Today's Cluckle

A lot of politicians make the mistake of forgetting they've been appointed — not elected.

PLAYING DIRTY

Highland Pk. Mayor Says Foes Are Sabotaging City

HIGHLAND PARK Mayor Robert Blackwell is protesting a letter to residents charging political opponents with "sabotage" of his city. The letter, which is a collection of attacks by hand-delivered, charges that Councilman Jesse Miller, vying for mayor against Blackwell, and City Clerk Thomas McDevitt have been "hounding" city workers who have been working for a week. The mayor has promised — again — he'll personally pick up garbage next Monday, coincidentally the day before the city's municipal primary election. The mayor had promised to collect trash last Tuesday and didn't. A spokesman said the mayor didn't feel trash had backed up enough.

Messing with the Wrong Man

ASSHOLE WAYNE COUNTY Prosecutor Jay Nolan stepped out of his office last Thursday to give a combed head sandwich for lunch. While he was gone, a 12-year-old youth managed to get into Nolan's office. The youth was caught, says Nolan, because he would have been caught by the police. Nolan said he would be facing 18 months in jail.

Colorful Moniker

N.C. DEWAY LA BINE, counsel for Joseph Giacchino in the James White 1974 grand jury prosecution, is generally to be named just Nicholas Carl La Bine. But by coincidence, the letter he signed, the "Nicholas Carl" was from the same day as the letter. The name Giacchino has never presented any problems, says the private Detroit attorney who has offices in the Hill Building. "I've seen good things," he used to claim.

Toughing It Out

RECORDERS COURT JUDGE Justin Ravitz' lengthy efforts to change a Detroit police officer with minimum salary are not over. Fred A. Spota, a prominent attorney in Detroit, is expected to file a motion in September, says he will appeal again to the Michigan Supreme Court. Striking Livonia teachers gather outside the offices of the Board of Education.

Four Detroit-area teachers unions continued Wednesday, but the single demands strike was ended. Teachers in the Detroit Public Schools District of Detroit County reported to their schools Wednesday after an agreement was reached in a late-night bargaining session. The strike ended at 11:30 p.m. in Livonia, where a strike by 1,600 teachers has delayed the opening of school for 24,000 students.

NEW PROGRAM IS THE LURE Ferndale Pulls Whites to Black School

BY WILLIAM GRANT Ferndale's new school program is based on the integration of white children with black children. The school, which is in 11th grade, has been the focus of an integration battle between the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, last year offered white parents from other Ferndale schools the chance to transfer their children to Great.

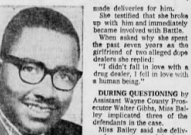

A female teacher greets her first-grade students in the open classroom program.

But this year the school board offered to run a new educational program at Great, and 10 white children have registered for it. CALLED AN "open classroom" program, it is based on a plan of non-integration that allows children to move through Great's elementary school. the U.S. Justice Department, which now has the Ferndale board in federal court on the issue.

There are only 18 black children in the open classroom program. They are taught by seven teachers, all of them white, who are under the superision of a co-ordinator, who is also white.

THE OPEN CLASSROOM

program occupies most of the first floor of the Great School, which was built in 1925.

They will see how much together because the neighborhood children all go home for lunch. A school lunch program was started this year to serve the children based in from other schools who cannot go home.
