Subject: Talking points - abortion amicus brief

Team,

Below are some talking points to assist in talking to the public about the Governor's amicus brief in the abortion case before SCOTUS.

TALKING POINTS

Gov. Little was clear with the people of Idaho when he ran for office that he is pro-life.

- Protecting the lives of preborn babies has always been and will continue to be a priority of Gov. Little's.
- He also signed the "Fetal Heartbeat Bill" into law in April to protect the lives of preborn babies.

Gov. Little is also a defender of state sovereignty.

- His decision to join this lawsuit to protect lives and states' rights reflects his conservative approach to constitutional interpretation.
- The 'right' to an abortion is a judicial creation. It is not a right expressed in the U.S. Constitution.
- That is why Gov. Little is asking the U.S. Supreme Court to clarify there is no constitutional right to an abortion and restore state sovereignty by allowing states to regulate all abortions consistent with the principles of democratic self-governance.

Details on the case:

The governors of Idaho, Montana, Texas, Florida, Arizona, Iowa, South Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Missouri, and Oklahoma have joined a Governors' amicus brief in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

The case centers around a 2018 Mississippi law prohibiting abortions after 15 weeks except in medical emergencies or severe fetal abnormality.

Lower courts held that Mississippi's law violated the holdings in Roe v. Wade (1973) and Planned Parenthood v. Casey (1992), in which non-elected justices recognized a right to abortion exists contrary to the text and original meaning of the Constitution.

The Governors' amicus brief supports the State of Mississippi's cert petition, which SCOTUS accepted, to determine whether "all pre-viability prohibitions on elective abortions are unconstitutional."

The Governors' amicus brief requests SCOTUS overrule Roe and Casey because there is no constitutional right to an abortion and, according to the principle of federalism, rights not granted in the U.S. Constitution should be entrusted to states to control.

SCOTUS is expected to hear the case in the fall.

Idaho Attorney General Lawrence Wasden joined 17 other attorneys general in a similar amicus brief in July of 2020. He joined a second amicus brief this week.

Re: The abortions, Supreme Court case

Roe vs Wade a 1973 case

Do women have the right to privacy?

Please explain why not?

Yes, and the unborn have the right to privacy under the 1st Amendment and equal protection of the law, under the 14 Amendment with the same constitutional rights of women with privacy. The fetus has genetic features as a human, it's true because laboratories use the fetus for experimental use. The heartbeat of the fetus proves that its privacy should not be disturbed by an abortionist. Why? Because the heartbeat shows that the unborn is alive and the heart is functioning. We would not want to hurt a child with a heartbeat that could feel pain. In the case of Brown vs Board of Education segregation and kicking out children because of wanting their own privacy. What does it have to do with abortion? A lot is the same when the woman wants their privacy and wants to kick out a child because she wants her privacy. Does it matter the privacy of the unborn? It is just a fetus and not considered human? The argument is whether or not a fetus can have equal protection under the constitution? The fetus is considered human once a heartbeat is established. Ultrasounds became available in 1976 after the case of Roe vs Wade, three years later. It shows the unborn human genetic features and the heartbeat of the unborn. If this is not constitutional protection, where does our constitutional protection stand? Birth control is different than abortion. Birth control prevents pregnancy and abortions destroy unwanted pregnancy. By destroying the unborn with the heartbeat it is considered segregated and not equal protection of the law to the privacy of the unborn. Once the heartbeat is established it shows vital organ functioning that should give the fundamental right to protect the living unborn. Under the constitution. In the case of Plessy vs Ferguson, at the Louisiana Supreme Court, arguing that the segregation law violated the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, which forbids states from denying "to any person within their jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws," as well as the Thirteenth Amendment. The Fetus with a heartbeat becomes a living genetic human because it has vital organs that are functioning as a human. It makes it a constitutional right guaranteed by our constitution to protect the fetus with heartbeat privacy and equal protection. It makes no difference if it's a health issue or women's issue or any other issue. The unborn with a heartbeat should be treated equally under the constitution.

HELP! – I am losing my job and career – Biden Executive Order 14042

I implore you block and, ultimately, revoke the Biden Executive Order 14042 to protect the many Idaho citizens that are being unjustly impacted by the political whims of the current administration. I am on the verge of being forced out of my professional job (PE) as a result of the Biden executive order. The company that I work for holds multiple contracts with the federal government ($B) and I am personally engaged with several federal programs and projects. My extensive scholastic preparation and 25 years of work experience is about to be discounted due to the current administration's edict. I must now provide proof that I have received the shots or not be allowed to work on any of the federal / federally-funded projects that serve as a core foundation for my job.

It has not even been 1 year since these shots receive emergency authorization and only a few months since they received full approval from CDC and others. Yet the Biden Administration is trying to strong-arm as many Americans as he can to fulfill some political agenda. The decision to take these shots that may reduce the symptoms of COVID-19 is supposed to be a personal choice made in consultation with one's personal medical provider. These are elective shots and should not be used as a weapon of coercion...get these shots or lose your job.

Women are granted freedom of choice to get an abortion, but I am not granted the same freedom of choice when it comes to these shots if I want to keep my job. This is insanity! Please don't allow this one individual to trample our medical choice freedom! This is a power play on the grandest scale to force Americans against their will to engage in a medical procedure.

I am not a dimwitted anti-vaxer as the media portrays anyone that elects to wait and see regarding getting these shots. I have received all of the recommended vaccines as they are time-proven and effective at preventing very serious diseases. These COVID-19 shots don't provide that same level of protection as sadly proven by the recent death of Colin Powell who was "fully vaccinated". There are many others that have taken these shots and have still contracted the disease.

Where is the dispensation for folks that have either contracted COVID-19 or been exposed to it and have now developed natural antibodies? Why do natural antibodies not count and only receiving these shots provide the path to the being viewed as safe to circulate in society?

Please help end the Biden Administration's tyrannical move by issuing this EO 14042 that strips Americans of our freedom of medical choice regarding these elective shots. Please help me avoid loss of my job!

Thank you,
Perrin Robinson

Dear Governor Brad Little

I recently have been looking over the data for abortions in Idaho and I just thought I would share my thoughts with you about them. Currently abortion is legal in Idaho, and over 1,200 women received abortions in 2017. We currently make up 0.1% percent of the overall abortion average in all of the United States. I think that we as a community need to lower these numbers and eliminate abortion in Idaho. Abortion is not what God has intended for us to do with our virtuous lives here, and people use it as an excuse to run away from their real issues. I hope that you can fight for us and fight for God against this terrible evil that has come upon the face of the Earth. I know that abortion is wrong. I have two little sisters living with my mom and dad back home, and I know that I would be lost without every member of my family. I bet that you can imagine as well that your family is so important to you and that you too would be lost without them. Maybe all of those women that go into those abortion clinics just need to be reminded that they could have a wonderful loving family if they just stuck through the hard times of pregnancy.

The family is essential to our happiness here on the Earth. Our sons and daughters are our legacy, they are the closest people that we have to us in this life. Our families are vital to becoming the best people that we can be! People who raise families tend to be happier and less lonely than those who choose to be alone or go without children in their lives. One thing that I do think is very interesting about our policy in Idaho is that if Roe v Wade is turned over and abortion becomes illegal once again in the United States that the state of Idaho would follow suite. What do you think about that? Why do we as a state have to follow what the rest of the country does? I think that Idaho should put our feet down and start fighting for what we believe in. Idaho should stand strong in the anti-abortion movement, and we should do it now. With the upcoming trial of Roe v. Wade, I think that now more than ever we need to be able to show the rest of the country what is right to do. Even though some people will not like it and some people might complain, I think that we need to stand up for what is right for humanity.

I know that many people think that taking away the right for a woman to have an abortion is taking away a personal medical right to them, but I would argue that taking away the life of an unborn child is taking away any potential that that child would have had. People need to understand that children are people too, and that they deserve every right to live just as we do.

To conclude my thoughts, I would just like to say that I know that God lives, and that He has sent us here to find true happiness and that happiness comes from living a righteous lifestyle and following Him and His footsteps. God truly knows what best is for this world and He has told us, His children that we need to raise families, and even though it may be hard I think that this is the right course of action. Please take my thoughts into consideration.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HFHBPvMRvX4> Why are only Americans being forced to be stabbed with an experimental vaccine? But Congress & Illegal Aliens, Drug Lords & Criminals are exempt,,doesn't that alone raise a BIG red flag? The CDC allowed it's use for they claimed a pandemic, even tho they instructed Dr.'s to report anyone testing positive & dies of something else like the flu, to be reported as Cov19 death. Doesn't the fact that there were no reports on the Flu virus as if it just disappeared, the fact that CDC said at the end of 20 they have just developed a test that can tell the difference between the flu & Covid. Doesn't the fact that Corona Virus is listed in the medical Encyclopedia as the common cold & corrupt Gov. Off & Wuhan Lab tweaked it, but if you ever had a common cold you most likely test positive. Doesn't the fact that many scientists have said & history proves, & the CDC STATES that Virus's in the body has the antibodies to kill it. Doesn't the Fact Hydrochloriquin has been an approved drug for decades with a cost being CHEAP as compared to Vaccine caused another red flag because this corrupt Govt is blocking the use of it? (President Trump Took it) Also Ivermectin +1 more works great against Cov19 but also being banned by the Corrupt Govt. & Fake President? I have done the research now it's time you either do it or trust in the people, for they are as much if not more intelligent than those crooks we have in this Biden Govt.

It is so obvious that United Nation , China CP & the 80% of the 1% Elite Rich have waged war on America & her Citizen's all in the name of Communism.Our Votes put you in office to be on our side not the greedy RICH. We may be the the last of the dying breed of the MIDDLE CLASS, but we seem to know more than the screwed up Treasonous Traitor governing this country, were not STUPID

Biden has really divided the people, it's your job to get them out. We will stand behind you. Idaho will be FREE one way or another. Except the MOVE THE IDAHO BORDER LINE, Welcome Oregon Republicans in before these out of state transplants turn our State BLUE.Watch on YouTube how all the realtors are exploiting North Idaho, getting rich, while filling the state with the same, ruining our state & the middle Class, not to mention the one's in poverty lives. You know those same realtors that don't do a damn thing for to improve the State & Idaho Comm. & residents that's lived here our whole lives.. The ones that won't even contribute to the Affordable Housing Trust Fund. That Idaho legislatures created in 1988, but put in the closet (zero balance) due to greedy, selfish REALTORS! We don't want bad people discrediting the State & the Good name us Idahoans have earned & are proud of. Just to let those who love $$ & power, more than God, hoping to turn or force us to turn our backs on the Lord.They loathe Christians. It was the Khazarian Mafia & Rothschild's Jews who killed 66 MILLION Russian Christians in 1917..GOOGLE IT! They live by Satan's rules Many things has to change & will, if you do what's right by God & your fellow man

Thank You for your attention to this huge,, HUGE problems facing the whole world right now. This is not whose the duly elected Pres. or the China CP/USA LAB Made Virus Bio-Weapon, they think will control us. WE WILL NOT COMPLY! This is the battle for our SOULS, & right now Idaho Legislature is following Satan's, UN, CCP & the Khazarian Mafia's Agenda 21 Plan. Please stay true to Idahoans & OUR FATHER ABOVE

Subject: Please Defend our State's Rights

Dear Governor Little,

I am a resident of Idaho, and I am contacting you today out of concern for the federal power grabs that are happening in Washington, D.C.

It is clear in the 10th Amendment to the Constitution that states are to hold the bulk of the power in this nation. Yet through the years, we have reversed that instruction. STOP them in their tracks.

We see a power grab attempting to be implemented regarding elections. It makes no sense to take the authority of the people within a state and centralize it far away from them. This is dangerous, unwarranted and completely unconstitutional.

We see a power grab over states regarding the pro-life movement and those who oppose abortion. The majority of Americans oppose what they are proposing. This is wrong and it is dangerous.

Please stop the power grab by the federal bureaucracy that seems to have nothing but their own self-interest as their motive. Please do not allow one party in this nation to find ways to completely shut the other out. If that happens, on either side, we will see America's demise. NO MORE "compromise"! They take and take... Stand strong for state's rights and responsibilities, Governor Little!

I will be praying for you to uphold the Constitution, protect the rights of the people in our great state, and seek the Lord for His wisdom in all things.

You let The ly Governor do crazy things with no consequences. That just makes her lot good to the Maga fools.
Our state requires how many vaccines before a child can attend school.? Yet here we are in the middle big a health crisis and nobody specialy you ,has the balls to say get the shots or no treatment.
Choice . The choice to spread an infectious disease that has kili more Americans than died in WW 2 .
Choice but not to have an abortion if you choose, no that would be killing a human.
But going unvaccinated and spreading covid and filling I C U beds because of your choice killing friends family children nurses doctors that's okay it's a choice great do little just great. May God have mercy on you you gutless fool.

Dear Governor Little,

I am a resident of Idaho, and I am contacting you today out of concern for the federal power grabs that are happening in Washington, D.C.

It is clear in the 10th Amendment to the Constitution that states are to hold the bulk of the power in this nation. Yet through the years, we have reversed that instruction. Congress and the President from both parties seem determined to grab from the states their authority in many arenas, and it's time to stop them in their tracks.

We see a power grab attempting to be implemented regarding elections. It makes no sense to take the authority of the people within a state and centralize it far away from them. This is dangerous and unwarranted.

We see a power grab over states regarding the pro-life movement and those who oppose abortion. The majority of Americans oppose what they are proposing. This is wrong and it is dangerous.

Please do not allow the power of our great state to be handed over to the federal bureaucracy that seems to have nothing but their own self-interest as their motive. Please do not allow one party in this nation to find ways to completely shut the other out. If that happens, on either side, we will see America's demise. Message:

We are pro-choice about abortion and birth control and we urge you to do all in your power to protect every woman's right to choose abortion, and birth control, and safe sex regardless of her age, income, or the state in which she lives. We trust women to make these decisions and We trust women to decide when to involve others in her choices. Women spend a large sum of money during their lives on pregnancy prevention, feminine products and necessary costs during pregnancy.

We support Speaker Nancy Pelosi's movement of passing the Women's Health Protection Act. Moving forward with this act will ensure all women in the United States the right to safe and affordable women's reproductive health care. Not passing this act nation-wide will have result in a direct correlation to an increase in unsafe and dangerous abortions, as well as an increase of minority children in the foster care system or impoverished environments.

Laura Hollis: 'If enough people decide not to comply, they will have a revolution on their hands'

By Laura Hollis

Published September 30, 2021

The United States is not just dealing with mutations of COVID-19. Our government and our culture have been infected with mutated strains of collectivism and corporate authoritarianism, already engaged in censorship and moving swiftly toward perpetual surveillance and control over our property, our finances, our health care and our most personal decisions.

And those who are busy cramming authoritarianism down our gullets are simultaneously maintaining the illusion of our meaningful participation in government.

We're being led to believe that we have some control of our representative government and its policies. Meanwhile, our elected officials make backroom deals and ignore our country's most urgent concerns. And the integrity of our elections has been eroded to the point where we cannot be sure that all votes are cast by actual citizens and not unlawfully multiplied, manufactured or manipulated electronically.

It's perhaps obvious that in free nations such as the United States, effective government depends on belief in the integrity of the system and voluntary compliance with its laws. But even the governments of expressly authoritarian regimes endure only at the sufferance of their subjects. If enough people decide not to comply, they will have a revolution on their hands.

In fact, the worst human rights abuses recorded in history could not have taken place without the willing participation of citizens. In Hitler's Third Reich, for example, citizens of Germany and the occupied countries turned on one another. They attacked Jews, stole their property, destroyed their businesses and ratted them out when Nazi authorities were rounding them up by the millions to send to the death camps. Homosexuals, the disabled and Roma (Gypsies) were similarly targeted.

Communist regimes such as the former Soviet Union, China, Cuba, Cambodia and North Korea are notorious for citizen participation. People were (and are) encouraged to turn in their fellow citizens for being "bourgeois," "capitalist," "individualist," "enemies of the state" or other concocted ideological violations.

And turn them in, they did. Millions of human beings lost everything they owned and were sent to concentration camps, often with their entire families, where they were (and are) imprisoned, tortured, starved and murdered.

Perfectly ordinary people subjected their neighbors, co-workers and friends to horrific abuse, deprivation and death because they were willing participants in massive propaganda campaigns. The perpetrators of those campaigns never say, "Attack your neighbors just for fun." They create rationales, provide justifications and incessantly chant slogans that people choose to believe.

I say "willing" and "choose to" deliberately. There were always those who warned of what would come, who tried to debunk falsehoods, who appealed to their fellow citizens' better instincts and who implored them to reject the pernicious ideologies espoused by those blaming scapegoats and promising utopia.

In the end, those warnings fell on deaf ears.

Americans love to tell themselves, "That can't happen here." On the contrary, it is happening here.

For at least the past 20 years, we have been ensnared in one massive propaganda campaign after another. Yet no matter how many times it's proven that what we're being told are lies, millions of Americans still choose to believe the liars.

Who's peddling the codswallop? First and foremost, our politicians – a robust majority of nationally visible Democrats and Republicans. The entertainment industry. Huge numbers of corporate CEOs. Vast swaths of academia. Most destructively, nearly all of the national media, who betray the American people by actively participating in the propaganda.

The pattern is consistent and immediately recognizable: A statement is made or a position is taken by those in power. It is factually suspicious, if not transparently false, yet no one is permitted to question it. Real scientific inquiry is forbidden. Data that supports the official narrative is falsified, and that which refutes it is suppressed. Scholarly papers are withdrawn from publication. Social media companies censor anyone who tries to present accurate information or alternative theories. Corporations fire outspoken employees. Friends and family shun loved ones who refuse to toe the party line.

Later, the official story is revealed as false, or the forbidden facts are revealed to be true. This is quietly dismissed or ignored.

We're watching this play out with climate change, transgenderism, the Trump/Russia collusion story, the story of Hunter Biden's political, financial and sexual exploitation, the suspicious circumstances surrounding the November 2020 election, the Jan. 6 non-"insurrection," the COVID-19 lab leak theory, the efficacy of drug treatments for the disease, the risks of the experimental vaccines and the disastrous withdrawal from Afghanistan.

Our government is undertaking massive restructuring of our country and our economy, including catastrophic levels of debt and unconstitutional deprivation of our rights and civil liberties. They are doing this over the objection of a majority of citizens, aided by the ignorance of millions of others. They are using propaganda, deflection and outright lies to turn us against one another and distract us from their machinations.

You probably tell yourself you wouldn't have helped the Nazis, the Bolsheviks or the Khmer Rouge. You like to think you're wise to those who would manipulate you.

Are you?

If you're asked to exclude your fellow citizens from your place of business unless they're vaccinated, will you do it? If you are asked to fire employees who have had COVID or who have concerns about the vaccines, will you do it? If you are told that you'll lose your medical license unless you perform abortions, will you do it? If you are asked by the FBI to turn in names of people you think disagree with you politically, will you do it?

You've been told that millions of your countrymen – your friends, neighbors and co-workers – are "white supremacists" and "domestic terrorists." Do you believe it? Because if you do believe that, what won't you do if asked?

You have a choice to make. Are you going to be a willing pawn in propaganda campaigns conducted by power-mongers, who will come for you, too, eventually, as they always do? Or will you think for yourself, defend free inquiry, demand the truth and help keep this country free?

What kind of person are you, really?

You need to protect us from this illegitimate/fraudulent/criminal/dictatorship they call the Federal Government, NOW! Fraudulent/evil/criminal/pedophile/puppet/senile/anti-America biden and fraudulent/evil/criminal/prostitute/hackling harris need to be in jail for crimes against the country.

Afghanistan, the biggest money pit in the history of the world was run by the CIA. Afghanistan was used to funnel money and resources to undisclosed people and groups throughout the world. The peoples representative's disinterest in the happenings in Afghanistan for decades is staggering. Defund and disband every one of the three letter agencies, FBI, CIA, etc, NOW. There is zero accountability and visibility, nothing good is left except the mess.

Stop taking money from the Federal government, every time you do I have to pay more in federal taxes allowing them to prop up another failing/irresponsible/corrupt state.

I don't want to pay for abortions in Haiti, illegals in California or trans operations in Guantanamo.

Vote to shut down the government, I want to see what happens, put an end to this insane money game.

At this point the Federal government is non-value-added and should be flushed down the toilet along with the other feces.

The federal government is the biggest source of our troubles, disband/remove them now and our lives will forever be changed for the better.

Stop the IRS from taking money directly from Idaho citizens, require the IRS to get their money from the state, no more 1040/Federal-forms.

Idaho, you need to tell the IRS how much money they will get based on the states income tax forms.

The IRS is the biggest and highest funded criminal organization in the world, they follow no laws and is accountable to no one.

Corrupt politicians always knew the people are the weakest, which is why it was set it up this way from the beginning. It's time to change.

Nebraska was the first, Idaho needs to be the Second state refusing to comply with Fraudulent/evil/criminal/pedophile/puppet/senile/anti-America biden's plan to let the IRS view your bank transactions.

I can see why you want to move past deniers, because you do not have one Cogent reason for deniers to change their minds.

A propagandist from the Seattle times is who you use for a source, my God Man you have gone down the COVID rabbit hole. The left screams my body My choice on abortion, but no other health choice, thick with hypocrisy.

