

Text Messages from Doug Logan to Karen Fann – January 3, 2022

“Not sure when / if the press will pickup on this for a bit; but FYI, I was unable to find a buyer for Cyber Ninjas. Too much negativity around the name. All employees of Cyber Ninjas were let go effective Jan 2nd (To be sure they got another month of health insurance since they were employed on the 1st). I'm trying to get another company setup to hopefully employ some of my former employees and lessen the impact to them, but I've been hitting all sorts of obstacles in doing so.

“I will be liquidating all of the Cyber Ninjas assets to pay as much of my debts as I can. With Jack withdrawing for lack of payment, I have no doubt I'll end up defaulting on the public records cases; but I have some patriots working on a solution to try and help stop that so we'll see.

“I have no doubt that telling you this probably isn't in my own best interest, but it's the right thing to do. I'm not naive enough to think for a second that the Senate has my back. The actions chosen through all of this speak quite a bit louder than the words; and make it clear the Senate has no intention of honoring what was committed to. The choice has been made to try what can legally be gotten away with rather than what is ethical or right.

“I've known this was the case for a long time. I saw the writing on the wall with the first, 'Our interest do not align' email from Kory. People think I'm just naive because I choose to act and assume the best of people; but I believe it's what Scripture calls me to do.

“I have no intention of throwing you or anyone else under the bus, but I expect the time has also come for me to stop completely covering for decisions I didn't make. I will follow my legal council on what that looks like.

“When we finally file for bankruptcy, which I am trying to wait as long as possible before doing; it will be up to the bankruptcy court to decide what to do with the money owed. I've been told we have a strong legal case, but I will continue to put the country first; like I have in all of my decisions with this. When it hits bankruptcy court, it will be out-of-my-control.”
