment if the non-compliance amount goes beyond the safe harbor set forth in the settlement agreement. The 2019 DCH Proceeding began in August 2019. Due to the Tobacco Enforcement Unit's diligent efforts to enforce the Escrow Statute as to all NPM cigarettes sales in Arizona, BDO USA was able to quickly determine that Arizona has zero non-compliant cigarettes resulting in no adjustment to Arizona's MSA Payment to be received April 2021.

Fond Farewells and New Faces in Great Places!

Criminal Appeals

On May 1, 2020 we bid farewell to Criminal Appeals Section Chief, Joe Maziarz. Joe was with the office for 35 years, with the last 8.5 years serving as CAS Section Chief. We would like to give a big thank you to CAS Unit Chief Mike O'Toole for taking on the role of Interim Section Chief until Linley Wilson officially stepped into the position on November 30, 2020. Congratulations, Linley!

CAS also said farewell to Unit Chief Rob Walsh on May 15, 2020. Rob had been in CAS for over 25 years! With Rob leaving, we welcomed back Alice Jones who returned to the office on May 26, 2020 and took over the Unit Chief position. Congratulations, Alice!

On April 21, 2020 we said goodbye to Legal Secretary II, Nancy Romero. In the blink of an eye, Oscar Lopez swiftly learned the ropes and stepped in to that position! On December 4, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Terry Crist, and on December 16, 2020 we said goodbye to AAG Heather Mosher.

Capital Litigation

On January 13, 2020 the Capital Litigation Section welcomed two new AAG's, David Ahl and Elizabeth Bingert! Welcome to the AGO David and Elizabeth! On March 16, 2020, CLS said goodbye to Senior Legal Assistant, Stacy Coleman as she reached out for new endeavors!

On April 6, 2020 we were happy to have Jeff Sparks return to the office as a CLS Unit Chief. Welcome back, Jeff! On November 25, 2019, Andrew Reilly transferred from CAS into a Unit Chief position for CLS. Congratulations, Andrew! On September 4, 2020, we said goodbye to AAG Jason Lewis.

Special Litigation Section

On November 15, 2019 we said goodbye to Deputy Solicitor General, Andrew Pappas as he accepted a position as counsel for the Arizona House of Representatives. On May 18, 2020 we were happy to have Mike Catlett come on board with us as Deputy Solicitor General, and on July 27, 2020 we welcomed Sarah Crank into a Legal Assistant position. Welcome to the AGO Mike and Sarah!

On September 8, 2020 we bid a fond farewell to Solicitor General/Special Litigation Section Chief Counsel, O.H. Skinner, as he left the office to work on other legal endeavors! And a month later on October 9, 2020, we bid farewell to Deputy Solicitor General/Federalism Unit Chief Rusty Crandell after his appointment to serve as a Maricopa County Superior Court Judge!

FOUR CRIMINAL DIVISION MEMBERS WIN APAAC HONORS

The Criminal Division would like to recognize the following staff members that were nominated and received 2020 APAAC awards:

Administrator of the Year: FSP Legal Secretary Stacey Canez received APAAC's 2020 Administrator of the Year award. Stacey is a hard-working and dedicated individual who exhibits all the qualities of an exemplary employee. She completes her assignments with diligence and attention-to-detail. Over the past 15 years, Stacey advanced from a student clerk to a lead legal secretary with a great deal of operational skills and responsibilities. She possesses excellent administrative skills and an ability to work well with everyone. Stacey has taken on additional duties and responsibilities to assist others in the Division. She is able to handle Division fiscal matters including travel, procurement and budgetary issues as well as being able to assist the Division Chief as necessary in the absence of the Division OA. During the past year, Stacey has been instrumental in helping with the transition to a new AGO case management system, which has involved many meetings, additional assignments and the creation of training protocols for all employees.

Legal Assistant of the Year: HCFA Senior Legal Assistant Peni Cox received APAAC's 2020 Legal Assistant of the Year award. Peni is known for her tireless dedication and exceptional legal assistance to the attorneys she supports. Peni is tasked with running the HCFA Section in Prescott where she serves as not only a Legal Assistant, but also assists with secretarial and administrative matters as well. For the past nine years, Peni has been an exceptional employee with unwavering dedication to the AGO. She is a key component of the investigation and prosecution team that covers nearly half of the geographic area of the State. Peni is a leader in providing services in the Prescott office and also her assistance to the Phoenix and Tucson HCFA staff. She is always approachable, knowledgeable and is willing to do whatever it takes to get the job done. Thank you, Anne. We appreciate all you do!

David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award: FSP prosecutor Shawn Steinberg received APAAC's 2020 David R. White Excellence in Victim Advocacy Award. Shawn is a remarkable voice for the crime victims she represents and she deserves special recognition for her work with the victim's family in State v. Luna/Carrasco, a murder case involving two defendants who frequently committed home-invasions in an attempt to steal drugs. When she noticed these dangerous offenders would taunt the next of kin, she made appropriate records with the court, often drawing the ire of the defendants and sometimes their attorneys. When confrontations would occur in the hallway, Shawn skillfully defused the situation and protected the victim's family with the assistance of court security, often times securing the removal of antagonistic persons from the courtroom. Shawn worked closely with the victim advocate and the victim's family to craft plea agreements that reflected the nature of the case, the defendants' criminal histories and relative involvement, and at the same time, ensuring that justice prevailed for the victim. Both defendants pled guilty to the murder. Luna was sentenced to 23 years and Carrasco was sentenced to 17 years in prison. The victim's family was pleased with the outcome and Shawn's hard work helped to minimize the trauma that they experienced in the court process. The family expressed their appreciation for Shawn's hard work and dedication.

Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award: FSP Section Chief Blaine Gadow received APAAC's 2020 Gerda & Kurt Klein Guardian of Freedom Award for his prosecution of a human sex trafficking trial. The victim's testimony was necessary for the case to proceed. The victim was very anxious and worried about testifying. Instead of using the procedural tools available to prosecutors such as an arrest warrant to ensure the victim's participation at trial, he empowered her in a multidisciplinary manner through support, empathy and providing options that resulted in her choosing to testify. Thanks to Blaine and his team's ability to empower the victim to testify, justice prevailed. The jury found the defendant guilty on 11 felony counts, including Child Sex Trafficking, Conspiracy, Money Laundering and Sexual Exploitation of a Minor. After the verdict, the victim's name and location had been released on social media by acquaintances of the defendant. Her safety and well-being were a large concern for Blaine while the defendant awaited sentencing. Blaine advocated for the safety and well-being of the victim after she provided testimony. He collaborated with others in the agency to achieve a unique solution to maintain the victim's safety until her transition to Department of Child Safety (DCS) services could be obtained. Blaine is a compassionate prosecutor and is very deserving of this award.

In addition, the Criminal Division would like to recognize the following additional staff members who were nominated for APAAC recognition:

Advocate of the Year: OVS Victim Advocate Evelyn Robles was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Advocate of the Year. Evelyn has been employed with the AGO since 2017. Evelyn has a complex case load consisting of fraud, child sexual exploitation, and human trafficking cases in both direct prosecution and appellate cases, also including death penalty cases. Her passion for meeting the needs of survivors of trafficking has positively affected the fight against predators and perpetrators on an international scale. Each victim is an individual often requiring creative advocacy and partnerships atypical for standard prosecution-based advocates. In 2019, Evelyn was an integral part of the successes in the case against Robert Hood. She worked with the trafficking survivor through the investigation and prosecution phases which resulted in the survivor testifying against Hood on her 18th birthday.

These efforts helped to secure a 108-year prison sentence while at the same time helping to find creative ways to serve the survivor post-conviction.

Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award: HCFA Section Chief Steve Duplissis was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's Felony Prosecutor of the Year Award. Under Steve's leadership, HCFA was recognized in 2019 as the second highest performing Medicaid Fraud Unit in the nation for filing criminal indictments. This impressive achievement is unsurprising given Steve's unwavering passion to investigate and prosecute medical professionals who defraud the government and abuse some of Arizona's most vulnerable residents. Steve inspires that same passion in his employees, and they directly benefit from his thoughtful leadership and mentoring. Steve's section oversaw over 100 cases in 2019, ranging from

Criminal Division

large-scale Medicaid billing fraud to a former doctor's murder-for-hire prosecution. Steve's leadership has made HCFA a model for similar offices across the nation. He is a dedicated prosecutor who cares about the profession, his employees, victims and Arizona's citizens. In fact, the Arizona MFCU team was selected for the Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Inspector General's Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste, and Abuse. Steve is an asset to Arizona's prosecution community.

Rising Star Award: FSP prosecutor Evan Malady was the AGO's nominee for APAAC's 2020 Rising Star Award. Evan started working in FSP in February 2019. Evan became quickly proficient in his position, developing his skills in directing and managing complex fraud and other investigations. Although only a two-year lawyer, Evan has successfully handled a wide variety of complex fraud cases. He has exceptional organizational skills, communicates well with law enforcement agents, defense attorneys and court staff and is known for working very hard. When Evan joined the Section, he immediately became involved in several high-profile and complex matters. Evan was instrumental in the Paul Petersen AHCCCS-fraud case. He was part of the initial investigation, participated in witness interviews, attended the search warrants and ultimately presented the case to the State Grand Jury. The Petersen case was extremely complex and it consisted of several different criminal investigations across multiple jurisdictions. Evan has handled the complexity of this case with skill and professional maturity. The defendant in this matter had skilled and experienced defense attorneys. Evan diligently worked with them to move the prosecution forward and effectively represent the State's interests. In June 2020, Petersen pled guilty to Fraudulent Schemes and Artifices, Forgery and Fraudulent Schemes and Practices and was sentenced to six years in prison.

Drug & Racketeering Enforcement Section

The DRG Section would like the welcome to following team members:

05/18/20

AAG Nichole Galusha-Troicke

06/15/20

AAG Rebecca Kennelly

07/27/20

Sr. LA Ronnie Danko

In August, AAG Gina Cucuzella resigned as she accepted a position with the Pinal County Attorney's Office. Good luck Gina!

In September, SLC Nick Saccone resigned as he accepted a position as a Court Commissioner with the Maricopa County Superior Court. Congrats Honorable Saccone!

Criminal Division

AAG Rebecca Jones resolved the case of State v. Angel Bonilla-Hernandez. This case involved a lingering co-defendant on a case where the primary defendants transported five kg of cocaine and were part of a wiretap case. Bonilla-Hernandez had a viable "mere presence" defense and was asking for a class six undesignated plea. Law enforcement was pushing for a prison resolution. The case resolved with a class 4 felony and a three year term of supervised probation, along with a hefty fine. This resolution will allow the defendant to continue working, which will hopefully discourage recidivism

Section Chief Theresa Rassas' daughters Regan (13) and MoMo (4) diligently worked on cards for the troops.

Theresa Rassas and her daughter Regan also volunteered to sort and pack holiday groceries for Feed Our Babies.

SLA Linda Pfohl retired after working nearly eight years in the DRG Section. Linda was extremely knowledgeable and helpful in large, complex wiretap cases. Unfortunately, a retirement party had to be postponed. Linda

After a lot of hard work and testing, AAG Rebecca Jones was chosen to be on the game show Jeopardy! The episode aired on December 10th. She was fortunate to have appeared with Alex Trebek. Great job Rebecca!

