NOTICE OF MOTION TO TRANSFER VENUE

22-CR-214 (WFK)

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, that upon the annexed declaration and memorandum of law, the defendant FRANK JAMES, by his attorneys MIA EISNER-GRYNBERG, ESQ., and AMANDA DAVID, ESQ., of the Federal Defenders of New York, Inc., will move the Court, before the Honorable William F. Kuntz II, Senior United States District Judge for the Eastern District of New York, for an Order:

1. Transferring venue from the Eastern District of New York to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois, or another District, pursuant to the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment and the impartial jury clause of the Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution, and Fed. R. Crim. P. 21(a), to ensure Mr. James a fair trial; and

2. Granting such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

-against-	:	DECLARATION
FRANK JAMES,	:	22-CR-214 (WFK)
Defendant.	:

MIA EISNER-GRYNBERG, ESQ. and AMANDA L. DAVID, ESQ., declare under penalty of perjury, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, that the following is true and correct:

1. We are attorneys employed by the Federal Defenders of New York, Inc., and are among the attorneys of record assigned to represent Defendant FRANK JAMES.

2. This declaration is submitted in support of the Defendant's motion for an order:

   A. Transferring venue from the Eastern District of New York to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois, or another District, pursuant to the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment and the impartial jury clause of the Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution, and Fed. R. Crim. P. 21(a), to ensure Mr. James a fair trial; and

   B. Granting such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

3. This declaration is based on media in the public record and public opinion polls and analysis performed by Select Litigation, LLC, of Washington, D.C.

4. On April 12, 2022, a mass shooting occurred on a northbound MTA subway car on the N line. On April 13, 2022, Mr. Frank James was arrested, ECF No. 1, and on April 14, 2022, he was arraigned and detained in connection with the instant offense. ECF No. 7. On May 6, 2022, he was charged in a two-count indictment. ECF No. 15. Count One alleges a violation of 18 U.SC. § 1992(a)(7), (a)(10), and (b)(1), by discharging a firearm at passengers on an MTA subway car while the car was carrying passengers. Id. Count Two alleges a violation of 18

U.S.C. § 924(c) by carrying, brandishing, and discharging a firearm in furtherance of a crime of violence, the § 1992 offense. Id.

5. This motion surrounds Mr. James's Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights to a fair trial before an impartial jury. Because so great a prejudice against him exists in the Eastern District of New York, Mr. James cannot receive a fair and impartial trial here. Fed. R. Crim. P. 21(a). Because of its demographic similarities, Mr. James proposes a transfer to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois, or another appropriate District in the sound discretion of the Court.[1]

10. The bases for the motion are set forth in the accompanying Memorandum of Law. Because so great a prejudice exists against Mr. James in the Eastern District of New York, as demonstrated by both public opinion polling and unfairly prejudicial pretrial publicity, a fair trial cannot be held here without violating his constitutional rights.

11. For the foregoing reasons, as explained in the Memorandum of Law, so that he may have a fair trial before an impartial jury, Mr. James respectfully requests that the Court (i) transfer venue in accordance with the procedure set forth in Fed. R. Crim. P. 21(a); (ii) to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois; or (iii) to another appropriate District; or (iv), in the alternative, hold an evidentiary hearing to receive expert opinion testimony on the issues raised by this motion; and (v) grant such other and further relief that the Court deems just and proper.

This Memorandum of Law is submitted in support of Frank James's motion to transfer vernue.

A. Introduction

Mr. Frank James cannot receive a fair trial in the Eastern District of New York. Prospective jurors in the Eastern District of New York have significantly prejudged Mr. James's guilt, admit that they will vote "guilty" if serving on his jury without having heard a single witness, and are decidedly more hostile toward him than prospective jurors in a demographically comparable District. Pervasive pretrial publicity has fomented prejudice against Mr. James. Together, these factors warrant a presumption of prejudice, preventing the empanelment of an impartial jury. Therefore, to protect his Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights to a fair trial before an impartial jury, and pursuant to Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 21(a), Mr. James respectfully requests that this Court transfer his case to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Chicago, or another appropriate District.

B. Background

The mass shooting on the Manhattan-bound N train in Sunset Park during the morning rush hour paralyzed and captivated residents of the Eastern District of New York. New Yorkers learned of the mass shooting as they commuted to work and took their children to school. The New York City Emergency Management system alerted every New Yorker with a smartphone to stay away from Sunset Park.[1] The neighborhood locked down; all schools in Boerum Hill, Carroll Gardens, Gowanus, Park Slope, Windsor Terrace, Fort Greene, Red Hook and Sunset

Park, Brooklyn were ordered to shelter in place while law enforcement searched for the perpetrator.[2]

On the evening of April 12, 2022, officials conducted a widely publicized law enforcement press conference, and released Frank James's name in connection with the shootings, offering a $50,000 reward for information regarding his whereabouts. Ex. A at 09:42, 10:28. The video has been watched online by more than 52,000 viewers, in addition to live television audiences.[3] Around the same time, they released two photographs of Frank James.[4] New Yorkers went to sleep that night with the suspect on the loose. They woke up to this cover of the New York Post,[5] depicting Mr. James alongside horrifying bloodshed:

On April 13, 2022, at 10:21 A.M., emergency alarms rang on every New Yorker's smartphone, altering millions of people: "WANTED FOR BROOKLYN SUBWAY SHOOTING: FRANK JAMES, BLACK MALE, 62 YEARS OLD. ANY INFORMATION CAN BE DIRECTED TO NYPD TIPS AT 800-577-TIPS (8477). MORE INFO & PHOTO: NYC.GOV/NOTIFYNYC."[6] At 1:10 P.M., Frank James called the Crime Stoppers tip line, stating that he had seen his face on the news and seeking to turn himself in, providing his location. Arriving officers arrested him without incident.

At 2:36 P.M. on April 13, 2022, New York City Mayor Eric Adams announced the arrest of Frank James, declaring, "My fellow New Yorkers, we got him. We got him." Ex. B at 00:01-00:08. More than 4,700,000 viewers, in addition to live television audiences, watched the announcement.[7] In advance of his federal court arraignment the next day, the New York Post declared him a "Smirking Terrorist:"[8]

News articles following Mr. James's arrest referred to him as a "terrorist," Ex. C at 5, 43; a "maniac," id. at 33, 77; a "deranged loner," id. at 6; "crazed," id. at 23; a "raving madman," id. at 70; "unhinged," id. at 19, 67, 112; and a "nihilist, obsessed with killing and hatred." Id. at 68. Though such articles were most prominent immediately following the arrest, they continue with each of Mr. James's court appearances. E.g, id. at 69 (May 13, 2022), 31 (July 25, 2022), and 59 (October 12, 2022). The subway shooting has taken on particular political salience, with candidates from both major political parties airing footage of the mass shooting as part of campaign advertisements.[9]

C. Legal Standards

The Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the United States Constitution guarantee a criminal defendant's right to be tried by a fair and impartial jury. Groppi v. Wisconsin, 400 U.S. 505, 508 (1971). "[I]mpartial" jurors must be "free from outside influences," Sheppard v. Maxwell, 384 U.S. 333, 362 (1966), and able to decide the case "solely on the basis of evidence produced in court," undisturbed by personal prejudice or public passion. Irvin v. Dowd, 366 U.S. 717, 729 (1961) (Frankfurter, J., concurring). "The Constitution's place-of-trial prescriptions…do not impede transfer of the proceeding to a different district at the defendant's request if extraordinary local prejudice will prevent a fair trial—a 'basic requirement of due process.'" Skilling v. United States, 561 U.S. 358, 378 (2010) (quoting In re Murchison, 349 U.S. 133, 136 (1955)).

[9] For example, on October 24, 2022, just before the midterm election, Max Rose, Democratic candidate for the United States House of Representatives in NY-11, which is entirely within the Eastern District of New York, published a campaign advertisement depicting the subway shooting, which has been viewed at least 103,700 times, in addition to television audiences. @MaxRose4NY, Twitter (Oct. 24, 2022), at https://twitter.com/MaxRose4NY/status/1584530514064515077. See also Campaign video of Lee Zeldin, Republican candidate for New York Governor. @leezeldin, Twitter (Apr. 24, 2022), at https://twitter.com/leezeldin/status/1518275812457422851. The advertisement, which aired to statewide television audiences, and depicts the subway shooting, has been viewed online at least 10,700 times. Id.

A constitutional venue challenge prior to jury selection requires a defendant to "make a showing of presumed prejudice, arising when 'prejudicial publicity so pervades or saturates the community as to render virtually impossible a fair trial by an impartial jury drawn from that community.'" United States v. Volpe, 42 F. Supp. 2d 204, 216 (E.D.N.Y. 1999) (quoting Mayola v. Alabama, 623 F.2d 992, 997 (5th Cir. 1980)). "[A]dverse pretrial publicity can create such a presumption of prejudice in a community that the jurors' claims that they can be impartial should not be believed." Patton v. Yount, 467 U.S. 1025, 1031 (1984). To be sure, "cases presenting this scenario are very rare," United States v. Sabhnani, 599 F.3d 215, 233 (2d Cir. 2010), "attend[ing] only the extreme case." Skilling, 561 U.S. at 380-81.

