Subject: Attorneys General for "Uncommon Sense" on Immigration Reform
Date: 04/08/2013 11:23 AM

Lynn,

Allow me to make the following observations with respect to your recent e-mail:

1. I have come to dislike the phrase "common sense." Contrary to my hopefully informed intuition as to consequences, almost everything President Obama proposes these days is "common sense", eg., "common sense health coverage, common sense immigration reform, you name it." Indeed, the phrase is being utilized so often so as to become trite; one should also keep in mind that Webster's, among other meanings of "common", defines the term as conveying "second rate." What is needed in the immigration debate is "uncommon sense", a commodity currently in very short supply in Washington. I would rename your e-mail as stated above.
2. Throughout the letter you use the phrase "undocumented". I understand the Liberal urge to use a euphemism, but I have always thought it better to call a spade a spade. In this instance the semantically accurate term is "illegal". The overwhelming majority of the 11 million "illegals" in this country are not victims of administrative error on the part of ICE or some other agency. Nor are they individuals who have simply lost their papers. Instead they are persons who, with their families, have deliberately violated American law. I would insert "illegal" wherever "undocumented" appears in your e-mail.
3. a. I realize that we AG's and former AG's like to refer to ourselves as being or having been the chief "law enforcement" officers in our States. This sounds good on the campaign trail but, except in a few instances, is simply not true. As a general proposition (no pun intended), we should resist this temptation and instead refer to AG's generically (again no pun intended) as the chief “legal” officers of their respective jurisdictions.

b. To avoid the inference that, despite prior affirmations, we are really much more concerned with “comprehensive immigration reform” than “increased border security”, I suggest the following rewrite of your last two sentences:

“Put simply, practical reform to our federal immigration laws which addresses both issues will make us all safer.”

“We urge you to move expeditiously with consideration and action on such reform legislation.”

Please do not take these observations as critical of your enterprise. If the foregoing changes were made I would sign your letter, but I realize that this is probably not feasible. Since, as you know, Spring has come to Washington, I will begin a search for a blooming of “uncommon sense” and will alert you should I discern any such exotic flower. Good Luck!

Andy

Dear Former Attorneys General,

On behalf of former AGs Terry Goddard, Mark Shurtleff and Grant Woods, I write to ask you to join in signing on to this letter (see attached) conveying to Senate and House leadership and members support for legislative efforts to pass common sense immigration reform in conjunction with increased border security. Could you please get back to me by Tuesday, April 9 if you want to sign on. I hope to get the letter to the Hill on April 10.

Your name will be listed with your state and years in office so please send the years! Thanks

I have been working with Grant, Terry and Mark for the past several years in encouraging Congress to act. Those in the know believe that the law enforcement perspective provided both through a former AG letter, as well as the one circulating through NAAG/CWAG will make a difference.

Please feel free to call one of us if you want to talk further about this. I also attach below former AG Bob Stephan's comments this week at a Kansas City roundtable coordinated by the National Immigration Forum. There are likely to be lots of grass roots opportunities to speak on this topic in the next few months so please let me know if you would like to become more involved. By the way, Mark Shurtleff is on the Forum Board of Directors. Grant and Terry have also been very active in speaking out on immigration issues.

Thanks so much for your consideration

Subject: Former AG sign on letter --- Common Sense Immigraton Reform

Dear Former Attorneys General,

On behalf of former AGs Terry Goddard, Mark Shurtleff and Grant Woods, I write to ask you to join in signing on to this letter (see attached) conveying to Senate and House leadership and members support for legislative efforts to pass common sense immigration reform in conjunction with increased border security.

Could you please get back to me by Tuesday, April 9 if you want to sign on. I hope to get the letter to the Hill on April 10.

Your name will be listed with your state and years in office so please send the years! Thanks

I have been working with Grant, Terry and Mark for the past several years in encouraging Congress to act. Those in the know believe that the law enforcement perspective provided both through a former AG letter, as well as the one circulating through NAAG/CWAG will make a difference.

Please feel free to call one of us if you want to talk further about this. I also attach below former AG Bob Stephan's comments this week at a Kansas City roundtable coordinated by the National Immigration Forum. There are likely to be lots of grass roots opportunities to speak on this topic in the next few months so please let me know if you would like to become more involved. By the way, Mark Shurtleff is on the Forum Board of Directors. Grant and Terry have also been very active in speaking out on immigration issues.

Thanks so much for your consideration

Lynne

Dear Former Attorneys General,

On behalf of former AGs Terry Goddard, Mark Shurtleff and Grant Woods, I write to ask you to join in signing on to this letter (see attached) conveying to Senate and House leadership and members support for legislative efforts to pass common sense immigration reform in conjunction with increased border security.

Could you please get back to me by Tuesday, April 9 if you want to sign on. I hope to get the letter to the Hill on April 10.

Your name will be listed with your state and years in office so please send the years! Thanks

I have been working with Grant, Terry and Mark for the past several years in encouraging Congress to act. Those in the know believe that the law enforcement perspective provided both through a former AG letter, as well as the one circulating through NAAG/CWAG will make a difference.

Please feel free to call one of us if you want to talk further about this. I also attach below former AG Bob Stephan's comments this week at a Kansas City roundtable coordinated by the National Immigration Forum. There are likely to be lots of grass roots opportunities to speak on this topic in the next few months so please let me know if you would like to become more involved. By the way, Mark Shurtleff is on the Forum Board of Directors. Grant and Terry have also been very active in speaking out on immigration issues.

Thanks so much for your consideration

Dear Lynne,

Thank you for bringing this to my attention, and please add my name as a signatory to this letter.
New Hampshire AG 1980-1984.

I too have always thought our bi-partisan efforts as a group are our best.

Sincerely,
Greg

Subject: Former AG sign on letter --- Common Sense Immigration Reform

Dear Former Attorneys General,

On behalf of former AGs Terry Goddard, Mark Shurtleff and Grant Woods, I write to ask you to join in signing on to this letter (see attached) conveying to Senate and House leadership and members support for legislative efforts to pass common sense immigration reform in conjunction with increased border security. Could you please get back to me by Tuesday, April 9 if you want to sign on. I hope to get the letter to the Hill on April 10.

Your name will be listed with your state and years in office so please send the years!
Thanks

I have been working with Grant, Terry and Mark for the past several years in encouraging Congress to act. Those in the know believe that the law enforcement perspective provided both through a former AG letter, as well as the one circulating through NAAG/CWAG will make a difference.

Please feel free to call one of us if you want to talk further about this. I also attach below former AG Bob Stephan's comments this week at a Kansas City roundtable coordinated by the National Immigration Forum. There are likely to be lots of grass roots opportunities to speak on this topic in the next few months so please let me know if you would like to become more involved. By the way, Mark Shurtleff is on the Forum Board of Directors. Grant and Terry have also been very active in speaking out on immigration issues.

Thanks so much for your consideration

Lynne

I'm in. You all should know Mark Shurtleff has shown incredible courage on this issue in Utah - not an easy place to take a stand for immigration reform. Kudos to Mark, Grant and Terry for their leadership.

Dear Richard Mann,

Welcome to Devon Energy!

Our records indicate that you have a scheduled visit at Devon Energy to meet with Mark Craig on 6/17/13 11:15 AM.

Please check in at the main lobby of the Devon Energy Center located at 333 West Sheridan, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73102. Upon arrival, please proceed to the receptionist desk in the main lobby to obtain your visitor badge. Visitor parking is available at the northeast entrance of the Devon Energy Center Parking Garage on the first floor. The parking garage is located on the west side of Harvey Avenue, between Park Avenue and the Devon Energy Center. A parking garage attendant will greet you and ask for your name before granting access.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call the reception desk at (405) 235-3611.

Sincerely,

Devon Energy Reception

Hm.. On June 13th, the only time Bill is not available is 10:30am - 2pm. If the meeting only lasted an hour we could schedule the call at 10:00am, if that helps. Is General Pruitt set on Bill coming to his office? Bill could do a conference call from Devon at 10:30am. He just has a guest coming around 11:30am and will need to be here in time to greet them.

The June 14th times did not work for him.

Bill is available on Tuesday, June 18th, at 4:00pm and he looks wide open for Monday, June 24th.

Just let me know and we will get this confirmed.

Ashley,

I just spoke with Bill and he said he could meet on Friday, June 21st, anytime in the afternoon at 2pm or after. I wasn't aware, but he will be traveling to Washington, DC, that week and won't arrive on the 21st until noon or a little after.

Thanks so much!

Sheila

Hi Ashley!

Friday, June 21st, looks good for Bill. I think 10:00 a.m. or 2:00 p.m. will work. Bill is traveling today but I will probably speak with him by phone. May I confirm with you before the end of the day?

I am looking forward to meeting you as well! I have heard great things about you.

I will call you this afternoon and let you know about the 21st.

Thanks, Ashley!

Hi Sheila,

I was hoping to set up a meeting with Mr. Whitsitt and General Pruitt here in our office. I am looking at Friday, June 21st. Our hopes are to have Leonard Leo and Paul Seby come in as well. If they are not able to fly in we will try and make sure they can at the least be on a conference call. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the Center for Energy Independence. If you could give me a few times that would work on the 21st then I will coordinate with the others. I appreciate your help and look forward to finally meeting you on Friday!

Hm... On June 13th, the only time Bill is not available is 10:30am – 2pm. If the meeting only lasted an hour we could schedule the call at 10:00am, if that helps. Is General Pruitt set on Bill coming to his office? Bill could do a conference call from Devon at 10:30am. He just has a guest coming around 11:30am and will need to be here in time to greet them.

The June 14th times did not work for him.

Bill is available on Tuesday, June 18th, at 4:00pm and he looks wide open for Monday, June 24th.

Just let me know and we will get this confirmed.

Thanks!

Ashley,

I just spoke with Bill and he said he could meet on Friday, June 21st, anytime in the afternoon at 2pm or after. I wasn't aware, but he will be traveling to Washington, DC, that week and won't arrive on the 21st until noon or a little after.

