Jeremy,

See attached invoice and supporting documentation from Coolidge Wall/Merle Wilberding in the amount of $1,374. Their services were valued at much higher.

To offset the expenses, Merle enclosed a personal check for $1,000 to cover all but the filing fees ($99 + $275). So generous! I have attached the LCNB deposit receipt.

Can you please issue payment using the attached remittance invoice?

Thank you,
Kristi

Hi All
You are receiving this email because I have you on a list of those who are interested in diversity training. I have just received information about another Diversity 101 training series offered by NCCJ this summer. Dates and details are included in the attached flyer. The cost is $100 for all four sessions or $30 for individual sessions. [Note: Unlike the training in April, this one will not be exclusively for Oakwood residents.] Thank you for all you do in our community and for considering this opportunity.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE
FOR COMMUNITY & JUSTICE

DIVERSITY 101 SERIES

The mission of NCCJ is to build a community dedicated to eliminating bias, bigotry and all forms of discrimination. To accomplish this NCCJ focuses on three strategic pillars to empower current and future leaders for community transformation:

Workplace Diversity and Inclusion

Youth Leadership Development

Community Advocacy and Action

NCCJ provides quality, interactive diversity, equity, and inclusion training opportunities for your workplace. These sessions can be delivered in a virtual format via Zoom, or in-person (If social distancing is possible). Through these interactive sessions, we encourage small group engagement, which helps workplaces to begin having difficult conversations and sets individuals up to continue the conversation beyond the training series as they return to work.

I am sharing the editorial in today's paper. Ray Marcano expresses exactly what we are trying to do with the OIC. I wonder if he could be involved in a future program? Or help us promote the OIC and what we are doing to the larger Dayton community?

Enjoy the rest of your weekend. It's a good day to relax, reflect, and/or read.

How important conversations start happening

Ray Marciano
interim Ideas &
Voices editor

I get a fair amount of emails, more than I thought I ever would, and I do my best to respond to all of them. Sometimes I succeed; sometimes I'm slow and on occasion, I let one slip through.

In all of those emails, I'm struck by this common thread – for the most part, these are people who want to engage in reasonable, rational debate. Of course, there are some angry nasty grams, and that's OK. Sometimes you just gotta empty the bag.

As much as I would like to share some of these emails, I won't because I see them as private conversations. But in each one, I have been encouraged that people want to debate, a departure from the anger and angst our discourse tends to take.

I consider myself a voter who doesn't want to see things move too far left or right, and has no party that truly represents my values. I am socially liberal (I believe in a woman's right to choose) and fiscally conservative (we need a federal balanced budget amendment).

As such, I see myself as being as far away from the "defund the police" far left and the "Trump won" far right. I've voted for Republicans and Democrats alike and focus more on ideas and positions instead of party.

Most of the people I hear from have a party identity, which is not surprising. About 34% of Americans identify as independent, 33% as Democrat, and 29% Republican, according to the Pew Research Center. I find that diversity of thought refreshing.

In exchanging Ideas on race, a couple of readers reminded me that nearly seven out of 10 Black people grow up in single-parent households. I at first didn't believe it because I figured the number can't be that high. It is, according to the Rochester Area Community Foundation.

And no, the context of the exchange was not, "See, they're doing it to themselves!" Instead, readers wondered whether the single-parent issue has surpassed systematic racism as the biggest threat to Black families. I haven't done enough research to even offer a hypothesis, but I didn't dismiss the notion out of hand.

We engaged.

I've had interesting debates on Juneteenth. Most of the conservatives I've heard from don't object to Juneteenth being a federal holiday; they object to it being called "Juneteenth Independence Day" because they think that somehow takes away from our July 4 Independence Day, which is just a few weeks later.

We've had back-and-forths on what might have been better, and several people – me included – thought "Juneteenth Emancipation Day" might have been a good alternative. I think so not because I'm worried about the confusion, but because I want Juneteenth to stand on its own. It doesn't matter the change in title won't happen.

We engaged.

Even on an issue as contentious as guns I've had terrific exchanges. I, for one, see no reason Americans need to own assault weapons. You can guess the retort – banning any weapon is a pretense to banning all. But while we have a constitution ingrained with the right to bear arms (I recently passed my CCW course), the Supreme Court has repeatedly ruled that no right is absolute, and an assault weapons ban was in effect until 2004. So outside of an unfounded fear of confiscation, what are we fighting over? Most of the people I engage with believe in common sense over the extremes (guns for all vs. guns for none).

We engaged.

Voting's another one. I've asked several people if they agree with this statement: "We need two things – strong voter ID laws and the expansion of voting so it's easier for the populace to participate." That's an easy yes.

What am I saying? There are extremes and we have to pay close attention to them. We might dismiss them as kooks, but Portland, Oregon; QAnon; and the Jan. 6 Capitol riot show how quickly things can go south.

But I'm beginning to hope there are far more reasonable people willing to engage. I'm not looking to change anyone's mind on any one subject; I'm just looking for a fair, factual exchange of views.

I did think that, given the yelling and screaming you get from some cable news shows and vitriol on social media, fair and factual was a pipe dream.

Then it occurred to me – you can't get ratings if people are reasonable and thoughtful, can you?

