Re: Public Information Request No. R012198

Dear Mr. Gordon:

On April 4, 2022, the Office of the Attorney General ("OAG") received a public information request under the Public Information Act ("PIA"), Chapter 552, Government Code, from Ms. Emma Lewis. A copy of the request is attached as Exhibit A.

The OAG will release some responsive information. However, our office asserts the remaining responsive information is excepted from required public disclosure under the PIA. Pursuant to sections 552.301(b) and 552.301(e) of the Government Code, the OAG submits this brief to seek a decision as to whether section 552.103 of the Government Code applies to the information at issue. The OAG has copied the requestor as a recipient of this brief pursuant to sections 552.301(d) and 552.301(e-1) of the Government Code. A representative sample of the information at issue is attached as Exhibit B.

I. Information Excepted from Required Public Disclosure Under Section 552.103: Pending Litigation

Section 552.103(a) of the Government Code states that information is excepted from required public disclosure if it is information:

relating to litigation of a civil or criminal nature to which the state or a political subdivision is or may be a party or to which an officer or employee of the state or a political subdivision, as a consequence of the person's office or employment, is or may be a party.

Gov't Code § 552.103(a). The purpose of section 552.103 is to enable a governmental body to protect its position in litigation by forcing parties to obtain information relating to litigation through discovery procedures. See Open Records Decision No. 551 at 4-5 (1990). The OAG has the burden of providing relevant facts and documents to show that the section 552.103(a) exception is applicable in a particular situation. The test for meeting this burden is a showing that (1) litigation is pending or reasonably anticipated, and (2) the information at issue is related to that litigation. University of Tex. Law Sch. v. Texas Legal Found., 958 S.W.2d 479, 481 (Tex. App.—

Austin 1997, no pet.); Heard v. Houston Post Co., 684 S.W.2d 210, 212 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1984, writ ref'd n.r.e.); ORD 551 at 4. The OAG must meet both prongs of this test for information to be excepted under section 552.103(a).

The communications at issue are related to five pending lawsuits, in which the OAG is representing the State. State of Texas v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, et al, Case No. 2:21-cv-00194-Z; Jane Doe, et al v. Greg Abbott, et al, Cause No. D-1-GN-22-000977; Texas, et al v. Biden, et al, Case No. 2:22-cv-00014-M; Texas v. Biden, Case No. 4:21-cv-00579-P; and Elizabeth Van Dwyne and the State of Texas v. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, et al, Case No. 4:22-cv-00122-O were all pending prior to the date of the instant request. The representative sample of communications in Exhibit B relates to the pending cases and has not been seen or accessed by all parties in the respective litigation. Accordingly, the OAG asserts the information at issue in Exhibit B may be withheld from required public disclosure under section 552.103 of the Government Code.

II. Conclusion

The OAG respectfully requests a decision from the Open Records Division regarding the applicability of the argued exception as provided by the PIA.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at (512) 475-4213 if you have questions or require additional information.

Sincerely,

Lauren Downey

Brief Concerning Attorney General Opinion Request RQ-0426-KP

Introduction¹

On August 6, 2021, Governor Abbott requested the Commissioner of the Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (“DFPS”) to “issue a determination of whether genital mutilation of a child for purposes of gender transitioning through reassignment surgery constitutes child abuse.”² Governor Abbott asked the Commissioner to consider the broad definition of child abuse under state law and the fact that female genital mutilation is separately prohibited.³ The governor stated that Texas law on child abuse “should cover” sterilizing surgeries and removal of healthy reproductive organs and breasts done for “reassignment” purposes on minors.

The DFPS Commissioner replied to the Governor by letter of August 11, 2020, and confirmed that “genital mutilation of a child through reassignment surgery is child abuse,” but presumed that the abuse applied where such surgeries were done “for non-medical purposes” and also clarified that “[w]hen medically necessary, this surgical procedure may not constitute abuse.”⁴ On August 23, 2021, Representative Matt Krause, Chair of the Texas House Committee on General Investigating, wrote to the Office of the Attorney General asking for official clarification as to exactly which sex change procedures performed on children constitute child abuse and if the administration of certain drugs or hormones that result in permanent infertility in minors would constitute child abuse as well.⁵ Finally, Chairman Krause asked that any clarifications on these points consider exceptions for medical necessity with respect to physical disorders of sexual development.