Thanks so much!

Hi Ashley!

Friday, June 21st, looks good for Bill. I think 10:00 a.m. or 2:00 p.m. will work. Bill is traveling today but I will probably speak with him by phone. May I confirm with you before the end of the day?

I am looking forward to meeting you as well! I have heard great things about you.

I will call you this afternoon and let you know about the 21st.

Hey Sheila,

Sorry Leonard Leo is not available at all that day....I am waiting to hear back from his office on some other possible dates...are there any dates that would be better for Mr. Whitsitt to visit our office for a conference call? Looking at maybe next week on the 13th or 14th?

Either is fine with me. Your pick. Do you have someone who can make reservations for us? I need to do about 11:45 as I'm in interviews all day and will be sneaking out on lunch break. Thanks so much - looking forward to it!

Ashley,

I just spoke with Bill and he said he could meet on Friday, June 21st, anytime in the afternoon at 2pm or after. I wasn't aware, but he will be traveling to Washington, DC, that week and won't arrive on the 21st until noon or a little after.

Thanks so much!

Sheila

Hi Ashley!

Friday, June 21st, looks good for Bill. I think 10:00 a.m. or 2:00 p.m. will work. Bill is traveling today but I will probably speak with him by phone. May I confirm with you before the end of the day?

I am looking forward to meeting you as well! I have heard great things about you.

I will call you this afternoon and let you know about the 21st.

Hi Sheila,

I was hoping to set up a meeting with Mr. Whitsitt and General Pruitt here in our office. I am looking at Friday, June 21st. Our hopes are to have Leonard Leo and Paul Seby come in as well. If they are not able to fly in we will try and make sure they can at the least be on a conference call. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the Center for Energy Independence. If you could give me a few times that would work on the 21st then I will coordinate with the others. I appreciate your help and look forward to finally meeting you on Friday!

Mr. Whitsitt,

Attached is the final draft of the methane letter to EPA regarding the 7 NE States NOI to sue over the regulation of methane emissions.

We have received good support on this and I would like to get the letter out in the morning. I thought we should insert a sentence or two regarding the recent EPA report indicating their initial estimates on methane emissions for two categories were too high.

Any suggestions?

Thank you.

All,

Thanks for your immense help thus far with the Exchange Council meeting. Just a week away now! Let me know if you have any questions, need any information, etc. Hope you're all set and registered. If anyone asks, there will be registration available on site beginning on Thursday afternoon. Anyone attending any event (including receptions) will need a badge, so make sure all your folks pick up their badges. I have attached the conference agenda so you know where to be when.

If you know of anyone who would be willing to volunteer to help with check in and Task Force meetings, let me know. We are in need of two additional volunteers. We would need them from 7am to 5pm on Friday, the 3rd. They would be registered free of charge for the conference and could attend the Oklahoma Reception that evening (and the hospitality suite the night before).

Thanks again!
Amy

INHOFE, VITTER, LANKFORD PRESS EPA FOR TRANSPARENCY IN ITS RELATIONSHIP WITH ENVIRONMENTAL GROUPS

WASHINGTON, D.C. - U.S. Sen. Jim Inhofe (R-Okla.), a senior member of the Environment and Public Works Committee (EPW), along with Ranking Member David Vitter (R-La.) and Congressman James Lankford (R-OK-5) today sent a letter to Acting Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Bob Perciasepe to express concerns for the abuse of statutory discretion under the Clean Air Act to override states' responsibilities in rulemaking and to request more transparency in the agency's policymaking process.

In the letter, the Members said, "Throughout the current Administration, your agency has regularly brokered settlement agreements to carry out specific regulatory activities after being sued by environmental groups. 'Sue and Settle' is a hallmark of the Obama Administration's environmental policymaking across agencies, with EPA being the most egregious example. These exclusively negotiated deals circumvent transparency, exclude impacted parties and have far reaching economic consequences."

"Despite numerous efforts by the state of Oklahoma, the EPA seems to have abandoned their previous policy of working with and allowing states to implement, regulate and enforce the rules and laws under the purview of the EPA," Inhofe said. "The agency's practice of entering into enigmatic Consent Decrees has led to less transparency, more regulations, and burdensome costs on our energy sector. I look forward to working with the EPA and supporting Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt as we work to reign in the EPA's unnecessary and complicating regulatory practices."

"When will this Administration prove its commitment to transparency?" Vitter said. "In the meantime, Americans feel the economic pain of decisions made behind closed doors because their government refuses to allow them a seat at the table.”

“I am proud to join Senator Inhofe and the Senate EPW to expose this Administration’s use of sue-and-settle procedures to unduly expand federal authority throughout the energy sector,” Lankford said. “The DC Circuit Court ruling on the Cross-State Air Pollution rule is a prime example of the need to roll back federal overreach of its statutory authority to pave the way for economic expansion and job creation. We can have clean air and clean water without federal overreach. Through fulfillment of the AGs’ FOIA request to clarify how the federal government intends to implement the Clean Air and Clean Water Acts, the states and federal government can work together to protect our environment efficiently and effectively.”

In the letter, the Members highlight a case where a group of state Attorneys General, led by Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt, filed a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request on August 10, 2012 requesting disclosure on the EPA’s decision to undermine several states’ authority to implement the Clean Air Act and Clean Water Act. The EPA refused to grant the request. Only after the Attorneys General appealed the decision did the EPA then close the case citing the request was too broad.

The Attorneys General filed a second FOIA request on February 6, 2013 specifying their request for released documents be limited to communications between EPA and Interested Organizations regarding any Regional Haze State Implementation Plan (SIP). The EPA once again denied the fee waiver and terminated work on the request, stating the Attorneys General “have not expressed a specific intent to disseminate the information to the general public.”

“The EPA’s apparent secret strategy of ‘sue and settle’ threatens Oklahoma interests and families, and authorizes the agency to act in a way inconsistent with the law,” Pruitt said. “Obama’s EPA is no longer solely about protecting the environment. It is about ending forms of energy that don’t fit the worldview of environmental groups. I applaud Sen. Inhofe, Congressman Lankford and Sen. Vitter for working to ensure the EPA responds to the attorneys general’s open government requests.”

In the letter, the Members request that the EPA make available the information requested by the Attorneys General in the original August 10, 2012 request and state: “It is important for Congress to understand the relationship between EPA and nongovernmental organizations, particularly as it relates to the coordination and influence over public policy making. Moreover, these relationships have the potential to push states and other stakeholders out of the process. Accordingly, releasing the correspondence between the EPA and these entities is in the public interest. The American people deserve to understand the process EPA follows when crafting the environmental policies under which they must live.”

Melissa –

Please thank Scott for including me in the meeting today. I think we got to a good place with respect to the clearinghouse concept to assist AGs in addressing federalism issues.

Also, please pass along the attached article as an example of the specialized media treatment of today's excellent decision!

Hi Ashley!

Yes, Bill will be there at 10:00 a.m. at the AG's office tomorrow morning.

We should just go ahead and plan a lunch about a week or two away and invite Rhonda and Holly Miller. Wouldn't that be fun?!?

Talk to you later!

Sheila

Hm... On June 13th, the only time Bill is not available is 10:30am - 2pm. If the meeting only lasted an hour we could schedule the call at 10:00am, if that helps. Is General Pruitt set on Bill coming to his office? Bill could do a conference call from Devon at 10:30am. He just has a guest coming around 11:30am and will need to be here in time to greet them.

The June 14th times did not work for him.

Bill is available on Tuesday, June 18th, at 4:00pm and he looks wide open for Monday, June 24th.

Just let me know and we will get this confirmed.

Ashley,

I just spoke with Bill and he said he could meet on Friday, June 21st, anytime in the afternoon at 2pm or after. I wasn't aware, but he will be traveling to Washington, DC, that week and won't arrive on the 21st until noon or a little after.

Thanks so much!

Hi Sheila,

I was hoping to set up a meeting with Mr. Whitsitt and General Pruitt here in our office. I am looking at Friday, June 21st. Our hopes are to have Leonard Leo and Paul Seby come in as well. If they are not able to fly in we will try and make sure they can at the least be on a conference call. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the Center for Energy Independence. If you could give me a few times that would work on the 21st then I will coordinate with the others. I appreciate your help and look forward to finally meeting you on Friday!

Thanks,
Ashley

Hi Ashley!

Yes, Bill will be there at 10:00 a.m. at the AG's office tomorrow morning.

We should just go ahead and plan a lunch about a week or two away and invite Rhonda and Holly Miller. Wouldn't that be fun?!?

Talk to you later!

Sheila

Is General Pruitt set on Bill coming to his office? Bill could do a conference call from Devon at 10:30am. He just has a guest coming around 11:30am and will need to be here in time to greet them.

Bill is available on Tuesday, June 18th, at 4:00pm and he looks wide open for Monday, June 24th.

Ashley,

I just spoke with Bill and he said he could meet on Friday, June 21st, anytime in the afternoon at 2pm or after. I wasn't aware, but he will be traveling to Washington, DC, that week and won't arrive on the 21st until noon or a little after.

Thanks so much!

Thanks so much for the article! An exciting day for Oklahoma!!! (Plus its always great to beat Texas!). I apologize again that we had to step out for the media availability - but had to get the message out on Tarrant ASAP.

I also apologize I didn't get your voicemail from this morning until the end of the day (I wasn't in my office all day). But I think we have all of your concerns addressed?

I am very excited about this project moving forward and feel that we are on the right track. This will be an amazing resource for the AGs and for industry. I so appreciate you providing your expertise and guidance as we move forward. Thanks again!

Attorney General Pruitt, 12 States Send Letter to EPA Warning Not to Employ Backdoor “Sue and Settle” Tactic to Regulate Hydraulic Fracturing; Oil Production

OKLAHOMA CITY – Attorney General Scott Pruitt was joined by 12 states Friday in a letter to the Environmental Protection Agency warning administrators not to employ its backdoor “sue and settle” tactic to regulate hydraulic fracturing and oil production.

