Dumais said the study found that marijuana use by young people “may consequently lead to reduced educational attainment, and, in adults, to poor work performance and dangerous driving. These consequences may be worse in regular and heavy users.” Dumais expressed particular concern about young people, saying “preventive and interventional measures to educate youths on cannabis use and discourage them from using the substance in a chronic manner should be considered.” CTV News (CAN) (1/20, Neustaeter) publishes a similar article.

Washington, DC Carjacking Spike Mirrors Nationwide Trend

The Washington Times (1/20, Zantow) reports, “Carjackings in the nation’s capital have tripled since 2019. Officials say the alarming trend – reflected in similarly stunning crime statistics from the Washington suburbs and cities across the country – is driven by youngsters.” Washington, DC “recorded 426 carjackings last year, up from 360 in 2020 and 142 in 2019, a Metropolitan Police Department spokesperson told The Washington Times on Thursday. ‘We have noticed that a large number of these crimes are committed by young teenagers,’ the spokesperson said, with a significant number of carjackings by 13- to 16-year-olds.” The spokesperson also “said 100 juveniles were arrested for carjacking offenses last year compared with 59 in 2020. The stolen vehicles ‘are often used to commit other crimes such as robberies and shootings,’ the spokesperson said.”

Policing and Policy

FBI Director: Texas Synagogue Incident "An Act Of Terrorism Targeting The Jewish Community"

The Hill (1/20) reports FBI Director Christopher Wray "said in a webinar Thursday that the hostage-taking at a Texas synagogue" over the weekend was "an act of terrorism targeting the Jewish community." The comment came during "a webinar hosted by the Anti-Defamation League as the FBI has faced backlash after the agent in charge of the bureau's Dallas field office said the suspect in the incident, Malik Faisal Akram, wasn't motivated by an issue 'specifically related to the Jewish community' when he took four people hostage at the Congregation Beth Israel on Saturday, The New York Times reported."

The New York Times (1/20, Graham) reports Wray said, "This was not some random occurrence. It was intentional, it was symbolic and we're not going to tolerate antisemitism in this country." In the webinar "on Thursday, Mr. Wray emphasized the FBI's commitment to combating antisemitic attacks." Wray said, "We recognize that the Jewish community in particular has suffered violence and faces very real threats from...across the hate spectrum."

FBI Digs Into Synagogue Hostage-taker's "Digital Trail." The Washington Post (1/20, Barrett, Zapotosky, Douglas, Mekhennet) reports Malik Faisal Akram conducted "Internet searches for influential rabbis, an imprisoned terrorist and gun and pawnshops in the days before he took congregants hostage inside a Texas synagogue, according to law enforcement officials." FBI agents examining the "digital trail left by 44-year-old Malik Faisal Akram have found plenty of evidence hinting at his plan and state of mind in the days before the attack, said the officials, who spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss the ongoing investigation." Searches on Akram's cellphone "led him to focus on Rabbi Angela Buchdahl of New York City's Central Synagogue, who has been named on various online lists over the past decade as one of the most influential Jewish people in the country."

Britain Arrests Two In Connection To Synagogue Hostage Standoff. The Hill (1/20, Schnell) reports two men were arrested “in the United Kingdom on Thursday in connection to this weekend’s hostage standoff at a Texas synagogue.” Greater Manchester Police announced “in a tweet on Thursday that two men were arrested in Birmingham and Manchester that morning.” They are still in “custody for questioning, according to authorities.” According to a police statement, “Officers from Counter Terrorism Policing North West continue to support US authorities with their investigation into the events in Texas.”

North Carolina Law Mandates Psychological Screenings For New Deputies

The New Bern (NC) Sun Journal (1/20, Dunnell) reports a new North Carolina law requires “psychological screenings of sheriff’s deputies and dispatchers prior to certification or employment.” The law, which took effect at the start of 2022, “is intended to educate law enforcement on maintaining good mental health and provide information to officers on mental health resources available to them.” Because the “new law went into effect as an unfunded” state mandate, counties in North Carolina will have to pay for the psychological screenings.

California Governor Pledges State Help In Cracking Down On Los Angeles Rail Theft

The AP (1/20, Weber) reports California Gov. Gavin Newsom (D) “is promising statewide coordination as law enforcement and prosecutors go after thieves who have been raiding cargo containers aboard trains near downtown Los Angeles for months.” On Thursday, Newsom “joined a cleanup crew from the state Department of Transportation.” The crew filled “dozens of trash bags with crushed cardboard from packages stolen on their way from retailers to people across the US.” Newsom “said his new budget proposal includes funds to expand the Organized Retail Theft Task Force.” That task force was “created last year when Los Angeles, San Francisco and other cities saw organized groups of roving thieves carrying out smash-and-grab robberies at retail stores.”

Police Chief In One Canadian City Warns Of Need For More Redeployments

CTV News (CAN) (1/20) reports, “Responding to an onslaught of 9-1-1 calls is increasingly taking priority over efforts to prevent crime in” the Canadian city of London, according to London Police Chief Steve Williams. Williams “warns that officers assigned to foot patrol and traffic division could be next for redeployment to frontline service, and that the previously redeployed Community Oriented Response (COR) Unit will not be reconstituted anytime soon.” Williams sounded that warning while addressing the London Police Services Board. CTV News adds, “The focus of the COR Unit was proactive policing including quick intervention to prevent escalation to more serious crimes. In November, Chief Williams redeployed the COR Unit’s 14 officers to frontline service to address a steep rise in complex calls and investigations. Response times to life-threatening Code 1 emergency calls had grown by 27 per cent, and police were taking 97 per cent longer to respond to Code 2 crimes in progress.”

Security, Crime, and Drugs

Police Arrest Man For Anti-Sikh Hate Crime At JFK Airport

NBC News (1/20, Kaur) reports authorities have arrested and “charged a man with a hate crime in connection with an alleged attack on a Sikh taxi driver at John F. Kennedy International Airport early this month.” The criminal complaint alleges “a verbal dispute on Jan. 3 between the Sikh driver and another man, who has been identified as 21-year-old Mohamed Hassanain, escalated into a physical assault, which led to the Sikh man’s turban unraveling and falling off his head.”

Man Charged With Human Smuggling After Migrants Freeze To Death Near Canadian Border

Reuters (1/20, Shakil) reports that on Thursday, the US attorney’s office in Minnesota charged Steve Shand “with human smuggling of Indian nationals from Canada.” On Wednesday, a baby and three other people “were found frozen to death in a remote part of Canada close to the Minnesota border.” Shand was “had been arrested just south of the border on Wednesday while driving two undocumented Indian citizens. US border patrol agents soon came across five more Indians traveling on foot, one of whom was carrying a backpack belonging to a family of four who had become separated from the group as they tried to cross the border. They alerted Canadian police who found the victims – a man, a woman, a teenage boy and a baby – about 40 feet...from the frontier with Minnesota. First indications are that they died from exposure to the cold.”

Health Experts Say Fentanyl Use By Teenagers Is A Growing Problem

An online Fox News (1/20, McGorry) story says the recent, suspected overdose death of a 13-year-old in Connecticut “sheds light on the dangers of teen use of fentanyl.” Health experts “told Fox News that fentanyl use is a growing problem with teenagers.” Related coverage appears in another Fox News (1/20, Conklin) website report.

Study Finds Marijuana Use Impairs Some Areas Of Cognition

An online CNN (1/20, LaMotte) article says, “Dr. Alexandre Dumais, associate clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of Montreal” in Canada, co-authored a study that found marijuana use impairs “several areas of cognition,” including the ability to “control emotions and behavior.”

Dumais said the study found that marijuana use by young people “may consequently lead to reduced educational attainment, and, in adults, to poor work performance and dangerous driving. These consequences may be worse in regular and heavy users.” Dumais expressed particular concern about young people, saying “preventive and interventional measures to educate youths on cannabis use and discourage them from using the substance in a chronic manner should be considered.” CTV News (CAN) (1/20, Neustaeter) publishes a similar article.

In case you missed it: Sample “notice of rights” signs for 3 phone calls and public defender number

A new law requires you to post signs with the phone number of the public defender and people's rights to 3 phones once they are in a place of detention after being taken into custody.

This topic came up on the Zoom Legislative Committee meeting this week. As a public service, we are sharing two signs that have been developed for DuPage County areas (attached and linked below). Other jurisdictions might wish to consider some of this language as they create their own signage.

The law says:

Posting notice of rights. Every sheriff, chief of police or other person who is in charge of any jail, police station or other building where persons under arrest are held in custody pending investigation, bail or other criminal proceedings, shall post in every room, other than cells, of such buildings where persons are held in custody, in conspicuous places where it may be seen and read by persons in custody and others, a poster, printed in large type, containing a verbatim copy in the English language of the provisions of Sections 103-2, 103-3, 103-4, 109-1, 110-2, 110-4, and sub-parts (a) and (b) of Sections 110-7 and 113-3 of this Code

For a limited time, you can now enjoy New Auto Loan rates as low as 1.49%* and Used Auto Loan rates as low as 1.74%!* In addition, you also have the option to defer your first loan payment for 90 days free of charge!

Even if you are not in the market for a new vehicle you can still take advantage of this special offer by refinancing an existing auto loan from another financial institution with ISPFCU. Not only could we lower your monthly loan payments and save you money in interest over the life of your loan, but you will also enjoy 90 days of no auto loan payments! Apply online at www.ispfcu.org or call us at 800-255-0886 with any questions you may have today!

*All rates are stated as an Annual Percentage Rate (APR). Rates are subject to change at any time. Special applies to new non-ISPFCU loans. Rates quoted are for individuals with excellent credit. Individuals with less than excellent credit may be offered higher rates. Fixed loan rate of 1.49% equals payments of $17.31 for 60 months for each $1,000 borrowed.

In case you missed it: Sample “notice of rights” signs for 3 phone calls and public defender number

A new law requires you to post signs with the phone number of the public defender and people’s rights to 3 phones once they are in a place of detention after being taken into custody.

This topic came up on the Zoom Legislative Committee meeting this week. As a public service, we are sharing two signs that have been developed for DuPage County areas (attached and linked below). Other jurisdictions might wish to consider some of this language as they create their own signage.

The law says:

Posting notice of rights. Every sheriff, chief of police or other person who is in charge of any jail, police station or other building where persons under arrest are held in custody pending investigation, bail or other criminal proceedings, shall post in every room, other than cells, of such buildings where persons are held in custody, in conspicuous places where it may be seen and read by persons in custody and others, a poster, printed in large type, containing a verbatim copy in the English language of the provisions of Sections 103-2, 103-3, 103-4, 109-1, 110-2, 110-4, and sub-parts (a) and (b) of Sections 110-7 and 113-3 of this Code

Sorry all for just joining. My thought is some sort of training with PowerDMS as yesterday, but with accreditation. ILEAP is now requiring it and I've found a lot of departments trying to figure it out like myself. You guys are experts with it so it's second nature. Just a thought.

Just a minor edit: ILACP Conference is proof of registration and payment) in order to receive a reimbursement check from the IPAC. Remove the "is" –

Just one concern: how do we prove that the ILEAP person actually attends the conference?
CALEA is easy

with the completion certificate. Don't know if ILEAP sessions give certificates or not – it might come up so thought I'd

Sergeant Fasos,

Thank you for your email. As far as formal training we have monthly IPAC meeting in which we conduct training after. Today we went over the PowerDMS file system. Next month we will be at Harper CC and I will be conducting training there if you'd like to attend.

MG is an active member, but I will verify when your dues are up.

Thank you,

Good Afternoon Vice-President Zielinski,

I'm sure it will be a pleasure to work with you in this most important of tasks for the next few years.

Morton Grove is ILEAP Tier 2, and our next award year is 2025.

As I have recently been assigned the accreditation manager position, I was wondering if there is any formal training available?

Furthermore, since I am on the mailing list, and will be taking advantage of your vast knowledge on these matters, I would like to confirm whether or not Morton Grove is still an active member of IPAC, otherwise I would like to remedy the situation forthwith!

Thanks you in advance for your consideration of this matter,

Good Morning All,

I hope you all had a wonderful holiday season and that your new year is off to a great start. As just a quick update on the above federal litigation, the Motion to Dismiss that we filed has now been briefed in the federal court with Plaintiff's filing a Response and the Defendants' filing a Reply. For your convenience, I attached the complaint, MTD, MTD Response and MTD Reply here. The Court indicated that it would rule on this motion by written order, instead of an oral argument. We are now awaiting that written order and the case is otherwise stayed briefly until we receive that order from the court. We are hopeful that the order will dismiss, at the very least, several claims and Defendants. However, as we warned, it is also quite possible that Plaintiff may be allowed to replead some of his claims. Of course, I will keep you abreast of the ruling. Once a ruling is finalized, I will provide you all a suit status report based on the ruling and whether any claims or defendants remain in the suit. I appreciate your time and consideration, and if you have any questions or concerns please feel free to reach out to me at any time at 630-935-0506. Thanks again.

Good Afternoon All,

I hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday. Attached please find an IPMG status report and budget for this litigation. I have not heard from Plaintiff's counsel at this point, but their Motion to Dismiss Response is due on December 6, 2020, with our Reply due December 20, 2020. I will immediately send both for your review. As I state below, we feel strongly about the removal of at least some Defendants based on improper pleading, but that assumes Plaintiff will not request to re-plead. Thank you all and please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Good Evening All,

It was a pleasure speaking with some of you this morning on the IPMG status. With respect to the above case, we filed a Motion to Dismiss the Complaint in its entirety which is attached. We feel we have very strong facts and case law on point to file the dismissal, but are assuming the Plaintiff will be filing an amended pleading, though we are hoping some of the Defendants may be dismissed permanently. I attached the motion and memorandum for your review. If you have any questions or concerns please do not hesitate to contact me by email or cell phone at any time. Thank you all and have a great weekend.

Intelligence Bulletin Warns About "Copycat Attacks" Following Synagogue Hostage Standoff

CBS News (1/20, Herridge) reports the investigation into the "gunman who held four people hostage at a Texas synagogue Saturday has increased concern among federal officials about possible 'copycat attacks,' according to an intelligence bulletin obtained by CBS News." The joint bulletin was issued "Tuesday to federal, state and local law enforcement partners by the FBI, Department of Homeland Security and National Counterterrorism Center." According to the bulletin, although there are "no known specific or ongoing threats to the Jewish community that have been identified related to this attack," the FBI, DHS, and NCTC continue to "urge law enforcement partners to maintain a posture of increased situational awareness." The bulletin adds, "The FBI, DHS, and NCTC also remain concerned about the potential for copycat attacks following this incident due to the volume of online violent extremist messaging advocating for the release of Aafia Siddiqui."

Report Finds Ohio Traffic Laws Make Car Travel Unsafe

Axios (1/19, Buchanan) reports Advocates for Highway and Auto Safety "released its 2022 report of state driving laws yesterday, highlighting 16 'optimal laws that every state should have as part of a comprehensive safety program.'" Ohio was found to have only six out of 16 "optimal laws."

NYPD Could Avoid Citywide Budget Cuts Imposed By Mayor

Bloomberg (1/19) reports, "New York City Mayor Eric Adams said he would consider excluding the New York City Police Department from a citywide cost-cutting measure that he is implementing across all government agencies." In his first weeks in office, Adams "asked all city departments to cut non-personnel spending by 3%," but "on Wednesday, Adams said the police department could be held outside of the Program to Eliminate the Gap, or PEG, cuts. Instead of stripping the NYPD of money, he said it could allocate staff more efficiently."

Pennsylvania Senate Passes Ransomware Prevention, Breach Notification Bills

The AP (1/19) reports the Pennsylvania State Senate has passed bills that aim to prevent data security breaches and require “victims and law enforcement officials to be notified when” such breaches occur. This “comes barely two weeks after the state’s unemployment compensation system acknowledged that hackers changed bank account information in some recipients’ accounts, so that payments went to the hackers instead.” One of the bills that the Pennsylvania State Senate passed “would require the state to develop a strategy to prevent and respond to ransomware attacks.” The “other bill would require any state agency, school district or local government agency to notify victims within seven days of determining a breach of personal information.”

The IACP is now accepting nominations for annual awards. These awards recognize law enforcement agencies and individual officers that exemplify leadership, excellence, and professionalism. Submit a nomination today.

Large Nigerian Fraud Ring Disrupted

Forbes (1/19, Brewster) reports Nigerian fraudsters have been “harvesting hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of business email account logins, policy say.” The Nigerian cybercrime gang “known as SilverTerrier, has been hit in a law enforcement operation, with 11 individuals arrested in December, Interpol announced on Wednesday.” Interpol “said the suspects appeared to have targeted as many as 50,000 different individuals and companies via so-called ‘business email compromise.’”

Rio Police Move In Force Into Favela

The AP (1/19, Jeantet, Rodrigues) reports around 1,200 police officers “were deployed to Rio de Janeiro’s working-class Jacarezinho neighborhood and its surroundings early Wednesday, marking the start of a state effort seeking to ‘reclaim territory,’ authorities said.” The operation, which began “at dawn, is part of a permanent effort to increase police presence and improve services in at least two favelas, Jacarezinho and Muzema, according to Rio state’s Gov. Cláudio Castro.” More details will be “released on Jan. 22, Castro said on his social media.” On videos shared on “the Rio police’s official Twitter profile, officers could be seen with their rifles drawn cautiously entering the streets of the vast favela, where the city’s deadliest raid took place last May, killing 28 people and injuring several others.” The idea of “introducing permanent police units within Rio’s favelas to shore up security and tackle drug trafficking echoes a prior initiative: police pacification units, known as UPPs.”

The Guardian (UK) (1/19, Phillips) reports on what authorities “claimed was a ‘transformational’ attempt to wrest back control from the drug gangs and paramilitary mafias which dominate huge swaths of the Brazilian city.” Later in the day, police “said 30 arrests were made as troops targeted Muzema, a much smaller favela controlled by the ‘milícia’ mafia groups that many now consider a far greater threat than Rio’s drug factions.”

Maryland Governor Proposes Mental Health, Substance Use Disorder Programs Spending

The AP (1/19) reports a budget proposal that Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan (R) presented on Wednesday “includes $996 million for mental health and substance use disorder programs.” The WMAR-TV Baltimore (1/19, Dickstein) website and DCist (1/19) run similar articles.

Sheriff Issues Warning After Nine Fentanyl-Laced Heroin Overdoses In Montana

The Helena (MT) Independent Record (1/19, Manning) reports, “Nine people in the Helena area...overdosed on fentanyl-laced heroin” during a recent two-day period, according to Lewis and Clark County Sheriff Leo Dutton. On Wednesday, Dutton “said the St. Peter’s Health emergency room” revived those nine individuals. Dutton “said the Missouri River Drug Task Force currently has several investigations underway, but this new product is complicating the public safety aspect of their work.” Dutton stressed the importance of warning people about this “alarming situation.” The AP (1/19, Tobin) also covers this story.

Alabama Traffic Stop Operation Leads To Seizure Of More Than 900 Pounds Of Marijuana

An online WIAT-TV Birmingham, AL (1/19, Cook) article says, “Officers with the Leeds Police Department” in Alabama conducted a recent traffic stop operation “that led to the seizure of over 900 pounds of marijuana,” which is worth an estimated $3 million. California residents Quan Xu and Huaitian Li were arrested in connection with the seizure, according to the WIAT article and a similar AP (1/19) story.

Police In Germany See Surge In Fake Vaccine Certificates

The AP (1/19, Stringer) reports from Berlin, “Police in Germany are investigating thousands of cases of suspected forgery of coronavirus vaccine certificates, the dpa news agency reported Wednesday. It cited figures obtained from the country’s 16 states showing more than 12,000 police investigations have been opened nationwide.” Dpa “reported that the number of probes surged in December, after authorities announced new restrictions that largely locked unvaccinated people out of public life. Those who supply or use fake certificates could face severe penalties, from fines and suspended prison sentences to losing their jobs. Prosecutors have opened a manslaughter investigation in one case after a woman used a fake vaccine certificate to continue working at a nursing home, despite having family members ill with COVID-19 at home.”

FBI: Scammers Using Fake QR Codes To Steal From Consumers

CNN (1/19, Lyngaas) reports, “Cybercriminals are trying to steal financial information from Americans through the QR codes that restaurants and businesses have increasingly turned to during the coronavirus pandemic, the FBI warned this week.” According to CNN, “The scammers are using fraudulent QR codes...to direct people to malicious sites in order to steal their data or hijack payments, the FBI said in a public advisory. The announcement follows the discovery earlier this month of fraudulent QR code stickers on more than two dozen parking stations in Austin, Texas. 'People attempting to pay for parking using those QR codes may have been directed to a fraudulent website and submitted payment to a fraudulent vendor,' the Austin Police Department said when it announced an investigation." The FBI "wants people to check the websites that QR codes direct them to carefully."

Intelligence Bulletin Warns About "Copycat Attacks" Following Synagogue Hostage Standoff

CBS News (1/20, Herridge) reports the investigation into the "gunman who held four people hostage at a Texas synagogue Saturday has increased concern among federal officials about possible 'copycat attacks,' according to an intelligence bulletin obtained by CBS News." The joint bulletin was issued "Tuesday to federal, state and local law enforcement partners by the FBI, Department of Homeland Security and National Counterterrorism Center." According to the bulletin, although there are "no known specific or ongoing threats to the Jewish community that have been identified related to this attack," the FBI, DHS, and NCTC continue to "urge law enforcement partners to maintain a posture of increased situational awareness." The bulletin adds, "The FBI, DHS, and NCTC also remain concerned about the potential for copycat attacks following this incident due to the volume of online violent extremist messaging advocating for the release of Aafia Siddiqui."

In his first weeks in office, Adams "asked all city departments to cut non-personnel spending by 3%," but "on Wednesday, Adams said the police department could be held outside of the Program to Eliminate the Gap, or PEG, cuts. Instead of stripping the NYPD of money, he said it could allocate staff more efficiently."

Pennsylvania Senate Passes Ransomware Prevention, Breach Notification Bills

The AP (1/19) reports the Pennsylvania State Senate has passed bills that aim to prevent data security breaches and require “victims and law enforcement officials to be notified when” such breaches occur. This “comes barely two weeks after the state’s unemployment compensation system acknowledged that hackers changed bank account information in some recipients’ accounts, so that payments went to the hackers instead.” One of the bills that the Pennsylvania State Senate passed “would require the state to develop a strategy to prevent and respond to ransomware attacks.” The “other bill would require any state agency, school district or local government agency to notify victims within seven days of determining a breach of personal information.”

I am asking for your help. This is Larry Nowak from 3SI Security, and I have worked with your agency over the years with supporting installed GPS in the banking and retail industry. I need to speak with you or a designee regarding your ESO GPS 3SI Tracker(s).

The Cellular 3G grid will be coming to its end of life in a few months. We have replaced all of our 3G ESO GPS trackers and Upgraded them to 4G/WiFi ESOprou Units and your device(s) will need to be upgraded at year's end.

Since the sunseting of the 3G network is out of our control, we are offering a discounted upgrade opportunity. The new devices available right now are the Hard Case unit or the Cash Pack and Soft Case Unit. Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305 Originally, we were offering an upgrade price of $305 rather than the full price of $556 (a 46% discount).

The boss wants to make sure we get everyone upgraded as soon as possible so he has sweetened the deal for law enforcement. We can now offer the upgrade for $0.00 with the purchase of a 3-year service plan of $684. So, you get 3 years of a locked in service and a free 4G/WiFi Upgrade.

We will need as decision as soon as possible. With national supply chain issues, I want to make sure you are added to the upgrade list ASAP.

New Features:

- All 4G devices will now be able to track on motion, Geo-Fence, and Tilt (Now a standard feature).
- We have increased our GPS tracking from 8 to 12 satellites to enhance live tracking accuracy.
- Devices will use Wi-Fi Sniffing to help with tracking accuracy in areas where GPS is challenging.
- Again - Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305 a 46% discount.

See Attached PDF for additional information on the 4G Upgrade.

I am also available for a meeting, to review tracker settings or to give the department refresher training and how to best deploy the trackers for investigations and armed robberies.

My signature contact information is below. Please call or email me so that we can upgrade your device.

Good Afternoon Vice-President Zielinski,

I'm sure it will be a pleasure to work with you in this most important of tasks for the next few years.

Morton Grove is ILEAP Tier 2, and our next award year is 2025.

As I have recently been assigned the accreditation manager position, I was wondering if there is any formal training available?

Furthermore, since I am on the mailing list, and will be taking advantage of your vast knowledge on these matters, I would like to confirm whether or not Morton Grove is still an active member of IPAC, otherwise I would like to remedy the situation forthwith!

Thanks you in advance for your consideration of this matter,

Inowak@3si.com | 3si.com

I am asking for your help. This is Larry Nowak from 3SI Security, and I have worked with your agency over the years with supporting installed GPS in the banking and retail industry. I need to speak with you or a designee regarding your ESO GPS 3SI Tracker(s).

The Cellular 3G grid will be coming to its end of life in a few months. We have replaced all of our 3G ESO GPS trackers and Upgraded them to 4G/WiFi ESopro Units and your device(s) will need to be upgraded at year's end.

Since the sunseting of the 3G network is out of our control, we are offering a discounted upgrade opportunity. The new devices available right now are the Hard Case unit or the Cash Pack and Soft Case Unit. Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305 Originally, we were offering an upgrade price of $305 rather than the full price of $556 (a 46% discount).

The boss wants to make sure we get everyone upgraded as soon as possible so he has sweetened the deal for law enforcement. We can now offer the upgrade for $0.00 with the purchase of a 3-year service plan of $684. So, you get 3 years of a locked in service and a free 4G/WiFi Upgrade.

We will need as decision as soon as possible. With national supply chain issues, I want to make sure you are added to the upgrade list ASAP.

New Features:

- All 4G devices will now be able to track on motion, Geo-Fence, and Tilt (Now a standard feature).
- We have increased our GPS tracking from 8 to 12 satellites to enhance live tracking accuracy.
- Devices will use Wi-Fi Sniffing to help with tracking accuracy in areas where GPS is challenging.
- Again - Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305 a 46% discount.

See Attached PDF for additional information on the 4G Upgrade.

I am also available for a meeting, to review tracker settings or to give the department refresher training and how to best deploy the trackers for investigations and armed robberies.

My signature contact information is below. Please call or email me so that we can upgrade your device.

I am asking for your help. This is Larry Nowak from 3SI Security, and I have worked with your agency over the years with supporting installed GPS in the banking and retail industry. I need to speak with you or a designee regarding your ESO GPS 3SI Tracker(s).

The Cellular 3G grid will be coming to its end of life in a few months. We have replaced all of our 3G ESO GPS trackers and Upgraded them to 4G/WiFi ESOprou Units and your device(s) will need to be upgraded at year's end.

Since the sunseting of the 3G network is out of our control, we are offering a discounted upgrade opportunity. The new devices available right now are the Hard Case unit or the Cash Pack and Soft Case Unit. Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305

Originally, we were offering an upgrade price of $305 rather than the full price of $556 (a 46% discount).

The boss wants to make sure we get everyone upgraded as soon as possible so he has sweetened the deal for law enforcement. We can now offer the upgrade for $0.00 with the purchase of a 3-year service plan of $684. So, you get 3 years of a locked in service and a free 4G/WiFi Upgrade.

We will need as decision as soon as possible. With national supply chain issues, I want to make sure you are added to the upgrade list ASAP.

New Features:

- All 4G devices will now be able to track on motion, Geo-Fence, and Tilt (Now a standard feature).
- We have increased our GPS tracking from 8 to 12 satellites to enhance live tracking accuracy.
- Devices will use Wi-Fi Sniffing to help with tracking accuracy in areas where GPS is challenging.

- Again - Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305 a 46% discount. See Attached PDF for additional information on the 4G Upgrade.

I am also available for a meeting, to review tracker settings or to give the department refresher training and how to best deploy the trackers for investigations and armed robberies.

My signature contact information is below. Please call or email me so that we can upgrade your device.

Giving Bob only ILEAP makes sense. However, he can't be the only one because that would be too burdensome. So I'd say give him only ILEAP and you can give me a mixture of both ILEAP/CALEA.

As a personal request, can you be sure LaGrange PD goes to anyone but me please.

Stephanie and Ben,

So I was just looking at my list of agencies and I noticed I have several CALEA agencies. My thought is to swap with Ben and take the ILEAP agencies as this is my best knowledge is. I believe Ben was going to CALEA at Oak Brook so I wanted your thoughts on this.

Sorry Chrissie. I jumped on this pretty quick. Let me know your thoughts. If you all want me to be the ILEAP point of contact, I'm good with it. Ben is the guru so whatever he recommends. To be honest I'm not comfortable with CALEA as I'm learning at each meeting.

Stephanie and Ben,

So I was just looking at my list of agencies and I noticed I have several CALEA agencies. My thought is to swap with Ben and take the ILEAP agencies as this is my best knowledge is. I believe Ben was going to CALEA at Oak Brook so I wanted your thoughts on this.

I am asking for your help. This is Larry Nowak from 3SI Security, and I have worked with your agency over the years with supporting installed GPS in the banking and retail industry. I need to speak with you or a designee regarding your ESO GPS 3SI Tracker(s).

The Cellular 3G grid will be coming to its end of life in a few months. We have replaced all of our 3G ESO GPS trackers and Upgraded them to 4G/WiFi ESOPRO Units and your device(s) will need to be upgraded at year's end.

Since the sunset of the 3G network is out of our control, we are offering a discounted upgrade opportunity. The new devices available right now are the Hard Case unit or the Cash Pack and Soft Case Unit. Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305

Originally, we were offering an upgrade price of $305 rather than the full price of $556 (a 46% discount).

The boss wants to make sure we get everyone upgraded as soon as possible so he has sweetened the deal for law enforcement. We can now offer the upgrade for $0.00 with the purchase of a 3-year service plan of $684. So, you get 3 years of a locked in service and a free 4G/WiFi Upgrade.

We will need a decision as soon as possible. With national supply chain issues, I want to make sure you are added to the upgrade list ASAP.

New Features:

- All 4G devices will now be able to track on motion, Geo-Fence, and Tilt (Now a standard feature).
- We have increased our GPS tracking from 8 to 12 satellites to enhance live tracking accuracy.
- Devices will use Wi-Fi Sniffing to help with tracking accuracy in areas where GPS is challenging.
- Again - Your current active devices can be upgraded NOW for a cost of $305 a 46% discount.

See Attached PDF for additional information on the 4G Upgrade.

I am also available for a meeting, to review tracker settings or to give the department refresher training and how to best deploy the trackers for investigations and armed robberies.

My signature contact information is below. Please call or email me so that we can upgrade your device.

Giving Bob only ILEAP makes sense. However, he can't be the only one because that would be too burdensome. So I'd say give him only ILEAP and you can give me a mixture of both ILEAP/CALEA.

As a personal request, can you be sure LaGrange PD goes to anyone but me please.

Ok, I'll wait for Stephanie's input, but my thoughts are I give you my 17 CALEA agencies and I take 17 or more ILEAP from you.

Stephanie and Ben,

So I was just looking at my list of agencies and I noticed I have several CALEA agencies. My thought is to swap with Ben and take the ILEAP agencies as this is my best knowledge is. I believe Ben was going to CALEA at Oak Brook so I wanted your thoughts on this.

Bob,

Had a great convo with the ILEAP Council on Friday.

They were wanting a few things:

1. Whole, unedited video of police press conference. They feel the news version was probably edited.
2. A copy of the third party Law Firm report (pdf version is fine)
3. A status report on any and all lawsuits involving the police stemming for 2021. The Council desires this status report to come from the Village Attorney's Office. I guess so it's not cleaned up.

These unfiltered items will help the Council make a decision.

Please send everything to e and I can send it out to my contacts on the council.

Thanks,

Jeff

Police Scotland Developing Strategy To Curb Violence Against Women

BBC News (1/18) reports, "Police Scotland is developing a new strategy to tackle violence against women and girls following events such as the murder of Sarah Everard." The initiative "comes as new figures reveal the number of reported sexual crimes across Scotland increased by more than 13% last year."

Florida Governor Proposes Funding Police Force To Oversee State Elections

The Washington Post (1/18, Rozsa, Reinhard) reports Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis (R) has proposed establishing a "special police force to oversee state elections – the first of its kind in the nation." DeSantis is asking Florida's "GOP-controlled legislature to allocate nearly $6 million to hire 52 people" to staff the Office of Election Crimes and Security. Some "voting rights advocates fear that" the DeSantis proposal will be enacted.

New York Governor Proposes Spending $400M On Substance Use Disorder Treatment

The Rochester (NY) Democrat & Chronicle (1/18) reports New York Gov. Kathy Hochul (D) proposed a budget that includes "$400 million in funding for" substance use disorder treatment services. The WROC-TV Rochester, NY (1/18, Driffill, Argitis) website and the Saratogian (NY) (1/18, Gwizdala) run similar coverage of Hochul's budget proposal.

