Hi Bobby,

Happy to look over where you are getting your numbers from regarding the phase 1 trials. Here is the data from phase 3.

So so nice that you are in Mexico! I'm in the Poconos with Dave and the kids where it was about 15 degrees today!

Sending you many hugs.

The data I shared with you about the 100% injury rate after 2d dose and 21% serious injury in high dose and 6% in low dose is from the phase 1 trials. I'm happy to see that Moderna somehow brought those down in the phase 3 trials. The New York Times has never talked to me about vaccines. If you see a factual error that I've made, please let me know. I hope you had a happy Christmas despite the difficult year. We will be back from Mexico next week. Love Bobby

Bobby,

I've not heard of a 100% injury rate for the moderna vaccine-- that does sound very dangerous. I just looked at the adverse event rate myself and it says "The most common solicited adverse reactions associated with mRNA-1273 were injection site pain (91.6%), fatigue (68.5%), headache (63.0%), muscle pain (59.6%), joint pain (44.8%), and 6 Moderna COVID-19 Vaccine VRBPAC Briefing Document chills (43.4%); severe adverse reactions occurred in 0.2% to 9.7% of participants, were more frequent after dose 2 than after dose 1, and were generally less frequent in participants ≥65 years of age as compared to younger participants."

As of me writing you, over 2 million people in the U.S. have received the pfizer or moderna vaccine and only 6 people have had severe allergic reactions. That is 0.0003%. By comparison, almost 11% of Americans consider themselves to have a food allergy and a quarter of those people carry epi-pens.

The "experimental technology" that you speak of is also very safe. The way messenger RNA works is to stimulate our own cells to make the spike protein on the coronavirus. It then creates antibodies to that protein. It's a smart way to make a vaccine because we aren't at risk for actually developing covid from the vaccine. It never goes into the nucleus so it does not integrate into our own DNA.

Bobby, I know vaccine-safety is something you are extremely passionate about and I know that you are doing this because you genuinely believe that people are getting hurt. I spoke many times with Maeve when she was discussing this with you, and I reviewed for her much of the material you sent her at that time. Know that I too feel very passionate about this and I'm also scared about all the people who I worry will get hurt.... I've watched too many people die, gasping for breath. I've spent too many hours on the phone with family members telling them their loved one is dying in front of me and can't say goodbye. I really believe the vaccine could save hundreds of thousands of lives from this terrible disease.

I read the article in the NYTimes that referenced your anti-vaccination efforts. Since that time, you reached out to me directly about the dangers of the vaccine. Given the information you have sent me and the claims you have made in public, I felt the need to be on record to correct the misinformation, especially as a doctor. I wrote an op-ed about ending the misinformation surrounding the covid-19 vaccine and why it is important to get vaccinated. I write that I disagree with you and much of what you have said about the vaccine. They wanted to move quickly and I just received confirmation that it will be published tomorrow. I wanted to let you know as soon as I heard. I also want to let you know that I don't intend to do any additional media around this if I am asked.

I love you very much Bobby. This op-ed does not mean I love you any less. But just as you feel the need to speak out to protect people, know that I feel the same way.

Thank you for all your love and support, especially this past spring. And thank you for your amazing generosity with Meaghan. I know how lucky and loved she feels.

I hope you have a safe and healthy holiday season.

Lots of love,
Kerry

Hmmm. They have 30 studies supporting Ivermectin against Covid with around 2000 subjects in 4 randomized placebo controlled studies for a drug that's been around for decades with a great safety profile. Meanwhile Moderna is pushing a vaccine that had a 100% injury rate in phase 1 with serious injuries (medical intervention required) to 21% of high dose and 6% of low dose group and using an experimental technology never used in medicine and safety tested for only 8 weeks with a high risk of autoimmunity diseases with long diagnostic horizons. Among the ingredients in both Pfizer and Moderna vaccines are pegelated nanoparticles to which 70% of Americans carry antibodies and 7% so many antibodies that they may be anaphylactic. The injury rates so far are 2.7% or one injury in every 37 people and 7 cases of Anaphylaxis. In the Pfizer study, only 17 people in the high risk elderly cohort got COVID. And they are going to give it to millions based on the experiences of 17 subjects. The Astra Zeneca vaccine isn't even placebo controlled. Just saying....