The letter, signed by 13 energy producing states, was sent to the EPA after several northeastern states threatened to sue the agency for not taking over regulatory responsibility of oil and gas production. The Clean Air Act provides states, not the federal government, with primary regulation responsibility.

The letter states, “It is abundantly clear that EPA should not succumb to the pressure intended by the Northeastern States. ... Any discussions to regulate methane emissions from oil and gas facilities would obviously have a significant impact on the economy and citizens of those states. ... EPA must, at a minimum, include Oklahoma and other states with similar interests in any negotiations.”

In October 2011, General Pruitt wrote a letter to the nation’s AGs alerting them to new inaccurate methods being used by the EPA to measure the amount of methane gas released into the atmosphere by conventional natural gas wells and unconventional wells used for hydraulic fracturing. The EPA had planned to use the data to adopt new regulations.

Following the letter and other public comments of concern, the EPA declined to regulate methane emissions from oil and gas facilities, and instead remain within their role of the Clean Air Act to review state standards.

The northeastern states of New York, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Rhode Island, Vermont and Massachusetts disagreed with the EPA’s decision and filed a notice of intent to sue the EPA for backing off of new oil and gas regulations.

The potential lawsuit caused concern for states such as Oklahoma, since a “friendly” settlement with the northeastern states by the EPA could include a consent decree that would bind all states by the outcome, even though they had no input. The practice is called “Sue and Settle.”

“This apparent practice by the EPA to engage in friendly lawsuits in order to circumvent the law is disturbing. The outcomes of these settlements have a very real effect on families, businesses, communities and state economies,” Pruitt said. “This letter puts the EPA on notice that any negotiations in this matter should include states that actually have oil and gas operations.”

The states involved in Friday’s letter are: Oklahoma, Alabama, Indiana, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Attorney General Pruitt, 12 States Send Letter to EPA Warning Not to Employ Backdoor “Sue and Settle” Tactic to Regulate Hydraulic Fracturing; Oil Production

OKLAHOMA CITY – Attorney General Scott Pruitt was joined by 12 states Friday in a letter to the Environmental Protection Agency warning administrators not to employ its backdoor “sue and settle” tactic to regulate hydraulic fracturing and oil production.

The letter, signed by 13 energy producing states, was sent to the EPA after several northeastern states threatened to sue the agency for not taking over regulatory responsibility of oil and gas production. The Clean Air Act provides states, not the federal government, with primary regulation responsibility.

The letter states, “It is abundantly clear that EPA should not succumb to the pressure intended by the Northeastern States. ... Any discussions to regulate methane emissions from oil and gas facilities would obviously have a significant impact on the economy and citizens of those states. ... EPA must, at a minimum, include Oklahoma and other states with similar interests in any negotiations.”

In October 2011, General Pruitt wrote a letter to the nation’s AGs alerting them to new inaccurate methods being used by the EPA to measure the amount of methane gas released into the atmosphere by conventional natural gas wells and unconventional wells used for hydraulic fracturing. The EPA had planned to use the data to adopt new regulations.

Following the letter and other public comments of concern, the EPA declined to regulate methane emissions from oil and gas facilities, and instead remain within their role of the Clean Air Act to review state standards.

The northeastern states of New York, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Rhode Island, Vermont and Massachusetts disagreed with the EPA’s decision and filed a notice of intent to sue the EPA for backing off of new oil and gas regulations.

The potential lawsuit caused concern for states such as Oklahoma, since a “friendly” settlement with the northeastern states by the EPA could include a consent decree that would bind all states by the outcome, even though they had no input. The practice is called “Sue and Settle.”

“This apparent practice by the EPA to engage in friendly lawsuits in order to circumvent the law is disturbing. The outcomes of these settlements have a very real effect on families, businesses, communities and state economies,” Pruitt said. “This letter puts the EPA on notice that any negotiations in this matter should include states that actually have oil and gas operations.”

State AGs urge EPA to resist calls for methane regs

Nick Juliano, E&E reporter

Published: Friday, May 3, 2013

More than a dozen attorneys general are urging U.S. EPA to resist calls from Northeastern states to regulate methane emissions from hydraulic fracturing operations, arguing that the push to regulate the potent greenhouse gas is based on faulty data and that new rules are not necessary, according to a letter obtained by Greenwire.

The 13 attorneys general -- mostly Republicans from energy-producing states such as Oklahoma, North Dakota and Texas -- worry EPA will agree to regulate methane to avoid a threatened lawsuit from seven states including New York and Connecticut. The energy states argue that EPA should not enter into negotiations with the Northeastern states over their notice of intent to file a Clean Air Act lawsuit, or they say if such negotiations do proceed, then energy-producing states should have a seat at the table.

The arguments against methane emissions are outlined in a letter the 13 attorneys general sent yesterday to EPA acting Administrator Bob Perciasepe and Gina McCarthy, the head of EPA's air office who has been nominated to lead the agency.

"In sum, regulation of methane emissions from oil and gas facilities is not 'appropriate' under the analysis contemplated by [the Clean Air Act] and methane emissions from oil and gas facilities are being controlled in any event, in compliance with existing regulations implemented by producing states and as a result of voluntary industry efforts," the attorneys general write. "Given all this, it is abundantly clear that EPA should not succumb to the pressure intended by the Northeastern States' NOI and undertake negotiations with them on this issue."

EPA last year finalized a new air rule for the oil and gas sector that does not directly impose methane limits. However, the rule does require drillers to use reduced-emission or "green" completions for hydraulically fractured wells to control smog-forming volatile organic compounds and other pollutants, and that requirement will also reduce the amount of methane that escapes into the atmosphere.

Estimates of how much methane -- a greenhouse gas that traps far more heat than carbon dioxide -- is emitted during natural gas production vary widely, and both environmentalists and industry groups agree better data are needed (Greenwire, April 5). The issue has broad implications for energy policy and the extent to which natural gas is viewed as a tool to combat climate change.

EPA used data submitted by natural gas companies through a voluntary program to establish a methane emissions estimate that industry said was overstated by several orders of magnitude. The data dispute has been raging for more than a year and led one company, Devon Energy Corp., to withdraw from the voluntary program in March (Greenwire, March 11).

The issue also has attracted attention on Capitol Hill, from Senate Environment and Public Works ranking member David Vitter (R-La.) and others. Earlier this week, Vitter welcomed reports that EPA had reduced some of its methane emission estimates but said more needed to be done.

"Some of EPA's emissions data remains grossly flawed, leading EPA and anti-fossil fuel advocates to draw conclusions with no factual bearing," Vitter said in a statement Tuesday. "Before EPA attempts to justify unnecessary regulation of hydraulic fracturing, the Agency needs to ensure that its decision-making process is based on sound science and credible data."

The state attorneys general point to the same downward revisions from EPA but say the agency adjusted its calculations for only two of the 33 categories of natural gas production activities included in its greenhouse gas inventory. Still unaddressed is the hydraulic fracturing completion category, which the attorneys general say is the most significantly flawed.

"This single category represents the largest contribution to the overall natural gas production sector emissions estimate, but it has been assessed by industry and academia to be inaccurate," the attorneys general wrote. "The justification for those estimates has been challenged by mounting evidence, including voluminous data, and investigation of potential flaws in the statistical methodology."

EPA said today that it will review and respond to the letter.

Clayton –

Here you go. Please note that you could use just the red changes, or both red and blue (the latter being some further improvements from one of our experts) or none.

Hope this helps.

Thanks for all your work on this!

Subject: NPS Working Group meeting/webinar: Hold the date for July 23rd
Date: 06/28/2013 03:31 PM

Dear NPS Working Group Member/Invitee –

Whether you who are a current NPS Working Group members or someone who hasn't participated before, the Nonpoint Source Management is the guidance document behind the State's Nonpoint Source Management Program and guides the ways that EPA Clean Water Act Section 319 monies can be used in the state. The plan is due for some updates. We held a preliminary meeting last December, and need to get the momentum started again.

We would like to schedule another NPS Working Group meeting so we can move forward with updating the NPS Management Plan. Please mark July 23, 2013 at 9:30 a.m. on your calendar for another conference call/webinar. We will send out an agenda and information at least one week prior to the webinar. We will have meeting space for those who would like to join us in person for the meeting, but the conference call/webinar option is open to anyone who would prefer to join us from the comfort of their own office.

Also, many of you have worked with Jeri Fleming in the past on the state's water plan. Jeri is now working for us and will be helping to organize the update effort. Future emails will likely come from her regarding the working group and the plan update.

If you are not the appropriate person from your organization, please forward this email to the appropriate person if they are not already included (and let myself or Jeri know who the correct person is). Please let me know if you have any questions.

We look forward to your participation!

Thanks!

I would love to, but unfortunately, National Guard duty calls. I hope that everyone at your office is safe and sound. It is extremely depressing in the damaged areas of Moore and Oklahoma City. Please give my regards to all who attend...I so wanted to see the "gang" again. Let's make these get-togethers a tradition.....

All-

I recently spoke to Lynn Rogers (rmadlo@cox.net) and Gay Tudor and told them, "we need to get a group of GC folks together for lunch." Thus, the reason you are getting this email! I tried to find what emails I could on the Bar website, but not all folks have listed updated emails, so feel free to pass this on if you know of someone who isn't on the recipient list. Hope you can make it. Just go through the line and find us! It would be great to see as many of you as possible to share a meal and catch up!

All-

I recently spoke to Lynn Rogers (rmadlo@cox.net) and Gay Tudor and told them, "we need to get a group of GC folks together for lunch." Thus, the reason you are getting this email! I tried to find what emails I could on the Bar website, but not all folks have listed updated emails, so feel free to pass this on if you know of someone who isn't on the recipient list. Hope you can make it. Just go through the line and find us! It would be great to see as many of you as possible to share a meal and catch up!

Appalachian Power Announces $337 Million Upgrade to Electric Grid in West Virginia

Upcoming power plant retirements in the Kanawha and Ohio valleys as early as 2015 will change the way electric power flows on the electric transmission grid. To accommodate those changes and address additional issues identified by an independent regional transmission operator, an Appalachian Power affiliate will file requests this year with regulators to make more than $337 million in upgrades in West Virginia, with most of the work slated for the Kanawha Valley.