The movement in opposition is around the world.

So now you change the aspects of this farce to say 5-11 year old are in Jeopardy, you people are shameless in your pursuit of control. Obfuscation the word of the day. They cannot make it difficult to understand any longer, people are waking Up! and the government AKA bureaucrats are the direct link for people to not think for themselves. look at Australia right now the socialist government is attempting to shut down citizens activism, it is complete control of all human life, and as a result of all human beings, by the few at the top. just think what you would have believed if in 2019 someone told you that what would happen in 2020, would be a worldwide pandemic that would lockdown the United States of America, violating bill of rights, censoring any opinion that was against the lockdowns and hurting the economy to the point where many businesses would not recover.

QUESTIONING THE ORTHODOXY OF SINCERELY HELD RELIGIOUS BELIEFS OR REQUIRING A CLERGY, PLACE OF WORSHIP, OR A THIRD PARTY TO AGREE WITH OR AFFIRM SUCH RELIGIOUS BELIEFS IS UNLAWFUL

Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits employers from discriminating against its employees on the basis of their sincerely held religious beliefs. See 42 U.S.C. §2000e-2(a) (“It shall be an unlawful employment practice for an employer . . . to fail or refuse to hire or to discharge any individual, or otherwise to discriminate against any individual with respect to his compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment because of such individual’s race, color, religion, sex, or national origin”); see also EEOC v. Abercrombie & Fitch Stores, Inc., 575 U.S. 768 (2015) (same). Title VII defines “religion” as “all aspects of religious observance and practice, as well as belief.” 42 U.S.C. §2000e(j). Moreover, as the EEOC has made clear, Title VII’s protections also extend nonreligious beliefs if related to morality, ultimate ideas about life, purpose, and death. See EEOC, Questions and Answers: Religious Discrimination in the Workplace (June 7, 2008), (“Title VII’s protections also extend to those who are discriminated against or need accommodation because they profess no religious beliefs Religious beliefs include theistic beliefs, i.e. those that include a belief in God as well as non-theistic ‘moral or ethical beliefs as to what is right and wrong which are sincerely held with the strength of traditional religious views.’ Although courts generally resolve doubts about particular beliefs in favor of finding that they are religious, beliefs are not protected merely because they are strongly held. Rather, religion typically concerns ‘ultimate ideas’ about ‘life, purpose, and death’”).

Employees may have religious accommodation requests stating their sincerely held religious beliefs injecting any of the three currently available COVID-19 vaccines would be a sin and a violation of their religious beliefs because they are manufactured and produced with, tested on, or otherwise developmentally connected to aborted fetal cell lines. United has responded to many of these submissions with intrusive and irrelevant questions about employees’ past personal health decisions and the theological bases for those decisions, or demands that employees vet their religious beliefs about COVID-19 vaccines with a third party to justify their accommodation requests. The premises of these questions—that an employee’s current request for religious accommodation must be consistent with the employees’ prior health decisions and religious understandings, or must be acknowledged by a person other than the employee—are legally invalid premises for deciding religious accommodation requests, and any denial based on such premises violates Title VII.

Employers are not permitted to determine which religious adherent has a “correct” or “proper” or “valid” understanding of religious doctrine, or whether any employee’s sincerely held religious beliefs are shared broadly among other faithful. As the Supreme Court has recognized, employees’ “religious beliefs need not be acceptable, logical, consistent, or comprehensible to others in order to merit [legal] protection.” Thomas v. Review Bd. of Ind. Emp’t Sec. Div., 450 U.S. 707, 714 (1981); see also Church of the Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc. v. City of Hialeah, 508 U.S. 520, 531 (1993) (same). Additionally, though membership in or adherence to the tenets of an organized religion is plainly sufficient to provide protection for an individual’s sincerely held religious beliefs, it is not a necessary precondition. See Frazee v. Ill. Dep’t of Emp’t Sec., 489 U.S. 829, 834 (1989) (“Undoubtedly, membership in an organized religious denomination, especially one with a specific tenet forbidding members to work on Sunday, would simplify the problem of identifying sincerely held religious beliefs, but we reject the notion that to claim the protection [for sincerely held religious beliefs], one must be responding to the commands of a particular religious organization.” (emphasis added)); see also Office of Foreign Assets Control v. Voices in the Wilderness, 329 F. Supp. 2d 71, 81 (D.D.C. 2004) (noting that the law provides protection for “sincerely held religious beliefs,” “not just tenets of organized religion”).

In fact, the law provides protection for sincerely held religious beliefs even when some members of the same religious organization, sect, or denomination disagree with the beliefs espoused by the individual. That some individuals may have sincerely held religious beliefs which differ from those sincerely held by United employees requesting accommodation is irrelevant to whether the employees’ sincerely held religious beliefs are entitled to protection under Title VII.

Indeed, [i]ntrafaith differences of that kind are not uncommon among followers of a particular creed, and the judicial process is singularly ill equipped to resolve such differences . . . and the guarantee of free exercise is not limited to beliefs which are shared by all of the members of a religious sect. Particularly in this sensitive area, it is not within the judicial function and judicial competence to inquire whether the petitioner or his fellow worker more correctly perceived the commands of their common faith. Courts are not arbiters of scriptural interpretation.

450 U.S. at 715–16 (emphasis added).

The denial of any employee’s request for a religious accommodation based upon the views of other individuals who do not share the employee’s beliefs is unlawful. In fact, it is legally irrelevant what other individuals think or religiously believe. Nor does an employee’s religious objection to a vaccine need to be unique in order to be personal and sincerely held. (Cf. supra “It appears you purchased or downloaded your supporting documentation on the internet.”) Once an employee has articulated the employee’s sincerely held religious objections to the currently available COVID-19 vaccines, whether those objections are the same as or nothing like any other person’s objections, the proper inquiry is at its end.

Indisputably, all three of the currently available COVID-19 vaccines are produced by, derived from, manufactured with, tested on, developed with, or otherwise connected to aborted fetal cell lines. There is no question about the accuracy of this determination. The North Dakota Department of Health, in its handout literature for those considering one of the COVID-19 vaccines, notes the following: “The non-replicating viral vector vaccine produced by Johnson & Johnson did require the use of fetal cell cultures, specifically PER.C6, in order to produce and manufacture the vaccine.” N.D. Health, COVID-19 Vaccines & Fetal Cell Lines (Apr. 20, 2021), https://www.health.nd.gov/sites/www/files/documents/COVID%20Vaccine%20Page/COVID-19_Vaccine_Fetal_Cell_Handout.pdf (emphasis added) (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).

The Louisiana Department of Health likewise confirms that the Johnson & Johnson COVID-19 vaccine used the PER.C6 fetal cell line, which “is a retinal cell line that was isolated from a terminated fetus in 1985.” La. Dep’t of Public Health, You Have Questions, We Have Answers: COVID-19 Vaccine FAQ (Dec. 21, 2020), https://ldh.la.gov/assets/oph/Center-PHCH/Center-PH/immunizations/You_Have_Qs_COVID-19_Vaccine_FAQ.pdf (emphasis added) (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).

The same is true of the Moderna and Pfizer-BioNTech mRNA vaccines. The Louisiana Department of Health’s publications again confirm that aborted fetal cell lines were used in the “proof of concept” phase of the development of their COVID-19 mRNA vaccines. See La. Dep't of Public Health, supra. The North Dakota Department of Health likewise confirms: "Early in the development of mRNA vaccine technology, fetal cells were used for 'proof of concept' (to demonstrate how a cell could take up mRNA and produce the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein) or to characterize the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein." N.D. Health, supra (emphasis added).

Because all three of the currently available COVID-19 vaccines are developed and produced from, tested with, researched on, or otherwise connected with the aborted fetal cell lines HEK-293 and PER.C6, many employees' sincerely held religious beliefs compel them to abstain from accepting or injecting any of these products into their bodies, regardless of the perceived benefits or rationales. Thus, while there may be some faith leaders and other adherents whose understanding of Scripture is different, and who may be willing to accept one of the three currently available COVID-19 vaccines despite their connection with aborted fetal cell lines, any United employee is entitled to interpret the Scriptural command against murder differently, which many indisputably do.

Many employees have sincerely held religious beliefs that God forms children in the womb and knows them prior to their birth, and that because of this, life is sacred from the moment of conception to natural death. See Psalm 139:13–14 (ESV) ("For you formed my inward parts; you knitted me together in my mother's womb. I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made."); Psalm 139:16 (ESV) ("Your eyes saw my unformed substance; in your book were written, every one of them, the days that were formed for me, when as yet there was none of them."); Isaiah 44:2 ("Thus says the Lord who made you, who formed you from the womb"); Isaiah 44:24 ("Thus says the Lord, your Redeemer, who formed you from the womb: 'I am the Lord, who made all things'"); Isaiah 49:1 ("The Lord called me from the womb, from the body of my mother he named my name"); Isaiah 49:5 ("And now the Lord says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant,"); Jeremiah 1:5 ("Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you; I appointed you a prophet to the nations"). Employees may also have sincerely held religious beliefs that every child's life is sacred because each is made in the image of God. See Genesis 1:26–27 ("Then God said, 'Let us make man in our image, after our likeness.... So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.'").

Many employees also have sincerely held religious beliefs that because life is sacred from the moment of conception, the killing of that innocent life is the murder of an innocent human in violation of Scripture. See, e.g., Exodus 20:13 ("You shall not murder"); Exodus 21:22–23 (setting the penalty as death for even the accidental killing of an unborn child); Exodus 23:7 ("do not kill the innocent and righteous"); Genesis 9:6 ("Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed, for God made man in his own image."); Deuteronomy 27:25 ("Cursed be anyone that takes a bride to shed innocent blood"); Proverbs 6:16–17 ("There are six things that the Lord hates, seven that are an abomination to him: . . . hands that shed innocent blood").

The Hebrew word for "abomination" in the text above is תּוֹעֵבָה (to`eba). The verbal form is "abhor," "loath," "detest," and "exclude." Twelve times the Book of Proverbs uses תּוֹעֵבָה in reference to an "abomination to the LORD." (יהוה or Yahweh). The word is also used in conjunction with the Ammonites and the Ashtoreth, the Sidonians, Chemosth, and Moab. Some of these nations sacrificed their children to Baal. Indeed, Jeremiah 19:4–9, refers to the shedding of innocent blood by sacrificing children as the reason for judgement against Judah. Abortion is the modern-day sacrifice of children made in the image of God. Many United employees do want to part of such an "abomination." They do not want indirectly or directly be in any way associated with abortion. To do so is abhorrent, loathsome, detestable, abominable to God. In short, to require these employees to inject a substance into their bodies that has any association (no matter how near or remote to abortion) is a sin against their Creator, their Lord, and their Savior.

Employees may also have sincerely held religious beliefs that it would be better to tie millstones around their necks and be drowned in the sea than to bring harm to an innocent child. See Matthew 18:6; Luke 17:2.

Many employees also have sincerely held religious beliefs that their bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, and that to inject medical products that have any connection whatsoever to aborted fetal cell lines would be defiling the temple of the Holy Spirit. (See 1 Corinthians 6:15-20 (KJV) (“Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? . . . Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God? You are not your own, for you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body.”)).

Thus, while there may be leaders and other adherents of certain employees’ faith traditions whose understanding of Scripture is different, and who may be willing to accept one of the three currently available COVID-19 vaccines despite their association with aborted fetal cell lines, that is irrelevant to the protection of United employees who sincerely believe otherwise.

Likewise irrelevant is whether any United employee currently seeking a religious exemption formerly understood or believed any religious doctrine differently. Because all three of the currently available COVID-19 vaccines are developed, produced from, tested with, researched on, or otherwise associated with the aborted fetal cell lines HEK-293 and PER.C6, many United employees’ sincerely held religious beliefs compel them to abstain from accepting or injecting any of these products into their body, regardless of the perceived benefits or rationales.

Requiring employees that to obtain a religious exemption they have to be an adherent of a recognized religion with a history of opposition to vaccines. Employees are also being told they need to include a letter from a clergy to support their sincere religious beliefs. This is false and unlawful. The only issue is whether the employee has a sincere religious belief, not whether a clergy or a “recognized religion” (whatever that is) agrees.

In sum, it is unlawful to condition any employee’s request for religious accommodation on a third party’s beliefs or acknowledgement of the employee’s beliefs, or on the employee’s past health decisions or the theological reasons for those decisions.

EMPLOYERS CAN REASONABLY ACCOMMODATE THEIR EMPLOYEES

When boarding an Alaska Air flight, passengers at the boarding gate see a pop-up sign:

IT’S SAFE TO FLY—AND
EXPERTS AGREE.

Travelers wearing a mask have a .003% or NEAR-ZERO CHANCE of being exposed to the virus, even on a full aircraft according to a recent Department of Defense study.¹

Air travel is the safest mode of Transportation thanks to . . .
HOSPITAL-GRADE AIR FILTRATION
CLEAN AIR EXCHANGE (According to researchers at Harvard.²)
TOP-DOWN AIR FLOW

The Department of Defense study referenced on the sign was done in conjunction with United Airlines. It is hypocritical for United to feign the need for universal employee vaccination when United participated in the study being touted by airlines as concluding the risk of air traveler exposure to be 0.003%, or “NEAR-ZERO CHANCE.”

David Silcott, et al., TRANSCOM/AMC Commercial Aircraft Cabin Aerosol Dispersion Tests, <https://www.ustranscom.mil/cmd/docs/TRANSCOM%20Report%20Final.pdf> (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).² Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, Assessment of Risks of SARS-CoV-2 Transmission during Air Travel and Non-Pharmaceutical Interventions to Reduce Risk, Phase One Report: Gate-to-Gate Travel Onboard Aircraft, <https://cdn1.sph.harvard.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/2443/2020/10/Phase-One-Report-Highlights-1.pdf> (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).

The above example applies to airlines, but the same reasoning is true of all employers. Healthcare professionals have worked for months through the pandemic without the shots. Other employees have either worked onsite or remote, and thus employers have demonstrated over many months that they can reasonably accommodate all employees.

The accommodation employees are requesting from any employer no matter the specific job duty is an exemption from the COVID-19 shots. Past history is prologue in this respect, as (1) employers have been providing such accommodation ever since the first COVID-19 shot was available to the public in December 2020, (2) all phases of the employment sectors have been working through the pandemic up to the present, even during the peak of COVID-19, without the shots, even if some of the work was done remotely; (3) the Delta variant has been in the United States for months, and employees continued to work through the present without the COVID-19 shots; (4) many health and safety measures have been implemented to protect the health and safety of employees and customers by requiring PPE and other measures without mandating the COVID-19 shots; (5) nothing has changed except the recent mandate; and (6) therefore months of history during COVID-19, with the Delta variant, during which COVID-19 shots were available, combined with the health and safety measures such as PPE, social distancing, sanitization, air filtration, and implementing and virtual remote work options are reasonable accommodations that permitted employers and employees to operate. The accommodation request is to continue to permit your employees to work in the same manner without diminution as you have done for many months.

In light of this very relevant past history, there are no conceivable circumstances under which employers can now argue that they face an undue hardship to accommodate employees with sincerely held religious objections to the COVID-19 vaccines.

The Emergency Use Authorization Statute Prohibits Mandating the Currently Available COVID-19 Vaccines

The United States Code provides:

[S]ubject to the provisions of this section, the Secretary (of the Department of Health and Human Services) may authorize the introduction into interstate commerce, during the effective period of a declaration under subsection (b), of a drug, device, or biological product intended for use in an actual or potential emergency (referred to in this section as an “emergency use.”

21 U.S.C. § 360bbb-3(a)(1) (emphasis added) [hereinafter EUA Statute]. As an essential part of the explicit statutory conditions for EUA, the EUA Statute mandates that all individuals to whom the EUA product may be administered be given the option to accept or refuse administration of the product. See 21 U.S.C. § 360bbb-3(e)(1)(A)(ii)(III) (requiring that “individual to whom the product is administered are informed . . . of the option to accept or refuse administration of the product” (emphasis added)). The only currently available COVID-19 vaccines (Janssen/Johnson & Johnson, Moderna, and Pfizer-BioNTech) are only authorized for use under the EUA Statute and have no general approval under federal law. Thus, the administration of such vaccines cannot be mandatory under the plain text of the EUA Statute.

The statutorily required Fact Sheets for each of the EUA COVID-19 vaccines acknowledge that individuals cannot be compelled to accept or receive the vaccine. See Moderna, Fact Sheet for Recipients and Caregivers (June 24, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/144638/download> (“It is your choice to receive or not to receive the Moderna COVID-19 Vaccine. Should you decide not to receive it, it will not change your standard medical care.” (emphasis added)); Pfizer-BioNTech, Fact Sheet for Recipients and Caregivers (June 25, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/144414/download> (“It is your choice to receive or not to receive the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine. Should you decide not to receive it, it will not change your standard medical care.” (emphasis added)); Janssen, Fact Sheet for Recipients and Caregivers (July 8, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/146305/download> (“It is your choice to receive or not to receive the Janssen COVID-19 Vaccine. Should you decide not to receive it, it will not change your standard medical care.” (emphasis added)).

The recent FDA biologics license application (BLA) approval of the product COMIRNATY, COVID-19 Vaccine, mRNA, manufactured by BioNTech Manufacturing GmbH,³ does not change the EUA status of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine that has been available under EUA since December 23, 2020.⁴ According to the EUA extension letter issued by the FDA to Pfizer on August 23, 2021, the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine and BioNTech’s COMIRNATY, COVID-19 Vaccine, mRNA “are legally distinct” products.⁵ Moreover, the now “approved” COMIRNATY vaccine cannot be distributed for use until BioNTech submits “final container samples of the product in final containers together with protocols showing results of all applicable tests” and BioNTech receives “a notification of release from the Director, Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research (CBER).”⁶ Thus, it is not clear when (or if) any United employee will have access to the “approved” COMIRNATY vaccine, leaving all (or at least the vast majority of) United employees who elect to receive the “Pfizer” vaccine pursuant to United’s mandatory vaccine policy to receive a dose of the current stock of Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine still being administered subject to EUA rules.

The following summarizes the current status of the Pfizer-BioNTech shots:

1. All existing Pfizer vials (in the hundreds of millions), remain under the federal Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) (meaning people have the “option to accept or refuse”);
2. The third or “booster” Pfizer shot is identical to the above and remains under the EUA with limited use to certain categories of people;
3. BioNTech received FDA approval for people ages 16 and above under the name Comirnaty, but there are no Comirnaty doses available in the United States;

³ BLA Approval Letter for COMIRNATY, COVID-19 Vaccine, mRNA (Aug. 23, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/151710/download>.

⁴ EUA Extension Letter for Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine (Aug. 23, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/150386/download>.

⁵ See EUA Extension Letter, supra note 4, at 2 n.8.

⁶ See BLA Approval Letter, supra note 3, at 2.

4. In other words, there is currently NO FDA approved COVID-19 injection available anywhere in the United States. Every COVID shot in America remains under the EUA law and thus people have the “option to accept or refuse” them; and
5. Even when an FDA approved COVID shot becomes available, individuals are protected by federal law and many states laws from being forced to get these shots based on their sincere religious beliefs or conscience rights.⁷

Thus, under the EUA Statute, administration of the currently available vaccines cannot be mandatory. At any rate, even without the EUA Statute, these employees still have legal rights for religious accommodation under state and federal law.

CONCLUSION

Employers cannot compel compliance with a mandatory COVID-19 vaccination policy against their sincerely held religious beliefs without providing reasonable accommodation. Based on past history, there are no conceivable circumstances under which employers—which for months provided reasonable accommodations to employees—cannot now do the same. It is unlawful for an employer to deny or interfere with any employee’s request for religious accommodation because other religious adherents have different beliefs.

Message:
Sir,

My name is Joseph Velasquez. I live in Jefferson County, near Rigby. I write today out of a deep sense of concern for the direction in which our state and country are moving, and because recent decisions and actions of the federal government and of our state government are now presenting a very real threat to my ability to earn a living and provide for my family.

I am a 22 year resident of Idaho, and have spent all but one of those years working in a variety of capacities at the Idaho National Lab, on the Idaho Cleanup Project. I am 60 years old, and had originally planned to retire at 64. Now those plans are in jeopardy, due to the drastic overreach of the Biden Administration and my state and federal representatives failing to take decisive action to address it.

After President Biden's egregious overreach in his mandating the vaccine, my employer, Fluor Idaho, has given me an ultimatum. Either I allow myself to be injected with what, despite what the FDA says, is still by definition an experimental vaccine, or I lose my job.

My intent is not to debate the efficacy of Covid vaccines. They may or may not be effective, but a complete lack of long term data still makes it experimental. And I do not consent to being a human lab rat in this experiment.

Additionally, and more importantly, I have deeply and sincerely held religious objections to this vaccine, regardless of which company is producing it, due to its development having included stem cells derived from aborted fetal tissue. I have an unwavering opposition to abortion, and I categorically reject any and all efforts to compel me to be a part of it. I have applied for a religious exemption from the vaccine requirement, but I have little faith that my application will be honored. Which is why I am writing. Faced with compromising my principles and religious convictions in order to keep my job, I take little solace in knowing I am not alone in my situation. Numerous coworkers and other INL and ICP face the same dilemma.

