I said that our biggest need right now is to continue to get the message outside Washington so politicians would hear the same message from their constituents that they hear from us. I said that in addition to the Fiscal Wake Up Tour we have two other major programs that I wanted to mention.

The first is radio commercials. I reminded him that we are currently advertising on Sean Hannity and Laura Ingraham and the cost is about $2.5 million. I told him that we are currently negotiating with Rush Limbaugh to start that next year and that would be an additional $2 million.
