Your application for a medical cannabis patient registry identification card has been approved and your card is below. You should keep your patient registry identification card with you at all times.

The laws governing your use of this card can be found in South Dakota Codified Law Chapter 34-20G, and Article 44:90 of the Administrative Rules of South Dakota. Both may be accessed at <https://sdlegislature.gov>. It is your duty as a cardholder to be familiar with the rules and regulations pertaining to your use of the card and your responsibilities as a patient cardholder.

Because your application requested a certification for home cultivation, this letter serves as the second part of the two-part identification card described in ARSD 44:90:02:07. You must post this letter on the door of the enclosed, locked area where you plan to cultivate cannabis. Failure to comply with these instructions is a violation of the program regulations and of state law.

Your medical cannabis patient registry identification card will expire [REDACTED]. You may renew your card up to 45 days prior to the expiration date.

If you have any questions, please contact the South Dakota Medical Cannabis program at MCQuestions@state.sd.us.