AP Analysis: Minnesota Cases May Show Jurors' More Willing To Convict Police Officers

The AP (1/18, Forliti) reports some legal experts "say a robust protest movement in some cities, like Minneapolis, may be raising awareness, which could lead to a jury pool that's more open to questioning officers' actions, and prosecutors who may be more willing to charge – and succeed in getting convictions.” The AP points to the convictions of officers Mohamed Noor, Derek Chauvin, and Kim Potter in Minnesota for shooting deaths that occurred while they were on duty. At the same however, Philip Stinson, a Bowling Green State University professor who tracks prosecutions involving fatal on-duty police shootings, “says it’s still rare for officers to be charged at all. ... ‘What we’re seeing are, the officers are convicted in cases where their conduct cannot be rationally explained,’ Stinson said. ‘That’s what we’re seeing time and again. But we’re not seeing systemic changes as of yet.’”

Texas Synagogue Attacker Was Previously Surveilled By British Intelligence

The New York Times (1/18, Specia, Sullivan) reports, “The British man who took four people hostage at a Texas synagogue over the weekend before being killed was known to British intelligence services.” Malik Faisal Akram “had been on the watch list of Britain’s MI5 security service as a ‘subject of interest’ in 2020,” but “by the time he flew to the United States, he had been deemed to no longer be a risk, the BBC reported Tuesday.” The Wall Street Journal (1/18, Subscription Publication) reports British officials confirmed that Akram had a history of mental illness and a criminal record. Reuters (1/18) also picks up on the report that Akram had been investigated by MI5.

The AP (1/18, Stengle, Bleiberg, Tucker) reports White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki said Tuesday that Akram’s arrival in the US didn’t raise any red flags. Psaki said, “Our understanding, and obviously we’re still looking into this, is that he was checked against US government databases multiple times prior to entering the country, and the US government did not have any derogatory information about the individual in our systems at the time of entry.”

FBI And US Agencies Seeking New Cybercrime Strategies For Greater Long-Term Impact

The AP (1/18, Tucker) reports the FBI and other federal agencies “are increasingly looking to counter cyber threats through tools other than criminal indictments, the bureau’s top cyber official said in an interview with The Associated Press.” Arrests and indictments of “foreign cybercriminals are still appropriate in certain circumstances and something the FBI pursues ‘every day of the week,’” according to Assistant Director Bryan Vorndran. But as federal agencies “look to have the most disruptive impact possible on cyber crime, FBI officials are thinking carefully about how best to time an indictment, or whether an indictment is even the best action.” Vorndran added, “We’re just much more mature in the space of working with our interagency partners, and really keeping an eye down the road in terms of how we have the biggest impact.”

California Prosecutors File Vehicular Manslaughter Charges In Autopilot Case

The AP (1/18, Krisher, Dazio) reports from Detroit, Michigan, “California prosecutors have filed two counts of vehicular manslaughter against the driver of a Tesla on Autopilot who ran a red light, slammed into another car and killed two people in 2019.” Kevin George Aziz Riad “appears to be the first person to be charged with a felony in the United States for a fatal crash involving a motorist who was using a partially automated driving system. Los Angeles County prosecutors filed the charges in October, but they came to light only last week.” The AP adds, “Riad, a limousine service driver,” has “pleaded not guilty.”

London Police Make 130 Arrests During Anti-Drug Operation

BBC News (1/18) reports, “More than 130 arrests were made during a three-day operation targeting drug crime on London’s roads and rail networks, the Met has revealed.” Earlier this month, “officers worked at hot spots in London to catch criminals transporting drugs, weapons and cash in and out of the capital. The force seized 47 vehicles, large quantities of cocaine and cannabis, 15 knives and more than £28,000 in cash.” BBC News adds, “Based on intelligence, Operation Pandilla was deployed to four specific hot spots in London – the A10 at Camden, the A10 at Hackney and locations in Brixton and Ladbrooke Grove. Automatic number plate recognition technology was used to link vehicles with criminal activity.”

FBI, Multi-National Police Coalition Takes Down Servers Linked To “Major International Cyberattacks”

CNN (1/18, Lyngaas) reports the FBI and police from “multiple European countries and Canada have taken down 15 computer servers that were used in ‘major international cyberattacks,’ law enforcement agencies said this week.” Europol said that after seizing the servers, “investigators have identified ‘more than 100 businesses’ that were at risk of being hacked by cybercriminals, including ransomware groups.” The 10-country sting “announced Tuesday involved police from Germany to the United Kingdom to Ukraine.”

Hello Rehman,

Attached is an initiative that is being mandated by the new HB3653 SAFE T ACT in Illinois.

Our in-house Social Worker, Tony Bertram, would like to use the attached software to store this data, which is protected information.

Is there any possibility of IT covering the cost of this? It would be annual expense.

Thank you for considering.

We can stop heart attacks in cops: SIGMA will show you how.

Heart attacks are a leading cause of death whether on duty, off duty or soon after retirement, for police officers nationwide. Cops' average age for a heart attack is 49 and their life expectancy is 20 years less than civilians. The doctors at SIGMA have addressed this. Our team comes to you. We first analyze blood and calcium imaging before performing a cardiopulmonary/EKG exercise stress test on a stationary bicycle right at your facility. These tests together measure the presence of plaque, inflammation or any ischemia (lack of blood flow to the heart muscle) to assess functional capacity. Each patient will engage in a lengthy and direct consultation with a physician or licensed physician's assistant/nurse practitioner.

During this personal consultation, each officer will be educated on blood-based labs, will gain in-depth understanding of their own coronary calcium score, and will receive an overview of their individual EKG/stress test data. Additionally, your officers will work with SIGMA's clinicians in nutrition and fitness to set personalized and accountable steps towards improvement in health and performance. Over 7,000 officers and first responders screened to date, with lives changed and lives saved.

We can stop heart attacks in cops: SIGMA will show you how.

Heart attacks are a leading cause of death whether on duty, off duty or soon after retirement, for police officers nationwide. Cops' average age for a heart attack is 49 and their life expectancy is 20 years less than civilians. The doctors at SIGMA have addressed this. Our team comes to you. We first analyze blood and calcium imaging before performing a cardiopulmonary/EKG exercise stress test on a stationary bicycle right at your facility. These tests together measure the presence of plaque, inflammation or any ischemia (lack of blood flow to the heart muscle) to assess functional capacity. Each patient will engage in a lengthy and direct consultation with a physician or licensed physician's assistant/nurse practitioner.

During this personal consultation, each officer will be educated on blood-based labs, will gain in-depth understanding of their own coronary calcium score, and will receive an overview of their individual EKG/stress test data. Additionally, your officers will work with SIGMA's clinicians in nutrition and fitness to set personalized and accountable steps towards improvement in health and performance. Over 7,000 officers and first responders screened to date, with lives changed and lives saved.

Biden Preparing Executive Orders On Police Reform

Fox News (1/14) says President Biden “is reportedly planning to push his police reform agenda via an executive order as early as this month.” Fox says that according to NBC News , the executive orders “are still being finalized...but are expected to be rolled out at the start of Black History Month in February as the administration tries to achieve policy goals leading up to the president’s State of the Union address in March.” Fox adds news “of the executive actions comes at the conclusion of a difficult week for the president during which he suffered numerous setbacks. The president was widely panned by Republicans, and some Democrats, for a racially-charged speech urging Senate Democrats to suspend the filibuster to push through his party’s legislation that would overhaul federal election laws.”

Minnesota Police Departments Using Grants To Fund K-9 Units

The Minneapolis Star Tribune (1/17, Berg) reports, “While police departments across the nation are grappling with calls for reform and community engagement, several in Minnesota are quietly adding officers that can do what most cannot – sniff out suspects and find missing people and, while they’re at it, bring some doggone joy to folks. ‘A lot of people just love dogs,’ said Dave Bentrud, Waite Park police chief, about police dogs. 'They end up being community ambassadors.' But many departments are relying on grants and community donations to fund K-9 units because budgets are tight due to the pandemic and other rising costs." According to the Star Tribune, "Many police dogs are used for apprehension and drug interdiction, while others are trained to sniff out explosives or offer support to victims at county facilities, including attorney offices in Stearns, Ramsey and Hennepin counties."

Robert

Thanks for asking question about your benefits. Laurie and I are looking a the IMRF service credit. For the vacation time, I pulled at your offer letter. You accrue at 15 days for your first 10 years. You will receive a bump in your vacation accrual with your 11th year of full-time employment. Longevity – unfortunately you are not eligible for Longevity. It is based on full-time hire date. I will let you know what I find out on the IMRF Time.

Let me know if you have questions.

Michael,

I wanted to check on this with HR as I sent this to Allie on Friday. This was my understanding when hired as full time.

I checked my account and did not receive a longevity check. From my understanding I was to receive as the Village was using my July 10, 2012 date of hire for longevity and vacation accrual.

It is my understanding that you would not receive longevity because it's based on your full-time hire date. Anyone hired full-time after June 27, 2017 does not receive longevity. I think everyone in HR is on vacation today so if you want to verify that with HR on Monday that's fine.

Good Morning All,

I hope you all had a wonderful holiday season and that your new year is off to a great start. As just a quick update on the above federal litigation, the Motion to Dismiss that we filed has now been briefed in the federal court with Plaintiff's filing a Response and the Defendants' filing a Reply. For your convenience, I attached the complaint, MTD, MTD Response and MTD Reply here. The Court indicated that it would rule on this motion by written order, instead of an oral argument. We are now awaiting that written order and the case is otherwise stayed briefly until we receive that order from the court. We are hopeful that the order will dismiss, at the very least, several claims and Defendants. However, as we warned, it is also quite possible that Plaintiff may be allowed to replead some of his claims. Of course, I will keep you abreast of the ruling. Once a ruling is finalized, I will provide you all a suit status report based on the ruling and whether any claims or defendants remain in the suit. I appreciate your time and consideration, and if you have any questions or concerns please feel free to reach out to me at any time at 630-935-0506. Thanks again.

Good Afternoon All,

I hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday. Attached please find an IPMG status report and budget for this litigation. I have not heard from Plaintiff's counsel at this point, but their Motion to Dismiss Response is due on December 6, 2020, with our Reply due December 20, 2020. I will immediately send both for your review. As I state below, we feel strongly about the removal of at least some Defendants based on improper pleading, but that assumes Plaintiff will not request to re-plead. Thank you all and please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Good Evening All,

It was a pleasure speaking with some of you this morning on the IPMG status. With respect to the above case, we filed a Motion to Dismiss the Complaint in its entirety which is attached. We feel we have very strong facts and case law on point to file the dismissal, but are assuming the Plaintiff will be filing an amended pleading, though we are hoping some of the Defendants may be dismissed permanently. I attached the motion and memorandum for your review. If you have any questions or concerns please do not hesitate to contact me by email or cell phone at any time. Thank you all and have a great weekend.

As just a quick update on the above federal litigation, the Motion to Dismiss that we filed has now been briefed in the federal court with Plaintiff's filing a Response and the Defendants' filing a Reply. For your convenience, I attached the complaint, MTD, MTD Response and MTD Reply here. The Court indicated that it would rule on this motion by written order, instead of an oral argument. We are now awaiting that written order and the case is otherwise stayed briefly until we receive that order from the court. We are hopeful that the order will dismiss, at the very least, several claims and Defendants. However, as we warned, it is also quite possible that Plaintiff may be allowed to replead some of his claims. Of course, I will keep you abreast of the ruling. Once a ruling is finalized, I will provide you all a suit status report based on the ruling and whether any claims or defendants remain in the suit. I appreciate your time and consideration, and if you have any questions or concerns please feel free to reach out to me at any time at 630-935-0506. Thanks again.

Good Afternoon All,

I hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday. Attached please find an IPMG status report and budget for this litigation. I have not heard from Plaintiff's counsel at this point, but their Motion to Dismiss Response is due on December 6, 2020, with our Reply due December 20, 2020. I will immediately send both for your review. As I state below, we feel strongly about the removal of at least some Defendants based on improper pleading, but that assumes Plaintiff will not request to re-plead. Thank you all and please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Good Evening All,

It was a pleasure speaking with some of you this morning on the IPMG status. With respect to the above case, we filed a Motion to Dismiss the Complaint in its entirety which is attached. We feel we have very strong facts and case law on point to file the dismissal, but are assuming the Plaintiff will be filing an amended pleading, though we are hoping some of the Defendants may be dismissed permanently. I attached the motion and memorandum for your review. If you have any questions or concerns please do not hesitate to contact me by email or cell phone at any time. Thank you all and have a great weekend.

Good Morning Everyone,

Sergeant Jeremy Sims of Matteson PD is requesting fellow I-PACers to conduct a mock assessment for the City of Matteson Police Department. They are an ILEAP town.

The assessment will be done in person on January 21, 2022 at 0800 hours until done. This is to prepare for their ILEAP assessment that is coming up. I know this is short notice, I have been/am looking for another mock assessor that is ILEAP. We have Kankakee assisting but that is the only ILEAP town. Sgt. Sims would like the "full ILEAP Assessment experience" during the mock.

Coffee, snacks and lunch will be provided for any assessors that volunteer. Sgt. Sims request that you bring a laptop as they are a PowerDMS town.

We all know how beneficial mock assessments are, not only for the department we are working with but for newer accreditation managers and even the veterans. There is always that one proof we look at and say, " oh I could use that too."

Please let me know if you can assist.

Thanks, have a great day and be safe!

Hey Patrick,

Video evidence “can be as voluminous as mobile device data, if not more so, and there are limited tools available to reliably enhance and analyze video” according to the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Digital forensic examiners are often asked to recover video evidence in a variety of cases, regardless of prior training or experience in this particular field.

In this introductory session, we'll discuss common terminology used in this space, as well as the challenges associated with traditional video recovery from surveillance systems. We'll conclude with an introduction and demo of DVR Examiner which can be used to reduce or eliminate some of the common challenges.

Attached is an initiative that is being mandated by the new HB3653 SAFE T ACT in Illinois.

Our in-house Social Worker, Tony Bertram, would like to use the attached software to store this data, which is protected information.

Is there any possibility of IT covering the cost of this? It would be annual expense.

Thank you for considering.

FBI: Intentional Killings Of Law Enforcement Officers Reach 20-Year High

CNN (1/13, Krishnakumar) reports, "Last year saw the highest number of law enforcement officers who were intentionally killed in the line of duty since the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001, an increase that comes as a rise in gun violence and homicides continues across the country." CNN adds, "According to preliminary year-end data provided to CNN by the FBI, 73 officers died in felonious killings in the line of duty in 2021. The year marks the highest total recorded by the agency since 1995, excluding the 9/11 attacks. Gunfire has consistently been the leading cause of felonious officer deaths each year – and 2021 was no different. The FBI has not released its full end-of-year breakdown but reported that 55 officers were killed by gunfire in 2021 through the end of November, up from 39 in the same time frame in both 2020 and 2019."

DOJ To Begin Releasing Federal Inmates Under 2018 Law

The New York Times (1/13, Benner) reports, "Thousands of federal inmates will become eligible for release this week under a rule the Justice Department published on Thursday that allows more people to participate in a program that allows prisoners to earn shorter jail terms." As part of the new guidelines, "the Federal Bureau of Prisons has begun transferring eligible inmates to supervised release programs, residential re-entry centers or home confinement." The Times explains the guidelines "published in the Federal Register on Thursday affect how the Justice Department and the Bureau of Prisons carry out the First Step Act, the sweeping bipartisan criminal justice legislation enacted in 2018 under the Trump administration."

The AP (1/13, Balsamo, Sisak) says the "announcement of a finalized rule being published comes about two months after the department's inspector general sounded an alarm that the Bureau of Prisons had not applied the earned time credits to about 60,000 federal inmates who had completed the programs. It also comes a week after an announcement that the director of the prison agency, Michael Carvajal, will resign from his position in the face of mounting criticism over his leadership.”

Atlanta Opens New Police Precinct Amid Secession Movement

The AP (1/13, Thanawala) reports that Atlanta’s recently elected mayor “unveiled a new police precinct in the city’s large Buckhead district on Thursday, as he tries to head off an effort to turn the wealthy, white enclave into its own city over concerns about a spike in crime. Meanwhile, a bill at the state Capitol that would allow residents of Buckhead to vote on secession suffered a setback.” The Buckhead City movement “is being led by a business consultant and political fundraiser who has cited the crime surge to argue that Buckhead residents would be safer with their own police force and municipal court system.” According to the AP, “Some opponents see racial politics at play. Secession would leave poorer, Black communities in Atlanta. The loss of Buckhead – a tony area of multimillion-dollar mansions and high-end retail shops – would be a financial blow that would diminish the city’s clout.”

Analysis: More Than 30,000 Marijuana Conviction Records Not Yet Expunged In California

The Los Angeles Times (1/13, Feldman) reports its own data analysis found that “at least 34,000” marijuana conviction records have not been expunged in California, despite the passage of a 2018 state law that was “intended to speed up and automate” that expungement process.

British Columbia’s Government Funding Anti-Overdose Program’s Expansion

CTV News (CAN) (1/13) reports British Columbia’s “government is investing $1 million into expanding a program” that aims “to help prevent drug overdoses in the construction industry.” That “program provides harm-reduction training in the workplace, organized substance-use support groups and information about community resources for drug users.”

Winnipeg Gun Probe Finds Drones Used To Drop Drugs Into Prisons

The Canadian Press (1/13) reports, “Police in Winnipeg say a multi-jurisdictional investigation has found drones have been used to drop large quantities of drugs into federal prisons.” Inspector Elton Hall “with Winnipeg police’s organized crime unit said officers were beginning a probe into firearms trafficking last year after an increase in crimes involving guns in the city. Investigators learned drugs were also being transported through the crime network. They also learned drugs were being brought into Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba and Collins Bay Institution in Ontario using drones.” Hall “said a ‘very sophisticated drone’ was being used. ‘It’s a really big drone that can carry a large amount of weight,’ Hall said during” a Thursday news conference.

Police Officers In Montenegro Seize Large Amount Of Cocaine

The AP (1/13) reports police officers in Montenegro “have seized nearly half a ton of cocaine” that was “hidden in a banana shipment.” The 880 pounds of cocaine that was seized was “found in a warehouse in” Podgorica, Montenegro.

German Police Use Of Tracing App To Scout Crime Witnesses Draws Privacy Concerns

The Washington Post (1/13, Pannett) reports, "Authorities in Germany are under fire for tracking down witnesses to a potential crime by using data from a mobile phone app that was intended to help identify close contacts of people infected with the coronavirus." Police in the city of Mainz, near Frankfurt, "successfully petitioned local health authorities to release data from an app called Luca when a man fell to his death after leaving a restaurant in November." Police "said they were seeking witnesses who had dined at the restaurant around the same time and reportedly found 21 people from the app data." According to the Post, "The apparent misuse of the data has been criticized by privacy advocates, who fear that such sensitive information will be used for non-pandemic-control purposes," and "the incident is also likely to provide fodder for vaccine doubters, some of whom have taken on a broader anti-government stance, and those who believe coronavirus-related conspiracy theories."

Cyberattacks Disrupt Albuquerque Jail, Close Schools

CNN (1/13, Lyngaas) reports two separate cyberattacks have "disrupted public services in New Mexico's most populous county in the last eight days, with one forcing the Albuquerque public school system to close and another knocking out cameras at a local jail." The schools announced they would close Thursday and Friday because a "cyberattack" had "compromised some systems that could impact teaching, learning, and student safety." The ransomware incident in "Bernalillo County forced the county jail to temporarily go into lockdown and suspend visitor access because the facility's cameras and other technology weren't working." The jail's automatic doors "were temporarily out of order, and the hack hit a database the jail uses to record inmate incident reports, according to an emergency notice the jail filed January 6 in federal court in New Mexico."

Cyber Researcher Discovers Tesla Hijack Vulnerability

Bloomberg (1/13, Robertson, Raymunt) reports German cybersecurity researcher David Colombo, "performing a security audit for a French company," discovered a software program on "the company's network that exposed all the data about the chief technology officer's Tesla Inc. vehicle. The data included a full history of where the car had been driven and its precise location at that moment." The researcher "realized that he could push commands to Tesla vehicles whose owners were using the program. That capability enabled him to hijack some functions on those cars, including opening and closing the doors, turning up the music and disabling security features." Colombo "said he found more than 25 Teslas in 13 countries throughout Europe and North America that were vulnerable to attack, and that subsequent analysis indicated there could have been hundreds more." The flaws aren't in Tesla's "vehicles or the company's network but rather in a piece of open-source software that allows them to collect and analyze data about their own vehicles."

190 attend ILACP legislative meeting

A total of 190 people attended the ILACP Legislative Committee meeting via Zoom, once again an indication of how important this topic is to our members. Legislative Committee Chair Marc Maton, chief in Lemont, led the meeting.

We will provide more specific follow-up details about what was discussed in the next couple of weeks. Here were some of the highlights:

- A list of high-priority bills we are following this spring, with more input coming from members. Stay tuned for the details.
- A short list of proactive topics that we're working on this spring:
- Operational changes to the Body Camera Act.
- How drones should be regulated.
- Other anti-crime issues to address hot topics such as pursuits and fleeing, carjacking, and more.
- Discussion about a Lobby Day in Springfield. We hope to do this but will be watching what happens with COVID. With or without a Springfield day, we will also be recommending meeting with reps and senators in your districts, and we will have you prepared with talking points and top issues.
- Identifying Public Officials of the Year. If you want to recommend someone, send an email to ed@ilchiefs.org with the name of the person and a brief explanation why we would want to honor that person. The Board of Officers makes the final decision.

We will conduct a more in-depth bill review on Wednesday, February 9. Please save the date.

Sample "notice of rights" signs for 3 phone calls and public defender number

A new law requires you to post signs with the phone number of the public defender and people's rights to 3 phones once they are in a place of detention after being taken into custody.

This topic came up on the Zoom Legislative Committee meeting this week. As a public service, we are sharing two signs that have been developed for DuPage County areas (attached and linked below). Other jurisdictions might wish to consider some of this language as they create their own signage.

The law says:

Posting notice of rights. Every sheriff, chief of police or other person who is in charge of any jail, police station or other building where persons under arrest are held in custody pending investigation, bail or other criminal proceedings, shall post in every room, other than cells, of such buildings where persons are held in custody, in conspicuous places where it may be seen and read by persons in custody and others, a poster, printed in large type, containing a verbatim copy in the English language of the provisions of Sections 103-2, 103-3, 103-4, 109-1, 110-2, 110-4, and sub-parts (a) and (b) of Sections 110-7 and 113-3 of this Code

Law Enforcement Officials Seek Tougher Penalties Against Fentanyl Dealers

The Orange County (CA) Register (1/12) reports a Wednesday news conference that was held at the Riverside County District's Attorney's Office aimed to increase public awareness of overdose deaths that were caused by illicit fentanyl and to promote legislation that would allow "drug dealers, especially fentanyl dealers, to be charged with murder." State lawmakers in California "have rejected several efforts to pass such laws, triggering a war with local law enforcement officials and" relatives of people who fatally overdosed on fentanyl. Some of those officials and family members attended Wednesday's news conference.

State Lawmakers In Maryland To Debate Recreational Marijuana Legalization

The AP (1/12, Witte) reports state lawmakers in Maryland, who "gathered on Wednesday for the start of their 90-day legislative session," will be "debating whether to legalize recreational marijuana." In an online story, WAMU-FM Washington (1/12, Bonessi) reports Maryland House of Delegates Speaker Adrienne Jones (D) "has already said that legalizing recreational marijuana is her top priority for" the current legislation session. Jones has "created a panel of lawmakers to study how the state could implement a recreational marijuana market."

Marshall Project Analysis: Police In US Solved About Half The Murders In 2020

The Marshall Project (1/12, Li, Lartey) reports, "For homicide detectives, 2020 brought good news and bad news. On the one hand, police across the nation solved more murders – in absolute numbers – than in any year since 1997, according to data reported to the FBI. On the other hand, because new homicides increased sharply, the reported rate at which killings were solved...declined to a little below 50%." That "lower clearance rate in 2020 was an extension of a long, steady drop since the early 1980s, when police cleared about 70% of all homicides, and a decline that experts say was exacerbated by the pandemic. From 2019 to 2020, police across the country solved 1,200 more murders, a 14% increase. But murders rose twice as quickly – by 30%,” and “as a result, the homicide clearance rate – the percentage of crimes cleared – dropped to a historic low. About 1 of every 2 murders was solved.”

Norwich, Connecticut Eyes Returning Police Officers To Schools

The Norwich (CT) Bulletin (1/12, Ballantyne) reports from Norwich, Connecticut, “With the blessing of the Board of Education, the superintendent of schools is set to meet with Police Chief Pat Daley with the goal of returning a police presence to the city’s middle schools in the form of school resource officers, or, SROs. ‘Given the climate of our schools, given the pandemic; given the totality of everything that is going on in our world today, and in light of what is perceived the [School Resource Officers] belong back in our schools,’ said Robert Alidi, the board’s chair on Tuesday evening.” The board “passed the directive for the superintendent unanimously, the decision coming amid an uptick in sometimes violent behavioral health-related incidents reported in the Norwich school district, and in districts across the country, over the last two years – a disturbing trend many believe is exacerbated by the pandemic’s upheaval of regular social interactions; particularly among the nation’s youth.”

Colorado Lawmakers Consider Plans To Reduce Crime

The AP (1/12, Nieberg, Anderson) reports from Denver, Colorado, “The Colorado Legislature reconvened Wednesday for its 2022 session with both majority Democrats and minority Republicans promising legislation to tackle the state’s increasing unaffordability and rise in crime.” According to the AP, “After two sessions defined by the COVID-19 pandemic, this year lawmakers will decide where to allocate nearly $2.6 billion of federal American Rescue Plan Act funds over the 120-day session. Both parties plan to introduce legislation aimed at reducing crime. Democrats announced measures that would increase behavioral health resources for those in the justice system suffering mental health issues. They will also look at funding community policing and programs to reduce homelessness, cut repeat offender rates and deal with substance abuse. Citing an increase in violent crimes, murder and earning the top spot nationwide for auto theft, Republicans blamed previous police accountability legislation that outlawed chokeholds, set requirements for body cameras and allowed officers to be sued for misconduct.”

The IACP is accepting applications from law enforcement agencies interested in developing officer and family wellness programs. To apply for the Law Enforcement Family Support Program Training and Technical Assistance (TTA) Program, visit the IACP Officer Safety and Wellness page. The program will equip officers, departments, and families with the tools needed to establish and/or enhance family wellness and support programs.

Applications are due January 19, 2022. Visit the IACP Officer Safety and Wellness page or email miller@theiacp.org for more information.

Federal, Local Authorities Announce California Gang Arrests, Gun Seizures

The Orange County (CA) Register (1/12, Emery) reports, “Joint FBI and local law enforcement operations targeting a pair of gangs in Orange and Los Angeles counties culminated in arrests and gun seizures early Wednesday, part of what federal officials described as a larger, ongoing effort to target illegal firearms and felons with guns.” An investigation that targeted “street gangs based in Anaheim and Pico Rivera...led to federal guns and drugs charges being filed against nearly two-dozen suspected gang members or associates, law enforcement officials announced on Wednesday morning. Law enforcement officials focused on arrests and charges connected to two gang-related cases.”

Students In US Face Counterfeit Pills Threat

An online Fox News (1/12, Westfall) report covers a counterfeit prescription pills threat that affects US students. Such pills may contain fentanyl, which “kills more adults age 18-45 than anything else in the US, according to” Centers for Disease Control and Prevention data.

The trio handcuffed Michael Garcia, and grabbed the loot and stash of cocaine, according to a criminal complaint unsealed in Manhattan federal court. Report Finds COVID Was Leading Cause Of Death Among US Police Officers In 2021

The New York Times (1/12, Taylor) reports, “For the second year in a row, Covid-19 was the leading cause of death for law enforcement officers in the United States, according to a report released on Tuesday by the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund.” The Times adds, “A total of 458 officers died in the line of duty in the country last year, making it the deadliest year in more than 90 years and a 55 percent increase from 2020, according to preliminary data compiled by the organization. Of those, it found that 301 federal, state, tribal and local law enforcement officers had died because of Covid-19.” Felony assaults “were responsible for the deaths of 84 officers last year, including 62 officers killed with firearms, the report said. Fifty-eight were killed in traffic-related incidents while working the roadways. Both the number of deaths from firearm assaults and traffic-related fatalities had risen from the previous year.”

Law Enforcement Officials Seek Tougher Penalties Against Fentanyl Dealers

The Orange County (CA) Register (1/12) reports a Wednesday news conference that was held at the Riverside County District's Attorney's Office aimed to increase public awareness of overdose deaths that were caused by illicit fentanyl and to promote legislation that would allow "drug dealers, especially fentanyl dealers, to be charged with murder." State lawmakers in California "have rejected several efforts to pass such laws, triggering a war with local law enforcement officials and" relatives of people who fatally overdosed on fentanyl. Some of those officials and family members attended Wednesday's news conference.

State Lawmakers In Maryland To Debate Recreational Marijuana Legalization

The AP (1/12, Witte) reports state lawmakers in Maryland, who "gathered on Wednesday for the start of their 90-day legislative session," will be "debating whether to legalize recreational marijuana." In an online story, WAMU-FM Washington (1/12, Bonessi) reports Maryland House of Delegates Speaker Adrienne Jones (D) "has already said that legalizing recreational marijuana is her top priority for" the current legislation session. Jones has "created a panel of lawmakers to study how the state could implement a recreational marijuana market."

Marshall Project Analysis: Police In US Solved About Half The Murders In 2020

The Marshall Project (1/12, Li, Lartey) reports, "For homicide detectives, 2020 brought good news and bad news. On the one hand, police across the nation solved more murders – in absolute numbers – than in any year since 1997, according to data reported to the FBI. On the other hand, because new homicides increased sharply, the reported rate at which killings were solved...declined to a little below 50%." That "lower clearance rate in 2020 was an extension of a long, steady drop since the early 1980s, when police cleared about 70% of all homicides, and a decline that experts say was exacerbated by the pandemic. From 2019 to 2020, police across the country solved 1,200 more murders, a 14% increase. But murders rose twice as quickly – by 30%,” and “as a result, the homicide clearance rate – the percentage of crimes cleared – dropped to a historic low. About 1 of every 2 murders was solved.”

Norwich, Connecticut Eyes Returning Police Officers To Schools

The Norwich (CT) Bulletin (1/12, Ballantyne) reports from Norwich, Connecticut, “With the blessing of the Board of Education, the superintendent of schools is set to meet with Police Chief Pat Daley with the goal of returning a police presence to the city’s middle schools in the form of school resource officers, or, SROs. ‘Given the climate of our schools, given the pandemic; given the totality of everything that is going on in our world today, and in light of what is perceived the [School Resource Officers] belong back in our schools,’ said Robert Alidi, the board’s chair on Tuesday evening.” The board “passed the directive for the superintendent unanimously, the decision coming amid an uptick in sometimes violent behavioral health-related incidents reported in the Norwich school district, and in districts across the country, over the last two years – a disturbing trend many believe is exacerbated by the pandemic’s upheaval of regular social interactions; particularly among the nation’s youth.”

Colorado Lawmakers Consider Plans To Reduce Crime

The AP (1/12, Nieberg, Anderson) reports from Denver, Colorado, “The Colorado Legislature reconvened Wednesday for its 2022 session with both majority Democrats and minority Republicans promising legislation to tackle the state’s increasing unaffordability and rise in crime.” According to the AP, “After two sessions defined by the COVID-19 pandemic, this year lawmakers will decide where to allocate nearly $2.6 billion of federal American Rescue Plan Act funds over the 120-day session. Both parties plan to introduce legislation aimed at reducing crime. Democrats announced measures that would increase behavioral health resources for those in the justice system suffering mental health issues. They will also look at funding community policing and programs to reduce homelessness, cut repeat offender rates and deal with substance abuse. Citing an increase in violent crimes, murder and earning the top spot nationwide for auto theft, Republicans blamed previous police accountability legislation that outlawed chokeholds, set requirements for body cameras and allowed officers to be sued for misconduct.”

Federal, Local Authorities Announce California Gang Arrests, Gun Seizures

The Orange County (CA) Register (1/12, Emery) reports, “Joint FBI and local law enforcement operations targeting a pair of gangs in Orange and Los Angeles counties culminated in arrests and gun seizures early Wednesday, part of what federal officials described as a larger, ongoing effort to target illegal firearms and felons with guns.” An investigation that targeted “street gangs based in Anaheim and Pico Rivera...led to federal guns and drugs charges being filed against nearly two-dozen suspected gang members or associates, law enforcement officials announced on Wednesday morning. Law enforcement officials focused on arrests and charges connected to two gang-related cases.”

