Hi Robyn,

I really enjoyed our time yesterday, thank you for meeting with me in your office. What a beautiful space. Tell Senator Birdwell that he doesn't need to update it, other than maybe including a Dr. Pepper machine in the space to represent Waco!

I actually had a question for you regarding Texas items, and I am not sure if you can help but worth a try. A colleague of mine has submitted a number of potential Texas double voters to the Elections Division at the end of last year. Is there a way to find out the status of these cases if I sent them all your way in 1 email?

I don't want to send more and make double work, but it would help to know if these were received and if these are being investigated. (If not, then I will submit them one by one to the TX SOS office using their bureaucratic form.)

Thank you!

Robyn,

The SOS Elections Division has received multiple emails from the anonymous sender Totes Legit Votes, including several messages that were sent collectively to our office and another state's elections department.

Due to the volume of messages submitted by the same sender, Secretary of State staff is not sending an acknowledgment in response to each and every such message. However, I can confirm that we have received numerous emails from Totes Legit Votes and that we are processing these notices in accordance with Section 31.006 of the Texas Election Code. (To that end, the Office has not assigned specific "case numbers" to the notices.) The sender does not need to submit the same information via the Secretary of State's election complaint form.

As these matters remain under review by our office, I cannot provide any substantive details regarding our evaluation of such matters at this time. Please feel free to send my contact information to Mr. Camacho if he has other questions for our office. I can also answer any questions that you have as well.

Mr. Bitter,

Mr. Camacho just called and explained he is blind copied on emails from an "anonymous tipster" (Totes Legit Votes) who told him a list of approximately 75 names of Texans who potentially committed vote fraud has already been submitted to SOS. He asks if that list is already being worked on without the individual SOS Election Complaint Forms being submitted. And, if so, asks if he could have case numbers.

He asked, if not, does he need to take the time to create a form for each individual name. He will spend the time doing so, if needed. The tipster told him he didn't need to but I told him the tipster may or may not be correct as it may be a SOS requirement per procedure.

Sincerely,
Robyn Morrison

Subject: Re: Great to Meet You!

Hi Robyn,

Instead of waiting I have already started submitting these myself and gotten investigations going in other states and TX.

But to the questions:

I know for a fact that none were submitted on the SoS elections complaint form.

These were sent in anonymously via a pseudonym (Totes Legit Votes) and I was blind copied on the email of 66 names and he also just sent me another list of about 9 more (75 total). I told him that I will fill in the forms as a citizen so that they have a formal complaint record for statistics and to have the claim going, and I am also submitting to the counties so that they can begin investigating and expediting each case. Told him that I will do them one at a time but it will take up to a month assuming no more are sent my way.

I am working my way through these sending in about 6-7 a day. Only as of today has the SoS begun to respond to me on receipt (still waiting on the 17 I sent in prior). At this rate it will take about 2+ weeks to send it all in on the forms and to all relevant counties/parties. But I also don't want these ones to be missed and to get away (if they really did commit voter fraud).

That said I believe that they have the emails from him but the giant list isn't helpful without the form nor notification of counties. But if they can confirm receipt of his, mine, and provide case numbers on anything I have submitted that'd be great. And would I get notified or any sort of credit? I already got an indictment and trial going on in Tennessee at the moment and other ones incoming.

I don't mind the tedious paperwork and emailing all parties so long as this helps get them in the system and moves these forward as it seems giant emails of names actually makes more work for everyone vs one at a time.

But let me know if I don't need to do. Honestly it might just require a phone call with me to go through the lists and sort out what they have.

I know for a fact that none were submitted on the SoS elections complaint form.

These were sent in anonymously via a pseudonym (Totes Legit Votes) and I was blind copied on the email of 66 names and he also just sent me another list of about 9 more (75 total). I told him that I will fill in the forms as a citizen so that they have a formal complaint record for statistics and to have the claim going, and I am also submitting to the counties so that they can begin investigating and expediting each case. Told him that I will do them one at a time but it will take up to a month assuming no more are sent my way.