I respectfully request that you urge our state and federal representatives to take immediate and decisive action to halt President Biden's overreach, and put a stop to private employers, including Federal Government contractors, mandating employees take the experimental vaccine. I also implore you to follow the example set by Florida Governor Ron DeSantis, and issue your own executive action to put a stop to mask and/or vaccine mandates here in Idaho.

Sincerely,

Joseph Velasquez

Governor Little,

As Americans we should have the right to choose whether we want the Covid vaccine or not. Any medical procedure you have requires a consent or refusal.

My body, my choice only applies for abortions but not vaccinations. Abortions kill an innocent life. My body and what I place in it is over ruled by Biden. This is anti-American and the response this administration has had in Afghanistan, the border issues and now this mandate is despicable. I did not vote for Biden and I am ashamed as an American of this administration. My husband and I both stand to lose our jobs if we don't get the vaccine. It is blackmail by our own government. Stand up for our rights or next it will be another right that is taken away from us by the democrats. Texas, Florida and South Dakota is standing up for their citizens and we need Idaho to do the same. I have never been unemployed and it is evil what is going on by this loss of our freedom. We stand to lose everything we have worked for and I am disgusted over the mandate. American won it's freedom in 1776 and we are losing it little by little if we don't fight for our rights and beliefs that are backed by the constitution.

Regards,

A frustrated Idahoan

Well we feel the same about him. He is an insidious crook with a web of lies and all that is ugly in this world. I don't want to leave my job. I've been in Sandpoint almost my whole life. My Dad taught at Sandpoint high school in the late 60's. My ties here go way back. Biden has no idea what Idaho stands for nor does he care. Department of Labor
Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA)
200 Constitution Ave. NW
Washington, DC 20210

To Whom It May Concern:

On Thursday, September 9, 2021, President Joe Biden declared himself a medical dictator over America, claiming he alone has absolute power to bypass states' rights, nullifying state governors and force the American people to take deadly experimental "vaccines". As part of his dictatorial decree, he declared that "If these governors won't help beat this pandemic, I will use my powers as president to get them out of the way". This was the most contemptuous and divisive speech by a president in US history.

I'm reaching out to you as a result of President Biden's announcement that the Department of Labor Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) is developing an emergency rule to require that all employers with 100 or more employees ensure their workforces are fully vaccinated or show a negative test at least once a week. Any companies that fail to comply with this mandate could face fines of $14,000 per violation.

Although OSHA updated its recommendations on August 13, 2021, to suggest that employers "consider adopting policies that require workers to get vaccinated or to undergo regular COVID-19 testing – in addition to mask wearing and physical distancing – if they remain unvaccinated," This marks the first time OSHA has advocated for employers to impose vaccine mandates. In addition, OSHA's revised guidance includes a disclaimer that the guidance is "not a standard or regulation, and it creates no new legal obligations," (<https://www.armstrongteasdale.com/thought-leadership/osha-addresses-vaccine-mandates/>).

As a result of President Biden's speech, I would like to cite some pertinent facts that warrant discussion:

* 9/2/21, White House Press Briefing- the question was asked; "Why does the president support abortions?" Jen Psaki stated; "He believes it's a woman's right, it's a woman's body and it's her choice". What about vaccines? It's your body, your choice.

Members of Congress and Their Staff are Exempt From Biden's Vaccine Mandate
<https://www.msn.com/en-us/news/politics/members-of-congress-and-their-staff-are-exempt-from-bidens-vaccine-mandate/ar-AAOIQvC?ocid=se> Why is this group exempt? This demands an explanation.

“We’ve been patient, but our patience is wearing thin, and your refusal has cost us all”. This is still America, and this statement made by our President is not only insulting but declares war against democracy, (i.e., we the people decide legislation). He blatantly dismisses the Constitution of the United States and this overreach is in violation of Article II.

“The vaccine is safe, effective and free”. We know this is not an accurate statement. This vaccine has been fast-tracked and is being distributed under Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) only. EUAs were codified in 2003, as part of the George W. Bush administration’s Project Bioshield, which sought to address anticipated bioterrorism attack threats. Underlying all EUAs is the legal necessity for a declaration of emergency. Without that declaration, every subsequent actions ceases to be legal. There is no emergency. Data is being manipulated and the goal post continues to be moved. If the vaccine is so effective, why shame or bribe people to take it?

* There are studies that challenge the public health narrative and government asserted health and safety data for the novel vaccines. There are reported life-threatening events, (i.e., VAERS), the vaccines are not effective, hence require boosters, vaccine risks outweigh the benefits, there are available approved treatment alternatives, (i.e., Monoclonal IV Therapies), and health professionals and the general public do not have adequate information to allow for informed consent, (i.e., absence of FDA Fact Sheets). This violates the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights Treaty, The Nuremberg Code, and the World Medical Association Declaration of Helsinki – Ethical Principles.

“The vaccine is FDA approved”. This is a very misleading statement. The approval on August 23, 2021, was for the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine, sold under the brand name Comirnaty. It’s a mRNA based COVID-19 vaccine developed by the German biotechnology company BioNTech. It’s not currently available in the US and is essentially the same as the current Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine. The FDA application was approved for the Comirnaty, however it too is under EUA restrictions. If in fact Comirnaty has “full” FDA approval, the legal necessity for EUA is without cause. However, the EUA conveniently shields big Pharma from any liability.

* EUAs bypass lengthy safety and efficacy studies. In addition, EUAs are to be granted only in the event no other treatment options are available. There has been suppression and censorship of information regarding available alternative treatments therefore, EUA should not have been granted.

“This is a pandemic of the unvaccinated”. This is a ludicrous statement. The vaccinated don’t have immunity and can still transmit the virus, (e.g., the Delta Variant). It appears that President Biden is taking his anger out on the unvaxed and trying to divide the country against itself.

My plea herein is not politically driven, but about our civil rights and liberties afforded to us by God. Please consider the ramifications that forced vaccination laws pose to health and human rights. This unilateral authority by our president disregards individual rights under the Americans with Disabilities Act, (42 USC § 12112(a), the First and Fourth Amendments, the Nuremberg Code 1947 (<http://www.cirp.org/library/ethics/nuremburg/>), and provisions of the Emergency Use Authorization subsection bbb-3(e)(1)(A)(ii)(III) 360 of Title 21 of the United States Code. This demands that everyone give employees the “option to accept or refuse administration” of the COVID-19 vaccine (<https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text21/360bbb-3>).

This mandate and enforcement thereof sets a dangerous precedent. This will only result in a collapsed health care system including our law enforcement personnel and first responders. The pandemonium that we are currently experiencing is being inflicted by top-down authorities. I herein appeal to you to encourage our leaders to take action and do what’s best for America. Especially for our kids and grandkids.

In closing, I am also copying our governors on this letter. I’m appealing to them to unite and push back against this tyranny. The president does not get to declare away the Constitution of the United States. The “pandemic scare tactics” of the president are illegal, illogical and unethical. Furthermore, the role of the government is not to dictate medical protocol. He has censored and threatened medical professionals with their careers if they don't comply to his demands. We need to stand up; there are nefarious motives here, not sincere concern for the health and well-being of Americans.

Please push back against this egregious conduct and fight for our civil rights and liberties!

Lt. Gov. Janice McGeachin also spoke, saying she was there to “support her friends in the Legislature.” McGeachin said, it’s not up to a business, the governor or president “what we do with our bodies. This is all about freedom and liberty.” Obviously, these dozen plus legislators are in agreement with Heather Scott and McGeachin's beliefs that no Government should tell anyone what they can and cannot do with their bodies. This means they can't be against abortion rights, and if a citizen wants to ingest any kind of foreign substance into their bodies while in their own home, they're in support of that as well. And if the Government tries to pass a law that says a certain action is for the safety of all citizens, like mask wearing and getting vaccinated, that law should never pass and I can't wait for these legislators to introduce the repeal of seat belt wearing, texting while driving, DUI's need a .16 or better for there to be a violation and all the other laws that restrict and abuse our FREEDOM AND LIBERTY.

A baker's dozen of lawmakers gather on Statehouse steps, rally against vax mandates...

- Posted by Betsy
- Sep 15, 2021

Thirteen Idaho GOP lawmakers, joined by Tyler Kelly from the Idaho GOP, gathered on the Statehouse steps at noon today to rally against vaccine mandates. The group said they wanted to reconvene the Legislature to pass legislation against vaccine mandates, but the Legislature currently is recessed at the call of the speaker. The 12 House members, who were joined by Sen. Christy Zito, R-Hammett, then headed to the House chamber, where they've been joined by a couple more, including Reps. Codi Galloway, R-Boise; Doug Okunewicz, R-Hayden; and Terry Gestrin, R-Donnelly, who weren't out on the steps.

"I'm going to sit in," Gestrin said. "You can't be engaged if you're not part of the conversation."

The 12 who gathered on the steps included Reps. Scott, Barbieri, Mendive, Wisniewski, Kingsley, Giddings, Moon, Nichols, Ferch, Christensen, Nate and Hanks.

A crowd of supporters carried signs with slogans including, "Imagine a vaxx so safe you have to be threatened to take it," "Where there is risk there must be choice," and "Stop the mandate."

Idaho Press reporter Ryan Suppe covered the rally; here's a report from him:

A group of 13 Idaho Republican lawmakers rallied Wednesday on the steps of the Capitol to reconvene the Legislature and pass legislation barring vaccine mandates by the government and private businesses.

The legislators hoped to rally a quorum of the House but fell well short of the 36 necessary. They spoke to about 200 spectators.

The lawmakers, primarily from the House, were: Reps. Heather Scott, Vito Barbieri, Ron Mendive, Tony Wisniewski, Mike Kingsley, Priscilla Giddings, Dorothy Moon, Tammy Nichols, Greg Ferch, Chad Christensen, Ron Nate and Karey Hanks. Also present was Sen. Christy Zito and Tyler Kelly, director of external affairs for the Idaho Republican Party.

"We would encourage you to please contact those that are not here," Nichols said. "We will wait for them; we will accept them with open arms."

Barbieri said other lawmakers probably wish they could be at the rally and subsequent meeting, but House leadership has declined, as of yet, to reconvene the session.

“We can’t act formally without a quorum,” said Barbieri, who also mentioned that vaccine mandates represent “a clear and present threat to our liberty.”

Lt. Gov. Janice McGeachin also spoke, saying she was there to “support her friends in the Legislature.” McGeachin said, it’s not up to a business, the governor or president “what we do with our bodies. This is all about freedom and liberty.”

Subject: Maintain Parental Rights over COVID Vaccine Permission

Dear Governor Little,

Parents should be solely in charge of the health care decisions of their children. I am concerned about the Mature Minor Doctrine that lets children (with potential influence of others) receive medical treatment without consent of their parents. This includes the COVID vaccine and abortions. States are making these decisions and the ages vary from very young to age 17. These children cannot vote, many cannot drive, and cannot purchase alcohol but with the Mature Minor Doctrine they can consent to a medical treatment that may have lasting impact on their health.

I want you to know that I am praying for you as you make decisions for our state. Millions of Americans like me are praying with the Intercessor for America network for our nation and leaders like you.

Nearly half our country, including sadly my own state of Idaho have been passing a combination of voter suppression laws and restrictive abortion laws under the guise of making elections more secure, despite the last one having been so already, and saving the unborn. I wonder which unborn you are attempting to save when here in Idaho alone despite having one of the lowest birth rates, Native Americans have the highest infant mortality rate, more than twice that of white infants. Nationally white women have one the lowest birth rates and even still make up for over a third of all abortions so, it becomes clear in that precisely which babies you are trying to save. Here in the United States, in 2021 we are practicing a form of eugenics by attempting to forcibly grow the white population while suppressing the ability of the oppressed to effect change in our country through the democratic process. Will none of you act and speak out against this? If not, one can only assume that it is your plan, a play right out of a handbook called "The Birth Dearth" written by Ben Wattenberg over thirty years ago. It saddens me to think that my elected officials may willingly repeat the darkest parts of our country's history and risk what is left of our American integrity for power and greed. Please prove me wrong.

Dear Governor Little,

Thank you for working to protect Idahoans against "vaccine" mandates! I support you in this measure and would like to share the following:

I have studied the manufacture and processing of the "vaccines," and discovered that all of them are directly linked to abortion.

I reject a mandate that forces me to inject a foreign substance into my body, especially a substance connected in any way to abortion.

Furthermore, the "vaccine" is now proving itself to not be effective as promised.

Finally, successful therapeutics are being denied to U.S. citizens who are infected by COVID. Why? Instead of receiving proven therapeutics, the sick are told to go home and take care of themselves the best way they can. Some die. Many fill the hospitals to overflowing. Thankfully, most get well.

Scientific, scholarly journals reveal the absolute and unquestionable effectiveness of therapeutics against COVID demise. Yet, they continue to be ignored, and now the proven therapeutics are being demonized by the mainstream media and progressive politicians.

Please reconvene state legislature to protect Idahoans from vaccine mandates, coercion, and discrimination. Please help Idahoans to have more access to proven therapies that have saved lives and prevented unnecessary hospitalizations.

Kind regards,

Is this a Christian persecution ? I hold absolute opinion against abortion according to God's Holy Word and will not use aborted fetuses to benefit my health. Yet hospitals and people are telling me so sad too bad if you don't have a job or health care because I don't accept the immunizations that are created from aborted babies. Hospitals are saying they just might not get paper work done in time for exemptions???? Then employees will not have a paycheck. Call this as it is-Christian Persecution! Why did scientist even start vaccines using fetal tissue in the 1960's, why is government now pushing an agenda to attack God's Holy Word???

Subject: CV-19 vaccine must be a choice

Dear Governor Little,

As our president places mandates around the country to receive a vaccine with no long term research, I find it ironic that we have pro-choice people protesting about the new abortion law in Texas. It is clear that the only time you can claim "my body, my choice" is when you want to take the life of an unborn child. There is something seriously wrong when we the people are no longer able to make decisions about our own health or be given informed consent for an experimental vaccine. There has, to date, been no transparency about the many side effects or thousands of deaths being reported through VAERS. Is it possible that those who have chosen against the vaccine have dug deeper to understand what the research and data is showing. We are also not hearing the administration talk about all the early intervention protocols that are being used and keeping patients out of ICU. As a highly educated nurse, I cannot understand why we are not implementing these proven protocols and only forcing a vaccine.

I strongly object to being forced to receive a coronavirus vaccine. Pharmaceutical companies rushed to bring the vaccine to market, and the FDA responded with a truncated review process for approval. I oppose any government measures that call for coerced or mandated medical interventions, and I will vote for my representatives accordingly. No pharmaceutical product or procedure should ever be forced, particularly a fast-tracked, experimental vaccine that is free from liability for any harm it might cause - be it a reaction, injury or death.

No government or employer has the right to insert itself into a medical decision I will make in conference with my doctor. I particularly object to the White House overreach into States' rights to protect the health and welfare of their citizens. The president is not a lawmaker. There is no authority to use the office of the presidency to mandate a country-wide medical intervention, nor dictate that employers assume liability for the same.

Personal choice, not public pressure or coercion, must be the only factor in getting the COVID-19 vaccine. I urge you to make sure that public policy paves the way for me and others like me everywhere to make responsible choices about what precautions we take and the best way to care for our health.

Thank you in advance.

Sincerely,

Dear Governor Little,

I do not live in your state but I am contacting all Republican governors about a particular issue regarding Covid 19 vaccine hesitancy.

A new way you can lead the fight against Covid 19 is to bring an alternative to vaccines available in the U.S. Some Americans have vaccine hesitancy because derived aborted fetal cells were used in development, testing and/or production of the vaccine. The Charlotte Lozier Institute states there are some vaccines available derived aborted fetal cell free. This hesitancy is not scientific, it is one of conscience. People who are hesitant for this reason are not antivaxer's, they are just against the use of derived aborted fetal cells.

If the object is to stop the spread of Covid 19, America should use any means possible to stop the spread. People reluctant to take a vaccine that used derived aborted fetal cells at any stage would be willing to take an abortion free alternative (even though the Catholic Church and many Pro-life organizations endorse the shots that have used derived aborted fetal cells).

According to the Charlotte Lozier Institute, these vaccines are aborted cell free in every step. Would you please make them available as a legitimate alternative.

CureVac, Germany
Sorrento, USA (still in development and at this time aborted cell free)
Institute for Biological Research, IIBR vaccine
Genexine, Korea
AnGes, Osaka University, TakaraBio
Zydus Cadila, India.

Thank you for helping stop the spread of Covid 19, for being a strong reliable governor and for considering innovative strategies to stop the spread of Covid 19.

Sincerely,
Dianne Ling

I really appreciate what texas just did by making abortion illegal in that state I believe we should follow the example of texas. We should be a shining light of morality and protection for the unborn. Also this state should be a 2nd amendment sanctuary state . And definitely a no vaccine madate state.

Dear Governor Little, I really respect how you have handled the Covid situation until now. However, I do not understand how we fight against abortion to not give a mothers right to choose, but it is alright for people to choose not to take a vaccine for Covid which may very well lead to death and potentially make others sick. It is appears to be a double standard, please explain why life is valued so differently. Seems hypocritical and I would like to know your thoughts why you and some other people in politics value life so differently? Thank you for your time. Terrie Jain

If Donald Trump had not turned covid into a politically decisive issue in the first place or referred to it as a lie which obviously it wasn't if you look at the numbers of dead people, like the coach from Rocky mountain high school maybe Biden would not have had to take the steps he has on the vaccine mandate. Maybe if you governor little had set a mask mandate for the schools that teacher wouldn't be dead! The Republicans have divided this country with the beginning of the trump administration to the point of our country being in danger. I don't want your party making decisions for me and you are doing exactly what biden is with your ridiculous abortion laws. Isn't the pot calling the kettle black. If someone doesn't get the virus under control we will see more and more variants of the disease. He isn't trying to make a lifetime change, or a law that's going to take rights away. The vaccine will save lives a stop the spread of disease. I cannot put into words how much I despise you as a politician and I don't like the person I become when I write these emails. Is this what you think is right to do encourage people not to get vaccinated because that's what your doing and you should be ashamed of yourself. I was born and raised in Idaho, the state I use to love but I hate it here now because the conservative factor has drawn more conservatives to Idaho and make it worse. Good luck lying in your bed of vipers we will all be judged in the end. What's your excuse going to be when you are asked why?

Governor Little

As a resident of the great state of Idaho, I am writing to you about great concern for our nation and our state ...our sovereign state.

We have since spring 2020, have been experiencing tyrannical unprecedented unconstitutional rule from the top down. Slowly our constitutional rights have been being taken away. What has been happening is exactly why our forefathers knew they had to write the constitution Along with the Bill of Rights. From masks to quarantine to mandated vaccines, loss of small business, unbelievable high prices for gas groceries etc. along with products not being available this Hass to stop here and now starting with the state of Idaho. I am calling on you to take a stand and support The very people of Idaho who voted for you as a conservative governor to make a stand now. Stop the mandates of masks and vaccines. I am asking you to go further by making it so that businesses do not have to adhere to the presidents latest mandate of masks and vaccinations for businesses with 100 or more employees. This is against our Constitution to force anyone to take a vaccine. Our medical choices is our right. Making us feel badly is absurd. Remember "my body my choice" yelled for abortions? This is OUR BODIES OUR CHOICE!

Stand up to the president's mandate. Take legal action against any forced vaccine whatsoever.

What is the end goal? Putting us in camps as the cdc website says? Is that what you want? Really? As governor of Idaho, I adjure you to take a legal stand against any mandatory vax. This is heading towards communism and you know it too.

And furthermore, why is the president even being welcomed here for Monday? The way he treated Americans in Afghanistan? He's insane and his administration is as well.

Stop the madness NOW.

Re: Proposed Legal Action Against Vaccine Mandates

Your actions are shameful. You are going to spend my tax dollars on a legal farce that defends people's right to make others sick. What universe are we living in? You asked, and you asked, and you asked, and you asked, but because this was made political by the Cheeto hairball and his cronies, people WILL NOT GET THIS VACCINE, regardless of the undeniable science and statistics. We have hospitals using crisis standards of care. This has never happened before. What in the hell has to happen before you grow a pair of balls? Oh, but you're quick to support Anti-abortionists, "to save lives." Really. So, only some lives matter? Your actions are shameful, and I'm not sure how you look yourself in the mirror. You are afraid of a bunch of loud mouthed, misinformed, ignorant, selfish people who need some tough love on the tenets of civic duty and responsibility. Me me me me. Fine. If you don't get vaccinated, you don't get leave your house, so you don't infect anyone else, and you sure as hell don't get to go to the hospital. With "freedom" and choice comes responsibility. We have created a nation of ignorant and selfish whiners. Let's watch and see what this gets us. You are more in love with maintaining your position of power than trying to make Idaho safe for its people, or maybe it's that you're afraid of the anti-vaxxer, right wing nuts. Let that sink in. What kind of people live in this state, and how did they become ignorant and violent? We enabled them. You enabled them, and your nut ball of a Lt. Governor has championed them.

To Gov. Little:

A long time ago, Queen Esther risked her life by going into the King's presence, UNINVITED, to beg for her people's lives to be spared.

Today, Gov. Little, I'm begging you to spare our LIVES!