While the information you provided is current, The Lead does not populate stories by submission process; it curates via an automated system based on article engagement in current news cycles, highlighting news from the prior day.

Hopefully this helps explain the process in more detail. Please let me know if you have additional questions.

Good morning Ryan, I need to report your response to my chief but before I do that, can you and/or the board explain how our case differs from the 22 yr old case published in THE LEAD (listed below) on August 9, 2021? Both cases were cold cases that happened many years ago but because of new advancements in DNA, both were re-opened and solved last year.

The difference in the 1980 case was the man had been dead for 22 years before he was identified as the killer. In our case, the killer is still alive, living in another state under a different name and after an exhaustive search plus a recent arrest on a warrant, the man was located, interviewed, and charged on our case in the fall of 2021.

This case should be considered a current new cycle. Please let me know so I can pass the information on to my chief, thank you.

Subject: Cold Case Article for THE LEAD

Good morning Ryan, as it relates to our earlier conversation, I am providing you with a synopsis of a Cold Case Homicide that Detectives from my department recently solved, resulting in the arrest of the murder suspect and closure to the family after almost 30 years. Below is an article published in THE LEAD on August 9th, identifying a cold unrelated to my department. I am looking to see if an article can be published related to the successful conclusion to our cold case.

DNA Identifies Suspected Killer In 1980 California Cold Case

The Orange County (CA) Register (8/9, Rasmussen) reports, "A man who died 22 years ago was publicly identified by police on Monday, Aug. 9, as the suspected killer in a 1980 case in Newport Beach after they used DNA, genetic genealogy and a process that never before had been used to solve a murder in the United States." Kenneth Elwin Marks "was the man who shot and killed Judith 'Judy' Nesbitt, 42, while showing him her family's boat on Nov. 26, 1980, Newport Beach police said." The OCR adds, "In 2002, investigators first tried to use DNA taken from roots of the hair and entered that information into the FBI's Combined DNA Index System, but the profile did not find a match. About three years ago, a more expanded DNA profile was taken from the remaining hair shafts. That type of extraction was the first of its kind used to identify someone in a murder investigation in the nation, police said."

The following is a synopsis of the case I am referring to;

In November 2020, Niles Illinois Detectives re-opened the 1992 cold case murder of Helen Cardwell. Cardwell was found dead in her room at the Niles Leaning Tower YMCA. Her death was ruled a homicide and the manner of death was strangulation.

Upon re-opening the case, Niles Detectives re-submitted items of evidence collected from the scene. Detectives were aware of advances in DNA technology that did not exist at the time of the murder. Swabs and other items that were collected from the original crime scene were re-examined at the crime lab.

The examination of the submitted items of evidence resulted in a CODIS match. The DNA matched the DNA of Richard J. Sisto. After several months of an exhaustive search, Sisto was located in Houston Texas after being taken into custody on a 2006 Parole violation warrant.

In September 2021, Sisto was interviewed by Niles Detectives and the Cook County State's Attorney's office, an arrest warrant was approved, and Sisto was extradited back to Niles Illinois where he was charged with: First Degree Murder.

Please let me know either way if this information can be published, consideration is greatly appreciated.

The difference in the 1980 case was the man had been dead for 22 years before he was identified as the killer. In our case, the killer is still alive, living in another state under a different name and after an exhaustive search plus a recent arrest on a warrant, the man was located, interviewed, and charged on our case in the fall of 2021.

This case should be considered a current new cycle. Please let me know so I can pass the information on to my chief, thank you.

It's not a current new cycle according to them but the example I gave them below was a 22 yr old case so I don't know what the difference is.

Subject: Cold Case Article for THE LEAD

Good morning Ryan, as it relates to our earlier conversation, I am providing you with a synopsis of a Cold Case Homicide that Detectives from my department recently solved, resulting in the arrest of the murder suspect and closure to the family after almost 30 years. Below is an article published in THE LEAD on August 9th, identifying a cold unrelated to my department. I am looking to see if an article can be published related to the successful conclusion to our cold case.

DNA Identifies Suspected Killer In 1980 California Cold Case

The Orange County (CA) Register (8/9, Rasmussen) reports, "A man who died 22 years ago was publicly identified by police on Monday, Aug. 9, as the suspected killer in a 1980 case in Newport Beach after they used DNA, genetic genealogy and a process that never before had been used to solve a murder in the United States." Kenneth Elwin Marks "was the man who shot and killed

Judith 'Judy' Nesbitt, 42, while showing him her family's boat on Nov. 26, 1980, Newport Beach police said." The OCR adds, "In 2002, investigators first tried to use DNA taken from roots of the hair and entered that information into the FBI's Combined DNA Index System, but the profile did not find a match. About three years ago, a more expanded DNA profile was taken from the remaining hair shafts. That type of extraction was the first of its kind used to identify someone in a murder investigation in the nation, police said."

The following is a synopsis of the case I am referring to;

In November 2020, Niles Illinois Detectives re-opened the 1992 cold case murder of Helen Cardwell. Cardwell was found dead in her room at the Niles Leaning Tower YMCA. Her death was ruled a homicide and the manner of death was strangulation.

Upon re-opening the case, Niles Detectives re-submitted items of evidence collected from the scene. Detectives were aware of advances in DNA technology that did not exist at the time of the murder. Swabs and other items that were collected from the original crime scene were re-examined at the crime lab.

The examination of the submitted items of evidence resulted in a CODIS match. The DNA matched the DNA of Richard J. Sisto. After several months of an exhaustive search, Sisto was located in Houston Texas after being taken into custody on a 2006 Parole violation warrant.

In September 2021, Sisto was interviewed by Niles Detectives and the Cook County State's Attorney's office, an arrest warrant was approved, and Sisto was extradited back to Niles Illinois where he was charged with: First Degree Murder.

Please let me know either way if this information can be published, consideration is greatly appreciated.

ILACP will host a Legislative Committee meeting today at 10 a.m. on Zoom.

While this technically a committee, all members are invited to observe and participate because we know the importance of our legislative work.

The agenda is available online here and is attached.

•Join Zoom Meeting

•<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/85752175056>

•10 a.m. Wednesday, January 12, 2022

Here is a recap of the 2021 session and priority bills that have not been fully addressed. Be thinking about which bills we want to keep as priorities in 2022 spring session. Watch for additional documents next week prior to the Wednesday meeting.

Since a number of new bills are being filed, to keep our list manageable we really need to cut this older list down to 10 or 20 really problematic bills. If there is a bill that you believe warrants continued monitoring, let's throw it on the list (such as HB 1727, the Qualified Immunity Bill).

We are just starting to get the new filings and I will pass along as we get them. We are planning the bill review session for February 9.

This year's legislative session is shortened and is slated to adjourn on April 8, rather than the usual May 31.

Law Enforcement Line-Of-Duty Deaths Jumped 55% In 2021

Fox News (1/11, Pagones) reports, "The number of police and law enforcement officers who died in the line of duty jumped 55% from 2021 to 2020 – with the majority succumbing to COVID-19-related illness, statistics released Tuesday show." Fox News adds, "There were 458 law enforcement deaths last year as of Dec. 31, 2021, the National Law Enforcement Officers' Memorial Fund (NLEOMF) announced. The startling figure – up from 295 in 2020 – represents law enforcement officers at the federal, state, county and municipal levels, as well as those in the tribal, campus, military and territorial sectors. 'Only 10 states and the District of Columbia did not lose an officer this year,' the group found." NLEOMF CEO Marcia Ferranto "said 2021 'will go down as the year of the most line-of-duty fatalities since 1930 due to the Covid-19 pandemic and increases in traffic fatalities and firearms ambushes.'"

US DOJ Creating Special Unit Focused On "Elevated" Threat Of Domestic Terrorism

The AP (1/11, Tucker) reports Assistant Attorney General Matthew Olsen on Tuesday testified that the Justice Department is "establishing a specialized unit focused on domestic terrorism." Olsen, who "described an 'elevated' threat from violent extremists" while testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee, "said the number of FBI investigations into suspected domestic violent extremists has more than doubled since the spring of 2020." Olsen stated, "We have seen a growing threat from those who are motivated by racial animus, as well as those who ascribe to extremist anti-government and anti-authority ideologies."

Reuters (1/11, Lynch) reports Olsen "said the new unit will be part of the National Security Division and will work to 'ensure that these cases are properly handled and effectively coordinated' across the department and around the country." CNN (1/11, Schneider) reports on its website that

Olsen “told [lawmakers] that the newly formed unit will encompass a dedicated group of attorneys.” The New York Times (1/11, Benner) reports Olsen’s announcement “is in keeping with Attorney General Merrick B. Garland’s vow to prioritize combating domestic extremism.”

Smart Guns Set To Arrive In US, But Opposition Looms

Reuters (1/11) reports that personalized “smart guns, which can be fired only by verified users, may finally become available to U.S. consumers after two decades of questions about reliability and concerns they will usher in a new wave of government regulation.” On Friday, LodeStar Works “unveiled its 9mm smart handgun for shareholders and investors in Boise, Idaho. And a Kansas company, SmartGunz LLC, says law enforcement agents are beta testing its product, a similar but simpler model.” Reuters says the technology “could...reduce suicides, render lost or stolen guns useless, and offer safety for police officers and jail guards who fear gun grabs.” However, “attempts to develop smart guns have stalled: Smith & Wesson got hit with a boycott, a German company’s product was hacked, and a New Jersey law aimed at promoting smart guns has raised the wrath of defenders of the Second Amendment.”

Lancaster Police Department To Focus On Adding Additional Officers During Year Ahead

The Lancaster (OH) Eagle-Gazette (1/11) reports, “Looking at 2022, the Lancaster Police Department is going to focus on getting more police on patrol, which means finding the right candidates.” LPD Chief Adam Pillar “said hiring has been a slow and steady process, but with the passage of the income tax levy in 2020, and an attractive contract, he expects there will be good odds of reaching the department’s staffing goal.” In 2020, Lancaster residents elected to authorize “an income tax levy increase of 0.45%, raising the city’s income tax from 1.75% to 2.20%.” The uptick generates roughly $5 million annually, “which will be used by the city’s fire and police departments.”

Security, Crime, and Drugs

International Burglary Ring Targets Wealthy Suburban DC Asians

The Washington Post (1/11, A1, Jovenal) reports on the progress of “a years-long investigation into a skilled burglary ring” that “netted about $2 million by focusing on a very specific target: high-end homes of Asian and Middle Eastern families in the D.C. suburbs.” The Post says, according to law enforcement experts, “cells of professional South American burglars, particularly from Colombia and Chile, are entering the country illegally or exploiting a visa waiver program meant to expedite tourism from dozens of trusted foreign countries. Once here, they travel from state to state carrying out scores of burglaries, jewelry heists and other crimes, pilfering tens or hundreds of millions of dollars’ worth of goods each year, the FBI estimates.” The Post says low bail and jurisdictional thresholds that block the involvement of federal law enforcement agencies allow the groups to “often operate with impunity.”

Central Americans Separated Trying To Enter The US Targeted By Extortion Attempts

The AP (1/11, Spagat, Torrens) reports that some families in Central America who were separated trying to enter the US during the Trump Administration have been subject to “extortion attempts stemming from the mistaken belief that [they] received a huge payout.” The AP adds, “While specific reports are isolated, widespread extortion in Central America explains why many seek asylum in the United States in the first place. Some advocates fear prospects of large payments will fuel many more threats. An attorney for...[some of the] families has asked U.S. officials to consider admitting more relatives because of the threats.”

South Africa Files Terrorism Charges Against Suspect In Parliament Fire

The AP (1/11, Imray) reports prosecutors South African prosecutors charged the “homeless man accused of setting a fire that destroyed part of South Africa’s historic Parliament complex...with terrorism Tuesday and sent to a psychiatric hospital for a month for assessment.” The AP says Zandile Mafe, 49, “was already charged with housebreaking with intent to steal, theft, two counts of arson and possession of an explosive device when he appeared in court for the first time last week.”

Police In Turkey Detain 40 People Over Twitch Streamer Money Laundering Scheme

The Washington Post (1/11, Grayson) reports, “Turkish police detained 40 people last week in relation to an alleged money laundering scheme perpetrated on the streaming platform Twitch, the latest instance of a video game ecosystem being appropriated for purposes of fraud.” The Post adds, “With over 9 million user-created channels, Twitch does not lack for nooks and crannies in which unsavory sorts – harassers, spammers and scammers – can hide,” and “late last year, this became especially apparent when users mined payout data from an October 2021 Twitch hack and uncovered evidence of a Turkish money laundering ring that went through smaller, less visible streamers. Scammers would use stolen credit cards to donate Bits – a proprietary Twitch currency purchasable with real money – to streamers, who would in turn get paid in real money by Twitch and then return a substantial sum to scammers, while also pocketing a portion themselves.”

Croatian Law Enforcement Confiscates Almost 220 Kilograms Of Heroin

The AP (1/11) reports, “Croatian police on Tuesday displayed hundreds of pounds of drugs they say were seized in two separate operations last year in a southern Adriatic Sea port close to the famous resort of Dubrovnik.” The AP adds, “The discovery last October in the port of Ploče of nearly 220 kilograms (482 pounds) of heroin was the biggest ever in Croatia, police said.” Law enforcement indicated via a statement that the heroin was intended for distribution in Western Europe. The AP adds, “In November, divers found 61 kilograms (136 pounds) of cocaine in a metal container attached with magnets to the bottom of another ship from South America.”

Other coverage includes Reuters (1/11).

German Law Enforcement Carry Out Raids Pertaining To Floods

The AP (1/11) reports, "Police in western Germany raided offices and homes on Tuesday in connection with the floods last summer in which more than 180 people died and hundreds more were injured." The AP paraphrases German news agency dpa as having said that "the public prosecutor's office in Cologne coordinated the searches" and that they entailed in excess of 20 offices and residences. Probes were purportedly concentrating "on...the owner and lessor of an opencast mine in Erftstadt, near the city of Cologne, as well as five people of the operating company and four people with the regional district council, dpa reported." The ages of the suspects range from 29 to 65. The AP adds, "The public prosecutor's office is investigating them on suspicion of negligently causing a flood by omission, endangering construction and violating the country's federal mining act, dpa reported."

Ottawa Police Uncover Makeshift Drug Lab

The Ottawa (CAN) Citizen (1/11, Lapierre) reports, "Ottawa police arrested two people and uncovered a makeshift drug laboratory during a raid" operation that was conducted earlier this week. The warrant that authorized the operation "was based on intelligence collected earlier this year," when "front-line officers responded to a call for service" at the apartment building that was raided.

Toddler Taken To Hospital After Eating Cake Pop Made With Cannabis

Newsweek (1/11, Kika) reports a toddler consumed a cake pop with marijuana in it while on a family vacation to Florida. Rebecca Villareal of Ohio "told ABC 13 about the incident, which befell her three-year-old, Emilio." The family visited Groovy Smoothie in Tarpon Springs, which "offers to infuse certain items with cannabis." Emilio requested "a cake pop he saw in one of the store's display fridges." Rebecca, who "said that the packaging included a 'kid-friendly' label," also said, "Ten minutes later, it triggered him. He fell asleep on the car ride home and we put him to bed. When he woke up he was screaming and crying." Emilio was taken to Advent Health North Pinellas Hospital, where "he was diagnosed with a marijuana overdose." The cake pop was "made with 100mg of THC."

Smart Guns Set To Arrive In US, But Opposition Looms

Reuters (1/11) reports that personalized “smart guns, which can be fired only by verified users, may finally become available to U.S. consumers after two decades of questions about reliability and concerns they will usher in a new wave of government regulation.” On Friday, LodeStar Works “unveiled its 9mm smart handgun for shareholders and investors in Boise, Idaho. And a Kansas company, SmartGunz LLC, says law enforcement agents are beta testing its product, a similar but simpler model.” Reuters says the technology “could...reduce suicides, render lost or stolen guns useless, and offer safety for police officers and jail guards who fear gun grabs.” However, “attempts to develop smart guns have stalled: Smith & Wesson got hit with a boycott, a German company’s product was hacked, and a New Jersey law aimed at promoting smart guns has raised the wrath of defenders of the Second Amendment.”

Lancaster Police Department To Focus On Adding Additional Officers During Year Ahead

The Lancaster (OH) Eagle-Gazette (1/11) reports, “Looking at 2022, the Lancaster Police Department is going to focus on getting more police on patrol, which means finding the right candidates.” LPD Chief Adam Pillar “said hiring has been a slow and steady process, but with the passage of the income tax levy in 2020, and an attractive contract, he expects there will be good odds of reaching the department’s staffing goal.” In 2020, Lancaster residents elected to authorize “an income tax levy increase of 0.45%, raising the city’s income tax from 1.75% to 2.20%.” The uptick generates roughly $5 million annually, “which will be used by the city’s fire and police departments.”

Security, Crime, and Drugs

International Burglary Ring Targets Wealthy Suburban DC Asians

The Washington Post (1/11, A1, Jovenal) reports on the progress of “a years-long investigation into a skilled burglary ring” that “netted about $2 million by focusing on a very specific target: high-end homes of Asian and Middle Eastern families in the D.C. suburbs.” The Post says, according to law enforcement experts, “cells of professional South American burglars, particularly from Colombia and Chile, are entering the country illegally or exploiting a visa waiver program meant to expedite tourism from dozens of trusted foreign countries. Once here, they travel from state to state carrying out scores of burglaries, jewelry heists and other crimes, pilfering tens or hundreds of millions of dollars’ worth of goods each year, the FBI estimates.” The Post says low bail and jurisdictional thresholds that block the involvement of federal law enforcement agencies allow the groups to “often operate with impunity.”

Central Americans Separated Trying To Enter The US Targeted By Extortion Attempts

The AP (1/11, Spagat, Torrens) reports that some families in Central America who were separated trying to enter the US during the Trump Administration have been subject to “extortion attempts stemming from the mistaken belief that [they] received a huge payout.” The AP adds, “While specific reports are isolated, widespread extortion in Central America explains why many seek asylum in the United States in the first place. Some advocates fear prospects of large payments will fuel many more threats. An attorney for...[some of the] families has asked U.S. officials to consider admitting more relatives because of the threats.”

South Africa Files Terrorism Charges Against Suspect In Parliament Fire

The AP (1/11, Imray) reports prosecutors South African prosecutors charged the “homeless man accused of setting a fire that destroyed part of South Africa’s historic Parliament complex...with terrorism Tuesday and sent to a psychiatric hospital for a month for assessment.” The AP says Zandile Mafe, 49, “was already charged with housebreaking with intent to steal, theft, two counts of arson and possession of an explosive device when he appeared in court for the first time last week.”

Police In Turkey Detain 40 People Over Twitch Streamer Money Laundering Scheme

The Washington Post (1/11, Grayson) reports, “Turkish police detained 40 people last week in relation to an alleged money laundering scheme perpetrated on the streaming platform Twitch, the latest instance of a video game ecosystem being appropriated for purposes of fraud.” The Post adds, “With over 9 million user-created channels, Twitch does not lack for nooks and crannies in which unsavory sorts – harassers, spammers and scammers – can hide,” and “late last year, this became especially apparent when users mined payout data from an October 2021 Twitch hack and uncovered evidence of a Turkish money laundering ring that went through smaller, less visible streamers. Scammers would use stolen credit cards to donate Bits – a proprietary Twitch currency purchasable with real money – to streamers, who would in turn get paid in real money by Twitch and then return a substantial sum to scammers, while also pocketing a portion themselves.”

Croatian Law Enforcement Confiscates Almost 220 Kilograms Of Heroin

The AP (1/11) reports, “Croatian police on Tuesday displayed hundreds of pounds of drugs they say were seized in two separate operations last year in a southern Adriatic Sea port close to the famous resort of Dubrovnik.” The AP adds, “The discovery last October in the port of Ploce of nearly 220 kilograms (482 pounds) of heroin was the biggest ever in Croatia, police said.” Law enforcement indicated via a statement that the heroin was intended for distribution in Western Europe. The AP adds, “In November, divers found 61 kilograms (136 pounds) of cocaine in a metal container attached with magnets to the bottom of another ship from South America.”

Other coverage includes Reuters (1/11).

German Law Enforcement Carry Out Raids Pertaining To Floods

The AP (1/11) reports, "Police in western Germany raided offices and homes on Tuesday in connection with the floods last summer in which more than 180 people died and hundreds more were injured." The AP paraphrases German news agency dpa as having said that "the public prosecutor's office in Cologne coordinated the searches" and that they entailed in excess of 20 offices and residences. Probes were purportedly concentrating "on...the owner and lessor of an opencast mine in Erftstadt, near the city of Cologne, as well as five people of the operating company and four people with the regional district council, dpa reported." The ages of the suspects range from 29 to 65. The AP adds, "The public prosecutor's office is investigating them on suspicion of negligently causing a flood by omission, endangering construction and violating the country's federal mining act, dpa reported."

Ottawa Police Uncover Makeshift Drug Lab

The Ottawa (CAN) Citizen (1/11, Lapierre) reports, "Ottawa police arrested two people and uncovered a makeshift drug laboratory during a raid" operation that was conducted earlier this week. The warrant that authorized the operation "was based on intelligence collected earlier this year," when "front-line officers responded to a call for service" at the apartment building that was raided.

Toddler Taken To Hospital After Eating Cake Pop Made With Cannabis

Newsweek (1/11, Kika) reports a toddler consumed a cake pop with marijuana in it while on a family vacation to Florida. Rebecca Villareal of Ohio "told ABC 13 about the incident, which befell her three-year-old, Emilio." The family visited Groovy Smoothie in Tarpon Springs, which "offers to infuse certain items with cannabis." Emilio requested "a cake pop he saw in one of the store's display fridges." Rebecca, who "said that the packaging included a 'kid-friendly' label," also said, "Ten minutes later, it triggered him. He fell asleep on the car ride home and we put him to bed. When he woke up he was screaming and crying." Emilio was taken to Advent Health North Pinellas Hospital, where "he was diagnosed with a marijuana overdose." The cake pop was "made with 100mg of THC."

Law Enforcement Line-Of-Duty Deaths Jumped 55% In 2021

Fox News (1/11, Pagonis) reports, "The number of police and law enforcement officers who died in the line of duty jumped 55% from 2021 to 2020 – with the majority succumbing to COVID-19-related illness, statistics released Tuesday show." Fox News adds, "There were 458 law enforcement deaths last year as of Dec. 31, 2021, the National Law Enforcement Officers' Memorial Fund (NLEOMF) announced. The startling figure – up from 295 in 2020 – represents law enforcement officers at the federal, state, county and municipal levels, as well as those in the tribal, campus, military and territorial sectors. 'Only 10 states and the District of Columbia did not lose an officer this year,' the group found." NLEOMF CEO Marcia Ferranto "said 2021 'will go down as the year of the most line-of-duty fatalities since 1930 due to the Covid-19 pandemic and increases in traffic fatalities and firearms ambushes.'"

US DOJ Creating Special Unit Focused On "Elevated" Threat Of Domestic Terrorism

The AP (1/11, Tucker) reports Assistant Attorney General Matthew Olsen on Tuesday testified that the Justice Department is "establishing a specialized unit focused on domestic terrorism." Olsen, who "described an 'elevated' threat from violent extremists" while testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee, "said the number of FBI investigations into suspected domestic violent extremists has more than doubled since the spring of 2020." Olsen stated, "We have seen a growing threat from those who are motivated by racial animus, as well as those who ascribe to extremist anti-government and anti-authority ideologies."

Reuters (1/11, Lynch) reports Olsen "said the new unit will be part of the National Security Division and will work to 'ensure that these cases are properly handled and effectively coordinated' across the department and around the country." CNN (1/11, Schneider) reports on its website that

Olsen “told [lawmakers] that the newly formed unit will encompass a dedicated group of attorneys.” The New York Times (1/11, Benner) reports Olsen’s announcement “is in keeping with Attorney General Merrick B. Garland’s vow to prioritize combating domestic extremism.”

Subject: Cold Case Article for THE LEAD

Good morning Ryan, as it relates to our earlier conversation, I am providing you with a synopsis of a Cold Case Homicide that Detectives from my department recently solved, resulting in the arrest of the murder suspect and closure to the family after almost 30 years. Below is an article published in THE LEAD on August 9th, identifying a cold unrelated to my department. I am looking to see if an article can be published related to the successful conclusion to our cold case.

DNA Identifies Suspected Killer In 1980 California Cold Case

The Orange County (CA) Register (8/9, Rasmussen) reports, "A man who died 22 years ago was publicly identified by police on Monday, Aug. 9, as the suspected killer in a 1980 case in Newport Beach after they used DNA, genetic genealogy and a process that never before had been used to solve a murder in the United States." Kenneth Elwin Marks "was the man who shot and killed Judith 'Judy' Nesbitt, 42, while showing him her family's boat on Nov. 26, 1980, Newport Beach police said." The OCR adds, "In 2002, investigators first tried to use DNA taken from roots of the hair and entered that information into the FBI's Combined DNA Index System, but the profile did not find a match. About three years ago, a more expanded DNA profile was taken from the remaining hair shafts. That type of extraction was the first of its kind used to identify someone in a murder investigation in the nation, police said."

The following is a synopsis of the case I am referring to;

In November 2020, Niles Illinois Detectives re-opened the 1992 cold case murder of Helen Cardwell. Cardwell was found dead in her room at the Niles Leaning Tower YMCA. Her death was ruled a homicide and the manner of death was strangulation.

Upon re-opening the case, Niles Detectives re-submitted items of evidence collected from the scene. Detectives were aware of advances in DNA technology that did not exist at the time of the murder. Swabs and other items that were collected from the original crime scene were re-examined at the crime lab.

The examination of the submitted items of evidence resulted in a CODIS match. The DNA matched the DNA of Richard J. Sisto. After several months of an exhaustive search, Sisto was located in Houston Texas after being taken into custody on a 2006 Parole violation warrant.

In September 2021, Sisto was interviewed by Niles Detectives and the Cook County State's Attorney's office, an arrest warrant was approved, and Sisto was extradited back to Niles Illinois where he was charged with: First Degree Murder.

Please let me know either way if this information can be published, consideration is greatly appreciated.

Subject: Cold Case Article for THE LEAD

Good morning Ryan, as it relates to our earlier conversation, I am providing you with a synopsis of a Cold Case Homicide that Detectives from my department recently solved, resulting in the arrest of the murder suspect and closure to the family after almost 30 years. Below is an article published in THE LEAD on August 9th, identifying a cold unrelated to my department. I am looking to see if an article can be published related to the successful conclusion to our cold case.

DNA Identifies Suspected Killer In 1980 California Cold Case

The Orange County (CA) Register (8/9, Rasmussen) reports, "A man who died 22 years ago was publicly identified by police on Monday, Aug. 9, as the suspected killer in a 1980 case in Newport Beach after they used DNA, genetic genealogy and a process that never before had been used to solve a murder in the United States." Kenneth Elwin Marks "was the man who shot and killed Judith 'Judy' Nesbitt, 42, while showing him her family's boat on Nov. 26, 1980, Newport Beach police said." The OCR adds, "In 2002, investigators first tried to use DNA taken from roots of the hair and entered that information into the FBI's Combined DNA Index System, but the profile did not find a match. About three years ago, a more expanded DNA profile was taken from the remaining hair shafts. That type of extraction was the first of its kind used to identify someone in a murder investigation in the nation, police said."

The following is a synopsis of the case I am referring to;

In November 2020, Niles Illinois Detectives re-opened the 1992 cold case murder of Helen Cardwell. Cardwell was found dead in her room at the Niles Leaning Tower YMCA. Her death was ruled a homicide and the manner of death was strangulation.

Upon re-opening the case, Niles Detectives re-submitted items of evidence collected from the scene. Detectives were aware of advances in DNA technology that did not exist at the time of the murder. Swabs and other items that were collected from the original crime scene were re-examined at the crime lab.

The examination of the submitted items of evidence resulted in a CODIS match. The DNA matched the DNA of Richard J. Sisto. After several months of an exhaustive search, Sisto was located in Houston Texas after being taken into custody on a 2006 Parole violation warrant.

In September 2021, Sisto was interviewed by Niles Detectives and the Cook County State's Attorney's office, an arrest warrant was approved, and Sisto was extradited back to Niles Illinois where he was charged with: First Degree Murder.

Please let me know either way if this information can be published, consideration is greatly appreciated.

The examination of the submitted items of evidence resulted in a CODIS match. The DNA matched the DNA of Richard J. Sisto. After several months of an exhaustive search, Sisto was located in Houston Texas after being taken into custody on a 2006 Parole violation warrant.

In September 2021, Sisto was interviewed by Niles Detectives and the Cook County State's Attorney's office, an arrest warrant was approved, and Sisto was extradited back to Niles Illinois where he was charged with: First Degree Murder.

Please let me know either way if this information can be published, consideration is greatly appreciated.

Subject: Cold Case Article for THE LEAD

Good morning Ryan, as it relates to our earlier conversation, I am providing you with a synopsis of a Cold Case Homicide that Detectives from my department recently solved, resulting in the arrest of the murder suspect and closure to the family after almost 30 years. Below is an article published in THE LEAD on August 9th, identifying a cold unrelated to my department. I am looking to see if an article can be published related to the successful conclusion to our cold case.

DNA Identifies Suspected Killer In 1980 California Cold Case

The Orange County (CA) Register (8/9, Rasmussen) reports, "A man who died 22 years ago was publicly identified by police on Monday, Aug. 9, as the suspected killer in a 1980 case in Newport Beach after they used DNA, genetic genealogy and a process that never before had been used to solve a murder in the United States." Kenneth Elwin Marks "was the man who shot and killed Judith 'Judy' Nesbitt, 42, while showing him her family's boat on Nov. 26, 1980, Newport Beach police said." The OCR adds, "In 2002, investigators first tried to use DNA taken from roots of the hair and entered that information into the FBI's Combined DNA Index System, but the profile did not find a match. About three years ago, a more expanded DNA profile was taken from the remaining hair shafts. That type of extraction was the first of its kind used to identify someone in a murder investigation in the nation, police said."

The following is a synopsis of the case I am referring to;

In November 2020, Niles Illinois Detectives re-opened the 1992 cold case murder of Helen Cardwell. Cardwell was found dead in her room at the Niles Leaning Tower YMCA. Her death was ruled a homicide and the manner of death was strangulation.

Upon re-opening the case, Niles Detectives re-submitted items of evidence collected from the scene. Detectives were aware of advances in DNA technology that did not exist at the time of the murder. Swabs and other items that were collected from the original crime scene were re-examined at the crime lab.

The examination of the submitted items of evidence resulted in a CODIS match. The DNA matched the DNA of Richard J. Sisto. After several months of an exhaustive search, Sisto was located in Houston Texas after being taken into custody on a 2006 Parole violation warrant.

In September 2021, Sisto was interviewed by Niles Detectives and the Cook County State's Attorney's office, an arrest warrant was approved, and Sisto was extradited back to Niles Illinois where he was charged with: First Degree Murder.

Two Supreme Court Justices Worried About Federal Sentencing Guideline Disparities

CNN (1/10, de Vogue) reports in online coverage that US Supreme Court Justices Sonia Sotomayor and Amy Coney Barrett “raised concerns on Monday about” sentencing guideline disparities in the federal legal system. The reaction from the two justices, who are on “opposite sides of the ideological spectrum,” led “some experts to believe that Barrett might be concerned about the operation of the federal sentencing system and potential disparities that can arise” because the US Sentencing Commission “currently only has one active member.” This matter is related to a US Supreme Court ruling that “denied a petition from Thomas Javion Guerrant,” who “is currently serving a 10-year term because he sold seven grams of heroin to an undercover informant, fled from police and damaged a US Marshals vehicle.”

The Albuquerque (NM) Journal (1/9, Kaplan) reports Quinn Mulhern and Leigh White “are behavioral health responders who roam the streets as part of” Albuquerque Community Safety, a city program that Albuquerque “launched at the end of August.”

Europol Ordered To Delete Store Of Personal Data

The Guardian (GBR) (1/10, Howden) reports, “The EU’s police agency, Europol, will be forced to delete much of a vast store of personal data that it has been found to have amassed unlawfully by the bloc’s data protection watchdog. The unprecedented finding from the European Data Protection Supervisor (EDPS) targets what privacy experts are calling a ‘big data ark’ containing billions of points of information. Sensitive data in the ark has been drawn from crime reports, hacked from encrypted phone services and sampled from asylum seekers never involved in any crime.” The Guardian adds, “According to internal documents seen by the Guardian, Europol’s cache contains at least 4 petabytes – equivalent to 3m CD-Roms or a fifth of the entire contents of the US Library of Congress. Data protection advocates say the volume of information held on Europol's systems amounts to mass surveillance and is a step on its road to becoming a European counterpart to the US National Security Agency (NSA), the organisation whose clandestine online spying was revealed by whistleblower Edward Snowden."

