Hey Bud,

I spoke with General Pruitt and unfortunately he has already committed to another conference that runs through October 6th. I was hopeful that he might make it back in time to be at your event as well but that is not the case. Thank you so very much for allowing him the opportunity again and I am sorry we cannot make it work this time. Please keep us on the list for next year!

Thanks!
Ashley

Melissa, I am contacting you as the Vice Chairman of the Environmental Federation of Oklahoma. We would like to ask AG Pruitt to join us at our annual meeting again this year to speak on the status of the environmental litigation or whatever environmental theme that he would like to speak on. We would like for him to speak in the keynote spot on October 3rd at the Oklahoma City Sheraton. I have attached a draft agenda of the conference. I appreciate your help.
Please let me know if this fits into his busy schedule.

Melissa, I wanted to check with you on a statement in the story below. I highlighted a sentence near the end that is partially a Pruitt quote but also mentions regional haze. Has AG Pruitt characterized regional haze along with "sue and settle" as this sentence implies?

Neither Weiners nor whiners here -- AFP-OK and A.G. Pruitt rebuff EPA's shaft job

Share this Article: Twitter Facebook Republish Print

Patrick B. McGuigan
Published: 29-Jul-2013

OKLAHOMA CITY – Despite an adverse circuit court ruling rebuffing the state of Oklahoma's legal challenge to an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) edict, a citizen activist group is continuing to fight the controversial regional haze standard that could require Oklahoma power plants to switch fuels to offset sulfur dioxide emissions.

Federal pressure on power generation in Oklahoma could have real-world implications, including a minimum 11-12 percent rate hike for residential consumers. While several state officials have opposed the EPA maneuvers, some state officials have recently been quiet, and a key state utility firm has agreed to changes that will hike utility rates.

EPA critics have assailed underlying authority for the regulatory provision, which is based on a 1977 amendment to the federal Clean Air Act. They decry it as “an aesthetic visibility standard” designed to reduce haze on government lands, with little gain for air quality.

Further, Americans for Prosperity-Oklahoma, says the projected double-digit rate hikes, if the EPA gets its way, will actually be closer to 20 percent – an average of $200 in increased costs for the typical state family.

Matt Ball, state director for AFP-OK, said, “At a time when Oklahomans overwhelmingly agree that electricity rates are already too high, why should state policymakers support a settlement agreement with the Obama EPA and other liberal environmental groups like the Sierra Club that will raise rates on PSO [Public Service Company of Oklahoma] customers up to $200 more per year and pave the way for rates to be raised on all Oklahomans?”

Ball continued, “President Obama has made clear his intentions on power plant regulation and this one EPA regulation, by mandating fuel-switching, will effectively mandate how much Oklahomans will pay for electricity.”

Last weekend, Ball told CapitolBeatOK the petition already had triggered 3,078 Oklahomans to contact state officials via the petition letters.

Ball said, “While the heavy-handed approach of President Obama’s EPA is likely to result in utility rate hikes on Oklahoma families and businesses, what is more troubling is that state policymakers might consider supporting it. This plan hurts Oklahomans’ pocketbooks and makes our state less competitive for jobs. AFP-OK is circulating this petition so that state policymakers are made aware of how Oklahomans feel about this important pocketbook issue.”

In the first of a series of emails to AFP supporters and other free market advocates in the state, Ball assailed the EPA benchmark as operating “under the guise of pseudo-science.”

Commissioner of Labor Mark Costello told CapitolBeatOK, “Should this EPA mandated policy be implemented in our state, I have serious concerns about the negative impact on Oklahoma’s wage earners.” He asserted, “There is no urgent need for the state of Oklahoma to rush into embracing a policy based solely on EPA demands. This issue needs to be fully ‘vetted’ by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission.”

That three-member commission is the constitutional state agency that regulates many businesses, including all utility companies.

Costello and other critics of the haze mandate say it could erode two of Oklahoma’s key economic advantages – comparatively robust employment (a 5 percent jobless rate, among the nation’s lowest) and low cost of doing business, not to mention wage improvements over several years

The Oklahoma Industrial Energy Consumers (OIEC) and the state Energy Coalition have faced off with state members of the Sierra Club, who back the haze rule.

