v. Case No.: CL22W-3079

STACEY DAVENPORT

ORDER

On the representation of The Honorable Steven C. McCallum, The Honorable Lynn S. Brice, The Honorable David E. Johnson, The Honorable Edward A. Robbins, Jr., The Honorable Jayne A. Pemberton, and The Honorable M. Duncan Minton, Jr. that they are so situated in respect to the above-styled cases pending in the Circuit Court of Chesterfield County as to render it impossible in their opinion for any of them to preside at the trial, accordingly, this is made a fact of record.

Therefore, it is ORDERED that the Clerk of Court certify this matter to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Virginia with the request that he designate an active or retired judge to preside at the trial of such case.

An absolutely superb young officer. Few better. Committed, tireless, the epitome of the "can do" officer. LT Webb dynamically managed the myriad of complex Group current operations, nearly 450 distinct missions during his tenure, in a position normally held by a Captain. Of note were his diligent efforts to codify and rationalize the Group's new mission focus in support of Army Force XXI developments. He instituted effective computer based planning tools which simplified planning and allowed for outyear projecting of mission requirements and tasking. He ensured effective CI augmentation mission planning for new Group overseas commitments in Bosnia, Honduras, England, Turkey, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, and Korea, plus a dozen joint and major command exercises. LT Webb also developed comprehensive mission plans which integrated new aspects of Information Operations and Defense Industrial Security support to over two dozen major CI surveys, Vulnerability assessments and a Army level year long RED TEAM threat simulation in support of the Advanced Warfighter Experiment. LT Webb also orchestrated the first ever recurring support by Air Force Information Warfare elements for Group's RED TEAMS and major vulnerability assessments. His high energy, enthusiasm, and spirit was signally responsible for motivating a small and junior section of three personnel to high levels of performance and esprit de corps despite near constant personnel turbulence. In all, a great performance.