"Upon the defendant's motion," Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 21(a) separately requires that the Court "must transfer the proceeding against that defendant to another district if the court is satisfied that so great a prejudice against the defendant exists in the transferring district that the defendant cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial there." Rule 21(a) is generally understood to be more favorable to the defense—that is, it is less tolerant of prejudicial publicity—than the constitutional standard. See Mu'Min v. Virginia, 500 U.S. 415, 424 (1991) (indicating that the Supreme Court's supervisory powers confer "more latitude" to set standards for the conduct of trials in federal courts than in state courts). "In order to prevail on a motion under Rule 21(a), the defendant must show 'a reasonable likelihood that prejudicial news prior to trial will prevent a fair trial.'" United States v. Maldonado-Rivera, 922 F.2d 934, 966-67 (2d Cir. 1990) (quoting Sheppard v. Maxwell, 384 U.S. 333, 363 (1966)). Among the factors courts consider are "the extent to which the government is responsible for generating the publicity, the extent to which the publicity focuses on the crime rather than on the individual defendants charged with it, and other factors reflecting on the likely effect of the publicity on the ability of potential jurors in the district to hear the evidence impartially." Maldonado-Rivera, 922 F.2d at 967. In addition to the nature of the media coverage relevant to the case, those may include the size and characteristics of the community and the time elapsed between the crime and the trial. Skilling, 561 U.S. at 382-83, 425.

D. Argument

Where a community has been saturated with prejudicial and inflammatory publicity about the crime and the defendant to such a degree that jurors' assurances of impartiality cannot be trusted, a fair trial cannot be held there. Rideau v. Louisiana, 373 U.S. 723 (1963); Sheppard, 384 U.S. at 352-55. Here, New York government officials drafted the entire potential jury pool of the Eastern District of New York into service as citizen-investigators in their hunt for Frank James, and then assured them "we" got the right perpetrator: Mr. James. The news media and politicians continually published inflammatory and inadmissible information about Mr. James, close in time to the intended start of his trial. These efforts combined to produce a jury pool that harbors decidedly negative, often incorrect, and fixed views about him, and, without hearing any evidence, is overwhelmingly inclined to find him guilty despite his presumption of innocence. Under these circumstances, the Court must presume prejudice and transfer venue.

i. Inflammatory Pretrial Publicity by Government Officials and the News Media Warrant a Presumption of Prejudice

a. Statements of Government Officials

On April 12-13, 2022, in their hunt for and capture of the perpetrator of the mass shootings on the subway, New York City government officials consistently send the prospective jury a single message: Frank James is guilty. On the evening of April 12, 2022, at a televised press conference viewed more than 52,000 times, the Mayor, Police Commissioner, FBI Special Agent-in-Charge, NYPD Chief of Detectives, and other officials released Frank James's name to the public, Ex. A at 09:42, indicated that "we do have a person of interest in this investigation, but we need the public's assistance" in finding him, id. at 06:42-06:48, and offered a $50,000 reward. Id. at 10:28-10:31. Officials contemporaneously released two photographs of Mr. James.

The next morning, the New York City Emergency Management system blasted an urgent message to every potential juror's cell phone, naming Mr. James as the sole suspect, linking to his photograph, and urging New Yorkers to find him. After his name and image so saturated the media that Mr. James himself referenced these messages and his widely publicized image when he turned himself in, Mayor Adams broadcast a message, viewed more than 4,700,000 times, announcing "my fellow New Yorkers:" "We got him," repeating "we got him" four times in a one-minute video. Ex. B at 00:01-00:08; 00:30-00:32; 01:03-01:05. The Mayor "thank[ed] everyday New Yorkers who called in tips." Id. at 00:46-00:50. His message was clear and consistent: "we"—the prospective members of the jury—"got him," Frank James. Candidates from both major political parties have latched onto prospective jurors' memories of the subway shooting with particular salience, using it to warn New Yorkers of a singularly frightening moment.[10]

In these circumstances, where all members of the prospective jury have been inundated by a drumbeat from their highest-ranking government officials that Mr. James is guilty, and where the government drafted them into service to assist with his capture, the government is "responsible" for the publicity generated as a result. Maldonado-Rivera, 922 F.2d at 967.

b. Statements in the Local News Media

Following the lead of government officials, the local news media breathlessly followed the events of April 12-13, 2022, continuing with each of Mr. James's pretrial court appearances, close in time to the intended start of his trial, only ten months' removed from the incident. Their coverage, which universally assumes his guilt, has exposed potential jurors in this District to evidence that will be "clearly inadmissible" at trial. Sheppard, 384 U.S. at 360. Local media has repeatedly characterized Mr. James as a terrorist, a maniac, a raving madman and an unhinged nihilist obsessed with killing and hatred, none of which will be admissible. Ex. E. Layered atop the public's direct involvement in the investigation, as charged by their government officials, Mr. James has shown a "reasonable likelihood that prejudicial news prior to trial will prevent a fair trial.'" Maldonado-Rivera, 922 F.2d at 966-67; Sheppard, 384 U.S. at 363 (1966)).

[10] See ante n.9.

ii. A Comparison of Results of Public Opinion Polls in the Eastern District of New York and the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois Demonstrate that Mr. James Cannot Receive a Fair Trial Here

Because of the prejudicial pretrial publicity produced by government officials and the local news media, prospective jurors in the Eastern District of New York hold decidedly negative, often incorrect, and fixed views about Mr. James and his guilt. Their views establish that any future assurances by the venire that they can be "fair and impartial," even if genuinely felt, will be untrustworthy. Yount, 467 U.S. at 1031.

From October 29-November 3, 2022, but excluding October 31, 2022, Select Litigation, LLC conducted public opinion polling of 400 jury-eligible citizens of the Eastern District of New York ("EDNY") and, for comparison, 400 jury-eligible citizens of the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois ("EDNDIL"), comprised of Chicago and its surrounding counties. Ex. D. Results of the poll show a statistically significant difference in the most important questions presented: jurors here are overwhelmingly more likely both to prejudge Mr. James guilty, without hearing and evidence, and to the same degree, they are more likely to assert that they will vote guilty at his trial, despite the presumption of innocence:

Comparison of opinions among prospective jurors in EDNY and EDNDIL
			NY	IL	Difference
Q5. Do you think that the individual arrested for this shooting is guilty or not guilty of the charges brought against him?		Guilty	57%	38%	+19
		Not guilty	3	1	-2
	Volunteered	(Depends)	14	17	-3
	Volunteered	(Don't know/refused)	26	45	-19

		Not guilty	2	1	+1
	Volunteered	(Depends)	23	33	-10
	Volunteered	(Don't know/refused)	24	32	-8

Id. at 4.

The vast majority (69%) of EDNY prospective jurors polled are aware of the mass shooting that took place in Sunset Park on the morning of April 12, 2022, and a majority (57%) are aware that a man was arrested. Id. at 2. Only 29% have not seen or read any news coverage about the case. Id. at 4. Most (57%) jury-eligible respondents in the EDNY have prejudged Mr. James guilty, and more than half volunteered to anonymous interviewers that they would be more likely to find him guilty if selected to serve on his jury. Id. at 2. C.f. Skilling, 561 U.S. 380-84 (declining to presume prejudice where 43% of venire had never heard of defendant and only 12.3% thought him guilty). A majority of EDNY respondents say that feel less safe riding the subway because of the shooting, including a full third who feel "much" less safe. Ex. D at 3. Despite this widespread prejudgment, most (64%) EDNY respondents express confidence that he will receive a fair trial here. Id. at 2. This contrast is alarming: among those respondents who believe he will receive a fair trial here, 63% of them say they would vote "guilty" at that "fair trial." Id.

Prospective jurors hold these fixed and negative views about Mr. James despite knowing almost nothing about him or the evidence in the case. Only a little above one-quarter can articulate any "things that you know about Frank James." Id. at 3. Many who claim to know things about the case possess strongly incorrect memories: "the man killed like 10 people;" Ex. F at 70; "a lot of people died," id., "he killed the innocent people," id. at 71; "it was a shooting that killed people on the subway," id.; "one person died," id.; "10 people were killed and a lot more were injured," id. at 72; "a lot of people were killed," id, "a lot of people killed," id.; "10 people were killed and a lot more were hurt," id.; "he killed 30 people on the train last April." Id.

The Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois ("EDNDIL") is the most demographically and politically comparable district to the EDNY nationally, aside from the Southern District of New York, which was plagued by the same prejudices and media exposure as the EDNY. Ex. D at 3-4. Jury-eligible respondents are much less likely to be aware of the Brooklyn subway shooting (69% in EDNY, 44% in EDNDIL) and of the arrest of Mr. James (57% in EDNY, 30% in EDNDIL); the majority have not seen or read any coverage, despite it having been a prominent national story. Id. at 4. As indicated, EDNDIL jurors are significantly less likely to have prejudged Mr. James guilty (57% in EDNY, 38% in EDNDIL) and to be less likely to vote guilty at his trial (51% in EDNY, 34% in EDNDIL). Id. Despite this, EDNDIL respondents are vastly less likely to believe he will receive a fair trial (64% in EDNY, 43% in EDNDIL).

"By most every measure, prospective jurors in the EDNY are by a statistically significant margin more likely to have prejudged the guilt of Mr. James, to have been exposed to media coverage that they believe communicates his guilt, to have had discussions with individuals who believe him guilty, and to have been affected by the shooting than citizens in another division of the federal court system." Id. at 5. These public opinion poll results demonstrate that EDNY jurors know and are committed to the messages they received over and again from their government officials: Mr. James is guilty—"we got him"—and without hearing any evidence, the only "fair trial" here is one where they will find him guilty.