Pres. Biden spoke last night & made it clear that there will not be room in this God-Blessed USA for those of us who are just trying to be in control over our own bodies.

While, when it comes to abortion, they say "my body my choice", which is actually FALSEHOOD, bc the baby has a separate beating heart, & separate body, The same people do not believe in "my body my choice" when it comes to the 'vaccine'.

Press secretary PSAKI was asked JUST RECENTLY what advice Biden would give to a Texas woman who is seeking an abortion. This is what she replied:

"I don't think he'll be giving medical advice. That's not the role of any president!"

They, themselves, know it's not the 'role of ANY president' to give medical advice. This is more than medical advice. This is RAPE, since it's being 'forced' on those of us who do not WANT it.

12 governors have decided to push back against Biden's plans!

I was VERY sad I did not see our own Idaho governor's name on that list. I voted for YOU! I am a Republican, a conservative Christian.

I'm also an immigrant. Came to USA in 1978 at the age of 16 with my family, I being the oldest of 7 children. "Ran away" from COMMUNIST Romania & I'm absolutely TERRIFIED of the things that are happening here.

I'm begging you, please push back against Biden & his demonic attacks on Americans' FREEDOMS. We all enjoyed this God-blessed country till now. We're honest citizens who pay our taxes & cause NO troubles.

If someone believes that by "getting rid" of those of us who REFUSE the 'vaxx' the rest will be able to 'return to normal', let me assure you, that won't happen.

When dictators start their MAD pursuits, there's no stopping them. They will COMPLETELY destroy this country.

I'm begging you to fight back, to save our lives, to save this country, NOW, before it's too late.

And I thank you soooo much!

God bless you,

Sir, COVID is world threat. Explain to me your disapproval of Biden's vaccine mandates or get tested everyday. Biden is doing what your president refused to do; he is living in reality, taking a world pandemic seriously...If your president had done the right thing he would have created federal mandates; we would be a healthier nation. Instead he he is culpable for the deaths in 500,000+ people because he declared it a hoax. You have been begging people in ads to get vaccinated, to no avail. It's time to be a leader. Instead of vetoing bills forbidding Critical Race Theory and restricting the rights of citizens to present petitions, you should be creating and enforcing mandates to help control this disease. On one hand our rights are being whittled down, even though there is no threat. On the other hand "by body, my choice" is the mantra for the ignorant (yet, you won't apply that same mantra to women needing abortions). Please explain. Your party is the "NO" party. You say "no" to any Democrat idea, will not compromise, negotiate, mediate AND refuse to come up with other ideas to ameliorate a situation.

Biden's covid plan to require companies with more than 100 employees to mandate the covid vaccine goes against our constitutional rights, HIPPA laws and everything the United States stands for. The companies that we work for have no right to mandate what we do with our bodies and our health decisions. The overreach of corporations on our sovereignty has gone way too far. It is my body my choice, this stands for health decisions as well abortions. Coming from the president who claims to fight corporate greed this bill is shameful and Idaho needs to take a stand against government and corporate overreach immediately. This vaccine does not stop anyone from catching or spreading the virus and will do nothing to stop the pandemic. Therapeutics and immune support should be at the forefront to stopping this pandemic and any politician who is not acknowledging this should be ashamed for themselves. Lives would not have to be lost if we looked at the REAL science of therapeutics. Furthermore the shortage of healthcare workers is directly caused by the vaccine mandates of corporations. Many of these employees have worked through the entirety of this pandemic, for the people, with limited supplies. Now we are demonizing the ones who won't get vaccinated after praising them as heros. There is something very wrong with this statement and action needs to be taken by the Idaho government to take care of the employees working at these facilities so they are able to take care of patients who need treatment. The time is now governor Little, take a stand or go down in history as someone who stood by while the rights of the American people are taken from them.

You did a great job fighting for Pro-life organizations also. I believe you can convince other state governors to follow to ban abortions with a heartbeat. Please also consider making laws in your state of Texas on domestic abuse laws, to protecting pregnant women from others hurting the unborn with a heartbeat. It is necessary to protect the pregnant women unborn with a heartbeat and those that may beat up pregnant women. Please also consider to demand criminal charges on abortionist that don't follow the unborn heartbeat law and have their medical license suspended and clinics closed down. Women that don't want their babies after birth then consider allowing the fathers of the babies to take custody of the babies that are not wanted by their mothers. Give the unwanted babies a chance to be with their fathers. If not work with Pro-life organizations to find adoptions for the unborn. Pro-life organizations in Texas will help you. Congratulations on banning abortions with a heartbeat.

To whom it may concern,

As the governor of a state, CHOSEN by THE PEOPLE, you have a duty to protect the citizens of your state and their rights. Forcing citizens to get the covid-19 shot protects nothing. Forcing the shot upon children, without parental consent, is downright deplorable. It is a person's right to decide what goes into their body, a parent's right to choose how to raise and protect their children, and most importantly, it is our GOD GIVEN RIGHT to choose.

Whatever happened to my body, my choice? Why is it okay to say that when it comes to abortion, but not when it comes to injecting something into your body? My body, my choice is not a phrase to be tossed around when it's convenient for someone. If people are going to use this phrase at all, it should apply to everything about your body. Therefore, this phrase also applies to unwanted "vaccinations".

I realize that the covid-19 shot affects everyone differently, but there are so many cases where perfectly healthy people get the covid-19 shot and have horrible side effects. There are also so many cases of perfectly healthy people dying after receiving the covid-19 shot. So many people have lost loved ones due to the covid-19 shot, and so many people have to watch their loved ones go through life changing negative side effects of the covid-19 shot. My heart breaks for the people having to go through this. It has to stop.

It's time to stand up for ourselves. We need to protect our GOD GIVEN RIGHT of FREEDOM. I urge you to look to God and inside yourself and realize just how wrong all of this is. I ask you to please fight for us. Please note that people all over the U.S. are waking up and realizing what the Biden administration is trying to do, which is to divide the people of this country. Please do NOT allow them to continue using you to do his bidding.

Galatians 5:1

Stand fast therefore in the liberty where 9with Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

With Faith and Hope for the future,

Dear Governor Little,

1. Please ENACT ALSO in IDAHO the Texas' 6 weeks abortion ban as soon as possible and as a priority for this 2021-22 year, Thank You! Work has been done by Idaho legislators and by you toward efforts of protecting unborn Idahoan/American lives and much more remains to be done to materialize progress in protecting life as close to conception as possible, and someday, rightfully, including protection of the unborn from conception and to beyond, toward birth—the unborn, who like all of us, are made in the image of God, and each of us one of a kind (Genesis 1:27, Psalm 139:13-16). (I have sent this urgent request to all Republican legislators in the House and in the Senate as well, so that we can unite in this abortion banning endeavor and expedite its life-saving results!)
2. Please and Thank You Governor Little for running for Governor for the great state of Idaho, AGAIN, for as many years as possible and for as long as possible! You are greatly needed and valued as a leader for the important role of Idaho Governor and during these critical times! God has blessed you and blessed Idaho through you, please keep leading Idaho as our governor! (Galatians 6:9, Ephesians 6: 10-18).
3. Your Guest Opinions to the local newspapers have been positive, encouraging, unifying, and inspiring. Thank you! I have shown them to my children and saved copies of your Guest Opinions in my children's annual school memories folders so that they can remember this wisdom and resilience, persistence in their reliance upon God during difficult times, and steadfastness in foundations of Christ in the face of adversity—all essential lessons learned and ongoing lessons learned during these difficult pandemic times. Thank you Governor Little!

Respectfully and Appreciatively,

Dear Governor Little,

Can you please make it harder for legal abortions to be obtained in Idaho? Doing this will outlaw abortions once a fetal heartbeat is detected in the baby (typically up to 6 weeks post-fertilization) and make new requirements before the abortion is performed:

- One parent must consent and be informed beforehand
- Make abortion counseling only available in person
- Ultrasound shall be mandatory and the person must display an image

Exceptions to this proposal are victims of rape, incest, or if the mother's life is in danger.

Dear Governor Little,

Thank you so much for your hard work and for your service for the benefit of our country. Although I am not a constituent of yours, I desire very much to see God's will be done. I wanted to reach out to you.

One of the greatest women who ever lived was Mother Teresa. Mother Teresa once told a woman considering abortion "A child is a gift from God. If you don't want him, give him to me." She arranged for the adoption of more than 1,000 children who otherwise would have been aborted into loving families.

The idea that abortion is a "right" was made up by human beings. The truth is that abortion is a grievous sin and is never God's will.

The Bible is very clear that God is, without question, the Creator of life, and that life begins at conception. God has a plan and a purpose for each human life He creates. We don't know what God's plan is for a child's life, and what that child's contribution to humanity would be. "Thou shall not murder" is not only in the Bible, it's one of the Ten Commandments.

I urge you to do everything you can to create policy consistent with God's will.

Thank you very much, and God bless you.

In Christ,
Jasmine Wilson

Dear Governor Little:

I was delighted to learn of the State of Texas' recent success in the Supreme Court, placing reasonable restrictions (6 weeks) on abortions (<https://www.texastribune.org/2021/05/18/texas-heartbeat-bill-abortions-law/>).

In the face of this historic victory, I now urge you to seize on the moment and promptly support similar legislation in Idaho to put an end to these barbaric practices. The Supreme Court's refusal to consider the appeal is effectively an endorsement to the constitutionality and reasonableness of the Texas law, and serves as a road-map for other states to successfully pass similar legislation.

This is a great opportunity for lawmakers such as yourself to take a firm stance against unrestricted abortions. The failure to act at this opportune moment would constitute a sin of omission that Idaho voters would likely never be able to forgive. Therefore, I now urge you to do God's will, seize on this moment, and lead the charge against these barbaric child sacrifice rituals.

I look forward to following your legislative progress on this issue in the future.

Respectfully,

Dear Governor Little, I first wanted to thank you on your stand against abortion. I appreciate that you stand for the unborn.

But I am pleading with you not to force people to get the Covid 19 shot. There seems to be a lot of confusion. I understand that people who are in the hospital with Covid are mostly people who have been vaccinated already. This from reliable sources. I know from experience that even the regular vaccinations will kill and destroy people and animals. I've heard of more people having trouble that have gotten Covid from the shot then people who just got Covid. If the shot works so great why are fully vaccinated mask wearing people still getting it. And they are blaming unvaccinated people for it, even if those people never had it to pass on. According to the Sandpoint Daily Bee August 19, 2021 "A 25-bed critical access hospital Bonner General Hospital has 5 Covid patients". That's not that many. What's the truth? I'm praying God will show you what it is. Please do real accurate research on this before you take action. After my daughter got a tetanus/pertussis shot she's struggled with health problems, thats been over 15 years ago. I watched as my father hauled 14 cows to the dump, they all died in one day from being vaccinated. Thank you for your time, Shirley Little

I am writing to implore you to keep the masks and vaccines voluntary- even strongly encouraged. The instant that the state or federal government can mandate/force a citizen of the US to take a vaccine or any type of medicine, is the day that we lose our freedom. You know that the second our federal government- Biden or the like, is allowed to force their will on us, they will take full advantage of that sudden power- forcing citizens to do anything that he/she deems "necessary" for us. Australia has recently taken kids from their parents, taken them to an stadium without their parents and have them immunized (<https://t.me/disclosetv/4091>). At this point, with all of the government overreach happening, this scenario isn't too far fetched for our new president and his administration. If you stand up and allow your citizens to make the best health decisions for them and their families, people will be grateful- I know I will. I appreciate your stance on abortion (every life matters) and the border (we need to care for our own before we can welcome anyone and everyone). I will say it again, please do not mandate masks. I would ask further and say "please, in the great state of Idaho, make mandating masks or vaccines against the law". These local school boards and other leaders are turning into bullying tyrants. We have 2 women on our board in CDA that will not listen to the data that kids are NOT at risk for death or serious illness and we should not be mandating masks to a group of people who have no risk to this virus. There have been studies that show that the negative aspects of the masks far outweigh the efficacy of the masks. Regarding the vaccine- all you have to do is look into the VAERS website and see all the adverse outcomes- including thousands dead- to see that the vaccine is killing more kids than this virus- a virus that is dangerous to a very small portion of the population and it's not the biggest problem we have- not even close! More kids have committed suicide since the "pandemic" than have died from CV. More kids die in car accidents, drown, choke and even die of cancer. There is a responsibility you have to do your own amount of research. There are just as many (if not more) legitimate and intelligent doctors and scientists out there that call on Dr. Fauci for being wrong, yet it is them that are silenced. Real science doesn't play sides, but our MSM and our federal government wants us to believe it does. One last time, please assure your constituents that you will recommend the mask and/or even the vaccine, but it will never be mandated.

Sincerely, Jo Phenicie

Dear Governor Little,

I have a solution to the Republicans' Abortion Dilemma; a simple conditional, hypothetical if-then proposition.

IF a lot of young women die from COVID-19, THEN Republicans won't have to ban Abortion.

Perhaps this could help the "Pro-Life" people with their "Deeply Held Religious Beliefs." I think it's a great solution. Now I can go to Hobby Lobby with a clear conscience and buy a rhinestone studded Crucifix and wear it to my next "Citizens United" social event.

Please be Pro-Life and take COVID seriously. Urge your constituents to get a vaccine, wear a mask, follow CDC guidelines and protect all people.

Most of all stop being a flaming hypocrite. If Republicans are SO Pro-Life, why do they care more about Zygote Fetuses than living Americans?

Yours Truly,

Governor Little, I want to share my feelings about the unborn children. There is a waste of human life and potential every time an abortion is performed. Children are sent to earth by God to perform a mission. If that life is cut short a whole world is destroyed. I feel that women and men make a choice when they choose to engage in sexual activity without protection and partner with the creator in bringing forth life. If we choose to sacrifice our children we are engaging in two morbid activities destruction of life and idol worship. Idol (worship of self). destruction of life (like murder) Please work to make abortion illegal. Thank you

Governor Little,

Thank you for your service to the citizens of Idaho. We are writing in support of the Idaho legislature reconvening to take up the issue of forced/mandated medical procedures in Idaho. If our employers can coerce us into getting a vaccine then what is stopping them from telling us to get an abortion? Our bodies are sovereign and we shouldn't be coerced into taking any medical procedure to keep our job.

We realize this issue passed the house earlier this year (HB 63 and HCR14) but wasn't taken up in the Senate. We believe in limited government but outlawing forced medical procedures does not violate the proper role of government. Indeed, the only valid role of government is to secure the rights of its citizens. We urge you to take up this call to action and protect bodily autonomy rights in Idaho.

Thank you.

Message:
Dear Governor Little,

I am writing to request that you support legislation PREVENTING mandatory vaccinations in Idaho in any form. As an experienced law maker, you undoubtedly understand the responsibility of government to protect the rights and liberty of the people that have placed you in power. The likes of John Locke and Thomas Jefferson wrote extensively on the dangers of government overreach, and I add my warning that mandatory inoculation sets a dangerous precedent for government (or corporate) intrusion in our private decisions.

Earlier this year, several bills were introduced which would have protected Idaho citizens from employer or government mandates to receive vaccines; I reference Idaho House Bills 63, 140, and 443. To my knowledge, none of these bills became law. Thus far, Idaho lawmakers have had the viewpoint that it is important to stay out of the decisions of private business. While this can be a wise governing strategy at times, I remind you that businesses are often prone to follow popular cultural movements. Please consider the following hypothetical scenario:

Suppose mandatory vaccinations are allowed now, and the precedent is established that an individual's health decisions are limited by what's best for "the greater good of society". Now suppose that the popular rhetoric continues to grow that "overpopulation is a problem in the world." Given a precedent of mandatory vaccinations, what laws will exist to protect individuals from their employer extending this power to dictate their employee's family size, require forced sterilizations or abortions in order to project an image of supporting "steps against overpopulation?" While this sounds extreme, remember that China enacted forced sterilizations "for the greater good" of China. I see forced vaccinations "for the good of the country" as the next step towards an oppressive government and dystopian society.

While protecting our liberties is the primary issue, there are also major safety concerns about the COVID-19 vaccine. Dr. Robert Malone, the inventor of mRNA vaccines, stated that the federal government and CDC are obfuscating (hiding) facts about the vaccine's high rate of mortality and severe reaction rate. Similarly, Dr. Peter McCullough, one of the most highly credentialed professionals on COVID-19, stated that the vaccine has the highest mortality rate of any mass-produced vaccine ever, and that it is not fit for human use. Hundreds of medical professionals are coming forward with safety concerns, and they are being de-platformed from major communication channels such as YouTube, Facebook, etc. This is not acceptable, and we need to protect individual health decisions because of the safety concerns which are being downplayed and hidden.

I am a Nuclear Engineer with several college degrees and am experienced in research. Recently, while researching the safety concerns of the vaccine, President Biden announced mandatory vaccine requirements for all federal employees. I do not feel that the vaccine is safe for me or my family to receive. As a federal contractor, I was devastated by the prospect of being forced to receive a dangerous vaccine or having to quit my job. Families should not be forced to become homeless in order to protect their freedoms.

Thank you for your efforts to make informed decisions. Again, I urge you to submit legislation and support any efforts to protect ourselves from mandatory vaccination requirements.

Sincerely,
Warren Powell

Roe vs Wade

So Mr little, you want to turn over roe vs wade! Let me ask you this. As a man what do you know about what a woman goes through in a bad situation. Over 40 years ago I was dating a man who said he loved me, wanted to marry me. Until I wound up pregnant. Then the proposal turned out to be do you WANT ME to marry me! How romantic and comforting was that! Not very . So there I was 19 pregnant, living in the same small town in Idaho where I was born and raised. My parents lived there and he worked for my Dad. I couldn't tell my parents but he willingly paid for the abortion. A week later he cheated on me and dumped me. I was all alone. No one to talk to. I wanted to kill myself. I don't like the fact that I did what I did and I live with it every day. You and your constituents and so called religious harpies want to legalize abortion but you don't say anything about who is going to take care of all these unwanted babies. Abortion can be done at the time the fetus is just a mass of cells. Most women don't even know there pregnant at the time the heart starts to beat and if delivered at that point it would be a miscarriage not a live birth. I went on to marry a man who does not judge me for my decision. We have four beautiful daughters. We have been married for 40 years this month. Now I will answer to the Lord for the way I have lived my life. I believe I am forgiven. But for myself and thousands of other women we will not forgive those who take our rights away. You worry about your soul and not anyone else's. Tell me this as well. Do men have any legal restrictions on their reproductive parts? No! I was born and raised in Idaho, I use to love this state, but you and the rest of you puritanical constituents have ruined this state and I hope to leave Idaho when my husband retires. My resentment and anger for all of you has turned me into someone I don't like very well someday and I pray for guidance but I will always be angry for what you have done for the sake of status and money. Every stinking one of you and our legislature!

Subject: Maintain Parental Rights over COVID Vaccine Permission

Dear Governor Little,

Parents should be solely in charge of the health care decisions of their children. I am concerned about the Mature Minor Doctrine that lets children (with potential influence of others) receive medical treatment without consent of their parents. This includes the COVID vaccine and abortions. States are making these decisions and the ages vary from very young to age 17. These children cannot vote, many cannot drive, and cannot purchase alcohol but with the Mature Minor Doctrine they can consent to a medical treatment that may have lasting impact on their health.

I want you to know that I am praying for you as you make decisions for our state. Millions of Americans like me are praying with the Intercessor for America network for our nation and leaders like you.

You and your attorney general need to get on board with the lawsuits filed against the Biden m as mandates rolled out yesterday. I am a small business owner. I would ask you after boasting about how well Idaho's economy is doing would you like to be part of the problem that will brake the entire U. S. Economy in which small business makes the world go round? Do you want to force Americans to lose their jobs and businesses because they dont agree to being forced to do something against their will. The White House is calling covid a disease now. I believe you are a more educated man than to think that this is nothing more than a virus.

A virus that is proven no worse than a bad flu season. It's almost campaign time. Do you want to back a socialistic ideology of take the jab or we will fine you in to submission? This is a right to work state, however this overreach of a tyrannical government who is power hungry needs to be stopped. Do you want to brake the middle class? Because that's what this will do. It is time to stand up for your voters and say this is to much.

This goes against so many civil rights that a first year law student could argue. As well as if a woman can choose to not inform a father of their unborn child and can RIP that child out of her womb because of her body her choice, then I would say to you wouldn't this be along the same lines? I should have a right to choose what goes in to my body even including a cotton swabs that has a chemical on it known to cause cancer. Again another arguement a first year law student could argue under so many other cases of "my body my choice" has been argued and won time over and time again.

I urge Governor Little to please put a stop to this ridiculous overreach of power including from yourself and your cronies. Or it will cost you reelection. Boise Mayor will lose. The people have had enough. We are done. If I am forced I will shut my doors and help brake the country to force power hungry politicians to their knees when you cant get people when you need them most.

If you would like an example of this just look at the health care industry. The hospitals wouldnt be breaking if they wouldnt be forcing a vaccination that has not been properly tested according to the standards of any other vaccine in history. And it wouldnt be short staffed because of this.

