A New Sheriff in Town

Well, not quite yet, but we have a fine candidate for Dane County Sheriff, Anthony Hamilton. From his website: "In my fourteen-year career at the Dane County Sheriff's Office, including three years as a detective, I've seen police fail to represent the needs and will of the People too many times. I see political influence encroaching on officers when they should be free from bias, and victims often suffer because of it. I have a deep, personal connection with the Sheriff's Office and Dane County. I am inspired to run for office because we need a Sheriff that is intolerant of violent crime and police misconduct, is free from political influence, supports universal community values, and puts public safety first."
