Subject: Thank you for supporting clean cars standards

Dear Gina McCarthy: Ms. McCarthy,

Sorry that all your hard work will be undone with Scott Pruitt dismantling the EPA but I thank you for giving it your best with your proposed determination to move forward with strong standards for clean cars and trucks through 2025. We will remember how you valiantly led the EPA to stand strong on this decision to help curb climate change and protect public health by reducing carbon pollution from vehicles. Personally, I would've liked to have seen more infrastructure for having charging stations for electric vehicles to become more standardized in our culture and I know the EPA has trouble standing up to the fracking industry but all that will be undone the minute you leave office to Scott Pruitt. Have you ever visited www.earthjustice.org to see all the fracking industry accidents? I know the EPA has trouble standing up to keep water and air clean for America and we are doomed.

Clean car standards set by your agency in 2012 was one of the most critical steps the U.S. has taken to avoid catastrophic climate changes but much of the promise of that rule will be lost with the Trump administration; that ship has sailed.

Thank you for attempting to stand against pressure from industry opponents, working to keep the rule strong through 2025 and setting the foundation to strengthen it even further through 2030. It is a shame that it is all for naught.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Adrienne Weiss
