Description

Absolute trash commercial with my nine year old daughter sitting there, advertising a show that says the more you tell her not to have sex the more she wants to and then adding that the church pastors kids are always the most freaky. So, TBS is not even gonna hide this trash programming while I try and catch the Dodgers game??? It's not even 9PM yet and this junk is on full display. I get to have a conversation with my daughter now that she's not ready for because someone there decided that was appropriate.

Description

My family and I were watching the Giants vs Dodgers game tonight. Baseball is considered a "Family Game". During a break, a commercial for the new Halloween movie came on. The commercial consisted of a bloody knife, bloody hands, and multiple screaming adults. This type of commercial seems to be highly inappropriate for programming that may include younger viewers. If this commercial is acceptable based on current guidelines, I urge you to reconsider the rules to not allow commercials of this type during family programming. Both of my daughters are visibly distraught.