Accordingly, this is one of the "rare," Sabhnani, 599 F.3d at 233, and "extreme," Skilling, 561 U.S. at 380-81, cases in which "prejudicial publicity so pervades or saturates the community as to render virtually impossible a fair trial by an impartial jury drawn from that community." Mayola v. Alabama, 623 F.2d at 997. Mr. James has demonstrated that "so great a prejudice against the defendant exists in the [EDNY] that the defendant cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial there." Fed. R. Crim. P. 21(a). Therefore, so that he is afforded a fair trial before an impartial jury, to which he is entitled by the Fifth and Sixths Amendments of the United States Constitution, the Court "must" transfer venue. For the reasons indicated, Mr. James respectfully requests transfer to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois, or another appropriate district.

E. Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, as explained in the Memorandum of Law, so that he may have a fair trial before an impartial jury, Mr. James respectfully requests that the Court (i) transfer venue in accordance with the procedure set forth in Fed. R. Crim. P. 21(a); (ii) to the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois; or (iii) to another appropriate District; or (iv), in the alternative, hold an evidentiary hearing to receive expert opinion testimony on the issues raised by this motion; and (v) grant such other and further relief that the Court deems just and proper.

Accused Brooklyn subway shooter Frank James arraigned, held without bail

By Kevin Sheehan and Jorge Fitz-Gibbon

Frank James, the deranged loner charged with the bloody attack on a Brooklyn subway train, was arraigned on a federal terrorism charge Thursday — with prosecutors calling the rampage "entirely premeditated."

"Defendant's mere presence outside of federal custody presidents a serious risk, a danger to the community."

Meanwhile, James' court-appointed lawyer urged the public to withhold judgment on the case until all the facts are out.

"Initial press and police reports in cases like this one are often inaccurate," federal defender Mia Eisner-Grynberg said outside Brooklyn federal court after James was ordered held without bail.

"Mr. James is entitled to a fair trial and we will ensure that he will get one."

The hulking James wore a green button-down shirt, matching green slacks and sneakers with white soles in the courtroom.

He said little other than to answer the judge with, "yes," when questioned, and spent much of the proceedings signing paperwork.

He was charged with committing a terrorist or other violent attack against a mass transportation system and faces life in prison.

Federal prosecutors said in a court memo that he was behind the planned attack that injured 29 straphangers on an N train during the morning commute on Tuesday after driving a rental van from Philadelphia.

Ten of the injured were shot — none fatally.

Police arrested James Wednesday after a massive manhunt — when he dropped a dime on himself and called Crime Stoppers.

Video captured minutes after accused gunman Frank James allegedly opened fire on a New York subway car appears to show the madman sauntering down the street as children run behind him.

"What happened in the New York City subway system was a tragedy," Eisner-Grynberg said. "What we do know is this: Yesterday, Mr. James saw his photograph on the news. He called Crime Stoppers to help."

She did not clarify the comment about him helping.

In the courtroom, US Magistrate Judge Roanne Mann ordered James to undergo a psychiatric evaluation.

James, 62, is accused of boarding a Manhattan-bound N train shortly before 8:30 a.m. Tuesday and hurling two smoke bombs into a crowded subway car before he opened fire with a Glock 9mm handgun, getting off 33 rounds.

Ten of the wounded commuters were hit by gunfire — but none suffered fatal injuries.

According to a federal memo filed Thursday, James left pieces of evidence at the scene, in the van, and at his rented room and a storage locker in Philly.

Investigators said he left the Glock 17 used in the attack, a container of gasoline, a torch, and fireworks on the 36th Street subway platform.

Inside the U-Haul they found a propane tank, and an empty 9 mm magazine, a magazine for a high-capacity rifle, and a blue smoke canister in his room in Philadelphia.

A storage locker he kept in the Pennsylvania city contained 9 mm ammunition, a threaded 9 mm pistol barrel which can accommodate a silencer, targets and .223 caliber ammunition, the federal memo said.

James had become increasingly unhinged in recent years, posting several bizarre and racist rants on YouTube blaming, among others, Mayor Eric Adams for his low station in life.

According to a federal affidavit, James, a New York native who has lived in recent years in Milwaukee and Philadelphia, rented a room in a Philly townhouse for 15 days on March 28.

He reserved a U-Haul cargo van on April 6 and picked it up Monday, crossing the Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge around 4:10 a.m. Tuesday, the affidavit said.

Later that day, James called Crime Stoppers and told cops where to find him, with police nabbing him near an East Village McDonald's.

In a statement Thursday, Breon Peace, US Attorney for the Eastern District of New York, called the attack "heinous and premeditated."

"All New Yorkers have the right to expect that they will be safe as they travel throughout our great city and use our vital transportation systems," he said.

Federal prosecutors immediately hit him with terrorism charges.

Legal experts told The Post Wednesday that the federal terrorism charge, which carries harsher penalties, fits the case because James allegedly crossed state lines with intent to cause physical harm and used mass transportation in the attack.

Under federal law, an attack intended to cause death or bodily harm that takes place on a mass transit system fits the criteria for a terror charge.

MILWAUKEE, WI. – The smoke bombs used by the crazed man accused in the Brooklyn subway shooting were purchased at a store in Wisconsin, not far from the site of the 2020 Kenosha shootings.

Frank James, 62, who's been hit with federal terror-related offenses over the N-train bloodshed, bought the smoke bombs and other fireworks on June 21, 2021 at Phantom Fireworks in Racine County, according to a receipt of his purchase obtained by The Post.

In all, James purchased six canister smoke bombs – including the two he allegedly set off on a crowded subway as it pulled into 36th Street station before firing 33 rounds with a 9mm semiautomatic Glock, striking 10 victims.

The bombs are supposed to spew smoke for up to two minutes, according to Phantom's store manager, who declined to be named.

The store is a 20-minute-drive from James' Milwaukee home and about 20 miles outside of Kenosha, where Illinois teenager Kyle Rittenhouse fatally shot two people during civil unrest on Aug. 25, 2020.

Authorities found 40 feet of safety fuse in a bag at the scene of the carnage, which James could have intended to use to set off the fireworks from a distance.

"Theoretically, with that fuse, you could connect all those fireworks," the Phantom Fireworks store manager told The Post.

"But it would be tedious to fuse together all those small fireworks like the smoke and crackers. People don't usually use a fuse for smoke because it can't blow up in your face."

The store didn't have surveillance footage from James' visit to the store but provided The Post with a receipt confirming the $93 purchase.

"It was a pretty innocuous purchase," Phantom Fireworks Vice President Bill Weimer said.

"It raised no eyebrows."

Boston Marathon bomber Tamerlan Tsarnaev and failed Times Square bomber Faisal Shahzad had reportedly bought fireworks they used to make explosives from other Phantom locations.

James was busted by police Wednesday in the East Village after he called Crime Stoppers on himself, authorities and law enforcement sources said. He is expected to appear in Brooklyn federal court Thursday to face a charge of committing terrorist attacks and other violence against mass transportation systems.

The suspect allegedly wore a reflective vest, helmet and gas mask when he set off the smoke bomb and opened fire.

His gun allegedly jammed, which may have prevented further carnage. A massive hunt was launched for the gunman, who police believe may have gotten off the train and mixed with the throng of commuters.

Adams calls emergency meeting with NYC biz leaders after train killing

Accused subway mass shooter Frank James whined about media coverage of his case Monday, telling a judge he hasn't been "too good" since getting locked up on federal terrorism charges.

James — who allegedly shot 10 people on a subway car in April — was asked how he was doing by Judge William Kuntz during a brief appearance in Brooklyn federal court Monday afternoon.

"Not too good, your honor," replied the 62-year-old, wearing a tan jail uniform and sporting a short gray beard.

Kuntz then asked the accused gunman if he's watched or listened to any baseball while in custody at Brooklyn's notorious Metropolitan Detention Center.

"I've watched a bit of baseball, yeah," James said, before adding: "I've read some things in the press I'm not too happy about."

Prosecutors from the Eastern District of New York have recovered a trove of evidence in the case, including surveillance video, DNA from the gun and witness statements.

James — who was arrested following a 30-hour citywide manhunt — faces life in prison if convicted of committing a terrorist attack on a mass transit system.

The maniac allegedly sprayed more than 30 bullets on a packed Manhattan-bound N train as it motored through a tunnel below the street of Sunset Park on April 12.

The alleged gunman in the Brooklyn subway shooting was arrested in New Jersey more than two decades ago for threatening his old boss after getting canned, officials confirmed.

Frank James, 62 — who was detained after appearing in federal court Thursday on terrorism charges — had repeatedly called his former employer in Fairfield, Curtiss-Wright, and vowed some sort of violence over his termination, according to the Essex County Prosecutor's Office.

Spokeswoman Kathy Carter did not provide what was said on those calls but said, "We believe it rose to the level of terroristic threats."

James, who was living in Irvington, NJ, at the time, was charged in the 1995 incident with one count of making terroristic threats and was later found guilty of a lesser charge, harassment, Carter said.

James was arrested Wednesday in Lower Manhattan after calling the cops on himself — ending a more than 24-hour manhunt for the alleged triggerman in the Sunset Park mass shooting that left 10 shot and more than a dozen others injured.

The NYPD picked up James at least 12 times in New York City from 1984 to 1998 on charges ranging from burglary and possession of burglar tools to criminal sexual acts, cops said.

He also had three other arrests in New Jersey, but the details of those cases were not immediately known.