I am working my way through these sending in about 6-7 a day. Only as of today has the SoS begun to respond to me on receipt (still waiting on the 17 I sent in prior). At this rate it will take about 2+ weeks to send it all in on the forms and to all relevant counties/parties. But I also don't want these ones to be missed and to get away (if they really did commit voter fraud).

That said I believe that they have the emails from him but the giant list isn't helpful without the form nor notification of counties. But if they can confirm receipt of his, mine, and provide case numbers on anything I have submitted that'd be great. And would I get notified or any sort of credit? I already got an indictment and trial going on in Tennessee at the moment and other ones incoming.

I don't mind the tedious paperwork and emailing all parties so long as this helps get them in the system and moves these forward as it seems giant emails of names actually makes more work for everyone vs one at a time.

But let me know if I don't need to do. Honestly it might just require a phone call with me to go through the lists and sort out what they have.

Hi Robyn,

I really enjoyed our time yesterday, thank you for meeting with me in your office. What a beautiful space. Tell Senator Birdwell that he doesn't need to update it, other than maybe including a Dr. Pepper machine in the space to represent Waco!

I actually had a question for you regarding Texas items, and I am not sure if you can help but worth a try. A colleague of mine has submitted a number of potential Texas double voters to the Elections Division at the end of last year. Is there a way to find out the status of these cases if I sent them all your way in 1 email?

I don't want to send more and make double work, but it would help to know if these were received and if these are being investigated. (If not, then I will submit them one by one to the TX SOS office using their bureaucratic form.)

Thank you!

Hello, Mr. Bitter,

Below is the response I received from Mr. Camacho. To give you some context, he is a constituent of Senator Birdwell's who happens to be Research Director for Matt Braynard's Look Ahead America. Senator Birdwell's office is not associated with the organization. I'm bringing this request to SOS only at the request of Mr. Camacho.

Thank you so much for your consideration of this information request, especially with lack of detail.

Robyn,

The SOS Elections Division has received multiple emails from the anonymous sender Totes Legit Votes, including several messages that were sent collectively to our office and another state's elections department.

Due to the volume of messages submitted by the same sender, Secretary of State staff is not sending an acknowledgment in response to each and every such message. However, I can confirm that we have received numerous emails from Totes Legit Votes and that we are processing these notices in accordance with Section 31.006 of the Texas Election Code. (To that end, the Office has not assigned specific "case numbers" to the notices.) The sender does not need to submit the same information via the Secretary of State's election complaint form.

As these matters remain under review by our office, I cannot provide any substantive details regarding our evaluation of such matters at this time. Please feel free to send my contact information to Mr. Camacho if he has other questions for our office. I can also answer any questions that you have as well.

Best regards,

Mr. Bitter,

Mr. Camacho just called and explained he is blind copied on emails from an "anonymous tipster" (Totes Legit Votes) who told him a list of approximately 75 names of Texans who potentially committed vote fraud has already been submitted to SOS. He asks if that list is already being worked on without the individual SOS Election Complaint Forms being submitted. And, if so, asks if he could have case numbers.

He asked, if not, does he need to take the time to create a form for each individual name. He will spend the time doing so, if needed. The tipster told him he didn't need to but I told him the tipster may or may not be correct as it may be a SOS requirement per procedure.

Sincerely,
Robyn Morrison

Hello, Mr. Bitter,

Below is the response I received from Mr. Camacho. To give you some context, he is a constituent of Senator Birdwell's who happens to be Research Director for Matt Braynard's Look Ahead America. Senator Birdwell's office is not associated with the organization. I'm bringing this request to SOS only at the request of Mr. Camacho.

Thank you so much for your consideration of this information request, especially with lack of detail.

Hi Robyn,

Instead of waiting I have already started submitting these myself and gotten investigations going in other states and TX.

But to the questions:

I know for a fact that none were submitted on the SoS elections complaint form.

These were sent in anonymously via a pseudonym (Totes Legit Votes) and I was blind copied on the email of 66 names and he also just sent me another list of about 9 more (75 total). I told him that I will fill in the forms as a citizen so that they have a formal complaint record for statistics and to have the claim going, and I am also submitting to the counties so that they can begin investigating and expediting each case. Told him that I will do them one at a time but it will take up to a month assuming no more are sent my way.