Please Mr. Little, stand up for the America you grew up in. So that my children will still have an American dream to hold on too. Because the American dream is dying by taxation and politics. I would beg you to stand up before your grandchildren dont know what America should stand for. Which is Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. And the Freedoms of choice. This is why our founding fathers fled Europe long ago. Was because of far overreaching of a tyrannical kingdom. Which is what this administration in the White House has become. A kingdom forcing its will on all others.

Sincerely,
Eric Rowland

Re: The abortions, Supreme Court case

Roe vs Wade a 1973 case
Do women have the right to privacy?
Please explain why not?

Yes, and the unborn have the right to privacy under the 1st Amendment and equal protection of the law, under the 14 Amendment with the same constitutional rights of women with privacy. The fetus has genetic features as a human, it's true because laboratories use the fetus for experimental use. The heartbeat of the fetus proves that its privacy should not be disturbed by an abortionist. Why? Because the heartbeat shows that the unborn is alive and the heart is functioning. We would not want to hurt a child with a heartbeat that could feel pain. In the case of Brown vs Board of Education segregation and kicking out children because of wanting their own privacy. What does it have to do with abortion? A lot is the same when the woman wants their privacy and wants to kick out a child because she wants her privacy. Does it matter the privacy of the unborn? It is just a fetus and not considered human? The argument is whether or not a fetus can have equal protection under the constitution? The fetus is considered human once a heartbeat is established. Ultrasounds became available in 1976 after the case of Roe vs Wade, three years later. It shows the unborn human genetic features and the heartbeat of the unborn. If this is not constitutional protection, where does our constitutional protection stand? Birth control is different than abortion. Birth control prevents pregnancy and abortions destroy unwanted pregnancy. By destroying the unborn with the heartbeat it is considered segregated and not equal protection of the law to the privacy of the unborn. Once the heartbeat is established it shows vital organ functioning that should give the fundamental right to protect the living unborn. Under the constitution. In the case of Plessy vs Ferguson, at the Louisiana Supreme Court, arguing that the segregation law violated the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, which forbids states from denying "to any person within their jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws," as well as the Thirteenth Amendment. The Fetus with a heartbeat becomes a living genetic human because it has vital organs that are functioning as a human. It makes it a constitutional right guaranteed by our constitution to protect the fetus with heartbeat privacy and equal protection. It makes no difference if it's a health issue or women's issue or any other issue. The unborn with a heartbeat should be treated equally under the constitution.

Dear Governor Brad Little

I recently have been looking over the data for abortions in Idaho and I just thought I would share my thoughts with you about them. Currently abortion is legal in Idaho, and over 1,200 women received abortions in 2017. We currently make up 0.1% percent of the overall abortion average in all of the United States. I think that we as a community need to lower these numbers and eliminate abortion in Idaho. Abortion is not what God has intended for us to do with our virtuous lives here, and people use it as an excuse to run away from their real issues. I hope that you can fight for us and fight for God against this terrible evil that has come upon the face of the Earth. I know that abortion is wrong. I have two little sisters living with my mom and dad back home, and I know that I would be lost without every member of my family. I bet that you can imagine as well that your family is so important to you and that you too would be lost without them. Maybe all of those women that go into those abortion clinics just need to be reminded that they could have a wonderful loving family if they just stuck through the hard times of pregnancy.

The family is essential to our happiness here on the Earth. Our sons and daughters are our legacy, they are the closest people that we have to us in this life. Our families are vital to becoming the best people that we can be! People who raise families tend to be happier and less lonely than those who choose to be alone or go without children in their lives. One thing that I do think is very interesting about our policy in Idaho is that if Roe v Wade is turned over and abortion becomes illegal once again in the United States that the state of Idaho would follow suite. What do you think about that? Why do we as a state have to follow what the rest of the country does? I think that Idaho should put our feet down and start fighting for what we believe in. Idaho should stand strong in the anti-abortion movement, and we should do it now. With the upcoming trial of Roe v. Wade, I think that now more than ever we need to be able to show the rest of the country what is right to do. Even though some people will not like it and some people might complain, I think that we need to stand up for what is right for humanity.

I know that many people think that taking away the right for a woman to have an abortion is taking away a personal medical right to them, but I would argue that taking away the life of an unborn child is taking away any potential that that child would have had. People need to understand that children are people too, and that they deserve every right to live just as we do.

To conclude my thoughts, I would just like to say that I know that God lives, and that He has sent us here to find true happiness and that happiness comes from living a righteous lifestyle and following Him and His footsteps. God truly knows what best is for this world and He has told us, His children that we need to raise families, and even though it may be hard I think that this is the right course of action. Please take my thoughts into consideration.

Dear Governor Little,

As your constituent, I'm calling on you to stand up to the abortion lobby, & in your capacity, work towards bringing forth & approving legislation that will protect ALL life under state law.

Subject: CV-19 vaccine must be a choice

Dear Governor Little,

I'm am totally against the government telling me to take a vaccine. That is a violation of my constitutional rights. Why is the government for saying it's okay to have an abortion, which is murder, but then mandate I have no choice to decide on my own health. My body, my choice. Isn't that what the mothers killing their unborn babies saying?

I strongly object to being forced to receive a coronavirus vaccine. After rushed development, the FDA used a shorter review process for approval. I oppose any government measures that call for coerced or mandated medical interventions, and I will vote for my representatives accordingly. No pharmaceutical product or procedure should ever be forced, particularly a fast-tracked, experimental vaccine that is free from liability for any reaction, injury or death. No government or employer has the right to insert itself into a medical decision I make with my doctor. I object to the White House overreach into health and welfare states. Personal choice, not public pressure or coercion, must be the only factor in getting the vaccine. I urge you to make sure public policy paves the way for citizens to make responsible informed choices about the best way to care for our health.

Subject: LIFE WINS ELECTIONS SERIES: SBA List/WSO PAC 2022 Campaign to Expose Democrat Extremism and Win Divided Government

SBA List/WSO PAC 2022 Campaign to Expose Democrat Extremism & Win Divided Government

This election cycle, our field program will be active in 6-8 states, focused on exposing extremism of Democrats and conveying the message we have already proven: life is winning. We will work to defeat Democrats in competitive House districts and key Senate battlegrounds that could flip the majority in the U.S. House, winning divided government in order to advance pro-life protections for the unborn.

How do we do this? Our strategic voter targeting wins for LIFE. Our Field Team leadership are experts at reaching the voters necessary to deliver a key margin of votes for victory. We do this by targeting two types of voters:

- Inconsistent pro-life voters: We know these voters are pro-life, but they don't always vote.
- Persuadable voters: Voters who are pro-life but typically vote for pro-abortion candidates because they don't know about the extremism of their position. These are often Democrats and Hispanic voters who vote for pro-abortion politicians based on other issues – without realizing they support abortion on demand through birth, paid for by taxpayers.

Right now, our canvassers are already on the ground in Arizona and Georgia exposing the extremism of Raphael Warnock (D-GA), Lucy McBath (GA-06), and Carolyn Bourdeaux (GA-07), as well as Mark Kelly (D-AZ), and Tom O'Halleran (AZ-01). These senators and representatives are a part of a group of #Terrible20 members of Congress who refuse to support the bipartisan Hyde Amendment that stops taxpayer funded abortions and saves unborn American lives.

Warnock and Kelly have also voted against commonsense pro-life protections that protect babies born alive after failed abortions who deserve medical care. Our team rallied in their states during August recess, holding press conferences in their home districts to expose their extremism and ensure they pay a political price for their radical views on abortion.

Read more at The Hill on the launch of our 2022 campaign:

We know our issue has the power to turn inconsistent and even unlikely voters into pro-life voters. When our team informs Americans on this life-or-death issue, every vote moved away from a pro-abortion candidate to a pro-life candidate is a two-point swing in our favor.

Subject: Add newborn SMA1 genetic testing in Idaho – 1 of 12 states not participating

Dear Governor Brad Little,
Christ: What you do to My people you do to Me.

Video: “7's Hero: Idaho baby (Ryder) with SMA making strides”

<https://www.ktvb.com/video/news/local/outreach/sevens-hero/7s-hero-idaho-baby-with-with-sma-making-strides/277-954389e3-2b6d-4ebf-b2ec-d86ae4863a1d>

Spinal Muscular Atrophy type 1 – SMA1, a debilitating disease, which our barber Tina Hawthorn’s grandson Ryder has. This rare genetic neuromuscular disease - affects one out of 6,000 to 10,000 children – is significantly affecting his quality of life and life expectancy. It’s a progressive disease that gets worse over time and Ryder faces the prospect of dying before his second birthday.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), newborn screening identifies conditions that can affect a child’s long-term health or survival. Early detection, diagnosis, and intervention can prevent death or disability, and enable children to reach their full potential.

In July 2018, the federal government added spinal muscular atrophy to the Recommended Uniform Screening Panel (RUSP). Today, 85 percent of babies born in the U.S. are now screened for SMA at birth. Idaho is one of only 12 states that does not test for SMA1.

If a woman is pregnant and has a family history of SMA, prenatal tests can determine if her unborn baby has the disease. These tests slightly increase the risk of miscarriage or pregnancy loss.

Gene replacement therapy: Since he was younger than two, Ryder may benefit from a one-time $2 million+ intravenous (IV) infusion of a drug called onasemnogene abeparvovec-xioi (Zolgensma®) which he received. This stem cell therapy replaced one of his missing or faulty SMN1 genes with a functioning gene.

About 60% of people with SMA - like Ryder - have type 1, also called Werdnig-Hoffman disease. Symptoms appear at birth or within an infant’s first six months of life. Like other infants with type 1 SMA, Ryder has difficulty swallowing and sucking. He didn’t meet typical milestones like holding up his head or sitting. As his muscles continue to weaken, Ryder becomes more prone to respiratory infections and collapsed lungs (pneumothorax).

Thanks.

Message:

Mr. Little, You seem weak and unseemly by allowing and encouraging your Covid suffering residents to be transferred to Washington hospitals. Can you not provide for your own residents? A hospice network where these people, many of whom deny their diagnoses, can be easily set up in some sort of abandoned hotels or the like where they can be treated by other infected healthcare providers and given the basic supportive care — oxygen if available, ivermectin, hydroxychloroquine, remdesivir, regeneron, etc. Mr. Little, be a Big Man, take control and take ownership so that the residents can fully appreciate your skills and commitment to their well-being. On second thought, perhaps not regeneron as it draws from a fetal tissue line and would be irreconcilable with your commitment to the life of the unborn. Wishing you all the best.

QUESTIONING THE ORTHODOXY OF SINCERELY HELD RELIGIOUS BELIEFS OR REQUIRING A CLERGY, PLACE OF WORSHIP, OR A THIRD PARTY TO AGREE WITH OR AFFIRM SUCH RELIGIOUS BELIEFS IS UNLAWFUL

Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits employers from discriminating against its employees on the basis of their sincerely held religious beliefs. See 42 U.S.C. §2000e-2(a) (“It shall be an unlawful employment practice for an employer . . . to fail or refuse to hire or to discharge any individual, or otherwise to discriminate against any individual with respect to his compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment because of such individual’s race, color, religion, sex, or national origin”); see also EEOC v. Abercrombie & Fitch Stores, Inc., 575 U.S. 768 (2015) (same). Title VII defines “religion” as “all aspects of religious observance and practice, as well as belief.” 42 U.S.C. §2000e(j). Moreover, as the EEOC has made clear, Title VII’s protections also extend nonreligious beliefs if related to morality, ultimate ideas about life, purpose, and death. See EEOC, Questions and Answers: Religious Discrimination in the Workplace (June 7, 2008), (“Title VII’s protections also extend to those who are discriminated against or need accommodation because they profess no religious beliefs Religious beliefs include theistic beliefs, i.e. those that include a belief in God as well as non-theistic ‘moral or ethical beliefs as to what is right and wrong which are sincerely held with the strength of traditional religious views.’ Although courts generally resolve doubts about particular beliefs in favor of finding that they are religious, beliefs are not protected merely because they are strongly held. Rather, religion typically concerns ‘ultimate ideas’ about ‘life, purpose, and death’”).

Employees may have religious accommodation requests stating their sincerely held religious beliefs injecting any of the three currently available COVID-19 vaccines would be a sin and a violation of their religious beliefs because they are manufactured and produced with, tested on, or otherwise developmentally connected to aborted fetal cell lines. United has responded to many of these submissions with intrusive and irrelevant questions about employees’ past personal health decisions and the theological bases for those decisions, or demands that employees vet their religious beliefs about COVID-19 vaccines with a third party to justify their accommodation requests. The premises of these questions—that an employee’s current request for religious accommodation must be consistent with the employees’ prior health decisions and religious understandings, or must be acknowledged by a person other than the employee—are legally invalid premises for deciding religious accommodation requests, and any denial based on such premises violates Title VII.

Employers are not permitted to determine which religious adherent has a “correct” or “proper” or “valid” understanding of religious doctrine, or whether any employee’s sincerely held religious beliefs are shared broadly among other faithful. As the Supreme Court has recognized, employees’ “religious beliefs need not be acceptable, logical, consistent, or comprehensible to others in order to merit [legal] protection.” Thomas v. Review Bd. of Ind. Emp’t Sec. Div., 450 U.S. 707, 714 (1981); see also Church of the Lukumi Babalu Aye, Inc. v. City of Hialeah, 508 U.S. 520, 531 (1993) (same). Additionally, though membership in or adherence to the tenets of an organized religion is plainly sufficient to provide protection for an individual’s sincerely held religious beliefs, it is not a necessary precondition. See Frazer v. Ill. Dep’t of Emp’t Sec., 489 U.S. 829, 834 (1989) (“Undoubtedly, membership in an organized religious denomination, especially one with a specific tenet forbidding members to work on Sunday, would simplify the problem of identifying sincerely held religious beliefs, but we reject the notion that to claim the protection [for sincerely held religious beliefs], one must be responding to the commands of a particular religious organization.” (emphasis added)); see also Office of Foreign Assets Control v. Voices in the Wilderness, 329 F. Supp. 2d 71, 81 (D.D.C. 2004) (noting that the law provides protection for “sincerely held religious beliefs,” “not just tenets of organized religion”).

In fact, the law provides protection for sincerely held religious beliefs even when some members of the same religious organization, sect, or denomination disagree with the beliefs espoused by the individual. That some individuals may have sincerely held religious beliefs which differ from those sincerely held by United employees requesting accommodation is irrelevant to whether the employees’ sincerely held religious beliefs are entitled to protection under Title VII.

Indeed, [i]ntrafaith differences of that kind are not uncommon among followers of a particular creed, and the judicial process is singularly ill equipped to resolve such differences . . . and the guarantee of free exercise is not limited to beliefs which are shared by all of the members of a religious sect. Particularly in this sensitive area, it is not within the judicial function and judicial competence to inquire whether the petitioner or his fellow worker more correctly perceived the commands of their common faith. Courts are not arbiters of scriptural interpretation.

450 U.S. at 715–16 (emphasis added).

The denial of any employee’s request for a religious accommodation based upon the views of other individuals who do not share the employee’s beliefs is unlawful. In fact, it is legally irrelevant what other individuals think or religiously believe. Nor does an employee’s religious objection to a vaccine need to be unique in order to be personal and sincerely held. (Cf. supra “It appears you purchased or downloaded your supporting documentation on the internet.”) Once an employee has articulated the employee’s sincerely held religious objections to the currently available COVID-19 vaccines, whether those objections are the same as or nothing like any other person’s objections, the proper inquiry is at its end.

Indisputably, all three of the currently available COVID-19 vaccines are produced by, derived from, manufactured with, tested on, developed with, or otherwise connected to aborted fetal cell lines. There is no question about the accuracy of this determination. The North Dakota Department of Health, in its handout literature for those considering one of the COVID-19 vaccines, notes the following: “The non-replicating viral vector vaccine produced by Johnson & Johnson did require the use of fetal cell cultures, specifically PER.C6, in order to produce and manufacture the vaccine.” N.D. Health, COVID-19 Vaccines & Fetal Cell Lines (Apr. 20, 2021), https://www.health.nd.gov/sites/www/files/documents/COVID%20Vaccine%20Page/COVID-19_Vaccine_Fetal_Cell_Handout.pdf (emphasis added) (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).

The Louisiana Department of Health likewise confirms that the Johnson & Johnson COVID-19 vaccine used the PER.C6 fetal cell line, which “is a retinal cell line that was isolated from a terminated fetus in 1985.” La. Dep’t of Public Health, You Have Questions, We Have Answers: COVID-19 Vaccine FAQ (Dec. 21, 2020), https://ldh.la.gov/assets/oph/Center-PHCH/Center-PH/immunizations/You_Have_Qs_COVID-19_Vaccine_FAQ.pdf (emphasis added) (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).

The same is true of the Moderna and Pfizer-BioNTech mRNA vaccines. The Louisiana Department of Health’s publications again confirm that aborted fetal cells lines were used in the “proof of concept” phase of the development of their COVID-19 mRNA vaccines. See La. Dep't of Public Health, supra. The North Dakota Department of Health likewise confirms: "Early in the development of mRNA vaccine technology, fetal cells were used for 'proof of concept' (to demonstrate how a cell could take up mRNA and produce the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein) or to characterize the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein." N.D. Health, supra (emphasis added).

Because all three of the currently available COVID-19 vaccines are developed and produced from, tested with, researched on, or otherwise connected with the aborted fetal cell lines HEK-293 and PER.C6, many employees' sincerely held religious beliefs compel them to abstain from accepting or injecting any of these products into their bodies, regardless of the perceived benefits or rationales. Thus, while there may be some faith leaders and other adherents whose understanding of Scripture is different, and who may be willing to accept one of the three currently available COVID-19 vaccines despite their connection with aborted fetal cell lines, any United employee is entitled to interpret the Scriptural command against murder differently, which many indisputably do.

Many employees have sincerely held religious beliefs that God forms children in the womb and knows them prior to their birth, and that because of this, life is sacred from the moment of conception to natural death. See Psalm 139:13–14 (ESV) ("For you formed my inward parts; you knitted me together in my mother's womb. I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made."); Psalm 139:16 (ESV) ("Your eyes saw my unformed substance; in your book were written, every one of them, the days that were formed for me, when as yet there was none of them."); Isaiah 44:2 ("Thus says the Lord who made you, who formed you from the womb"); Isaiah 44:24 ("Thus says the Lord, your Redeemer, who formed you from the womb: 'I am the Lord, who made all things'"); Isaiah 49:1 ("The Lord called me from the womb, from the body of my mother he named my name"); Isaiah 49:5 ("And now the Lord says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant,"); Jeremiah 1:5 ("Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you; I appointed you a prophet to the nations"). Employees may also have sincerely held religious beliefs that every child's life is sacred because each is made in the image of God. See Genesis 1:26–27 ("Then God said, 'Let us make man in our image, after our likeness.... So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.'").

Many employees also have sincerely held religious beliefs that because life is sacred from the moment of conception, the killing of that innocent life is the murder of an innocent human in violation of Scripture. See, e.g., Exodus 20:13 ("You shall not murder"); Exodus 21:22–23 (setting the penalty as death for even the accidental killing of an unborn child); Exodus 23:7 ("do not kill the innocent and righteous"); Genesis 9:6 ("Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed, for God made man in his own image."); Deuteronomy 27:25 ("Cursed be anyone that takes a bride to shed innocent blood"); Proverbs 6:16–17 ("There are six things that the Lord hates, seven that are an abomination to him: . . . hands that shed innocent blood").

The Hebrew word for "abomination" in the text above is תּוֹעֵבָה (to'eba). The verbal form is "abhor," "loath," "detest," and "exclude." Twelve times the Book of Proverbs uses תּוֹעֵבָה in reference to an "abomination to the LORD." (הוֹיָה or Yahweh). The word is also used in conjunction with the Ammonites and the Ashtoreth, the Sidonians, Chemosh, and Moab. Some of these nations sacrificed their children to Baal. Indeed, Jeremiah 19:4-9, refers to the shedding of innocent blood by sacrificing children as the reason for judgement against Judah. Abortion is the modern-day sacrifice of children made in the image of God. Many United employees do want to part of such an "abomination." They do not want indirectly or directly be in any way associated with abortion. To do so is abhorrent, loathsome, detestable, abominable to God. In short, to require these employees to inject a substance into their bodies that has any association (no matter how near or remote to abortion) is a sin against their Creator, their Lord, and their Savior.

Employees may also have sincerely held religious beliefs that it would be better to tie millstones around their necks and be drowned in the sea than to bring harm to an innocent child. See Matthew 18:6; Luke 17:2.

Many employees also have sincerely held religious beliefs that their bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, and that to inject medical products that have any connection whatsoever to aborted fetal cell lines would be defiling the temple of the Holy Spirit. (See 1 Corinthians 6:15-20 (KJV) (“Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? . . . Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God? You are not your own, for you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body.”)).

Thus, while there may be leaders and other adherents of certain employees’ faith traditions whose understanding of Scripture is different, and who may be willing to accept one of the three currently available COVID-19 vaccines despite their association with aborted fetal cell lines, that is irrelevant to the protection of United employees who sincerely believe otherwise.

Likewise irrelevant is whether any United employee currently seeking a religious exemption formerly understood or believed any religious doctrine differently. Because all three of the currently available COVID-19 vaccines are developed, produced from, tested with, researched on, or otherwise associated with the aborted fetal cell lines HEK-293 and PER.C6, many United employees’ sincerely held religious beliefs compel them to abstain from accepting or injecting any of these products into their body, regardless of the perceived benefits or rationales.