As of 1 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, AEP Texas service crews continue working to restore power to the remaining 1,200 Abilene area customers still without power. Winds reaching 80 miles per hour along with heavy rains that caused flooded streets and underpasses wreaked havoc on the area. The thunderstorms began about 6 p.m. Monday evening. In less than an hour, the National Weather Service reported 2.14 inches at Abilene Regional Airport, with another 0.41 inches recorded the next hour. AEP Texas is projecting that 98 percent of those 1,200 customers will see power restored by late tonight, if not sooner.

AEP Texas crews continue restoration of service to Abilene area

AEP Texas crews continue to make progress in restoring electric service to Abilene area residents following high winds, rains and lightning that hit the area early Monday evening. Service crews have reduced the number of outages from 24,500 as of 9:15 p.m. to around 17,780 as of 11 p.m., according to AEP Texas External Affairs Manager Greg Blair. Dyess Air Force Base was among the facilities without power as of 11:20 p.m.; however, restoration of service was expected to be completed within the next few hours, if not sooner.

MUNCIE SITE RECEIVES 1ST DATA CENTER QUALIFIED DESIGNATION

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 13, 2013 - A Muncie site has earned the distinction of becoming Indiana's first and only Data Center Qualified site, Indiana Michigan Power, announced.

The designation is the result of a partnership between Indiana Michigan Power and its parent company, American Electric Power.

The Data Center Qualified site spans 97 acres in the Muncie Industria Centre. To qualify for the coveted designation, the Data Center Site Qualification Program analyzes sites to determine that they offer the unique combination of factors desired by today's mission critical and data center operations. The factors include highly reliable and redundant power and fiber infrastructures, competitive cost structures, and a location insulated from natural disasters and other risks.

Subject: TAG Meeting

All:

It has been some time since we have held a Telecommunications Advisory Group (TAG) meeting. Please plan to attend a TAG meeting at 9:00 on April 19, 2013. The meeting will be held in the Judicial Center's Great Room (east across Lincoln Blvd. from the Jim Thorpe Bldg.). The primary purpose of the meeting is to discuss the Oklahoma Universal Service Fund, specifically "building credits". However, there should be time for other discussion on open topics.

Agenda:

- Common building credit for schools & libraries starting FY 2014
  - Statutory issues
  - Chapter 59 issues
- Getting away from building credits altogether
  - Statutory issues
  - Chapter 59 issues
- Bandwidth and pricing, i.e., why higher bandwidths are priced less than lower bandwidths / 100Mbps is less than 20Mbps (in some instances)
- Open discussion

Subject: TAG Meeting

All:

It has been some time since we have held a Telecommunications Advisory Group (TAG) meeting. Please plan to attend a TAG meeting at 9:00 on April 19, 2013. The meeting will be held in the Judicial Center's Great Room (east across Lincoln Blvd. from the Jim Thorpe Bldg.). The primary purpose of the meeting is to discuss the Oklahoma Universal Service Fund, specifically "building credits". However, there should be time for other discussion on open topics.

Agenda:

- Common building credit for schools & libraries starting FY 2014
  - Statutory issues
  - Chapter 59 issues
- Getting away from building credits altogether
  - Statutory issues
  - Chapter 59 issues
- Bandwidth and pricing, i.e., why higher bandwidths are priced less than lower bandwidths / 100Mbps is less than 20Mbps (in some instances)
- Open discussion

Melissa -

I have just spoken with Matt Ball to schedule a time for the two of you to meet.

This meeting has been scheduled for 1:30-2:00 tomorrow, June 27, 2013, in General Pruitt's Conference Room.

This has been calendared and Matt Ball has been notified.

Please let me know if you need me to do anything further to this regard.

Thanks. -R

Hi Amy-

One more thing...on the Board Dinner (2nd at Governor's Mansion), do we have a time yet? He has a speaking engagement that evening so he may just come late depending on the time and meet some of the Board if that is good.

Wanted to provide you with details on General Pruitt's speaking engagement at the May 3rd ALEC meeting. The energy workshop will be in Ballroom DE at the Cox Convention Center and runs from 11am to 12:15 on the 3rd. General Pruitt will be joined by Jack Stark, Continental and Corey Goulet, TransCanada. Corey will be discussing infrastructure, Jack will be talking about fracking technology and safety, and we are looking forward to hearing General Pruitt's remarks on state primacy in oil and gas regulation and the EPA's sue & settle modus operandi. We expect that Corporation Commissioner Douglas will moderate the panel, though this is still underworks. Each panelist will have 15 to 20 minutes, which should leave 15 minutes for Q&A. If he has any questions, don't hesitate to call or email me. I will also be available on the day of at (202) 870-1110.

General Pruitt will be registered to attend any of the ALEC conference he would like. He's welcome to attend the Board Dinner on the evening of the 2nd at the Governor's Mansion (just let me know ahead of time) and we'd love to have him stick around for any of the rest of the conference... there is a reception on the evening of the 3rd at the Petroleum Club from 6 to 8pm. And let me know whether you've considered if he would like to participate as the Civil Justice Task Force Luncheon speaker... would be delightful to have our current legislative members benefit from his experience as a former state legislator, an ALEC member and a now attorney general. Koch Industries is sponsoring that luncheon.

Melissa, would you also like to be registered for the event? I can extend you a complimentary registration.

Best,
Amy

Amy-

I have him down to do the reception on the 2nd at Nonna's...please include him and Melissa for the Board Dinner at the Governor's mansion. I have him doing the speaking engagement for the Energy workshop at 11am on the 3rd and please include him and Melissa for the reception that evening at the Petroleum club .However, he will not be able to do the civil justice task force.

Hope that works- let me know if you have any discrepancies...thanks!

Wanted to provide you with details on General Pruitt's speaking engagement at the May 3rd ALEC meeting. The energy workshop will be in Ballroom DE at the Cox Convention Center and runs from 11am to 12:15 on the 3rd. General Pruitt will be joined by Jack Stark, Continental and Corey Goulet, TransCanada. Corey will be discussing infrastructure, Jack will be talking about fracking technology and safety, and we are looking forward to hearing General Pruitt's remarks on state primacy in oil and gas regulation and the EPA's sue & settle modus operandi. We expect that Corporation Commissioner Douglas will moderate the panel, though this is still underworks. Each panelist will have 15 to 20 minutes, which should leave 15 minutes for Q&A. If he has any questions, don't hesitate to call or email me. I will also be available on the day of at (202) 870-1110.

General Pruitt will be registered to attend any of the ALEC conference he would like. He's welcome to attend the Board Dinner on the evening of the 2nd at the Governor's Mansion (just let me know ahead of time) and we'd love to have him stick around for any of the rest of the conference... there is a reception on the evening of the 3rd at the Petroleum Club from 6 to 8pm. And let me know whether you've considered if he would like to participate as the Civil Justice Task Force Luncheon speaker... would be delightful to have our current legislative members benefit from his experience as a former state legislator, an ALEC member and a now attorney general. Koch Industries is sponsoring that luncheon.

Melissa, would you also like to be registered for the event? I can extend you a complimentary registration.

Best,
Amy

Wanted to provide you with details on General Pruitt's speaking engagement at the May 3rd ALEC meeting. The energy workshop will be in Ballroom DE at the Cox Convention Center and runs from 11am to 12:15 on the 3rd. General Pruitt will be joined by Jack Stark, Continental and Corey Goulet, TransCanada. Corey will be discussing infrastructure, Jack will be talking about fracking technology and safety, and we are looking forward to hearing General Pruitt's remarks on state primacy in oil and gas regulation and the EPA's sue & settle modus operandi. We expect that Corporation Commissioner Douglas will moderate the panel, though this is still underworks. Each panelist will have 15 to 20 minutes, which should leave 15 minutes for Q&A. If he has any questions, don't hesitate to call or email me. I will also be available on the day of at (202) 870-1110.

General Pruitt will be registered to attend any of the ALEC conference he would like. He's welcome to attend the Board Dinner on the evening of the 2nd at the Governor's Mansion (just let me know ahead of time) and we'd love to have him stick around for any of the rest of the conference... there is a reception on the evening of the 3rd at the Petroleum Club from 6 to 8pm. And let me know whether you've considered if he would like to participate as the Civil Justice Task Force Luncheon speaker... would be delightful to have our current legislative members benefit from his experience as a former state legislator, an ALEC member and a now attorney general. Koch Industries is sponsoring that luncheon.

Melissa, would you also like to be registered for the event? I can extend you a complimentary registration.

Best,
Amy

Sounds good, Ashley. Would you be able to send me his and Melissa's birthdates so they can join in at the Gov's mansion? And let me know how they would be arriving. We would need car information so they can park on the property. Could you also send me Melissa's contact info? I know I have it somewhere, but I'm having a hard time finding it. I need to get her registered.

Hi Amy-

One more thing...on the Board Dinner (2nd at Governor's Mansion), do we have a time yet? He has a speaking engagement that evening so he may just come late depending on the time and meet some of the Board if that is good.

Wanted to provide you with details on General Pruitt's speaking engagement at the May 3rd ALEC meeting. The energy workshop will be in Ballroom DE at the Cox Convention Center and runs from 11am to 12:15 on the 3rd. General Pruitt will be joined by Jack Stark, Continental and Corey Goulet, TransCanada. Corey will be discussing infrastructure, Jack will be talking about fracking technology and safety, and we are looking forward to hearing General Pruitt's remarks on state primacy in oil and gas regulation and the EPA's sue & settle modus operandi. We expect that Corporation Commissioner Douglas will moderate the panel, though this is still underworks. Each panelist will have 15 to 20 minutes, which should leave 15 minutes for Q&A. If he has any questions, don't hesitate to call or email me. I will also be available on the day of at (202) 870-1110.