Financial Remedies Section

FRS welcomed four new staff during the last several months.

In July 2020, LSII Jennifer Villescas started in FRS and she has smoothly transitioned into her position. She brings 13+ years of criminal and civil legal secretarial experience to FRS, making her an asset to the team.

In September 2020, AAG Elliot Stratton was hired. Elliot received his JD in 2017 and also holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration. For his first three years of practice, Elliot was a judicial staff clerk for federal judges in Florida and Washington, D.C. Elliot was recommended to FRS by our Solicitor General, under whom Elliot performed an internship at the AGO. That recommendation has proved to be well earned as Elliot is already working on some major cases.

Also in September 2020, AAG Mukai "Kai" Amoo transferred from CFPD to FRS. Kai also holds a Master's Degree and brings nine years of experience and a background in family law, estate planning, criminal defense and civil litigation to her position. Her familiarity with civil practice and procedure has given her a running start on the work she is doing in FRS.

In October 2020, AAG Jake Rapp passed the Bar and started with FRS shortly after. Jake interned with FRS in 2018, during which he authored an article on tactical investigations and enforcement remedies against illegal massage parlor businesses for ANOA Magazine. Jake's strong interest in addressing white collar crime made him an ideal candidate for FRS and a welcome addition.

Recent FRS case work has concentrated on fraud victim recovery. This includes completion of the Paul Petersen adoption fraud case and the recovery of nearly $700,000 for AHCCCS; assistance in the Hacienda Health Care case in completing a settlement agreement under which Hacienda will be re-paying over $10 million dollars to AHCCCS and a $1 million dollar fine; and the execution of search and seizure warrants and the initiation of an FRS case on another AHCCCS fraud case in conjunction with the SIS and HCFA sections based on a $12 million dollar fraud amount.

Fraud & Special Prosecutions Section

The FSP Section would like to welcome the following team members that were hired in the last several months!

06/29/20 – AAG John Hudson
07/13/20 – AAG Maura Quigley (re-hire!)
08/24/20 – SLA David Rohe

Criminal Division

09/21/20 – AAG Carmine Mediate
09/21/20 – LSI Anna Hunt
10/05/20 – AAG Tom Maksemous

In December 2020, AAG Rachel Nava resigned to return to the Arizona Supreme Court as a staff attorney. We wish her well in her new position!

In June 2020, the FSP Section bid farewell to SLA Dominique Rivas.

Welcome Baby George! On June 29th, AAG Tarah White and her husband Patrick welcomed their first child! Congrats!

On October 3rd, LSI Sarah Garrett married her long-time love Heath Karr! They have combined their households and their family has multiplied by four. Congrats Sarah!

In October 2020, the FSP Section said farewell to our friend and colleague SLA Scott Blake. Scott left the AGO to return to the cool pines of Prescott and the friendly confines of the Yavapai County Attorney's Office. Normally, for a long serving employee like Scott, we would have had a potluck or some kind of gathering to celebrate his service and wish him well, but COVID prevents us from doing this year. Scott has been a dedicated prosecutor and we thank him for his service and dedication to the mission of the office, and to ethical and honest prosecution in general, setting a great standard for the office. He carried a case heavy load and will be missed. Good luck Scott!

Healthcare Fraud & Abuse Section

In October 2020, the United States Department of Health and Human Services had their virtual annual awards meeting. Of the 50 state Medicaid Fraud Control Units (MFCU), Arizona's Unit had been chosen and formally awarded the Award for Excellence in Fighting Fraud, Waste and Abuse. In making their announcement, HHS-OIG remarked that the Arizona MFCU obtained an impressive number of case outcomes, with 84 indictments, 70 convictions, and total recoveries of over $7.5 million. The Unit also opened 239 investigations, with a particular focus on drug diversion cases, which accounted for 115 of those investigations. The Unit employs a staff of 27 that includes attorneys, special agents, and other professionals. The Unit is led by Section Chief Steve Duplissis, who has served as the Unit's director since 2005 and is one of the longest serving directors among the MFCUs. Congrats MFCU Team!!

In September 2020, after a thorough Medicaid fraud investigation into Hacienda Healthcare, Inc., it was determined that the former officers improperly allocated direct and indirect costs, inflated reported expenses and engaged in improper billing during 2013-2018, resulting in an overpayment of at least $10,895,648 from AHCCCS to Hacienda. SIS SAs and AAGs from HCFA, FSP and FRS worked together to reach a civil settlement with Hacienda. Hacienda is to pay the State more than $11,000,000 to resolve this case. Congrats Team!

HCFA would like to welcome the following SIS Special Agents assigned to HCFA Units 1 and 2.

SA Kelly Angel started her law enforcement career with the Glendale Police Department. Kelly spent the past eight years with the Tempe Police Department where she served as a Patrol Field Training Officer, DUI Officer, Public Information Officer and IACP Drug Recognition Expert.

Criminal Division

SA Peter Tran previously served in New York City with the New York County District Attorney's Office as a Detective Investigator for five years where he specialized in financial fraud and organized crime investigations, along with fugitive extraditions. Peter earned his Bachelor's and Master of Science in Criminal Justice from Rochester Institute of Technology.

SA Roy Garrison previously worked for nine years with City of Eloy Police Department in Pinal County where the majority of the time he worked as a General Detective. Roy is a University of Arizona graduate where he majored in Accounting.

Prescott Valley Police Department contacted HCFA-Prescott regarding Emma-Kaye Parrish. Parrish had been employed as a finance manager by a behavioral health facility in Yavapai County. One of Parrish's duties at the facility was paying vendors for goods and services rendered to the AHCCCS funded facility where she worked. Although Parrish would input the information correctly into the facility's financial program, thus indicating that the vendor had been paid, she would manually change the payee on the check to herself or to other entities for her personal expenses. In June 2020, Parrish pled guilty to Theft and Forgery and was later sentenced to three years in prison, followed by five years' supervised probation. She was also ordered to pay restitution to AHCCCS in the amount of $65,436. Congrats to SA Mark McClain and AAG Courtney Kramer on resolving this case!

Office of Victim Services

OVS extends a warm welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20 – VA Jill Blass

07/27/20 – VA Amberly Frank

Special thanks to OALaura Lyons, VALinda Carthen and VAAAlbert Fimbres for their excellent work on developing a comprehensive, thoughtful and engaging plan to help the AGO recognize Domestic Violence Awareness month! By helping bring awareness, their plan also was a source of support to others who may be experiencing or others working in the field of domestic violence. Thanks for the time and effort spent to develop this necessary plan!

The OVS Outreach team worked hard converting its five hour Basic and three hour Advanced victim rights trainings to engaging, effective Webinars over the last few months. In September 2020, training included videos, polling and even a crossword puzzle. Remarkably, the team successfully trained over 800 victims' rights professionals from all 15 counties in just three weeks. Attendee evaluations were overwhelmingly positive for the content and method of delivery.

On September 26th, OVS Outreach Coordinator Ashtyn Cronk (now Beuchler) got married. Although it was not her original plan, the couple had a small family-only ceremony that was beautiful. Congrats!

In November 2020, VA Supervisor Evelyn Robles who, as of November, 2020, is a new homeowner! House comes complete with a rooftop terrace sporting a city view! Congrats Evelyn!

OVS Advocate Program Manager, Amy Bocks, was awarded a Director's Unit Citation from the Arizona Department of Public Safety for her volunteer work on the 2019 DPS Annual Memorial 5K in Tucson. She has been part of the main planning committee for more than five years. Although challenging, this year's virtual event ran smoothly thanks to Amy's commitment.

Southern Arizona White Collar and Criminal Enterprise Section:

Section Chief Nick Klingerman and OA Martita Jimenez (in background) are taking cleaning seriously by sanitizing the entire section.

Criminal Division

In October 2020, Section Chief Nick Klingerman argued in front of the Arizona Supreme Court in State v. Goldin. While bantering with the justices, Nick articulately and persuasively explained to the full court why the appearance of impropriety standard set out on State v. Gomez should not apply to imputed disqualification of the entire Tucson office of the AGO. Nick highlighted the strategic nature and timing of defendant's motion to disqualify the office from prosecuting a 20 year old cold case homicide and proposed a new standard of analysis. He stepped back into his old appellate shoes, briefing and preparing tirelessly for oral argument, while continuing to supervise the unit. While a ruling is still pending, Nick won unanimous praise and enthusiasm from his SAWCEE colleagues who eagerly watched a livestream of the arguments! Special thanks to AAG Lindsay St. John as well. Lindsay is the second chair on this case and has provided valuable legal analysis and assistance.

In June 2020, AAG Julia Kaiserman joined the Section. She previously worked for the last 12 years at the Pima County Attorney's Office. While at PCAO, she was a dedicated trial and charging attorney, along with an 88-CRIME Safe School Program Manager. She hit the ground running at the AGO. Welcome, Julia!

In September 2020, SLA Adrienne Gutierrez welcomed her granddaughter, Lucy Grace Gutierrez. Congrats Mimi!

On October 7, 2020, LSII Maria Slinger and family welcomed daughter, Faith Gabrielle Slinger. Big Sister Sienna LOVES her real life baby doll. Congrats!

After an exceptional 20 year career with the AGO, LA PS Allison Bradford decided to retire. The Section has benefited from Allison's experience, institutional knowledge and mentorship. Her "Cheat Sheet" for tracking cases will continue to benefit others after she retires. Allison is a dedicated, thoughtful public servant, who truly cares about her community. Her drive to make Tucson, and Arizona, better showed in her work, with Allison receiving numerous awards during her tenure. Notably, Allison was APAAC's 2018 Legal Assistant of the Year. Congrats Allison! We are excited for your new journey!

In November 2020, LSII Jenny Lewis accepted a job offer at Raytheon. It has been great working with Jenny over the past year. We wish her well in her new position!

Special Investigations Section:

SIS extends a huge welcome to the following staff:

06/15/20	SA Carri Stubblefield
07/27/20	SA Mark Smith
08/10/20	SA John Hillman
09/08/20	SA Peter Tran
09/21/20	SA Desire Urbina
10/05/20	SA Kelly Angel
10/19/20	SA Jeffery Whitbeck
11/16/20	SA Roy Garrison
12/14/20	Eric Marlowe

SA Steven Sussen was recognized as a recipient by the Tucson Police Department for his efforts on behalf of vulnerable children. This achievement is truly representative of his commitment to ensure the safety of those least able to protect themselves. The Awards presentation is scheduled for January 2021. Congrats Steven! We are proud to work with you!

On July 9, 2020, SA Danny Miller and his wife Ramona extended their family. Cameron Arman Miller weighed in at 8lbs 2oz, and was 20.25 inches long. Congrats Danny!

On November 3, 2020, members of the SIS Election Integrity Unit, SA Bill Knuth, SA Annalisa Madsen and Criminal Investigator Don Carroll worked a 16 hour day monitoring a law enforcement hotline that had been established to assist other law enforcement agencies and personnel who were called out to respond to any election or voting fraud matters. Members of the unit were also available to respond to any polling locations or election scenes as needed. Members of the unit have coordinated with various agencies and had the opportunity to resolve several matters. Outstanding work by all involved.