In assessing whether medical treatments cause injuries for child abuse purposes, relevant considerations are the expected health benefits versus harms of the treatment, governing standards of care, and informed consent. The analysis below argues that there is neither federally-required nor federally-recognized standards of care for transgender treatments in minors that would preclude competent state authorities from deeming such treatments excessively risky, harmful, and not medically indicated based on their independent analysis of the best available medical evidence.

Medical risks and benefits of transgender treatments and standards of care

Although customary medical competency standards exist through centralized accreditation and testing organizations,⁶ there is no formal national medical licensing regime in the United States and medical licensing and discipline remain primarily an exercise of state police power. However, with respect to drugs and biologics, the federal government licenses and approves specific medical uses after the FDA establishes their safety and efficacy under the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.⁷ Additionally, the FDA may require certain particularly risky medications to be administered by physicians under tighter protocols called a Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy (REMS).⁸ Federal law does not prohibit physicians from administering drugs “off-label,” that is, for medical or treatment purposes not approved by the FDA, when done in accord with medical judgment and with no illegal purpose.⁹

Drugs currently being used “off-label” to block puberty or to further or induce cross-sex transition for gender identity purposes include Histrelin Acetate, Leuprolide Acetate (puberty blockers); Estradiol, Premarin (estrogen); Androderm, Testosterone Enanthate or Cypionate, Axiron, Testopel, Striant (testosterone); Goserelin Acetate (LHRH antagonists); Depo-Provera, Provera, Prometrium (progestins).

The side effects and harms of these drugs include:

- Permanent infertility
- Serious mental health effects
- Venous thrombosis/thromboembolism
- Increased risk of cardiovascular disease

⁶ For e.g., accreditation by the Council for Graduate Medical Education and the Liaison Committee on Medical Education, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services’ (CMS) Graduate Medical Education standards, and widespread use of the United States Medical Licensure Examinations or the Comprehensive Osteopathic Medical Licensing Examination.

⁸ See <https://www.fda.gov/drugs/drug-safety-and-availability/risk-evaluation-and-mitigation-strategies-rems>.

⁹ There are however strict limits on promotion of off-label uses of drugs by physicians. See Syed, Dixson, Constantino and Regan, The Law and Practice of Off-Label Prescribing and Physician Promotion, Journal of the American Academy of Psychiatry and the Law (November 2020).

Weight gain
Decreased libido
Hypertriglyceridemia
Elevated blood pressure
Decreased glucose tolerance
Gallbladder disease
Benign pituitary prolactinoma
Lower HDL and elevated triglycerides
Increased homocysteine levels
Hepatotoxicity
Polycythemia
Sleep apnea
Insulin resistance
Chronic pelvic pain
Increased cancer and stroke risk.¹⁰

The side effects of surgical interventions for sex-reassignment purposes such as hysterectomy, oophorectomy, metoidioplasty, orchiectomy, penectomy, phalloplasty, vaginoplasty, and mastectomy are serious and include some of the above as well as many others associated with major surgery including increased risk of death.

Finally, it is well known that symptoms of gender dysphoria in children naturally resolve with little to no intervention in 61-98% of cases and that once a child is placed on transition, including through medical intervention, the odds of persistence skyrocket.¹¹

In terms of any potentially offsetting mental health benefits of medical gender transition interventions, such as greater psychic well-being and reduced suicide rates, there is insufficient rigorous data to recommend such interventions as a federally-recognized standard of care. On August 30, 2016, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) declined to issue a National Coverage Determination on sex-reassignment surgery for Medicare beneficiaries with gender dysphoria “because the clinical evidence is inconclusive.”¹² CMS determined, “[b]ased on an extensive assessment of the clinical evidence,” that “there is not enough high quality evidence to determine whether gender reassignment surgery improves health outcomes for Medicare beneficiaries [which include non-seniors] with gender dysphoria and whether patients most likely to benefit from these types of surgical intervention can be identified prospectively.”

