Call Report

[Redacted]

I brought an article from the National Review and let [Redacted] have it. It talked about how the major media fawns over President Obama, and [Redacted] loved it. He listens to Rush Limbaugh and Sean Hannity a lot, hears our commercials and is very excited to hear that our membership is growing so significantly and so quickly. He is very proud to be a Heritage supporter. It was good to be able to connect with him in the office. I tried to fit right in and didn't wear a tie or a jacket. We talked a lot about missile defense and several other issues. He mostly wanted to talk about how the liberals were running roughshod over the political and economical landscapes and gave me his perspective on their economic ideas moving forward.