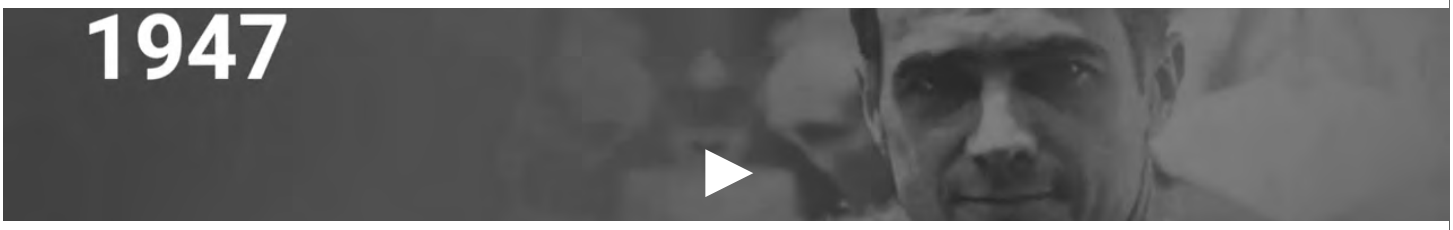
Accused subway terrorist Frank James was so "quiet and moody" that he scared an ex-con who attended group therapy sessions with him, the former jailbird said Wednesday.

Albert Wilder, 57, said he last saw James at the Argus Community headquarters in the Bronx about three months ago.

"He was sitting here and he was quiet and moody," Wilder said.

"Y'know, when someone looks like they're in the middle of something and you afraid to talk to them because they're upset. That was him!"

Wilder, who said he goes to Argus Community as a condition of his release from prison for unspecified crimes, also described James as "a street person."



"He frequents trains and buses," Wilder said.

James is suspected of opening fire on a subway car in Brooklyn during Tuesday's morning rush, shooting and wounding 10 people and leaving another 19 injured.

In videos posted on YouTube, he said he had a diagnosed mental illness and railed against what he called the "horror show" of the city's mental health services.

James also blamed Mayor Eric Adams, saying during an extended rant, "Mr. Mayor, I'm a victim of your mental health program."

"I'm 63 now — full of hate, full of anger, and full of bitterness," he added.

Discovery of the videos led the NYPD to increase security for Hizzoner.

James was busted Wednesday by the NYPD in Manhattan's East Village after he called the NYPD Crime Stoppers hotline and told police to come and get him at a local McDonald's restaurant.

Argus Community offers a variety of residential and outpatient programs to "help severely disadvantaged teens and adults to free themselves from poverty and drug abuse," according to its website.

According to Albert Wilder, Frank James attended therapy at Argus Community, which the state describes as a "nurturing environment."

"Argus provides a drug-free, safe and nurturing environment in which persons living on the fringes of society can acquire education and skills and transform maladaptive attitudes and behaviors," the site says.

The nonprofit has $84.3 million worth of contracts with New York state, primarily with the Office of Addiction Services and Supports, as well as $233,000 in contracts with the city's Department of Youth and Community Development and the Department of Small Business Services, public records show.

An Argus Community supervisor declined to comment.

Top Democrats claim that nothing in America is more dangerous than white racism.

As President Joe Biden said Oct. 21, "According to the United States intelligence community, domestic terrorism from white supremacists is the most lethal terrorist threat in the homeland."

"In the FBI's view," Attorney General Merrick Garland said June 15, "the top domestic violent-extremist threat comes from . . . those who advocate for the superiority of the white race."

House Armed Services Committee member Jackie Speier (D-Calif.) complained that the federal government insufficiently screens "servicemembers and other individuals with sensitive roles for white-supremacist and violent-extremist ties."

So where is all the damage from this white-nationalist army? Where are the wounds of those they have maimed and the cadavers of those they have killed?

"Charlottesville!" Biden and the Democratic left shout in unison.

Anybody else?

The sound you hear is grass growing.

As Team Biden searches furiously for those touched by this supposedly ubiquitous white threat, black racists scream hatred and inflict dozens of casualties, some fatal.

The NYPD says that Wednesday, a black man named Frank James unleashed a smoke bomb on a Brooklyn subway train. He then fired 33 rounds from a Glock pistol. James allegedly shot 10 commuters, and 13 suffered other injuries. Five were hospitalized in critical condition. Amazingly, no one was killed.

Why did James do this?

"Upon the defendant's refusal to appear before the Court when requested in connection with the above-captioned case, it is hereby: ORDERED that the United States Marshals Service, their agents, and/or designees, use all necessary force to produce the above-named defendant," Judge William Kuntz said.

James allegedly shot 10 people on a subway train in Sunset Park, Brooklyn, April 13 before he slipped away on a different train and became the subject of a manhunt.

He has pleaded not guilty to charges of conducting a violent attack against a mass transportation system.

On Wednesday, a judge refused a defense request to delay the trial.

It comes as Eyewitness News was along for the ride Tuesday night as New York City's top cop went underground in an effort to keep riders safe on the subway.

Police Commissioner Keechant Sewell toured the subway station where a teen was assaulted over the weekend and rode with New Yorkers who all have an opinion.

It's been a rough two weeks in the transit system, with three murders -- two in the subway and one on a bus.

The NYPD, which already flooded transit with thousands of cops since the beginning of the year, surged nearly a thousand more, focusing on 15 train lines in 20 stations citywide.

"Obviously we're concerned about the safety of New Yorkers," Sewell said. "This subway has to be safe. I remember taking the subway myself to go to school. The people who go to school, the people who work in the city, and this is the lifeblood, it has to be safe."

Accused Brooklyn subway shooter Frank James angered the judge overseeing his case by refusing to come to a mandatory court hearing on Wednesday.

James — who allegedly opened fire on a crowded rush-hour train in April — refused to leave the Brooklyn jail where he is being held pending trial, US Marshals told prosecutors and his defense attorneys.

Upon learning of the refusal, Judge William Kuntz issued an order that the Marshals use "all necessary force" to produce James, 63, for the 1 p.m. hearing in Brooklyn federal court.

"This isn't a high school prom invitation. This is an order of the court to be here," the ticked-off jurist said.

Kuntz ordered the hearing adjourned until James could be produced, telling the defense attorneys he wants to be clear that it's not "his call as to whether or not he elects to be here."

The hearing eventually got underway about two hours later, and James' attorney, Mia Eisner-Grynberg, told Kuntz he was having a "particularly difficult day" with unspecified medical issues.

At the hearing, Kuntz shot down a request by Eisner-Grynberg that his trial be delayed for two months, in part because of a case pending before the 2nd Circuit Court that could affect plea negotiations.

James is set to stand trial starting February 27, 2023.

James allegedly shot 10 people and injured a total of 29 when he opened fire on a packed N train as it passed through a subway tunnel underneath the streets of Sunset Park in April.

He was arrested after a 30-hour citywide manhunt and hit with a slew of federal charges, including a terrorism charge for attacking a mass transit system.

That will come as a surprise to anyone who watched any significant portion of James' YouTube rants. Though he does spew hate about some black people, particularly black women, he often returns to and espouses themes of black nationalism. In one video, he says "what happened in Europe with the Jews" could happen to blacks in America. He suggests that Russia's war on Ukraine is a prelude to using nuclear weapons to wipe out black

James is unhinged, but do you think the media would treat a white killer's bouillabaisse of paranoia as "Oh, he hates everyone"? You think they would ignore him reposting memes that said "O black Jesus kill all the whiteys" if the races were reversed? Hell, no.

Just as they did with Darrell Brooks, the man charged with driving through a Wisconsin Christmas parade, the press is eager to bury a black suspect's anti-white statements and ignore them as a possible motivation.

James frequently posted hateful and violent videos on YouTube.

We don't know what will be revealed in court. Considering that his victims were of all racial backgrounds, it appears that James is simply a nihilist, obsessed with hatred and killing. But pretending that James didn't praise the Nation of Islam or predict there would be a race war is nothing more that biased journalism. To the woke, only whites can be racists, and any evidence to the contrary must be ignored.

The raving madman who allegedly shot 10 people on a subway train last month told a judge he was feeling "pretty good" right before he pleaded not guilty to terrorism charges during his arraignment in Brooklyn federal court Friday.

Frank James, 62, said little else except to confirm that he understood the charges and his rights and that he was "competent" enough to move forward with the case.

The Bronx native is accused of spraying 33 bullets onboard a Manhattan-bound N train on April 12, after allegedly letting off a smoke bomb as the subway pulled into the 33rd Street station in Sunset Park.

Ten people were struck by bullets and another 19 were injured.

James, who wore a khaki jail outfit and a blue surgical mask that was hanging off his face, is facing two charges for the crime — committing a terrorist attack on a mass transit system and firing a gun during a violent crime, court records show.

As Judge William Kuntz read out the indictment against James, the defendant looked at the jurist and down at the table in front of him as if he were reading something.

When Kuntz mentioned the government could seek forfeiture of his assets in the event of a conviction, James' eyes grew wide and he raised his eyebrows.

Eric Adams makes plea for pro-police messaging, challenging 'defund' movement

The pregnant woman injured when a maniac terrorized Brooklyn straphangers on a morning rush-hour train Tuesday described the chaotic scene as a "death trap" and an "absolute nightmare."

The 28-year-old — a medical clinician who works in downtown Brooklyn and only wanted to be identified by her first name, Chelsea — was initially believed to have been shot in the leg, but was actually trampled during the mayhem that unfolded on a Manhattan-bound N train around 8:30 a.m.

"I couldn't sleep," Chelsea told The Post in an exclusive phone interview. "Every time I close my eyes, it's all I can see, it's all I can think about."

"It's an absolute nightmare. It's a scary thing to go through in any kind of circumstance — being pregnant [makes me even] more vulnerable … We're all just trying to get somewhere."

"No one should have to experience that," she added. "The worst part is there's nowhere to run. It's a death trap. None of the doors open."