Kerry. I'm on the road all month so I didn't put citations in the notes I sent you. I'm attaching them here. I notice you repeat the absurd Pharma canard that autism is not epidemic; it's always been with us but we somehow didn't notice it. Only someone who has not been around autism could swallow that argument. Missing true autism is like missing a train wreck. This was an industry talking point in the early 2000s. We seldom hear it today because it has been so soundly rejected by actual peer reviewed science. There are many many studies that reject the hypothesis (and none that support it) that the explosion of autism is a function of better recognition or diagnostic substitution. Among the best known of these is a Feb 2009 study by Irva Hertz Piccotta's of UC Davis's Mind Institute commissioned by the California state Legislature to research this very question and thoroughly dispatched it. I suppose you can be excused for buying this propaganda point. You grew up in the vaccine generation with autism all around you accepting it as normal. I grew up in an era when it was completely unknown. I worked in Special Olympics since 1966, (Still Camp Shriver) and spent 200 hours in Wassaic Home For The Retarded when I was in high school upstate. I never saw anyone with true full blown autism and like most people - never heard of it till Rainman in 1988. To this day, I've never seen anyone with full blown autism my age - non verbal, non toilet trained, stimming, head banging, screaming, violent, agonizing gut ache etc. Neither have you, I venture. Where are all the 66 year old men with diapers and helmets walking around the mall? They are not locked up somewhere. Places like that don't exist. And yet 1/34 kids are thus afflicted. Genes don't cause epidemics. They provide vulnerabilities but you need an environmental toxin. When Congress asked EPA to answer the question as to what year the epidemic began, the scientists drew a red line in 1989 - the same year the new vaccine schedule exploded. If you go to CHD website, you will find references to hundreds of peer reviewed studies pointing to vaccines as the culprit. You won't read these studies. It's easier to accept Tony Faucis word that they don't exist. You call yourself a scientist, but appeals to authority is not science, it's religion. I've sent a reply to your attack on me to the Times. No telling if they will print it. We live in an era of pervasive censorship of a kind that once troubled progressive thinkers. You don't need to waste either of our time replying to this. We both have more important things to do.

To: Kerry Meltzer <[REDACTED]>

Kerry. I don't dismiss your experience but it differs with data we are seeing from Israel, UK and other nations with much more reliable data systems. You might want to ask your hospital to publish this data so that people can take it seriously. The problem is that CDC has been using corrupt metrics to assess who is vaccinated. CDC counts all people as "unvaccinated" until two weeks after their second shot. We have seen dramatically increased cases and mortalities in the two weeks following the first shot and CDC counts these as unvaccinated. Also the study should control for "healthy user bias" which may reflect a reluctance to vaccinate frail elderly in the last year of life. You are probably not seeing vaccine deaths because the CDC is denying they exist. Pfizer's clinical data submission to FDA indicated a 21% increase in all cause mortality in vaccinated compared to unvaccinated with a 400% greater chance of lethal cardiac arrest among vaccinated within 6 months of the jab. Multiple studies are showing 100x increase in myocarditis among the jabbed. Debilitating lifetime neurological injuries occurred in 1/1100 girls 15-18. Meanwhile the John's Hopkins study by McArdy could not find a single healthy child who died from COVID in the US. Most alarming, the UK and Israeli data now show negative efficacy in almost all age groups after 6 months meaning that the vaccinated are more vulnerable to Covid. I'm happy to forward you all these studies when my trial is done

Subject: Americans Can Handle an Open Discussion on Vaccines—RFK, Jr. Responds to Criticism from His Family • Children's Health Defense