I am working my way through these sending in about 6-7 a day. Only as of today has the SoS begun to respond to me on receipt (still waiting on the 17 I sent in prior). At this rate it will take about 2+ weeks to send it all in on the forms and to all relevant counties/parties. But I also don't want these ones to be missed and to get away (if they really did commit voter fraud).

That said I believe that they have the emails from him but the giant list isn't helpful without the form nor notification of counties. But if they can confirm receipt of his, mine, and provide case numbers on anything I have submitted that'd be great. And would I get notified or any sort of credit? I already got an indictment and trial going on in Tennessee at the moment and other ones incoming.

I don't mind the tedious paperwork and emailing all parties so long as this helps get them in the system and moves these forward as it seems giant emails of names actually makes more work for everyone vs one at a time.

But let me know if I don't need to do. Honestly it might just require a phone call with me to go through the lists and sort out what they have.

Ian

Hi Robyn,

I really enjoyed our time yesterday, thank you for meeting with me in your office. What a beautiful space. Tell Senator Birdwell that he doesn't need to update it, other than maybe including a Dr. Pepper machine in the space to represent Waco!

I actually had a question for you regarding Texas items, and I am not sure if you can help but worth a try. A colleague of mine has submitted a number of potential Texas double voters to the Elections Division at the end of last year. Is there a way to find out the status of these cases if I sent them all your way in 1 email?

I don't want to send more and make double work, but it would help to know if these were received and if these are being investigated. (If not, then I will submit them one by one to the TX SOS office using their bureaucratic form.)

Thank you!

I wanted to see if I can put in for another scheduling request. My daughter's school, St. Laurence Catholic School 8th grade class, is visiting the Capitol next week, Tuesday, March 28. Do you or Secretary Nelson have a few minutes to meet with the group and take a photo? If so, would 9 am work? Tori mentioned that y'all have a cool flag room that is pretty interesting to this age group??

Good morning Joe,

I just wanted to follow up with you. We have scheduled room 3W.15 from 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm to be used by the Korean Consulate for tomorrow March 23. They will also be attending the caucus meeting at 3:00 pm in the Ag Museum.

I apologize for the late notices of everything as I know you and Senator Nelson have full schedules.

Hi Joe,

We have a couple of options for Thursday schedules and some things that are definitely confirmed and I highlighted a question for you:

Confirmed:

- Recognizing the Korean CG from the House floor
- Taiwan Econ and Cultural Office attending the Caucus Meeting at 2:30 in the Ag Museum (this is somewhat informal as they will have a more formal event at the Capitol on another day). Senator Nelson is of course welcome to stop by and say hello, but there will be little in the way of formal programming.
- Korean CG and Korean media attending the Korean Caucus Meeting at 3:00 in the Ag Museum
- Secretary Nelson is of course invited to participate in any part of it, but the Korean Consulate would love to have her give remarks sometime after 3:00 if she is interested and available.

Still tentative:

- Location and time for the reception with the Korean Consulate. This will likely be at 1:30ish after they adjourn on the House floor. We are keeping all of this tentative a bit because we are struggling to find a room that can accommodate food on so little notice, but that is the only sticking point. Do you have any ideas for this? If not we will get creative. Once this time and location are nailed down, we will of course invite Secretary Nelson to this as well, though I understand this may be more of a conflict for her schedule.

- Senate floor schedule. We do not know what time this will be, but Senator Blanco will read the resolution recognizing the 70th Anniversary of the ROK, US alliance. It is HCR 87.

Thank you for all of your help and please let me know if you have any questions!

Dear Sean,

On behalf of Representative Jetton and the Friends of Taiwan Caucus, I would like to extend an invitation to you and your delegation to attend our upcoming Friends of Taiwan Caucus meeting. The meeting will take place on March 23 at 3:00 pm at The Agricultural Museum in the capitol. We want to let you know that this will be a pretty quick, logistics-oriented meeting, but we would also like to discuss scheduling a more formal meeting when we will be reading the bill on the House floor. If you have any date preferences for this more formal meeting, please let us know and we will do our best to accommodate your schedule.