We can get that among ourselves. I'm hopeful that the emails I get are just a snapshot of a society that's overall more open and willing to have a discussion that, I think, most of us want to have. Without that conversation, we can't get better.

Let's engage.

Ray Marciano's column regularly appears on these pages. He can be reached at raymarcano1@gmail.com

thanks for sending this along. you've done a good job of capturing what i think are the majority of the issues that have been raised to date. i still find, however, some matters that require attention:

1. clearing up the liaison status of individuals from the city, the schools, and the library
2. voting privileges as restricted to oakwood residents or not
3. the matter of the annual report. it states here that it is to be made to the city council, the schools, and the library. i think it should only be made to the city council, and perhaps we should indicate that this is an amicus report, so to speak, since the OIC is not actually a subsidiary of the city and is not constituted as an organization by the city of oakwood.

you'll see my suggestions on "cleaning these matters up" in the attached set of suggestions. thanks norb.

The document includes acceptance of all the edits that were shown in the attachment to the May 18 email I sent you. It also includes changes to the Coalition Membership and Leadership Team sections consistent with discussion at our May 18 Leadership Team meeting.

thanks for sending this along. you've done a good job of capturing what i think are the majority of the issues that have been raised to date. i still find, however, some matters that require attention:

1. clearing up the liaison status of individuals from the city, the schools, and the library
2. voting privileges as restricted to oakwood residents or not
3. the matter of the annual report. it states here that it is to be made to the city council, the schools, and the library. i think it should only be made to the city council, and perhaps we should indicate that this is an amicus report, so to speak, since the OIC is not actually a subsidiary of the city and is not constituted as an organization by the city of oakwood.

you'll see my suggestions on "cleaning these matters up" in the attached set of suggestions. thanks norb.

OIC Leadership,

Please see the attached agenda and meeting minutes for May and June meetings.

Norb will be sending out the final version of the revised Establishing Document, which was reviewed by me, Judy, Norb, and Kyle this afternoon. The revisions incorporate questions Roger posed in his June 10th email, so it should be good to vote on at tomorrow's meeting.

Looking forward to seeing many of you in person tomorrow, but if you need to attend virtually, here's the link again:

Thanks for this, Norbert!

I know James, too, as he befriended my son, Kaes, when Kaes was a senior and James was only a freshman. James always asks about Kaes when Robb and I run into him on our frequent walks around town. In fact, I kind of consider him one of our "kids," as we all do of those in the friendship circles of our own kids. I was so happy to see this feature of James in the DDN. He's such a nice kid!

Attached is a nice article featuring Oakwood 2021 graduates James Fountain and Vivian Russell that was in the June 20 Dayton Daily News. I don't know Vivian... but do know James. I met him four or five years ago one day when I was walking around the Jr/Sr High and saw this kid wearing an Oakland Raiders T-shirt. At the time, I thought that Dave Requarth (some of you may know Dave... he is married to Nancy Jones. Nancy attended the Oakwood Citizen Police Academy last fall) and I were the only two true-blue Oakland Raiders fans in Oakwood. But, there was a third! 😊

Attached is the final draft of our first revision. I trust that it incorporates all that we need at this point... keeping in mind that we can always revisit things at a later date. The document incorporates all of the edits from Roger that were included with his June 10 email, except:

- The last sentence of paragraph 3 under VI. LEADERSHIP TEAM says that “The appointment of Leadership Team members shall be confirmed through a simple majority vote of the members present at the Annual Coalition Meeting.” This is a little different than what we had before, but keeps it simple, and we believe workable.
- It eliminates “One-third of the OIC membership shall constitute a quorum.” from the end of XI. COALITION MEETINGS. I don’t think this sentence is necessary, or means anything, given the current document language.
- It retains the language under XII. ANNUAL REPORT requiring that a public presentation about the work, programming, events and accomplishments of the OIC is given to the Oakwood City Council, the Oakwood School Board, and the Board of the Wright Memorial Public Library.

See you tomorrow.

All,

Please don't forget to complete the Doodle poll I sent out earlier this week, so we can get something on the books at Dayton Metro Library.

I'll send out a Doodle poll next week to get the next Leadership Team meeting scheduled, and also for the Communications Committee.

OIC Leadership,

It's clear that Saturday, August 14, is the best date for most of us for our docent tour of the Dayton Metro Exhibit. So far, 3:00 – 4:00 seems to be the best time for most. I'm going to try to reserve that date/time. Unfortunately, I will likely be unable to attend at that time, but I can get over to see the exhibit some other time that week.

I'll keep you posted,
Kristi

OIC Leadership,

Based on the poll results, we have scheduled the UnDesign the Redline Docent Tour for Saturday, August 14, at 3:00 – 4:00. Dayton Metro has also secured a meeting room from 4:00 – 5:30 for us, should we wish to have a meeting/discuss afterwards. I will donate the $20 fee for the tour.

Unfortunately, it is unlikely that I'm going to be able to attend at this time. Judy cannot make it either. Would someone on the team like to take the lead that day in my stead? I will make a point to see the exhibit that week on my own.

Leigh Ann – it was Victoria's suggestion to invite the Program and Events Committee to participate in this as well, in case it inspires some way for them to tie an event in for our membership. I'm in support of that idea. What do you think?

Kristi