To: Kerry Meltzer <[REDACTED]>

Kerry. Many of the citations for the articles I mentioned in my earlier email are in this piece which I did in response to the earlier article by Maeve, Kathleen and Joe. Of course, Politico would not publish it. In your NYTIMES piece today, you accuse me of spreading misinformation but don't mention any example where I got the science wrong. Science is not what Dr Fauci or Kaiser say. It's what you read on PubMed and even there, you need to exercise critical thinking because, as NEJM editor Marcia Angel and Lancet Editor Richard Horton have lamented, the journals are now "propaganda vehicles for Pharma" I'm gonna send you by separate email a summary I did for Sanjay Gupta on flu vaccine safety and efficacy science. Comprehensive meta analyses by BMJ and Cochrane collaboration have all concluded that the flu shot is mostly ineffective and increases risk for non flu infections including coronavirus. Both groups are vocal in their criticism of CDC's manipulation of physicians and the public to increase vaccine uptake with little if any public health benefit. Most doctors I know who actually reading the literature are hesitant to give flu shots, particularly those containing large doses of mercury. I know you think you did a service by persuading that patient to take the shot because institutions and public figures that you have been taught to trust told you that was good medical practice. Unfortunately, those institutions have in recent years succumbed to pervasive Pharma influence. Finally, it's not at all normal for children to have diabetes, autism and allergies. These are injuries from environmental exposures. Chronic disease in children had exploded from 6% in 1940 to 12.8% in 1986 to 54% by 2006 according to HHS data. Doctors who are your age can be excused for thinking all these sick and damaged children is normal. It isn't. It's all new. Tony Fauci's job for 50 years has been to identify the etiology of these epidemics and to end the environmental exposures that are causing them. Instead, he has transformed NIH into an incubator for new pharmaceutical products.

To: Kerry Meltzer <[REDACTED]>

Kerry. I'd love to see these clinical trials that you are referring to. You will find out when you go looking that they do not exist. They are the mythology of industry propaganda. In fact none of the 72 vaccine doses mandated for children were ever tested for safety against inert placebos in prelicensing clinical trials. Therefore, no one knows the risk profile for any of these products and no one can say whether they are causing more harm than they are averting. In every study comparing health outcomes in vaccinated vs unvaccinated children that we've been able to find on PubMed, the vaccinated children are far sicker and shorter lived. I'm happy to send you summaries of these and citations. There are a handful of badly flawed post licensing industry generated epidemiology studies looking at autism and the MMR vaccine and about 6 epidemiology studies looking at autism and Thimerosal that find no effect in certain carefully selected populations. The relationship between autism and the vaccines given in the first 6 months of life have never been studied. HHS now admits this only because I forced them to with my lawsuit. The studies they told you existed do not exist. And autism is only one of hundreds of neurological, autoimmune and allergic diseases that became epidemic in vaccine generation children (born after 1989). Autism has dropped from 1/10,000 in my generation to 1/34 today according to CDC data. But diabetes, allergies, arthritis, lupus, chronic disease etc etc have all similarly exploded after 1989. The manufacturers inserts, VAERS reports, Vaccine Court decisions and reams of peer reviewed science from across the globe point to the expanded vaccine schedule.

Dear Bobby,

All the reputable clinical trials indicating that vaccines cause autism have been debunked, which is why the major physician organizations in the U.S. support widespread vaccination in children. The unfortunate reality is, many childhood developmental disorders, including autism, begin to manifest in the early childhood years around the same time that children receive multiple vaccines. But again, correlation is not causation. This has been shown over and over again.

On Tue, Dec 29, 2020 at 6:06 PM Robert F. Kennedy Jr. <[REDACTED]> wrote:

Dear Kerry. This email came in a few moments after I sent that last email to you and I thought I'd send it because these studies illustrate the enormous perils of approving vaccines without robust long term studies. Dr Bart Classen is a revered former NIH contract scientist. NIH commissioned him and his team to look at diabetes as an outcome of HIB vaccines in what was then the largest epidemiological study in NIH history. The researchers found that the dramatic rise in diabetes associated with that vaccine cancelled out any societal benefits of HIB disease. Classen noted that the risk profile of vaccination was probably much higher because diabetes was the only effect studied. After seeing these results - and the results of CDC's in house Verstratten study which showed an 1135% increased risk for autism diagnosis following the HEP B vaccine, HHS terminated all further studies of vaccine injuries (except industry generated) and closed off access to the Vaccine Safety Datalink to independent scientists. The Institute of Medicine has repeatedly rebuked HHS for failing to study 175 injuries associated with vaccines and listed as potential side effects on manufacturers inserts. In January 2017 the Danish government commissioned some of the world's top vaccine scientists (Morgensen, Aaby et al) to study mortality outcomes from DTP - the world's most popular vaccine - in African children. That study, published in EBio Pharma, found that girls who got the vaccine were 10x more likely to die in the next year as children who did not. They were dying of random infections that no one had associated with the vaccine for 30 years. The vaccine was protecting the little girls against Diphtheria, Tetanus and Pertussis, but it had obliterated their immune systems. The researchers concluded that the vaccine is killing more people long term than did the diseases it was touted to prevent. Despite the pleas of those scientists, WHO continues to give it to 161 million children each year. It may be killing millions. All vaccines have the potential to cause autoimmunity and other immune system disruptions. That's why I think we ought to do long-term studies before we do mass vaccination programs.

Subject: DEFENSE MEDICAL EPIDEMIOLOGY DATABASE (DMED)

DMED is a comprehensive military database that contains every ICD medical billing code for any medical diagnosis in the military submitted for medical insurance billing during any given period of time. On 24 January 2022, in a roundtable convened by Senator Ron Johnson, attorney Thomas Renz reported that three military M.D. whistleblowers found a significant increase in registered diagnoses on DMED for miscarriages, cancer, and many other medical conditions in 2021 compared to a five-year average from 2016-2020 (<https://www.bitchute.com/video/0yIDDQlphutY/>). In a follow-up letter from Senator Johnson to SecDef Lloyd Austin, further increases for other diseases were identified; e.g.,

- Hypertension – 2,181% increase
- Diseases of the nervous system – 1,048% increase
- Malignant neoplasms of esophagus – 894% increase
- Multiple sclerosis – 680% increase
- Malignant neoplasms of digestive organs – 624% increase
- Guillain-Barre syndrome – 551% increase
- Breast cancer – 487% increase
- Demyelinating – 487% increase
- Malignant neoplasms of thyroid and other endocrine glands – 474% increase
- Female infertility – 472% increase
- Pulmonary embolism – 468% increase
- Migraines – 452% increase
- Ovarian dysfunction – 437% increase
- Testicular cancer – 369% increase
- Tachycardia – 302% increase

These are massive increases, and should have been easily noticed by a large number of the military doctors. This situation has been summarized quite well by Steve Kirsch in a substack article (<https://stevekirsch.substack.com/p/this-medical-data-from-the-us-dod>). As Kirsch states: "The DoD has claimed the increase was because events in earlier years were under reported and they have corrected the error." and "only symptoms that were elevated by the vaccine were affected; that's impossible for a computer glitch to have caused that".

If the whistleblower results are true, this is extremely problematic. First, the 2021 data covered the first ten months only. Given that the inoculations were ramped up during 2021, and there may have been a lag time between inoculations and reported adverse effects (for example, the FIFA soccer deaths increased exponentially during 2021, the widely reported insurance claims increases occurred starting Q3), the actual increases of these adverse events during 2021 may have been far greater. The numbers not shown for the final two months of 2021 may have been well out of proportion to any other two month period in 2021. One would expect increases in these diseases to have been experienced by other militaries and, in part, by civilian sectors. Some checking of these other data sources against the DMED results should prove useful.

If the DoD is lying about the glitch, it means that they are attempting to cover up a major health disaster in the military CAUSED BY THE IRRESPONSIBLE ACTIONS OF TOP MILITARY AND CIVILIAN OFFICIALS IN THE DoD! Further, given how closely these health effects of our military are monitored, the responsible officials in the military and other sectors must have known about these massive increases for months, but did nothing to stop them or bring them to the attention of the public. In contrast, they have doubled-down on vaccine mandates, and have discharged those who are non-compliant. One would assume, because of the sheer magnitude of the increases, they would have known since at least the end of the Summer, and probably since the end of Spring.