Criminal Division

SA Annalisa Madsen conducted the investigation into former charter school principal, Harold Cadiz. In September 2020, Cadiz was sentenced to 3.75 years in prison followed by five years' probation and ordered to pay $2,538,722 in restitution for his role in enrolling fake students to obtain funding from the Arizona Department of Education, the U.S. Department of Education and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. As part of the investigation, the AGO seized hundreds of fraudulent documents. SLC Mary Harriss prosecuted the case. Congrats Team!

After serving 34 years in law enforcement, nine years with the AGO, SA Ron Perreira, is officially retired. SA Perreira has worked tirelessly on many wiretaps and drug related crimes with the AGO. Congrats Ron – you have fought the good fight, you have finished the race! You will be missed at the AGO.

In November 2019, former SA John "JT" Walsh passed away unexpectedly. As a former long-standing member of the AGO Running Team, it had been planned to honor JT at the Baker to Vegas Race with a custom designed runner's bib for the 2020 race. However, the 2020 race was canceled due to the pandemic. The AGO Running Team still ordered the bibs in remembrance of our dear friend and colleague. The team will present the bib to JT's wife Franzi who was going to attend the 2020 race in his honor.

LEGISLATIVE STAFFERS WORRY ABOUT MASKLESS LEGISLATORS

The 2021 session begins one month from tomorrow, and legislative staffers worry about staying safe from COVID-19. Current and former staffers who spoke to our reporter said they are particularly wary of Republican lawmakers who refuse to wear masks or maintain social distancing. They are also worried about legislators – and others – resuming social lives in the middle of the pandemic. One House employee described a recent encounter with a maskless lawmaker in which the employee tried backing away during the conversation to signal discomfort and the lawmaker didn't take the hint. Senior employees, such as the chief clerk, rules attorney or JLBC director, are often bold enough to request that lawmakers put on their masks, but may not necessarily push the issue if legislators ignored their requests. Our reporter witnessed this dynamic this fall, during a meeting in which senior GOP Senate staff persuaded Borrelli and Leach to put on their masks in front of visiting business owners and the press, but couldn't stop them from pulling Republicans initially took the disease seriously in early spring: Fann had the pages disinfecting surfaces, handrails and doorknobs every hour. Covid spreads primarily through respiratory droplets, and while disinfecting surfaces can minimize the risk, state and federal health officials strongly recommend wearing a mask and keeping a safe distance. Now, Singh said she's worried for friends who are still working at the Senate. Lawmakers and pages often interact closely, with legislators whispering instructions to pages. "They are literally risking their lives every day to serve their senators and it feels like their senators are laughing in their faces," she said. "They can't boss the senators around, and the senators have no bosses, so it kind of feels like a no-win situation for them."

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY WORKS IF FOLKS ARE RESPONSIBLE

Republican lawmakers who routinely wear masks are also reluctant to require their colleagues to do the same. Shope told our reporter he thinks only a Senate rule change would truly enforce a mask mandate, but he wouldn't vote for such a rule even though he religiously wears his own mask. "I just don't really feel like it's my prerogative or my job to be everybody's parent," he said. Boyer, who along with Carter started social distancing early in the spring, decided over the summer that COVID-19 isn't as serious as he thought in the spring. He's not a fan of masks, he said, but he wears them at work and will wear one at the Senate if Fann requires it or someone asks him to. "I never want anyone to feel uncomfortable around me, so if somebody asked me to put a mask on, I certainly would," he said. Boyer, who was a House GOP spokesman for three years before he ran for office, acknowledged that staffers may not be comfortable asking or telling a legislator to do anything. Mesnard told our reporter he wouldn't support a rule change and that the rules already give Fann wide latitude to manage the building and the people in it. He would prefer to do as much business as possible through phone calls and video calls, though he'll meet with people in person if they ask to do it. He argued that taking safety precautions could help and certainly won't hurt, and that they are one way to ensure the Legislature can continue doing its business without abruptly recessing or adjourning like it did last year. "I'm very, very much opposed to government shutdowns, and part of the way we can avoid others wanting to go down that road is to take certain precautions," he said.

THE WEATHER WILL BE LOVELY

Some are considering holding the ceremonies for the first day of the 2021 legislative session outside. Typically, both chambers would hold their own ceremonies before congregating in the House chamber to hear the governor's state of the state address. As such, plans need to be closely coordinated among the three entities, as well as with the security agencies. "What I've heard so far about opening day is that it could be held outside," Blackman said during the Capitol Times Morning Scoop on criminal justice today. Engel, who is joining the Senate next year, said whatever leaders ultimately decide, the Legislature needs to protect legislators, particularly those who are elderly and those who might have a family member at risk of complications, as well as staffers, lobbyists and other members of the public. "I think opening day outside is a great idea," Engel said.

LAWMAKERS MOVE TO REGAIN TRUST IN ELECTIONS

As reported in the Arizona Capitol Times last night, Ugenti-Rita has been temporarily added to Senate jud for a hearing on election integrity. The meeting won't happen until at least next week - though Finchem claimed it would take place tomorrow - and an agenda still isn't set. Arizona's 11 electors, and the 527 others from across the country, will meet on Monday to cast their states' electoral votes for Biden or Trump. Separately, Bowers and Fann announced in a press release last night that they continue to push Maricopa County to conduct an audit of its election equipment and software, but that the county has said it could not do that in the middle of litigation proceedings as the machines are considered evidence. Ugenti-Rita dismissed the county's position in a tweet last night (LINK): "Another day, another excuse from the @maricopacounty Board of Supervisors about why they can never seem to do anything meaningful when it comes to election integrity."

PERSEUS NEEDED MEDUSA'S EYES

The tentacles of the "Arizona Kraken" lawsuit are still twitching even after yesterday afternoon's dismissal of the case. The challenge, a sprawling complaint claiming election fraud, is similar to lawsuits dismissed in Georgia, Michigan and Wisconsin. Arizona District Court Judge Diane Humetewa took a dim view of the case, writing in part in her dissent that “allegations that find favor in the public sphere of gossip and innuendo cannot be a substitute for earnest pleadings and procedure in federal court. They most certainly cannot be the basis for upending Arizona’s 2020 General Election.” Trump advocate Sidney Powell promptly appealed it to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, but, as flagged by Arizona attorney and blogger Paul Weich, Powell neglected to file a motion for an expedited appeal and the case now looks like it will continue past May (LINK). Separately, state GOP chair Kelli Ward is still weighing whether to appeal her own lawsuit seeking to overturn the election results. And another new suit has been filed in Pinal County, resurfacing already-litigated fraud claims and adding another claim that someone who may or may not be related to the Koch brothers was involved in a scheme to move ballots from an airplane at Sky Harbor International Airport to the Maricopa County tabulation center because wealthy conservatives wanted to sabotage Trump (LINK).

December 10, 2020

IT’S NOT WHAT YOU THINK IT IS

In advance of a lunch with Trump and other attorneys general at the White House today, Brnovich is filing a motion for leave to be able to submit an amicus brief in the Texas v. Pennsylvania SCOTUS case. But filing a brief in the case is not the same as supporting the case’s merit. The Texas AG wants to overturn the election, while Brnovich has not expressed that same sentiment. In fact, he was the first high-ranking Republican official in Arizona to say Trump did not have a path to victory and acknowledged Biden’s likely win before others have called the race. Brnovich’s motion (LINK) is only going to touch on the importance of election integrity, and his spokesman said the AG wants to ensure any ruling by the US Supreme Court does not undermine Arizona’s own regulations.

Brnovich has been clear in his position that Arizona did things correctly and signed, along with Ducey and Hobbs, the certification of votes last week. AG spokesman Ryan Anderson and Daily Star columnist Tim Steller got into a Twitter argument over the intention of Brnovich’s filing last night. Steller argued it was a political move – one he vehemently disagreed with – given Brnovich is viewed as a likely choice to seek the open governor seat in 2022. “I don’t think people are appreciating how breathtaking a step it is to try to disenfranchise the people of a different state. If people were doing that to my state, I’d be furious,” Steller tweeted. Anderson shot down that accusation, saying there’s nothing in the motion that says such a thing. “Were you not implying Arizona is advocating to toss out the election results in other states? If so, that statement is not supported by facts. A cite or review of the AZ brief would make that clear,” Anderson replied.

REALLY?

Dysart Unified School District appears to be encouraging its employees to continue working in-person even when they have been exposed to COVID-19, which contradicts the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Preventions’ guidelines. The district did not return calls for comment at our deadline. In what appears to be a slideshow our reporter obtained, Dysart says “continue to work at worksite” under the section for “direct exposure and asymptomatic.” The slide show also shows a section for “positive test or symptomatic,” under which a person must isolate or quarantine. The Dept of Education and Arizona School Board Assn told our reporter this case is isolated to Dysart, and, to their knowledge, no other district is recommending what

December 10, 2020

Dysart appears to suggest. Typically, schools that experience an outbreak shift to virtual learning for the classroom – or, in some cases, for the entire school particularly when staffing shortages occur – until it's deemed safe to return to hybrid learning. Given that the metrics Ducey, Hoffman and the Dept of Health Services agreed upon months ago are merely recommendations and not requirements, nothing prevents school governing boards and districts from adopting their own plans. The CDC says anyone who has had close contact with a person who has COVID-19 needs to quarantine (LINK). CDC defines "close contact" to include having been within 6 feet of someone who has COVID-19 for a total of 15 minutes or having had direct physical contact with the infected person, such as by hugging or kissing them. Under these scenarios, the CDC says a person should stay at home for 14 days and monitor symptoms. Numerous districts across the state have already shifted to online or remote learning, but others, such as Dysart, remain in hybrid learning. Recent benchmarks show the entire state is roughly two weeks away from reaching substantial spread across all metrics for consecutive weeks, which is when state health officials recommended pulling back any in-person learning options.

FROM NO. 1 TO NO. 2

Maricopa County Recorder Adrian Fontes will move from the No. 1 role in the state's largest county to the No. 2 role in Pima County once his term ends in January. He announced on Twitter today he will join County Recorder-elect Gabriella Cazares-Kelly as her Deputy for a 90-day interim period to help with her transition. "I am passionate about this kind of work, and helping voters, and she called upon me to do that," he told our reporter. "It seemed like a really fantastic opportunity to take a step out of the No. 1 role and try a No. 2 role for a change, and I'm excited about having a boss again." He said he will travel to Tucson four days a week once his term ends next month. He will work to find Cazares-Kelly a full-time deputy, but he is keeping his options open on whether he wants the job permanently, he said. "Mr. Fontes' visionary solutions to increasing accessibility in his county encouraged me to imagine new programs for Pima County voters. We are fortunate to have him help us implement programs like those that inspired so many Pima County voters to elect me," Cazares-Kelly said in a news release.

Lesko Bill to Rename Surprise Post Office Passes House

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Today, U.S. Congresswoman Debbie Lesko's (AZ-08) bill to rename the Surprise Arizona United States Post Office at 14955 West Bell Road, in honor of Purple Heart recipient, Marc Lee, passed the United States House of Representatives by Unanimous Consent.