Requiring employees that to obtain a religious exemption they have to be an adherent of a recognized religion with a history of opposition to vaccines. Employees are also being told they need to include a letter from a clergy to support their sincere religious beliefs. This is false and unlawful. The only issue is whether the employee has a sincere religious belief, not whether a clergy or a “recognized religion” (whatever that is) agrees.

In sum, it is unlawful to condition any employee’s request for religious accommodation on a third party’s beliefs or acknowledgement of the employee’s beliefs, or on the employee’s past health decisions or the theological reasons for those decisions.

EMPLOYERS CAN REASONABLY ACCOMMODATE THEIR EMPLOYEES

When boarding an Alaska Air flight, passengers at the boarding gate see a pop-up sign:

IT’S SAFE TO FLY—AND
EXPERTS AGREE.

Travelers wearing a mask have a .003% or NEAR-ZERO CHANCE of being exposed to the virus, even on a full aircraft according to a recent Department of Defense study.¹

Air travel is the safest mode of Transportation thanks to . . .
HOSPITAL-GRADE AIR FILTRATION
CLEAN AIR EXCHANGE(According to researchers at Harvard.²)
TOP-DOWN AIR FLOW

The Department of Defense study referenced on the sign was done in conjunction with United Airlines. It is hypocritical for United to feign the need for universal employee vaccination when United participated in the study being touted by airlines as concluding the risk of air traveler exposure to be 0.003%, or “NEAR-ZERO CHANCE.” David Silcott, et al., TRANSCOM/AMC Commercial Aircraft Cabin Aerosol Dispersion Tests, <https://www.ustranscom.mil/cmd/docs/TRANSCOM%20Report%20Final.pdf> (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).² Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, Assessment of Risks of SARS-CoV-2 Transmission during Air Travel and Non-Pharmaceutical Interventions to Reduce Risk, Phase One Report: Gate-to-Gate Travel Onboard Aircraft, <https://cdn1.sph.harvard.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/2443/2020/10/Phase-One-Report-Highlights-1.pdf> (last visited Aug. 27, 2021).

The above example applies to airlines, but the same reasoning is true of all employers. Healthcare professionals have worked for months through the pandemic without the shots. Other employees have either worked onsite or remote, and thus employers have demonstrated over many months that they can reasonably accommodate all employees.

The accommodation employees are requesting from any employer no matter the specific job duty is an exemption from the COVID-19 shots. Past history is prologue in this respect, as (1) employers have been providing such accommodation ever since the first COVID-19 shot was available to the public in December 2020, (2) all phases of the employment sectors have been working through the pandemic up to the present, even during the peak of COVID-19, without the shots, even if some of the work was done remotely; (3) the Delta variant has been in the United States for months, and employees continued to work through the present without the COVID-19 shots; (4) many health and safety measures have been implemented to protect the health and safety of employees and customers by requiring PPE and other measures without mandating the COVID-19 shots; (5) nothing has changed except the recent mandate; and (6) therefore months of history during COVID-19, with the Delta variant, during which COVID-19 shots were available, combined with the health and safety measures such as PPE, social distancing, sanitization, air filtration, and implementing and virtual remote work options are reasonable accommodations that permitted employers and employees to operate. The accommodation request is to continue to permit your employees to work in the same manner without diminution as you have done for many months.

In light of this very relevant past history, there are no conceivable circumstances under which employers can now argue that they face an undue hardship to accommodate employees with sincerely held religious objections to the COVID-19 vaccines.

The Emergency Use Authorization Statute Prohibits Mandating the Currently Available COVID-19 Vaccines

The United States Code provides:

[S]ubject to the provisions of this section, the Secretary (of the Department of Health and Human Services) may authorize the introduction into interstate commerce, during the effective period of a declaration under subsection (b), of a drug, device, or biological product intended for use in an actual or potential emergency (referred to in this section as an “emergency use.”

21 U.S.C. § 360bbb-3(a)(1) (emphasis added) [hereinafter EUA Statute]. As an essential part of the explicit statutory conditions for EUA, the EUA Statute mandates that all individuals to whom the EUA product may be administered be given the option to accept or refuse administration of the product. See 21 U.S.C. § 360bbb-3(e)(1)(A)(ii)(III) (requiring that “individual to whom the product is administered are informed . . . of the option to accept or refuse administration of the product” (emphasis added)). The only currently available COVID-19 vaccines (Janssen/Johnson & Johnson, Moderna, and Pfizer-BioNTech) are only authorized for use under the EUA Statute and have no general approval under federal law. Thus, the administration of such vaccines cannot be mandatory under the plain text of the EUA Statute.

The statutorily required Fact Sheets for each of the EUA COVID-19 vaccines acknowledge that individuals cannot be compelled to accept or receive the vaccine. See Moderna, Fact Sheet for Recipients and Caregivers (June 24, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/144638/download> (“It is your choice to receive or not to receive the Moderna COVID-19 Vaccine. Should you decide not to receive it, it will not change your standard medical care.” (emphasis added)); Pfizer-BioNTech, Fact Sheet for Recipients and Caregivers (June 25, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/144414/download> (“It is your choice to receive or not to receive the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine. Should you decide not to receive it, it will not change your standard medical care.” (emphasis added)); Janssen, Fact Sheet for Recipients and Caregivers (July 8, 2021), <https://www.fda.gov/media/146305/download> (“It is your choice to receive or not to receive the Janssen COVID-19 Vaccine. Should you decide not to receive it, it will not change your standard medical care.” (emphasis added)).

The recent FDA biologics license application (BLA) approval of the product COMIRNATY, COVID-19 Vaccine, mRNA, manufactured by BioNTech Manufacturing GmbH,³ does not change the EUA status of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine that has been available under EUA since December 23, 2020.⁴ According to the EUA extension letter issued by the FDA to Pfizer on August 23, 2021, the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine and BioNTech’s COMIRNATY, COVID-19 Vaccine, mRNA “are legally distinct” products.⁵ Moreover, the now “approved” COMIRNATY vaccine cannot be distributed for use until BioNTech submits “final container samples of the product in final containers together with protocols showing results of all applicable tests” and BioNTech receives “a notification of release from the Director, Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research (CBER).”⁶ Thus, it is not clear when (or if) any United employee will have access to the “approved” COMIRNATY vaccine, leaving all (or at least the vast majority of) United employees who elect to receive the “Pfizer” vaccine pursuant to United’s mandatory vaccine policy to receive a dose of the current stock of Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine still being administered subject to EUA rules.

The following summarizes the current status of the Pfizer-BioNTech shots:

1. All existing Pfizer vials (in the hundreds of millions), remain under the federal Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) (meaning people have the “option to accept or refuse”);
2. The third or “booster” Pfizer shot is identical to the above and remains under the EUA with limited use to certain categories of people;
3. BioNTech received FDA approval for people ages 16 and above under the name Comirnaty, but there are no Comirnaty doses available in the United States;

⁶ See BLA Approval Letter, supra note 3, at 2.

4. In other words, there is currently NO FDA approved COVID-19 injection available anywhere in the United States. Every COVID shot in America remains under the EUA law and thus people have the “option to accept or refuse” them; and
5. Even when an FDA approved COVID shot becomes available, individuals are protected by federal law and many states laws from being forced to get these shots based on their sincere religious beliefs or conscience rights.⁷

Thus, under the EUA Statute, administration of the currently available vaccines cannot be mandatory. At any rate, even without the EUA Statute, these employees still have legal rights for religious accommodation under state and federal law.

CONCLUSION

Employers cannot compel compliance with a mandatory COVID-19 vaccination policy against their sincerely held religious beliefs without providing reasonable accommodation. Based on past history, there are no conceivable circumstances under which employers—which for months provided reasonable accommodations to employees—cannot now do the same. It is unlawful for an employer to deny or interfere with any employee’s request for religious accommodation because other religious adherents have different beliefs.

Governor Little,
We appreciate your leadership in these very difficult times!

This message is sent to urge you, as your highest priority, to do everything possible to help improve the deplorable performance in Idaho's populace getting vaccinated for COVID 19 in a timely manner. Surprisingly, it seems we have almost no, or minimal, encouragement from our leaders, except for you and almost all Idaho's medical leaders, to lead by EXAMPLE AND ACTION, in explaining to people that getting vaccinated is THE PROVEN way to curtail the NEEDLESS DEATHS occurring daily of UNVACCINATED PEOPLE. These people need help! And, of course, young to old and unborn, the rest of us need their help too! Not enough people seem to understand we're all in this together and seem to think COVID 19 will go away by itself. I was shocked this morning to learn Jon Delvalle, our outstanding, long time, Fire Chief and Safety coordinator in Garden Valley, passed from COVID 19 and, reportedly, surprisingly, was not vaccinated! Similarly we've also lost outstanding West Ada educators in their prime of life and now our hospitals and medical people are being severely impacted. We really hope you can reverse this trend.
IDAHO IS LOSING A WINNABLE BATTLE WITH A VIRUS!

Thank you for your attention and service,

Bill and Sheri Robison

Nearly half our country, including sadly my own state of Idaho have been passing a combination of voter suppression laws and restrictive abortion laws under the guise of making elections more secure, despite the last one having been so already, and saving the unborn. I wonder which unborn you are attempting to save when here in Idaho alone despite having one of the lowest birth rates, Native Americans have the highest infant mortality rate, more than twice that of white infants. Nationally white women have one the lowest birth rates and even still make up for over a third of all abortions so, it becomes clear in that precisely which babies you are trying to save. Here in the United States, in 2021 we are practicing a form of eugenics by attempting to forcibly grow the white population while suppressing the ability of the oppressed to effect change in our country through the democratic process. Will none of you act and speak out against this? If not, one can only assume that it is your plan, a play right out of a handbook called "The Birth Dearth" written by Ben Wattenberg over thirty years ago. It saddens me to think that my elected officials may willingly repeat the darkest parts of our country's history and risk what is left of our American integrity for power and greed. Please prove me wrong.

You did a great job fighting for Pro-life organizations also. I believe you can convince other state governors to follow to ban abortions with a heartbeat. Please also consider making laws in your state of Texas on domestic abuse laws, to protecting pregnant women from others hurting the unborn with a heartbeat. It is necessary to protect the pregnant women unborn with a heartbeat and those that may beat up pregnant women. Please also consider to demand criminal charges on abortionist that don't follow the unborn heartbeat law and have their medical license suspended and clinics closed down. Women that don't want their babies after birth then consider allowing the fathers of the babies to take custody of the babies that are not wanted by their mothers. Give the unwanted babies a chance to be with their fathers. If not work with Pro-life organizations to find adoptions for the unborn. Pro-life organizations in Texas will help you. Congratulations on banning abortions with a heartbeat.

Dear Governor Little,

1. Please ENACT ALSO in IDAHO the Texas' 6 weeks abortion ban as soon as possible and as a priority for this 2021-22 year, Thank You! Work has been done by Idaho legislators and by you toward efforts of protecting unborn Idahoan/American lives and much more remains to be done to materialize progress in protecting life as close to conception as possible, and someday, rightfully, including protection of the unborn from conception and to beyond, toward birth—the unborn, who like all of us, are made in the image of God, and each of us one of a kind (Genesis 1:27, Psalm 139:13-16). (I have sent this urgent request to all Republican legislators in the House and in the Senate as well, so that we can unite in this abortion banning endeavor and expedite its life-saving results!)
2. Please and Thank You Governor Little for running for Governor for the great state of Idaho, AGAIN, for as many years as possible and for as long as possible! You are greatly needed and valued as a leader for the important role of Idaho Governor and during these critical times! God has blessed you and blessed Idaho through you, please keep leading Idaho as our governor! (Galatians 6:9, Ephesians 6: 10-18).
3. Your Guest Opinions to the local newspapers have been positive, encouraging, unifying, and inspiring. Thank you! I have shown them to my children and saved copies of your Guest Opinions in my children's annual school memories folders so that they can remember this wisdom and resilience, persistence in their reliance upon God during difficult times, and steadfastness in foundations of Christ in the face of adversity—all essential lessons learned and ongoing lessons learned during these difficult pandemic times. Thank you Governor Little!

Respectfully and Appreciatively,

Jessica

Dear Governor Little, I first wanted to thank you on your stand against abortion. I appreciate that you stand for the unborn.

But I am pleading with you not to force people to get the Covid 19 shot. There seems to be a lot of confusion. I understand that people who are in the hospital with Covid are mostly people who have been vaccinated already. This from reliable sources. I know from experience that even the regular vaccinations will kill and destroy people and animals. I've heard of more people having trouble that have gotten Covid from the shot than people who just got Covid. If the shot works so great why are fully vaccinated mask wearing people still getting it. And they are blaming unvaccinated people for it, even if those people never had it to pass on. According to the Sandpoint Daily Bee August 19, 2021 "A 25-bed critical access hospital Bonner General Hospital has 5 Covid patients". That's not that many. What's the truth? I'm praying God will show you what it is. Please do real accurate research on this before you take action. After my daughter got a tetanus/pertussis shot she's struggled with health problems, that's been over 15 years ago. I watched as my father hauled 14 cows to the dump, they all died in one day from being vaccinated. Thank you for your time, Shirley Little

Dear Gov. Brad J. Little,

I stand on a premise already in place in the USA regarding what's the government's position is regarding responsibility to the health of it's citizenry.

But this premise is a two edge sword that cuts both ways.

It's been argued multiple times at state and Supreme Court levels.

It's called ...MY BODY MY CHOICE!

Government financed agencies such as Planned Parenthood argue the premise of my body my choice as a means to support the murder of the most vulnerable citizens in our country. The unborn child!

Pro abortionist say it's the right of the mother to determine the existence of their unborn child.

A fetus is produced "man made" and is subject to involuntary death by means of an abortion procedure.

Well we all know this Covid-19 virus and its many variants are man made by men & women in a lab in Wuhan China.

Now we the people of the USA & the world are being exposed to this man made virus released by the will of others yet brought to trial. Such is politics. But in keeping to the premise. The government should provide a means to those that individually want a vaccine and to those that don't it SHOULD NOT BE FORCED upon anyone. Why?! I'm glad you asked. Because of a long time established premise called MY BODY MY CHOICE! Gentlemen let's not be flippant about this. What I've stated is truth. The difference between a government mandate for a vaccine vs an abortion is the person receiving the vaccine has a voice that can be heard aloud by everyone. The child being aborted cries aloud in its mothers womb and everyone believes not because they physically can't hear it.

So create FDA approved vaccines that's as far as your reach should go. Regarding who takes it is an individual's personal choice and it SHOULD NOT BE MANDATED for anyone to take.

Forcing people to take a shot or loss their job is unacceptable and despicable!

Do whats right within the scope of your jobs. That's all we the people expect.

A Proud Member of NWYC

Mr. Michael Michelucci

Governor Little, I want to share my feelings about the unborn children. There is a waste of human life and potential every time an abortion is performed. Children are sent to earth by God to perform a mission. If that life is cut short a whole world is destroyed. I feel that women and men make a choice when they choose to engage in sexual activity without protection and partner with the creator in bringing forth life. If we choose to sacrifice our children we are engaging in two morbid activities destruction of life and idol worship. Idol (worship of self). destruction of life (like murder) Please work to make abortion illegal. Thank you

Unconstitutional! What happen to their freedoms? Their choice? I am in the medical field and I am now treating 20-40 year olds with secondary effects of this horrific vaccine! Unknown neurological symptoms, cardiac myopathy, blood clots, loosing their unborn children, and attempted suicides gone wrong from the lockdown! These are your kids! Listen to the truth! Dear Governor Little,

I have been a staunch supporter, and express disappointment in your decision to take such a public and terrifying position on abortion. As a woman, who's core values align with the original Idaho spirit of independence, I am an avid supporter of individual liberties. The values of native Idahoans should not be dictated by religion, and our policies should reflect the values we hold dear. I value personal liberty and the right to make decisions with my body, no matter my personal choice and decision to never have an abortion. As a young mother in college, I was faced with a very easy decision- but a life altering one. I found myself pregnant before marriage, and chose to continue the pregnancy. I was pushed and pressured financially by my own father to have an abortion- resulting in abrupt financial responsibility for myself and unborn child-and I truly leaned on my identity as an independent Idahoan to stand behind my decisions and make what I felt was the right choice.

Abortion is a social issue, and not one that should force women to bend to dictates of men of power with no equivalent targets on their personal liberties. Please have the courage to represent women's rights to choose their decisions with their bodies over politically beneficial headlines. I've always been proud of my ability to judge character regardless of political affiliation, and I implore you to consider that there many conservative voting women who vehemently oppose restrictions on our right to choose.

Sincerely,

Johanna Phillips

Subject: LIFE WINS ELECTIONS SERIES: SBA List Field Team in Action

Susan B. Anthony List (SBA List) and its connected super PAC, Women Speak Out (WSO), have a demonstrable record of electing pro-life champions at the state and federal level.

With the Supreme Court set to review an abortion case with major implications (Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health), it is more important than ever that pro-life candidates and lawmakers go on offense for life.

As the Dobbs case advances, we are on the ground working to educate voters, exposing the extremism of abortion law in our nation. The state of Mississippi, led by MS Attorney General Lynn Fitch, is calling on the Supreme Court to modernize our laws, and remove us from the company of just a handful of nations that allow painful late-term abortions, up to the moment of birth, paid for by taxpayers. When we speak to voters about this, we find they are overwhelmingly on our side.

USA Today just published news of a study finding that Mississippi's law limiting abortion at 15 weeks is considered mainstream in western Europe. 47 out of 50 European nations limit abortion at 15 weeks, if not earlier, and NO European nation allows elective abortion through all 9 months of pregnancy like the Supreme Court allows here in the United States. Read more here.

With so much to consider this year and next, legislators and candidates MUST be ready to engage in effective conversations about the pro-life movement and a future where unborn children and women are protected from abortion. SBA List is here to help. In the weeks to come we will explain why LIFE is – and will continue to be – a winning message.

How did we get here?

The Supreme Court has been transformed in recent years through the efforts of pro-life Americans to elect pro-life leaders to the White House and U.S. Senate. Pro-life leaders including President Trump led the effort to appoint and confirm three new Justices to the court: Neil Gorsuch, Brett Kavanaugh, and Amy Coney Barrett.

SBA List canvassers nationwide were spurred to action by the hope of today's Supreme Court. Many believe that without the new Trump-appointed Justices, the Court may not have taken up this latest abortion case.

Thanks to pro-life election efforts, the Supreme Court is now poised to humanize our laws.

In the Dobbs late-term abortion case, the Supreme Court will consider whether all pre-viability limits on abortion are constitutional. Recent polling from OnMessage Inc. shows that an increasingly strong majority of Americans support such limits on abortion, as well as the candidates that support them. Notably, Independent voters shift to form a strong center-right coalition on this issue.

Americans believe it is time the law reflects the science that proves the humanity of the unborn child. Watch our new ad below to learn more:

Read more on the Dobbs late-term abortion case from Marjorie Dannenfelser in Newsweek:

“States have the right and the duty to protect the most vulnerable human beings, representing the values of the people who live there. Our laws should reflect modern science. Research, medicine, and technology have certainly not stood still since 1973. At the time of Roe, babies were thought to be ‘viable’ at around 28 weeks old...”

Hello, do a heartbeat bill. Like usual Texas, Florida and South Dakota are doing much better than you at doing all the right things. I think every time I've messaged you I've said do better and be more like these three states. Clearly, you aren't as good as them. Maybe this time will be different? I'd like to think that even though you have given away your job to a board of doctors for the last year and a half you aren't into murdering babies, I guess I could be wrong though

Dear Governor Little:

I was delighted to learn of the State of Texas' recent success in the Supreme Court, placing reasonable restrictions (6 weeks) on abortions (<https://www.texastribune.org/2021/05/18/texas-heartbeat-bill-abortions-law/>).

In the face of this historic victory, I now urge you to seize on the moment and promptly support similar legislation in Idaho to put an end to these barbaric practices. The Supreme Court's refusal to consider the appeal is effectively an endorsement to the constitutionality and reasonableness of the Texas law, and serves as a road-map for other states to successfully pass similar legislation.

This is a great opportunity for lawmakers such as yourself to take a firm stance against unrestricted abortions. The failure to act at this opportune moment would constitute a sin of omission that Idaho voters would likely never be able to forgive. Therefore, I now urge you to do God's will, seize on this moment, and lead the charge against these barbaric child sacrifice rituals.

I look forward to following your legislative progress on this issue in the future.

Respectfully,

Governor Little,

I am writing to share my disappointment with your decision to join in a human rights lawsuit under the guise of a constitutional disagreement. During a time when people scream about their rights, I want to be clear that you are joining a lawsuit to take away all humans' most basic right, to be in control of their body. It is wrong and as a mother of three children, I will say without hesitation that the idea that anyone can control their bodies is disgusting and disturbing.