Chelsea told The Post she was running behind schedule Tuesday morning after dropping her 7-year-old daughter off at school, and hopped on an R train at 95th Street in Bay Ridge around 8:10 a.m.

Seven minutes later, she transferred to an N train at 59th Street.

While all this was going on, Chelsea said, the train was stalled between the 59th and 36th Street stations, "because in typical MTA fashion there's a delay for some reason."

"Everyone is screaming, is running to the other car and the door doesn't open, and we were banging on the door for the people in the other car to open the door for us," she said. "Smoke filled [the car] and … he was just letting off the gunshots."

Some wounded straphangers cried out, "I'm hit!" as others desperately tried to make sure their fellow commuters protected themselves, Chelsea recalled.

"Cover your heads! Cover your chest! Get cover!" they cried, according to Chelsea.

Chelsea suffered a knee injury and was treated at Kings County Hospital Center, according to police sources.

Throughout the pandemonium, Chelsea said, she kept thinking about her daughter — and prayed for a chance to see her again.

"I said, 'God, I have to get home to my baby,'" she said. "I was just thinking about my kid the whole time."

Chelsea said she wants to see additional safety measures in the city's subway system — including a bigger police presence and metal detectors in the stations — but she is not sure whether either of those options would have made a difference Tuesday.

"I wish, honestly — and I don't know if it's a possibility for us — to have more police at every single station," she said. "I think that would make us a lot safer, especially because people are getting on the subway with all sorts of things."

You're just dead."

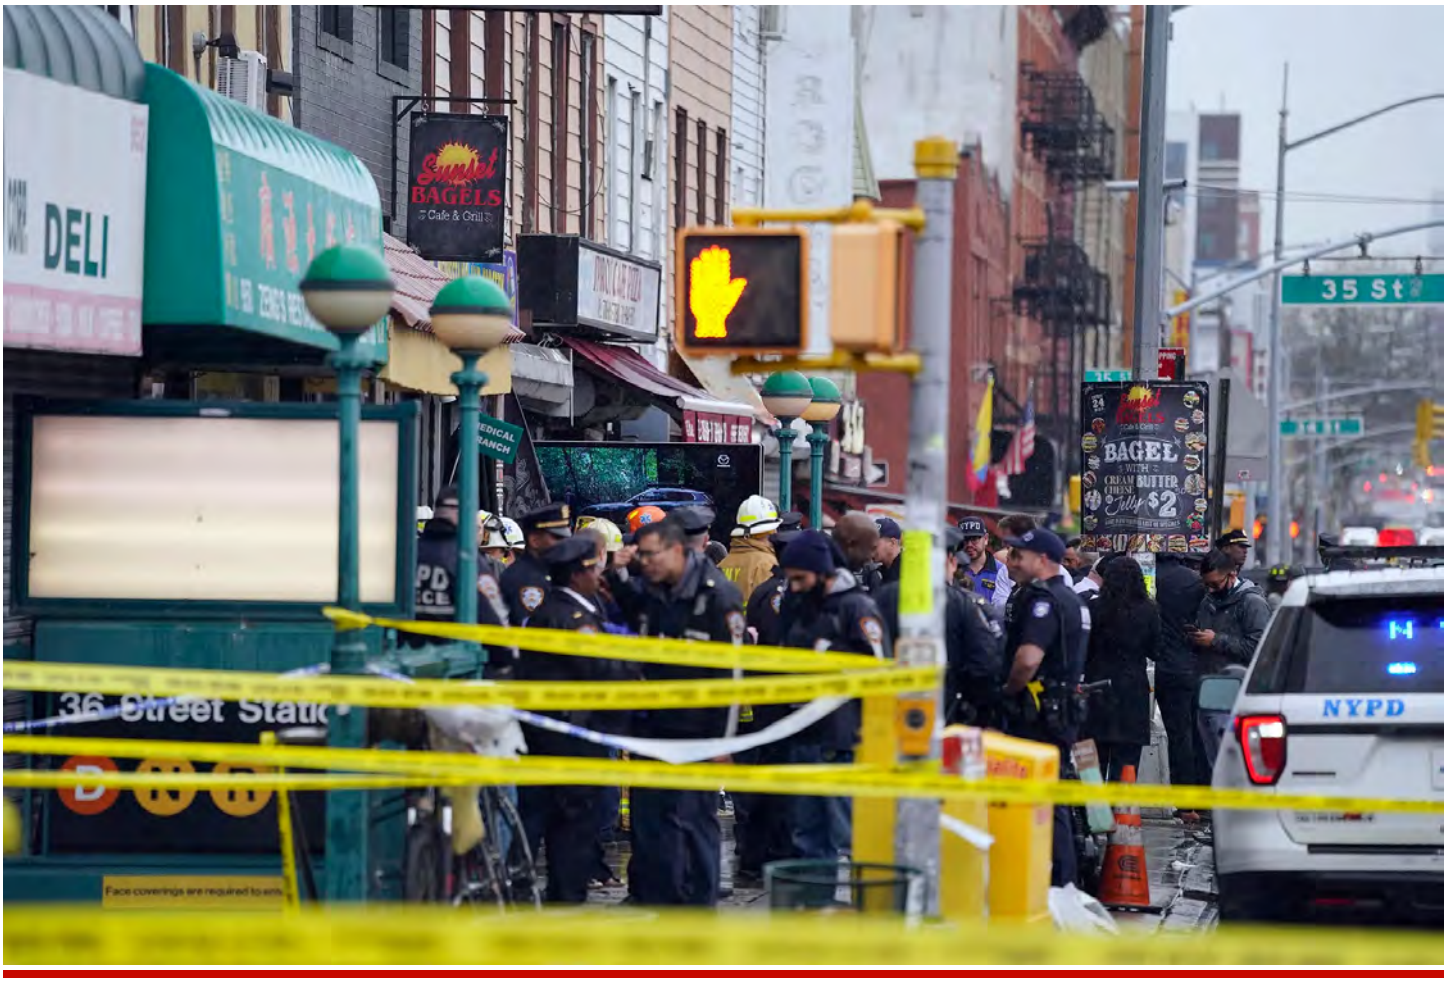
A total of 29 straphangers were hurt during the bloodbath — 10 of whom were shot.

Those who were shot included three women between the ages of 41 and 49, and seven men between the ages of 15 and 41, the NYPD said Wednesday morning.



Emergency personnel gather near the scene of the Brooklyn subway shooting.

Children and teens — ages 12, 13, 16 and 18 — were also hurt in the fracas, Gov. Kathy Hochul told reporters Tuesday night from Maimonides Medical Center, where many of the victims were being treated.

The man wanted in connection to the savage attack, Frank R. James, 62, was initially named as a person of interest, but was reclassified as a suspect Wednesday, officials said.

Five victims were men, three were women and information on the other two was not available.

Jim Clemente, a former FBI agent and profiler, said James "was not criminally or forensically sophisticated" and that "it's plausible" he was not trying to kill people.

He described James as a seeming "injustice collector" — people who "keep a book on everybody who has wronged them and always project the blame on other people.

"I think he was looking for a spotlight and a platform because he doesn't feel heard. This made him feel really powerful and it's a horrific way to express your ego or your damaged ego," said Clemente, who was once a prosecutor in Bronx Family Court.

He said that shooting somebody in the leg is dangerous "but if you're going to shoot somebody, the leg is the least fatal place to shoot them."

Like Darrell Brooks Jr., who allegedly plowed his car into the Waukesha Christmas parade last November, and Noah Green, the Nation of Islam adherent who rammed Capitol Police last April in a quickly memory-holed attack, James espoused the rancid, racist ideology of black supremacy, once known officially as "black identity extremism," which we have been assured by the FBI and other legal experts doesn't exist.

Alleged subway shooter Frank James had been posting racist material on YouTube for years.

wing cable channel. His grievances against "whitey" could be ripped from the teleprompters of any of the race-baiting hosts of CNN and MSNBC. The only difference between the dehumanizing racial hatred he spews and the commentary by Joy Reid when she sneers at "white tears" and argues that Americans only care about the war in Ukraine because the victims are "white and largely Christian" is that James advocates violence. "I'm wanting to kill everything in sight," he says in one video.

"Ultimately at the end of the day, they kill and commit genocide against each other. What do you think they gonna do to your black ass? …"

He also criticizes New York City Mayor Eric Adams and black people who don't perceive themselves as victims. "You got your Ph.D. career and nice shoes. You got an education but now you're just a carbon copy of the person who made you a slave … you're there to serve these motherf—ers."

immediately."

'Terrorist' attack

We were told by the NYPD within hours of the subway attack that it was not terrorism.

But it sure looked like a lone-wolf terrorist attack motivated by a hateful ideology.

NYPD Commissioner Keechant Sewell said the shooting initially wasn't being investigated as an act of terrorism, but suspect James was charged with federal terrorism offenses.

Sure enough, at a press conference Wednesday, Brooklyn US Attorney Breon Peace said James had been charged with a federal terrorism offense.

Just an idea, but maybe the FBI shouldn't allow elite opinion and politics to dictate where it places its resources.

It wasn't so long ago that the FBI's counterterrorism division acknowledged that black identity extremist ideology was a domestic terrorism threat.

In a report dated Aug. 3, 2017, the bureau cited the 2016 massacre of five police officers by Micah Johnson during a Black Lives Matter protest in Dallas.

Americans spurred an increase in premeditated, retaliatory lethal violence against law enforcement and will very likely serve as justification for such violence."

The backlash was immediate, with the media and activists accusing the FBI of racism. "There is no such thing as black identity extremism," Kristen Clarke, president of the National Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, told Congress. "It is not a real threat."