To mark the occasion, Congresswoman Lesko spoke on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives. Watch her full remarks below:

Marc Lee exposed himself to enemy fire three times on August 2, 2006, when his team encountered insurgents outside of Ramadi, Iraq. He was posthumously awarded the Silver Star and Purple Heart for his heroic actions. His mother, Debbie Lee, founded America's Mighty Warriors, to honor the sacrifices of our troops, the fallen, and their families by providing programs that improve quality of life, resiliency, and recovery. Debbie Lee lives in Surprise, Arizona.

"Marc Lee, the first Navy SEAL killed in Iraq, loved deeply and was deeply loved. He selflessly sacrificed his life to save his teammates. Naming this Post Office will keep his legacy alive and remind us to live lives worthy of their sacrifices," said Debbie Lee. "It has been such a blessing to work with Congresswoman Lesko and her staff who introduced this bill. She loves our military and understands the sacrifice that is made for the freedoms we enjoy every day. Our foundation, America's Mighty Warriors, has worked with her on numerous issues affecting our Troops and Veterans and they are always quick and thorough in resolving the issues."

Other members of Congress also spoke on the floor about the bill, including House Republican Conference Chairwoman Liz Cheney (R-WY-AL).
Congressman Brian Babin (R-TX-36), whose son Leif Babin was also a Navy SEAL and served with Marc Lee in Iraq, also spoke on the floor to highlight the bill.

Sinema Advocates for Arizona Veterans' Financial Security During Pandemic

During Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee hearing Sinema pressed VA officials on their actions to ensure financial security and debt relief for Arizona veterans during the coronavirus pandemic

WASHINGTON – Arizona senior Senator Kyrsten Sinema spoke during a Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee hearing and pressed Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) officials about the VA's efforts to ensure Arizona veterans are financially secure during the coronavirus pandemic.

"The VA must extend debt-relief for Arizona veterans and help ensure their financial security during the coronavirus pandemic," said Sinema, a member of the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee.

VA announced in April certain actions providing financial relief to veterans during the coronavirus pandemic, including suspending all actions on veteran debt. These actions expire on December 31, 2020 and have not been extended. Sinema inquired whether these actions will be extended and whether they will be automatically applied or will require additional action by the veteran.

Arizona veterans have reported to Sinema concerns about the potential resumption of VA debt collection in January 2021 and confusion about VA's guidance on debt relief. VA's Health Administration released information to veterans stating their debt billing was automatically stopped and will resume January 1, 2021. Meanwhile, the Veterans Benefits Administration has not provided clear information whether their debt billing automatically stopped or how debt collection will change on January 1, 2021. Sinema expressed concern that the VA is not coordinated in this effort or communicating it well while Arizona veterans need answers now to ensure their financial security.

Nonprofits and Foundations Advocate Again for Statewide Eviction Moratorium Extension

Family Housing Resources (FHR) Spearheads Urgent Second Request to Governor Ducey
With less than 21 days left before the year ends and national eviction protections from the Center for Disease Control (CDC) expire, a group of 24 nonprofit agencies and foundations are once again, advocating to Governor Doug Ducey to take action to curb the potential humanitarian and economic crisis that may result if an additional extension is not put in place. In July of 2020, the coalition, which has grown from 14 to 24 made a similar effort, days after which Ducey announced an Executive Order extending the moratorium through Oct. 31. National protections were put in place by the CDC in September through Dec. 31, but come Jan. 1, 2021, if no actions are taken, projections are grim.

FHR is a regional nonprofit leading this coalition's effort and sharing the critical information and insight sharing that, "Without intervention, mass evictions will disrupt the lives of tens of thousands of Arizona's renters, and will cause severe harm to their economic, social, mental, and physical well-being. These evictions will also trigger a wave of debilitating downstream costs that will ripple through all of our social systems." The letter goes on to share that, "Recent research shows the partial annual cost of caring for Arizona families that will face homelessness as a result of eviction is $2.5 billion, while the current rental shortfall is only estimated to be between $200-$400 million."

December 10, 2020

Meghan Heddings, Executive Director of FHR states, “This is a complex problem that continues to grow as federal protections are running out. COVID cases are the highest they have been nationally. Arizonans are being asked to stay home to keep our communities safe. In order to do so, they must have the means to stay housed. We are advocating for not only additional time for residents who may be facing eviction, but for the necessary resources and guidelines to distribute those resources to keep Arizonans safe as the pandemic rages across the nation.”

Rep. Grijalva Cheers House Passage of Saguaro National Park Expansion

TUCSON— Today the U.S. House of Representatives passed Rep. Raúl M. Grijalva’s Saguaro National Park Boundary Expansion and Study Act of 2020 (H.R. 7098). The bill will expand Saguaro National Park and further protect the unique Sonoran Desert habitat of the greater Tucson area in Arizona, an effort he has championed since 2007.

Under the terms of the bill, the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to acquire a total of approximately 1,232 total acres of land to include in the park. The bill also directs the National Park Service to study future opportunities for expansion with a focus on land with high natural, cultural, recreational, and scenic values.

“Expanding and protecting Saguaro National Park is a no brainer in Southern Arizona because this park is our backyard,” Grijalva said. “This expansion will benefit both people and nature by increasing parkland in our community, improving wildlife habitats and connecting recreational trails in the area. Saguaro is already a popular destination for Arizonans and visitors from all over, and this is an exciting opportunity to permanently protect open space and provide more recreational opportunities. Today, with the House passage of my bill, we’re one step closer to achieving our goal. I am grateful to the community members who have worked with me to get to this point, and we’re going to continue until it becomes law.”

Saguaro National Park is home to iconic southwestern species including the saguaro cactus, desert tortoise, and coyote. The park received more than 1 million visitors in 2019, the largest amount the site has received since it first received federal protection 87 years ago.

The parcels identified for inclusion in the park will protect biodiverse riparian areas, wildlife habitat, scenic views, and archaeological sites and create an important linkage between Saguaro National Park and Pima County’s Sweetwater Preserve. The parcels in question were identified for inclusion in the park because of their high conservation value, the immediate threat of sale, and significant local support.

H.R. 7098 is supported by the Pima County Board of Supervisors, the Tucson Mountain Homeowners Association, the National Parks Conservation Association, and the Trust for Public lands, and many other conservation organizations.

Statewide Electronic Search Warrant Program Update

PHOENIX – The high cost of impaired driving on the lives of Arizona’s citizens and communities continues. One approach to addressing the problem is the Arizona Supreme Court’s participation in the statewide electronic search warrant program for vehicular offenses, which is made possible with a grant from the Governor’s Office of Highway Safety.

The Impaired Driving Program seeks to reduce alcohol and drug-related deaths and injuries by increasing enforcement, education, and public awareness. The Superior Court in Maricopa County authorizes electronic search warrants to law enforcement statewide through an online electronic warrant program for blood draws on individuals suspected of driving under the influence. The original program was piloted with 24 police departments and is now available to all law enforcement. In the last year, participation has increased from 65 agencies to 85 agencies and 6,565 active users participating across the state.

Under the program, search warrants and affidavits are exchanged electronically and securely between law enforcement and the Maricopa County Superior Court's Initial Appearance court, which operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Faster warrants result in faster, more accurate test results – improving public safety by holding violators accountable.

The electronic search warrant part of the Impaired Driving Program applies to the vehicular offenses of: Driving under the influence, vehicle-related homicide, vehicle-related aggravated assault, vehicle-related endangerment, and other vehicle-related offenses.

Lesko Calls on Barr to Appoint Special Counsel in Hunter Biden Investigation

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Today, U.S. Congresswoman Debbie Lesko (AZ-08) sent a letter to Attorney General William Barr, requesting he appoint a Special Counsel to investigate Hunter Biden.

“As we’ve recently learned, the U.S. Attorney for the District of Delaware has been investigating Hunter Biden’s taxes. This is just the latest in a string of investigations into Biden,” said Congresswoman Lesko. “It is imperative that a thorough and complete investigation be conducted, and the appointment of a Special Counsel is the only way to guarantee this occurs.”

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE

The State of Arizona and Mark Brnovich, Arizona Attorney General (collectively, the “State of Arizona”) respectfully move for leave to file a brief as amici curiae respecting the motions for leave to file a bill of complaint and for a preliminary injunction in this case. See Sup. Ct. R. 37.2(a). If granted leave, the State of Arizona’s brief will make two primary points.<sup>1</sup>

The State of Arizona will first argue that election integrity is of paramount importance. “Every voter” in a federal election “has a right under the Constitution to have his [or her] vote fairly counted, without its being distorted by fraudulently cast votes.” Anderson v. United States, 417 U.S. 211, 227 (1974). Given this paramount importance, the State of Arizona, through its Attorney General, vigilantly fights to ensure election integrity, including for the 2020 election. The Attorney General participated in eight different suits to defend from attack Arizona election laws that were enacted by its Legislature. Indeed, in just a few months, the State of Arizona and its Attorney General will appear before this Court in the critical case of Brnovich et al. v. Democratic National Committee et al., No. 19-1257, and urge the Court to adopt a construction of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act that not only follows the text of that statute but also recognizes that to ensure “fair and honest” elections marked by “order, rather than chaos,” “there must be a substantial regulation of elections.” Storer v. Brown, 415 U.S. 724, 730 (1974) (emphasis added); see also Smiley v. Holm, 285 U.S. 355, 366 (1932) (“[E]xperience shows” those “necessary” regulations include not just voting “procedure[s]” but also “safeguards” for the “prevention of fraud and corrupt practices.”).

The State will also argue that if this Court exercises jurisdiction over Texas’s complaint, it is equally important that the Court act quickly to give the Nation certainty. As a preliminary matter, it is the State of Arizona’s consistent position that this Court’s jurisdiction over actions between states is exclusive and non-discretionary. See Arizona v. California, 140 S. Ct. 684, 684-85 (2020) (Thomas, J., dissenting). The State recognizes, however, that the Court’s current jurisprudence is that its jurisdiction over such matters is discretionary. If the Court either revisits its prior holdings or exercises discretion to accept jurisdiction here, then it is critical the Court resolve this challenge quickly to give the Nation certainty.

CONCLUSION

The State respectfully request that the Court grant leave to file an amicus brief respecting Texas’s motions.

December 9, 2020

Respectfully submitted.

Brahm,
I am working on the EIU complaints. There were approximately 3,000 emails that came into that account between the inception of the EIU and December 11. Each email must first be reviewed (not every email was an actual complaint), categorized (so that we can create a spreadsheet categorizing the complaints for pending requests), and then properly redacted. This will take some time. We are diligently working on getting this completed as soon as practicable.

Thank you.

Let's go with this:

Mark Brnovich Arizona Attorney General

Mark Brnovich became Arizona's 26th Attorney General in January 2015. He was re-elected to a second term in November 2018.

He spent his early career as a prosecutor at the local, state, and federal levels, including serving as an Assistant United States Attorney prosecuting public integrity crimes and criminal activity occurring in Indian Country. He eventually left the U.S. Attorney's Office to serve as the Director of the Arizona Department of Gaming -- a law enforcement agency that works along with Tribal regulators to administer the gaming compacts.

As Attorney General, Mark most recently argued at the United States Supreme Court, to defend Arizona's election integrity laws, including its requirements for in-precinct voting and restrictions on ballot harvesting. His administration has also been actively battling human trafficking and supporting border security. Brnovich is now challenging the Biden Administration's violations of federal immigration laws and the crisis that has been created.