¹² CMS, “Decision Memo for Gender Dysphoria and Gender Reassignment Surgery” (CAG-00446N) (Aug. 30, 2016) <https://www.cms.gov/medicarecoverage-database/details/nca-decisionmemo.aspx?NCAId=282>.

Similarly, in a 2018 Department of Defense (DOD) report on the diagnosis of gender dysphoria, which included input from both transgender individuals and medical professionals with experience in the care and treatment of individuals with gender dysphoria, DOD found that there is “considerable scientific uncertainty and overall lack of high quality scientific evidence demonstrating the extent to which transition-related treatments, such as cross-sex hormone therapy and sex reassignment surgery—interventions which are unique in psychiatry and medicine—remedy the multifaceted mental health problems associated with gender dysphoria.”¹³

In 2020 the Office for Civil Rights at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), addressed whether Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act required health insurers to cover transgender procedures and treatments and doctors to perform and administer them.¹⁴ HHS again concluded that there is no federally-recognized or required standard of medical necessity for transgender procedures undertaken to ameliorate symptoms of gender dysphoria.¹⁵

Off-label prescription of FDA-approved drugs, while a fairly common practice, does put medical practitioners at significantly greater risk of liability for any resultant harms, especially where there has not been a standard of care established for such off-label usage.¹⁶ Transgender drugs and surgeries resulting in permanent and dramatic physical, psychological, and behavioral changes should still be considered experimental given the paucity of long-term studies on their effects with respect to adults and given the mixed results of the studies that do exist. These deficiencies are doubly magnified with respect to children.¹⁷

Indeed, some countries that pioneered “gender-affirming” medical interventions are now scaling back due to the widespread harms they have inflicted on children. For example, the Karolinska Hospital in Sweden has ended the practice of prescribing puberty blockers and cross-sex hormones to gender-dysphoric patients under the age of 18 after having been a world-leading provider of such treatments.¹⁸ State medical authorities in Finland revised treatment guidelines in ¹³ Department of Defense, “Report and Recommendations on Military Service by Transgender Persons” (Feb. 22, 2018), 5.

¹⁴ 42 U.S.C. § 18116.

¹⁵ HHS found “there is no medical consensus to support one or another form of treatment for gender dysphoria” and that a prior HHS regulating coverage and performance of sex-reassignment surgeries “relied excessively on the conclusions of an advocacy group (WPATH) rather than on independent scientific fact-finding—such as the factfinding that CMS undertook in deciding to not issue a National Coverage Determination with respect to sex reassignment surgeries (as discussed above) due to insufficient proof of medical necessity.” 85 F.R. 37187.

June 2020 to disfavor medical interventions for treatment of gender dysphoria in minors.¹⁹ And in the United States, Arkansas recently passed a law²⁰ prohibiting administration of drugs or surgeries for gender transition purposes as a treatment for gender dysphoria, and Tennessee passed a more narrow law²¹ prohibiting pre-pubescent youth from being administered transgender hormones.²²

Conclusion

While not dispositive to the question presented, your office should consider that there are currently no federally-recognized or federally-required standards of care with respect to life-altering transgender treatments generally—and certainly not with respect to children—that would preclude competent state authorities from deeming such treatments excessively risky, harmful, and not medically indicated based on their independent analysis of the best available medical evidence.

Sincerely

Roger Severino

Dear Aaron,

I see that my colleague Fr. Mark Hodges has already reached out to you about being our guest on the Dr. J Show. He did much more background research on you than I did! I had no idea that you were involved in all the issues he outlined.

I was really interested in having you on the show because of the controversy over the TX ruling on the trans question, and the small tactical disagreement that arose at our meeting about the topic. I just sent a note to the entire group that attended Jay's meeting. Here is what I said.

