Dear Chief FOIA Officer,

I am writing on behalf of my client, Chinese American Legal Defense Alliance (“CALDA”). CALDA is a nonprofit organization registered in New Jersey and California. Their contact address for this request is: 7901 Stoneridge Drive #208, Pleasanton, CA 94588; and email address is czhu@dehengsv.com.

I. REQUEST

CALDA, pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”), makes the following requests:

1. All emails to or from Matthew Olsen, Assistant Attorney General for National Security, former Director of the National Counterterrorism Center, since January 1, 2014, concerning the investigation or prosecution of any professors of a U.S. university regarding any of the following subjects:
 - their possible ties or affiliation with China;
 - their possible theft of U.S. technology or trade secrets for China;
 - their possible acts of espionage for China;
 - their possible failure to disclose their ties or affiliations with China; or
 - their possible failure to disclose their income received from China.

2. All emails to or from John C. Demers, former Assistant Attorney General for National Security, concerning the investigation or prosecution of any professors of a U.S. university regarding any of the following subjects:
 - their possible ties or affiliation with China;
 - their possible theft of U.S. technology or trade secrets for China;

- their possible acts of espionage for China;
 - their possible failure to disclose their ties or affiliations with China; or
 - their possible failure to disclose their income received from China.
3. All records, reports, training materials, policy directives, and emails to and from the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning the investigation or prosecution of any professors of a U.S. university regarding any of the following subjects:
- their possible ties or affiliation with China;
 - their possible theft of U.S. technology or trade secrets for China;
 - their possible acts of espionage for China;
 - their possible failure to disclose their ties or affiliations with China; or
 - their possible failure to disclose their income received from China.

II. TIME FRAME OF THIS REQUEST

For all requests listed above, the time frame is identified for the creation of or receipt of records to include January 1, 2014 through the time that the agency conducts its search for responsive records.

III. INFORMATION HELPFUL TO FULFILLING THIS REQUEST

In November of 2018, the Department of Justice (DOJ) announced the start of the “China Initiative.” Then-Attorney General Jeff Sessions stated that: “This Initiative will identify priority Chinese trade theft cases, ensure that we have enough resources dedicated to them, and make sure that we bring them to an appropriate conclusion quickly and effectively.”¹ Intense publicity campaigns by the FBI to Corporate America² and Academia³ followed to justify and mobilize a whole-of-government effort with massive federal dollars and resources.

The FBI also implemented threat awareness sessions at universities, circulating information singling out China as a threat and labeling students, faculty, and researchers as 'non-traditional collectors'.⁴

According to a Bloomberg News analysis of the 50 indictments displayed on the China Initiative webpage, the program hadn't "been very successful at catching spies."⁵ Most of the cases listed by December 17, 2021, involved individual profiteering or career advancement by the accused, rather than state-directed spying. Despite this, many of these indictments portray the alleged thefts as for the benefit of China. Seton Hall University law professor Margaret Lewis described this as "a conflation of individual motives with a country's policy goals" that has led to the criminalization of "China-ness."Id.

Disturbingly, the "China Initiative" amplified a new xenophobic label of "non-traditional collectors," which was first used by FBI Director Christopher Wray.⁶ This term prompted concern from Asian Americans and civil rights groups across the country. For example, a group of 14 advocacy organizations signed a letter to Director Wray expressing their concerns that the "well-intentioned public policies might nonetheless lead to troubling issues of potential bias, racial profiling, and wrongful prosecution."⁷

Furthermore, civil rights leaders have raised concerns about the "China Initiative" and have called for its immediate end. In January 2021, the Asian Pacific American Justice (APA Justice), along with the Brennan Center for Justice and the Asian Americans Advancing Justice (AAJC), sent a letter to then President-Elect Biden that was signed by almost 70 other organizations raising concerns about the "China Initiative" and calling for its end.⁸