In addition, Brnovich has been instrumental in protecting the liberties of Arizonans and small businesses during the COVID pandemic, upholding religious freedoms, defending the Second Amendment, and securing record levels of restitution for consumers.

Mark's wife Susan, who he met while they were both prosecutors for Maricopa County, was recently appointed by President Trump to serve as a Federal Judge for the District of Arizona. Mark and Susan Brnovich live in Phoenix with their two teenage daughters.

Rachelle –

If you could give her a call when you have a moment to let her know we're working on the calendar and will get back to her, that would be good. One thing you might want to confirm with her is that it would be the AG as a keynote speaker...and that we'll try to get back to her in the next couple biz days.

Women of Arizona just held an event with Kelli Ward & Paul Gosar speaking on Election Integrity & what our elected officials from AZ are doing to protect our Founding Principles ( in other words to stop Socialist Democrats takeover!)

Many people we hear from are disgusted with our politics & government & walking away entirely along with their checkbooks!! Others are finding a new urgency in their desire to get involved & join the fight for our country. They need leadership & some assurance that are elected officials are committed to the right cause.

A logical extension of what we explored with Gosar/Ward would be the viewpoint of AG Brnovich. We had originally contacted Treasurer Yee to speak but feel the AG's view would be a higher priority now.

I have three dates to propose: (Hopefully one will be available.)

Mon., April 26

Min., April 19

Thurs., April 22

Friday., April 23

Besides Kimberly Yee, we have heard from Steve Chucris's office that he would be available. I have to commit to venue & speaker pretty soon.

Thank you,

Attorney General Brnovich Defends Arizona Election Integrity Measures at U.S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Attorney General Mark Brnovich argued to protect Arizona's commonsense election integrity laws before the Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS) on Tuesday morning. The Attorney General's Office (AGO) is asking the High Court to uphold two Arizona laws that place restrictions on ballot harvesting and prohibit out-of-precinct voting. At the heart of the case is whether states can pass laws to protect the integrity of elections.

"There is no more sacred duty for a public servant than preserving both the people's right to vote and their confidence in the election process," said Attorney General Mark Brnovich. "Arizona's ballot box safeguards are shared by many states, were recommended by a bipartisan commission, and are constitutional because they equally protect us all."

The Democratic National Committee (DNC) has been challenging Arizona's restrictions on out-of-precinct voting and ballot harvesting since 2016.

Since the 1970s, Arizona has required voters who vote in-person to cast ballots at their assigned precinct, where voter rolls can be easily accessed and confirmed. This rational measure ensures order in our elections, minimizes lines, and prevents anyone from being disenfranchised in local races. Today, the majority of states require people to vote at their assigned precinct.

Arizona also restricts the collection and delivery of ballots by third-parties or political operatives, commonly known as ballot harvesting. The Arizona Legislature passed the law in 2016, with exceptions for family, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials. In 2015, the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be city officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots. Civil Rights leaders had also raised concerns about elderly and vulnerable communities being targeted by ballot harvesting activists. In December 2020, the AGO indicted two individuals from Yuma County for allegedly engaging in ballot harvesting.

And in 2005, the bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform, chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker (Carter-Baker Commission), recognized that "absentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud." The Carter-Baker Commission recommended that states prohibit third-parties from handling absentee ballots, except for family members, the post office, or election officials (the same exceptions included in the Arizona law).

The DNC claims Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and the ballot harvesting restriction was also enacted with discriminatory intent. Attorney General Brnovich argued Tuesday morning that Arizona's laws were proper under the Voting Rights Act and U.S. Constitution, something even the Biden Justice Department acknowledged in a recent SCOTUS filing.

SCOTUS is expected to make a decision by this Summer.

A transcript of Attorney General Brnovich's opening and closing statements can be viewed here.

BACKGROUND:

In 2016, the DNC challenged Arizona's laws restricting ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting. A federal district court judge ruled in Arizona's favor and upheld the laws.

The case was then appealed to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, where the laws were again upheld. The DNC then appealed to a larger group of Ninth Circuit Court judges, who struck down the laws, a mere four days before the 2016 General Election. AG Brnovich immediately appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, and the very next day the High Court overruled the Ninth Circuit, reinstating Arizona's ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct laws, pending a full hearing of the merits in the lower court.

In late 2018, a federal district court judge once again upheld Arizona's laws after a 10-day trial. DNC attorneys appealed the case to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit, who again upheld Arizona's election integrity laws. Once again, the DNC appealed the case to a larger group of Ninth Circuit judges, and in early 2020 the court reversed itself and struck down the laws just as ballots for the Democratic Presidential Preference Election were beginning to be mailed out. AG Brnovich immediately filed for a stay of the decision, and the Ninth Circuit granted the request, leaving Arizona's laws on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting intact.

In April 2020, General Brnovich asked SCOTUS to rule on Arizona's laws being challenged.

In October 2020, SCOTUS agreed to hear Arizona's case, which has garnered an outpouring of support from local and national leaders seeking to maintain the integrity of elections in Arizona and across the country.

Media Advisory:

Attorney General Brnovich to Argue before U.S. Supreme Court in Defense of Arizona Election Integrity Laws

Who: Attorney General Mark Brnovich will argue before the Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS) tomorrow representing the State of Arizona on behalf of two of Arizona's commonsense election integrity laws.

What: General Brnovich is asking the High Court to uphold Arizona's laws on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting. At the heart of the case is whether states like Arizona have the authority to enact commonsense election integrity laws such as the two being challenged.

Where: Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, oral arguments will be conducted telephonically. The public can monitor on C-SPAN live here.

When: Tuesday, March 2, 2021, at 8 AM (MST) / 10 AM (EST).

Press availability tomorrow after arguments conclude and interview requests can be directed to Katie Conner, Director of Media Relations at Katie.Conner@azag.gov or by calling (602) 339-5895.

CASE BACKGROUND:

In 2016, the Democratic National Committee (DNC) challenged Arizona's laws restricting ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting. A federal district court judge ruled in Arizona's favor and upheld the laws. The case was then appealed to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, where the laws were again upheld. The DNC then appealed to a larger group of Ninth Circuit Court judges, who struck down the laws, a mere four days before the 2016 General Election. AG Brnovich immediately appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, and the very next day the High Court overruled the Ninth Circuit, reinstating Arizona's ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct laws, pending a full hearing of the merits in the lower court.

In late 2018, a federal district court judge once again upheld Arizona's laws after a 10-day trial. DNC attorneys appealed the case to a 3-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit, who again upheld Arizona's laws. The DNC again appealed the case to a larger group of Ninth Circuit judges, and in early 2020 the court reversed itself and struck down the laws just as ballots for the Democratic Presidential Preference Election were beginning to be mailed out. AG Brnovich immediately filed for a stay of the decision, and the Ninth Circuit granted the request, leaving Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting intact for the 2020 election cycle.

In April 2020, General Brnovich asked SCOTUS to rule on Arizona's laws being challenged.

In October 2020, SCOTUS agreed to hear Arizona's case.

SCOTUS is expected to make a decision by this Summer.

ADDITIONAL BACKGROUND:

Since the 1970s, Arizona has required people to cast ballots at their assigned precinct, where voter rolls can be easily accessed and confirmed. Arizona also restricts the collection and delivery of ballots by third-parties or political operatives, commonly known as ballot harvesting. The Arizona Legislature passed the law in 2016, with exceptions for family, caregivers, mail carriers, and election officials.

In 2015, the City of Phoenix warned of reports of unauthorized individuals claiming to be City officials going door-to-door to collect early ballots.

In 2005, the bipartisan Commission on Federal Election Reform, chaired by former President Jimmy Carter and former Secretary of State James Baker, recognized that "absentee ballots remain the largest source of potential voter fraud." The Carter-Baker Commission recommended that states prohibit third-parties from handling absentee ballots, except for family members, the post office, or election officials.

The DNC claims Arizona's restrictions on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting violate Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and the ballot harvesting restriction was also enacted with discriminatory intent; however, even the Biden Justice Department disputed that claim in a recent SCOTUS filing.

Bethany and Rachelle -

This is the final response letter edited by the team and approved by Joe K. I know Rachelle has some of these that came directly to Mark's email. Not sure if we have others, but I'm not sure how to coordinate this with Jennifer since it will be coming from her.

Let me know if I need or can do anything.

Thanks,
Jason

PS – here's the sample email this responds to:

Attorney General Mark Brnovich,

I voted for you, and I expect you to DO SOMETHING FOR the PEOPLE! We know the AG Elections Integrity Unit received over 2,000 complaints early in Nov., right after the election, and a report was filed on fraudulent ballots flown into Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport and taken to Maricopa County Tabulation Center which was corroborated with affidavits, and video and audio evidence. Considering this, the thousands of complaints and affidavits, and the statistical data, what have you done about it, Mr. Brnovich? Have you even looked at the wild statistical data, sir? How do you explain it? We are ASKING YOU NICELY.

It's my understanding Jennifer Wright wanted to pursue an investigation and you shut it down. You've led the Legislature on a wild goose chase, bouncing them back and forth with the courts, debating on authority and enforcement of subpoenas JUST WASTING OUR PRECIOUS TIME. How convenient that we weren't able to get an audit before the safe harbor rule, and now the machines have been tampered with. WE ARE LIVID!

Not a phony audit like the last few, a forensic audit of the ballots using kinematic artifact technology, which can verify a minimum of 20 validation points on every ballot. This technology is presently utilized to identify counterfeit currency, bank notes, bonds, stocks, passports, etc. AUDITING VALUABLE THINGS, LIKE OUR VOTE! This is the real audit the Senate would ensure, BECAUSE TGE PEOPLE HAVE DEMANDED IT.

We left you alone mostly, but will not REST until our VOTES and ELECETIONS completely and competently handled! We're not good with a baloney audit like currently underway by the Board of Supervisors. WHY ARE THEY TOUCHING OUR VOTING MATERIAL!?

Please wake up. People understand what is going on. We know about the differences in audits, we know about HL8230 plane and Scott Koch, we know about the tampering with the machines, we know about the Board wasting our time and we know how to get your ass out of office! I am a friend of a Governor Jan Brewer and her son who worked as an atty in YOUR OFFICE so I take this personally.

Until we know our votes count, we are all just kind of willy nilly with no LAW & ORDER. That whole board should be DOING TIME. You are not to be trusted, Mr.AG. Your "Elections Integrity Unit" received $500K AND WE WANT OUR —ING MONEY BACK.

Not just "TAKING IT" anymore. This is our new job... BABYSITTING OUR ELECTED OFFICIALS.

I am working on preparing the voter spreadsheet. I have reviewed and categorized all of the election complaints received from the inception of EIU through November 3, 2020. I will be reviewing the post-election complaints later this week. Once I complete that review, I will be able to prepare the spreadsheet.

I just had a meeting with Todd Lawson on this PRR. This is the request where we had a meeting which resulted that the request could not be completed until a spreadsheet was created to keep better track of voter fraud cases. You were going to ask the requestor for a 6-8 month extension. Not sure what date of the meeting and therefore not sure if we already are at the 6-8 month extension date. Todd is setting up meetings for the spreadsheet but the information in this request is still not available. Todd wanted me to ask you if you communicated to the requestor to resubmit in 6-8 months if that means the request is closed and will reopen when the request is resubmitted or goes it stay open until we have the number of voter fraud cases they requested?