Frustrating advocates of energy independence, the EPA applied the regional haze standard to the Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge near Lawton, in southwestern Oklahoma. EPA has pressured for fuel switching (from “clean coal” to natural gas) at power plants more than 250 miles away, in the far northeast corner of the Sooner State.

The situation has provoked unusual division among utility firms. While Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO) is willing to settle with EPA, the Oklahoma Gas and Electric (OG&E) has fought the issue in court.

Last Friday (July 26), a divided Tenth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel rejected Oklahoma's April 2012 petition to rebuff the EPA's haze rule, issued in December 2011.

Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt assailed the Tenth Circuit decision, saying, "We disagree and are disappointed with the panel's 2-1 decision. We will continue to fight to preserve the ability of Oklahoma stakeholders to create an Oklahoma solution and to protect Oklahoma consumers from excessive and unnecessary utility costs. We are reviewing the decision and considering our options."

U.S. Rep. James Lankford, R-Oklahoma City, said he was "frustrated" with the circuit court ruling, which he characterizes as "needless and excessive." Unless the ruling is tempered upon further review, "It is now certain that Oklahoma utility customers will face a new rate hike without any health or economic benefit."

In addition to fighting the circuit ruling, Pruitt is part of a coalition of state attorneys general seeking to understand the EPA's alleged "sue and settle" strategy. A federal lawsuit against EPA, filed in Oklahoma's western district, seeks disclosure of EPA tactics benefiting environmental groups like Greenpeace, Defenders of Wildlife, Wildearth Guardians and the Sierra Club.

Pruitt characterizes "sue-and-settle" and the regional haze controversy as part of a "blatant strategy by the EPA to go around the process and bend the rules to create environmental regulations that have failed in Congress." In a total of 45 settlements already made public, EPA has paid out nearly $1 million in attorneys' fees to environmental groups, Pruitt and the other state AGs assert.

Earlier this year, the states of Oklahoma, Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, Utah and Wyoming submitted to EPA a federal open records request focused on the "sue-and-settle" strategy.

NEW RIVER HISTORY EMERGES IN STUDY COMMISSIONED BY APPALACHIAN POWER

A study funded by Appalachian Power provides a historic and fascinating account of the families that settled in the Pulaski County area known as Dunkard's Bottom some 200 years ago. The study was conducted by S&ME, Inc. and Harvey Research and Consulting as part of the company's federal relicensing process for the Claytor Hydroelectric Project and is available to the public on-line and at Claytor Lake State Park.

APPALACHIAN POWER WEBSITE SHOWS HOW CLAYTOR RELEASES AFFECT DOWNSTREAM FLOWS

New River fishermen, canoeists, kayakers and other recreationalists now have a new tool to help them anticipate water flows on the river downstream from Appalachian Power's Claytor Hydroelectric Plant, near Radford. A new website allows users to see how and when water releases that have occurred will affect flows at seven downstream locations from Peppers Ferry Road to Glen Lyn.

Melissa, I am contacting you as the Vice Chairman of the Environmental Federation of Oklahoma. We would like to ask AG Pruitt to join us at our annual meeting again this year to speak on the status of the environmental litigation or whatever environmental theme that he would like to speak on. We would like for him to speak in the keynote spot on October 3rd at the Oklahoma City Sheraton. I have attached a draft agenda of the conference. I appreciate your help. Please let me know if this fits into his busy schedule.

Subject: 2012_168 PSO FAC FINAL ORDER

According to Fairo Mitchell, PUD is fine with allowing PSO to rely upon the pre-filed testimony at the HOM as long as the parties are going to limit any cross examination questions to what PUD did and not ask questions to PUD that are more appropriate for a PSO witness. As I said earlier, the judge still wants PUD to testify briefly about its review. Javad Seyedoff and Larry Lago will be testifying on behalf of PUD.