Importantly, within the Asian American community, there is a significant amount of anecdotal evidence regarding profiling of Asian Americans. Former University of Tennessee Knoxville (UTK) Professor Anming Hu⁹ was the first case of an academic to go to trial under the "China Initiative" in June 2021. The trial revealed the zeal of the misguided "China Initiative" and FBI agent Kujtim Sadiku to criminalize Professor Hu with reckless and deplorable tactics¹⁰ of spreading false information to cast him as a spy for China and press him to become a spy for the U.S. government. When these efforts failed, the DOJ brought charges against Professor Hu for intentionally hiding his ties to a university in China, which also fell apart upon cross examination of UTK officials during the trial. After the presiding judge declared a mistrial with a hung jury, a juror commented¹¹ that "[i]t was the most ridiculous case." About the FBI, she added: "If this is who is protecting America, we've got problems." Despite these backdrops, the DOJ announced its intent to retry the case, including the utterly ironic allegation that Professor Hu made false statements to federal agents.

This case prompted further scrutiny from the U.S. Congress. On June 18, 2021, three Members of Congress sent a letter to the Inspector General of the Department of Justice requesting information about Professor Anming Hu's case and the practices of the "China Initiative" more broadly. Then, on July 30, 2021, over 90 Members of Congress from both the House of Representatives and the Senate sent a letter to Attorney General Merrick Garland requesting information about the “China Initiative.”¹² In this letter, they “request whether, under the ‘China Initiative,’ there is a written or unwritten policy, program, pattern or practice to target people based on their race, ethnicity or national origin.”

The Initiative has created a sense among Asian Americans in academia of feeling “uneasy,” “profil[ed],” “targeted,” and “fear[ful].”^{13 14} In fact, the issue has preceded the case of Professor Anming Hu. In February 2020, the Subcommittee on Civil Rights and Civil Liberties of the House Oversight Committee launched an investigation into the Federal Bureau of Investigation’s (FBI) handling of probes of ethnically Chinese scientists.¹⁵ This investigation was based on concerns that the FBI was targeting and discriminating against scientists of Chinese ethnicity.

On June 30, 2021, Representative Jamie Raskin, Chair of the House Oversight Subcommittee on Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, and Representative Judy Chu, Chair of the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus (CAPAC), held a Congressional roundtable on this issue entitled: “Researching while Chinese American: Ethnic Profiling, Chinese American Scientists and a New American Brain Drain.”¹⁶

The DOJ publishes press releases regarding updates to cases that are considered “China Initiative” cases.¹⁷ Based on the press releases on the DOJ website, it appears that investigations relating to the “China Initiative” are conducted – at the very least – by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), the National Security Division (NSD), Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) including but not limited to their Office of Inspector General, and the various United States Attorneys’ Offices in the states where the charges are eventually made. Additionally, other federal agencies appear to also be involved with these investigations including but not limited to, the National Institute of Health (NIH), the Federal Drug Administration (FDA), National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA), Department of Energy

(DOE), and other agencies associated with federal funding and grants for research, including funding from the National Science Foundation (NSF). Some of these investigations are assisted by various American academic institutions. Furthermore, based on the charging documents linked to the press release page on the DOJ website, our request includes the most common federal charges brought against those accused in cases seemingly related to enforcement of the “China Initiative.”

The USD (R&E) is composed of three major entities, one of which is the Directorate for Research and Technology (DDR&E (R&T)).¹⁸ The DDR&E (R&T) is responsible for the “oversight of the labs, Federally Funded Research and Development Centers (FFRDC), University Affiliated Research Centers (UARC), and academic research.”^{19 20} As stated on its website, the DDR&E (R&T) has a goal to take a “balanced approach between maintaining scientific collaboration and protecting American scientific advances from illicit exploitation.”²¹ Thus, the USD (R&E) is likely involved in the implementation of the “China Initiative” and likely to have records responsive to this request.