General Pruitt will be registered to attend any of the ALEC conference he would like. He's welcome to attend the Board Dinner on the evening of the 2nd at the Governor's Mansion (just let me know ahead of time) and we'd love to have him stick around for any of the rest of the conference... there is a reception on the evening of the 3rd at the Petroleum Club from 6 to 8pm. And let me know whether you've considered if he would like to participate as the Civil Justice Task Force Luncheon speaker... would be delightful to have our current legislative members benefit from his experience as a former state legislator, an ALEC member and a now attorney general. Koch Industries is sponsoring that luncheon.

Melissa, would you also like to be registered for the event? I can extend you a complimentary registration.

Sounds good, Ashley. Would you be able to send me his and Melissa's birthdates so they can join in at the Gov's mansion? And let me know how they would be arriving. We would need car information so they can park on the property. Could you also send me Melissa's contact info? I know I have it somewhere, but I'm having a hard time finding it. I need to get her registered.

Amy-

I have him down to do the reception on the 2nd at Nonna's...please include him and Melissa for the Board Dinner at the Governor's mansion. I have him doing the speaking engagement for the Energy workshop at 11am on the 3rd and please include him and Melissa for the reception that evening at the Petroleum club .However, he will not be able to do the civil justice task force.

Hope that works- let me know if you have any discrepancies...thanks!

Oh and one more thing... would AG Pruitt expect to have a PowerPoint for his presentation at the Energy Workshop? Not necessary, just up to his preference. But we would need to have a copy of that a few days in advance.

Hi Amy-

One more thing...on the Board Dinner (2nd at Governor's Mansion), do we have a time yet? He has a speaking engagement that evening so he may just come late depending on the time and meet some of the Board if that is good.

Thanks!

Wanted to provide you with details on General Pruitt's speaking engagement at the May 3rd ALEC meeting. The energy workshop will be in Ballroom DE at the Cox Convention Center and runs from 11am to 12:15 on the 3rd. General Pruitt will be joined by Jack Stark, Continental and Corey Goulet, TransCanada. Corey will be discussing infrastructure, Jack will be talking about fracking technology and safety, and we are looking forward to hearing General Pruitt's remarks on state primacy in oil and gas regulation and the EPA's sue & settle modus operandi. We expect that Corporation Commissioner Douglas will moderate the panel, though this is still underworks. Each panelist will have 15 to 20 minutes, which should leave 15 minutes for Q&A. If he has any questions, don't hesitate to call or email me. I will also be available on the day of at (202) 870-1110.

General Pruitt will be registered to attend any of the ALEC conference he would like. He's welcome to attend the Board Dinner on the evening of the 2nd at the Governor's Mansion (just let me know ahead of time) and we'd love to have him stick around for any of the rest of the conference... there is a reception on the evening of the 3rd at the Petroleum Club from 6 to 8pm. And let me know whether you've considered if he would like to participate as the Civil Justice Task Force Luncheon speaker... would be delightful to have our current legislative members benefit from his experience as a former state legislator, an ALEC member and a now attorney general. Koch Industries is sponsoring that luncheon.

Melissa, would you also like to be registered for the event? I can extend you a complimentary registration.

Best,
Amy

Absolutely. Here you go. He is welcome to attend any of the events, of course, as is Melissa. Would it be possible to get the license plate number for the black Lincoln Gen. Pruitt and Melissa will be coming to the Governor's Mansion in on the 2nd?

Thanks!

Attorney General Pruitt's Statement on Unanimous Supreme Court Decision in Favor of Oklahoma in Tarrant Water Case

“This is a major victory for Oklahoma with all nine justices agreeing with our argument that Texas does not have the right to come into Oklahoma and take our water,” Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt said. “We successfully defended Oklahoma’s right to protect its natural resources at the district court, circuit court of appeals, and now the Supreme Court, which confirmed Oklahoma’s sovereignty over its water resources. This unanimous decision will affect all western states governed by multistate water compacts, and will protect Oklahoma’s ability to control this vital resource for generations to come.”

Not everyone who attends the reception will be staying for the dinner, so we allowed for brief comments at both if that is agreeable to you. In all, he would be done within an hour.

Reception (5 pm – 6:30 pm):

Goals: Gather legislators from around the country to introduce them to the federalism efforts in motion. Build critical early support for the federalism movement.
6:15 pm AG Pruitt arrives and provides brief comments about opportunities to put federalism back into action

Dinner (6:45 pm – 8:30 pm):

Goals: Strategy development and discussion
7 pm AG Pruitt to give keynote remarks regarding his broad vision for federalism, identifying the biggest opportunities to make an impact in each state, and how can we unite to build the case for federalism.
7:15 pm AG Pruitt finishes remarks and is welcome to stay for the rest of the dinner, or we will provide specific transition time in the program to allow him to exit.

We would be happy to extend the time for his remarks at the dinner if he would prefer to engage in a lengthier discussion. Please let me know what you think.

Hi Melissa,

We are hosting a reception on May 2 for state legislators from around the country, and several of our Oklahoma lawmakers have been invited as well. The details about the reception are below my signature. I wanted to ask if you thought AG Pruitt could attend and say a few words. We would love to have him if he can be there because he is an excellent spokesman for the idea of federalism and restoring the balance of power between the states and the federal government. We appreciate all that you guys are doing. Please let me know what you think.

Hi Melissa,

We are hosting a reception on May 2 for state legislators from around the country, and several of our Oklahoma lawmakers have been invited as well. The details about the reception are below my signature. I wanted to ask if you thought AG Pruitt could attend and say a few words. We would love to have him if he can be there because he is an excellent spokesman for the idea of federalism and restoring the balance of power between the states and the federal government. We appreciate all that you guys are doing. Please let me know what you think.

Good morning. Have you had a chance to review this suggested schedule? I hope you are both well!

Thanks again to both of you for your help on this. I wanted to give you a few notes about what is happening that evening, the goals of each part and what we think would be the best use of AG Pruitt's time. We want to be respectful of his schedule, and we believe this suggestion allows for the greatest impact in the shortest amount of time. Not everyone who attends the reception will be staying for the dinner, so we allowed for brief comments at both if that is agreeable to you. In all, he would be done within an hour.

Reception (5 pm – 6:30 pm):

Goals: Gather legislators from around the country to introduce them to the federalism efforts in motion. Build critical early support for the federalism movement.

6:15 pm AG Pruitt arrives and provides brief comments about opportunities to put federalism back into action

Dinner (6:45 pm – 8:30 pm):

Goals: Strategy development and discussion

7 pm AG Pruitt to give keynote remarks regarding his broad vision for federalism, identifying the biggest opportunities to make an impact in each state, and how can we unite to build the case for federalism.

7:15 pm AG Pruitt finishes remarks and is welcome to stay for the rest of the dinner, or we will provide specific transition time in the program to allow him to exit.

We would be happy to extend the time for his remarks at the dinner if he would prefer to engage in a lengthier discussion. Please let me know what you think.

"Among the most serious threats to the continued health of the American republic is the extraordinarily low esteem in which the public holds the federal government," The Washington Examiner recently editorialized.

And who can blame them when Congress and President Obama seem locked in perpetual partisan warfare, even as millions of Americans have given up on finding jobs, the economy bounces along in the weakest recovery since the Great Depression, and the national debt soars to previously unimagined heights.

What is to be done? A coalition of state-based conservative think tanks led by the Oklahoma-based Liberty Foundation is advancing an old idea that if implemented could revolutionize American governance.

Dr. Brown with Margaret Thatcher

The death of former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has reminded us what an impact one woman, in the right office at the right time and with the right ideas, can make on the course of history. She was not called the Iron Lady for nothing. Time after time she stood boldly for basic principles like limited government and restrained taxation in a nation and at a time when those principles often brought bitter opposition. On one occasion she was even targeted for assassination by the radical Irish Republican Army. She went back to work the same day.

Lady Thatcher, pictured above with OCPA chairman Dr. David Brown and Heritage Foundation president Ed Feulner, "was a leader who changed the course of history," Dr. Nile Gardiner of the Heritage Foundation wrote last week.

Now, like the Iron Lady we continue to mourn, Gov. Fallin stands at a moment in time when things could go either way.

There are many explanations (technological, demographic, et al.) for the chart above, and I'm not prepared to make the case that liberal media bias is a primary one. But I'm convinced it's a contributing factor.

In its long march through the institutions, the Left long ago captured the J-schools. "I don't hire just conservatives," Tucker Carlson of the conservative Daily Caller recently told WORLD magazine. "You can't! If we limited our hiring to just conservatives, we'd only have four people."

As I have pointed out, "while most Oklahomans are on the center-right -- only 9 percent identify themselves as liberal -- I would say the inverse obtains in Oklahoma's state capitol press corps. The press room leans heavily to the center-left, with a small minority of conservatives." That's why conservative ideas can appear "controversial" to some Oklahoma journalists.

In short, there's a disconnect between journalists and their customers -- which is the last thing an industry needs when staring at trend lines like the ones above.

Having said all that, click here to read a tip sheet of story ideas for Oklahoma journalists.

Those of us at OCPA recognize the importance of higher education. Indeed, I challenge you to name another nonprofit public-policy think tank that has made it a point to raise $127,000 and award it to students to attend college.

But that's not to say that more and more government spending on higher education is necessarily a good idea.

Oklahoma taxpayers are familiar with the constant poormouthing that emanates from state agency heads pleading for more funds each year. Give us more extra bucks, the agency heads complain to legislators, or we'll have to close facilities, cut services, and throw granny out into the snow.

But thanks to some diligent reporting by The Oklahoman's Randy Ellis and a rather pointed letter from Gov. Mary Fallin, one of those pleas for more dollars has been unmasked as a sham.

Earlier this year, feminists across the country celebrated the golden-jubilee reissue of Betty Friedan's wave-making work, The Feminine Mystique.

The book -- so I am told -- inspired many a malcontent woman to seek "liberation" from "the comfortable concentration camp" of suburban housewifery and, for that reason, deserves to be celebrated.