North Dakota "Click It Or Ticket" Enforcement Campaign Nets More Than 2,000 Citations

The Devils Lake (ND) Journal (1/10) reports, "Law enforcement agencies across the state participated in the Click It or Ticket enforcement campaign from Nov. 1 to Dec. 16, 2021 to help save lives on North Dakota roads." The Journal adds, "A total of 2,071 citations were attributed to the overtime enforcement patrols. Of the total citations, 731 were citations for failure to wear a seat belt and 26 were child restraint citations. Tickets for speeding totaled 797. The traffic stops also resulted in 194 other traffic citations (i.e. disobeying traffic signals, equipment violations), 78 uninsured motorists, 68 suspended/revoked license violations, 30 drug arrests, 12 citations for distracted driving, 16 warrants served, and five driving under the influence (DUI) citations. In 2020, 60% of motor vehicle fatalities in North Dakota were not wearing their seat belt. Seat belts are the single most effective safety device to prevent death and injury in a motor vehicle crash."

Study Focuses On Gun Deaths In US

HealthDay (1/10, Reinberg) reports, "A temporary falloff in the number of Americans who kill themselves and others with guns is over," according to a recently released Centers for Disease Control and Prevention study. HealthDay adds, "'Firearm homicides and suicides are an urgent public health concern in the United States,' said Scott Kegler," the study's lead author. The study found "that guns were involved in 75% of all homicides and 91% of homicides involving youths between 2018 and 2019 – a rate basically unchanged from 2016," but "those new numbers represent a significant and troubling uptick from a decade before, said Kegler, from the CDC's Division of Injury Prevention."

Drug Overdose Deaths Increasing In Milwaukee County, Wisconsin

The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (1/10) reports, "Drug overdose deaths in Milwaukee County have been trending upward" each year since 2018. Fentanyl, "either alone or in combination with other drugs, was the biggest killer in 2021, as 443 deaths have been linked to that drug, according to the Medical Examiner's Office." The Journal Sentinel adds, "Fentanyl is a synthetic opioid that is 80 to 100 times stronger than morphine, according to" the DEA.

Coast Guard Seizes Drugs Worth Millions On Street

An online WSOC-TV Charlotte, NC (1/10) article says the US Coast Guard Cutter Stone recently returned its US port, after its crew seized drugs that "had an estimated combined street value of $57.1 million." The vessel's "crew also transferred 20 alleged narcotics smugglers to the Coast Guard's Seventh District and US Drug Enforcement Administration authorities." These results were achieved during "a 61-day patrol in the Caribbean Sea and Eastern Pacific Ocean."

Seapower Magazine (1/10) also covers the results of that mission.

Arrests Made In Texas Mail Theft Case

KWKT-TV Waco, TX (1/10, Richter) reports, "Woodway Public Safety Officers report two men have been booked into the McLennan County Jail on mail theft charges." The men were arrested after police officers "stopped to check on a vehicle parked in front of mailboxes for 205 Otis Drive early Monday morning." The officers "noticed the smell of marijuana coming from the vehicle, and asked the occupants to step out as they searched the vehicle. This was when an arrest affidavit states they found bags of mail stuffed under the front passenger seat. The first few mail items observed had the address for 205 Otis on them. One of the individuals ran, and was found behind the fence at 210 Otis. All of the occupants of the car denied any knowledge of the mail. The affidavit stated that as officers sorted through the mail, it was identified as being from 36 different addresses – some open, some not."

GAO: Virtual Currencies Increasingly Used In Human/Drug Trafficking

Forbes (1/10, Knutson) reports the Government Accountability Office (GAO) found that virtual "currencies are being used increasingly in human and drug trafficking." As evidence for the drug trafficking finding, the GAO "points to a five-fold increase in the number of suspicious activity reports filed with the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN)." Those drug trafficking-related reports increased from 252 in 2017 to "almost 1,432 in 2020."

Lack Of Federal Cyberattack Reporting Law Limiting CISA's Effectiveness

Roll Call (1/10, Ratnam) reports the absence of a federal law "requiring operators of critical infrastructure to report cyberattacks to the federal government is likely leaving the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency in the dark about possible attacks as the agency and others confront one of the most widespread software flaws ever discovered." CISA, other US agencies, "cybersecurity researchers and companies around the world are scrambling to fix a flaw in a widely used logging software known as Log4j that could open the door to ransomware attacks by criminals as well as sophisticated exploitation by government spy agencies." Although security researchers have "seen tens of thousands of instances of criminal groups and sophisticated adversaries scanning computer networks in search of a loophole, no major intrusions have thus far been reported by any company or U.S. agency."

Two Supreme Court Justices Worried About Federal Sentencing Guideline Disparities

CNN (1/10, de Vogue) reports in online coverage that US Supreme Court Justices Sonia Sotomayor and Amy Coney Barrett “raised concerns on Monday about” sentencing guideline disparities in the federal legal system. The reaction from the two justices, who are on “opposite sides of the ideological spectrum,” led “some experts to believe that Barrett might be concerned about the operation of the federal sentencing system and potential disparities that can arise” because the US Sentencing Commission “currently only has one active member.” This matter is related to a US Supreme Court ruling that “denied a petition from Thomas Javion Guerrant,” who “is currently serving a 10-year term because he sold seven grams of heroin to an undercover informant, fled from police and damaged a US Marshals vehicle.”

Good Afternoon,

Sergeant Jeremy Sims of Matteson PD is requesting fellow I-PACers to conduct a mock assessment for the City of Matteson Police Department. They are an ILEAP town.

The assessment will be done in person on January 21, 2022. This is to prepare for their ILEAP assessment that is coming up.

We all know how beneficial mock assessments are, not only for the department we are working with but for newer accreditation managers and even the veterans. There is always that one proof we look at and say, "oh I could use that too."

Please let me know if you can assist. I am looking for at least 3 ILEAP mock assessors to assist.

Thanks, have a great day and be safe!

Governor Pritzker signs Trailer Bill 2; ILACP has updated fact sheet (Version 7)

Late Friday afternoon, Governor Pritzker signed what we have been calling the Trailer Bill 2 to the SAFE-T Act.

The attached Fact Sheet shows how various provisions of the SAFE-T Act were affected by this trailer bill, which the Illinois Chiefs asked the governor to sign after the House passed it on Wednesday, January 5.

Most significant for ILACP members about this bill, HB 3512 SA1:

- There is new language in the new 3-phone-call law that allows for “exigent circumstances.” Remember, this went into effect January 1 and you should have a policy by now on allowing 3 phones calls once a person is in the first place of detention after being placed in custody.
- The effective dates for all of the new decertification provisions were moved from January 1, 2022, to July 1, 2022.
- The effective dates for the new training requirements in the SAFE-T Act were also moved from January 1, 2022, to July 1, 2022.

If you have questions, please direct them to ed@ilchiefs.org or consult your municipal attorney.

ILACP will host a Legislative Committee meeting at 10am on Wednesday, January 12 at 10 a.m. While this technically a committee via, all members are invited to observe and participate because we know the importance of our legislative work.

•Join Zoom Meeting

•<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/85752175056>

•10 a.m. Wednesday, January 12, 2022

Here is a recap of the 2021 session and priority bills that have not been fully addressed. Be thinking about which bills we want to keep as priorities in 2022 spring session. Watch for additional documents next week prior to the Wednesday meeting.

Since a number of new bills are being filed, to keep our list manageable we really need to cut this older list down to 10 or 20 really problematic bills. If there is a bill that you believe warrants continued monitoring, let's throw it on the list (such as HB 1727, the Qualified Immunity Bill).

We are just starting to get the new filings and I will pass along as we get them. We are planning the bill review session for February 9.

This year's legislative session is shortened and is slated to adjourn on April 8, rather than the usual May 31.

Retailers More Vulnerable To Organized Shoplifting

CNN (1/7, Kavilanz) reported that while “retailers have always been vulnerable to shoplifting,” an increase in “coordinated and organized robberies at high-value stores, even during shopping hours, has the industry on edge.” In November, a group of 14 thieves stormed a Louis Vuitton store in Illinois, and that same month “a group of at least 18 people broke into a closed Nordstrom store at LA’s famous high-end The Grove shopping mall using a sledgehammer and an electric bicycle” and “made off with several thousand dollars in merchandise.” Stores have increased security measures in response, but “retailers have to contend with another consequence of organized theft: Its high cost to stores.”

Police Forces Across Canada Struggle With Officer Shortages Due To COVID

The Globe and Mail (CAN) (1/7, Piapot, Freeze, Woo) reports, “Police forces across Canada are starting large-scale redeployments of officers to contend with pandemic-induced staff shortages. In some cities, the plans include pulling specialist investigators from their duties to shore up squad-car patrols.” The Globe and Mail adds, “Police chiefs say growing numbers of officers are calling in sick because they are infected with or have been exposed to COVID-19. This, in turn, is prompting police leaders to ask healthy officers to put in longer hours and have their workloads altered. As COVID-19 cases soar, public health officials have warned that public and private-sector organizations should prepare for staffing reductions of more than 30 per cent. Some police leaders are already speaking openly about the tradeoffs to public-safety.” Recently Winnipeg Police Service Chief Danny Smyth “announced that he was invoking an extraordinary power last used in 1997 so he could reassign officers from other bureaus to general patrol.”

UK Police Find Double The Number Of Cannabis Farms During Lockdown

Yahoo! News (1/8, Nsubuga) reported, “The Met Police found double the number of cannabis farms during the first year of lockdown, according to a new report.” Yahoo! News added, “Officers raided 455 farms in the capital in 2020, which was around half of the 1,096 discovered from November 2015 to December 2021, the data showed. The figure for 2020, when the UK COVID restrictions began, was more than double of any of the four previous years.” According to Yahoo! News, “The Met released the data to Conservative London Assembly member and former mayoral candidate Shaun Bailey, the BBC reported. A spokesman for the Mayor of London said the statistics showed police were ‘bearing down on illegal drugs’.”

Delaware Substance Use Disorder Treatment Network Marks 100,000 Referrals

Delaware Public Media (1/9, Irizarry) reports the Delaware Treatment and Referral Network (DTRN), an electronic system that aims to connect state residents with treatment services for a substance use disorder or mental health issues, has reached “a milestone” in terms of its total usage. Joanna Champney, a state official, said there have been 100,000 referrals since the DTRN launched. Champney stated, “Providers go online and use the DTRN portal to actually request services for their clients, and then the providers receiving those referrals can provide electronic responses,” so “marking 100,000 referrals...is something we’re really excited about.”

Adams Names Former Police Chief As Deputy Mayor Of NYC

The New York Times (1/7, A1, Mays, Rothfeld, Rashbaum) reports New York City mayor Eric Adams has appointed former police chief Philip Banks III as deputy mayor. Banks announced his own appointment “in an opinion piece in The Daily News,” but the Times adds that it was “delayed amid concerns about whether his 2014 resignation from the New York Police Department while the subject of a federal corruption investigation would hamper his credibility and ability to perform the job.”

Tennessee Planned Parenthood Fire Determined To Be Arson

The Washington Post (1/7, Bella) reports Knoxville Fire Department investigators determined that a fire at the Planned Parenthood of Tennessee and North Mississippi health center was arson. Public information officer Mark Wilbanks told the Post that “there is enough information on the scene to lead them to believe that someone or some people set this fire that morning.” Planned Parenthood previously called the fire an “intentional, criminal act” that was “emboldened by the rhetoric of antiabortion politicians.” The organization also “vowed to offer services as soon as possible at the Knoxville facility, which had been previously attacked in January 2021.” The New York Times (1/7, Holpuch) reports the investigation “is the second in the past year to focus on a crime against the clinic, which provided birth control, cancer screenings and medication abortions.” However, snow and rain have complicated efforts to search “the burned remains of the single-story building for evidence.”

Men Involved In Arbery Shooting Receive Life Sentences

The New York Times (1/7, Fausset) reports the three men involved in the fatal shooting of Ahmaud Arbery were sentenced to life in prison on Friday. Travis McMichael, “the man who fatally shot Ahmaud Arbery, and his father” were sentenced to life without parole, but their neighbor, William Bryan, received a “lesser sentence of life with the possibility of parole.” The Times adds that the “case is likely to be appealed to the Georgia Supreme Court,” but there will also be another “trial, in federal court, where the three men are charged with hate crimes and attempted kidnapping, and also face potential life sentences.” The Washington Post (1/7, A1) reports Judge Timothy Walmsley “said he ‘kept coming back to the terror’ Arbery must have felt as he was chased,” calling the shooting “absolutely chilling” and saying that the “most violent crime in Satilla Shores was the murder of Ahmaud Arbery.”

Sweden Confronts Gang Violence After Rap Star Killed

The New York Times (1/7, Coscarelli) reports the unsolved killing of a white Swedish rapper “has rocked Sweden’s rap scene. His fate and the violence that swirled around him in life have also put a very Swedish face on issues that have for years been roiling beneath the surface here, and given fresh urgency to debates in the political mainstream about rising gun violence, immigration and gang warfare.” According to the Times, “Some lawmakers, newspapers and parents have been left questioning the role of the music they have labeled – in a 1990s throwback – ‘gangster rap.’”

Gang Task Force Arrests Two Connecticut Men For Using 3D Printers To Make “Ghost Guns”

The Hartford (CT) Courant (1/7, Mahony) reported, “A federal gang task force has charged two” Connecticut “men with using high-tech, 3D printers and mail order parts to manufacture and sell untraceable ‘ghost guns,’ which have become weapons of choice for gang members and other criminals who cannot legally obtain weapons.” John Lee Ortiz, “28, and Audley Reeves, 30,” were recently arrested “and held without bail after a monthlong series of undercover weapons purchases by Hartford police and FBI agents. When members of the North Connecticut Gang Task Force searched Reeve’s apartment on Church Street at 6 a.m. on Tuesday, they apparently interrupted him in the process of manufacturing an assault rifle.”

Detroit Police Department Seizes Fentanyl, Other Drugs

The Detroit Free Press (1/7, Marini) reported that a recent Detroit Police Department search warrant operation led to “the seizure of narcotics, cash, a firearm and vehicles totaling $1,570,159,” as well as an unnamed suspect’s arrest. The drugs seized as a result of the operation included nearly 291 grams of fentanyl, more than 236 grams of methamphetamines, more than 728 grams of marijuana and more than 1,468 grams of cocaine.

In some cities, the plans include pulling specialist investigators from their duties to shore up squad-car patrols.” The Globe and Mail adds, “Police chiefs say growing numbers of officers are calling in sick because they are infected with or have been exposed to COVID-19. This, in turn, is prompting police leaders to ask healthy officers to put in longer hours and have their workloads altered. As COVID-19 cases soar, public health officials have warned that public and private-sector organizations should prepare for staffing reductions of more than 30 per cent. Some police leaders are already speaking openly about the tradeoffs to public-safety.” Recently Winnipeg Police Service Chief Danny Smyth “announced that he was invoking an extraordinary power last used in 1997 so he could reassign officers from other bureaus to general patrol.”

UK Police Find Double The Number Of Cannabis Farms During Lockdown

Yahoo! News (1/8, Nsubuga) reported, “The Met Police found double the number of cannabis farms during the first year of lockdown, according to a new report.” Yahoo! News added, “Officers raided 455 farms in the capital in 2020, which was around half of the 1,096 discovered from November 2015 to December 2021, the data showed. The figure for 2020, when the UK COVID restrictions began, was more than double of any of the four previous years.” According to Yahoo! News, “The Met released the data to Conservative London Assembly member and former mayoral candidate Shaun Bailey, the BBC reported. A spokesman for the Mayor of London said the statistics showed police were ‘bearing down on illegal drugs’.”

Delaware Substance Use Disorder Treatment Network Marks 100,000 Referrals

Delaware Public Media (1/9, Irizarry) reports the Delaware Treatment and Referral Network (DTRN), an electronic system that aims to connect state residents with treatment services for a substance use disorder or mental health issues, has reached “a milestone” in terms of its total usage. Joanna Champney, a state official, said there have been 100,000 referrals since the DTRN launched. Champney stated, “Providers go online and use the DTRN portal to actually request services for their clients, and then the providers receiving those referrals can provide electronic responses,” so “marking 100,000 referrals...is something we’re really excited about.”

Security, Crime, and Drugs

Adams Names Former Police Chief As Deputy Mayor Of NYC

The New York Times (1/7, A1, Mays, Rothfeld, Rashbaum) reports New York City mayor Eric Adams has appointed former police chief Philip Banks III as deputy mayor. Banks announced his own appointment “in an opinion piece in The Daily News,” but the Times adds that it was “delayed amid concerns about whether his 2014 resignation from the New York Police Department while the subject of a federal corruption investigation would hamper his credibility and ability to perform the job.”

Tennessee Planned Parenthood Fire Determined To Be Arson

The Washington Post (1/7, Bella) reports Knoxville Fire Department investigators determined that a fire at the Planned Parenthood of Tennessee and North Mississippi health center was arson. Public information officer Mark Wilbanks told the Post that “there is enough information on the scene to lead them to believe that someone or some people set this fire that morning.” Planned Parenthood previously called the fire an “intentional, criminal act” that was “emboldened by the rhetoric of antiabortion politicians.” The organization also “vowed to offer services as soon as possible at the Knoxville facility, which had been previously attacked in January 2021.” The New York Times (1/7, Holpuch) reports the investigation “is the second in the past year to focus on a crime against the clinic, which provided birth control, cancer screenings and medication abortions.” However, snow and rain have complicated efforts to search “the burned remains of the single-story building for evidence.”

Men Involved In Arbery Shooting Receive Life Sentences

The New York Times (1/7, Fausset) reports the three men involved in the fatal shooting of Ahmaud Arbery were sentenced to life in prison on Friday. Travis McMichael, “the man who fatally shot Ahmaud Arbery, and his father” were sentenced to life without parole, but their neighbor, William Bryan, received a “lesser sentence of life with the possibility of parole.” The Times adds that the “case is likely to be appealed to the Georgia Supreme Court,” but there will also be another “trial, in federal court, where the three men are charged with hate crimes and attempted kidnapping, and also face potential life sentences.” The Washington Post (1/7, A1) reports Judge Timothy Walmsley “said he ‘kept coming back to the terror’ Arbery must have felt as he was chased,” calling the shooting “absolutely chilling” and saying that the “most violent crime in Satilla Shores was the murder of Ahmaud Arbery.”

Sweden Confronts Gang Violence After Rap Star Killed

The New York Times (1/7, Coscarelli) reports the unsolved killing of a white Swedish rapper “has rocked Sweden’s rap scene. His fate and the violence that swirled around him in life have also put a very Swedish face on issues that have for years been roiling beneath the surface here, and given fresh urgency to debates in the political mainstream about rising gun violence, immigration and gang warfare.” According to the Times, “Some lawmakers, newspapers and parents have been left questioning the role of the music they have labeled – in a 1990s throwback – ‘gangster rap.’”

Gang Task Force Arrests Two Connecticut Men For Using 3D Printers To Make “Ghost Guns”

The Hartford (CT) Courant (1/7, Mahony) reported, “A federal gang task force has charged two” Connecticut “men with using high-tech, 3D printers and mail order parts to manufacture and sell untraceable ‘ghost guns,’ which have become weapons of choice for gang members and other criminals who cannot legally obtain weapons.” John Lee Ortiz, “28, and Audley Reeves, 30,” were recently arrested “and held without bail after a monthlong series of undercover weapons purchases by Hartford police and FBI agents. When members of the North Connecticut Gang Task Force searched Reeve’s apartment on Church Street at 6 a.m. on Tuesday, they apparently interrupted him in the process of manufacturing an assault rifle.”

Detroit Police Department Seizes Fentanyl, Other Drugs

The Detroit Free Press (1/7, Marini) reported that a recent Detroit Police Department search warrant operation led to “the seizure of narcotics, cash, a firearm and vehicles totaling $1,570,159,” as well as an unnamed suspect’s arrest. The drugs seized as a result of the operation included nearly 291 grams of fentanyl, more than 236 grams of methamphetamines, more than 728 grams of marijuana and more than 1,468 grams of cocaine.

Special Alert | January 10, 2022 Governor Pritzker signs Trailer Bill 2; ILACP has updated fact sheet (Version 7)

Late Friday afternoon, Governor Pritzker signed what we have been calling the Trailer Bill 2 to the SAFE-T Act.

The attached Fact Sheet shows how various provisions of the SAFE-T Act were affected by this trailer bill, which the Illinois Chiefs asked the governor to sign after the House passed it on Wednesday, January 5.

Most significant for ILACP members about this bill, HB 3512 SA1:

- There is new language in the new 3-phone-call law that allows for “exigent circumstances.” Remember, this went into effect January 1 and you should have a policy by now on allowing 3 phones calls once a person is in the first place of detention after being placed in custody.
- The effective dates for all of the new decertification provisions were moved from January 1, 2022, to July 1, 2022.
- The effective dates for the new training requirements in the SAFE-T Act were also moved from January 1, 2022, to July 1, 2022.

If you have questions, please direct them to ed@ilchiefs.org or consult your municipal attorney.

ILACP will host a Legislative Committee meeting at 10am on Wednesday, January 12 at 10 a.m. While this technically a committee via, all members are invited to observe and participate because we know the importance of our legislative work.

Here is a recap of the 2021 session and priority bills that have not been fully addressed. Be thinking about which bills we want to keep as priorities in 2022 spring session. Watch for additional documents next week prior to the Wednesday meeting.

Since a number of new bills are being filed, to keep our list manageable we really need to cut this older list down to 10 or 20 really problematic bills. If there is a bill that you believe warrants continued monitoring, let's throw it on the list (such as HB 1727, the Qualified Immunity Bill).

We are just starting to get the new filings and I will pass along as we get them. We are planning the bill review session for February 9.

This year's legislative session is shortened and is slated to adjourn on April 8, rather than the usual May 31.

When did he end up retiring? I remember hating the accreditation part, but he was great. Go figure now that's my roll. I retired from Morton Grove as a Commander and now have this awesome gig.

You're the best. If you ever need anything let me know.

Have to love Normal PD. I did my internship with LT. Klingon back in the 90s while I was at ISU and playing football. Loved it down there.

Have to love Normal PD. I did my internship with LT. Klingon back in the 90s while I was at ISU and playing football. Loved it down there.

TO DO:

Look into GFOA CPFO for myself – budget FY23

Mark's suggestions: something to improve the CD dept – too much micromanaging and “bossing”; need Village-wide to get back to family-oriented and friendly atmosphere; willing to be part of morale-boosting committee; in-service days; look out for any good leadership training or ideas for him to develop himself

My ideas:

- In service days
- Neighborhood walks- staff from PW, PD, CD, Marketing to walk the neighborhood (sometimes with community leaders) and identify problems, develop plan, report back
- Way to track learning and ideas from conferences/trainings/webinars
- Administrative Manual – shared and digital (in something like LaserFische or Lexipol)
- “Chat and Chew” concept - meet with departmental staff and find out what their ideas and have VMO research and vet

- Promote our services with bookmarks given out with library books

- Community solar program
- Partner with PACE on bus shelter garbage <https://icma.org/articles/pm-magazine/recycling-work-art>

- New signs going in on xx, xx, and xxx (no impact)

I didn't want this to die on my plate, but I'm going to put on my list to follow up with Schneider and Mitch: Schneider had a great idea about an internal "customer service" group that exchanges information on current Village projects." Basically, solving the issue of front desk staff not knowing what's going on in the Village. She suggested a simple group email chain, but is thinking over how to make it more effective. We've been sending out the e-news to all employees but they're not always aware of bigger projects or behind-the-scenes upcoming events/programs and we're exploring ways to bring them into the “know” (provided it’s not a confidential matter).

If anyone has suggestions on a platform or forum for the ideas exchange for customer service reps, please let me know as I’ll be working with Schneider to develop this idea.

Project 1

Can you please pull budgets and CAFRS and create two tables to detail amount of full time and part time personnel over a period from 2008 to present per department (breaking out sworn and non-sworn in Police and Fire)? All the budgets and CAFRS should be on the website. The full time employee counts from the CAFRS can be found around page 195 (towards the back). In the budget documents, you'll need to review each dept's page and organizational charts for total budgeted positions.

Project 2

Also, did I have you run an analysis on Community Development in the past? I'm looking for their overall budget number and # of full time and part time personnel each year dating back to 2008 as well. I would use the budget documents to find those numbers (not the CAFRs).

We should reach out to AFSCME Dept Heads and set up a pre-negotiation meeting (like 2-3 hours) to walk through the contract page by page and get feedback on their desired changes. We should also decide on the negotiating team (Joana, Katy, Thake, Jill O'Brien?). Then reach out to Jill to make sure she's aware we have 4 union negotiations coming down the line this year. Assuming this will happen in May and negotiations start June?

Bigger goals:

- Strategic Plan

- Put together internal PM team (Ana and Connor from CD and Finance) – incorporate into budget and link back to strategic plan

- Cyber security purposeful hack and follow up training for employees
- Using PM to make depts. justify budget requests
- Dress for Your Day dress code policy

Handbook Changes:

§ We should incorporate this into the vacation policy so that all employees know that if they earn additional vacation time in December, they can take these days earlier in the year (maybe stipulate within the fourth quarter)- rolling days over from Dec hire date (approved July 2018)

§ How longevity is calculated into base pay for OT rate (in union contracts) (approved July 2018)

§ 6 hour doctor visit time – 2 hour increment issue (approved July 2018)

§ Bereavement Leave – get rid of “consecutive” days language (approved July 2018)

§ Social Media Policy

§ Worker's comp – taking dr appts or PT during or after work hours?

§ FMLA- call in procedures

§ Overtime based after 37.5 or 40 hours; what is our practice for non-union employees?

§ Let's make sure we have some language for employees about what to do and where to go when their fmla expires in the handbook

§ Vacation/time off accrual while on leave/disability – continue past practice of letting them accrue time while off and pay them out for it (not worth the big fight and rarely happens and biggest increase of accruals is 5 days)

§ Designated meal/break times and paid/unpaid status of breaks

§ Change emergency leave

§ 10 vaca days right away for new hires (approved July 2018- 5 after 6 months and 5 more at a year)

§ Flex Scheduling

§ Paternity leave applied to FMLA

§ Credit for time off for PTers who become FTers

§ PT hiring process over $20/hr (language change)

§ Vehicles taken home on lunch hour (SEPT)

§ Job Posting Requirements (SEPT)

§ Change residency (SEPT)

§ Language clean up on “recognized holidays” and other provisions found during AFSCME negotiations (SEPT)

§ Change personal days

I forwarded the response I got, which was that their boss was working on it, but it would be awhile and to make my own.

We made our own...I will attach what we posted along with the old DOC language.

Special Alert | January 7, 2022 All members invited to legislative discussion via Zoom

ILACP will host a Legislative Committee meeting at 10am on Wednesday, January 12 at 10am. While this technically a committee via, all members are invited to observe and participate because we know the importance of our legislative work.

ILACP will host a Legislative Committee meeting at 10am on Wednesday, January 12 at 10am.

While this technically a committee via, all members are invited to observe and participate because we know the importance of our legislative work.

Here is a recap of the 2021 session and priority bills that have not been fully addressed. Be thinking about which bills we want to keep as priorities in 2022 spring session. Watch for additional documents next week prior to the Wednesday meeting.

Since a number of new bills are being filed, to keep our list manageable we really need to cut this older list down to 10 or 20 really problematic bills. If there is a bill that you believe warrants continued monitoring, let's throw it on the list (such as HB 1727, the Qualified Immunity Bill).

We are just starting to get the new filings and I will pass along as we get them. We are planning the bill review session for February 9.

This year's legislative session is shortened and is slated to adjourn on April 8, rather than the usual May 31.

DHS Warns Of Increased Threats To President, Lawmakers On Extremist Platforms In Past 48 Hours

CNN (1/6, Sands) reports on its website that there “has been an increase in online extremist content in the past 48 hours, including threats to lawmakers and the President, according to” a DHS memo obtained by CNN. While “there is still no indication of a specific and credible plot, officials fear the content could inspire violence, particularly by lone offenders.” The memo “warns that potential violence could be directed against political and other government officials, including members of Congress, state and local officials, and high-profile members of political parties.” It “was sent from DHS intelligence chief John Cohen to federal, state and local law enforcement on Thursday afternoon, noting the threat of violence could extend beyond the Washington, DC, area.” Law enforcement agencies “are investigating the postings.”

Politico (1/6) reports DHS counterterrorism official John Cohen “sent a threat update Wednesday to state, local and federal law enforcement agencies.” That “message said DHS doesn’t have evidence of a specific threat, but has seen online posts ‘that could inspire violence, particularly by lone offenders’ against government officials.”

Minneapolis Mayor Argues Schools Must Stay Open To Combat Surge In Crime

Fox News (1/6, Wallace) reports, “Minneapolis Mayor Jacob Frey argued Wednesday that schools must remain open in order to combat surging violent crime and increased carjacking incidents often carried out by juvenile offenders.” Frey “pushed back against school closures seen in other major cities, including Chicago, as COVID-19 cases rose after winter break.” He said, “We’ve gotta keep the schools open. This is very clear to me. Yes, we need to make sure we’re abiding by the necessary safety precautions. Yes, we need to make sure anyone from parents to teachers to students are protected in full from the dangers associated with a global pandemic, and we need to make sure the students are in the schools and that they’re able to learn.”

Massachusetts Lawmaker Proposes Free College For Police Officers

The Newburyport (MA) Daily News (1/6, Sullivan) reports from Merrimac, Massachusetts, “A local lawmaker is doing what he can to make police work more attractive for potential officers.”

According to the Daily News, “Last spring, state Rep. Lenny Mirra, R-Georgetown, authored a pair of bills that he said are designed to make it easier for people to go into police work. Both bills received public hearings by the state Senate on Tuesday and are before the Joint Committee on Public Service. Mirra said Bill H2734 (<https://malegislature.gov/Bills/192/H2734>) would allow students studying criminal justice to have their tuition waived at state colleges, universities and community colleges. ‘Police chiefs have been telling me that they are facing critical staffing shortfalls in police officers,’ Mirra said. ‘They think this is going to be a public safety crisis in the near future if we don’t do something about this.’”

Police In New York City To Step Up Subway Patrols

The New York Times (1/6, Gold, Mays, Newman) reports, “New York City will require police officers to conduct more frequent and regular sweeps of the subway system and work with homeless outreach teams to reassure current riders and lure back more commuters to a transit system that needs them, Mayor Eric Adams and Gov. Kathy Hochul said in a joint announcement on Thursday.” Adams, “a former transit police officer, said that he and police leaders would direct the city’s street-level patrol officers to make regular ‘visual inspections’ of subway stations. Transit officers, he said, would be told to ride and walk through subway trains more often to check on passengers.”

Capitol Police Intel Division Assessments Pre-Jan. 6 Highlight Danger “Well-Documented In Public View”

CNN (1/6, Wild) reports in the three weeks prior to the January 6 insurrection, “US Capitol Police intelligence division produced four Special Event Assessments showing mounting evidence of a potentially volatile situation, as part of its overall effort to help the agency determine its security posture that day.” CNN says the assessments “offer a haunting reminder of internet chatter and statements from elected officials that preceded the deadly attack on Capitol Hill.” CNN adds, “In other words, as has been widely reported, the attack was well-documented in public view.”

Pandemic Reportedly Fueling Overdose And Mental Health Problems

A US News & World Report (1/6, Johnson) article says, “From a record number of drug overdose deaths to a looming mental health crisis and the unknowns of long COVID,” the COVID-19 pandemic “has produced or fueled a plague of interrelated problems and raised fears and uncertainty over its long-term implications for public health” in the US. An Administration plan that was released in September “calls for an allocation of more than $65 billion over seven to 10 years to build up the nation’s pandemic preparedness.” The proposed Build Back Better Act, meanwhile, includes billions of dollars that would be used to bolster public health infrastructure in the US.

Police In Richmond, Virginia Arrest 10, Confiscate Firearms In New Year's Shootings

WTVR-TV Richmond, VA (1/6, Burkett) reports, "After a flood of random gunfire calls, every Richmond Police officer working New Year's Eve set out to find illegal weapons. They had some success. 10 people were arrested and charged and a dozen firearms were confiscated." WTVR-TV adds, "What you could hear that night was not a construction site, nor was it the sound of a hammer. It was what police agencies call 'celebratory gunfire' and there were injuries because of it. 'I realize that shooting your weapons in the air has been a Richmond tradition for years,' said Maj. Ronald Armistead. 'I can go back when my grandfather was around and it was happening, but people gotta realize, what you shoot up, will come down.'" According to WTVR-TV, "For the first five hours of 2022, RPD chased the calls for service. Out of six victims on early New Year's Day morning, police believe at least three were from celebratory gunfire."

