Good to hear we are unlikely at risk...that is (was) my biggest fear.

We had a good discussion on TV deal and I believe we are all well aligned.

i reviewed the article. many thanks for sending it. as you know, i understand and respect your view. however, for a variety of reasons, i do not believe that we are in the same situation as football and i do not believe the nfl lawsuits should "put us at risk". among other things, we have been the leaders in the area of concussions and have set the standard on diagnosis, treatment and rule changes at the professional level. we should chat...

Gary,

Hope all is well.

FYI and in case you did not see this...as you know, I am aligned with what he says as mentioned in the BOG.

As an owner, the NFL lawsuits could put us at risk. Although we are making good progress, I don't think it's enough until any head hit is made illegal.

NHL0026287

I hope we get there soon!

All the best, Geoff