In addition to the USD (R&E), the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) is also likely involved in the implementation of the “China Initiative.” Whereas demonstrated above, much of the work conducted in the name of the “China Initiative” is done through the enforcement of a particular set of federal laws relating to the allocation and administration of federal grants and work visas for scientific research in academia and the commercial sector. DARPA works closely with academic, corporate, and governmental partners.²² DARPA’s website indicates that “universities are an integral part of the innovation ecosystem, and DARPA seeks robust engagement directly with potential university partners,” and provides several links for academics to apply for grant funding.²³

The DARPA website also states that, “[i]n order to identify and mitigate undue foreign influence, as required by Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering (USD (R&E)), DARPA has established a policy and process to identify potential foreign influenced conflicts of interest or commitment.”²⁴ Therefore, the Office of the Secretary of the Defense and Joint Staff should direct its counterparts, the USD (R&E), DARPA, and others involved in the administration of federal grants, to conduct a search for records responsive to this request.

IV. HOW RESPONSIVE RECORDS SHOULD BE PROVIDED

CALDA requests copies of the responsive records for this FOIA request be provided in a digital format, either via email, or stored on a thumb drive, CD, or other electronic data storage device. Providing these records in an electronic format will save agency staff processing time, as well as reducing the cost of making paper copies of all responsive records. See 5 U.S.C. §552 (a)(3)(B).

V. APPLICATION FOR EXPEDITED PROCESSING

In this case, CALDA contends that there has been and will be a substantial loss of due process rights to CALDA's members and to the Chinese American community in general. The subject matter of this request has been and continues to be a subject of widespread and exceptional media interest which raises questions of the government's integrity which affect public confidence.

CALDA requests expedited processing pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E). There is a "compelling need" for these records, as defined in the statute, because the information requested is "urgen[tly]" needed by an organization primarily engaged in disseminating information "to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity."²⁵

A. The Urgency of Obtaining the Requested Records

The records requested are urgently needed to inform the public about possible ongoing civil rights violations being carried out by the government in its pursuit of the "China Initiative." Beyond the government's likely discriminatory prosecutions under this initiative, the effect of the unlawful discrimination is likely having a chilling effect on the collaboration and free association rights of Asian Americans, especially concerning their roles and opportunities in academic and scientific institutions. Thus, it's no coincidence that former China Initiative Steering Committee member and former U.S. Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, Andrew Lelling, stated that the initiative's purpose was to have a "chilling effect on collaboration with the Chinese."²⁶

Consequently, history has demonstrated that when certain countries of origin become a focus of national security issues, innocent people in the United States with perceived ethnic or cultural ties to the targeted country, can easily become victims of unlawful discriminatory behavior. As explained in the section above (III. "Information Helpful to Fulfilling this Request"), this discrimination appears to already be taking place and requires immediate transparency and action to stop it. Therefore, this FOIA request is extremely time sensitive.

This request will shed light on government actions that are negatively affecting a significant public interest. As thoroughly cited and discussed in the section above (III. "Information Helpful to Fulfilling this Request") numerous civil rights groups and Congressional Members and Committees have demonstrated very real concerns over the negative consequences the "China Initiative" has – and continues to have – on Asian Americans. These concerns have already been exemplified by the numerous cases cited above where individuals were seemingly targeted by the justice system based primarily on their ethnicity, and not the evidence, because time and time again the necessary evidence was never produced. These types of examples highlight concerns that innocent people are currently being swept up in counter-intelligence initiatives, which is reminiscent of a "new Red Scare."²⁷

²⁵ 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II)

²⁶ Catherine Matacic, "U.S. attorneys warn of upcoming 'spike' in prosecutions related to China ties", Feb. 7, 2020, <https://www.sciencemag.org/news/2020/02/us-attorneys-warn-upcoming-spike-prosecutions-related-china-ties>

²⁷ "Raskin and Chu Launch Investigation into NIH and FBI Probes of Chinese Scientists," House Oversight Committee, February 20, 2020, <https://oversight.house.gov/news/press-releases/raskin-and-chu-launch-investigation-into-nih-and-fbi-probes-of-chinese>

Therefore, there is a compelling need for the information requested in this FOIA action because it would provide the public and government officials the clarity and context to properly scrutinize and alter how investigations under the new “China Initiative” are being conducted. Thus, it would help answer urgent questions regarding racial profiling prompted by the “China Initiative;” a government activity that’s affecting a significant public interest.