I have a comment to make that may be best made on a different thread or forum. But let's start here. I have noticed several of our opponents now framing the TX and the ID child protection actions as if they were attacks on parents. This is obviously the Left's strategy: change the subject and put the worst possible spin on what we are doing.

In my opinion, our talking points need to be:

The TX policy is designed to protect conscientious parents from rogue CPS officials. No longer will innocent parents have to fear that a teacher or therapist or doctor will call CPS on them for failing to sufficiently "affirm" their child's gender confusion. The target of the TX effort and similar ones in other states is not parents, but professionals, such as doctors and medical clinics and teachers and schools.

We cannot allow our message to be drowned out by their aggressive messaging. We cannot throw TX under the bus. We've got to fight for them. The Sex Radicals are scared to death of the TX AG's ruling. So, they are pulling out all the stops to change the subject. We cannot allow that to go by unchallenged.

BTW, I have not followed all the ins and outs of this issue. If I am off-base in my facts, please straighten me out. But if the facts are as I suppose them to be, I feel quite confident about what our tactics should be.

I am sickened, honestly, by what the Sex Radicals are doing on this issue. And I'm even more sickened by people getting all prissy about it: that the policy was a mistake, parents should have been excluded, etc. We need to fight to defend you guys. I've got your back. Let me know how we can help. As you may know, we are an official "hate group." So some of your guys may get all prissy about being seen in public with us. But you need someone to fight, and I'm your girl.

We can also talk about any of the topics Fr. Mark outlined, if you think that would be helpful to you.

Dear Atty. Reitz,

My name is Fr. Mark Hodges, and I am an Orthodox Christian archpriest. I work for The Ruth Institute as producer/scheduler for "The Dr. J Show," an hour-long interview with experts hosted by Dr. Jennifer Roback Morse.

Dr. Morse's latest book is The Sexual State: How Elite Ideologies are Destroying Lives and Why The Church was Right All Along. That book exposes the "Deep State" of powerful people who promote the toxic ideologies stemming from the Sexual Revolution. The Ruth Institute was founded to speak out and be a research data resource supporting man/woman marriage, family, children, and gender sanity.

We would be honored to have you on our Dr J Show as an interviewee. First and foremost, the Ruth Institute is not politically partisan, but is concerned with the immoral direction our society has taken. Also let me assure you that Dr. Morse would ask and talk about only subjects you felt comfortable talking publicly about.

There are many topics Dr. Morse could interview you on, including your experience in the military that led you to write "From Soft Liberalism to Iron-Fisted Leftism in Today's Military" for Newsweek. For instance, is it true in your opinion and experience that many top brass are ostracizing soldiers who have conservative values, such as opposing abortion? Are such soldiers being labeled "extremists," or "potential domestic terrorists" (as the Obama Administration suggested)? What kind of "extremism training" or "left-wing programming" is going on in the U.S. Armed Services today? Why should people concerned with the sanctity of life, marriage, family, and children be concerned with such training/programming? How does our current "woke" training compare with other countries' troop training, such as Russia or China? What is your definition of Progressivism, and how might it be dangerous to marriage, family, and/or children? What could be wrong with being "woke," with diversity/inclusion plans, or race-based quotas? How has current politically-correct gender ideology affected the readiness and morale of our armed forces? How can masculinity be toxic, and how can it be healthy, life-giving, and beneficial for all? What might go wrong if we put pregnant women into combat (or any women in combat with men)? Is it true that the military lowered physical standards for women soldiers? Do active homosexuals in the ranks strengthen our troops? Do you think there's a difference of opinion on such topics between the military leadership and the soldiers on the ground?

As you can see, this interview can go wherever you want it to go.

If you are willing, we would like to schedule a Dr J Show interview with you. It could be 30 minutes to 55 minutes long. You can check out our previous shows, including with Ambassador Alan Keyes and other prominent leaders and professionals here.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Aaron,

Just a few lines to express my sincere thanks, that of my colleagues and our audience for your outstanding participation as a panelist during the Texas Public Policy Foundation's annual Policy Orientation last month.