Within months, the bureau had abandoned the term black identity extremism, and FBI Director Christopher Wray was telling Congress in 2019 that "what you might call white supremacist violence" was behind much domestic terrorism.

The Center for Security Policy, a conservative, Washington, DC-based think tank, claims that the FBI came under "political pressure from the Congressional Black Caucus and left-wing media to eliminate the category of black identity extremism as a potential terrorism motivation."

According to Kyle Shideler, the center's director for homeland security and counterterrorism, "The FBI, DHS and other elements of the intelligence community have routinely downplayed the potential risk of violence from black identity extremists …

"As a result of this political pressure, there has been minimal study and training done to educate law enforcement on the intricacies of the black identity extremist thought, and its various strains and idiosyncrasies," he wrote in a paper published Wednesday.

"Instead, the tendency is to deny that such attacks are politically motivated, and thus deny any terrorism angle for further investigation."

End identity politics

How about law enforcement just does its job, without kowtowing to identity politics.

How about acknowledging that racist hate speech has the potential of radicalizing unhinged people, no matter who the intended target is. How about everyone in a position of influence, from the president on down, stops exploiting racial division for political capital.

How about we admit that America is the most equitable, welcoming, multiracial country in the world, and we'd like to keep it that way.

The NYC subway shooter, despite disordered thoughts, bears responsibility for his crimes

Yes, New Yorkers have a 'perception' of more crime — because there IS more crime

The eighth subway murder this year shows NYC's public safety in deep decline

In the near week since Frank James' alleged Brooklyn subway attack, it's become accepted wisdom that New York City's or America's social services system failed him — and us. Yet no one has shown any way in which social services could have stopped this attack. What we have is what it looks like: a bad guy who intelligently planned and executed a bad thing.

After the mass shooting, City Councilwoman Alexa Avilés and Assemblywoman Marcela Mitaynes, who represent Sunset Park, said that it showed how "we need investments in social services — housing, healthcare and education." Politico wondered "What Brooklyn's subway shooting reveals about the state of mental health care."

So far? Nothing.

True, New York City and state leave seriously mentally ill people on the street, despite multiple warning signs. Some of those people, like Martial Simon, who pushed Michelle Go to her death under a subway in January, are violent. Simon had a documented history of delusions and compulsions so severe that he couldn't function.

James is not that person. James, though born in New York, has no apparent recent ties to the city. Until Wednesday, he hadn't been arrested here in nearly a quarter-century.

He doesn't fit the profile of Simon or the people accused of killing Christina Yuna Lee and Krystal Bayron-Nieves this year: people recently arrested and released, despite escalating episodes of uncontrolled violent impulses.

James claimed, in his video rants, that New York's mental health system failed him, but he didn't say when or how. If the education system failed him, it did so five decades ago. (Maybe the lack of charter schools back then failed him.)

These are disordered thoughts — and, as Mayor Eric Adams said last week, big tech should stop allowing people to amplify disordered thoughts.

But you are allowed to have disordered thoughts. You're allowed to think 9/11 was an inside job; you're allowed to have bizarre racial theories.

There's no getting around the fact that James was functional. As he said himself, he chose not to work consistently for a living: "There's no way that I'm going to … go to work, pay my taxes."

He was functional enough to plot a complex ideological attack across geographic boundaries and carry it out.

He was functional enough to compile the equipment he needed, to disguise himself as an

Anyone who commits a mass attack has mental problems. Timothy McVeigh, the Oklahoma City bomber, probably did have post-traumatic stress disorder, and Boston Marathon bomber Dzhokhar Tsarnaev probably was manipulated by his mastermind brother. The 9/11 hijackers also (apparently!) had disordered thoughts.

Nobody ever says that he needed housing services.

Like these other attackers, James knows right from wrong and action and consequence. In one video, he said that “I wanted to kill people” but “I don’t want to go to f–king prison.”

Sure, but that's law enforcement, not social services. Plus, James made no direct threats — more evidence of careful planning.

It may be a good idea for social services agencies to interact more with people like James. But there are a lot of such people: people on the border of society, with plenty of time to cultivate loony ideas.

Is New York City going to hunt each of these people down and provide him with an apartment and daily intensive counseling so that he doesn't make a cross-country trip here to attack us?

Accused Brooklyn subway shooter Frank James was a troubled loner with a checkered past and had been estranged from his family in the years before this week's horrific attack.

James, who was arrested Wednesday in the Sunset Park subway shooting, was described as quiet and unassuming by those that knew him –but the conspiracy theorist also had a rap sheet dating back to 1984 for largely petty busts.

James, 62, was arrested at least 12 times by the NYPD between 1984 and 1998 on charges ranging from burglary, possession of burglar tools, and criminal sexual acts, cops said. The outcomes of those cases, however, were not immediately available.

The suspected shooter also "has a record of terroristic threats in New Jersey," one NYPD official told The Post. He has no record of a conviction in the Garden State.

His sister, Catherine James Robinson, told The Post her brother "kept to himself" and said she last spoke to him about three years ago.

"He was cordial," said Eugene Yarbrough, pastor at Mount Zion Wings of Glory Church in Milwaukee. "He wasn't bothering anybody. I didn't know of him messing with anybody."

His genial attitude changed on Tuesday when he parked a U-Haul van two blocks from the Sunset Park N train station on 36th Street shortly before 8:30 a.m. and unleashed the attack that wounded 29 straphangers, including 10 who suffered gunshot wounds.

According to a federal complaint released Wednesday, James had rented a room in Philadelphia for 15 days starting on March 28 and was still booked there when he reserved a U-Haul van on April 6 at a nearby outlet.

He picked up the white Chevy Cargo Van on Monday and headed for New York.

Early Wednesday morning — while James remained on the run — the FBI and local police raided the Philadelphia apartment looking for the fugitive. Inside, authorities found an empty magazine for a Glock, a taser, a high-capacity rifle magazine, and a blue smoke canister.

"He wasn't here long," said neighbor Bruce Allen. "I don't remember his face. He would just go in and leave. He wasn't one of those guys who stays outside. He might stay for an hour or two and leave, and then come back late at night."

In recent years James had become increasingly unhinged, posting bizarre YouTube rants where he claimed to have suffered from mental illness and blamed Mayor Eric Adams, among others, for his plight.

A troubled man who railed against Mayor Eric Adams and made bizarre, threatening rants on YouTube has been identified as a person of interest — and now a suspect — in the savage Brooklyn subway attack that injured at least 23 people Tuesday morning, officials said.

Frank James — who warned last month that he was "entering the danger zone" — rented a U-Haul van tied to the N train attack in Sunset Park and is being sought for questioning, police said at an evening briefing.

"Mr. Mayor, I'm a victim of your mental health program," James said in one lengthy video.

"I'm 63 now full of hate, full of anger, and full of bitterness."

He also criticized the mayor for not doing more to combat homelessness.

Frank R. James, the NYPD's person of interest in the subway rampage, has spent years making troubling YouTube videos.

James said in the videos that he had a diagnosed mental illness and railed against what he called the "horror show" of the city's mental health services.

"What's going on in that place is violence," he said about a facility where he claimed to have received care. "Not physical violence," he explained, "but the kind of violence a child experiences in grade school … that would make him go get a gun and shooting motherf—ers."

Among Frank R. James' diatribes were rants about guns, race, mental health and Mayor Eric Adams.

"These white motherf—ers, this is what they do," he said. "Ultimately at the end of the day, they kill and commit genocide against each other. What do you think they gonna do to your black ass?"

In his rambling conspiracy theory, James claimed that a race war would follow the ongoing conflict in Europe.

"It's just a matter of time before these white motherf—ers decide, 'Hey listen. Enough is enough. These n—ers got to go,'" he said.

"And what're you going to do? You gonna fight. And guess what? You gonna die. 'Cause unlike President [Volodymyr Zelensky] over in Ukraine, nobody has your back. The whole world is against you. And you're against your f—ing self. So why should you be alive again is the f—ing question. Why should a n—er be alive on this planet? Besides to pick cotton or chop sugar cane or tobacco."

The only options James could find, he claimed, was to commit more violence or become a criminal.

"And so the message to me is: I should have gotten a gun, and just started shooting motherf—ers," he said.

"Or I should have gotten some dope and started shooting or starting hitting bi—es in the head, robbing old ladies, you know what the f— it is."

The gunman had been on the run for hours before police uncovered a crucial clue: the van, which had Arizona plates and was located on West Third Street near Kings Highway late Tuesday afternoon, sources said.

Police have launched a massive manhunt for the shooter and revealed that surveillance cameras at the Sunset Park subway station were not working at the time of the assault. Law enforcement sources told The Post that the cameras tend to go out "from time to time."

NYPD Commissioner Keechant Sewell said at an earlier press conference that the suspect is a roughly 5-foot-5 black man with a heavy build at around 170 pounds. He was wearing a gas mask, an orange and green construction-type vest, neon-green work helmet and a hooded gray sweatshirt at the time.

During an evening press briefing, Sewell said that among the items recovered by cops at the scene were a 9mm handgun, a hatchet, gasoline and "consumer-grade fireworks."

At least one witness said she mistook the attacker for an MTA worker.

In an email earlier in the day to the entire police patrol force, cops had been ordered to keep their eyes peeled for the U-Haul and mark down its location and license plates.