I don't know how it makes any sense that people get to claim the right to not wear a mask, to not be vaccinated, to not adhere to safety practices prescribed by the most knowledgeable infectious disease and medical experts in the world and yet so many, and you, are willing to believe that women have no rights when it comes to their bodies. The court decision you are now involved in evolves around a timeframe that most women don't know they are pregnant – the same that is true with your heartbeat bill. I learned of each of my pregnancies at 8 weeks. I am fortunate to have a partner, a home, a job, and medical insurance that allowed me the piece of mind to feel I could care for each of them now and in the future. A comfort not afforded to the nearly 30% of people in Idaho that struggle to make ends meet even while doing "everything right" (ALICE report, United Way). That statistic comes from before the housing crisis that is unhousing individuals and families regularly, and decreasing the long-term value of finances of others who will never be able to buy a home and the stability that comes with it.

I thought you supported women but this is a decision that counters that at the most basic level. I need no pontification of a response to justify an unjustifiable hypocrisy of human rights.

Subject: I'm Amy Scott. I've been reaching out to you for 7 months

My name is Amy Scott. I have been calling your office for 7 months to discuss this heartbeat bill before you signed it. NO ONE HAS CALLED ME BACK!! As an idahoan I'm offended, yes, but as a woman I'm utterly sadden and ashamed that you and other capital officials would ignore my calls and countless messages. With your 6 week heart beat ban; you need to understand the deadly track you have put women on. After you read this I expect a response inviting me to your office to discuss your thoughts.

Let's get info from the people who do this for a living. Sena Garven, an Ultrasound Technician says:

"So here's the thing:

This Alabama-abortion-ban is a big deal, in a very bad way. Ohio, Missouri, Georgia, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky... I'm looking at you too, but we're going to focus on Alabama. If you've been living under a rock, let me catch you up. Alabama Governor, Kay Ivey, just signed a total abortion ban into law, the most restrictive law in the United States. The law will ban abortion at every stage of pregnancy for every reason.

This is not okay, not reasonable, and definitely not acceptable.

If you don't know me well, maybe you don't know what I do for a living. I'm an ultrasound technologist. My colleagues and I look at babies in every stage of pregnancy every day. I also work in a high risk unit. My unit and I look at babies and mothers in varying states of mental and physical health. If you think an abortion ban sounds good, then I am a good person to ask about why it isn't.

So let me tell you:

About the woman whose baby developed with no skull, and the brain just floating around. Her baby still had a heartbeat, and she would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman whose baby has a rare chromosomal condition called T13. Her baby's organs grew outside its body, and had a cleft palate so bad that there was no nose. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman whose blood pressure is spiking so high that she passes out and is likely to stroke out before her baby is born. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman with such a severe form of hemophilia that giving birth will probably be fatal to both her and the baby. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the 13 year old whose school isn't allowed to teach her science-based sex-education, so she didn't know how to prevent pregnancy or STIs, but whose body is not developed enough to carry to term without being damaged. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman who was raped by a friend who wanted to "make sure she got home safely". She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman who has PCOS so only has periods every 3-4 months and can't find a birth control that works for her. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman whose abusive partner removed the condom without telling her (it's called stealthing, and it happens more frequently than you'd think). She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman with the cornual ectopic pregnancy that isn't reliably in the uterus, and could grow to a size that will kill her. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman who has two kids she can barely feed already, and whose birth control just increased in price. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the 18 year old who just started college and is going to be the first graduate of the family if she can just stay in school. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the woman whose IUD slipped slightly and is now endangering both her and the pregnancy it was designed to prevent. She would not be able to access abortion.

About the many, many, many women who just don't want to be pregnant for reasons that are their own. Health issues, abusive relationships, financial issues, social issues. They would not be able to access abortion.

Some of these might sound like reasonable exceptions to you. And you would be correct. But no one should get to decide what happens with another person's body, not even to save a life. You need written permission from a corpse before life saving organs can be taken from them. You cannot be forced to donate blood, no matter how dire the situation. And no one else should get to decide what a woman does with her body, end of story.

But it's not the end of the story, is it? Because here's the kicker: if you consider abortion to be a murder (and some people genuinely believe that!) then miscarriage can be second degree murder. And this is already happening all over the world - El Salvador, Ecuador, and the US of A. Women are being jailed for miscarriages and stillbirths because they might have done something to cause it. If you start down this path of jailing women and doctors for making healthcare decisions that affect no one but themselves, then you get women who don't go to a doctor for a safe procedure and instead order pills online or use whatever metal instruments they can find to end their own pregnancies. Women who are honestly experiencing a miscarriage (which is medically called a spontaneous abortion, just fyi) will not go to their doctor for help. They will bleed out on their bathroom floors or die of septic shock. And I haven't even talked about how this will disproportionately affect women of color, LGBTQA+ women, or trans men. This isn't about the "sanctity of life" anymore. It's about controlling women."

Governor Little,

Recently, you and the legislature passed a law called the Idaho fetal Heartbeat Ban. I didn't know very much about abortion and policies like this, but after hearing my friends talk about it, arguing for both sides, I decided to do my own research. After looking at several different news sources, and talking to many mothers in my life, I have come to this conclusion that this bill will not actually drive down the rate of abortion in Idaho.

This law should not go into place is because it will not change the rate of abortion in Idaho. According to a 2018 article by NBC news, a study by the Guttmacher institute found that "Abortions take place around the world, no matter the legal setting," and "Highly restrictive laws do not eliminate the practice of abortion, but make those that do occur more likely to be unsafe." It also states that in the US, "In many states, regulations have created barriers to safe, effective, patient-centered, timely, efficient, and equitable abortion services,". We can see this in practice on a global scale. The country with the lowest abortion rate is Sweden, with an abortion rate of only 5 per 1,000 women. Sweden, which is a country great access to healthcare, almost achieved gender equality, and none of the restrictive abortion laws we see being put into place here in the US. Contrast that to the region of the world with the highest abortion rates; the Caribbean and central america, both of which have extremely restrictive abortion laws that make if pretty much illegal under all circumstances. They have an abortion rate of 35 per 1,000 women, which is 7 times higher than that of Sweden.

Taking in the data, it becomes clear that the only way to truly drive down the rate of abortion is to increase women's rights, sex education, and easy access to contraceptives, not by imposing strict regulations over the process itself. If a woman is in a position where she wants to and needs to abort, that is a desperate enough situation that no amount of laws and regulations are going to stop her from trying to terminate the pregnancy. That is a lesson that has been proven time and time again throughout the world, and should be applied here. Having easy access to safe abortions saves lives of both mothers and children.

In conclusion, if you see this I hope you can see how this policy will not actually end up "protecting the life of the preborn," which was your stated purpose in passing this. I understand that you are in a difficult situation at the moment with the legislature seeking to take away some of your power, but I hope that this in an area where your influence and power still stands.

Sincerely,
Lauren Olsen

I guess you saved thst big reveal for our pist-covid stupor.

I was a gig worker decimated by the effects of this virus, physically and economically. Your recent self-serving and sadistic announcement that you are gathering up political capital in the form of right wing haters who will support you in your next election literally makes me feel sicker than covid 19 ever did.

You are cutting off unemployment benefits over 2 months early.

I started a new business. one that would bring jobs and capital to Idaho. I'm leaving this god forsaken state for Oregon. On June 19th. The day you take away my lawful federally mandated and financed government unemployment benefits. I was counting on thst income to get my business up and running. You have a black soul. The soul of a politician. The farther away i take my business from this state the happier I will be.

Don't get me started on the repression of women through fetal heartbeat bills and the mass killing of actual wolves. What's next. Handmaids?

I have lived in idaho for 40 years. Your governing has broken me and I will abandon this rotten to the core state and seek refuge in a state I was born in but barely remember-'oregon. How they can stand being bordered by idaho is beyond me. I would build a wall.

Have a great day kicking puppies and exploiting child labor. Do you disrespect your mother too?

Maybe you can invest in a factory that turns out handmaid cloaks and accessories for other of myogonistic abuse. Perhaps baby announcements saying "congratulations you're pregnant. Youre being forced to give birth and its a ward of the facist state!" you can send them out to starving families whom you stole lawful benefits from and shoot a few wolves on the way to view your factory full of children.

Re: The abortions, Supreme Court case

Roe vs Wade a 1973 case
Do women have the right to privacy?
Please explain why not?

Yes, and the unborn have the right to privacy under the 1st Amendment and equal protection of the law, under the 14 Amendment with the same constitutional rights of women with privacy. The fetus has genetic features as a human, it's true because laboratories use the fetus for experimental use. The heartbeat of the fetus proves that its privacy should not be disturbed by an abortionist. Why? Because the heartbeat shows that the unborn is alive and the heart is functioning. We would not want to hurt a child with a heartbeat that could feel pain. In the case of Brown vs Board of Education segregation and kicking out children because of wanting their own privacy. What does it have to do with abortion? A lot is the same when the woman wants their privacy and wants to kick out a child because she wants her privacy. Does it matter the privacy of the unborn? It is just a fetus and not considered human? The argument is whether or not a fetus can have equal protection under the constitution? The fetus is considered human once a heartbeat is established. Ultrasounds became available in 1976 after the case of Roe vs Wade, three years later. It shows the unborn human genetic features and the heartbeat of the unborn. If this is not constitutional protection, where does our constitutional protection stand? Birth control is different than abortion. Birth control prevents pregnancy and abortions destroy unwanted pregnancy. By destroying the unborn with the heartbeat it is considered segregated and not equal protection of the law to the privacy of the unborn. Once the heartbeat is established it shows vital organ functioning that should give the fundamental right to protect the living unborn. Under the constitution. In the case of Plessy vs Ferguson, at the Louisiana Supreme Court, arguing that the segregation law violated the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, which forbids states from denying "to any person within their jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws," as well as the Thirteenth Amendment. The Fetus with a heartbeat becomes a living genetic human because it has vital organs that are functioning as a human. It makes it a constitutional right guaranteed by our constitution to protect the fetus with heartbeat privacy and equal protection. It makes no difference if it's a health issue or women's issue or any other issue. The unborn with a heartbeat should be treated equally under the constitution.

Subject: LIFE WINS ELECTIONS SERIES: SBA List/WSO PAC 2022 Campaign to Expose Democrat Extremism and Win Divided Government

SBA List/WSO PAC 2022 Campaign to Expose Democrat Extremism & Win Divided Government

This election cycle, our field program will be active in 6-8 states, focused on exposing extremism of Democrats and conveying the message we have already proven: life is winning. We will work to defeat Democrats in competitive House districts and key Senate battlegrounds that could flip the majority in the U.S. House, winning divided government in order to advance pro-life protections for the unborn.

How do we do this? Our strategic voter targeting wins for LIFE. Our Field Team leadership are experts at reaching the voters necessary to deliver a key margin of votes for victory. We do this by targeting two types of voters:

- Inconsistent pro-life voters: We know these voters are pro-life, but they don't always vote.
- Persuadable voters: Voters who are pro-life but typically vote for pro-abortion candidates because they don't know about the extremism of their position. These are often Democrats and Hispanic voters who vote for pro-abortion politicians based on other issues – without realizing they support abortion on demand through birth, paid for by taxpayers.

Right now, our canvassers are already on the ground in Arizona and Georgia exposing the extremism of Raphael Warnock (D-GA), Lucy McBath (GA-06), and Carolyn Bourdeaux (GA-07), as well as Mark Kelly (D-AZ), and Tom O'Halleran (AZ-01). These senators and representatives are a part of a group of #Terrible20 members of Congress who refuse to support the bipartisan Hyde Amendment that stops taxpayer funded abortions and saves unborn American lives.

Warnock and Kelly have also voted against commonsense pro-life protections that protect babies born alive after failed abortions who deserve medical care. Our team rallied in their states during August recess, holding press conferences in their home districts to expose their extremism and ensure they pay a political price for their radical views on abortion.

Read more at The Hill on the launch of our 2022 campaign:

We know our issue has the power to turn inconsistent and even unlikely voters into pro-life voters. When our team informs Americans on this life-or-death issue, every vote moved away from a pro-abortion candidate to a pro-life candidate is a two-point swing in our favor.

LIFE WINS ELECTIONS | SERIES: SBA LIST FIELD TEAM IN ACTION

Susan B. Anthony List (SBA List) and its connected super PAC, Women Speak Out (WSO), have a demonstrable record of electing pro-life champions at the state and federal level.

With the Supreme Court set to review an abortion case with major implications (Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health), it is more important than ever that pro-life candidates and lawmakers go on offense for life.

As the Dobbs case advances, we are on the ground working to educate voters, exposing the extremism of abortion law in our nation. The state of Mississippi, led by MS Attorney General Lynn Fitch, is calling on the Supreme Court to modernize our laws, and remove us from the company of just a handful of nations that allow painful late-term abortions, up to the moment of birth, paid for by taxpayers. When we speak to voters about this, we find they are overwhelmingly on our side.

USA Today just published news of a study finding that Mississippi's law limiting abortion at 15 weeks is considered mainstream in western Europe. 47 out of 50 European nations limit abortion at 15 weeks, if not earlier, and NO European nation allows elective abortion through all 9 months of pregnancy like the Supreme Court allows here in the United States. Read more here.

47 out of 50
limit elective abortion
to 15 weeks or earlier

... we're not talking about U.S. states –
we're talking about
European countries

The opponents of Mississippi's law – who ignore commonsense international norms in favor of abortion on demand
– are the true radicals

With so much to consider this year and next, legislators and candidates MUST be ready to engage in effective conversations about the pro-life movement and a future where unborn children and women are protected from abortion. SBA List is here to help. In the weeks to come we will explain why LIFE is – and will continue to be – a winning message.

How did we get here?

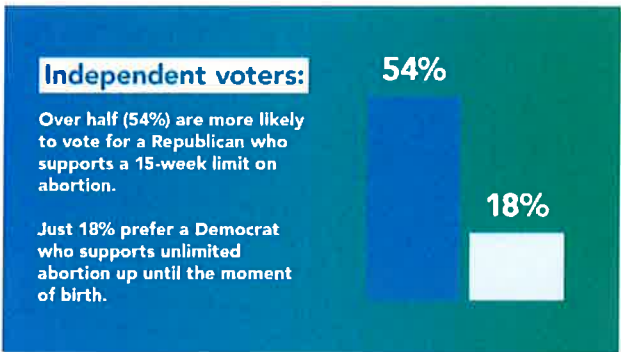

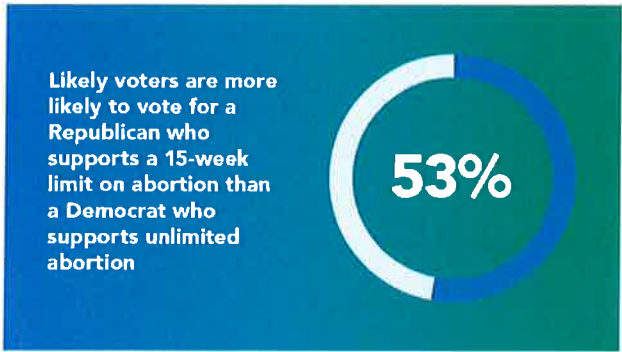

The Supreme Court has been transformed in recent years through the efforts of pro-life Americans to elect pro-life leaders to the White House and U.S. Senate. Pro-life leaders including President Trump led the effort to appoint and confirm three new Justices to the court: Neil Gorsuch, Brett Kavanaugh, and Amy Coney Barrett.

SBA List canvassers nationwide were spurred to action by the hope of today's Supreme Court. Many believe that without the new Trump-appointed Justices, the Court may not have taken up this latest abortion case.

Thanks to pro-life election efforts, the Supreme Court is now poised to humanize our laws.

In the Dobbs late-term abortion case, the Supreme Court will consider whether all pre-viability limits on abortion are constitutional. Recent polling from OnMessage Inc. shows that an increasingly strong majority of Americans support such limits on abortion, as well as the candidates that support them. Notably, Independent voters shift to form a strong center-right coalition on this issue.

Americans believe it is time the law reflects the science that proves the humanity of the unborn child. Watch our new ad below to learn more:

Thank you for these times, Joan!

I have copied James to this email, Marjorie's EA. It looks like Friday, Sept. 3rd at 1:00 PM EDT (11:00 AM MDT) would work well with Marjorie's schedule.

Let us know if that still works for the Governor!

Best,
Caitlin

Good afternoon Caitlin,

First and foremost, I want to apologize for the time it has taken for us to follow up with you on your request to meet with Governor Little. We had everything moving through the process, and then I transitioned to a different role in the office and completely dropped the ball. Our new scheduler, Joan Varsek (copied), actually reminded me that your request was still in the queue and it sounds like they have identified a couple of dates for your consideration. I'll let Joan fill in those details.

Again, I sincerely apologize for the delay. Please let Joan or me know if you have any questions.

Subject: Governor Reeves Invites You to a Briefing for Governors on 15-Week Limit Supreme Court Case

You're Invited – Briefing for Governors on Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization

Tuesday, July 27, 2021
6:00 PM Central Time
Zoom Webinar (info to be shared upon RSVP)

Please join Governor Tate Reeves, Susan B. Anthony List President Marjorie Dannenfelser, and a member of veteran pollster Wes Anderson's team for an exclusive briefing on the Dobbs case that will be heard by the Supreme Court in their upcoming term.

At issue is Mississippi's 15-week abortion limit, which was passed overwhelmingly by the legislature only to be struck down by lower courts.

In accepting the case, the Supreme Court said it will consider the following question posed by the State of Mississippi in its appeal: “Whether all pre-viability prohibitions on elective abortions are unconstitutional.”

The outcome of this case will have a big impact on pro-life laws at the state level and litigation moving forward.

The briefing will feature a presentation by a veteran pollster with OnMessage, who conducted extensive polling on behalf of Susan B. Anthony List on the case. The presentation will ensure governors and their staff are equipped with the messaging that resonates with their constituents. The results are encouraging!

Please let us know if your Governor and/or a member of senior staff can join and we will send you the webinar info.

Sincerely,

Barrie Nelson

Marissa,

Hi, I was wondering if with everything going on with new CDC guidance and vaccines etc. if it would be possible to get the Governor on the show next week? I would love to have him in studio with us, preferably for a full hour. I'd like to take part of that hour to have listeners be able to call and ask the Governor questions. If not a full hour, even 45 minutes would work.

Tuesday or Wednesday around 8am would be great, if that would work for the Governor.

Re: Request to veto House Bill 220

May 4th, 2021

Dear Governor Little,

Planned Parenthood Alliance Advocates Idaho writes to respectfully request that you veto House Bill 220. This bill is a politically motivated attack on reproductive health care providers that will have devastating impacts for Idahoans across the state as the state once again attempts to circumvent the United States constitution and prevent Idahoans from accessing necessary, constitutionally protected health care services.

Planned Parenthood provides high-quality, evidence-based sexual and reproductive health care to patients in Idaho and across the country. We serve more than 9,000 patients each year in Idaho, and approximately half of those patients are below the Federal Poverty Level. Without Planned Parenthood, many of the thousands of patients with low incomes we serve each year would have nowhere else to go for basic, preventive health care.

This thinly veiled attack on Planned Parenthood would have a devastating impact on the patients who count on us for high-quality preventive health care. If HB 220 becomes law, it would limit patients' access to care at Planned Parenthood. We know from experiences in other states that when patients are unable to access the care they need at Planned Parenthood, other providers cannot fill the gap. As experts in reproductive health care, Planned Parenthood health centers provide preventive services that other safety-net family planning providers simply do not offer. For example, national research in 2016 found that Planned Parenthood health centers are more likely than any other clinic type to offer the full range of FDA-approved contraceptive methods, including being more likely to offer most methods on-site. In fact, 2017 research found that nearly all Planned Parenthood health centers offer the full range of contraceptive method options, compared to only 52 percent of FQHC sites.¹ Specialty family planning providers are also more likely than other provider types to offer extended clinic hours and same-day LARC provision.²

The health care community as a whole agrees that cutting off access to Planned Parenthood will worsen health outcomes for patients who depend on their ability to access these services from highly-qualified family planning providers. Leading health care experts and organizations, including the American Public Health Association,³ the American Medical Association⁴ and the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists⁵ all strongly oppose eliminating public funding to Planned Parenthood. That’s because if patients are unable to access family planning services through a family planning provider such as Planned Parenthood, they may lose access to the full range of birth control and related services – or lose access to care entirely – which would undermine their ability to freely select their birth control method and put them at a greater risk of unintended pregnancy.

In other states where Planned Parenthood has been singled out for funding cuts, patients have experienced devastating outcomes. Cutting off patients’ access to Planned Parenthood’s critical and life-saving care in Idaho could have similarly devastating consequences for public health in this state, including higher rates of sexually transmitted infections and preventable cancers.

It is also important to be very clear that this bill is not about limiting funding for abortion. In Idaho, the state already prohibits public funding for abortion except for in very limited circumstances. In fact, in 2019, Idaho Medicaid covered only two abortions allowed under the discriminatory federal Hyde Amendment. Instead of limiting abortion funding, this bill would undermine critical community providers and limit funding for life-saving preventive care.

This bill also prohibits publicly funded schools and universities from providing students with emergency contraception, a common form of birth control that prevents pregnancy before it begins. What’s more, this bill constrains health care providers’ medical advice and referrals for patients. In doing so, HB 220 interferes with the patient-provider relationship, could force health care providers to violate standards of medical ethics, and would undermine patients’ trust that they are receiving comprehensive, accurate information from their physicians.