[TO STATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL, SECRETARIES OF STATE, STATE BOARDS OF ELECTION:]

Thank you for all your efforts to administer and to help protect elections during this time of political polarization and of the coronavirus pandemic.

We apologize for adding to your workloads with this request.

* If you are not the appropriate entity in your government's administration to provide responses to the below, please forward this request to the appropriate entity in your government's administration. ***

NBC News/MSNBC Vote Watch is contacting Offices of Attorneys General and Secretaries of State/state election administrators to gather direct information on the following questions:

1) What is accurate language to describe the prevalence of vote fraud involving U.S. election voting – and in absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting?

2) What is accurate language to describe the prevalence of vote disenfranchisement (intentional or accidental) involving U.S. election voting – and in U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting?

Determining answers to those questions must begin with the gathering of facts.

Towards that end, NBC News/MSNBC Vote Watch requests that you reply to the questions above and below in the coming weeks.

Vote Fraud

3a) How many reports/complaints of vote fraud involving U.S. election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

3b) How many reports/complaints of vote fraud involving U.S. absentee ballot / vote-by-mail election voting has your state received from the beginning of 2016 through now?

Thanks Christina,

I am working on preparing the voter spreadsheet. I have reviewed and categorized all of the election complaints received from the inception of EIU through November 3, 2020. I will be reviewing the post-election complaints later this week. Once I complete that review, I will be able to prepare the spreadsheet.

I just had a meeting with Todd Lawson on this PRR. This is the request where we had a meeting which resulted that the request could not be completed until a spreadsheet was created to keep better track of voter fraud cases. You were going to ask the requestor for a 6-8 month extension. Not sure what date of the meeting and therefore not sure if we already are at the 6-8 month extension date. Todd is setting up meetings for the spreadsheet but the information in this request is still not available. Todd wanted me to ask you if you communicated to the requestor to resubmit in 6-8 months if that means the request is closed and will reopen when the request is resubmitted or goes it stay open until we have the number of voter fraud cases they requested?

This bill references our "voter fraud unit". Is that the language used in the session law creating the EIU? If so, if this bill moves forward, I think the language creating the voter fraud unit needs to be codified.

Brahm,

I am working on the EIU complaints. There were approximately 3,000 emails that came into that account between the inception of the EIU and December 11. Each email must first be reviewed (not every email was an actual complaint), categorized (so that we can create a spreadsheet categorizing the complaints for pending requests), and then properly redacted. This will take some time. We are diligently working on getting this completed as soon as practicable.

Thank you.

- 1) Is your Election Integrity Unit involved
- 2) If not, is any part of your office involved in the investigation?
- 3) and if either 1 or 2, what's the status?

On the morning of November 5, as the 2020 election hung in the balance, Arizona federal agents raided a two-story house in Fountain Hills, Maricopa County, a county that had become a key battleground in the presidential race. The agents were looking for evidence of a cyberattack on an unnamed organization and stolen voter data. They left with eight hard drives, three computers and a bag of USB sticks. The resident of the property, a 56-year-old IT expert named Elliot Kerwin, was served the warrant. He is not yet facing charges and was unreachable for comment at the time of publication. There is no indication that anything other than voters' information, which can be acquired for a few hundred dollars in Arizona counties, was taken from the affected office.

Good morning,

This reporter is asking about a search warrant served at a Fountain Hills home in November for alleged stolen voter information. The AZ Central article I read said the FBI was handling. I was going to send the reporter over there but wanted to make sure we weren't involved. Thank you!

- 1) Is your Election Integrity Unit involved
- 2) If not, is any part of your office involved in the investigation?
- 3) and if either 1 or 2, what's the status?

On the morning of November 5, as the 2020 election hung in the balance, Arizona federal agents raided a two-story house in Fountain Hills, Maricopa County, a county that had become a key battleground in the presidential race. The agents were looking for evidence of a cyberattack on an unnamed organization and stolen voter data. They left with eight hard drives, three computers and a bag of USB sticks. The resident of the property, a 56-year-old IT expert named Elliot Kerwin, was served the warrant. He is not yet facing charges and was unreachable for comment at the time of publication. There is no indication that anything other than voters' information, which can be acquired for a few hundred dollars in Arizona counties, was taken from the affected office.

Good morning Griselda,
I hope you are doing well!
I apologize but we can't comment any further on the ballot harvesting case than the press release at this time.

I can check to see if we have anything else brewing this week or upcoming plans for the New Year. We might put out a press release about those annoying third-party robocalls trying to sell people an extended car warranty. If this interests you, just let me know!

Good morning Katie,

I hope you had a wonderful Christmas. I'm reaching out to see if Mr. Brnovich is available for a phone or Zoom (preferred) interview on this today. We could also take this time to discuss any plans or things that his office has coming up for the new year.

Please let me know if we can make this happen today.

Thank you!

Two Individuals Accused of Ballot Harvesting in Yuma County

YUMA - Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced that a State Grand Jury indicted Guillermina Fuentes and Alma Juarez, both of San Luis, Arizona, for 1 count each of Ballot Abuse, also known as "ballot harvesting."

The indictment alleges that during the August 2020 Primary Election, Fuentes and Juarez knowingly collected four voted ballots from another person, in violation of Arizona law. The early ballots were deposited into a ballot box on Election Day, and were processed and counted by the Yuma County Recorder during the election. Arizona law only provides for a family member, household member, or caregiver of the voter to collect voted or unvoted early ballots from another person.

Ballot abuse under Arizona law is a class 6 felony and each defendant faces up to two years in prison and a $150,000 fine.

This investigation was conducted by the Arizona Attorney General's Office Special Investigations Section, Election Integrity Unit, Special Agent Bill Knuth.

Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson is prosecuting this case.

All defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

No booking photographs are available.

Hello--

I'm a reporter with the Washington Post. I was referred over to this division of the Arizona AG's office by the Arizona Secretary of State's Office. I hoping you can help answer a question for me -- or refer me to the right place to get this question answered.

We are aware that in any election, authorities investigate reports of people voting twice, or people casting votes in the names of people are deceased. When there is indication that law have been violated, prosecutors sometimes file suit. We are trying to get a better handle on what known instances of fraud are believed to have taken place this year? Not necessarily widespread fraud that would have affected the outcome, but individual specific cases of possible fraud that have been charged or are under investigation?

What can you tell me about investigations under way currently in Arizona? How many votes or voters are being investigated, what are the allegations in those cases? Have any charges so far been filed related to voting in the November 2020 election?

I'd be happy to discuss this further -- I'm at (202) 494-4860.

Thank you so much for your assistance!

Rosalind Helderman

Hi Ron,
Regarding your first question, we cannot confirm or deny the existence of an investigation.

For your second question regarding money appropriated for investigating voter fraud, I'm copying our Public Records Department because I think you are looking for more of a specific breakdown.

I wanted to make sure you saw this link for our Election Integrity Unit (EIU): <https://www.azag.gov/criminal/eiu>
EIU was created in the FY2020 budget and is funded with an annual appropriation of $530,000. There are currently four members on EIU (senior criminal prosecutor, senior civil attorney, special agent, and administrative employee). In the tabs at the bottom of the webpage, you will find a lot of information on what the EIU has worked on and, when appropriate, the final disposition. If this is the information you're looking for just let me know and I'll inform our Public Records Department to disregard.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
Thank you,
Katie

Katie:

I'm following up on our text messages earlier today.

I wanted to know what, if anything, the AGO intends to do regarding the people who sent what they intended as the electoral votes for the state of Arizona to the National Archives in Washington. This group, who were not the elected electors, used the seal of Arizona in their submission, and Melanie Hunsaker, the notary who vouched for the various would-be electors, stamped the submission for her husband as well. It's my understanding that this could run afoul of state laws regarding unauthorized use of the state seal and of statutes regarding notarizing documents for family members.

As a separate request, I would like a breakdown of how the AGO used the money appropriated to it to investigate election fraud in Arizona. This should include, but not be limited to, any and all people hired using these funds, an inventory of the cases opened for investigation with some sense of how these matters were ultimately disposed.

For your information, my article on the fake electors is linked below:

Brnovich at arm's length in election suit

By: Howard Fischer, Capitol Media Services December 10, 2020

Arizona is seeking a voice in the lawsuit Texas has brought against some other states won by President-elect Joe Biden. But exactly who Attorney General Mark Brnovich will side with remains unclear. In legal papers filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, Brnovich said he wants to file a brief to argue the importance of "election integrity." And he said he wants a quick decision in the case.

What's telling, though, is that Brnovich is not joining with 17 other Republican attorneys general who filed their own brief with the Supreme Court siding with Texas. That asks the justices to back Texas in its bid to block a final vote by the Electoral College while the court considers allegations that illegal changes in laws in Pennsylvania, Georgia, Michigan and Wisconsin created the opportunity for fraud. Instead, Brnovich aide Ryan Anderson said his boss wants to ensure that any ruling from the U.S. Supreme Court about laws and rules that govern election laws – in this case, in particular, about the presidential race – do not undermine Arizona's own regulations. And Anderson said as far as his boss is concerned, Arizona does elections right, which is why it wasn't sued by Texas as were the four other states where, like Arizona, Biden won the popular vote. "Had Arizona been sued, that would have put our office in a situation where we would have had to decide what we would have filed and what we would have done," Anderson said. That would have put Brnovich in the position of having to defend not only the state but the election – and Biden's win – against Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton.

Mark Brnovich

And Anderson left no question about what Brnovich thinks of how Arizona conducted the election. "The Arizona attorney general will not be advocating to overturn the election results in Arizona," he said.

Anderson said Brnovich does share one sentiment with his Texas counterpart.

"We all agree that the integrity of our elections are important," he said. "And there are too many Americans who do not trust the outcome of the election."

But Anderson said that Arizona's interest in the legal fight is different than that of the other Republican attorneys general.

The lawsuit filed by Paxton charges that changes made this year to election procedures in the four battleground states, many due to the impact of the pandemic, are illegal.

In essence, he said that the changes, some enacted by courts, weakened ballot-integrity statutes. And that, in turn, has created the opportunity for fraud, though he does not allege any actual instances where that has occurred.

Courts in each of those states have dismissed similar claims. But Paxton is arguing that it is the responsibility of the nation's highest court to intercede and declare that the procedures used in those four states were illegal and therefore the results should not be allowed to stand.

Anderson said it is noteworthy that Texas did not sue Arizona despite the fact that the election returns, which remain standing after several legal challenges, are awarding the state's 11 electoral votes to Biden.

He said some of that is due to the fact that Brnovich has fought off various efforts to allow last-minute changes in election laws, ranging from how county election officials have to handle unsigned early ballots to extending the deadline for people registering to vote.

Anderson said it's not clear the Supreme Court will even consider the Texas petition. But he said if the justices take it up, Brnovich wants to be sure that any ruling they issue respects the interests of Arizona.

Those interests, he said, is that the justices recognize and affirm that it is the legislature that has prime say over how elections are conducted and not courts or even officials of the executive branch. That's crucial because Arizona already has some of the laws that the Texas lawsuit says are lacking or were ignored elsewhere.