Arizona DPS Major Worried About Fentanyl-Related Violence

An online Fox News (1/5, Leach, Wall) article says, "During a one-week period late in December, Arizona State Troopers seized over 664 pounds of methamphetamine and 37 pounds of fentanyl, according to" the Arizona Department of Public Safety (DPS). Arizona DPS Major Damon Cecil III expressed concern about the increase in the "value and potency of the" fentanyl and other illicit drugs "that are coming across" the US Mexico-border. According to Cecil, crews will "try to rip off both humans and drugs from these coyotes or from these smugglers that are bringing the drugs in. So, it's become a much more violent game." Colonel Heston Silbert, who directs the Arizona DPS, said two milligrams of fentanyl is enough to cause a fatal overdose.

Cedar Park, Texas Police Say Dealers In Fentanyl Bust Used Social Media For Distribution

KTBC-TV Austin, TX (1/6, Lehmkuhl) reports from Cedar Park, Texas, "In early 2020, law enforcement in Cedar Park started seeing a number of drug overdoses – some of which were fatal. It was a startling trend that motivated police to crack down." KTBC-TV adds, "Most recently, a year-long investigation culminated in the arrest of 12 people on federal indictments for distributing counterfeit pills across Central Texas. According to the DEA, more than 9.5 million counterfeit pills were discovered nationwide in 2021. The number is double what was confiscated in 2019 and 2020 combined." According to KTBC-TV, "According to an analysis of US government data, fentanyl overdoses are now the leading cause of death for adults between the ages of 18 and 45. Along with an increase in the amount of counterfeit pills on the market, there is another trend being noticed by law enforcement – social media use."

Ontario Police Arrest Hundreds In Crackdown On Holiday Impaired Driving

The London Free Press (CAN) (1/6) reports that the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP)'s "annual holiday campaign against impaired driving led to charges against 655 motorists, including 165 in Southwestern Ontario, provincial police say. Officers conducted 8,370 sobriety checkpoints across Ontario between Nov. 18 and Jan. 2, OPP said Thursday. Another 236 drivers" had "their licences temporarily suspended after roadside tests detected blood alcohol levels in the warning range." Police "received 3,147 reports of suspected impaired drivers during the campaign. 'The OPP conducts RIDE events throughout the year on roads, trails and waterways,' police said. 'Citizens are encouraged to continue reporting suspected impaired drivers to police. By doing so, you could be saving a life.'"

Sheriff Hopes Suicides Involving Two Deputies Have Positive Mental Health Impact

On its website, CBS News (1/6, Sundby) a sheriff in Florida said he hopes that the recent suicide deaths of two deputies will help "ease the stigma" that surrounds mental health issues. St. Lucie County Sheriff Ken Mascara stated, "While it is impossible for us to fully comprehend the private circumstances leading up to this devastating loss, we pray that this tragedy becomes a catalyst for change, a catalyst to help ease the stigma surrounding mental well-being and normalize the conversation about the challenges so many of us face on a regular basis." Mascara added, "To the general public, and sometimes even myself, it's easy to view law enforcement" workers "as superhuman ... but let's not forget that they're human."

Title: Moving on from Xanax: Impaired Driving with Novel Benzodiazepines

Description: This presentation will discuss the challenges with toxicology testing for novel benzodiazepines and the impairment they may produce. Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Subsequently, they have also been identified in impaired driving cases. This presentation will provide a background onto these troubling and difficult new drug issues and so that prosecutors and law enforcement officers may better deal with such issues while investigating and prosecuting Drug-DUI cases.

During this presentation, DECP National Project Manager Kyle Clark will review the history of the changes and improvements made to the SFST program over the past 35 years. Background information will also be shared to enlighten prosecutors and law enforcement officers on the reasoning behind some of the changes that have served to enhance the accuracies of the three standardized field sobriety tests over the years so that they can better explain these important tests in court on a DUI case.

Good Evening,

I am writing this email to ask everyone who has not entered their 2021 evaluations into the data tracking system, to please do so this week. The IACP will be pulling all data by the end of the month and I have spot checked the database and find many DREs have not entered any data in quite a while. Especially those of you who have recertified, there should be 4 entries at a minimum. Others have not logged their training evaluations.

I know everyone wants to support the program, and this is a simple way to do that. Several DREs speak very highly of the DRE training, but then do not keep up their entries. Another way to support the DRE program is to join the IACP and the DRE Section. This is our professional organization that should be on your CV,

Please check your rolling log and make sure it matches the database. If you need to reset your password, the reset button is on the log in screen.

Thanks for your help and Stay Safe.

Title: Moving on from Xanax: Impaired Driving with Novel Benzodiazepines

Description: This presentation will discuss the challenges with toxicology testing for novel benzodiazepines and the impairment they may produce. Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Subsequently, they have also been identified in impaired driving cases. This presentation will provide a background onto these troubling and difficult new drug issues and so that prosecutors and law enforcement officers may better deal with such issues while investigating and prosecuting Drug-DUI cases.

Trailer Bill 2 passes in the House; more collaboration promised

The Illinois House passed the latest trailer bill to the SAFE-T Act by a 66-42 vote last night after an hour of intense debate. It will now be sent to the governor, because the Senate had already passed the HB 3512, SA 1, in October.

The vote was split along party lines, with Democrats generally supporting the trailer bill and Republicans opposing it. The Democrats said the changes were needed because law enforcement was asking for these changes, while several Republicans said that they had asked for significant changes in the SAFE-T Act that was passed a year ago, but there are still too many major problems that have not been addressed. The Illinois Chiefs and other LE groups were encouraging members to support this trailer bill.

Hi Everyone,

Sharing the attached documents on a the 2nd Trailer bill related to the Safe T Act that passed the House last night. This bill has now passed both houses and will be awaiting the Governor's signature. The changes to the original bill are highlighted in blue. My Chief indicates that they anticipate that there will be additional trailer bills in the Spring legislative session to address some of our concerns and ambiguous language issues.

For immediate policy needs, there are changes to the 3 phone call law.

Policing and Policy

US Attorney General Vows To Hold Those Responsible For January 6 Capitol Riot Accountable

The Washington Post (1/5, Zapotosky, Barrett) reports Attorney General Garland, speaking in the Justice Department's Great Hall on Wednesday, "vowed to hold all those responsible for the Jan. 6 riot accountable — whether they were at the Capitol or committed other crimes surrounding the day's events — saying investigators are methodically building more complicated and serious cases and would prosecute people 'at any level.'" Reuters (1/5, Lynch) reports Garland said, "The Justice Department remains committed to holding all January 6th perpetrators, at any level, accountable under law — whether they were present that day or were otherwise criminally responsible for the assault on our democracy," adding, "We will follow the facts wherever they lead." The Wall Street Journal (1/5, Gurman, Subscription Publication) reports Garland called the effort "one of the largest, most complex, and most resource-intensive investigations in our history."

CNN (1/4, Sands, Wild) reports that ahead of the January 6 anniversary, DHS is working "across the department to ramp up, where appropriate, its operational posture, including deploying more people, running a 24/7 intelligence watch capability and coordinating with fusion centers across the country to share information, according to a federal law enforcement official." The US Secret Service and "Federal Protective Service, two law enforcement agencies within DHS, also have deployment plans if needed, the official said." DHS is coordinating "with the FBI, the Metropolitan Police Department, US Park Police and Capitol Police to ensure that adequate personnel and physical security measures are in place, the official said, adding that they are tracking intelligence indicators to see if they can identify groups of people who may be traveling to the region."

Capitol Police Chief Says Reforms Underway, But Hindered By Personnel Shortages

The New York Times (1/5, Broadwater) reports US Capitol Police Chief J. Thomas Manger “told lawmakers on Wednesday that his department was taking steps to address deficiencies laid bare by the attack and would implement more than 100 recommendations for improvement.” Manger “told the Senate Rules Committee that the Capitol Police were already addressing 90 of the agency inspector general’s 103 recommendations. They include streamlining intelligence operations and purchasing badly needed new equipment.”

Roll Call (1/5, Marquette) reports Manger also told that committee, “The biggest challenge I have is the staffing problem. You can’t do training if you’re so short of staffing that you can’t pull people off of posts and send them to training.” The force “is 447 officers short of ‘where we need to be,’ the chief said, adding that he plans to hire 280 officers this year.” The Los Angeles Times (1/5, Kaur) reports the current shortage “comes as threats against lawmakers have skyrocketed — from 902 in 2016 to 9,600 last year, officials say.” Manger “also said the department was looking to temporarily plug the gap with contractors at posts where armed officers are not needed, a disclosure that has met resistance from the union representing Manger’s officers.”

German Start-Ups Lay Groundwork For Potential Marijuana Legalization

The New York Times (1/5, Schuetze) reports Germany’s new government “announced that it would legalize recreational cannabis for adults in its coalition contract presented in October,” and “although no bill or official schedule for a law exists yet, experts believe one will be passed within the next two years.” Medical marijuana is legal in Germany, “and small quantities of the drug for personal use were decriminalized years ago,” but start-up companies “are scrambling to make sure they are ready to supply a recreational market. ‘The legalization of cannabis is a paradigm shift,’ Kirsten Kappert-Gonther, a medical doctor and Green member of Parliament, said in an email. ‘Anyone who would prefer to consume a hash cookie instead of an after-work beer in the future should be able to make that decision and stay on legal grounds.’”

Vermont Governor Says His Budget Will Address Substance Use Disorder Needs

The AP (1/5, Rathke) reports that “during his State of the State address,” Vermont Gov. Phil Scott (R) “said his budget will expand prevention, treatment and recovery efforts for those struggling with” a substance use disorder.

Georgia Governor Announces Push For Loosened Handgun Rules

The AP (1/5, Thanawala, Amy) reports from Atlanta that Georgia Gov. Brian Kemp “said Wednesday he will push for a new state law that would loosen requirements to carry a handgun in public.” Kemp “did not lay out specific changes he was seeking but expressed support for what gun rights advocates call ‘constitutional carry.’ Multiple bills purporting to advance that idea in the state Legislature would do away with the need for a license to carry a handgun in public – either openly or concealed on one’s body.”

Tennessee Enacts Law Requiring Hairstylists To Complete Domestic Violence Training

CNN (1/5, Iyer) reports, "The relationship between a hairstylist and a client can be far more than simply somebody to cut and shape hair, which is why Tennessee is the latest state to require cosmetologists to complete training on how to recognize and respond to signs of domestic abuse." Per the "law that went into effect on January 1, beauty professionals must complete up to an hour of training on how to recognize and respond to signs of domestic violence, the Tennessee Department of Commerce & Insurance said in a news release."

Police Reforms Take Effect In California

The San Jose (CA) Spotlight (1/5, Wolfe) reports, "As the new year begins in California, so do a set of laws designed to better regulate police departments across the state. This comes in the wake of protests in 2020 that targeted police misconduct and violent crowd control tactics." The Spotlight adds, "Some of the most significant new laws include a series of police reforms. SB 2 creates a process for decertifying officers who have committed serious misconduct. California was one of four states without a state law to revoke an officer's certification. Another law, AB 48, limits police use of rubber bullets and other less lethal weapons at protests unless someone's life is in danger, and requires departments to release reports on how they use these weapons. The San Jose Police Department changed its policy in 2020 to prohibit the use of rubber bullets as crowd control for nonviolent individuals."

Security, Crime, and Drugs

Authorities Apprehend Suspects In Oklahoma Theft Ring

The Kansas City (MO) Star (1/5, Stunson) reports three people have been arrested in connection with the theft of "thousands" of Amazon packages. Among the packages recovered by Oklahoma authorities are the thousands found in the home of one of the suspects and the 600 found abandoned last week outside Oklahoma City, among which investigators found evidence that led them to the home where many of those stolen packages were being stored.

The New York Post (1/5, Lungariello) reports one of those accused of being part of the theft ring "was apparently a third-party delivery driver for the company who may have loaded extra pallets on a truck," according to authorities. Near the dumpsite in Oklahoma County, deputies "found a garbage bag with a receipt and an addressed envelope that led them to the home where they found 'thousands' of undelivered packages, some still wrapped on pallets." A news release by investigators in the case said, "Packages were stored throughout the home in almost every room and filled the storm shelter."

More Than 90 Hostages Freed In Nigeria

CNN (1/5, Princewill) reports more than 90 hostages "have been rescued in separate rescue operations in northwest Nigeria, local police have announced." The Commissioner of Police in northwestern Zamfara State, Ayuba Elkana, "told a press conference in the state capital Gusau Tuesday that 97 kidnapped victims including babies, nursing and pregnant women were 'rescued unconditionally' in joint military operations in Zamfara's Shinkafi and Tsafe districts on Monday." Among those rescued were "seven pregnant women, more than a dozen babies aged between two-seven months old, and 16 children between the ages of two-seven years, police said."

Man Arrested On Charges Of Attacking Vaccination Clinic Workers

The Washington Post (1/5, Bella) reports a man in Southern California “was arrested after he recently attacked workers at a coronavirus vaccination clinic, allegedly calling them ‘murderers’ and falsely accusing the staffers of causing the covid pandemic, according to police and clinic officials.” The Post says, “Two staff members with Families Together of Orange County were injured in a Dec. 30 attack on the group’s mobile clinic...the organization said in a news release Wednesday.” Families Together “said one of the members ‘sustained serious injuries,’” but that “both workers ‘are expected to make a full recovery within a few days.’” Thomas Apollo, “of Poway, Calif., was arrested and booked into the Orange County jail Thursday on suspicion of battery and resisting arrest, according to police. He was released on bail Friday, records show.” Apollo “is scheduled to appear in court on Jan. 27.”

Officer Safety and Wellness

Police Measures Aim To Assist Officers After US Capitol Breach

Politico (1/5, Wu) reports last year’s US Capitol Breach inflicted trauma on officers with the US Capitol Police and the Metropolitan Police Department of the District of Columbia. The latter organization “highlighted its efforts to improve mental health services for officers,” including “the creation of a full-time position tasked with employee mental and physical well-being.” The US Capitol Police, meanwhile, “says it’s expanded its wellness program after additional funding from Congress.”

Technology

Georgia Police Use DNA Technology To Solve 1995 Rape-Murder Of Teen Girl

NBC News (1/5) reports, “The 1995 rape and murder of a 14-year-old Atlanta girl has been solved 26 years later thanks to DNA and genealogy technology, police announced Tuesday.” Nacole Smith “was walking to school with her sister on June 7, 1995, but forgot something and walked through the woods to return home. In the woods, she was confronted by a man who brutally assaulted her and shot her twice in the face, Atlanta police said. Authorities did not reveal the suspect’s name at the news conference, but later identified him to NBC News as 49-year-old Kelvin Arnold,” who “died last Aug. 29 while in hospice care for liver and kidney failure in Fulton County, Georgia, police said. Still, the police department said the finding is a sign that they never give up on cold cases and bringing closure to victim’s families.”

Vermont Governor Says His Budget Will Address Substance Use Disorder Needs

The AP (1/5, Rathke) reports that “during his State of the State address,” Vermont Gov. Phil Scott (R) “said his budget will expand prevention, treatment and recovery efforts for those struggling with” a substance use disorder.

Georgia Governor Announces Push For Loosened Handgun Rules

The AP (1/5, Thanawala, Amy) reports from Atlanta that Georgia Gov. Brian Kemp “said Wednesday he will push for a new state law that would loosen requirements to carry a handgun in public.” Kemp “did not lay out specific changes he was seeking but expressed support for what gun rights advocates call ‘constitutional carry.’ Multiple bills purporting to advance that idea in the state Legislature would do away with the need for a license to carry a handgun in public – either openly or concealed on one’s body.”

Tennessee Enacts Law Requiring Hairstylists To Complete Domestic Violence Training

CNN (1/5, Iyer) reports, “The relationship between a hairstylist and a client can be far more than simply somebody to cut and shape hair, which is why Tennessee is the latest state to require cosmetologists to complete training on how to recognize and respond to signs of domestic abuse.” Per the “law that went into effect on January 1, beauty professionals must complete up to an hour of training on how to recognize and respond to signs of domestic violence, the Tennessee Department of Commerce & Insurance said in a news release.”

Police Reforms Take Effect In California

The San Jose (CA) Spotlight (1/5, Wolfe) reports, “As the new year begins in California, so do a set of laws designed to better regulate police departments across the state. This comes in the wake of protests in 2020 that targeted police misconduct and violent crowd control tactics.” The Spotlight adds, “Some of the most significant new laws include a series of police reforms. SB 2 creates a process for decertifying officers who have committed serious misconduct. California was one of four states without a state law to revoke an officer’s certification. Another law, AB 48, limits police use of rubber bullets and other less lethal weapons at protests unless someone’s life is in danger, and requires departments to release reports on how they use these weapons. The San Jose Police Department changed its policy in 2020 to prohibit the use of rubber bullets as crowd control for nonviolent individuals.”

Authorities Apprehend Suspects In Oklahoma Theft Ring

The Kansas City (MO) Star (1/5, Stunson) reports three people have been arrested in connection with the theft of “thousands” of Amazon packages. Among the packages recovered by Oklahoma authorities are the thousands found in the home of one of the suspects and the 600 found abandoned last week outside Oklahoma City, among which investigators found evidence that led them to the home where many of those stolen packages were being stored.

The New York Post (1/5, Lungariello) reports one of those accused of being part of the theft ring “was apparently a third-party delivery driver for the company who may have loaded extra pallets on a truck,” according to authorities. Near the dumpsite in Oklahoma County, deputies “found a garbage bag with a receipt and an addressed envelope that led them to the home where they found ‘thousands’ of undelivered packages, some still wrapped on pallets.” A news release by investigators in the case said, “Packages were stored throughout the home in almost every room and filled the storm shelter.”

More Than 90 Hostages Freed In Nigeria

CNN (1/5, Princewill) reports more than 90 hostages “have been rescued in separate rescue operations in northwest Nigeria, local police have announced.” The Commissioner of Police in northwestern Zamfara State, Ayuba Elkana, “told a press conference in the state capital Gusau Tuesday that 97 kidnapped victims including babies, nursing and pregnant women were ‘rescued unconditionally’ in joint military operations in Zamfara’s Shinkafi and Tsafe districts on Monday.” Among those rescued were “seven pregnant women, more than a dozen babies aged between two-seven months old, and 16 children between the ages of two-seven years, police said.”

Man Arrested On Charges Of Attacking Vaccination Clinic Workers

The Washington Post (1/5, Bella) reports a man in Southern California “was arrested after he recently attacked workers at a coronavirus vaccination clinic, allegedly calling them ‘murderers’ and falsely accusing the staffers of causing the covid pandemic, according to police and clinic officials.” The Post says, “Two staff members with Families Together of Orange County were injured in a Dec. 30 attack on the group’s mobile clinic...the organization said in a news release Wednesday.” Families Together “said one of the members ‘sustained serious injuries,’” but that “both workers ‘are expected to make a full recovery within a few days.’” Thomas Apollo, “of Poway, Calif., was arrested and booked into the Orange County jail Thursday on suspicion of battery and resisting arrest, according to police. He was released on bail Friday, records show.” Apollo “is scheduled to appear in court on Jan. 27.”

Police Measures Aim To Assist Officers After US Capitol Breach

Politico (1/5, Wu) reports last year’s US Capitol Breach inflicted trauma on officers with the US Capitol Police and the Metropolitan Police Department of the District of Columbia. The latter organization “highlighted its efforts to improve mental health services for officers,” including “the creation of a full-time position tasked with employee mental and physical well-being.” The US Capitol Police, meanwhile, “says it’s expanded its wellness program after additional funding from Congress.”

Technology

Georgia Police Use DNA Technology To Solve 1995 Rape-Murder Of Teen Girl

NBC News (1/5) reports, “The 1995 rape and murder of a 14-year-old Atlanta girl has been solved 26 years later thanks to DNA and genealogy technology, police announced Tuesday.” Nacole Smith “was walking to school with her sister on June 7, 1995, but forgot something and walked through the woods to return home. In the woods, she was confronted by a man who brutally assaulted her and shot her twice in the face, Atlanta police said. Authorities did not reveal the suspect’s name at the news conference, but later identified him to NBC News as 49-year-old Kelvin Arnold,” who “died last Aug. 29 while in hospice care for liver and kidney failure in Fulton County, Georgia, police said. Still, the police department said the finding is a sign that they never give up on cold cases and bringing closure to victim’s families.”

US Attorney General Vows To Hold Those Responsible For January 6 Capitol Riot Accountable

The Washington Post (1/5, Zapotosky, Barrett) reports Attorney General Garland, speaking in the Justice Department's Great Hall on Wednesday, "vowed to hold all those responsible for the Jan. 6 riot accountable — whether they were at the Capitol or committed other crimes surrounding the day's events — saying investigators are methodically building more complicated and serious cases and would prosecute people 'at any level.'" Reuters (1/5, Lynch) reports Garland said, "The Justice Department remains committed to holding all January 6th perpetrators, at any level, accountable under law — whether they were present that day or were otherwise criminally responsible for the assault on our democracy," adding, "We will follow the facts wherever they lead." The Wall Street Journal (1/5, Gurman, Subscription Publication) reports Garland called the effort "one of the largest, most complex, and most resource-intensive investigations in our history."

CNN (1/4, Sands, Wild) reports that ahead of the January 6 anniversary, DHS is working "across the department to ramp up, where appropriate, its operational posture, including deploying more people, running a 24/7 intelligence watch capability and coordinating with fusion centers across the country to share information, according to a federal law enforcement official." The US Secret Service and "Federal Protective Service, two law enforcement agencies within DHS, also have deployment plans if needed, the official said." DHS is coordinating "with the FBI, the Metropolitan Police Department, US Park Police and Capitol Police to ensure that adequate personnel and physical security measures are in place, the official said, adding that they are tracking intelligence indicators to see if they can identify groups of people who may be traveling to the region."

Capitol Police Chief Says Reforms Underway, But Hindered By Personnel Shortages

The New York Times (1/5, Broadwater) reports US Capitol Police Chief J. Thomas Manger “told lawmakers on Wednesday that his department was taking steps to address deficiencies laid bare by the attack and would implement more than 100 recommendations for improvement.” Manger “told the Senate Rules Committee that the Capitol Police were already addressing 90 of the agency inspector general’s 103 recommendations. They include streamlining intelligence operations and purchasing badly needed new equipment.”

Roll Call (1/5, Marquette) reports Manger also told that committee, “The biggest challenge I have is the staffing problem. You can’t do training if you’re so short of staffing that you can’t pull people off of posts and send them to training.” The force “is 447 officers short of ‘where we need to be,’ the chief said, adding that he plans to hire 280 officers this year.” The Los Angeles Times (1/5, Kaur) reports the current shortage “comes as threats against lawmakers have skyrocketed — from 902 in 2016 to 9,600 last year, officials say.” Manger “also said the department was looking to temporarily plug the gap with contractors at posts where armed officers are not needed, a disclosure that has met resistance from the union representing Manger’s officers.”

German Start-Ups Lay Groundwork For Potential Marijuana Legalization

The New York Times (1/5, Schuetze) reports Germany’s new government “announced that it would legalize recreational cannabis for adults in its coalition contract presented in October,” and “although no bill or official schedule for a law exists yet, experts believe one will be passed within the next two years.” Medical marijuana is legal in Germany, “and small quantities of the drug for personal use were decriminalized years ago,” but start-up companies “are scrambling to make sure they are ready to supply a recreational market. ‘The legalization of cannabis is a paradigm shift,’ Kirsten Kappert-Gonther, a medical doctor and Green member of Parliament, said in an email. ‘Anyone who would prefer to consume a hash cookie instead of an after-work beer in the future should be able to make that decision and stay on legal grounds.’”

Special Alert | January 5, 2022 Trailer Bill 2 passes in the House; more collaboration promised

The Illinois House this evening passed the latest trailer bill to the SAFE-T Act by a 66-42 vote after an hour of intense debate. It will now be sent to the governor because the Senate had already passed the HB 3512, SA 1, in October.

The vote tonight was split along party lines, with Democrats generally supporting the trailer bill and Republicans opposing it. The Democrats said the changes were needed because law enforcement was asking for these changes, while several Republicans said that they had asked for significant changes in the SAFE-T Act that was passed a year ago, but there are still too many major problems that have not been addressed.

The Illinois Chiefs and other LE groups were encouraging members to support this trailer bill.

Representative Justin Slaughter (D-Chicago), who sponsored the original SAFE-T Act and the trailer bills, said this is not the end of the discussion, and he promised additional compromise and collaboration to address remaining concerns with this law.

Here is the statement we sent to ILACP members yesterday about the bill, along with our document explaining the major changes:

The Illinois Chiefs are officially neutral on the bill, but because it makes important changes to the 3-phone-call law and postpones the effective dates of the SAFE-T Act's new training and the new decertification process until July 1, 2022, we have been advising legislators that it would help law enforcement to see this trailer bill pass.

We call this Trailer Bill 2 because it fixes some problematic language in the SAFE-T Act on issues that were effective January 1, 2021. The first trailer bill was passed and signed in the summer of 2021, fixing some language on provisions that were effective July 1, 2021.

Let us know if you have any questions about the process or about Trailer Bill 2.

Two documents are attached:

- The complete language of the 176-page bill (HB3512 SA1)

Illinois' Voice of Professional Law Enforcement

Special Alert | January 5, 2022 Trailer Bill 2 passes in the House; more collaboration promised

The Illinois House this evening passed the latest trailer bill to the SAFE-T Act by a 66-42 vote after an hour of intense debate. It will now be sent to the governor because the Senate had already passed the HB 3512, SA 1, in October.

The vote tonight was split along party lines, with Democrats generally supporting the trailer bill and Republicans opposing it. The Democrats said the changes were needed because law enforcement was asking for these changes, while several Republicans said that they had asked for significant changes in the SAFE-T Act that was passed a year ago, but there are still too many major problems that have not been addressed.

The Illinois Chiefs and other LE groups were encouraging members to support this trailer bill.

Representative Justin Slaughter (D-Chicago), who sponsored the original SAFE-T Act and the trailer bills, said this is not the end of the discussion, and he promised additional compromise and collaboration to address remaining concerns with this law.

Here is the statement we sent to ILACP members yesterday about the bill, along with our document explaining the major changes:

The Illinois Chiefs are officially neutral on the bill, but because it makes important changes to the 3-phone-call law and postpones the effective dates of the SAFE-T Act's new training and the new decertification process until July 1, 2022, we have been advising legislators that it would help law enforcement to see this trailer bill pass.

We call this Trailer Bill 2 because it fixes some problematic language in the SAFE-T Act on issues that were effective January 1, 2021. The first trailer bill was passed and signed in the summer of 2021, fixing some language on provisions that were effective July 1, 2021.

Let us know if you have any questions about the process or about Trailer Bill 2.

Two documents are attached:

- Highlights of Trailer Bill 2, to show you what would change
- The complete language of the 176-page bill (HB3512 SA1)

Illinois' Voice of Professional Law Enforcement

Special Alert | January 5, 2022 Statement by President Mitch Davis

On May 27th, 2020, I penned a letter as president of my regional police chief's association denouncing the killing of George Floyd. While there had been other unfortunate instances of civilian deaths during police encounters, this one was different. That letter was generated after being brought to tears from watching video with Mr. Floyd begging for his life and ultimately seeing him take his last breath. I was criticized for publishing the statement by some and applauded by others, both inside and outside of law enforcement, but it was something that I felt that I needed to do as a leader, and I don't regret it.

On January 5, 2022, I find myself again penning a letter denouncing a murder during a police encounter, but this time as the President of the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police. This particular police encounter involved the execution of Bradley Police Department Sergeant Marlene Rittmanic and the shooting of her partner Officer Tyler Bailey. Unfortunately, it is not uncommon for officers to lose their lives in the line of duty, but just as with George Floyd, this one was different.

Sergeant Rittmanic and Officer Bailey simply responded to what some would refer to as a "routine call". They were dispatched to a hotel parking lot to check the wellbeing of dogs left unattended in a vehicle. In the aftermath of the incident, a review of bodycam footage would reveal Sergeant Rittmanic begging "You don't have to do this! Please just go! Please don't! Please don't!" before being executed with her own weapon. Hearing Sergeant Rittmanic beg for her life before being executed was heart wrenching. On that same day, Wayne County Deputy Sheriff Sean Riley was ambushed and murdered when dispatched to a "routine call" for a motorist assist on the side of the roadway. These murders show others what law enforcement officers already know: there are no "routine calls."

I want to make it clear that attacks on public servants are not just limited to law enforcement. Just yesterday, DCFS Investigator Deidre Silas was murdered while responding to a report of children in danger in Thayer, which is south of Springfield. Investigator Silas had only been with DCFS for 4 months. It is my prayer that the murders of Sergeant Rittmanic, Deputy Riley and Investigator Silas will serve as a rally cry for us all to unapologetically acknowledge that public servants of all kinds honorably and equitably go about the business of serving our communities daily; sometimes to the extent of losing their lives while trying to ensure the wellbeing of our most vulnerable. My outrage and heartbreak in these murders equals that of which I felt in May of 2020!

In 2018, the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police and the NAACP partnered to create the “10 Shared Principles”. These mutually agreed upon values and principles were created to “replace mistrust with mutual trust wherever, whenever, and however we can.” These are SHARED principles, which means that they pertain to everyone. The 1st principle states, “We value the life of every person and consider life to be the highest value.”

The Illinois Association of Chief of Police stands by this and all the principles. We consider the lives of Sergeant Marlene Rittmanic, Deputy Sheriff Sean Riley, and DCFS Investigator Deidre Silas to be of the highest value. I would ask everyone to keep them, their families, and the members of their agencies in your prayers and thoughts. I also challenge all of us to promote the 1st Shared Principle in the hearts and minds of everyone that we encounter.

Sincerely,

Mitchell R. Davis III

Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Subsequently, they have also been identified in impaired driving cases. This presentation will provide a background onto these troubling and difficult new drug issues and so that prosecutors and law enforcement officers may better deal with such issues while investigating and prosecuting Drug-DUI cases.

These webinars are being conducted by the Florida TSRP Program and the National TSRP Program using the National TSRP Program webinar account. The account is funded through the NAPC/NHTSA Cooperative Agreement, Project Number 693JJ92050011.

- Title: Impaired Driving with Novel Benzodiazepines

•Date: Tuesday, January 11, 2022

•Time: 2:00p-3:30p Eastern

•Presenter: Nicholas Tiscione, M.S., D-ABFT-FT

•Registration Link: <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/4905354994948213008>

•Description: This presentation will discuss the challenges with toxicology testing for novel benzodiazepines and the impairment they may produce. Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Subsequently, they have also been identified in impaired driving cases. This presentation will provide a background onto these troubling and difficult new drug issues and so that prosecutors and law enforcement officers may better deal with such issues while investigating and prosecuting Drug-DUI cases.

These webinars are being conducted by the Florida TSRP Program and the National TSRP Program using the National TSRP Program webinar account. The account is funded through the NAPC/NHTSA Cooperative Agreement, Project Number 693JJ92050011.

In Wake Of Shooting, Michigan School District Mandates Clear Backpacks

The Washington Post (1/4, Firozi) reports middle and high school students at the Oxford Community Schools district in Michigan “will be required to use clear backpacks on campus, one of numerous new safety measures announced weeks after a deadly school shooting at Oxford High School.” The Post adds the district said it will provide the backpacks for all middle- and high-schoolers, while “elementary school students will not be required to use the backpacks, but they will keep their bags in lockers or cubbies during the day.” The district is also hiring a “security company that will put personnel in school buildings; providing trauma response training for staffers; continuing to have trauma specialists available for students; and having therapy dogs in every school.”

Police In Detroit Roll Out Spanish-Language Social Media

The Detroit Free Press (1/4, Moran) reports, “The Detroit Police Department is swiftly expanding its efforts to connect with city residents. The department on Tuesday announced the launch of a Spanish-language Facebook page and a Spanish-language Twitter account, and that’s not all it has in store.” The Free Press adds, “Detroit police also hope to also launch a newcast, DPD TV, along with on-camera briefings in both English and Spanish, 2nd Deputy Chief for Media Relations Rudy Harper said. This comes after the department last month launched a TikTok account with videos of officers not only reminding residents of the Improve Detroit app, but participating in a ‘jerk’ dance challenge and playing a donut-related prank on each other. ‘We have an open-door policy with DPD,’ Harper said. ‘We want to meet our residents, we only can be successful with our community, and Chief (James) White preaches that every day.’”