B. CALDA’s Primary Purpose for the Request is to Inform the Public about the Government’s Activity

CALDA is the United States’ first and only non-profit organization dedicated to providing free and direct legal representation to all Chinese Americans who have suffered racial discrimination and hatred. Their mission is to seek justice and racial equality through litigation and other legal actions. While justice is achieved directly through their litigation process, racial equity is achieved through their public relation and public awareness campaigns that reveal the injustices exemplified by their litigation.

CALDA has many different means in which to widely disseminate the information it receives and generates from the records released by this request. Their main media channels include the social media platform WeChat. There, they have the ability to reach out to hundreds of thousands of Chinese Americans. Additionally, CALDA’s website (www.caldausa.org) can reach out to millions of Chinese Americans. CALDA also has access to public relations firms that can publish stories on traditional national media platforms within the United States.

With regard to the “China Initiative,” CALDA is also working directly with multiple nationwide nonprofits including Asian Americans Advancing Justice, the ACLU, the Cato Institute, and APA Justice. All these organizations have proven their capability and willingness to help disseminate the information CALDA receives or generates from its own litigation and FOIA efforts. Lastly, CALDA’s board members are active in the dissemination of information relating to racial justice and equity. Many of them have been making presentations on different media platforms that are viewed by tens of thousands of people.

Therefore, the records, and the information that CALDA generates from this FOIA request, will quickly and widely be disseminated to the public. In doing so, it can create the transparency and political will necessary to alter the government’s activity which continues to negatively affect a significant public interest; the unwarranted and unlawful discrimination of Asian Americans under the direction of the “China Initiative.”

VI. PUBLIC INTEREST FEE WAIVER REQUESTED

Under the Freedom of Information Act, a requester seeking a fee waiver must demonstrate with reasonable specificity that the requested information is likely to contribute significantly to the public understanding of government operations and activities. See 5 U.S.C. § 552. When considering a public interest fee waiver request, courts generally consider (1) the substance of the request, (2) the informative value of the information, (3) the requester's ability to disseminate the information, and (4) the likelihood that the information will contribute significantly to the public understanding. Public Empl. for Env'tl. Responsibility v. United States DOC, 968 F. Supp. 2d 88, 100 (D.D.C 2013).

Under FOIA fees are assessed in accordance with the Department of Justice FOIA/PA regulations, based on three categories of requestors:

1. Commercial requesters—charged for search time, document review, and duplication;
2. News media, educational, and scientific requesters—charged for duplication only after the first 100 pages; and
3. All other requesters—charged for search time (after two hours) and duplication (the first 100 pages are free).

Generally, “requester category” means one of the three categories in which agencies place requesters for the purpose of determining whether a requester will be charged fees for search, review and duplication; categories include commercial requesters, noncommercial scientific or educational institutions or news media requesters, and all other requesters. The term “fee waiver” means that processing fees will be waived, or reduced, if a requester can demonstrate that certain statutory standards are satisfied including that the information is in the public interest and is not requested for a primarily commercial interest. The DOJ website further states that no search fees will be charged for requests by educational institutions, noncommercial scientific institutions, or representatives of the news media, unless the records are sought for a commercial use.

Here, CALDA’s FOIA request, and the history and objectives of the CALDA organization, demonstrate its qualifications to receive a Public Interest Fee Waiver. First, as described in the sections above, the substance of the request is designed to expose the discriminatory effect of the government’s actions surrounding the implementation of the “China Initiative.”

Secondly, also described above, the information sought is highly valuable because the request is designed to show that the government’s actions in pursuit of implementing the “China Initiative” are likely – directly or indirectly – having a discriminatory effect upon Asian Americans. The records released because of this request are likely to demonstrate the disparate discriminatory impact the “China Initiative” has had upon Asian Americans. Therefore, the release and analysis of these records will very likely create the transparency and political will necessary to create procedural safeguards to protect Asian Americans from the unnecessary and unlawful discrimination within the justice system, as well as in academic and scientific institutions.