I will get back with the attorneys concerning edits to the draft order.

I&M PARTNERS WITH INDIANA LIBRARIES TO OFFER A NEW ENERGY EFFICIENCY AWARENESS PROGRAM

Indiana Michigan Power (I&M), is rolling out a new energy efficiency awareness program that will give consumers the opportunity to understand their energy consumption by measuring how much electricity their household appliances and electronics use. The Kill-A-Watt EZ Meter Program has been developed in partnership with libraries throughout I&M's Indiana service territory. Library patrons can checkout Kill-A-Watt EZ meters from their local participating libraries (see list below) in the same manner as library audio-visual materials.

I&M WARNS CUSTOMERS OF ONGOING SCAM ATTEMPTS

Indiana Michigan Power (I&M) customers continue to be targeted by telephone scammers who falsely represent themselves as company personnel in an attempt to collect money fast. The caller threatens to cut off the electric service if money is not paid immediately by credit card, Green Dot Money Card, or a variety of other types of prepaid cash cards. In another version of the scam, the caller says the victim's electric meter must be immediately replaced to avoid a fire, and the victim is instructed to pay fees using a money order or prepaid cash card.

So would the AG be opposed to anyone in the town hall/panel discussion discussing PSO settlement? I would be looking to him for the messaging points that you mention below. Heavy hand of federal govt infringing on states rights by mandating how much Oklahomans pay for electricity. Frankly, our messaging has been mostly identical. But our petition letter is aimed at the settlement agreement bc we believe it paves the way for rate increases on all.

Frankly, I just assume the AG and Lankford talk sue and settle, how the EPA is deploying these tactics and what their respective offices have done on oversight and litigation, and let Yeatman from CEI give an objective analysis of costs to ratepayers from revised state implementation plan on regional haze (which includes the PSO rate increase). That way you guys dont have to deliver those messages and can focus on what the AG does best, opposing the Obama administration and its nasty tactics on the environment.

Would you guys be opposed to that?

Gents,

Please see the attached, proposed joint-release to go today, if possible.

I would suggest the joint release from both offices and AFPP to go sometime today, probably in the early afternoon to afford time for approval from your respective offices.

Once the release goes out, would you all be able to post on social media and send to your respective email lists? We will do the same.

I believe a joint release would maximize the effectiveness and help to drive the crowd, coming from both offices and AFPP.

Thoughts on that? Please let us know let us know if you have any edits or any questions.

Thanks!

JMT

Importance: High

Aaron and Todd:

Firstly, thank you to your respective bosses and all they are doing to push back against President Obama's EPA and its axis with liberal environmental groups to increase energy costs for Oklahomans and American families across the states. You both work for true champions of freedom and liberty!

I wanted to send a brief rundown of the format for next Thursday's AFP Foundation-OK Community Forum: "EPA Regulations and Your Pocketbook." I have copied John Tidwell and Josh Harlow w/ Jones PR in OKC since they contract with us for PR in multiple mediums.

WHEN: August 22nd 10am-11:30am

WHAT: "EPA Regulations and Your Pocketbook" - Panel Discussion and Q&A

WHO: Congressman James Lankford
OK Attorney General Scott Pruitt
William Yeatman, Asst Director of the Center for Energy & Environment at the Competitive Enterprise Institute (CEI).

WHERE: Oklahoma City University Meinders School of Business
2501 N. Blackwelder Ave (corner of 24th and McKinley)

FORMAT / CONTENT

This is an AFP Foundation-OK event (501c3) so there will not be any calls to action of any sort and will strictly be an issue education event for your constituents to come and learn about the great work your bosses are doing to push back against the EPA in Congress and in court and how these overly aggressive tactics and regulation will hurt the pocketbooks of Oklahomans. The top-down, overly burdensome regulatory takeovers from the Obama EPA truly do threaten Oklahoma families and businesses by pursuing an ideological agenda that results in increases in utility rates and cost of doing business.

My goal is for this to not only be an event that helps AFP/AFPF-OK but one that helps the Congressman and the AG both from a PR and policy perspective.