Ireland Imposes Minimum Price On Alcohol

The New York Times (1/4, Kwai) reports Ireland's government on Tuesday imposed a minimum unit price on alcoholic beverages, "one of a few nations to introduce such a rule as a public health measure intended to curb binge drinking and reduce alcohol-related health issues." Officials "said the measure was aimed at making cheaper, stronger alcoholic products less readily available, particularly for young people and heavy drinkers."

Police Department Responds To More Than 20 Recent Overdoses In Portland, Maine

The AP (1/4) reports the Portland Police Department in Maine, which has "responded to two fatal overdoses and 21 non-fatal overdoses since" December 24, 2021, is calling on residents of that city to be aware of the opioid overdose reversal drug naloxone "and other harm reduction methods that are available." The WCSH-TV Portland, ME (1/4, Mundry) website also covers the recent overdoses in Portland, Maine.

US Arrests Suspect In Killing Of Haitian President

The AP (1/4, Licon, Suárez) reports that the US announced Tuesday it had charged "one of the main suspects in the killing of Haitian President Jovenel Moïse as it unsealed a complaint that revealed federal authorities had interviewed him several months ago while he was hiding in Jamaica." Mario Antonio Palacios, "a 43-year-old former Colombian soldier," appeared on Federal court in Miami on Tuesday, where he did not enter a plea on the charges.

The New York Times (1/4, Kurmanaev, Robles) reports Palacios "was detained by U.S. authorities at an airport in Panama on Monday, and flown from there to Miami." He was "among two dozen retired members of Colombian military special forces who traveled to Haiti between May and June as private security contractors," who were ultimately involved in the death of Moïse, but "the exact identity of the killers, the details of Mr. Moïse's death and the ultimate mastermind of the plot remain unknown." The Washington Post (1/4, Coletta, Cunningham) says it was "unclear whether Palacios was one of the former Colombian servicemen alleged to have participated in the assassination who had received training by the U.S. military."

Border Patrol Seizes More Than $2M Worth Of Meth

The Laredo (TX) Morning Times (1/4, Rodriguez) reports an affidavit shows that a "man was recently arrested at a US Border Patrol Laredo Sector checkpoint after agents discovered" and seized $2.3 million worth of "meth and 1,100 rounds of assorted ammo." Special agents with the DEA were involved with the investigation of this case, according to the Times article, which quotes from the affidavit. The affidavit said that during an interview, Jose Correjudo Trinidad "stated he was aware that he was transporting" meth that had been concealed in a vehicle. The affidavit added, "Correjudo stated that he was recruited to transport methamphetamine from McAllen to Dallas." The Morning Times article is also posted to the Houston Chronicle (1/4) website.

Seventeen Charged As Brooklyn Gang Alliance Linked To Four Deadly Shootings

The New York Times (1/4, Fondren) reports, “Seventeen teenagers and young adults who the authorities say belonged to three street gangs that formed an alliance in Brooklyn were charged on Tuesday with unleashing a wave of violence that left four people dead and 10 others wounded in shootings.” The suspects allegedly “joined forces in an ‘umbrella’ gang known as YPF to expand their territory and increase their access to guns,” according to Brooklyn District Attorney Eric Gonzalez. The Times adds, “The young men and women, ages 17 to 23, face charges that include second-degree murder, assault and criminal weapon possession. A spokesman for Mr. Gonzalez said that 14 of them were in custody on Tuesday and would be arraigned later in the day.”

Three Women In France Killed In One Day, Allegedly By Their Partners

The AP (1/4) reports from Paris, “Three women in France were found dead on New Year’s Day, allegedly killed by their partners, despite efforts by President Emmanuel Macron’s government to rein in deadly domestic violence. In all three cases, the men told police they themselves were at fault, according to local media reports.” According to the AP, “Feminist groups are crying for more action and 1 billion euros in funding to train all French police and ensure better protection for those targeted by abusive partners. In response to public anger, government ministers held an online meeting on Tuesday with local officials in the town where one of the killings occurred. ‘We’re all mobilized,’ tweeted the junior minister for equal rights, Elisabeth Moreno. The three deaths were especially shocking after high-profile efforts by the French government to prevent such killings, and by French activists and media to shine a light on them.”

Experts Link Colorado Shooting Suspect To Online Extremist Culture

The Denver Post (1/4, Schmelzer) reports a Colorado man who allegedly “killed five people and injured two more in a planned attack last week across several locations in metro Denver participated in extremist circles online and expressed concerning beliefs before” that attack, according to two extremism experts who have examined the suspect’s online activities. According to the Post, the suspect “participated in a sector of extremist culture called the ‘manosphere’ — a loosely connected collection of websites and chat forums where men oppose the idea that women are equal and discuss an alleged crisis in masculinity.” The suspect’s “writings repeat many of the beliefs found in the manosphere and he publicly connected online with men from several well-known white nationalist and hate groups.”

Special Alert | January 4, 2022 Trailer Bill 2 on SAFE-T Act may be called in House

The Illinois House of Representatives returns to Springfield for one day this week (Wednesday, January 5). We have been talking to legislators, and it is possible that the next Trailer Bill will be voted on as soon as this week.

The Senate passed this trailer bill, HB 3512 in October, but the House did not call it for a vote yet. If the House passes it, it will be sent to the governor. That would be good for law enforcement.

The Illinois Chiefs are officially neutral on the bill, but because it makes important changes to the 3-phone-call law and postpones the effective dates of the SAFE-T Act's new training and the new decertification process until July 1, 2022, we have been advising legislators that it would help law enforcement to see this trailer bill pass.

We call this Trailer Bill 2 because it fixes some problematic language in the SAFE-T Act on issues that were effective January 1, 2021. The first trailer bill was passed and signed in the summer of 2021, fixing some language on provisions that were effective July 1, 2021.

Let us know if you have any questions about the process or about Trailer Bill 2.

Two documents are attached:

- Highlights of Trailer Bill 2, to show you what would change
- The complete language of the 176-page bill (HB3512 SA1)

Range Team,

I have updated the Glock Inspection Form for 2022 and is now a fillable PDF file and can be utilized like the other forms that have been recently updated. Paper copies of the form will be placed in the range and a copy is attached to this email.

For the 2022 qualifications, ensure you complete the Qualification Form, Rules Acknowledgement Form, and Glock Inspection Form. After all are completed, all three must be uploaded to Training Tracker. You will have to create 3 entries for this process. The first will be for the qualification sheet, the second entry for the rules sheet and a third for the inspection sheet. Under Courses there are drop-downs for "Officer Rules and Employee Acknowledgement" and "Primary Pistol Inspection". Upload the corresponding sheet under the correct course.

ILEAP and ILET SB requires regular updates from Support Services in regards to our range management and training. This makes all the requests from ILEAP and ILET SB become an easy one-click response to keep up with our accreditation and training requirements.

If the need arises to check and Officer's on-duty or off-duty weapon qualification to ensure that they are in compliance with policy, I attached instructions on how to do this via Training Tracker as well. You can also use a range report to find weapon serial numbers to complete inspection or qualification forms.

Sex Workers At Center Of Loitering Debate In California

The Los Angeles Times (1/3, Chabria) reports “sex workers are at the center of a heated fight in California over people criminalized for standing on street corners, and what some contend is the subjective and discriminatory criteria for loitering with the intent to commit prostitution.” The debate “has larger implications for how the future of this illicit industry will be handled in California.” In September, legislators in that state “passed Senate Bill 357, which would repeal loitering laws around prostitution, including those that target pimps and buyers.” In “an unusual move that insiders said was requested by the” office of California Gov. Gavin Newsom (D), the bill “was held and won’t receive his consideration until early this year.”

Chief Supports Changing Residency Requirements For Memphis Police Recruits

The Memphis (TN) Commercial Appeal (1/3, Hardiman) reports that on Monday, Memphis Police Chief C.J. Davis “supported the idea of new police recruits being allowed to live outside Shelby County.” Davis, “herself a recent arrival to the city, openly endorsed the idea of changing residency requirements for new police officers for the first time.” In a Commercial-Appeal op-ed , “Davis supported the idea of new police recruits being allowed to live outside Shelby County.” Currently, “new recruits are required by the city charter to live within county limits – a policy that Memphis Mayor Jim Strickland and Davis’ predecessor, Michael Rallings, spent years trying to change. Davis, like Rallings and Strickland before her, said changing the residency requirement would allow the department to grab more recruits; and more police officers are needed to fight violent crime, which has risen in Memphis and throughout many US cities.”

Twin Cities Preparing For Latest Trial Over Floyd’s Killing

The Wall Street Journal (1/3, Barrett, Subscription Publication) reports the trial of former Minneapolis police officers Tou Thao, Thomas Lane and J. Alexander Kueng over the killing of George Floyd is scheduled to begin on Jan. 20 in St. Paul, a month after former officer Derek Chauvin pled guilty to federal charges of violating Floyd's rights by kneeling on his neck and back for over eight minutes. The Journal says the officers on trial will likely blame Chauvin for Floyd's death, as Chauvin was already found guilty of second-degree murder in a state trial last year.

At Least 21 Students Rescued From Kidnappers In Nigeria

The AP (1/3, Asadu) reports that "at least 21 schoolchildren in Nigeria have been rescued hours after they were abducted by armed groups in the West African country's troubled northwestern region, police said." The youths were kidnapped on Friday, and security forces responded quickly. However, while a police spokesman announced the rescue, he "did not say how many hostages are still being held but said the assailants seized travelers from as many as five vehicles, suggesting there are many more still in captivity."

At Least 1,488 Deaths Caused By Opioids In One Illinois County

The AP (1/3, Peltz) reports, "Opioids caused at least 1,488 deaths...last year" in Cook County, Illinois. However, the Cook County Medical Examiner's Office "said it expects that such drugs also were responsible for an additional 600-700 of its pending cases."

Tennessee Official Links COVID-19 Data Release Change To Anti-Overdose Deaths Effort

The AP (1/3) reports the Tennessee Department of Health has decided to switch from a "daily COVID-19 data releases" procedure to a weekly one. Tennessee Health Commissioner Dr. Lisa Piercey "said the decision will enable the department to incorporate COVID-19 monitoring with the department's pre-pandemic priorities, such as addressing drug overdose deaths."

Coalition Lacks Enough Signatures For Initiated Marijuana Legalization Statute In Ohio

The AP (1/3) reports a coalition that wants "to legalize marijuana possession and cultivation in Ohio has failed to gather enough valid signatures to put the issue in front of state lawmakers." But Tom Haren, a spokesperson for the Coalition to Legalize Marijuana Like Alcohol, "said he's confident the needed signatures will be collected before a Jan. 14 deadline." A similar Cleveland Plain Dealer (1/3, Tobias) article said the coalition "is trying to use a legal procedure called an initiated statute to fully legalize marijuana in Ohio for people 21 and older." That procedure "involves collecting...signatures from 44 of Ohio's 88 counties to send" a proposed law change to the Ohio General Assembly. If the Ohio General Assembly "fails to approve the law within four months, the group" can then try to have voters decide whether to approve the proposed law. The Columbus (OH) Dispatch (1/3, Bischoff) also covers this story.

More Than 200 Kilograms Of Cocaine Seized In Niger

Reuters (1/3) reports police officers recently “seized more than 200” kilograms of cocaine in Agadez, Niger. That amount of cocaine is “worth around $8.7 million.”

Arrested Colorado Man Allegedly Threatened Firefighters

Newsweek (1/3, Kika) reports Colorado resident Stephen Roch “was arrested on New Year’s Eve after allegedly threatening firefighters” who were working to contain a wildfire. Roche “faces charges of menacing, obstructing government operations, obstructing a peace officer/firefighter, eluding, and third-degree criminal trespass.” Newsweek adds, “According to a police report” that was obtained by a Denver-based media outlet , “firefighters from Denver were in the Louisville, Colorado, area working the Marshall fire when they noticed Roch’s vehicle parked on the side of a road. When they attempted to notify him about the evacuation order in effect for the area and get him to leave, he allegedly became belligerent. Roch was arrested after he was pulled over by police later in the day.” Guns and ammunition were allegedly found when Roch’s vehicle was searched.

The Wall Street Journal (1/3, Barrett, Subscription Publication) reports the trial of former Minneapolis police officers Tou Thao, Thomas Lane and J. Alexander Kueng over the killing of George Floyd is scheduled to begin on Jan. 20 in St. Paul, a month after former officer Derek Chauvin pled guilty to federal charges of violating Floyd's rights by kneeling on his neck and back for over eight minutes. The Journal says the officers on trial will likely blame Chauvin for Floyd's death, as Chauvin was already found guilty of second-degree murder in a state trial last year.

At Least 21 Students Rescued From Kidnappers In Nigeria

The AP (1/3, Asadu) reports that "at least 21 schoolchildren in Nigeria have been rescued hours after they were abducted by armed groups in the West African country's troubled northwestern region, police said." The youths were kidnapped on Friday, and security forces responded quickly. However, while a police spokesman announced the rescue, he "did not say how many hostages are still being held but said the assailants seized travelers from as many as five vehicles, suggesting there are many more still in captivity."

At Least 1,488 Deaths Caused By Opioids In One Illinois County

The AP (1/3, Peltz) reports, "Opioids caused at least 1,488 deaths...last year" in Cook County, Illinois. However, the Cook County Medical Examiner's Office "said it expects that such drugs also were responsible for an additional 600-700 of its pending cases."

Tennessee Official Links COVID-19 Data Release Change To Anti-Overdose Deaths Effort

The AP (1/3) reports the Tennessee Department of Health has decided to switch from a "daily COVID-19 data releases" procedure to a weekly one. Tennessee Health Commissioner Dr. Lisa Piercey "said the decision will enable the department to incorporate COVID-19 monitoring with the department's pre-pandemic priorities, such as addressing drug overdose deaths."

Coalition Lacks Enough Signatures For Initiated Marijuana Legalization Statute In Ohio

The AP (1/3) reports a coalition that wants "to legalize marijuana possession and cultivation in Ohio has failed to gather enough valid signatures to put the issue in front of state lawmakers." But Tom Haren, a spokesperson for the Coalition to Legalize Marijuana Like Alcohol, "said he's confident the needed signatures will be collected before a Jan. 14 deadline." A similar Cleveland Plain Dealer (1/3, Tobias) article said the coalition "is trying to use a legal procedure called an initiated statute to fully legalize marijuana in Ohio for people 21 and older." That procedure "involves collecting...signatures from 44 of Ohio's 88 counties to send" a proposed law change to the Ohio General Assembly. If the Ohio General Assembly "fails to approve the law within four months, the group" can then try to have voters decide whether to approve the proposed law. The Columbus (OH) Dispatch (1/3, Bischoff) also covers this story.

More Than 200 Kilograms Of Cocaine Seized In Niger

Reuters (1/3) reports police officers recently “seized more than 200” kilograms of cocaine in Agadez, Niger. That amount of cocaine is “worth around $8.7 million.”

Arrested Colorado Man Allegedly Threatened Firefighters

Newsweek (1/3, Kika) reports Colorado resident Stephen Roch “was arrested on New Year’s Eve after allegedly threatening firefighters” who were working to contain a wildfire. Roche “faces charges of menacing, obstructing government operations, obstructing a peace officer/firefighter, eluding, and third-degree criminal trespass.” Newsweek adds, “According to a police report” that was obtained by a Denver-based media outlet , “firefighters from Denver were in the Louisville, Colorado, area working the Marshall fire when they noticed Roch’s vehicle parked on the side of a road. When they attempted to notify him about the evacuation order in effect for the area and get him to leave, he allegedly became belligerent. Roch was arrested after he was pulled over by police later in the day.” Guns and ammunition were allegedly found when Roch’s vehicle was searched.

Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Presenter: Det. Tom Heller, Seattle Police Department

Description: This session will explain from a law enforcement perspective the many factors to review to determine if a defendant is safely off the roadway, including specifics on the scientific phenomena at play in why alcohol impaired people choose to drive. It will explain the background behind homeostasis and burn-off, and discuss how these scientific factors come into play in a DUI case so that both prosecutors and law enforcement officers can better explain and articulate these factors in order to better investigate and prosecute DUI cases. This session is a crucial follow-up to a prior session on the Mellanby Effect conducted by Washington State TSRP Miriam Norman, which explained these factors from a prosecutor's perspective; this session will provide both prosecutors and law enforcement officers with even more information on these factors, this time from the eyes of a law enforcement officer.

Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Subsequently, they have also been identified in impaired driving cases. This presentation will provide a background onto these troubling and difficult new drug issues and so that prosecutors and law enforcement officers may better deal with such issues while investigating and prosecuting Drug-DUI cases.

During this presentation, DECP National Project Manager Kyle Clark will review the history of the changes and improvements made to the SFST program over the past 35 years. Background information will also be shared to enlighten prosecutors and law enforcement officers on the reasoning behind some of the changes that have served to enhance the accuracies of the three standardized field sobriety tests over the years so that they can better explain these important tests in court on a DUI case.

This webinar will analyze the rules and regulations about CDL operators and impaired driving and the legal, as well as the often deadly practical, consequences of what happens when a CDL driver chooses to operate a vehicle while impaired.

WPost Analysis: 2021 Set New Record For School Shootings

The Washington Post (12/31, A1) reports that according to its own database, “at least 42 acts of gun violence” were “committed on K-12 campuses during regular hours in 2021, the most during any year since at least 1999.” The US “smashed the previous record of 30, despite most schools remaining closed to in-person classes for the first two months of the year. In total, about 34,000 students were exposed to gun violence in 2021, bringing the tally since the Columbine High massacre to more than 285,000.” The Post says while it is “impossible to know with certainty what’s driven the surge in incidents...researchers have speculated that a spike in gun sales, soaring rates of overall violence, the pandemic and the chaos of the past year all played some role.”

Increase In Catalytic Converter Theft Leads To More Legislation

The AP (1/2, Lavoie) reports that thefts of catalytic converters have “jumped over the past two years as prices for the precious metals they contain have skyrocketed,” with the devices selling $50 to $300 apiece at scrapyards. The National Insurance Crime Bureau “said the number of catalytic converter thefts reported in claims to insurance companies jumped from 3,389 in 2019 to 14,433 in 2020.” Reuters reports the increase has led to more legislation on catalytic converter theft, with ten states passing laws in 2021.

New Law Expands Louisiana’s Medical Marijuana Program

The AP (12/31, Deslatte) reported that a law which expands Louisiana’s medical marijuana program was scheduled to take effect on January 1, 2022. The law “adds raw marijuana in smokable form to” a list of medical marijuana products that are already sold in the state. The AP added, “Because it involves less processing, raw marijuana is anticipated to be less expensive for patients” in Louisiana’s medical marijuana program.

US Authorities Find Five Missing Teenage Girls, Arrest 30 Sex Offenders In Monthslong Operation

USA Today (1/2, Mendoza) report the US Marshals said last month that “five missing and endangered teenage girls were recovered...in a monthslong operation that also saw the arrests of 30 individuals. ... The annual operation sponsored by the US Marshals, dubbed ‘Operation Boo Dat,’ took place from mid-October to mid-December around the New Orleans area along with several Louisiana police and sheriff departments.” According to a Dec. 27 release from the US Marshals, “the five missing girls found ranged from ages 14 to 17.” The US Marshals “said they made 30 arrests part of the operation, with 17 of them being for felony sex offender registration violations.”

2021 Was Chicago’s Worst Year For Murders In Quarter Century

The AP (1/1) reports that according to statistics released by the Chicago Police Department on Saturday, the year “2021 ended as one of the most violent on record in Chicago, as a rise in the number of shootings left more people dead than in any single year in a quarter century.” The CPD data shows “2021 ended with 797 homicides. That is 25 more than were recorded 2020, 299 more than in 2019 and the most since 1996. And there were 3,561 shooting incidents in 2021, which is just over 300 more than were recorded in 2020 and a staggering 1,415 more shooting incidents than were recorded in the city in 2019.” While multiple US cities have “seen an increase in the number of homicides ... Chicago, as it has in previous years, ended 2021 with more homicides than any other city in the United States, including New York and Los Angeles.”

DC Area Murders Soared In 2021

The Washington Post (12/31) reports that homicides in Washington, DC “and in the Maryland suburbs soared in 2021 to levels not seen in more than a decade, largely driven by shootings and reflecting a troubling rise in violent crime across the country.” More people were killed “in Prince George’s County than in any year since 2007. Montgomery County had recorded 32 homicides as of Friday evening, matching numbers not seen since 2002. And killings in the District rose for the fourth consecutive year, surpassing 200 for the first time since 2003.” The Post says that, according to authorities, “violence has climbed amid a proliferation of guns used to settle disputes – such as deadly road rage incidents or a killing over french fries – and a pandemic that continues to upend lives and strain a fragile social safety net critical for people surviving on the margins.”

Los Angeles Gun Violence Reaches 15-Year High

The Los Angeles Times (12/31) reports Los Angeles “has seen nearly 400 killings at the end of 2021, a staggering loss of progress in reducing such violence over the last 15 years. As of Dec. 29, there had been 392 homicides – the most of any year since 2007.” The Times says young Black and Latino men “continue to be overrepresented among the dead. Some of the neighborhoods hardest hit by the still far more deadly gang wars of the 1990s are being heavily affected once more.” Additionally, neighborhoods “where violence has historically been less common have also seen upticks.”

Harm Reduction Workers Distributing Fentanyl Test Strips In Some US Clubs

The Guardian (UK) (12/31, Lhooq) reported that harm reduction workers have been distributing fentanyl test strips and the opioid overdose reversal drug naloxone in some clubs in Los Angeles and New York City. The aim of doing so is to prevent overdose deaths, but in some US “states, fentanyl test strips are considered drug paraphernalia.” Meanwhile, “most music festivals and venues in the US do not allow drug-checking services out of fear of attracting law enforcement.”

Fentanyl Seizures Increased Last Year In San Francisco’s Tenderloin Neighborhood

The San Francisco Chronicle (12/31, Hernández) reports the San Francisco Police Department “seized 56.2 pounds of fentanyl in” San Francisco’s Tenderloin neighborhood in 2021. That is “five times more of the deadly synthetic opioid than was seized in 2020, according” to the San Francisco Police Department.

Europe Reportedly May Be Bigger Cocaine Market Than US

The Wall Street Journal (12/31, Marson, Subscription Publication) reported that Europe may have become a bigger cocaine market than the US, according to the DEA. The DEA’s Kevin Daniels expressed concern about how cocaine has affected Antwerp’s economy.

WPost Analysis: 2021 Set New Record For School Shootings

The Washington Post (12/31, A1) reports that according to its own database, “at least 42 acts of gun violence” were “committed on K-12 campuses during regular hours in 2021, the most during any year since at least 1999.” The US “smashed the previous record of 30, despite most schools remaining closed to in-person classes for the first two months of the year. In total, about 34,000 students were exposed to gun violence in 2021, bringing the tally since the Columbine High massacre to more than 285,000.” The Post says while it is “impossible to know with certainty what’s driven the surge in incidents...researchers have speculated that a spike in gun sales, soaring rates of overall violence, the pandemic and the chaos of the past year all played some role.”

Increase In Catalytic Converter Theft Leads To More Legislation

The AP (1/2, Lavoie) reports that thefts of catalytic converters have “jumped over the past two years as prices for the precious metals they contain have skyrocketed,” with the devices selling $50 to $300 apiece at scrapyards. The National Insurance Crime Bureau “said the number of catalytic converter thefts reported in claims to insurance companies jumped from 3,389 in 2019 to 14,433 in 2020.” Reuters reports the increase has led to more legislation on catalytic converter theft, with ten states passing laws in 2021.

New Law Expands Louisiana’s Medical Marijuana Program

The AP (12/31, Deslatte) reported that a law which expands Louisiana’s medical marijuana program was scheduled to take effect on January 1, 2022. The law “adds raw marijuana in smokable form to” a list of medical marijuana products that are already sold in the state. The AP added, “Because it involves less processing, raw marijuana is anticipated to be less expensive for patients” in Louisiana’s medical marijuana program.

Good Morning All –

I know many of you have wanted a full list of the remaining “Traffic Tuesday” webinars for this fiscal year, and i now have everything finalized. I was just waiting to confirm our August Session, which will be a tox session from Chip Walls on Delta-8 – I do not have a full description of that session yet, but I do have the title and it has been confirmed in the system. I will – as usual – send out the form announcements one month prior to each session, but I wanted you all to have the full list for your records. If anyone has any ideas for topics/presenters into FY22-23, please feel free to reach out as I will be starting to coordinate those in the near future.

(in a separate e-mail, I will also send out in just a moment the schedule for the Florida “Webinar Wednesday” Series; that has been scheduled for January – April at one per week, and all topics are very generic if you wish to share those with your people)

National TSRP “Traffic Tuesday” Sessions:

Title: Moving on from Xanax: Impaired Driving with Novel Benzodiazepines

Date: Tuesday, January 11, 2022

Time: 2:00p-3:30p Eastern

Registration Link: <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/4905354994948213008>

Description: This presentation will discuss the challenges with toxicology testing for novel benzodiazepines and the impairment they may produce. Benzodiazepines are a class of compounds that include prescription drugs used to treat anxiety, control seizures, and cause general sedation. They are frequently identified in impaired driving cases, most often in combination with other drugs. Recently, novel designer benzodiazepines have been identified in counterfeit Xanax tablets in a significant number of drug seizure cases. Subsequently, they have also been identified in impaired driving cases. This presentation will provide a background onto these troubling and difficult new drug issues and so that prosecutors and law enforcement officers may better deal with such issues while investigating and prosecuting Drug-DUI cases.

Title: DRE and the IACP 2021: Updates & Enhancements

Description: Much has changed since the introduction of the “Improved Sobriety Test Battery” in 1984. During this presentation, DECP National Project Manager Kyle Clark will review the history of the changes and improvements made to the SFST program over the past 35 years. Background information will also be shared to enlighten prosecutors and law enforcement officers on the reasoning behind some of the changes that have served to enhance the accuracies of the three standardized field sobriety tests over the years so that they can better explain these important tests in court on a DUI case.

Title: CDLs & Impaired Driving: Examining the Regulations, the Licensing Requirements and the Consequences

Date: Tuesday, April 19, 2022

Description: CDL holders have the privilege of operating 80,000 pound vehicles, and with that privilege comes greater training, licensing expectations and responsibility. This webinar will analyze the rules and regulations about CDL operators and impaired driving and the legal, as well as the often deadly practical, consequences of what happens when a CDL driver chooses to operate a vehicle while impaired.

Title: Finding The Story & Presenting the Case for Impaired Driving in CMV & Personal Vehicle Crash Cases

It is especially important in impaired driving cases to communicate the urgency of the facts and the serious consequences of the driver's actions to the jury. In this webinar, Kentucky TSRP Tom Lockridge and NDAA NTLC Staff Attorney Aaron Ann Cole-Funfsinn will create a road map for you to build a compelling opening statement in CDL- and personal vehicle- impaired driving and crash cases to help you tell a powerful and persuasive story to the jury.

Title: Constitutional Law Issues in Impaired Driving Cases

Date: Tuesday, June 7, 2022

Time: 2:00p-3:30p Eastern

Presenter: Ken Stecker - Michigan TSRP

Registration Link: <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/2062013528276280847>

If anyone has any ideas for topics/presenters into FY22-23, please feel free to reach out as I will be starting to coordinate those in the near future.

(in a separate e-mail, I will also send out in just a moment the schedule for the Florida “Webinar Wednesday” Series; that has been scheduled for January – April at one per week, and all topics are very generic if you wish to share those with your people)

Bradley officer killed is identified; ILACP joins law enforcement in mourning tragic 24 hours in Illinois

We are saddened to end the year with such tragedy in Illinois. ILACP joins our members and law enforcement across the country in mourning the shooting deaths of an officer now identified as Sergeant Marlene Rittmanic, 49, of Bradley PD, and Wayne County Deputy Sean Riley, 38, both killed on December 29. While the suspect in the shooting of Deputy Riley has been arrested and charged with first-degree murder, a manhunt is underway in Kankakee County for suspects wanted in the fatal shooting at a Bourbonnais hotel. Police are searching for Darius Sullivan and another suspect not identified. Another officer, not yet publicly named, was shot and injured in this incident and remains hospitalized.

As is our custom, the Illinois Chiefs ask all sworn officers in the state to continue wearing their mourning badges until the services for the officers killed have ended.

Fallen officer's home destroyed in fire

The southern Illinois home belonging to the family of Brian Pierce Jr. was destroyed in a fire on December 23. Officer Pierce of the Brooklyn PD was killed in August 2021 when attempting to stop a fleeing crime suspect on the McKinley Bridge. The family was able to escape the fire without injury, but the home and possessions were destroyed. Monetary donations are being collected to help the Pierce family in this time of need.

Bradley officer killed is identified; ILACP joins law enforcement in mourning tragic 24 hours in Illinois

We are saddened to end the year with such tragedy in Illinois. ILACP joins our members and law enforcement across the country in mourning the shooting deaths of an officer now identified as Sergeant Marlene Rittmanic, 49, of Bradley PD, and Wayne County Deputy Sean Riley, 38, both killed on December 29. While the suspect in the shooting of Deputy Riley has been arrested and charged with first-degree murder, a manhunt is underway in Kankakee County for suspects wanted in the fatal shooting at a Bourbonnais hotel. Police are searching for Darius Sullivan and another suspect not identified. Another officer, not yet publicly named, was shot and injured in this incident and remains hospitalized.

As is our custom, the Illinois Chiefs ask all sworn officers in the state to continue wearing their mourning badges until the services for the officers killed have ended.

Illinois' Voice of Professional Law Enforcement

Special Alert | December 30, 2021 Bradley officer and Wayne County deputy shot and killed; please wear mourning badges

We are saddened to report two recent tragic incidents in which officers were shot and killed. Deputy Sean Riley, 38, of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, was shot after stopping to assist a motorist on I-64 at 5 a.m. on Wednesday morning. In a separate incident, last night at around 9:40 p.m., two Bradley officers were shot and one killed in a hotel just outside of Kankakee. They have not been publicly identified.

Deputy Sean Riley was shot and killed after responding to assist a motorist. He was helping a driver when he was ambushed and fatally shot. When an officer arrived on the scene to provide backup, he found Deputy Riley suffering from fatal gunshot wounds and his patrol car missing.

The suspect, Ray Tate of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, later abandoned the patrol car before fleeing to St. Peters, Missouri, where he shot and carjacked a citizen. The man abandoned that vehicle then stole another vehicle and returned to Illinois. Tate has been charged with first-degree murder in the death of Deputy Riley.

A line of police cars escorted Deputy Riley's body to the Vanderburgh County Morgue in Evansville. A second procession returned his body home to Wayne County. Read more here.

Two Bradley police officers, a man and a woman, responded to a call about dogs barking in an unattended vehicle at the Comfort Inn parking lot on Wednesday night. The officers went to the room of the suspected owner of the car and were speaking with the people inside when they were shot.

The officers were transported to hospitals in critical condition and one of them later died, according to Bradley Police Chief Donald W. Barber. They have not been publicly identified.

Authorities have issued an arrest warrant for a suspect, Darius D. Sullivan, 25, and are offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to his arrest. Read more here.

As is our custom, the Illinois Chiefs ask all sworn officers in the state to continue wearing their mourning badges until the services for the officers killed have ended.

More information about these tragedies, the officers injured and killed, and their funeral services will be provided as available.

Special Alert | December 30, 2021 Bradley officer and Wayne County deputy shot and killed; please wear mourning badges

We are saddened to report two recent tragic incidents in which officers were shot and killed. Deputy Sean Riley, 38, of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, was shot after stopping to assist a motorist on I-64 at 5 a.m. on Wednesday morning. In a separate incident, last night at around 9:40 p.m., two Bradley officers were shot and one killed in a hotel just outside of Kankakee. They have not been publicly identified.

Deputy Sean Riley was shot and killed after responding to assist a motorist. He was helping a driver when he was ambushed and fatally shot. When an officer arrived on the scene to provide backup, he found Deputy Riley suffering from fatal gunshot wounds and his patrol car missing.

The suspect, Ray Tate of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, later abandoned the patrol car before fleeing to St. Peters, Missouri, where he shot and carjacked a citizen. The man abandoned that vehicle then stole another vehicle and returned to Illinois. Tate has been charged with first-degree murder in the death of Deputy Riley.

A line of police cars escorted Deputy Riley's body to the Vanderburgh County Morgue in Evansville. A second procession returned his body home to Wayne County. Read more here.