The interaction between you, Col. McCraw and TPPF Distinguished Senior Fellow for Border Security (and former U.S. Border Patrol Chief) Rodney Scott could not have been better, in terms of succinctly conveying both the severity of the border crisis and the state's vigorous and comprehensive response to it.

I know I speak for my colleagues and audience members as well when I say we all look forward to working with and hearing much more from you in the years ahead, both inside and outside TPPF's Annual Policy Orientations!

All the best always,

Sincerely,

Ken

Importance: High

I would like to schedule a phone call with you or someone from your team to talk with Rob Henneke about our upcoming breakfast keynote panel at Policy Orientation on January 20th. As the moderator, Rob would like to discuss the topics and potential questions that might be asked so you can share that with your AG. We certainly would enjoy having your AG on the call with us directly but we also know their schedule may not be possible so you or the designated staffer will be just fine.

Would any of these times below work for you or your co-worker? This would only be a 20 to 30 minute phone call.

Tuesday, January 4th – anytime between 10 am and 4 pm CST

Wednesday, January 5th – anytime between 9 am and 3 pm CST

Thursday, January 6th – anytime between 9 am and 3 pm CST

Thank you in advance for helping to arrange this. I look forward to hearing from you all soon and scheduling this meeting.

Subject: TPPF 2022 Policy Orientation Panelist Invitation to Hon. Aaron Reitz

Aaron,

Thanks again for facilitating the recent meeting with the visiting official from Coahuila. It was a good meeting and I think good things will come of it!

I now write to extend to you an invitation to be a featured speaker at the Texas Public Policy Foundation's upcoming 20th annual Policy Orientation conference for the Texas Legislature. Specifically, from 3:15 p.m. – 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, January 19, 2022 at the AT&T Hotel and Conference Center in Austin, I will be moderating on the main stage a panel discussion titled "An Honest Talk About Texas' Response to the Border Crisis."

This panel would simply not be complete without including discussion of all the very consequential legal action Attorney General Paxton and his team have engaged in on behalf of the state on this matter, and it would be great if you could fulfill that role on the panel. I saw your recent participation in a Heritage Foundation panel on this same subject, which was outstanding, and we would cover much of the same material, albeit updating it.

In addition to yourself, already confirmed panelists include two other subject matter experts: Texas Department of Public Safety Director Col. Steve McCraw and former U.S. Border Patrol Chief Rodney Scott, who since this past October now serves as TPPF's Distinguished Senior Fellow for Border Security. About a week or so prior to the event, I will host a conference call among all the panelists to optimally prepare for this discussion.

I am hopeful you will be able to join us. As you are well aware, TPPF's annual Policy Orientation conference draws hundreds of legislators and legislative staff, in addition to scores of leading citizens of the Lone Star State. In addition to the in-person audience, this panel will be livestreamed so that many more concerned policymakers and citizens throughout the country can take part in what promises to be a most worthwhile discussion of how Texas is handling this historic challenge at our border. Our discussion will also no doubt attract significant state and national media attention.

Thank you for considering this invitation to participate in the discussion of this topic of extraordinary importance to the very existence and sustainability of our state and our entire country. If you would like to accept our invitation or have any questions, please contact me by phone at 202-494-1427 or by email at . With utmost appreciation and best regards always,

Sincerely,

Hi Aaron,

We received the attached document from your office and are working to cross-check the information with our election fraud database to see if there are any additional cases we could add. Before we work to add the relevant cases to our website, I wanted to check to see if there are any restrictions or privacy issues that would prevent us from adding cases or specific information about a case. I vaguely recall a restriction with any case that resulted in a diversion program, but I trust your shop will have the correct information to pass along to us. Please let me know if you have any other questions or if jumping on a call would work easier to transmit the information. Thank you!

Best,