A millennial myself, I never experienced 1950s suburbia -- but, whatever the life of a suburban housewife then (and I somehow never quite buy that it was as dreadful as Friedan's term suggests), the life of a suburban housewife now is anything but a "comfortable concentration camp."

Betty Friedan simply did not anticipate the Internet.

Earlier this year, feminists across the country celebrated the golden-jubilee reissue of Betty Friedan's wave-making work, The Feminine Mystique.

The book -- so I am told -- inspired many a malcontent woman to seek "liberation" from "the comfortable concentration camp" of suburban housewifery and, for that reason, deserves to be celebrated.

A millennial myself, I never experienced 1950s suburbia -- but, whatever the life of a suburban housewife then (and I somehow never quite buy that it was as dreadful as Friedan's term suggests), the life of a suburban housewife now is anything but a "comfortable concentration camp."

Betty Friedan simply did not anticipate the Internet.

A few aspects of Obamacare are, per last summer's U.S. Supreme Court ruling, still voluntary for the states. First among these is Obamacare's expansion of Medicaid, projected to cost Oklahoma taxpayers a total of $1.6 billion over the next 10 years if implemented.

President Obama's Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has used various methods to bribe, threaten, or otherwise persuade states into accepting Medicaid expansion. It now sees the Insure Oklahoma premium-assistance program as a vehicle for getting the camel's nose under the tent in Oklahoma.

You're perhaps aware that the Oklahoma City-based retailer Hobby Lobby is challenging the HHS anti-conscience mandate, born of Obamacare, which forces employers to cover drugs - such as the "morning-after pill" and the "week-after pill" - that can end a new human life by preventing implantation of a fertilized egg. Lawyers for the Becket Fund, the law firm representing the Green family in Hobby Lobby v. Sebelius, say their clients "believe human life begins at the moment of conception, and believe these drugs can end life after that moment, a violation of their deeply held religious beliefs."

In the wake of Obamacare, several Oklahomans, to their great credit, have stood up to defend religious freedom.

Scott Walker at OCPA

Amity Shlaes' new biography of Calvin Coolidge rightly notes the moment that vaulted him from the governorship of Massachusetts to the vice presidential nomination and, ultimately, the White House. It was his firm stand against the 1919 Boston police strike and his statement that "there is no right to strike against public safety by anyone, anywhere, at any time."

The battle Coolidge fought nearly a century ago against the excesses of public employee unions continues today in states as diverse as Oklahoma and Wisconsin, where Gov. Scott Walker weathered a union-instigated recall election after he curtailed their power to dip at will into the taxpayers' pockets.

Most Americans "likely think of Woody Guthrie as an 'aw-shucks' Okie who sang folk tunes in a Norman Rockwell tableau," Michael Warren pointed out this month in The Weekly Standard. "They can, perhaps, be forgiven for not realizing that Woody Guthrie was an avowed Communist [he wrote a weekly column for the The Daily Worker] who dreamed of the end of a capitalist system that had dealt his fellow plainmen a bad hand. They can be forgiven their ignorance of his admiration for Stalin. They can even forgive Woody Guthrie lyrics.

Most Americans "likely think of Woody Guthrie as an 'aw-shucks' Okie who sang folk tunes in a Norman Rockwell tableau," Michael Warren pointed out this month in The Weekly Standard. "They can, perhaps, be forgiven for not realizing that Woody Guthrie was an avowed Communist [he wrote a weekly column for the The Daily Worker] who dreamed of the end of a capitalist system that had dealt his fellow plainsmen a bad hand. They can be forgiven their ignorance of his admiration for Stalin. They can even forgive Woody Guthrie lyrics.

Forward the cause:

For just as unscrupulous television preachers give Christianity a bad name, crony capitalism gives capitalism a bad name. It tarnishes the brand, making it more difficult for pro-free-enterprise conservatives to win the hearts and minds of voters.

This, of course, is a continuing problem in the nation's capital. For example, Timothy P. Carney recently reported in the Washington Examiner that "Congressional Republicans and the Obama White House are headed for another clash over corporate welfare, and once again President Obama is on the side of big business while Senate conservatives are on the side of free markets." This is nothing new: the U.S. Chamber of Commerce has already christened Barack Obama, Joe Biden, and Hillary Clinton more "pro-business" than Jim DeMint.

It plays out in the Oklahoma state capitol, too.

"Medicaid was established in 1965 with the worthy aim of providing medical care for the poor; it was never intended as a middle-class entitlement or as inheritance protection for the children of well-off seniors," The Wall Street Journal has correctly observed ("Medicaid for Millionaires").

A review of the most recent Oklahoma Health Care Authority (OHCA) annual report (page 42) shows that Oklahoma is not immune.

Like cicadas emerging from their shells, they come out every spring - a delegation from Oklahoma's monopoly education system warning us with dire looks that we absolutely must "invest" more millions in our schools. To achieve exactly what they never quite make clear, but this year as in past years there's a number attached. For 2013, it's $117 million. They didn't quite get what they wanted this year, but state Superintendent Janet Barresi did announce on Thursday that preK-12 education would receive $91 million in new funds for the next fiscal year.

But a quick glance at the chart above, as well as a look at Oklahoma school data from the most recent year, 2011, suggests this is not going to be money well spent.

For many years OCPA has drawn attention to the excessive bureaucratic overhead in Oklahoma's public education system. Indeed, the system has nearly as many non-teachers as teachers.

"The bureaucracy is now so big," Dr. Greg Forster recently pointed out, "it takes up half the system."

In a new report, "The School Staffing Surge: Decades of Employment Growth in America's Public Schools, Part II," economist Benjamin Scafidi points out that between FY 1992 and FY 2009, the number of public school students in Oklahoma grew 10 percent, while the number of administrators and other non-teaching staff grew 28 percent -- nearly three times greater than the increase in students.

Forward the cause:

For many years OCPA has drawn attention to the excessive bureaucratic overhead in Oklahoma's public education system. Indeed, the system has nearly as many non-teachers as teachers.

"The bureaucracy is now so big," Dr. Greg Forster recently pointed out, "it takes up half the system."

In a new report, "The School Staffing Surge: Decades of Employment Growth in America's Public Schools, Part II," economist Benjamin Scafidi points out that between FY 1992 and FY 2009, the number of public school students in Oklahoma grew 10 percent, while the number of administrators and other non-teaching staff grew 28 percent -- nearly three times greater than the increase in students.

Keep shutting doors on Obamacare's Medicaid expansion in Oklahoma

Forward the cause:

Recently the federal Department of Health and Human Services notified the state of Oklahoma that President Obama and Secretary Kathleen Sebelius were going to break yet another promise of Obamacare by not renewing Oklahoma's current waiver for Insure Oklahoma.

You'll remember that President Obama famously said, "If you like your health care plan, you can keep your health care plan." It turns out that was a bald-faced lie, as so many Americans -- employers, individuals, even my own family -- are finding out.

This Memorial Day has additional significance for Oklahomans in the wake of the storms that have ravaged our state. While the official purpose of the holiday is to honor lives lost in military service, it will be difficult not to also think of the friends and neighbors we lost to deadly tornados.

The picture above represents an attempt to bring together those thoughts.

Just a reminder in case you missed my earlier email. Hope you can stop by - Karma

I wanted to invite you to come by and meet my friend Amy Brown. Amy interned for me when she was in college, and so some of you will remember her. She is very talented and currently works for Harris Media. (She resides in Austin and I am conspiring along with her family to get her back to Oklahoma) She is going to be in town on Monday, April 22nd and I wanted to invite you to join us for a drink. Hope to see you and feel free to bring folks along.

Monday, April 22

West Restaurant: 5:00 - 7:00

6714 N Western Ave Oklahoma City, OK 73116

AMY BROWN

Senior Vice President

@AmyKateBrown

Amy Brown has been a digital strategist in Republican politics for 3 years. After joining Harris Media in 2010, she ran the day-to-day online operation for the successful campaign of Florida's 45th Governor Rick Scott, helping to develop a highly effective Facebook campaign integration, gaining the largest number of active followers than any other candidate of the 2010 election cycle. Since then, she has worked for Linda McMahon for US Senate, ForAmerica, Rick Perry for President and other high profile Republican campaigns. She received her bachelors in Communications Studies and a minor in Spanish from Vanderbilt University. An Oklahoma native, Amy is enjoying living in Big 12 territory once again.

At the May 23 hearing, Obama administration lawyer Alisa Klein made no cogent argument as to why government-mandated, employer-provided insurance that covers abortifacients is somehow more essential to human flourishing than the individual right to free exercise of religion.

In fact, she didn't even try to make that argument.

OCPA has championed the free market for two decades now, and with good reason. It works. What doesn't work is excessive tinkering in the market by government policies aimed at social engineering. There is no shortage of examples, but one of the most dangerous is being fought right now by our own Congressman James Lankford.

By Michael Carnuccio

Three score and nine years ago, those from America's greatest generation were clearing the beachheads from the recently secured Normandy, France, on their way to their second objective. In the previous 24 hours, 156,000 Allied troops from the United States, United Kingdom, Canada, Free France and Norway had landed on five beaches of occupied territory, taking the fight for freedom directly to the full brunt of German firepower: Sword, Juno, Gold, Omaha and Utah -- where one of my heroes first set foot on French soil.

Thanks to moms

By Michael Carnuccio

At some point, whether consciously or not, my wife made the decision that she would endure months of emotion and physical pain to then experience a day of excruciating physical pain to be rewarded with a lifetime of pains - all for someone she has not yet met. Before she knew the gender, if the child would be healthy, disabled or disadvantaged, and before she had answers to the myriad of questions that life throws at us, she decided to endure trial, tribulation and hardship so a tiny living organism would have more opportunity than she may have.

Find a deeper love than that.

It doesn't take a village to raise a child; it takes the love of a mother. We should empower mothers with choice in their children's education and let them keep more of their earnings to provide for their children.