EXHIBIT D

November 4, 2022

Dear Msses. Eisner-Grynberg and David,

As you know, the Federal Defenders of New York, Inc., commissioned Select Litigation, LLC, of Washington, D.C., to assess the federal jury pool in the Eastern District of New York in conjunction with your representation of Mr. Frank James who was indicted for a shooting that occurred on April 12, 2022. To that end, Select Litigation conducted two public opinion polls, one among jury-eligible citizens of the Eastern District of New York, and one among jury-eligible citizens of the Eastern Division of the Northern District in Illinois. For ease of reference, I have numbered the paragraphs of this letter reporting on the results of these two opinion polls.

1. The samples for the polls were drawn from current lists including both landlines and cellular devices, and the sampling was done in a manner to ensure that every jury-eligible citizen on the lists from each of the two jurisdictions would have an equal probability of being included in the final sample. Interviewing for the polls was conducted by professional interviewers by telephone October 29-November 3, 2022. (No interviews were conducted on Halloween.) Respondents were interviewed on both landlines and mobile devices. The total sample size was 800 respondents comprised of 400 interviews in each jurisdiction. The wording and ordering of the substantive questions were identical in both jurisdictions, and copies of the questionnaires are included as an addendum to this letter.

2. All polls are subject to errors related to interviewing a sample of a universe rather than the entire population. The margin of estimation or sample error for a sample size of 400 is 4.9 percentage points at the 95% confidence interval. This means that in 95 out of 100 cases, the responses in these polls should be within plus or minus 4.9 percentage points of the responses that would have been obtained interviewing the entire population in each jurisdiction. The sampling error for subgroups contained in these samples would be larger. Small adjustments were made to the interviews collected to ensure that the samples are reflective of the best available information about the composition of the populations in these jurisdictions. In this and other respects, the methods used in conducting these polls were according to or exceed professional standards for public opinion research.

3. I was the project manager for this research by Select Litigation. Over the past four decades, I have conducted over 3000 public opinion polls. I am a political scientist by training, having earned a degree with departmental honors at Guilford College, an M.A. from the University of Nebraska, completed doctoral course work and comprehensive exams at Tulane University, and did advanced study in opinion research and statistics at the University of Michigan.

Key Findings of Jury Pool Analysis

4. Prospective jurors in the Eastern District of New York (EDNY) have decidedly negative impressions of the individual arrested in conjunction with the shooting on the Brooklyn subway on April 12, 2022. Their bias against the defendant is evident in numerous results and is reflected in a significant prejudgment of the case: a clear majority admit they would be inclined to vote "guilty" if they were serving on a jury at the defendant's trial. The attitudes of prospective jurors in EDNY are decidedly more hostile toward the defendant than prospective jurors in a demographically comparable federal court division, the Eastern Division of the Northern District in Illinois (EDNDIL).

5. The first part of this document describes the findings from the poll of jury-eligible citizens of ENDY. The next section compares the views of the EDNY jury pool with the jury-eligible citizens in EDNDIL.

The Eastern District of New York Jury Pool

6. The vast majority of jury-eligible citizens in the EDNY (69%) say they are "aware" that "a mass shooting took place in Sunset Park, Brooklyn, on the subway, on the morning of April 12, 2022." 29% say they are not aware of this, and 2% are not sure. See Appendix A, Q1.

7. A majority (57%) are aware that "a man was arrested in conjunction with this shooting." About half (49%) articulate specific memories of the incident. See Appendix A, Q2, Q3, Q4.

8. Most individuals eligible to serve on a jury in the EDNY have a prejudgment that the defendant is guilty. A majority (57%) think that "Frank James, the individual arrested for this shooting" is guilty of "the charges brought against him." Only 3% think he is not guilty. 14% volunteer that the question of guilty "depends," while 26% say they are not sure about his guilt. See Appendix A, Q5.

9. The commitment to this belief of guilt is more than loosely held. Despite the well-known legal standard that an individual should be treated as innocent until proven guilty, in this anonymous interview 51% admit that, if they were "on a jury for this defendant, Frank James," they would be "more likely to vote that he is guilty." Only 2% say they would vote "not guilty," and the remainder either volunteer uncertainty about their vote (23%) or do not express an opinion about their hypothetical votes as a juror (24%). See Appendix A, Q6.

10. Just under half (46%) of the EDNY jury pool members say that "most of the media coverage" that they "have seen, heard, or read" has suggested that Mr. James is most likely guilty of the charges brought against him. And the vast majority of those who say they have spoken to others about the case report that the people with whom they have spoken believe the defendant is guilty. See Appendix A, Q9, Q10.

11. Despite this widespread prejudgment about the defendant's guilt, most jury-eligible EDNY citizens (64%) express confidence that Mr. James will receive a "fair trial from a jury in this community." See Appendix A, Q7.

12. The expression of confidence that the defendant would receive a "fair trial" are in sharp contrast to the prejudgment revealed in responses to the questions about the respondents' opinion of guilt and how they would vote on a jury. The notion of what they mean by "fair trial" is colored by the fact that 67% of those who stated that they believe the defendants will receive a fair trial think the defendant is guilty, and 63% of them say they would vote "guilty" if a juror in the case.

13. This is not to say that prospective jurors know much about Mr. James beyond the judgment about his guilt. Only a little above one-quarter (29%) of the EDNY jury pool can articulate "things that you know about Frank James." When asked directly about the accuracy of several descriptions, the only two descriptions on which a majority will venture an opinion are "mentally ill" (45% think it is an accurate description, 4% say it is inaccurate) and "terrorist" (26% accurate, 20% inaccurate). See Appendix A, Q12.

14. Most members of the jury pool say they were not "affected" by the shooting (17% affected, 76% not affected), and most (73%) say they do not know anyone who was "affected" by the shooting. In contrast, 44% say that their response to the shooting was "a change in your perception of safety when riding the subway." 32% say the shooting led to "a change in your travel or commuting habits," and 30% say it caused a "change in your use of the subway system." A majority (54%) say they feel less safe when riding the subway because of the shooting, including 33% who say they feel MUCH less safe. See Appendix A, Q18, Q19.

Comparison of Jury-Eligible Citizens in the EDNY and in the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois

15. To provide context to the opinions of the jury pool in the EDNY, we compared the opinions of these prospective jurors about the defendant with those of prospective jurors in another federal court division.

16. The selection of the additional district in which to poll was based on numerous considerations and research into other divisions of the federal court system. From study and prior experience, we know that most urban areas in the United States have relative similar distribution of gender, age, and other demographic measures of the populations.

17. One of the biggest differences among the divisions is the racial composition. In that regard, the division with one of the closest approximations of the racial composition of the EDNY is the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois. Citizens in these two jurisdictions also have remarkably similar levels of formal education. The following table shows the racial composition of fourteen divisions.

	Race/Ethnicity			Associates
	White	Black	Hispanic	Degree or more
Eastern District of New York	41%	17%	22%	50%
Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois	52%	16%	22%	49%
District of the District of Columbia	41%	39%	11%	64%
Northern Division of Middle District of Alabama	55%	37%	3%	43%
Southern District of New York	43%	16%	30%	51%
Atlanta Division of Northern District of Georgia	40%	38%	12%	51%
Eastern Division of the Eastern District of Missouri	73%	17%	3%	48%
Eastern District of Pennsylvania	65%	16%	10%	46%
Norfolk Division of the Eastern District of Virginia	55%	29%	7%	45%
Eastern District of Louisiana	55%	29%	9%	38%
District of Delaware	62%	21%	9%	43%
Southern Division of Eastern District of Michigan	69%	18%	4%	43%
Middle District of North Carolina	62%	21%	9%	45%
District of Colorado	68%	5%	22%	41%

18. One could argue that the pool in the Southern District of New York is more similar to the EDNY than the one in the Illinois division. But one would expect that the SDNY would have similar levels of awareness of the shooting and the defendant. Other divisions with a comparable proportion of white citizens have significantly higher proportions of African American citizens than the EDNY and the division in Illinois.

19. Another obvious point of comparison between the EDNY and the division selected for comparison is the similarity of the vote in the most recent presidential election. In the EDNY, Biden defeated Trump by 63% to 36%. In the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois, the vote was 66%-32%. While formal education and political leanings traditionally are not factors to consider in selecting venue, the closeness of the divisions on these variables is another way of confirming the underlying similarities of the respective populations.

20. A poll with identical substantive questions was conducted in the EDNDIL over the same days as the poll in the EDNY discussed above.

21. Citizens in these two jurisdictions have different levels of awareness of the subway shooting in question (69% aware in EDNY, 44% in EDNDIL) and that a man was arrested in connection with the incident (57% aware in EDNY, 30% in EDNDIL). See Appendix A, Q1, Q2.

22. The jury pools also differ in the amount of media coverage they have seen about "the shooting, the investigations, the arrest, court proceedings and other stories about the incident." In the EDNY, only 29% say they have not seen or read any coverage. A majority (54%) of those in the EDNDIL say this despite this having been a prominent national story. It follows that prospective jurors in the EDNDIL are much less likely to recall having been exposed to media coverage communicating that the defendant is guilty (46% in EDNY, 34% in EDNDIL). See Appendix A, Q8, Q9.

23. More pertinent to the issue at hand, prospective jurors in the EDNY have more negative views of the defendant by a statistically significant margin on each of these questions as these examples show.