For example, Paxton complained that some states do not require that signatures on envelopes with early ballots be compared with records on file. Arizona requires matching of all envelopes received.

He also said that some states “flooded their citizenry with tens of millions of ballot applications and ballots,” ignoring normal controls. Arizona, by contrast, sends early ballots only to those who request them, whether on an election-by-election basis or by signing up on the permanent early voting list. Brnovich is not the only Arizona elected official weighing in at the Supreme Court.

Ten state representatives and three senators, all Republicans, joined with counterparts from Alaska and Idaho on Thursday filed their own brief in support of Texas.

“An elite group of sitting Democrat officers in each of the defendant states coordinated with the Democrat party to illegally and unconstitutionally change the rules established by the legislature in the defendant states, thereby depriving the people of their states a free and fair election — the very basis of a republican form of government,” they charged through their attorneys.

The representatives are Nancy Barto, Frank Carroll, John Fillmore, Mark Finchem, Travis Grantham, Anthony Kern, David Livingston, Steve Pierce, Bret Roberts and Kelly Townsend. The senators are Sylvia Allen, Sonny Borrelli and David Gowan.

Attorney General Mark Brnovich Receives Outpouring of Support in Election Integrity Case at U.S. Supreme Court

AGO is defending Arizona's measures restricting ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting

WASHINGTON, D.C. – With a little over a month before the U.S. Supreme Court (SCOTUS) hears arguments in Brnovich v. DNC, Attorney General Mark Brnovich has once again received an outpouring of support from local and national leaders in his defense of Arizona's commonsense election integrity measures regarding ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting.

"States must maintain the authority to enact and enforce commonsense election integrity measures to ensure the public's trust," said Attorney General Brnovich. "I appreciate the widespread support from leaders across the country who recognize that state legislatures have the responsibility to set election policy, not the courts."

In October 2020, SCOTUS announced it will review Brnovich v. DNC. The Attorney General's Office (AGO) is asking SCOTUS to bring clarity after the Ninth Circuit bizarrely struck down Arizona's measures on ballot harvesting and out-of-precinct voting after previously upholding.

The AGO obtained a stay of the Ninth Circuit's decision in February 2020, leaving Arizona's laws intact for the 2020 election cycle. With similar laws enacted in several other states, this case presents an opportunity to establish a clear rule of law for the country, and the Supreme Court can and should bring clarity to these important matters that are vital to state elections.

Oral argument is expected in late January or early February 2021.

Below are the seventeen amicus briefs filed in support of the AGO:

- 11 United States Senators led by Texas Senator Ted Cruz
- 17 State Attorneys General led by Ohio AG Dave Yost

Hey Rachelle!

I was under the impression that most (all) of the sharpie PRRs were retracted by the requestors as moot. Can you let me know which PRRs are open related to sharpies? I apologize, that is certainly still at the lower of my priority list as I am still dealing with lots of election-related issues.

Could we have ISS make a search folder with all emails to the EIU inbox that say "sharpie" or "ballpoint". Alternatively, if we can have a search folder created that has all emails to the EIU inbox, I can use that both for my general search folder, and also make my own searches and copy those emails relative to this request into a separate folder.

Notably, the two words specified in the request were not the only words used by complainants to describe "sharpie" related problems. For example, people sometimes used "felt" pens or "markers". I don't know if we want to include more than he is requesting, but limiting to "sharpie" and "ballpoint" will be under representative of the complaints we received.

Finally, in disclosing these ostensibly public documents, to what extent is redaction necessary, especially when being forwarded to a federal legislator? If redaction is necessary, I expect the number to exceed 1000 emails, so I will need help in redacting these documents. I think to the extent we can use an e-discovery tool, that might be helpful.

Thanks!

Jen

Good morning Katie,

Thank you for getting this information to me so quickly. I have a few more questions... just to make sure I am understanding this correctly.

Is the AG's office investigating any of the complaints? When you say there is an attorney from the AG's office at the post-election equipment testing... can you please explain what the attorney is doing/why he or she is there? Is it routine?

Hi Alexis,
Ensuring the integrity of our elections remains a top priority for General Brnovich. Our Election Integrity Unit (EIU) receives, reviews, and investigates complaints as appropriate. Regarding the Dominion software specifically, we have received over 150 complaints. The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors exercises authority over election software and systems used in Maricopa County and is the appropriate governmental body to perform audits.

Our office will continue to vigilantly monitor the election certification process, and today, we have one of our attorneys at the post-election equipment testing.

I hope this helps.
Thank you,
Katie

Dear _____:

Thank you for reaching out to the Arizona Attorney General's Office. We share your concerns for maintaining the integrity of our elections. Here in Arizona, we have a majority of voters that regularly cast their ballots by mail and in 2020 alone, our office filed five lawsuits to defend our state's common sense election safeguards when other public officials refused to do so. The next case will be litigated this spring when we will be defending Arizona's ballot harvesting laws at the United States Supreme Court in Brnovich vs. DNC.

We remain dedicated to ensuring the reliability of our voting system in Arizona and believe that other states must do the same for themselves.

Thanks again for sharing your thoughts with the Arizona Attorney General's Office and for your commitment to election integrity.

Dear Rep. Townsend:

Thank you for the opportunity to clarify our conversation. The Elections Integrity Unit has received over 2,000 complaints related to the November 2020 election, and we are actively reviewing every credible allegation. Regarding civil violations of title 16, the legislature has not provided the Attorney General with civil subpoena power under title 16, except as it relates to campaign finance investigations. See A.R.S. 16-938(E)(1).

Please note that election equipment and software is under the control of the county boards of supervisors, who may audit or review equipment as part of their responsibilities.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Wright

Thank you for your reply. If I itemize the allegations in the hearing, will you be able to tell me if they are being investigated? I understood our phone call conversation the other night that you had nothing that rose to the threshold of needing an investigation and that you did not have subpoena power. Can you clarify?

Thanks,

Dear Rep. Townsend:

Thank you for your communication of December 1, 2020. As you may be aware, many of the allegations raised at Monday's public hearing are being litigated in court. We will continue to monitor those proceedings.

Our office has received thousands of election-related complaints, and we are actively reviewing them. We encourage anyone with concrete evidence of voter fraud to file a complaint with our office. At this time, we have several active investigations.

If there are concerns regarding election procedures, they need to be directed to election officials, county boards of supervisors, and/or to state policymakers.

Best regards,

Jennifer Wright

Colleagues,

In light of the hours of testimony that we received yesterday in a public hearing regarding election fraud, I hereby request that you investigate each claim made. Understanding that this was an unusual method of delivery (barring the ability to have a formal hearing) I request that you accept it as a sufficient method to give initial testimony in the first effort to find action / relief.

Under Article 2, Section 1 of the US Constitution, it is our duty to select electors for the Presidential election, and I am not confident that fraud did not exist in the 2020 general election. Please receive this video as initial evidence, and an itemized list of the contents will be forthcoming, however I wanted you to have it in the interest of time.

Good Morning Ryan and Katie – I hope you both are well!

I'm reaching out to see if AG Brnovich may be available to join Erin Burnett tonight in the 5PM MT/7PM ET hour to discuss election integrity in the 2020 race and any claims of fraud?

I know he has an incredibly busy schedule, but please let me know if you see any opportunity and we can work on logistics for him to join us via cisco/skype or via a local studio.

Thanks so much.

Hi Alexis,

Ensuring the integrity of our elections remains a top priority for General Brnovich. Our Election Integrity Unit (EIU) receives, reviews, and investigates complaints as appropriate. Regarding the Dominion software specifically, we have received over 150 complaints. The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors exercises authority over election software and systems used in Maricopa County and is the appropriate governmental body to perform audits.

Our office will continue to vigilantly monitor the election certification process, and today, we have one of our attorneys at the post-election equipment testing.

I hope this helps.

Thank you,
Katie

Good afternoon Katie,

I am wondering if the AG's office has received any complaints/requests to look into Maricopa County's use of Dominion Voting Systems. If so, how many complaints and is the AG's office looking into the complaints or investigating the use of the system?

Thank you in advance for your time.

Sincerely,

November 2020

The ongoing pandemic and election cycle continue to test our perseverance, patience, and civility. Nevertheless, as we approach Thanksgiving, let us be reminded that we still have much to be grateful for.

As your Attorney General, I am committed to upholding the rule of law because that, in itself, can be the difference between freedom and suppression. We continue to investigate complaints filed by voters related to this election cycle. As a law enforcement agency, we are guided by facts and evidence. If you have evidence of fraud committed against your voting record, report it to our Election Integrity Unit. Below are updates on our team's ongoing actions to ensure that the rights of Arizona voters are respected and the integrity of our election is protected.

Also in this edition, you'll find information on the unprecedented settlement we reached with Honda to make Arizona roads safer. In the wake of a deadly airbag recall, our settlement provides consumers with monetary incentives and restitution -- proving that while Arizona is always late to fall weather, our office shows up early to protect consumers.

It's true that we must contend with holiday scams each year, and if you or anyone that you know is victimized, please file a report with our office. Looking out for ourselves and each other, we will make it into the New Year.

I hope you enjoy this update and I wish peace and justice unto all.

AZAG NOVEMBER UPDATE:

Attorney General's 2020 Annual Report

Each year, our office releases an annual report highlighting our accomplishments and high profile cases across our seven divisions. Find out more about what we accomplished for Arizona in Fiscal Year 2020.

$5M Airbag Settlement with Honda Provides Recall Incentives & Restitution for Consumers

Approximately 40,000 Arizonans are eligible for restitution and/or repair incentive gift cards due to a settlement between the Attorney General's Office (AGO) and Honda regarding defective Takata airbags, which have killed at least 15 people -- including two in Arizona. Consumers with these dangerous airbags need to get their vehicles repaired immediately.

AG Brnovich Secures $71M in Ticketmaster Refunds for Events Impacted by COVID-19

The AGO secured $71 million in refunds for consumers who bought tickets to Arizona events that were cancelled, rescheduled, or postponed due to COVID-19. Ticketholders who purchased tickets prior to March 14, 2020, and who have not received an email from Ticketmaster offering a refund, are encouraged to file a consumer complaint with our office.

AGO Fights to Protect Victims' Rights

Attorney General Mark Brnovich is dedicated to a system of justice that remembers, respects, and protects victims of all crime. The AGO filed an amicus brief in a murder case under review at the Arizona Supreme Court. The brief argues that crime victims have a constitutional right to keep their personal information, such as medical records, private from defendants under the Victim's Bill of Rights.

Attorney General's Office and Glendale Police Department Return Stolen Ballots

A worker located a stack of unopened mail-in ballots hidden under a rock in Glendale. According to investigators, the ballots were stolen from individual mailboxes and discarded near 107th and Northern avenues. Agents from the AGO and Glendale Police Department immediately hand-delivered the sealed envelopes back to the registered voters to inform them of what happened to their missing ballots and ensure they could vote in the November election.

November 2020

The ongoing pandemic and election cycle continue to test our perseverance, patience, and civility. Nevertheless, as we approach Thanksgiving, let us be reminded that we still have much to be grateful for.