WPost Analysis: Pandemic Fueled Surge In Domestic Violence

The Washington Post (12/29, Berger) writes in analysis that about “two years after the pandemic began and reports of abuse spiked around the globe, the silent suffering of millions of domestic violence victims has become a part of this life.” Approximately “7 in 10 women said domestic violence increased in their community since the pandemic began, according to a survey by the United Nations agency for gender equality of 13 countries. ... One in four women said they feel less safe at home during the pandemic.” Now, the rise “rise of the omicron variant – and with it the revival of movement restrictions, school closures and economic uncertainty – could once again intensify the conditions that allow abuse to persist and put more strain on drained safety nets. Without fundamental changes to prevention and support services, experts say, the same tragic scenes will persist when other variants develop.”

Dallas Sues Landlord Of “Crime Havens” To Force Him To Make Repairs, Security Upgrades

The Dallas Morning News (12/29, Krause) reports, “The outlines of a figure shrouded in darkness dragged the body down the stairwell of a decrepit South Dallas apartment building and dumped it among old tires and other trash in a dumpster.” According to the Morning News, “The Nov. 2 murder was a grim example of the violence and danger that 2906 Holmes Street had brought to the community, city officials said. Some months earlier, FBI agents raided the building and two other high-crime rental properties in South Dallas, making multiple drug-related arrests.” Authorities “said the apartments had become havens for drug dealers and spawned numerous other crimes such as prostitution, robberies, shootings, assaults and murder,” and “Dallas city officials say the owner, Stewart McCray, refuses to clean them up, make repairs or provide proper security." In two lawsuits that the city filed against McCray, Dallas is "asking a judge to force him into action."

Report Finds Few Minnesota Departments Adopt Recommended Body Camera Guidelines

The AP (12/29) reports from Minneapolis, Minnesota, "Most Minnesota law enforcement agencies have chosen not to implement guidelines mandating officers with a history of misconduct wear body cameras, a Minneapolis Star Tribune analysis has found." The League of Minnesota Cities "two years ago created a model policy requiring problem officers wear cameras," but "the Star Tribune found that only 10 of the 108 agencies with public body camera policies have implemented the policy." Agencies that "have adopted the guidelines include Fairmont, Faribault, Maplewood, St. Paul Park and White Bear Lake police and the Anoka, Olmsted and Rice county sheriff's offices. Rachel Carlson, loss control manager for the League of Minnesota Cities, said the policy isn't binding but was meant to offer guidance for rural police chiefs who couldn't afford body cameras for all their officers," but "she said that as the cameras become more common price considerations have become a 'moot point.'"

Effective Opioid Use Disorder Treatments Reportedly Underutilized In US

The San Francisco Chronicle (12/29, Jung) reports effective opioid use disorder "treatments are available, but vastly underutilized across the US, including in San Francisco." A study that focused on the period of time lasting from August 2019 to April of this year found that less than nine percent of nonfatal opioid overdose-involved visits to "emergency department visits across the US" led to a prescription for the opioid use disorder treatment medication buprenorphine. Dr. Keith Kocher, "a University of Michigan emergency doctor who was among the authors of" that study, said, "Stigma is a big reason that this doesn't become a priority as something we should do consistently" when treating opioid use disorder patients.

Police: Moroccan Police Arrested Suspected Bomb Maker With Help Of US IC

Reuters (12/29, Eljehtimi) reports a suspected Islamic State "militant and bomb maker went on trial in a Moroccan court on terrorism charges after his arrest in cooperation with U.S. intelligence, police said." The 24-year-old Moroccan "was active in the city of Sala Al Jadida near the capital, Rabat, and was in the advanced stages of planning attacks, police said in a statement." He was arrested "on Dec. 16 as part of an operation in cooperation with U.S. intelligence and security agencies, police said without offering further details."

Fentanyl Driving Opioid Deaths In A County In Ohio

The Cleveland Plain Dealer (12/29) reports, "The mix of fentanyl with other drugs has been the leading cause of opioid deaths" this year in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, according to the Cuyahoga County Medical Examiner's Office.

City In Massachusetts Attempts To Better Help Those With A Substance Use Disorder

The Fall River (MA) Herald News (12/29) reports Fall River “took some big steps in 2021 toward better helping community members who struggle with” a substance use disorder “and the problems that often accompany it, like homelessness and mental illness.” In March, for example, the city designated its six fire stations as places that can provide information about treatment resources to people who have a substance use disorder.

Ease Of Entry Leads To High Number Of Marijuana Stores In Oklahoma

The New York Times (12/29, Romero) reports, “Ever since the state legalized medical marijuana three years ago, Oklahoma has become one of the easiest places in the United States to launch” a marijuana business. As a result, Oklahoma “now boasts more retail cannabis stores than Colorado, Oregon and Washington combined.”

Pandemic Shows Resilience Of Drug Traffickers In Latin America

The Economist (12/29) reports the COVID-19 pandemic has shown that drug traffickers in Latin America are “resilient and adaptable.” The Economist adds, “According to the US Drug Enforcement Administration criminal groups now mostly deal with customers through social media or messenger apps, rather than” dealing with them on “the dark web (although such markets are still worth around $315m annually).”

Despite Vows In 2020 To Cut Police Funding, Budgets Expanded In 2021

NBC News (12/28, Adams) reports, “2020 appeared to be a year of racial reckoning in the United States. The fight against systemic racism reverberated throughout the country with protests, boycotts and calls to ‘defund the police,’” but “a year after slashing police budgets in response to the growing defund movement, many cities have restored the funding – seeming to confirm activists’ suspicions that city leaders weren’t serious about the change in the first place. At least a dozen cities cut their police funding or decreased officer numbers during last summer’s protests against police violence following the killing of George Floyd in May 2020. But one by one, city governments began to bolster their police budgets in 2021, with an additional $200 million allocated to the New York City Police Department and the Los Angeles Police Department seeing a 3 percent increase in the year after the city council approved a $150 million cut.”

Elder Abuse On The Rise During Pandemic

The Wall Street Journal (12/28, A1, Ansberry, Subscription Publication) reports the pandemic not only affected older adults in terms of COVID infections, but also made them more vulnerable to abuse financially. According to an FBI report on Internet crime, the number of victims of elder fraud went up 55 percent between 2019 and 2020.

New Recreational Marijuana Rules Take Effect In New Mexico

The AP (12/29) reports, “New rules governing the manufacture, sale and transport of recreational marijuana in New Mexico are now in effect,” according to the New Mexico Regulation and Licensing Department’s Cannabis Control Division. The rules, which took effect on Tuesday, “cover the licensing of retail stores” and other matters.

Behavioral Health Experts Aim To Publicize Gun Safety

The AP (12/28) reports “in recent weeks, a series of threats against Coulee Region schools materialized, leading one to close for a day and others to increase police presence on the premises.” Thankfully, “no acts of violence have followed – but after the shooting at a Michigan school three weeks ago, mental health experts are on high alert.” The 15-year-old assailant “in the Michigan attack, which left four dead, carried out the shooting using a gun gifted to him by his parents, which authorities stated was not securely stored.” If the gun “had been locked up, rather than loose in a drawer, as reported, ‘maybe the shooting wouldn’t have happened,’ says Dr. Emily Rae, psychiatrist and behavioral health specialist at Gundersen Health System.” While gun control “is a frequently publicized, hot-button topic, far less emphasis is put on proper storage and handling.”

Nominate a law enforcement officer employed within Tribal Nations who has performed an act of valor or exceptional service. The International Association of Chiefs of Police is now accepting nominations for the 2022 IACP/FirstNet Indian Country Officer of the Year Award.

One Injured In Istanbul Knife Attack At Pro-Kurdish Party’s Offices

The AP (12/28) reports that on Tuesday, Turkish police “detained a man who wounded one person during a knife attack on a branch of” the People’s Democratic Party (HDP) – a “pro-Kurdish party” based in Istanbul. The assailant entered HDP’s offices “in Istanbul’s Bahcelievler district and threatened to kill everyone inside the building before wounding one person.” The AP points out that the incident is “the second attack on an HDP building this year. In June, a gunman stormed the HDP’s office in Izmir province, in western Turkey, killing a female employee.”

Five People Suspected Of Smuggling Meth Into Indonesia

The AP (12/28, Taufan) reports five individuals who are suspected of smuggling 64 pounds “of methamphetamine into Indonesia from Malaysia have been arrested.” The suspects “face a possible death penalty if found guilty of drug smuggling under Indonesia’s Narcotics Law.”

Denver Police Investigating After Gunman Kills Four People, Injures Three Others

The AP (12/28) reports a gunman on Monday “killed four people and injured an officer after opening fire in several locations around the Denver area,” before dying “after exchanging gunfire with officers, Lakewood police said.” The AP adds Denver Police Chief Paul Pazen “said they were still investigating what led to the shootings.” The Denver Post (12/28, Fries, Aguilar) says that three people “were also reported injured,” including a Lakewood police officer “who went into surgery on Monday night. No updates on the officer’s condition have been released.” However, USA Today (12/28, Hughes, Hauck) reports that as of “Tuesday morning, there were few signs of the previous evening’s violence: a bullet hole in the window casing of an Xfinity store and boarded up windows at a nearby restaurant in Lakewood.”

Judge Sentences California Man To Second Life Term For Synagogue Attack

The AP (12/28, Spagat) reports US District Judge Anthony Battaglia on Tuesday sentenced white supremacist John T. Earnest, 22, “to life in federal prison for killing a woman and injuring three others in a shooting at a Southern California synagogue in 2019, adding to the life term he received three months earlier in state court.” The AP adds Battaglia “said the federal and state life sentences would run one after the other instead of concurrently, acknowledging it was symbolic but that it was meant to send a strong message,” and he “denied the defense attorney’s request to have Earnest stay in state prison.”

Colombian Police Capture Five Connected To Airport Bombing

Reuters (12/28, Griffin) reports Colombia’s police captured “five people during raids in the Andean country’s second city Medellin and surrounding areas in connection with a bombing earlier this month at an airport in the northern city of Cucuta, it said on Tuesday.” Three people, including two “police officers, were killed on Dec. 14 after bombs exploded at the airport, which is located in Colombia’s Norte de Santander province.” The province bordering Venezuela “has become the new epicenter of Colombia’s long internal conflict as security forces fight crime gangs dedicated to drug trafficking and rebel groups amid growing output of coca, the chief ingredient in cocaine.”

Congressional Attention On Cybersecurity High After “Banner Year Of Attacks”

The Hill (12/28) reports that 2021 was a “banner year in the severity of cyberattacks that wreaked havoc on organizations large and small,” but that a “silver lining has emerged around a never before seen level of bipartisan support and genuine interest on Capitol Hill for strengthening the nation’s cybersecurity.” Although cybersecurity provisions did not make in into the NDAA signed into law this year by President Biden, The Hill suggests that because of the bipartisan consensus “around the need to take further steps to defend the nation against cyber threats, the action is likely to be a speed bump instead of a roadblock.” Cyberspace Solarium Commission co-chair Sen. Angus King (I-ME) told reporters Wednesday, “My sense is we were very close on this, and it is clearly one of the major pieces of unfinished business that we should be able to work through early in the new year, that is my intention.”

New Recreational Marijuana Rules Take Effect In New Mexico

The AP (12/29) reports, “New rules governing the manufacture, sale and transport of recreational marijuana in New Mexico are now in effect,” according to the New Mexico Regulation and Licensing Department’s Cannabis Control Division. The rules, which took effect on Tuesday, “cover the licensing of retail stores” and other matters.

Behavioral Health Experts Aim To Publicize Gun Safety

The AP (12/28) reports “in recent weeks, a series of threats against Coulee Region schools materialized, leading one to close for a day and others to increase police presence on the premises.” Thankfully, “no acts of violence have followed – but after the shooting at a Michigan school three weeks ago, mental health experts are on high alert.” The 15-year-old assailant “in the Michigan attack, which left four dead, carried out the shooting using a gun gifted to him by his parents, which authorities stated was not securely stored.” If the gun “had been locked up, rather than loose in a drawer, as reported, ‘maybe the shooting wouldn’t have happened,’ says Dr. Emily Rae, psychiatrist and behavioral health specialist at Gundersen Health System.” While gun control “is a frequently publicized, hot-button topic, far less emphasis is put on proper storage and handling.”

One Injured In Istanbul Knife Attack At Pro-Kurdish Party’s Offices

The AP (12/28) reports that on Tuesday, Turkish police “detained a man who wounded one person during a knife attack on a branch of” the People’s Democratic Party (HDP) – a “pro-Kurdish party” based in Istanbul. The assailant entered HDP’s offices “in Istanbul’s Bahcelievler district and threatened to kill everyone inside the building before wounding one person.” The AP points out that the incident is “the second attack on an HDP building this year. In June, a gunman stormed the HDP’s office in Izmir province, in western Turkey, killing a female employee.”

Five People Suspected Of Smuggling Meth Into Indonesia

The AP (12/28, Taufan) reports five individuals who are suspected of smuggling 64 pounds “of methamphetamine into Indonesia from Malaysia have been arrested.” The suspects “face a possible death penalty if found guilty of drug smuggling under Indonesia’s Narcotics Law.”

Denver Police Investigating After Gunman Kills Four People, Injures Three Others

The AP (12/28) reports a gunman on Monday “killed four people and injured an officer after opening fire in several locations around the Denver area,” before dying “after exchanging gunfire with officers, Lakewood police said.” The AP adds Denver Police Chief Paul Pazen “said they were still investigating what led to the shootings.” The Denver Post (12/28, Fries, Aguilar) says that three people “were also reported injured,” including a Lakewood police officer “who went into surgery on Monday night. No updates on the officer’s condition have been released.” However, USA Today (12/28, Hughes, Hauck) reports that as of “Tuesday morning, there were few signs of the previous evening’s violence: a bullet hole in the window casing of an Xfinity store and boarded up windows at a nearby restaurant in Lakewood.”

Judge Sentences California Man To Second Life Term For Synagogue Attack

The AP (12/28, Spagat) reports US District Judge Anthony Battaglia on Tuesday sentenced white supremacist John T. Earnest, 22, “to life in federal prison for killing a woman and injuring three others in a shooting at a Southern California synagogue in 2019, adding to the life term he received three months earlier in state court.” The AP adds Battaglia “said the federal and state life sentences would run one after the other instead of concurrently, acknowledging it was symbolic but that it was meant to send a strong message,” and he “denied the defense attorney’s request to have Earnest stay in state prison.”

Colombian Police Capture Five Connected To Airport Bombing

Reuters (12/28, Griffin) reports Colombia’s police captured “five people during raids in the Andean country’s second city Medellin and surrounding areas in connection with a bombing earlier this month at an airport in the northern city of Cucuta, it said on Tuesday.” Three people, including two “police officers, were killed on Dec. 14 after bombs exploded at the airport, which is located in Colombia’s Norte de Santander province.” The province bordering Venezuela “has become the new epicenter of Colombia’s long internal conflict as security forces fight crime gangs dedicated to drug trafficking and rebel groups amid growing output of coca, the chief ingredient in cocaine.”

Congressional Attention On Cybersecurity High After “Banner Year Of Attacks”

The Hill (12/28) reports that 2021 was a “banner year in the severity of cyberattacks that wreaked havoc on organizations large and small,” but that a “silver lining has emerged around a never before seen level of bipartisan support and genuine interest on Capitol Hill for strengthening the nation’s cybersecurity.” Although cybersecurity provisions did not make in into the NDAA signed into law this year by President Biden, The Hill suggests that because of the bipartisan consensus “around the need to take further steps to defend the nation against cyber threats, the action is likely to be a speed bump instead of a roadblock.” Cyberspace Solarium Commission co-chair Sen. Angus King (I-ME) told reporters Wednesday, “My sense is we were very close on this, and it is clearly one of the major pieces of unfinished business that we should be able to work through early in the new year, that is my intention.”

Oak Brook is looking for a mock assessment for their upcoming ILEAP Assessment which is planned for the beginning of March of 2022.

Oak Brook is a Tier 2 agency and uses PowerDMS for their file maintenance.

We are going to plan this a little hybrid. We will open PowerDMS for review Jan 3rd through Jan 7th and then ask for at least a few of those mock assessors to come in on Jan 7th for a morning on-site. We only think a few hours would be needed on-site as long as files are reviewed remotely. We are interested in getting personnel more prepared for what a real on-site would look like. Sgt Foltyniewicz will be logistically handling this mock assessment for Oak Brook and taking over Accreditation Manager role after the on-site with ILEAP.

If you have some time and are available to assist, please let me know.

Each year I prepare the annual report for the IACP. I pull all of your data entries for the numbers portion, however, I always ask if anyone had a special case that could be highlighted in the report. If any of you had that special case and would like to share it, please send me the information so I may include it. (Special cases could be a DRE evaluation leading to clearing a case, or lead to a drug dealer or drug seizure. Or, a sensational DUI that was charged due to the evaluation, or cleared some one who was not impaired, maybe a medical case that had not been diagnosed)

Please send me your stories.

DOJ Announces $1.6B To Cities To Combat Violent Crime

On its website, CNN (12/27, Carrega, Perez) reports the Justice Department's Office of Justice Programs "is closing out the year" by awarding $1.6 billion to "public safety programs in cities across the country, including many grappling with a dramatic rise in violent crime." According to CNN, "The grants follow a tumultuous period for cities, many of which struggled with protests last year in the wake of the murder of George Floyd." In a statement, Attorney General Merrick said, "This latest round of funding will deliver critical public safety resources, helping public safety professionals, victim service providers, local agencies and nonprofit organizations confront these serious challenges."

Federal Prosecutors Using RICO In Wider Variety Of Cases

The Wall Street Journal (12/26, Subscription Publication) reports that across the country, federal prosecutors are targeting a wider range of criminal activity using racketeering statutes, sometimes utilizing them in ways that deviate from the original intent of the statutes. While prosecutors have increasingly turned to RICO as a useful tool, some defense attorneys argue that the expanded use of the statute has resulted in violations of defendants' due process.

Review: Fatal Police Shootings Have "Remained Steady At An Alarming Level" Since 2020

The New York Times (12/24, Arango, Heyward) reported that "despite the two high-profile convictions" of Derek Chauvin "for the murder of George Floyd" and of Kimberly Potter "for the shooting death of Daunte Wright during a traffic stop," a review of the data "shows that accountability for officers who kill remains elusive and that the sheer numbers of people killed in encounters with police have remained steady at an alarming level." The Times said that since Floyd's death in May 2020, "1,646 people have been killed by the police, or about three people per day on average, according to Mapping Police Violence," and though "murder or manslaughter

Analysis Highlights Racial Disparities Within Virginia’s Juvenile Justice System

The Washington Post (12/24, Jouvenal) reported that according to the Virginia Joint Legislative Audit and Review Commission (JLARC), “Black youths were more than twice as likely to be referred to Virginia’s juvenile justice system as their White peers, even as the number of teens in statewide programs and detention centers has plunged more than 70 percent over the past decade.” The Post described the “wide-ranging analysis” as “one of the most probing looks at how the state handles young offenders in years” and said it “also found many teens are not receiving quality legal representation, recidivism is high among youths at juvenile detention centers because rehabilitation programs are ineffective, and state and local officials are paying for facilities where 70 percent of beds are unoccupied.”

Program In Canada Pairs Police Officers With Mental Health Workers

CBC Radio (CAN) (12/26) reported, “In the eight years since” a mobile crisis rapid response team program was launched in the city of Hamilton, which is located in the Canadian province of Ontario, “there has been a marked reduction in taking people in mental health crisis into custody.” The Hamilton “program pairs a police officer with a mental health worker to answer 911 calls involving people in mental health crises.”

More Than 90 Pounds Of Fentanyl Seized In Rhode Island

The AP (12/23) reported that “members of the State Police High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Task Force” seized more than 90 pounds of fentanyl and “almost 68 grams (2.4 ounces) of cocaine” during a raid operation in Rhode Island. Three individuals who were arrested in connection with last week’s operation are “charged with a variety of drug offenses.”

San Francisco Officials Question Opioids Emergency

The AP (12/23, Har) reported from San Francisco, “The Board of Supervisors in San Francisco were meeting Thursday to consider an emergency order requested by the mayor to tackle the opioid epidemic in the city’s troubled Tenderloin neighborhood, with some members clearly dismayed that the declaration could be used to criminalize people who are homeless, addicted to drugs or both.” The AP added, “The public health emergency declaration allows the Department of Emergency Management to re-allocate city staff and bypass contracting and permitting regulations to set up a new temporary center where people can access expanded drug treatment and counseling,” but “advocates for the homeless and substance users are urging a no vote because

Mayor London Breed has also pledged to flood the district with police officers to halt crime. Public health officials encourage treatment for drug addicts, not punishment, but Breed has said that people consuming drugs in public may wind up in jail unless they accept services.”

The San Francisco Chronicle (12/26, Neilson) reported, “Breed’s declaration follows months of stories in national media focused on a perceived crime wave in San Francisco. Some city leaders and public officials, including San Francisco Police Department Chief Bill Scott and Supervisors Ahsha Safai and Catherine Stefani, have supported Breed’s emergency declaration, which came with pledges to offer additional services to people suffering from addiction. She also proposed increased funding to police in order to get ‘a lot more aggressive’ with existing laws, including a city ordinance that prevents people from lying or sitting on sidewalks. Other officials, like District Attorney Chesa Boudin, Board of Supervisors President Shamann Walton and Public Defender Mano Raju, agree the Tenderloin is in crisis – but criticize the mayor’s plans to increase policing and jail those who refuse treatment, saying they echo historic tough-on-crime policies that failed to reduce crime rates in the city or meaningfully help people with drug addictions.”

Federal Seizures Of Fentanyl, Meth “Are Soaring In Mexico”

An online Fox News (12/23) report said, “Federal seizures of fentanyl and meth are soaring in Mexico as cartels have begun churning out increased quantities of” those illegal drugs. Fox News added, “The US surpassed 100,000 overdose deaths” during a one-year period in the COVID-19 pandemic.

Violence In Famous Mexico Destinations Highlighted

The Washington Post (12/24, Sieff) reported, “In recent weeks, some of the most famous destinations along Mexico’s Caribbean coast have seen alarming displays of violence,” and many “have pointed to those incidents as” illustrative of lawlessness in that country. Mexican officials, however, “say that critique fails to account for the way tourists’ increasing demand for drugs has emboldened the cartels that sell to them.”

The San Francisco Chronicle (12/26, Neilson) reported, “Breed’s declaration follows months of stories in national media focused on a perceived crime wave in San Francisco. Some city leaders and public officials, including San Francisco Police Department Chief Bill Scott and Supervisors Ahsha Safai and Catherine Stefani, have supported Breed’s emergency declaration, which came with pledges to offer additional services to people suffering from addiction. She also proposed increased funding to police in order to get ‘a lot more aggressive’ with existing laws, including a city ordinance that prevents people from lying or sitting on sidewalks. Other officials, like District Attorney Chesa Boudin, Board of Supervisors President Shamann Walton and Public Defender Mano Raju, agree the Tenderloin is in crisis – but criticize the mayor’s plans to increase policing and jail those who refuse treatment, saying they echo historic tough-on-crime policies that failed to reduce crime rates in the city or meaningfully help people with drug addictions.”

Federal Seizures Of Fentanyl, Meth “Are Soaring In Mexico”

An online Fox News (12/23) report said, “Federal seizures of fentanyl and meth are soaring in Mexico as cartels have begun churning out increased quantities of” those illegal drugs. Fox News added, “The US surpassed 100,000 overdose deaths” during a one-year period in the COVID-19 pandemic.

Violence In Famous Mexico Destinations Highlighted

The Washington Post (12/24, Sieff) reported, “In recent weeks, some of the most famous destinations along Mexico’s Caribbean coast have seen alarming displays of violence,” and many “have pointed to those incidents as” illustrative of lawlessness in that country. Mexican officials, however, “say that critique fails to account for the way tourists’ increasing demand for drugs has emboldened the cartels that sell to them.”

DOJ Announces $1.6B To Cities To Combat Violent Crime

On its website, CNN (12/27, Carrega, Perez) reports the Justice Department's Office of Justice Programs "is closing out the year" by awarding $1.6 billion to "public safety programs in cities across the country, including many grappling with a dramatic rise in violent crime." According to CNN, "The grants follow a tumultuous period for cities, many of which struggled with protests last year in the wake of the murder of George Floyd." In a statement, Attorney General Merrick said, "This latest round of funding will deliver critical public safety resources, helping public safety professionals, victim service providers, local agencies and nonprofit organizations confront these serious challenges."

Federal Prosecutors Using RICO In Wider Variety Of Cases

The Wall Street Journal (12/26, Subscription Publication) reports that across the country, federal prosecutors are targeting a wider range of criminal activity using racketeering statutes, sometimes utilizing them in ways that deviate from the original intent of the statutes. While prosecutors have increasingly turned to RICO as a useful tool, some defense attorneys argue that the expanded use of the statute has resulted in violations of defendants' due process.

Review: Fatal Police Shootings Have "Remained Steady At An Alarming Level" Since 2020

The New York Times (12/24, Arango, Heyward) reported that "despite the two high-profile convictions" of Derek Chauvin "for the murder of George Floyd" and of Kimberly Potter "for the shooting death of Daunte Wright during a traffic stop," a review of the data "shows that accountability for officers who kill remains elusive and that the sheer numbers of people killed in encounters with police have remained steady at an alarming level." The Times said that since Floyd's death in May 2020, "1,646 people have been killed by the police, or about three people per day on average, according to Mapping Police Violence," and though "murder or manslaughter charges against officers have increased this year, criminal charges, much less convictions, remain exceptionally rare.”

Analysis Highlights Racial Disparities Within Virginia’s Juvenile Justice System

The Washington Post (12/24, Jovenal) reported that according to the Virginia Joint Legislative Audit and Review Commission (JLARC), “Black youths were more than twice as likely to be referred to Virginia’s juvenile justice system as their White peers, even as the number of teens in statewide programs and detention centers has plunged more than 70 percent over the past decade.” The Post described the “wide-ranging analysis” as “one of the most probing looks at how the state handles young offenders in years” and said it “also found many teens are not receiving quality legal representation, recidivism is high among youths at juvenile detention centers because rehabilitation programs are ineffective, and state and local officials are paying for facilities where 70 percent of beds are unoccupied.”

Program In Canada Pairs Police Officers With Mental Health Workers

CBC Radio (CAN) (12/26) reported, “In the eight years since” a mobile crisis rapid response team program was launched in the city of Hamilton, which is located in the Canadian province of Ontario, “there has been a marked reduction in taking people in mental health crisis into custody.” The Hamilton “program pairs a police officer with a mental health worker to answer 911 calls involving people in mental health crises.”

More Than 90 Pounds Of Fentanyl Seized In Rhode Island

The AP (12/23) reported that “members of the State Police High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Task Force” seized more than 90 pounds of fentanyl and “almost 68 grams (2.4 ounces) of cocaine” during a raid operation in Rhode Island. Three individuals who were arrested in connection with last week’s operation are “charged with a variety of drug offenses.”

San Francisco Officials Question Opioids Emergency

The AP (12/23, Har) reported from San Francisco, “The Board of Supervisors in San Francisco were meeting Thursday to consider an emergency order requested by the mayor to tackle the opioid epidemic in the city’s troubled Tenderloin neighborhood, with some members clearly dismayed that the declaration could be used to criminalize people who are homeless, addicted to drugs or both.” The AP added, “The public health emergency declaration allows the Department of Emergency Management to re-allocate city staff and bypass contracting and permitting regulations to set up a new temporary center where people can access expanded drug treatment and counseling,” but “advocates for the homeless and substance users are urging a no vote because

Mayor London Breed has also pledged to flood the district with police officers to halt crime. Public health officials encourage treatment for drug addicts, not punishment, but Breed has said that people consuming drugs in public may wind up in jail unless they accept services.”

The San Francisco Chronicle (12/26, Neilson) reported, “Breed’s declaration follows months of stories in national media focused on a perceived crime wave in San Francisco. Some city leaders and public officials, including San Francisco Police Department Chief Bill Scott and Supervisors Ahsha Safai and Catherine Stefani, have supported Breed’s emergency declaration, which came with pledges to offer additional services to people suffering from addiction. She also proposed increased funding to police in order to get ‘a lot more aggressive’ with existing laws, including a city ordinance that prevents people from lying or sitting on sidewalks. ILEAP Assessors and potential Assessors!!

If you are getting this email you are a current assessor or have expressed interest in becoming an assessor (or somewhere in between).

Beginning 2022, ILACP will begin providing a stipend of $400 for assessors to complete assessments. You can elect to take a $400 check OR if you are going to the assessment while on the clock from your home agency, you can elect to send the stipend back to your home agency to pay for ILEAP fees, Power DMS, overtime, or whatever your agency decides.

In order to make sure this stipend plan works well, I need each of you to complete the attached form and send it back to Carmen at the ILACP office. Her email is carmen@ilchiefs.org

When I coordinate an assessment, schedule the assessors, and “hand-off” the assessment to the lead and second assessor, I’ll ask if you want paid or kicked back to home agency. Then we tell Carmen what your choice is, complete the assessment, and once completed, I’ll let Carmen know and she’ll issue checks.

I plan to push out some Assessor training and Power DMS training in the near future, so be on the look out for that February-ish.

Thanks for your strong commitment to the profession and your peer departments.

Any questions or think of things I missed, let me know.

Hello Jeff,

I will need a W9 from each assessor to have all of their information for tax purposes. I have attached one for you to send out. If you could, ask that they send them back to me. If an assessor is opting to have their check go to their agency, maybe I can come up with a form for them to sign to make this request. Thoughts? As for tracking, I can add a column on my "ILEAP tracking" spreadsheet for you to add the assessor(s) assigned. Then I can track when they are paid. I can share this document with you like we do the Use of force form. Like with that one, you will just need to be sure not to keep it open once you have edited it. What do you think? Thank you for reaching out!

Carmen,

Based on the recent decision to pay assessors, I wanted to brainstorm with you. I CC'd Ed so he could verify my information and make corrections if needed.

New facts -

Beginning 2022 ILEAP Assessors will be paid $400 per assessment

ILEAP uses 2 assessors (generally) per assessment

Assessors have choice to receive check made out to them for the stipend

Or

Choice to have check go back to their home agency

Brainstorming here-

-what do you need from me to record keep the assessor and assignments?

-what do you need from assessors to pay them? (tax form?)

-what do you need from assessors to forward stipend to home agency?

-Anything else I missed?

Warm regards,

Jeff

Beginning 2022, ILACP will begin providing a stipend of $400 for assessors to complete assessments. You can elect to take a $400 check OR if you are going to the assessment while on the clock from your home agency, you can elect to send the stipend back to your home agency to pay for ILEAP fees, Power DMS, overtime, or whatever your agency decides.

In order to make sure this stipend plan works well, I need each of you to complete the attached form and send it back to Carmen at the ILACP office. Her email is carmen@ilchiefs.org

When I coordinate an assessment, schedule the assessors, and “hand-off” the assessment to the lead and second assessor, I’ll ask if you want paid or kicked back to home agency. Then we tell Carmen what your choice is, complete the assessment, and once completed, I’ll let Carmen know and she’ll issue checks.

I plan to push out some Assessor training and Power DMS training in the near future, so be on the look out for that February-ish.

Thanks for your strong commitment to the profession and your peer departments.

Any questions or think of things I missed, let me know.

Hello Jeff,

I will need a W9 from each assessor to have all of their information for tax purposes. I have attached one for you to send out. If you could, ask that they send them back to me. If an assessor is opting to have their check go to their agency, maybe I can come up with a form for them to sign to make this request. Thoughts? As for tracking, I can add a column on my "ILEAP tracking" spreadsheet for you to add the assessor(s) assigned. Then I can track when they are paid. I can share this document with you like we do the Use of force form. Like with that one, you will just need to be sure not to keep it open once you have edited it. What do you think? Thank you for reaching out!

Carmen,

Based on the recent decision to pay assessors, I wanted to brainstorm with you. I CC'd Ed so he could verify my information and make corrections if needed.

New facts -

Beginning 2022 ILEAP Assessors will be paid $400 per assessment

ILEAP uses 2 assessors (generally) per assessment

Assessors have choice to receive check made out to them for the stipend

Or

Choice to have check go back to their home agency

Brainstorming here-

-what do you need from me to record keep the assessor and assignments?

-what do you need from assessors to pay them? (tax form?)

-what do you need from assessors to forward stipend to home agency?

-Anything else I missed?

Warm regards,

Jeff

Hi Allie,

Made some track change edits to the word document. One comment in there as well. The PDF change of statuses look good.

Donna and I will be working next week together to put together the full packet for executive session. I will have you review that after it is put together to make sure everything makes it in there okay.

Thanks for your diligence. If you agree to the changes, just send me that final changed word document.