CONGRESSMAN LANKFORD

The Congressman can discuss his bill on Sue and Settle, his EPA committee business on House Govt Oversight. The idea is to discuss how Sue and Settle works to execute the President's ideological environmental agenda by circumventing Congressional authority. Also, perhaps discuss all that the Congressman has done on Regional Haze within the SUE and Settle context —strictly aesthetic regulation et al. If he wants to discuss the situation that RH regulations has put OK utilities into he is certainly welcome to do that as well with out specific discussion of the PSO/EPA settlement.

ACTION ITEMS

-If you can provide some info (talking points, bullet points, et al) re: Lankford's Sue and Settle bill and additional items he would like to discuss within the vein above, we can put those talkers into a few power point slides and handouts for each attendee.

ATTORNEY GENERAL PRUITT

This is an excellent opportunity for the AG to discuss the role of attorneys general as a last line of defense for states rights against overly intrusive federal regulation of which EPA environmental is only one example. More specifically, the AG can discuss the specifics of his new Sue and Settle litigation, its merits, context, etc so as to explain how the states are pushing back against the President's environmental agenda through the rule of law. If the AG would like to discuss his involvement in seeking dismissal of the PSO Environmental Compliance case at the OCC, he is certainly more than welcome to do so. I understand if he does not wish to.

ACTION ITEMS

-Please provide some talking points, bullet points et al. re Pruitt's Sue and Settle litigation, its importance and any other point the AG would like to discuss within the vein above. We will put into PPT slides and handouts for all attendees.

WILL YEATMAN (CEI)

Yeatman is with the Competitive Enterprise Institute (CEI) in DC and is the Asst Director of CEI's Center for Energy and Environment. Yeatman was retained several months ago by AFP Foundation-OK to perform a study of the manner EPA has conducted itself in the states, including Oklahoma. This study will include a comprehensive cost analysis of the Revised State Implementation Plan (SIP) on Regional Haze compliance. This will include analysis of the costs of the EPA/PSO settlement and projected costs to ratepayers. Yeatman will present the study in a brief PPT presentation at the event after each of you have had the opportunity to speak. I will provide both of your offices an advance copy of the study. The idea here is for an objective third party think tank fellow to discuss PSO/EPA settlement and you will not be asked to comment specifically.

Q&A

The panel discussion will be followed by Q&A from the attendees. Again, the session is scheduled to run from 10am-11:30am total.

MEDIA

We will have media in attendance and, if each of your offices is comfortable, we would like to tape the panel session and edit for YouTube to disseminate to our membership who are unable to attend the event. If this is a problem please let myself or John Tidwell know.

Thanks for all you guys do,

Here are some bullet points from the AG's office on "sue and settle." Let me know if you have questions, AC.

12 states - led by Oklahoma - seeking documents from the EPA under the Freedom of Information Act related to "sue and settle."

The tactic is employed by the EPA as a way to settle lawsuits with environmental organizations, including Greenpeace, Defenders of Wildlife, WildEarth Guardians and the Sierra Club, without allowing state involvement.

In some instances, the EPA entered a consent decree the same day a lawsuit was filed by the special interest group, suggesting prior knowledge.

The agreements between the EPA and environmental groups have led to new rules and regulations for states without allowing attorneys general to enter the process to defend the interest of states, businesses and consumers.

Out of the 45 settlements made public, the EPA has paid nearly $1 million in attorneys' fees to the environmental groups, while also committing to develop sweeping new regulations. One EPA consent decree led to the EPA's costliest regulation ever – the Mercury Air Toxics Standards (MATS).

Under the Clean Air Act, the states – not the EPA – design and implement plans for compliance with the Regional Haze program. States' also requested a fee waiver.

CEI found that 92 percent of the time EPA grants fee waiver requests from noncommercial requesters who are supportive of EPA's policies and agendas, but denies a majority of fee waiver requests from noncommercial requesters who are critical of EPA.

Thanks Baxter. Appreciate the invite!