As your Attorney General, I am committed to upholding the rule of law because that, in itself, can be the difference between freedom and suppression. We continue to investigate complaints filed by voters related to this election cycle. As a law enforcement agency, we are guided by facts and evidence. If you have evidence of fraud committed against your voting record, report it to our Election Integrity Unit. Below are updates on our team's ongoing actions to ensure that the rights of Arizona voters are respected and the integrity of our election is protected.

Also in this edition, you'll find information on the unprecedented settlement we reached with Honda to make Arizona roads safer. In the wake of a deadly airbag recall, our settlement provides consumers with monetary incentives and restitution -- proving that while Arizona is always late to fall weather, our office shows up early to protect consumers.

It's true that we must contend with holiday scams each year, and if you or anyone that you know is victimized, please file a report with our office. Looking out for ourselves and each other, we will make it into the New Year.

I hope you enjoy this update and I wish peace and justice unto all.

AZAG NOVEMBER UPDATE:

Phoenix Petition Signature Gathering Company Faces Criminal Charges for Alleged Illegal Payments to Prop 208 Initiative Circulators

PHOENIX – Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced today that AZ Petition Partners LLC, an Arizona Limited Liability Company doing business as “Petition Partners,” has been charged with fifty (50) misdemeanor counts in connection with alleged payments under illegal bonus programs purportedly paid to contracted petition circulators gathering signatures for the Invest in Education ballot initiative (Prop 208).

The charging document filed on October 29, 2020, lists fifty (50) instances where bonuses were allegedly paid to individual signature gatherers through the “Duel for the Dollars” and “Weekend Warriors” bonus programs in June 2020 organized by Petition Partners through the company’s manager, Andrew D. Chavez.

Last month the Arizona Supreme Court issued an opinion upholding relevant portions of a July case in Maricopa County Superior Court (Molera v. Hobbs) related to the illegal payments to signature gatherers. As a part of the July proceeding, the Maricopa County Superior Court found that the payments made under the two programs violated a 2017 law which prohibited payment to circulators “based on the number of signatures collected on a statewide initiative or referendum petition.” The law (A.R.S. 19-118.01) not only invalidates the signatures collected by the circulators who received illegal payments, but also makes the payments a misdemeanor. Specifically, the law states:

A person shall not pay or receive money or any other thing of value based on the number of signatures collected on a statewide initiative or referendum petition. Signatures that are obtained by a paid circulator who violates this section are void and shall not be counted in determining the legal sufficiency of the petition. Paying or receiving compensation in violation of this restriction is punishable as a class one misdemeanor.

Each of the fifty (50) misdemeanor charge carries a potential fine of up to $20,000.00 for Petition Partners, if convicted.

The case is being prosecuted by Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson with the Election Integrity Unit (EIU) of the Arizona Attorney General's Office.

The case was investigated by Special Agent Annalisa Madsen.

Attached is a copy of the charging document.

Hey John,
No it won't -- the AZ Supreme Court already addressed that issue in its opinion -- page 12.
https://mcusercontent.com/cc1fad182b6d6f8b1e352e206/files/bb15298b-7a81-4dc2-b680-7593acbe557a/2020\_cv\_20\_0213\_ap\_el\_0.pdf

"The superior court rejected Challengers' arguments that Petition Partners' hourly rate structure and the "spin-the-wheel" program violated § 19-118.01(A), which prohibits paying circulators "based on the number of signatures collected." It agreed with Challengers that four other incentive programs violated § 19-118.01(A). But after approximating the number of disqualified signatures, the court concluded that more than 300,000 valid signatures remained, which was "well in excess of the legal requirement."

Please let me know if you have any other questions.
Thank you,
Katie

Attorney General's Office and Glendale Police Department Return Stolen Ballots

GLENDALE – The Attorney General's Office (AGO) and the Glendale Police Department (Glendale PD) worked together to deliver more than a dozen stolen ballots back to Glendale residents this weekend.

On Friday afternoon, a worker located a stack of unopened mail-in ballots hidden under a rock located off 99th and Glendale avenues. The individual contacted the Glendale Police Department and responding officers located 18 ballots on the side of the road. According to investigators, the ballots were stolen from individual mailboxes in a neighborhood just south of 107th and Northern avenues (in between Vista Avenue and Kaler Drive). The envelopes were still sealed.

On Saturday, AGO agents and Glendale PD hand-delivered the ballots back to the registered voters. It is possible there are additional victims. The motive for stealing the ballots is presently unknown. At this time, the investigation is still ongoing and no arrests have been made.

Anyone with information regarding this specific incident in Glendale is encouraged to submit tips to the Attorney General's Election Integrity Unit online or by emailing EIU@azag.gov.

Arizona voters are encouraged to check the status of their ballots at the Secretary of State's website.

In October, the AGO sent a letter to law enforcement agencies across the state to offer assistance from the Election Integrity Unit (EIU) with any issues on Election Day. The EIU has created a statewide hotline for law enforcement agencies to call if they receive any criminal reports related to election or voting matters.

The AGO would like to remind the public that if an election-related crime is in progress or a situation is escalating, they should immediately contact their local police department.

Attorney General's Office and Glendale Police Department Return Stolen Ballots

GLENDALE – The Attorney General’s Office (AGO) and the Glendale Police Department (Glendale PD) worked together to deliver more than a dozen stolen ballots back to Glendale residents this weekend.

On Friday afternoon, a worker located a stack of unopened mail-in ballots hidden under a rock located off 99th and Glendale avenues. The individual contacted the Glendale Police Department and responding officers located 18 ballots on the side of the road. According to investigators, the ballots were stolen from individual mailboxes in a neighborhood just south of 107th and Northern avenues (in between Vista Avenue and Kaler Drive). The envelopes were still sealed.

On Saturday, AGO agents and Glendale PD hand-delivered the ballots back to the registered voters. It is possible there are additional victims. The motive for stealing the ballots is presently unknown. At this time, the investigation is still ongoing and no arrests have been made.

Anyone with information regarding this specific incident in Glendale is encouraged to submit tips to the Attorney General’s Election Integrity Unit online or by emailing EIU@azag.gov.

Arizona voters are encouraged to check the status of their ballots at the Secretary of State’s website.

In October, the AGO sent a letter to law enforcement agencies across the state to offer assistance from the Election Integrity Unit (EIU) with any issues on Election Day. The EIU has created a statewide hotline for law enforcement agencies to call if they receive any criminal reports related to election or voting matters.

The AGO would like to remind the public that if an election-related crime is in progress or a situation is escalating, they should immediately contact their local police department.

Attorney General's Office and Glendale Police Department Return Stolen Ballots

GLENDALE – The Attorney General's Office (AGO) and the Glendale Police Department (Glendale PD) worked together to deliver more than a dozen stolen ballots back to Glendale residents this weekend. The investigation is ongoing.

On Friday afternoon, a worker located a stack of unopened mail-in ballots hidden under a rock located off 99th and Glendale avenues. The individual contacted the Glendale Police Department and responding officers located 18 ballots on the side of the road. According to investigators, the ballots were stolen from individual mailboxes in a neighborhood just south of 107th and Northern avenues (in between Vista Avenue and Kaler Drive). The envelopes were still sealed.

On Saturday, AGO agents and Glendale PD hand-delivered the ballots back to the registered voters. It is possible there are additional victims. The motive for stealing the ballots is presently unknown. At this time, no arrests have been made.

Anyone with information regarding this specific incident in Glendale is encouraged to submit tips to the Attorney General's Election Integrity Unit online or by emailing EIU@azag.gov.

Arizona voters are encouraged to check the status of their ballots the Secretary of State's website.

In October, the AGO sent a letter to law enforcement agencies across the state to offer assistance from the Election Integrity Unit (EIU) with any issues on Election Day. The EIU has created a statewide hotline for law enforcement agencies to call if they receive any criminal reports related to election or voting matters.

The AGO would like to remind the public that if an election-related crime is in progress or a situation is escalating, they should immediately contact their local police department.

Both have jurisdiction but depends on the matter/what occurred. Our office is authorized under ARS 16-1021 to enforce certain violations of Arizona's election laws. We just prosecuted Brad Luebke for 75-foot-limit violation.

Well, let's start with these....

this was sent to every police chief in the state: https://www.azag.gov/sites/default/files/2020-10/AZAG Election Resources LEO 10-20-20 Redacted.pdf

And last week we issued this release: <https://www.azag.gov/press-release/goodyear-man-receives-probation-and-fine-disrupting-polling-place-2018>

As for the broader topic, let's discuss further today. We've got dozens of open investigations in our election integrity unit, including some recent actions / results that are "enfranchisement" related.

hi.

i know that AGs in some states have put out warnings or advisories about so-called "poll watchers," unofficial folks hanging around outside in a possibly intimidating fashion.

and we've seen a history in arizona of a lot of heavily armed folks walking around at certain events (like protests at the capitol to reopen businesses).

so what advice or other suggestions, cautions or whatever has brno put out or intends to put out?

and, if nothing else, would he like to talk about the issue? i am doing a story friday about possible voter intimidation. in fact, i've already talked with the chief justice about the role of the courts in all this.

let me know.

thanks.

Goodyear Man Receives Probation and Fine for Disrupting Polling Place in 2018

GOODYEAR – Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced that Brad Luebke, age 39 of Goodyear, was convicted of videotaping inside a west valley polling place in 2018.

On Tuesday afternoon, Luebke pleaded guilty to a violation of the "seventy-five foot limit" statute, a Class 2 misdemeanor. On November 6, 2018, Luebke entered a polling place at Desert Springs Community Church in Goodyear with a holstered BB gun and a camera inside the 75-foot limit. Poll workers explained to Luebke that he needed to remove the items from the polling place in order to vote. Luebke refused, and when officers arrived, they found Luebke outside the church with a holstered BB gun and a camera - specifically a cellphone on a specialized mount with a microphone attached.

Luebke was sentenced by Justice of the Peace Anna Huberman to six months of probation and fined $400 -- plus the mandatory surcharge.

"As a first-generation American, I value the right to vote and believe every Arizonan should be able to make their voice heard without feeling intimidated," said Attorney General Mark Brnovich. "My office stands ready to assist local law enforcement agencies across the state if any issues arise on Election Day."

On Tuesday, the Arizona Attorney General's Office (AGO) sent a letter to law enforcement agencies across the state to offer assistance from the Election Integrity Unit (EIU) with any issues on Election Day.

The EIU established a statewide hotline that law enforcement agencies can call on Election Day if they receive any criminal activity reports relating to election or voting matters. AGO agents will be on standby to assist local officials telephonically in whatever way is needed.

In Arizona, there are laws that protect voters' rights to access polling places and authorize what conduct is and is not allowed inside and outside polling sites.

- ARS 16-515: Restrictions on activity within 75 feet of a polling location, a Class 2 Misdemeanor
- ARS 16-1004: Interference with election officers, a Class 5 Felony
- ARS 16-1005: Ballot fraud and abuse, including the harvesting of ballots, Class 4, 5, and 6 Felonies
- ARS 16-1006: Hindering or disrupting voting by force, threats, menaces, bribery or any corrupt means, a Class 5 Felony

The AGO would like to remind the public that if an election-related crime is in progress or a situation is escalating, they should immediately contact their local police department.

Assistant Attorney General Todd Lawson prosecuted the case against Luebke.

The case was investigated by Detective Jamie Cole of the Goodyear Police Department.