Thanks to moms

By Michael Carnuccio

At some point, whether consciously or not, my wife made the decision that she would endure months of emotion and physical pain to then experience a day of excruciating physical pain to be rewarded with a lifetime of pains - all for someone she has not yet met. Before she knew the gender, if the child would be healthy, disabled or disadvantaged, and before she had answers to the myriad of questions that life throws at us, she decided to endure trial, tribulation and hardship so a tiny living organism would have more opportunity than she may have.

Find a deeper love than that.

It doesn't take a village to raise a child; it takes the love of a mother. We should empower mothers with choice in their children's education and let them keep more of their earnings to provide for their children.

Hey Brian,

I believe this will work. Is this still taking place at Nonna's or has the location changed?

Good morning. Have you had a chance to review this suggested schedule? I hope you are both well!

Thanks again to both of you for your help on this. I wanted to give you a few notes about what is happening that evening, the goals of each part and what we think would be the best use of AG Pruitt's time. We want to be respectful of his schedule, and we believe this suggestion allows for the greatest impact in the shortest amount of time. Not everyone who attends the reception will be staying for the dinner, so we allowed for brief comments at both if that is agreeable to you. In all, he would be done within an hour.

Reception (5 pm – 6:30 pm):

Goals: Gather legislators from around the country to introduce them to the federalism efforts in motion. Build critical early support for the federalism movement.

6:15 pm AG Pruitt arrives and provides brief comments about opportunities to put federalism back into action

Dinner (6:45 pm – 8:30 pm):

Goals: Strategy development and discussion

7 pm AG Pruitt to give keynote remarks regarding his broad vision for federalism, identifying the biggest opportunities to make an impact in each state, and how can we unite to build the case for federalism.

7:15 pm AG Pruitt finishes remarks and is welcome to stay for the rest of the dinner, or we will provide specific transition time in the program to allow him to exit.

We would be happy to extend the time for his remarks at the dinner if he would prefer to engage in a lengthier discussion. Please let me know what you think.

Hi Melissa,

We are hosting a reception on May 2 for state legislators from around the country, and several of our Oklahoma lawmakers have been invited as well. The details about the reception are below my signature. I wanted to ask if you thought AG Pruitt could attend and say a few words. We would love to have him if he can be there because he is an excellent spokesman for the idea of federalism and restoring the balance of power between the states and the federal government. We appreciate all that you guys are doing. Please let me know what you think.

Pass the tax cut

By Michael Carnuccio

Right now in Oklahoma, there is a single mother at the gas station. After smiling at her two children in the back seat of the car, she stares at the meter ticking while wondering if she can afford that gallon of milk on the grocery list in her pocket.

Today, a young Oklahoman is stressing out about finding a new job. His current pay is not enough to meet life's responsibilities, which include enormous student loan debt for a college degree from a school that constantly raised his tuition. Tomorrow, a father will come home from working all night to take care of his newborn child so his wife can head into the office. This is what it takes to follow your dreams and start a small business.

These three share something in common with each one of us in the Sooner State - - being penalized for getting up and going to work every day.

By Michael Carnuccio

The Internal Revenue Service began targeting organizations with the terms tea party, patriot and 9-12 in their names on March 1, 2010. Thirteen months later, that agency's director of exempt operations, Lois

Lerner, was informed of the inappropriate activity, initiated an internal audit, yet continued the practice of targeting these groups.

Within nine months, the media began reporting that ideologically conservative groups were being harassed by the IRS. Having met earlier that March with top officials, Douglas Shulman, then the IRS commissioner, testified before Congress that there was no targeting.

If you haven't heard of Remington Reimer, you should. Remington recently graduated as valedictorian of his high school class in Joshua, Texas. He's been accepted at the U. S. Naval Academy. By most people's standards, that would be something to celebrate. But, when Remington prepared to make his valedictory speech at graduation, school administrators warned him they would shut off his microphone if he digressed from the pre-approved script.

Well, Remington inserted some language about having respect for the Constitution -- and the school administrators pulled the plug.

When the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarships for Students with Disabilities program was enacted in 2010, state Rep. Kris Steele correctly noted that the program would honor the memory of Lindsey Nicole Henry and "let it be known for generations to come that she, and her parents, are helping to improve the lives of special-needs children across the state."

It's already happening, as we demonstrated in a 24-minute documentary produced in 2012. A year later, we decided to check back to see how these students are doing. As you can see in this 10-minute video, the Henry Scholarships are continuing to change lives in Oklahoma.

When the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarships for Students with Disabilities program was enacted in 2010, state Rep. Kris Steele correctly noted that the program would honor the memory of Lindsey Nicole Henry and "let it be known for generations to come that she, and her parents, are helping to improve the lives of special-needs children across the state."

It's already happening, as we demonstrated in a 24-minute documentary produced in 2012. A year later, we decided to check back to see how these students are doing. As you can see in this 10-minute video, the Henry Scholarships are continuing to change lives in Oklahoma.

I've lamented before that, just as President Barack Obama is the biggest government spender in world history, Oklahoma's current political leaders are the biggest government spenders in state history. Indeed, according to the venerable Tax Foundation, Oklahoma led the nation in government-spending growth over the past decade.

Regrettably, despite the best efforts of some lawmakers to hold the line, spending is set to increase more than a quarter-billion dollars in the upcoming fiscal year.

Every day seems to bring new headlines signaling that big changes are underway in higher education. I recently saw one such headline in my RSS feed and immediately said to myself, This looks like a big deal. After I clicked through and read the article ("Georgia Tech, Udacity Shock Higher Ed With $7,000 Degree"), I said to myself, Yep, this is a big deal.

Choosing teachers

By Michael Carnuccio

This week saw Oklahoma State University's return to national basketball prominence. Oddly enough, it was Cowboy alum William Arthur Ward who penned many thoughts that apply to education policy.

"The mediocre teacher tells. The good teacher explains. The superior teacher demonstrates. The great teacher inspires."

I am the son of a lifelong educator. Some of my closest friends from college are teachers. You can't talk to dedicated teachers without being captivated by their passion for the children in their classes. They care more for the future of those children than their own.

I do not know how all teachers feel about issues like school choice, the teachers union or the fact that our state still has more than 500 school districts. What I do know is that their very existence and approach to their craft provides even more evidence that we must do all we can do inject choice and empowerment into education in this state.

The 2013 Four Star Leadership with General Tommy Franks is accepting applications from high school sophomores and juniors from across the country interested in attending the summer program to be held July 14-20 in Oklahoma City.

Fifty of the top high school students will have a face-to-face experience with national and international leaders. King Abdullah of Jordan, Governor Mike Huckabee, Governor Mary Fallin, General Tommy Franks, Secretary Jack Kemp, Governor Bill Richardson, Judge Andrew Napolitano, Senator James Inhofe and Olympic gold-medalist Michelle Smith are a few of the program participants over the past years.

Students will receive the same policy briefings world leaders receive and then are challenged to address those issues individually in a persuasive speech and editorial, and collaboratively in a Student Congress format. The program includes teambuilding exercises, spontaneous problem solving and coaching in persuasive speaking and writing. Students have an opportunity to gain scholarships, internships and much more. When students win a scholarship for themselves, they also win a financial award for the school that nominated them to attend.

The program is built around the "four star" core principles of character, common vision, communication and caring that guided General Tommy Franks through a 38-year career. These principles form a platform of discovery for the next generation of America's Leaders. Don't miss your chance to become one who can solve problems and communicate solutions that will propel our world to greater peace, prosperity, and mutual respect. Take the challenge! Accept the opportunity! Learn to lead with General Tommy Franks.

The National Center for Policy Analysis, Oklahoma Christian University, the Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs, and the General Tommy Franks Leadership Institute & Museum are partnering to create this opportunity for our next generation of leaders.

The 2013 Four Star Leadership with General Tommy Franks is accepting applications from high school sophomores and juniors from across the country interested in attending the summer program to be held July 14-20 in Oklahoma City.

Fifty of the top high school students will have a face-to-face experience with national and international leaders. King Abdullah of Jordan, Governor Mike Huckabee, Governor Mary Fallin, General Tommy Franks, Secretary Jack Kemp, Governor Bill Richardson, Judge Andrew Napolitano, Senator James Inhofe and Olympic gold-medalist Michelle Smith are a few of the program participants over the past years.

Students will receive the same policy briefings world leaders receive and then are challenged to address those issues individually in a persuasive speech and editorial, and collaboratively in a Student Congress format. The program includes teambuilding exercises, spontaneous problem solving and coaching in persuasive speaking and writing. Students have an opportunity to gain scholarships, internships and much more. When students win a scholarship for themselves, they also win a financial award for the school that nominated them to attend.

The program is built around the "four star" core principles of character, common vision, communication and caring that guided General Tommy Franks through a 38-year career. These principles form a platform of discovery for the next generation of America's Leaders. Don't miss your chance to become one who can solve problems and communicate solutions that will propel our world to greater peace, prosperity, and mutual respect. Take the challenge! Accept the opportunity! Learn to lead with General Tommy Franks.

The National Center for Policy Analysis, Oklahoma Christian University, the Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs, and the General Tommy Franks Leadership Institute & Museum are partnering to create this opportunity for our next generation of leaders.

Hello!

My name is Miles Hanon and I'm working with Wes Lane to create a short film for Salt and Light Leadership Training. We are working on a visually expressive and emotional film that will encourage leaders to connect with God's vision for our city. Part of the film includes short testimonies from leaders like you who have caught the vision and are willing to share it with others. I just have just a few questions for you and I promise to make the process as painless as possible :). Please consider helping us as your testimonies will be vitally important to communicating this important message.

If you are available and would like to help, please contact me at your earliest convenience. We would like to conduct the interviews early next week at Toy Gun Studios in Oklahoma City. We will set aside an entire day for interviews so you'll be able to come at your convenience.

Thank you for your consideration.

My best!

Miles

Yearning to breathe free

By Michael Carnuccio

Currently, our nation finds herself deadlocked in a battle for her soul, only the leaders of the fight don't seem to know it. It's a travesty to posture an important issue like immigration into corners of amnesty or bigotry -- an assured result when solving public policy problems with guerilla politics.