Comparison of opinions among prospective jurors in EDNY and EDNDIL
			NY	IL	Difference
Q5. Do you think that the individual arrested for this shooting is guilty or not guilty of the charges brought against him?		Guilty	57%	38%	+19
		Not guilty	3	1	-2
	Volunteered	(Depends)	14	17	-3
	Volunteered	(Don't know/refused)	26	45	-19
Q6. Assume you are on a jury for this defendant. Are you more likely to vote that he is guilty or not guilty?		Guilty	51%	34%	+17
		Not guilty	2	1	+1
	Volunteered	(Depends)	23	33	-10
	Volunteered	(Don't know/refused)	24	32	-8

24. This level of prejudgment about the defendant is also evident in the assessments of the accuracy of various descriptions of Mr. James. That is, while the jury pool in EDNY is only marginally more likely to be able to volunteer "things that you know about Frank James" (29% in EDNY, 19% in EDNDIL), the EDNY citizens are more likely than their EDNDIL counterparts to have opinions about whether Mr. James is "mentally ill," "terrorist," "racist," or "black nationalist." See Appendix A, Q11, Q12.

25. Despite this level of prejudgment, jury-eligible citizens in the EDNY are much more likely than those in the EDNDIL to think that the defendant will receive a "fair trial" (64% in EDNY say he will; 43% in EDNDIL say he will). See Appendix A, Q7.

26. By most every measure, prospective jurors in the EDNY are by a statistically significant margin more likely to have prejudged the guilt of Mr. James, to have been exposed to media coverage that they believe communicates his guilt, to have had discussions with individuals who believe him guilty, and to have been affected by the shooting than citizens in another division of the federal court system.

Sincerely yours,

s/

Tabular Report 1

PREFACE

The following tabular report is based on a survey of 400 residents who are eligible to serve on a jury in the Eastern District of New York and 400 in the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois. Telephone interviewing was conducted from October 29th through November 3rd, using a listed sample with cell phone numbers.

All polls are subject to errors caused by interviewing a sample of persons, rather than the entire population. In 95 cases out of 100, the responses to this survey should be within plus or minus 4.9 percentage points of those that would have been obtained from interviewing the entire adult population of either district who are eligible to serve on a jury. The sampling error for subgroups of the survey will be greater.

As with any survey, the release of selected figures from this report without the analysis that explains their meaning could be damaging to Select Litigation. Therefore, we reserve the right to correct any erroneous or misleading release of this data in any medium through the release of correct data or analysis.

HOW TO READ THE TABULAR REPORT

Always read down; the percentages in all the tables relate to the subgroups under which they appear. For example, on Page 1, Table 1, under the heading NY REGION BROOK the figure 116 indicates the number of respondents who say they live in Kings County, and the percentages below indicate the opinions of that subgroup for that particular question. The TOTAL column listed at the far left reflects the opinions of all survey respondents answering that particular question. If there is a star next to the count for the column, there are not enough respondents in that category to make an assumption about the representative status of those respondents. In addition, the following points may need further clarification.

- NY refers to those in the Eastern District of New York.
- ILL refers to those in the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois.

Banner 1

- NY REGION – Refers to the region of Eastern District of New York in which the respondent lives. See map for details.
- ILL REGION – Refers to the region of the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Illinois in which the respondent lives. COOK refers to that county, COLL refers to the three counties closest to Cook, and REST refers to the remaining counties in the division. See map for details.
- AGE
- SEX
- RACE

Banner 2

- EDUCATION – COLL refers to respondents with at least a bachelor's degree. LESS refers to all those without at least a bachelor's degree.
- SEX & RACE
- RACE & EDUCATION
- PARTY REG – Subdivides respondents based on whether they are registered as a DEMocrat, a REPublican, or OTHer. As Illinois does not have party registration, this was only asked in New York.

Banner 3

- THINK GUILTY – Indicates respondents' initial impression about whether they think Frank James is GUILTy or NOT.
- JURY VOTE – Indicates whether they would vote to find Frank James GUILTy or NOT guilty, or something else (OTH) were they to be on the jury in this case.
- FAIR TRIAL – Indicates whether they think Frank James would have a fair trial in their area or not.
- MEDIA COVERAGE – Indicates whether they think the media coverage has portrayed Frank James as likely GUILTy or likely NOT guilty, or something else (OTH) based on what they have seen or read.

Banner 4

- NY AFFECTED – Subdivides respondents based on whether they knew anyone who was affected or not by the subway shooting. KNOW ANY indicates they or someone they knew was affected, KNOW SELF indicates only they themselves were, KNOW OTH indicates someone they knew was affected, and KNOW NONE means that they or anyone they knew was not affected by the shooting.
- NY SUBWAY – Subdivides respondents based on whether they or someone they know were on the subway during the shooting, or if they take the N/R line regularly. DURING SUBWAY indicates they or someone they knew were on the subway during the shooting, NOT SUB indicates no one they knew were, DURING N/R indicates they or someone they knew were on the N/R line during the shooting, and DURING NOT N/R indicates no one they knew were. TAKE N/R indicates they or someone they know regularly take the N/R line, and NOT indicates no one they know does.
- NY CHANGES IN RESPONSE – Subdivides respondents based on their response to the subway shooting. TRAVEL indicates that they changed travel habits, SUBWAY indicates they changed their use of the subway, and SAFE indicates they changed how safe they felt on the subway. FEEL SAFE subdivides respondents based on whether they feel LESS safe or MORE/NO DIFFerent about riding the subway after the shooting.

360 A man brought a gun and smoke grenades onto the train, was not detected due to cameras being broken, and no officers being at the station. He detonated the smoke and shot a bunch of people. He proceeded to get off the train and was not apprehended until a bystander got him.
365 Smoke bomb. Glock. Gun jammed. He turned himself in.
368 The police fucked it up.
370 Just that it happened. It wasn't a politically motivated, so the media didn't give it much attention.
372 He shot at people in an underground Sunset Park station, the subway cameras were not working, he got away but then he was arrested on St. Marks and I think 3rd or 2nd the next day; I heard somebody recognized him but I also heard he turned himself in.
373 It was horrific.
375 Crazy guy from elsewhere came back to NY to do a shooting and shot a bunch of people on the N train.
376 My friend was one of the people who got shot.

378 He drove in from out of state, parked his vehicle, and boarded the subway with a number of guns. He had previously made several YouTube videos attacking racial minorities living in the city.
380 I do recall a story of Frank James opening gunfire on a busy NYC subway station. But I just assumed he would get the typical NYC slap on the wrist and free to go if you're a person of color.
381 He used a smoke bomb them began shooting. He was arrested a couple days later very close to where I work in the meat packing district.
382 Getting a call from my mother about it but not being aware otherwise.

171 Only that it was a rampage.
176 Saw on the news about the shooting.
179 I just saw in tv.
182 Shooting in suburbs.
183 That he shot 10 people.
184 Just that there was a shooting.
189 I just remember hearing about the shooting, and he was caught.
193 Hearing about it from the news.
195 It was a big shooting.
200 I remember more info on my feed on Facebook, more senseless deaths.
204 Randomly started shooting according to the news.
205 Subway shooting.
208 Ignorant man spiraled.
209 He killed a lot of people in the subway.
212 It was a terrible shooting.
216 He injured 10 people, but no one died.
219 Just saw in tv.
225 He just started shooting.
228 It took several days for a consistent story to come about. Lot of hype then nothing to report out here. I heard very little about it.
232 That he randomly was shooting at people.
233 He was loose for awhile and then they captured him.
235 Shooting.
239 I heard about this back in the spring.

382	I think he opened fire on the subway and I don’t remember how many people were injured and/or killed.
383	Shooting on subway, little else.
385	Just that a shooting occurred in Brooklyn.
387	Just his mug shot.
391	He shot people in a NYC subway.
396	Parents were dropping kids at school, via metro or train rail, when the shooting happened.
397	Many were injured.
399	African-America man. "Black nationalist" and seemed to hate anyone not Black. He had extreme views and used a handgun to shoot 9 or 10 people and caused injuries to dozens more.

Question 11. In your own words, what are some of the things that you know about Frank James? What are other things you know about Frank James? What else? Anything else?

Eastern District of New York.

1 That he has had some petty crimes before.
5 Only what I stated earlier, I know he has a sheet like most offenders today.
6 Might be insane.
10 He was the shooter. I don't know if people died. I put the blame on mayor Adams.
16 He is obviously guilty, and he needs to be treated as such, how did he get a gun anyway?

388 He had a lot of weapons and posted that he wanted to kill a lot of people on social media.
395 He put out videos online hating on white people, and Black people who date white people. He was a fan of MSNBC. Surprisingly nobody died even though he opened fire in a small, enclosed space. I was surprised they didn't release him on cashless bail because our state and local government cares more about criminals than normal people. Considering he knew he was wanted but decided to hang around for a day or so in the East Village and then he turned himself in, it's pretty obvious he's guilty. If he wasn't, he would have turned himself in immediately to explain that it wasn't him.
396 He mentioned something about homelessness.
399 He is mentally challenged.

Eastern Division of Northern District of Illinois.

17 Black man. mentally ill.

363 I know he was arrested in connection with the shooting. I believe he is middle aged and Black.
364 He is accused of a mass shooting on a NYC subway.
365 I'm pretty sure my first answer was never heard of this. After googling it since you keep asking me more questions about it, yea he's guilty. I understand folks are innocent until proven guilty, but that's to ensure innocent people aren't mistreated. What he did is disgusting and blatantly criminal and should not be protected as if there's a possibility, he might be innocent - give me a break!
371 Frank James was a Black man, who was battled mental issues and shared the poor quality of the services he received.
374 He deserves to die.
382 I believe he was a Black man with mental illness.
383 Mentally ill, African American.
387 I only remember his mug shot.
391 He used to live in Chicago and was a mean neighbor.
392 He's guilty & should be put to death by the system. We are too soft on crime.
397 He's a dangerous man who caused chaotic scene from his desire to hurt or kill people while going to work on the NY subway.
399 That he considers himself a Black Nationalist and has pretty extreme views.