If they are telling the truth, that means that many people overlooked massive amounts of illness from 2016-2020. Bureaucrats, scientists, contractors, etc. somehow didn't notice these massive amounts of illness, reflecting massive incompetence. It would also reflect that we had/have one of the sickest militaries in the world, given the massive levels of these diseases, and the doctors were not aware of how sick those in their care really were.

However, if they are really stating that the previous data entries were under-reported, that is within the realm of possibility. Some military members are exposed to highly toxic environments at different points in their service, including toxic fuels, solvents, munitions, radiation for surveillance and communications, etc. One would expect they would have higher rates of illness due to these exposures. For recruiting purposes, high levels of illness due to toxic exposures would not be a selling point, and there very well could be motivations to underreport these effects. But, if that is the case, they would have been underreported in 2021 as well. Maybe they were; I have no illusions about the integrity of ANY government databases, nor the individuals responsible for maintaining these databases.

In late 2019, I came across some articles on severe problems experienced by military pilots (e.g., cancer clusters) after they retired from the military. I sent out two emails on these studies, and they are appended to this email. Not clear to me how well these illnesses were tracked while the members were in the military, or, more accurately, not clear how well these illnesses were reported while the members were in the military. Additionally, the synergies between the highly toxic vaccines and the other toxic exposures mentioned above could place military members at higher risk for severe illness after receiving the vaccines. Since the military demographic was at extremely low risk of experiencing severe reactions from COVID-19, the decision to vaccinate them at all was beyond irresponsible!

RNK

INITIAL EMAIL ON CANCER CLUSTER IN PILOTS - 12 NOVEMBER 2019

(There was no paywall for these links when I wrote the emails; now there is one. Had I known that, I would have presented more details from these articles in the emails.)

The link below discusses what appear to be cancer clusters among military pilots. This may be the tip of the iceberg, since there are latency effects in developing these cancers. It is unclear how well the conditions of these pilots are tracked once they leave the service (according to the article), or, more specifically, how well the public is informed as to how well the conditions of these pilots are tracked once they leave the service, and the results of this tracking. If there is tracking, what is its objectivity, given the recruiting consequences that would result if it were shown that these serious diseases are in fact associated with exposures to on-board avionics (EMF in combinations with other unique stressors [chemicals, psychological stress, high and low-G forces, etc] that performance aircraft crews face).

It would be valuable to get EMF exposure data under myriad flight conditions for many different military aircraft, with all the onboard avionics in full operation. Maybe some of this data exists already, and it could be pried loose with an FOIA, or similar instrument.
<https://www.mcclatchydc.com/news/nation-world/national/national-security/article236413708.html>

SECOND EMAIL ON PILOTS - 28 NOVEMBER 2019

This morning, I received the following article about RF exposures of military pilots (<https://www.mcclatchydc.com/news/nation-world/national/national-security/article237797304.html>). It complements the information contained in my previous email (below).

The largest Grumman measurement reported in the article translates to 300 million microwatts/square meter!!! This is thirty times today's FCC exposure limit, which itself is three-four orders-of-magnitude above levels shown by the cell tower studies to increase cancer incidence substantially. Lest we forget, the pilots are also being exposed to myriad other toxic stimuli, including EMF of other frequencies, cosmic radiation, possibly fuel odors, etc., increasing the possibility of adverse effect synergies.

I have a hard time believing that these were the only RF exposure measurements done in the cabin, or that these were the highest exposures that occurred. I don't have a hard time believing these types of exposure measurements never saw the light of day in the open literature, and were actively suppressed by government-industry.

Additionally, while the gold coating may have kept a substantial amount of external RF from entering the cabin, it also would have delayed RF (that was internally generated or entered the cabin through non-gold coated non-metallic avenues) from leaving the cockpit. It mirrors a hohlraum effect.

This cockpit problem is another example of why the wireless radiation industry is 'Too Big to Fail'. The military became network-centric decades ago. They are almost completely dependent on wireless communications and wireless detection/surveillance for all their operations. If they were to allow their labs and contractors to report the potential damage from the levels of exposures happening in the field and at their facilities, they would be forced to eliminate many decades of so-called advances in their weaponry and operations. No different in kind from their civilian counterparts, although the military may be operating at higher exposure levels because of their ultra-high performance requirements.