House Bill 220 targets Planned Parenthood and other abortion providers because we offer comprehensive reproductive health care, including abortion care. If it were to become law, HB 220 could cut off patients’ access to trusted providers, limit patient choices, and, for some patients, cut off access to care entirely. In short, this bill would harm Idahoans across the state – especially communities of color and Idahoans with low incomes, who are disproportionately likely to use Planned Parenthood as their source of care. This bill is unconscionable and unconstitutional. We urge you to veto this legislation to ensure that Idahoans don’t lose access to the care they need and the providers they trust in the middle of a global pandemic.

Sincerely,

Mistie Tolman

HB 220
(“Defund bill”)

Dear Sara,

Here is a summary of what we spoke about today. Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions, or if I forgot anything!

Thanks,

Mistie

- This bill would be immediately effective.
 - With a bill as confusing as this (what it is saying and who it applies to) the state needs to give state institutions time to actually understand what this looks like and get ready for compliance, otherwise they’re setting themselves up for failure. There is no way it could actually successfully go into effect as soon as it’s signed – everybody needs more time to figure it out.
 - Especially with it applying to such a wide range of contracts with any level of government, it’s challenging to have it go into effect immediately because there’s no way the state will be able to do the necessary education to ensure compliance in time.
- HB 220 would prohibit the state and any county, public health district, public school district, or any local political subdivision thereof from entering into a “contract or commercial transaction” with an abortion provider or an affiliate of an abortion provider (hospitals are exempted).
 - Abortion is already not permitted to be paid for by public funds.
 - It should also be noted that while hospitals have an exemption, they are also included in the definitions of “facility” (page 1, line 34) and “health care provider” (page 2, line 2).
- The bill would exempt Medicaid contracts but would otherwise apply to seemingly all manner of contracts with any level of government within the state.
 - However, the legislature talked about being able to use this bill to target Title X funding, which is a federal program of which we were a direct grantee, and would be problematic for the state to target.
- It could also prohibit the state/city/county/school districts from contracting with the affiliate (for instance, to offer public services like trash collection or utilities, fire services, etc.).
 - If our health centers cannot operate, that becomes an immediate undue burden on a person seeking to access their constitutionally protected right to an abortion.
 - Moreover, the bill defines “affiliate” extremely broadly.
 - The broad language of this contracting ban coupled with the broad language of the definition of affiliate suggests that this bill could prohibit all manner of contracts individuals “affiliated” with Planned Parenthood have with the state or other local subdivisions.
 - We worry that this bill could be interpreted to implicate employees of the affiliate and their contracts, for instance, with the state for public services, schools, etc. As another example, this could presumably also extend to public benefits and/or commercial transactions with public higher education institutions.

- This bill also prohibits state-owned health care facilities from “entering into any contract or commercial transaction” with a health care provider or facility wherein the provider or facility agrees to provide, perform, or induce an abortion.
 - Meaning, state-owned facilities (other than hospitals) cannot hire physicians to provide abortions.
 - However, the contracting ban described above already would preclude the state from hiring any providers PP currently works with, so presumably this would only apply to other physicians or health care providers not already affiliated with an abortion clinic.
- HB 220 would prohibit the use of public funds for abortions, the assistance in provision or performance of an abortion, promotion of abortion, abortion counseling, referrals for abortion, or for facilities for abortion or training for abortion. (On page 3, line 8, it says “counseling in favor of abortion, but then on page 3, line 13, it includes “abortion counseling”—neither in favor nor opposed. This could then impact crisis pregnancy centers who provide any kind of abortion counseling). The bill would also preclude any person, organization or agency who receives public funds from using those funds to perform or promote abortion, counsel in favor of abortion, make referrals for abortion, or provide facilities for the performance of or training to perform an abortion.
- The bill prohibits any “fund or committee authorized by Idaho Code for the special protection for women or children...” from using or distributing funds to pay for abortions, referrals, counseling, or for abortion-related medical or social services.
 - However, the denial of funds for “abortion-related medical or social services” is very broad language. Would this refer to, for instance, any counseling related to abortion (again, not just in favor of abortion)? Would it apply to contraception provided immediately following an abortion? Would it apply to any follow-up care if the patient experienced a complication?
- This bill prohibits tuition and fees to any public institution of higher education being used to pay for abortion, referrals, counseling in favor of abortion, or for facilities to provide or train to provide abortion.
- This bill would prohibit the provision of abortion and emergency contraception, as well as referrals for abortion and counseling in favor of abortions in public schools—including higher education institutions—or by school employees.
 - The bill would prohibit public facilities, institutions, or physical assets from being used or leased for the use of performing or participating in abortion, unless the abortion was to save the life of the “mother” or prevent endangerment due to a physical disorder, illness, or condition.
 - This bill violates federal law (the Hyde Amendment) by not making exceptions for rape or incest.

POLICY INFORMATION

PRO Act

House Resolution 842, entitled “Protecting the Right to Organize (PRO) Act”, is Big Labor’s flagship legislation in the 117th Congress.

Support & Opposition: Democrats claim that the legislation will protect workers’ right to organize and bargain for fairer wages, better benefits, and safer workplaces. Republicans criticize the legislation as a giant bailout of unions that will force workers into a one-size-fits-all union contract, subject more workers and job creators to union harassment, and increase disruptive and economically painful union strikes and boycotts. Those against the bill include the Chamber of Commerce, the National Retail Federation, the NFIB, the Small Business & Entrepreneurship Council, ATR, AFP, ALEC, Freedom Works, the Heritage Foundation, the Mackinac Institute, and numerous others.

Congressional Background: In 2020 during the 116th Congress, the PRO Act passed the U.S. House on a near-party line vote of 224 to 194, with 219 Democrats and 5 Republicans supporting and 186 Republicans, 7 Democrats, and 1 Independent opposing. Under the Republican-controlled Senate, the PRO Act did not receive either a vote or a committee hearing. This year, the PRO Act was introduced by Rep. Bobby Scott (D-VA) and is expected to be voted on in the U.S. House the week of March 8th.

Biggest Impact on States: The PRO Act repeals Right-to-Work Laws in 27 states, including 19 Republican governors’ states: AL, AZ, AR, FL, GA, ID, IN, IA, MS, NE, ND, OK, SC, SD, TN, TX, UT, WV, and WY. Right to Work laws provide protections that prohibit employers and unions from requiring employees to join or pay fees to a union as a condition of employment. Removing Right to Work protections would eliminate the freedom for workers to decide for themselves whether to join a union without risking their jobs.

Impacts on the Business Community:

- Adopts California’s ABC Test that expands the definition of employee under the NLRA to include independent contractors to remove flexibilities for individual workers, which effectively destroys the growing independent contractor and “gig economy” and forces the growth of unionization.
 - California’s original ABC Test (known as Assembly Bill 5) had to have numerous exemptions added, including for Uber and Lyft drivers, due to the overly burdensome impact on both the gig economy as well as traditional contracting and subcontracting.
 - According to the most recent data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, in 2017 around 10 million workers, or 6.9% of the workforce, were independent contractors. These workers would see their livelihoods decimated by the ABC test.
- Codifies Obama-era standards for determining joint employment status that makes employers responsible for franchisees and subcontractors.
- Forces employers to maintain existing collective bargaining terms in the event of an impasse in ongoing bargaining over a new CBA.
- Eliminates long-standing policies that protect employers from “secondary” picketing, strikes, or boycotts where unions could strike or boycott neutral third-party businesses, including small business suppliers or vendors, that are not directly involved in the underlying labor dispute.
- Bans employers from hiring temporary workers during a strike and from undertaking mitigation efforts to prevent a strike.
- Prevents employers from recognizing that a union has lost majority support among workers and withdrawing union recognition.
- Removes employer standing in union representation proceedings, effectively silencing an employer from contributing to unionization discussions.

- Re: Unions: Takes away the right to a secret ballot under certain circumstances and institutes a card check process instead while permitting “ambush” elections with little notice to employers.
- Re: Unions: Requires employers to hand over workers’ personal information data to union organizers in an electronically searchable format, including home addresses, cellphone, and landline numbers, and personal email addresses.

News Articles and Policy Resources:

PRO Act threatens right-to-work laws: Chamber of Commerce, National Right to Work Committee (Fox Business): The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and National Right to Work Committee are warning against the Protecting the Right to Organize (PRO) Act that House and Senate Democrats reintroduced. The bill would allow the National Labor Relations Board to fine employers that violate workers’ rights, ease restrictions against worker strikes, follow California’s new independent contractor law, and erode right-to-work laws in 27 states.

The PRO Act’s ‘ABC test’ fails American workers (The Hill): The Protecting the Right to Organize Act threatens the freedom of millions of independent contractors — at a moment when Americans most need freedom and flexibility in their employment. The PRO Act, after failing to pass in the last Congress, was recently reintroduced. With Democrats controlling the House of Representatives and Senate, and with the support of President Biden, it is only a matter of time until the PRO Act becomes a priority.

The Democrats just reintroduced a labor law that would destroy Uber – and it could actually pass this time (Foundation for Economic Education): With control of Congress and the White House, Democrats are making labor policy one of their first priorities. Ironically enough, that’s actually bad news for independent contractors and gig economy workers across the country.

Confirmed: 99% of Union donations go to liberal-leaning causes (Daily Signal): Unions across the country donated $765 million to various organizations over the last four years, and 99 percent of that cash went to liberal-leaning causes.

PRO Act would threaten the freedom of millions of independent contractors (Labor Pains): Congress is currently considering the latest iteration of the Protecting the Right to Organize Act (PRO Act) — a bill that reads more like a labor union wishlist than a serious piece of legislation. Still, unions are hopeful that a Democrat-controlled Congress and President Biden — who has expressed support for the bill — will finally get the PRO Act across the finish line. But if this happens, it would be a disaster for workers nationwide.

Women’s workplace gains would suffer under the PRO Act (Real Clear Politics): The pandemic has eroded women’s gains in the labor force. Now, a new pro-labor bill threatens women’s advancement even further. If Washington is serious about equality for women, lawmakers will oppose efforts to kill flexible work in America.

The PRO Act is becoming Labor’s amateur hour (Forbes): The PRO Act is a bill, once again trotted out, that is supposed to improve the fortunes of unions. That’s why those organizations have pushed for passage, and attention from Democrats in Congress and the White House is expected for past and future support.

Governor Brad Little

News Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
July 29, 2021

Gov. Little signs on to pro-life, states' rights amicus brief seeking SCOTUS overrule of Roe v. Wade

Boise, Idaho – Governor Brad Little signed on to an amicus brief today related to a case before the U.S. Supreme Court (SCOTUS), seeking to protect the lives of preborn babies and restore state sovereignty.

“Protecting the lives of preborn babies has always been and will continue to be a priority of mine. I am also a defender of state sovereignty. My decision to join this lawsuit to protect lives and states’ rights reflects my conservative approach to constitutional interpretation. The ‘right’ to an abortion is a judicial creation. It is not a right expressed in the U.S. Constitution. I am asking the U.S. Supreme Court to clarify there is no constitutional right to an abortion and restore state sovereignty by allowing states to regulate all abortions consistent with the principles of democratic self-governance,” Governor Little said.

As of today, the governors of Idaho, Montana, Texas, Florida, Arizona, Iowa, South Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Missouri, and Oklahoma have joined a Governors’ amicus brief in Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization. The case centers around a 2018 Mississippi law prohibiting abortions after 15 weeks except in medical emergencies or severe fetal abnormality. Lower courts held that Mississippi’s law violated the holdings in Roe v. Wade (1973) and Planned Parenthood v. Casey (1992), in which non-elected justices recognized a right to abortion exists contrary to the text and original meaning of the Constitution.

The Governors’ amicus brief supports the State of Mississippi’s cert petition, which SCOTUS accepted, to determine whether “all pre-viability prohibitions on elective abortions are unconstitutional.”

The Governors' amicus brief requests SCOTUS overrule Roe and Casey because there is no constitutional right to an abortion and, according to the principle of federalism, rights not granted in the U.S. Constitution should be entrusted to states to control.

SCOTUS is expected to hear the case in the fall.

The Governors' amicus brief can be found here.

Idaho Attorney General Lawrence Wasden joined 17 other attorneys general in a similar amicus brief earlier this year.

Governor Little also signed the "Fetal Heartbeat Bill" into law in April to protect the lives of preborn babies.

Subject: NEWS RELEASE: REP. BEN ADAMS TO CHALLENGE GOV. LITTLE ON CLOSED NEWS CONFERENCE/ CIRCUMVENTING LEGISLATURE

My fellow representatives,

I have placed below my response to the events that took place last week and ask that you review my clarified response in the article link below.

It is my intention to ensure that this behavior does not become the standard practice of the executive towards members of the legislative body and the decisions we come to through our deliberation process. I will be meeting with the governor on the 24th of this month and will relay his response back to you. Until then, I will reserve any further statements.

It is an honor to serve the people alongside you all.

Respectfully,
Representative Adams

NEWS RELEASE

On August 12th, Representative Adams (District 13) attempted to attend Governor Little's press conference regarding Covid-19. The event was held in LD 13 at Nampa High School. Representative Adams was refused access by a staff member of the governor's office, reflecting an attitude of disregard within the executive branch for the legislative body, their function, and the representatives who serve in the people's house. In addition to staff restricting access, Gov. Little announced that he would allocate $30 million dollars to covid testing in schools, directly circumventing the legislature's deliberated decision to not expand covid testing in k-12 schools earlier this year. This kind of unilateral governance is not appreciated by legislators or the citizens they represent.

"Too often this past year, Gov. Little has disrespected our Constitutional system of three co-equal branches of government, attempting to dictate public policy regarding COVID rather than work cooperatively and respectfully with other elected representatives of the people," Adams commented. "That occurred again Thursday when the governor denied an elected representative of the people of Nampa entry into the event, blocking my ability to fulfill my duty to ensure that the best interests and liberties of the people I'm responsible to represent are protected. I urge the governor to show more respect for the co-equal authority and responsibility of legislators to enact public policies that affect the lives and livelihoods of the people of Idaho, including the families I represent in Nampa."

As the Associated Press reported nationwide yesterday regarding Little's news conference: "Ben Adams, a Republican representative from Nampa, also arrived and wasn't allowed into the news conference. He was among the majority of House members who earlier this year voted against the $40 million for COVID-19 testing in schools, killing the bill. '...I'm not going to jump on the bandwagon that COVID is the most dangerous threat to the people of Idaho right now,' he said following Little's news conference. 'I think it's heavy-handed government that is the biggest threat.'"

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Governor Visits the Little Pine Fire near Priest River

(Priest River) - Governor Brad Little visited the Little Pine Fire today to see the first fire of significance on endowment land this fire season and to personally thank Idaho Department of Lands (IDL) firefighters for their hard work and diligence.

Senator Jim Woodward, Sagle, and Representative Sage Dixon, Ponderay, joined the governor on the tour, spending about a half hour on the fire line. The legislators expressed their appreciation to IDL for its effort to protect communities.

The fire, located about 7 miles outside of Priest River, started Tuesday, June 22, and was driven by high winds, creating challenges for the firefighters. Crews were able to hold the fire to 175 acres within Idaho endowment timberland boundaries. As of this morning it was 10% contained. The cause is still under investigation.

IDL firefighters have responded to 109 fires so far this fire season which have burned more than 440 acres. IDL is aggressive in its initial attack, with a goal of holding 94% of fires to 10 acres or less. So far this season 94% of the fires have been caused by humans. With current drought conditions our forests are tinderboxes. This causes great concern for the governor and legislators, especially as we get closer to the 4th of July.

Seasoned recreationist in Idaho have been joined by many new to recreating and numerous visitors from other states. Governor Little and IDL urge everyone to be mindful of the extremely dry conditions as they camp, fish, and use ATVs. It is more important than ever that people completely extinguish campfires, not park on dry grasses, and make sure trailer chains are secured. No fireworks should be used on any forestlands, or dry grasslands in Idaho.

Those who cause a fire through negligence destroy income for endowment beneficiaries, ruin recreation opportunities for others, but will also face the costs of putting the fire out.

Speaker Bedke Reaffirms Respectful Workplace Policy for House Staff

BOISE, Idaho –The Idaho House is committed to creating and maintaining a respectful work environment for all members, legislative employees, legislative partners, the press, and guests testifying before committee or visiting the Capitol. As part of this commitment, Speaker of the House Scott Bedke is charging the House Ethics and House Policy Committee with reviewing and improving the Respectful Workplace Policy originally brought forward in 2018.

“This House belongs to everyone in Idaho and no one working here or visiting these revered halls should ever be made to feel unwelcome or uncomfortable. I have always clearly communicated to everyone working within the House of Representatives that they perform their duties with the highest levels of integrity and professionalism. However, best practices should include the adoption of an official policy, so that’s what I’m doing by enacting this employee and volunteer policy until a more extensive policy can be produced,” said Speaker Bedke. “We are in the process of reaching out to appropriate community groups that will help us write a new policy with the hopes that it will be adopted in January of 2022.”

“I hold myself, our House staff and volunteers, and my colleagues to the highest standards,” said Chairman of the Ethics and House Policy Committee Rep. Sage Dixon. “We have a responsibility to not just earn, but continually work to keep the trust of Idahoans. A clear and concise Respectful Workplace Policy is a critical part of these efforts.”

Good morning,

Attached is a four-page legal opinion on terminating the disaster emergency without losing federal funding or impeding Idaho's emergency management processes to address the pandemic.

Executive Summary: Ending Governor Little's emergency will NOT stop the flow of Federal Funding.

- Governor Little's proclamation of disaster emergency only ACTIVATED Idaho's emergency management system.
- President Trumps' Federal declaration of a disaster in Idaho triggered the FEMA response.
- Idaho's emergency management system now operates under the FEMA-State Agreement (FEMA-4534-DR-ID), see Exhibit A.
- Legislative termination of Governor Little's State disaster emergency Proclamation does NOT end the FEMA-State Agreement.
- Idaho's ability to administer, allocate, implement the use of, and monitor FEMA funding will continue after the termination of the Proclamation.

I think we can even strengthen it a bit and add “any public funds” rather than just state. Medicaid may on very rare occasion cover an abortion but only in cases of mother’s health/rape/incest. Brady, are we still okay to say this given that?

“Governor Little has always been pro-life. His goal is to protect the sanctity of life. Idaho does not use state dollars or any public funds to fund abortion and will continue to do so as long as Governor Little is in office.”

Good afternoon. I wanted to share with you the recent polling concluded by OnMessage for the SBA List regarding the 15-week abortion ban case that is now in front of the Supreme Court. Top lines include: 55% of likely voters say they are more likely to support a 15-week limit on abortion when they learn that an unborn child has the capacity to feel pain.

In addition, attached is an exclusive Washington Examiner article by Paul Bedard and, below, the SBA List press release, which includes a link to the ad regarding the case. Please let me know if you have any questions. Many thanks – Brian

New Polling: Majority of Voters Reject Abortion on Demand, Support 15-Week Limit

*Polling Demonstrates Strength of Mississippi’s 15-Week Limit
Under SCOTUS Review*

Washington, D.C. – Today the national pro-life group Susan B. Anthony List (SBA List) released a national poll of likely voters conducted by OnMessage Inc. that finds a strong majority of voters reject abortion on demand and support limits on abortion after 15 weeks of pregnancy. The polling found that likely voters are much more likely to support Republican candidates who back a 15-week limit on abortion versus Democratic candidates who back unlimited abortion.

The polling comes on the heels of the U.S. Supreme Court granting review of Mississippi's 15-week abortion limit in which it will consider the question of whether all "pre-viability" bans on abortion are unconstitutional. The case is Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

The memo reads in part:

"Among other findings, this survey of 1,200 likely voters showed that there is a strong center-right coalition that supports the Supreme Court allowing significant limits on abortion. In short, a strong majority of voters oppose unrestricted, abortion on demand, throughout pregnancy. Additionally, this study strongly indicates that the pro-life side of the issue enjoys significantly more intensity than the pro-choice side. Politically, the pendulum has swung decisively in our direction."

Key poll findings include:

- 53% of likely voters are more likely to vote for a Republican candidate who supports a 15-week limit on abortion versus just 28% of voters who prefer a Democratic candidate who supports unlimited abortion up until the moment of birth. Independent voters break strongly to the GOP side by a 54% to 18% margin.
- 55% of likely voters say they are more likely to support a 15-week limit on abortion when they learn that an unborn child has the capacity to feel pain.
- 43% of likely pro-life voters identified abortion as being very important (10 on a 1-10 importance scale) in deciding their vote for an elected official, while only 29% of pro-choice voters said the same.

SBA List President Marjorie Dannenfelser commented, saying:

"The majority of voters reject late-term abortion and the Democratic candidates who shamefully advocate for it. At 15 weeks, unborn children can feel pain, and most European countries limit abortions at this point. There is strong support among the American people for our nation's laws to finally catch up with science and international norms."

SBA List has launched a \$2 million video ad campaign asserting the humanity of unborn children. The :30 spot is currently airing on national cable, including on Lifetime and Bravo networks, as well as select streaming services, and in the Washington, D.C. media market on top news stations.

SBA List is a network of 900,000 pro-life Americans nationwide, dedicated to ending abortion by electing national leaders and advocating for laws that save lives, with a special calling to promote pro-life women leaders.
