I'm a Law Enforcement Investigator, it's a very sad world out there how a dealership, yes a dealership can do title fraud and allow for someone to bring in someone else's vehicle and use it for a trade in and not contact the actual owner of the vehicle. This dealership is being investigated. Just shows that Owners of car dealerships don't care how they make there money or that a car is stolen. The car is being tracked. We will pick it up and charges will be filed against the dealership for taking a stolen Vehicle. The General Manager has been advised of this situation and decided to do nothing about it. Odd how the car had 22638 miles and since the dealership was notified of the car being stolen it now has 24788 on it. This dealership takes stolen vehicles for trade to make there money. BEWARE OF THERE FRAUD!!
