Ms. Wyer:

I am writing in hopes of avoiding another FOIA lawsuit against your client, the FBI. This potential suit involves a September 26, 2015, FOIA Request that I submitted to the FBI for documents related to Roger Edwin Moore's involvement in an FBI sting operation known as "Punch Out." A copy of that FOIA request is attached.

On April 23, 2016, I was informed by the FBI that there were 32, 580 pages and 1 DVD of responsive records. I was also asked by the FBI if I would agree to be responsible for approximately $1,000 in production costs to receive these records. A copy of that request is also attached.

I immediately wrote to the FBI agreeing to pay production costs in an amount up to $1000. That response is attached, too.

In February of 2016, I was asked by the FBI to reduce the scope of my FOIA Request, which I refused to do. That request and my response is likewise attached.

Since then, I have repeatedly contacted your client to ask when I would be receiving the documents and DVD? I even demanded to be placed on the FBI's expedited Interim Release Program whereby responsive documents are released on a CD in 500-page increments/segments as processing is completed. I did not receive a response from your client to those requests.

It has now been over 8-1/2 years since I submitted my FOIA Request and I have received nothing from your client. I would, therefore, appreciate it if you would follow up and ask the FBI to immediately produce the documents. Otherwise, I will be forced to commence lawsuit to obtain them, and that I would rather not have to do.