DOJ Says Missouri Gun Law Is Hampering Public Safety Protection Efforts

In a "blistering court brief" that was filed this week, the US Department of Justice (DOJ) "outlines multiple examples," including "that after an Independence police officer was killed in a shootout in September, state law enforcement initially refused routine federal assistance in tracing the murder weapon, The Kansas City Star reported." The AP highlights that the Missouri Information and Analysis Center, which is part of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, "no longer cooperates with federal agencies investigating federal firearms offenses."

Ben Cardin (D) and Chris Van Hollen (D) and US Rep. Local K-9 Units Help Deliver Toys At Washington Hospital

Gain Insight to Mitigate Vulnerability Exposure

On December 10, 2021, a critical vulnerability was identified in widely used software and hardware systems – systems that are potentially used within your law enforcement agency. This vulnerability was identified in Apache’s Log4j, a very common logging library that is used globally by many different software and hardware systems.

The Apache’s Log4j vulnerability is being characterized as the most serious vulnerability seen to date, and has captured global news headlines, as it has opened the door for hackers to exploit the flaw and potentially gain access to critical IT infrastructure such as computer servers within law enforcement agencies, hospitals, and schools.

Join IACP committee chairs Lt. Col. Craig Allen (ret) and Jim Emerson on this newly released podcast to gain basic insights into what actions police executives and their IT staff members can do to assess their agencies’ risk and mitigate this exposure.

Holiday Message In observance of the federal Christmas holiday, we will not publish on Friday, December 24, 2021 and Monday, December 27, 2021. Service will resume on Tuesday, December 28, 2021. We wish our readers a safe and happy holiday.

Policing and Policy

DOJ Says Missouri Gun Law Is Hampering Public Safety Protection Efforts

The AP (12/23) reports, "A Missouri law forbidding local police from enforcing federal gun laws is hampering efforts to protect the public, federal authorities say." In a "blistering court brief" that was filed this week, the US Department of Justice (DOJ) "outlines multiple examples," including "that after an Independence police officer was killed in a shootout in September, state law enforcement initially refused routine federal assistance in tracing the murder weapon, The Kansas City Star reported." The AP highlights that the Missouri Information and Analysis Center, which is part of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, "no longer cooperates with federal agencies investigating federal firearms offenses."

California Prosecutors Warn Of Rapid Rise In Impaired Driving, DUI Crashes

The AP (12/23, Thompson) reports, "Prosecutors in seven California counties warned Wednesday that they are seeing a rapid rise in deadly DUI crashes just as people begin socializing for the holidays and planning New Year's Eve outings." Traffic fatalities in the state have risen by 15 percent, "comparing the most recent statistics for October to a year ago, though not all were linked to impaired driving." The district attorneys "largely blamed the coronavirus pandemic" for the rise in impaired driving.

Maryland Police Department Receives Federal Funding For Mental Health Assistance Program

The Frederick (MD) News-Post (12/21, Marshall) reported, "A Frederick Police Department program to help people experiencing behavioral or mental health crises will be able to expand its hours after receiving more than $280,000 in federal funding.” The department’s mobile crisis team “recently received $280,254 from the Department of Justice, a funding move announced Monday by US Sens. Ben Cardin (D) and Chris Van Hollen (D) and US Rep. David Trone (D-Dist. 6).” The program “pairs police officers with mental health professionals to respond to situations that may require less of a law enforcement response than a medical and mental health response.”

Local K-9 Units Help Deliver Toys At Washington Hospital

The Spokane (WA) Spokesman-Review (12/22, Dreher) reports Providence Sacred Heart Medical Center had its K-9 safety unit help deliver toys to children in the hospital for the holiday season. The dogs for the third year “visited patients and staff for the holidays.” Patrick McKenna, the unit supervisor, “invited local law enforcement agencies to participate in the holiday tradition, and K-9 units from Spokane to Kootenai, Rathdrum, Post Falls and Coeur d’Alene all joined the festivities.”

Gain Insight to Mitigate Vulnerability Exposure

On December 10, 2021, a critical vulnerability was identified in widely used software and hardware systems – systems that are potentially used within your law enforcement agency. This vulnerability was identified in Apache’s Log4j, a very common logging library that is used globally by many different software and hardware systems.

The Apache’s Log4j vulnerability is being characterized as the most serious vulnerability seen to date, and has captured global news headlines, as it has opened the door for hackers to exploit the flaw and potentially gain access to critical IT infrastructure such as computer servers within law enforcement agencies, hospitals, and schools.

Join IACP committee chairs Lt. Col. Craig Allen (ret) and Jim Emerson on this newly released podcast to gain basic insights into what actions police executives and their IT staff members can do to assess their agencies’ risk and mitigate this exposure.

Saskatoon Police Chief Says Gun-Related Crimes On The Rise

CFQC-TV Saskatoon, CAN (12/22) reports, “Saskatoon’s police chief says guns are becoming more prevalent in the community.” Chief Troy cooper said in a year-end interview with CTV News, “We’ve seen more firearms used, more firearms present at offences. In fact, this year so far, we’ve seized 339 firearms at some of the calls that we’ve attended, so that certainly was concerning and something we’re monitoring.” Cooper “said the trend began in 2020 and has extended into this year.”

Hate Crimes In Arizona Reach Highest Level Since 2001; Advocates Say Numbers Likely Underreported

The Prescott (AZ) E-News (12/22, Munson) reports, “Hate crimes in Arizona in 2020 were the highest reported since 2001 in the wake of the 9/11 attacks, according to new FBI statistics, but advocates and experts say many more hate crimes mostly likely were unreported.” The rise in hate crimes in 2020 “occurred alongside spikes in political and racial divisions in the United States, with deep conflicts over such issues as immigration, police mistreatment of people of color and COVID-19 pandemic.”

Officer Safety and Wellness

Police Department In Massachusetts Creating In-House Mental Health Task Force

The Cape Cod (MA) Times (12/22, Jung) reports the Dennis Police Department in Massachusetts “has created an in-house Mental Health Task Force (MHTF) to address a substantial increase in mental health-related calls during the past several years.” The creation of the task force was announced on December 14 “and funded with grant money from the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health.” The team “consists of four civilian mental health practitioners, five members of the department’s Community Crisis Intervention team, and the department’s Family Services officer, according to” Dennis Police Department Lt. Peter Benson.

Technology

India Police Department To Enter Smart Policing Collaboration With 5IRE

The Times of India (12/21) reported, “Muzaffarnagar Police has entered into a Smart Policing Technological Collaboration with 5IRE, a distributed high-performance computing network based on blockchain technology.” The department will be “running test pilot projects in due course of time to examine the potential and compatibility of 5IRE’s technological solutions to its existing work processes (in a safe and testnet environment at the initial stage).” The technology will be used in areas such as “traffic control, smart evidence based intelligent solutions, use of AI in investigation procedures, [and] tamperproof maintenance of ledgers.”

Air Force Squadron Partners With Bay County Sheriff’s Office, Stock Enterprises To Train Using Grappler System

DVIDS Hub (12/22) reports, “The 325th Security Forces Squadron partnered with the Bay County Sheriff’s Office and Stock Enterprises LLC to conduct police pursuit training utilizing a grappler system at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida,” The grappler system “is a new piece of equipment Defenders use to assist in their continued efforts in protecting and serving Airmen and the local community.” Allowing security forces members “the chance to see the grappler system in action gives context and provides a well-rounded understanding of how, when, where and why to employ the grappler.”

Police Department In Colorado To Use New Virtual Reality Training Software

The Boulder (CO) Daily Camera (12/22, Cobb) reports the Erie Police Department in Colorado will soon be adopting new training technology “via exclusive virtual reality training software, according to the Town of Erie.” Ti Training, a law enforcement training technology company, “has donated a $50,000 training simulator to the Erie Police Department in order to give officers exposure to a multitude of scenarios and relevant training schemes.”

On December 10, 2021, a critical vulnerability was identified in widely used software and hardware systems – systems that are potentially used within your law enforcement agency. This vulnerability was identified in Apache's Log4j, a very common logging library that is used globally by many different software and hardware systems.

The Apache's Log4j vulnerability is being characterized as the most serious vulnerability seen to date, and has captured global news headlines, as it has opened the door for hackers to exploit the flaw and potentially gain access to critical IT infrastructure such as computer servers within law enforcement agencies, hospitals, and schools.

Join IACP committee chairs Lt. Col. Craig Allen (ret) and Jim Emerson on this newly released podcast to gain basic insights into what actions police executives and their IT staff members can do to assess their agencies' risk and mitigate this exposure. Hi Allie,

I reviewed and made a few “track change” edits and comments (attached). You can include the new GovHR Salary Study that I emailed last night. We will want to make sure the recommended salaries are in line with the GovHR study.

We would want to “fit” the Animal Control officer into a GovHR range as well – she’s not in there since the position is PT right now.

I’m free from around 11-1pm today if you want to talk live.

Thanks!

DOJ: Inmates On Home Confinement During Pandemic Don't Have To Return To Prison

The Washington Post (12/21, Nakamura) reports that the Justice Department has ruled that the US Bureau of Prisons "is not required to reimprison thousands of federal inmates who were granted home confinement to limit the spread of the coronavirus – even after the federal health emergency ends." Tuesday's decision "reverses a January order issued in the final days of the Trump administration and allows the federal agency to avoid recalling prisoners en masse."

The AP (12/21) says the decision announced by Attorney General Garland "came after months of pressure on President Joe Biden from criminal justice groups, lawmakers and other advocates." Garland said in a statement, "Thousands of people on home confinement have reconnected with their families, have found gainful employment, and have followed the rules. ... In light of today's Office of Legal Counsel opinion, I have directed that the Department engage in a rulemaking process to ensure that the Department lives up to the letter and the spirit of the CARES Act."

Politico (12/21, Gerstein) reports, "According to the Bureau of Prisons, about 36,000 federal inmates were released early due to the pandemic, largely based on authority Congress included in the CARES Act passed in March 2020." While most "have finished serving their sentences," about "4,500 faced the threat of being returned to prison when the pandemic emergency terminates." Reuters (12/21) and the Wall Street Journal (12/21, Gurman, Subscription Publication) provide similar coverage.

Explosives to address illegal firearms and for more prosecutors to bring criminal cases, according to The Chicago Tribune.” Lightfoot said, “Keeping [Chicago’s citizens] safe is my priority – not one of, but the first and primary priority. ... I wake every morning with this as my first concern and I push myself and all involved to step up and do more and better because we cannot continue to endure the level of violence that we are now experiencing.”

"Preparation will help ensure that crucial law enforcement services are not unreasonably disrupted and that employees are provided with the means to prevent or mitigate the spread of infection."

Illinois' Voice of Professional Law Enforcement

Three Things to Know Now | December 21, 2021

Your weekly update from Executive Director Ed Wojcicki on the top three things you need to know about what is happening at the association. This week Ed shares Simon Sinek's unforgettable lesson and his deepest gratitude.

1. This is my last "3 Things" of the year, and so first I want to say THANK YOU for your service to the profession and your communities in a trying time for law enforcement. It might be helpful to remember, as Simon Sinek (pictured below) would say, that law enforcement is in an "infinite game," and you don't win in such games.

You can win a football game, but you can't win at "law enforcement." You stay on the journey until you have to get out of the game, and "life" and "law enforcement" go on with others filling all the roles. Law enforcement never ends because as long as there is civilization, there will be laws, and those laws will need to be enforced. Ad infinitum.

The infinite game becomes a mindset and a lifestyle. It's why I always say we are here only for a certain time and place in history, we do our thing, and then we leave it to future generations to carry on. I explain this more in a recent LinkedIn post here.

2. Which leads me to my second point. Because we're in an infinite game, I want to tell you how grateful I am for your service. I do what I do at the association because you love what you do. You have a calling, and you are committed. That makes our job un-complicated: to do everything we can to support you.

Please remember that national polls consistently show that people throughout America have a high degree of respect for their local police, even though you wouldn't know it if you just listened to politicians and TV commentators.

People in your own community, where you are most visible, respect you a lot. And so do I.

3. Merry Christmas from the ILACP staff and Board of Officers. Thank goodness that our culture gives us this time to enjoy a break from the day-to-day stress. Take a day, or at least a few minutes, to exhale and reflect on the good things in your life – and most people put family at the top.

Three Things to Know Now | December 21, 2021

Your weekly update from Executive Director Ed Wojcicki on the top three things you need to know about what is happening at the association. This week Ed shares Simon Sinek's unforgettable lesson and his deepest gratitude.

1. This is my last "3 Things" of the year, and so first I want to say THANK YOU for your service to the profession and your communities in a trying time for law enforcement. It might be helpful to remember, as Simon Sinek (pictured below) would say, that law enforcement is in an "infinite game," and you don't win in such games.

You can win a football game, but you can't win at "law enforcement." You stay on the journey until you have to get out of the game, and "life" and "law enforcement" go on with others filling all the roles. Law enforcement never ends because as long as there is civilization, there will be laws, and those laws will need to be enforced. Ad infinitum.

The infinite game becomes a mindset and a lifestyle. It's why I always say we are here only for a certain time and place in history, we do our thing, and then we leave it to future generations to carry on. I explain this more in a recent LinkedIn post here.

2. Which leads me to my second point. Because we're in an infinite game, I want to tell you how grateful I am for your service. I do what I do at the association because you love what you do. You have a calling, and you are committed. That makes our job un-complicated: to do everything we can to support you.

Please remember that national polls consistently show that people throughout America have a high degree of respect for their local police, even though you wouldn't know it if you just listened to politicians and TV commentators.

People in your own community, where you are most visible, respect you a lot. And so do I.

December 2021

Synthetic Benzodiazepines

Benzodiazepines as a drug class continue to pose significant abuse potential and impairment risk. Classified as CNS depressants, DREs can expect to observe HGN, VGN at high drug concentrations for the individual or in combination with other depressants including alcohol, along with delayed information processing and reaction time. Although Xanax (Alprazolam), Valium (Diazepam), Ativan (Lorazepam), and Klonopin (Clonazepam) are the most prevalent drugs prescribed, the country has seen an influx of illicitly manufactured, designer benzodiazepines.

Designer benzodiazepines are most encountered as counterfeit pills; Xanax 2 mg and G 3722, generic alprazolam at 2 mg. By 2019 in Orange County California (population 3.2M), 49% of the seized alprazolam pills analyzed by their crime lab were counterfeit and in 2021, the San Diego County Regional Crime Lab (population 3.3M) determined that more than 30% of the novel psychoactive substances found in seized drugs contained a designer benzodiazepine. These drugs include etizolam, flualprazolam, clonazolam, flubromazolam, adinozolam, flubromazepam, and meclonazepam.

The toxicity of many of the designer benzodiazepines are not well studied. However, they are expected to work on the GABA receptor which translates into a risk of fatigue, loss of coordination, headache, and respiratory depression at high doses. Keep in mind that the effectiveness and duration of effects of commonly prescribed benzodiazepines are a result of their active metabolites. It is also important to note that individuals can exhibit cross tolerance from using multiple benzodiazepines, alcohol, and other GABA effecting drugs. As with any emerging drug trend, contact your crime laboratory for scope of testing. A traditional immunoassay drug screen for benzodiazepines may test positive, but the lab may not have the capability to confirm the latest iteration of the drug.

Kathy,

I updated this recently. There's a tab for VMO and then a passwords tab as well in case you should need access to any accounts. I'll work on adding or transitioning some website admin access over to you.

I moved all my documents to the shared Village Manager folder: S:\Village Manager's Office\HSV Files

You and Donna will have access to my email- you should already or it will happen soon. I put in an IT ticket.

We'll go over these items together.

Newsom Increases Funding To Combat Crime As San Francisco Mayor Issues State Of Emergency

The Los Angeles Times (12/17, Willon, Wiley) reported that “as concerns and political criticism rise over a rash of brazen retail thefts,” California Gov. Gavin Newsom (D) on Friday “announced a package of grants for police agencies and prosecutors to crack down on the organized crime rings believed to be largely responsible.” Newsom “said the $270 million in grant money, as well as $25 million for small businesses victimized by theft, will be in his proposed budget when it’s released in January.” The Times adds that Newsom “said organized gangs have struck in California and across the country, ‘heightening the anxiety’ Californians feel about their safety.”

Meanwhile, the New York Times (12/17, A1, Fuller, Dewan, Browning) reported San Francisco Mayor London Breed (D) on Friday “made a sharp break with the liberal conventions that have guided her city for decades, declaring a state of emergency in one of its most crime-infested neighborhoods.” Breed made the announcement days after stressing “the need for the police to clean up what she has described as ‘nasty streets.’” At a news conference at City Hall, steps away from where drug dealers openly peddle fentanyl and methamphetamines, she said, “We are in a crisis and we need to respond accordingly.” The neighborhood in question is the Tenderloin, and Breed during an interview indicated that she arrived at “her ‘breaking point’ in recent weeks after meeting with families with children who live in the Tenderloin and said they felt constantly threatened.”

US, Australian Law Enforcement Partner On Cybercrime

NextGov (12/17, Kelley) reported US federal law enforcement has “partnered with Australian officials to better investigate crimes like terrorism, ransomware attacks and child sexual abuse, primarily through electronic data.” Announced by the Justice Department on Wednesday, “the transnational agreement is an extension of the U.S.’s Clarifying Lawful Overseas Use of Data, or CLOUD Act.” This latest partnership will “help Australian and American law enforcement agencies obtain electronic data between both countries’ jurisdictions related to crimes in an efficient manner to ‘prevent, detect, investigate and prosecute serious crime,’ the announcement states.”

Indianapolis Invests In Grass-Roots Programs In Bid To Slow Homicide Surge

The New York Times (12/19, MacFarquhar) reports that in Indianapolis, victim advocate Iwandra Garner seeks to “lower the number of shootings and stabbings by counseling against impulsive retaliation.” The Times says Indianapolis and other cities, “where leaders are struggling to find ways to stem a two-year surge in homicides, are subsidizing small, grass-roots programs like Ms. Garner’s in an effort to prevent more violence. ... The impact of those programs still is not clear, but the size of Indianapolis’s investment – some $45 million over the next three years – speaks to the urgency of the moment. Indianapolis is one of at least 12 cities that have experienced a record number of homicides this year.” Its “efforts to decrease the grim toll...have included pouring millions of dollars over the past few years into about 30 community groups working to diminish violent crime.”

Two Men Arrested For Ambush Shooting that Wounded Baltimore Police Officer

The AP (12/17) reported, “Two men have been arrested and charged in a recent ambush shooting that critically wounded a Baltimore police officer and a second shooting soon afterward that left a man dead, police announced Friday.” Police Commissioner Michael Harrison said at a news conference that the two men “face charges of attempted murder in the shooting early Thursday of Officer Keona Holley and murder in the shooting death of Justin Johnson.”

Police Departments In High-Crime Cities Reporting Staffing Shortages

Newsweek (12/17, Roos) reported, “Police departments in several US cities with the highest crime rates reported workforce shortages heading into the final months of 2021, as forces wrestle with the challenges of both bolstering and retaining their forces.” For most cases, the staffing shortfall “did not occur suddenly, but instead demonstrates a rising trend that police departments across the nation have identified over the last several years.”

Homicide Leading Cause Of Death For US Pregnant, Postpartum Women In 2018, 2019, Study Finds

USA Today (12/19) reports, “Homicide was the leading cause of death for pregnant and postpartum women in the U.S. in 2018 and 2019 – exceeding all top causes of maternal death ‘by more than twofold,’ found authors of a recent study published in Obstetrics and Gynecology.” These “rates could be even higher because data collection is uneven, experts say,” as “the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, for example, does not track maternal homicide as a pregnancy-related death.” Some “experts say the alarming statistics reflect a grave nationwide public health concern, with the inequity adding urgency to widen the lens on maternal mortality causes, track them better and raise domestic violence awareness.”

European Police Break Up Moroccan Drug Trafficking Ring

The AP (12/17) reported police from Spain, France, and Belgium “have broken up a drug trafficking ring believed to be smuggling tons of cocaine and hashish by speedboat from Morocco to Europe, the European Union crime agency said Friday.” Spanish police “arrested 17 people, including 11 Spaniards and six Moroccans, earlier in the week, Europol said in a statement.” Authorities “seized assets worth more than 6 million euros ($6.8 million), including real estate, cash and luxury goods.” Spain’s Guardia Civil “said the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration was also involved in the police operation.”

Rhode Island Investigation Wins OCDETF Award From DOJ

The Westerly (RI) Sun (12/18, Vallee) reported, “A state investigation that brought together 36 federal, state and local law enforcement agencies and led to charges against 23 individuals who have all since been found guilty for various roles in an organized drug-distribution ring was recognized this week with a national Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Forces [OCDETF] award.” The DOJ recognized 10 individuals with the honor, and recipients “included personnel” from two police departments and the DEA. US Attorney Zachary Cunha said, “This award is a testament to two things: the results that flow from effective coordination among our law enforcement partners, and the commitment of those agencies to dismantle and disrupt significant drug trafficking in our state and region.”

Most police in the area who have died due to the virus are in their 40s and 50s, male, and white or Latino. Observers have noted that currently, COVID-19 is becoming the number one killer of police in the US, far outpacing gun deaths and traffic incidents.

TikTok Says No Evidence Of Legitimate Threats Of School Violence On Platform Despite Rumors

Newsweek (12/16, Klawans) reported TikTok released a statement “saying that it had not found any evidence that legitimate threats of school violence had been spread on the platform.” The statement “was released in response to a reported nationwide trend circulating across the app in which users threatened to perform school shootings on December 17.” While the platform “continued to reiterate that it did not find any of the threats legitimate, schools and school districts across the United States took action and released statements of their own.”

UK Town May Expand Taser Access For Some Officers

BBC News (12/17) reported more police officers in Jersey, UK may be allowed to carry tasers under a new proposition. The proposition “suggests an eight-month trial allowing officers who were not firearms trained to use the tasers as a ‘less lethal’ weapon.” The tasers “would be introduced to uniformed officers who had completed a taser course (to the national standard) and their probationary period.”

US Attorney Zachary Cunha said, “This award is a testament to two things: the results that flow from effective coordination among our law enforcement partners, and the commitment of those agencies to dismantle and disrupt significant drug trafficking in our state and region.”

Hi Barry, thanks for your call and interest today.

Attached is a more detailed overview of how I use the MATRIX approach to improve hiring decisions to avoid selection failures that can be costly in several ways that we discussed. I also have attached a recent interview I gave in an FBI publication about how I conduct fitness for duty evaluations for law enforcement officers and others.

Pages 5-8 of the overview contain several references of officials using me for these screening services. Feel free to contact any of them..

I'd be happy to answer any questions you may have about the MATRIX methodology. The fee for each individualized assessment is $625 which includes administration and scoring of the psychological tests, an individualized interview with me reviewing mental health histories and other important areas, the written evaluation report and any follow up consultations needed to clarify the test results and recommendations.

May I ask you to confirm that you can open the attachments? Thanks.

New York City Ends Qualified Immunity For Police Officers

The Hill (3/26) reported New York City on Thursday "passed a spate of police reforms including ending qualified immunity for New York Police Department (NYPD) officers." The City Council "said in a statement that it passed a bill creating a local civil right protecting the city's residents against unreasonable search and seizures, excessive force, and a ban on the use of qualified immunity as a defense."

WPost Analysis: Crisis Counselors As Police Alternatives Proves Difficult In Practice

The Washington Post (6/16) discussed the difficulties of using crisis counselors as alternatives to police officers to respond to incidents involving individuals suffering from a mental health crisis.

US House Passes George Floyd Justice In Policing Act

The Washington Post (3/3, Sonmez, Itkowitz) reported the House on Wednesday passed the George Floyd Justice in Policing Act on a near-party-line 220-212 vote. The "expansive policing overhaul measure" is "named for the 46-year-old Black man who died last Memorial Day after a Minneapolis police officer pressed his knee against his neck for over nine minutes." The "expansive policing overhaul measure...would ban chokeholds, end racial and religious profiling, establish a national database to track police misconduct and prohibit certain no-knock warrants. It also contains several provisions that would make it easier to hold officers accountable for misconduct in civil and criminal court."

Local Police Departments Having Trouble Attracting Applicants

Axios (5/19, Local) reported that US police departments are “struggling to attract applicants after a year of racial justice protests against police use of excessive force and calls for police reform dampened morale within the profession.” Axios adds, “It’s not just an issue of getting new talent in the door, but of keeping existing forces intact.” In Minneapolis, “105 officers left the department, twice as many as normal, per MPR News.”

Berkeley, California Adopts Sweeping Police Reforms

The San Francisco Chronicle (2/23, Ravani) reported that the Berkeley, California City Council “adopted sweeping reforms to the city’s Police Department on Tuesday that will require written consent for police searches, the firing of racist officers and elimination of police stops for low-level offenses – such as failing to wear a seat belt or driving with expired license plate tags.” The Chronicle adds, “The council’s unanimous vote directs the city manager to develop a plan for implementing the changes, and Mayor Jesse Arreguín said he hopes some will be seen this year. The action comes amid calls from the public to reform police departments across the country to end abuses of people of color.” According to the Chronicle, “In addition to the changes adopted Tuesday, Berkeley has also created a task force to cut the police department’s budget in half to $36 million by this summer.”

NYTimes Details Huge Spike In Police Officer Retirements, Resignations

The New York Times (6/24, A1, MacFarquhar) reported that “a survey of almost 200 police departments indicated that retirements were up 45 percent and resignations rose by 18 percent in the year from April 2020 to April 2021 when compared with the previous 12 months, according to the Police Executive Research Forum, a Washington policy institute.” The Times adds, “New York City saw 2,600 officers retire in 2020 compared with 1,509 the year before. Resignations in Seattle increased to 123 from 34 and retirements to 96 from 43. Minneapolis, which had 912 uniformed officers in May 2019, is now down to 699.”

San Francisco Initiative Will Pay People Not To Shoot Others

Newsweek (9/1, Stanton) reported, “A new program in San Francisco will pay people at high risk of shooting someone not to pull the trigger to help alleviate rising gun violence in the city.” According to Newsweek, “The Dream Keeper Fellowship is set to launch in October and pay 10 individuals $300 each month to not be involved in shootings, Sheryl Davis, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, told Newsweek in an interview Tuesday.” Newsweek reports Davis “explained that the program is not ‘transactional,’ but will rather focus on making investments in communities most impacted by violence. ‘It’s not necessarily as cut and dry as folks may think. It’s not as transactional as, ‘Here’s a few dollars so that you don’t do something bad,’ but it really is about how you help us improve public safety in the neighborhood,’ she said. Participants will be paired with life coaches from the city’s Street Violence Intervention Program and will be considered ‘community ambassadors’ who work to prevent violence. They will work on their professional, personal, and community development and will be thought of as ‘partners’ in engaging community members and decreasing violence.”

Axios Report: Federally Mandated Police Reform Linked To Surges In Violent Crime

Axios (5/14, Contreras) reported that “most police agencies in recent federally court-ordered reform agreements saw violent crime rates skyrocket immediately, according to an Axios examination of departments under consent decrees.” According to Axios, “The increases in violent crime rates – in one case by 61% – suggest that there can be unintended consequences...to the policing changes many Americans have demanded,” and have “also given police unions another argument in their campaign against reforms.” Axios said its “review of...data on all 12 agencies under consent decrees since 2012 found that seven of them experienced jumps in violent crime rates.” Axios reports that Albuquerque “experienced a 36% increase in its violent crime rate,” although “before its consent decree, the city had seen a 30-year low in crime.” Axios adds that Los Angeles County “saw a colossal rise of 61% in its violent crime rate following a consent decree.”

Chicago Mayor Calls For New Police Foot-Pursuit Policy After Shooting

The Chicago Tribune (4/5, Gorner, Pratt) reported Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot (D) on Monday “called for a new foot pursuit policy to be implemented by the Chicago Police Department before the start of summer after a city cop shot and killed 13-year-old Adam Toledo last week following a chase.” The Tribune added Lightfoot “also called for an investigation into how the boy came into possession of a gun, saying an adult gave a weapon to a child and must be held accountable.”

It also contains several provisions that would make it easier to hold officers accountable for misconduct in civil and criminal court."

Local Police Departments Having Trouble Attracting Applicants

Axios (5/19, Local) reported that US police departments are “struggling to attract applicants after a year of racial justice protests against police use of excessive force and calls for police reform dampened morale within the profession.” Axios adds, “It’s not just an issue of getting new talent in the door, but of keeping existing forces intact.” In Minneapolis, “105 officers left the department, twice as many as normal, per MPR News.”

Berkeley, California Adopts Sweeping Police Reforms

The San Francisco Chronicle (2/23, Ravani) reported that the Berkeley, California City Council “adopted sweeping reforms to the city’s Police Department on Tuesday that will require written consent for police searches, the firing of racist officers and elimination of police stops for low-level offenses – such as failing to wear a seat belt or driving with expired license plate tags.” The Chronicle adds, “The council’s unanimous vote directs the city manager to develop a plan for implementing the changes, and Mayor Jesse Arreguín said he hopes some will be seen this year. The action comes amid calls from the public to reform police departments across the country to end abuses of people of color.” According to the Chronicle, “In addition to the changes adopted Tuesday, Berkeley has also created a task force to cut the police department’s budget in half to $36 million by this summer.”

NYTimes Details Huge Spike In Police Officer Retirements, Resignations

The New York Times (6/24, A1, MacFarquhar) reported that “a survey of almost 200 police departments indicated that retirements were up 45 percent and resignations rose by 18 percent in the year from April 2020 to April 2021 when compared with the previous 12 months, according to the Police Executive Research Forum, a Washington policy institute.” The Times adds, “New York City saw 2,600 officers retire in 2020 compared with 1,509 the year before. Resignations in Seattle increased to 123 from 34 and retirements to 96 from 43. Minneapolis, which had 912 uniformed officers in May 2019, is now down to 699.”

San Francisco Initiative Will Pay People Not To Shoot Others

Newsweek (9/1, Stanton) reported, “A new program in San Francisco will pay people at high risk of shooting someone not to pull the trigger to help alleviate rising gun violence in the city.” According to Newsweek, “The Dream Keeper Fellowship is set to launch in October and pay 10 individuals $300 each month to not be involved in shootings, Sheryl Davis, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, told Newsweek in an interview Tuesday.” Newsweek reports Davis “explained that the program is not ‘transactional,’ but will rather focus on making investments in communities most impacted by violence. ‘It’s not necessarily as cut and dry as folks may think. It’s not as transactional as, ‘Here’s a few dollars so that you don’t do something bad,’ but it really is about how you help us improve public safety in the neighborhood,’ she said. Participants will be paired with life coaches from the city’s Street Violence Intervention Program and will be considered ‘community ambassadors’ who work to prevent violence. They will work on their professional, personal, and community development and will be thought of as ‘partners’ in engaging community members and decreasing violence.”

Axios Report: Federally Mandated Police Reform Linked To Surges In Violent Crime

Axios (5/14, Contreras) reported that “most police agencies in recent federally court-ordered reform agreements saw violent crime rates skyrocket immediately, according to an Axios examination of departments under consent decrees.” According to Axios, “The increases in violent crime rates – in one case by 61% – suggest that there can be unintended consequences...to the policing changes many Americans have demanded,” and have “also given police unions another argument in their campaign against reforms.” Axios said its “review of...data on all 12 agencies under consent decrees since 2012 found that seven of them experienced jumps in violent crime rates.” Axios reports that Albuquerque “experienced a 36% increase in its violent crime rate,” although “before its consent decree, the city had seen a 30-year low in crime.” Axios adds that Los Angeles County “saw a colossal rise of 61% in its violent crime rate following a consent decree.”

Chicago Mayor Calls For New Police Foot-Pursuit Policy After Shooting

The Chicago Tribune (4/5, Gorner, Pratt) reported Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot (D) on Monday “called for a new foot pursuit policy to be implemented by the Chicago Police Department before the start of summer after a city cop shot and killed 13-year-old Adam Toledo last week following a chase.” The Tribune added Lightfoot “also called for an investigation into how the boy came into possession of a gun, saying an adult gave a weapon to a child and must be held accountable.”

Assessors and beyond,

This is excellent news for JEFF & ILEAP!!! Assessors will have the option of getting paid the stipend (if they work from their home agencies' time clock) OR kick the stipend to their home agency if they go on the clock from their home department. Departments getting the stipend can use it for ILEAP fees, Power DMS, or whatever.

I'm very excited about this. Hopefully this will energize a few chiefs to keep loaning out the AMs / Assessors

Jeff

ILEAP assessors to get stipend starting in 2022

Beginning in 2022, the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police will begin paying its ILEAP assessors $400 each per assessment. That became possible with the ILACP's adoption of its 2022 budget this week. Most of the assessors' work is done on the PowerDMS electronic platform, and there is typically a two-day on-site assessment. Travel expenses for that are covered by the local municipality.