Please let us know if you are able to attend the meeting on March 23, so that we can make the necessary arrangements. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Hello gentlemen:

I hope you are well. I was recently engaged by ERIC. I'd like to come by to discuss the attached. We just want to make sure that everyone involved in this bill fully understands its true impact, which is (we believe):

- i) Forcing the SOS to pull out of ERIC, before there is any alternative organization; and
- ii) Leaving Texas "partially blind" in the upcoming 2024 election cycle (including in the presidential election), unable to detect double-registrations or double-voting.

We are also providing alternate language for the bill authors' consideration, which would leave the timing of any withdrawal from ERIC to SOS Nelson, and instead encourage her to:

- i) actively advocate within ERIC for desired changes to the ERIC membership agreement and
- ii) actively explore the possibility of joining/forming an alternative organization.

I'll swing by soon, or let me know a time that works for you.

Thanks,

RP

Comments on SB 1070 by Hughes/Jetton

SB 1070 would force Secretary of State Nelson to withdraw Texas from ERIC. According to the Secretary of State’s staff, this withdrawal would likely occur in the Summer or Fall of 2024, before the upcoming 2024 general election. Staff explains that the ERIC membership agreement requires Texas to periodically reach out to eligible but unregistered Texas voters. The next time Texas will be required to do this is likely the Summer or Fall of 2024. SB 1070 forbids Texas from participating in any organization that requires such action; see proposed subsection (e) of the bill.

SB 1070 would leave Texas “partially blind” in the upcoming 2024 election cycle (including in the presidential election), unable to detect double-registrations or double-voting. If SOS Nelson is forced to withdraw Texas from ERIC, Texas will be powerless to even identify serious registration and voting irregularities in the 2024 election, let alone stop them or prosecute them. This is because there is currently no alternative organization that will identify voters who are registered in more than one state; or even voters who have illegally voted in both Texas and in another state in the same election. And it is highly unlikely that an alternative multistate organization with access to that type of data can be formed before the 2024 election.

SB 1070 is not needed to allow SOS Nelson to leave ERIC, or to allow her to join (or even form) another multistate organization. SOS Nelson already has full authority under current law to:

- i) Withdraw Texas from ERIC at any time;
- ii) Advocate with other Republican states within ERIC for desired changes to the membership agreement; and
- iii) Explore creating, and perhaps leading, an alternative organization.

An amended SB 1070 could achieve the authors’ objectives without undermining Texas election integrity. The legislature can pass an amended SB 1070 to achieve the bill authors’ objectives with regards to ERIC, without leaving Texas “blind” to potential voter fraud in the 2024 election. The amended bill could encourage SOS Nelson to i) actively advocate within ERIC for desired changes to the membership agreement and ii) actively explore the possibility of joining/forming an alternative organization. But it could leave the timing of any withdrawal from ERIC to SOS Nelson. (See attached.)

(A) whose addresses have changed;

(B) who are registered to vote in more than one state;

(C) who are deceased; or

(D) who are not eligible to vote for another reason, including a felony conviction; or

(E) who have improperly voted by:

(ii) voting in this state and in another state in the same election;

(iii) voting on behalf of a deceased voter.

(b) A system developed under this section must comply with the National Voter Registration Act of 1993 (52 U.S.C. Section 20501 et seq.) and the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (52 U.S.C. Section 20901 et seq.).

(c) The cost to begin operations with a system may not exceed $100,000.

(d) The cost of continuing operations with a system may not exceed one dollar for each voter identified under Subsection (a).

(e) The secretary of state may not provide to a system any information that is not necessary to identify voters under Subsection (a).

(f) The secretary of state shall record information related to the system and shall submit to the legislature a report on that information not later than the first day of each quarter of the state's fiscal year.

(g) If the state is a member of a system, the secretary of state shall actively advocate with other states within a system for agreement that the system may not require any additional duty of the state beyond the provision of information and the identification of voters required by this section.

(h) The secretary of state shall actively explore the possibility of the state forming or joining a system that does not require any additional duty of the state beyond the provision of information and the identification of voters required by this section.

SECTION 2. This Act takes effect September 1, 2023.