Thirdly, and also described in the section above, CALDA is perfectly situated to widely disseminate the records sought, as well as the information generated from the analysis of the records sought. CALDA has demonstrated its ability and intent to widely disseminate any information derived from this request through its media apparatus as well as other organizations it works closely with.

Finally, the information sought is very likely to significantly contribute to the public understanding of the disparate impact the “China Initiative” has had on Asian Americans. Records released from this request will illustrate whether there has been an uptick in serious federal charges against Asian Americans since the start of the “China Initiative.” By requesting records before and after the start of the “China Initiative,” it will allow a thorough analysis of the effect the “China Initiative” has had on Asian Americans, and whether that increased scrutiny has been justified, or has been improperly prompted by discriminatory stereotypes.

In the event that our waiver is not granted and you comply with all time requirements, we are willing to pay up to $40 for the records sought. See paragraph VIII for more information.

VII. POLICY AND LEGAL DIRECTION FOR OPEN GOVERNMENT

Disclosure of the above referenced agency records are also sought in order to promote government transparency, and to reflect the Administration’s policy to support our nation’s fundamental commitment to open government. As the Supreme Court has observed, “virtually every document generated by an agency is available in one form or another, unless it falls within one of the Act’s nine exemptions.” NLRB v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 421 U.S. 132, 136 (1975).

FOIA was designed to “pierce the veil of administrative secrecy and to open agency action to the light of public scrutiny,” see, e.g., Dept. of the Air Force v. Rose, 425 U.S. 352, 361 (1976), and in order “to ensure an informed citizenry, vital to the functioning of a democratic society, needed to check against corruption and to hold the governors accountable to the governed.” NLRB v. Robbins Tire & Rubber Co., 437 U.S. 214, 242 (1978); see also Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1310 (D.C. Cir. 2003); United States Dept. of Justice v. Reporters Comm. for Freedom of the Press, 489 U.S. 749, 773 (1989).

The above-described agency records are subject to disclosure under FOIA, and are not otherwise exempt from disclosure pursuant to FOIA’s nine statutory exemptions. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(1) - (9). To the extent that a determination is made by your FOIA office staff that any limited portions of the records listed above will be withheld from disclosure for this request, FOIA expressly requires all agencies to disclose “[a]ny reasonably segregable portion of a record . . . after deletion of the portions of the record which are exempt.” 5 U.S.C. §552(b). See, e.g., Oglesby v. U.S. Dept. of Army, 79 F.3d 1172, 1178 (D.C. Cir. 1996); see also Abdelfattah v. U.S. Dept. Of Homeland Security, 488 F.3d 178, 186-187 (3rd Cir).

The 2007 Openness Promotes Effectiveness in our National Government Act amendments to FOIA (the “OPEN Government Act”) requires identification of the amount of any material withheld, the location of any withholdings, a direct reference to the specific statutory exemption supporting each withholdings asserted, and if technically possible, also require that this information shall “be indicated at the place in the record where such deletion is made.” See 5 U.S.C. § 552(b).

VIII. CONSEQUENCES OF AGENCY FAILURE TO COMPORT

An effect of the 2007 Amendments was to impose consequences on agencies that fail to comport with FOIA's requirements. See S.Rep. No. 110-59. To underscore Congress's belief in the importance of the statutory time limit, the 2007 Amendments declare that "[a]n agency shall not assess search fees ... if the agency fails to comply with any time limit" of FOIA. § 552(a)(4)(A)(viii) (emphasis added). Bensman v National Park Service, 806 F.Supp.2d 31 (DCD 2011).

Therefore, I would appreciate your assistance in expressly identifying any exempt responsive records (or portions thereof) and the applicable FOIA exemptions for any responsive materials withheld for this FOIA request.

Please inform my office in writing if there are any "unusual circumstances" that will cause delay in responding to this FOIA request, or providing the records which are requested, and in addition, please provide the approximate date that you anticipate a final response will be provided.

IX. AUTHORIZATION

The Board of Directors of CALDA has authorized the Sorenson Law Office to make this request on their behalf. CALDA has also authorized the Sorenson Law Office to receive records on behalf of CALDA.