Immigration is nothing new, nor is it a uniquely American problem. However, our country transformed the paradigm of the practice. As the late, great University of Oklahoma professor Rufus Fears said, no other nation in history told the world that if you're willing to adopt our customs, language and founding principles, you are welcome to experience the American dream. The Statue of Liberty still reads "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

When the truth really hurts

By Michael Carnuccio

We all suspected that President Barack Obama's Internal Revenue Service was targeting American citizens expressing their First Amendment right for special scrutiny and delay in identifying tax-exempt status.

Now we know the ugly truth: They not only asked invasive questions, they even passed on donors' names and addresses to hard-left political groups. This is textbook Gestapo politics, where elements within the IRS operate like part of a political opposition research team. Even liberal Democrat U.S. Sens. Claire McCaskill and Dick Durbin have assailed the unprecedented abuse of IRS powers.

Then came the revelations that Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius is shaking down health care businesses and groups, directly asking them to contribute to nonprofits that will attack Obamacare critics and encourage Americans to sign up for the unprecedented Affordable Care Act. Yes, this is the same bureaucrat who some Oklahoma lawmakers want to negotiate with in good faith.

Americans watching the continuing meltdown of Western Europe's tottering economies were amazed last year when French leaders proposed a new "millionaire's tax" rate of 75 percent. But we were hardly surprised. Confiscatory tax rates approaching 100 percent are, after all, the logical endpoint of the socialist big-government mentality.

But there seems to be some hope.

Friends,

The sun rises on a new day and the spirit of Oklahoma shines as Oklahomans come together to help our community pick up the pieces left behind in the wake of yesterday's devastating tornado in Moore.

We are encouraged by the outpouring of support from both fellow Oklahomans and national friends. OCPA will do our part to help those impacted by this storm.

If you would like to help, you can make a $10 donation via text message to the Red Cross by texting REDCROSS to 90999, or check a list of other donation options here.

Our thoughts and prayers are with everyone impacted by this storm.

The Oklahoma Legislature is considering a last-minute commitment of roughly 80 million taxpayer dollars over the next few years to two museums. The institutions in question are the American Indian Cultural Center and Museum (AICCM), still under construction in Oklahoma City near the intersection of Interstate 35 and Interstate 40, and the Oklahoma Museum of Music and Popular Culture (OKPOP), to be built in Tulsa. About half the $80 million is to go toward the AICCM, and the other half to OKPOP.

Museums are not a core function of government. A better route for both the AICCM and OKPOP would be to make both non-appropriated entities or privatize them altogether.

Earlier this month, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services rejected a waiver request to extend the Insure Oklahoma program past Jan. 1.

HHS rejected the Insure Oklahoma waiver to blackmail Oklahoma into accepting Obamacare Medicaid expansion dollars. State lawmakers should be wary of leaving this issue for bureaucrats to solve. Bureaucrats weren't sent by taxpayers to act as sentries against Obamacare - legislators and the governor were.

Thanks again to both of you for your help on this. I wanted to give you a few notes about what is happening that evening, the goals of each part and what we think would be the best use of AG Pruitt's time. We want to be respectful of his schedule, and we believe this suggestion allows for the greatest impact in the shortest amount of time. Not everyone who attends the reception will be staying for the dinner, so we allowed for brief comments at both if that is agreeable to you. In all, he would be done within an hour.

Reception (5 pm – 6:30 pm):

Goals: Gather legislators from around the country to introduce them to the federalism efforts in motion. Build critical early support for the federalism movement.

6:15 pm AG Pruitt arrives and provides brief comments about opportunities to put federalism back into action

Dinner (6:45 pm – 8:30 pm):

Goals: Strategy development and discussion

7 pm AG Pruitt to give keynote remarks regarding his broad vision for federalism, identifying the biggest opportunities to make an impact in each state, and how can we unite to build the case for federalism.

7:15 pm AG Pruitt finishes remarks and is welcome to stay for the rest of the dinner, or we will provide specific transition time in the program to allow him to exit.

We would be happy to extend the time for his remarks at the dinner if he would prefer to engage in a lengthier discussion. Please let me know what you think.

Hi Melissa,

We are hosting a reception on May 2 for state legislators from around the country, and several of our Oklahoma lawmakers have been invited as well. The details about the reception are below my signature. I wanted to ask if you thought AG Pruitt could attend and say a few words. We would love to have him if he can be there because he is an excellent spokesman for the idea of federalism and restoring the balance of power between the states and the federal government. We appreciate all that you guys are doing. Please let me know what you think.

Thanks again to both of you for your help on this. I wanted to give you a few notes about what is happening that evening, the goals of each part and what we think would be the best use of AG Pruitt's time. We want to be respectful of his schedule, and we believe this suggestion allows for the greatest impact in the shortest amount of time. Not everyone who attends the reception will be staying for the dinner, so we allowed for brief comments at both if that is agreeable to you. In all, he would be done within an hour.

Reception (5 pm – 6:30 pm):

Goals: Gather legislators from around the country to introduce them to the federalism efforts in motion. Build critical early support for the federalism movement.

6:15 pm AG Pruitt arrives and provides brief comments about opportunities to put federalism back into action

Dinner (6:45 pm – 8:30 pm):

Goals: Strategy development and discussion

7 pm AG Pruitt to give keynote remarks regarding his broad vision for federalism, identifying the biggest opportunities to make an impact in each state, and how can we unite to build the case for federalism.

7:15 pm AG Pruitt finishes remarks and is welcome to stay for the rest of the dinner, or we will provide specific transition time in the program to allow him to exit.

We would be happy to extend the time for his remarks at the dinner if he would prefer to engage in a lengthier discussion. Please let me know what you think.

Hi Melissa,

We are hosting a reception on May 2 for state legislators from around the country, and several of our Oklahoma lawmakers have been invited as well. The details about the reception are below my signature. I wanted to ask if you thought AG Pruitt could attend and say a few words. We would love to have him if he can be there because he is an excellent spokesman for the idea of federalism and restoring the balance of power between the states and the federal government. We appreciate all that you guys are doing. Please let me know what you think.

In a new report released last week ('Saving Workers' Retirement: First Steps Toward Public Pension Reform in Oklahoma'), OCPA unveiled a plan which ensures that current state employees and retirees get the retirement they were promised, sets in motion a plan to pay down unfunded liabilities, and brings the government's pension system into the 21st century. As OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small told journalist Pat McGuigan, it's time for Oklahoma's political leaders to think big.

Searching for leadership

By Michael Carnuccio

I want to take a moment to reflect on President Ronald Reagan. Although his presidency was filled with vivid speeches and moments of greatness, for me, none ever came close to those 50 seconds during his speech at the Brandenburg Gate in 1987 when he said: "General Secretary Gorbachev, if you seek peace, if you seek prosperity for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, if you seek liberalization, come here to this gate. Mr. Gorbachev, open this gate. Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall!"

Two years later, the Berlin Wall fell and millions of Eastern Europeans were free.

President Reagan uttered those words against the advice of the experts and diplomats. Each time they took those words out of his speech, he put them back in.

Like the 300 brave Spartans led by King Leonidas against the mass of Xerxes' Persians, our leaders need to put Oklahoma's and America's future ahead of their own self-interest. They need to form an impenetrable phalanx that can withstand the blows of any special-interest foe.

Searching for leadership

By Michael Carnuccio

I want to take a moment to reflect on President Ronald Reagan. Although his presidency was filled with vivid speeches and moments of greatness, for me, none ever came close to those 50 seconds during his speech at the Brandenburg Gate in 1987 when he said: "General Secretary Gorbachev, if you seek peace, if you seek prosperity for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, if you seek liberalization, come here to this gate. Mr. Gorbachev, open this gate. Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall!"

Two years later, the Berlin Wall fell and millions of Eastern Europeans were free.

President Reagan uttered those words against the advice of the experts and diplomats. Each time they took those words out of his speech, he put them back in.

Like the 300 brave Spartans led by King Leonidas against the mass of Xerxes' Persians, our leaders need to put Oklahoma's and America's future ahead of their own self-interest. They need to form an impenetrable phalanx that can withstand the blows of any special-interest foe.

Friends,

In the aftermath of the Boston Marathon bombing, we saw the crucial role citizens play during a tragedy, and "we need to maintain robust civil society and public spiritedness," the Washington Examiner correctly observed (Civil society, not Big Brother, is the American way).

OCPA agrees that citizenship is worth advancing and celebrating. We invite you to join us as we honor two leading conservative citizens -- former Heritage Foundation president Dr. Ed Feulner and current president Sen. Jim DeMint at OCPA's annual Citizenship Award Dinner May 9, 2013. Click here to view invitation or register online to reserve your tickets.

I hope you are encouraged by true and responsible acts of citizenship. Even after 18 years, we Oklahomans know firsthand it's possible to make a difference in times of crisis.

It's easy for Oklahoma's political leaders to complain about President Barack Obama and out-of-control federal spending, and paint themselves as the second coming of Republican U.S. Sen. Tom Coburn.

Now they have an opportunity to put their money where their mouth is. They actually have the opportunity to, in effect, veto new federal spending.

Hey Brian,

Was just looking through everything for this evening and wanted to make sure you knew that Melissa will be in attendance with him.

I do not know that they will stay for the dinner..but just in case you needed to know. She in fact will be there too!

Thanks!

Shining city on a hill

By Michael Carnuccio

NBC Nightly News anchor Brian Williams was speaking to Oklahoma Gov. Mary Fallin earlier this week about the response of Oklahomans to the storms. He observed in awe, "I watched your entire briefing today. You had all heads of state departments including churches, conferences of churches. You have almost a faith-based FEMA here in addition to FEMA. The first thing to learn about Oklahoma often is it's a very religious state and that comes in critically right now for a lot of these people."

"If you're waiting for the government, you're going to be in for an awful long wait," his colleague, reporter Harry Smith, would later say. "But the Baptist men, they are going to get it done tomorrow (as they are already delivering food on the street)."