Mr Price, unfortunately I was unable to move my flight to Asheville, NC on Thursday, but would love to come back at some later date and present our findings to the Coalition. My time in other states developing model legislation and conducting state assessments is at the core of what I do in this new position. Please keep me informed on where Oklahoma is heading on parental choice. It IS for the kids!

Has the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) colluded with some of the left's favorite environmental groups in an effort to skirt state policymakers and pass some of the strictest environmental regulations to date? Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt and 11 of his colleagues have been asking the EPA that question for months. However, they have been continually denied answers despite complying with Freedom of Information Act guidelines.

Pruitt is leading a multistate effort to push back against what he alleges is the EPA's latest encroachment on the Constitution - a legal gimmick known as "sue and settle."

Oklahoma Attorney General Wins First Battle in Challenge to Implementation of Obamacare

OKLAHOMA CITY – Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt Monday won the state’s first challenge against the Affordable Care Act after a federal judge denied the government’s motion to dismiss the case.

Judge Ronald White issued the decision Monday afternoon in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Oklahoma in Muskogee.

“The court rejected the federal government’s argument that Oklahoma lacked standing to challenge the law, allowing us to proceed with this pivotal case,” General Pruitt said. “We’re optimistic the court will recognize what states have known for months that the IRS disregarded the law by making the large employer mandate effective in Oklahoma or in any of the 33 other states without a state health care exchange.”

Oklahoma challenged implementation of the Affordable Care Act after the IRS finalized a rule that would allow the federal government to punish “large employers,” including local government, with millions of dollars in tax penalties in states without state health care exchanges, which is not allowed under the health care law.

“Congress provided a choice for Oklahoma and other states in implementation of the health care law, and the IRS is attempting to take that away by rule,” General Pruitt said. “The administration miscalculated how many states would support this law, so now they’re using the IRS to push through provisions that Congress did not pass.”

Oklahoma’s original lawsuit was filed in January 2011. In September, following the U.S. Supreme Court decision, General Pruitt filed an amended complaint to raise issues related to the law’s implementation.

Recently, OCPA hosted a series of conference calls that served as an overview of public opinion data from a recent survey of 865 likely Oklahoma voters. The subject of the survey was the Obamacare Medicaid expansion, which Gov. Fallin has prudently rejected for Oklahoma, but which some groups are still pushing for.

Below please find a summary of the key findings from the survey and links to download PDFs of the full survey data. Please let us know if OCPA can provide follow-up info on this or any other aspect of the Obamacare Medicaid expansion debate.

All the best,

Oklahoma voters show wariness of Obamacare Medicaid expansion

BY OCPA · THU, AUG 15, 2013 07:00 AM CDT

OKLAHOMA AND MEDICAID

With the Obamacare Medicaid expansion currently a hot topic of conversation, the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America has commissioned broad surveys in a number of states to gauge voter opinion on the subject, including one in Oklahoma this past May. That survey polled 865 likely general election voters and had a margin of error at +/- 3.33 percent.

The resulting data provide insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the expansion of Medicaid as allowed in the federal Obamacare law. When considering these results, it is worth noting that Oklahoma has seen every county vote for the Republican nominee in each of the past three presidential election cycles. Also, every statewide elected office is now held by a Republican, and both houses of the state Legislature feature super-majority Republican control.

Some highlights from the survey:

(1) The partisan split between Republicans and Democrats is enormous on Medicaid expansion, with Republican voters strongly opposed to the expansion and Democrats in favor. Independent voters are somewhat split on this issue.

(2) Among all voters (AAV), 52 percent think it is time to give some new candidates a chance in office in the upcoming 2014 election cycle.

(3) AAV, a plurality of voters (47 percent) believe that Medicaid is a "flawed program that wastes a lot of money, has problems of fraud and abuse, and is in severe need of reform." As noted below, this is a strong argument in the minds of Oklahoma voters against expansion of Medicaid. In the cross-tabulations (Table 4-1), 67.4 percent of Republicans hold this belief along with 45.2 percent of Independents.

(4) AAV, Medicaid expansion is opposed by a 46.2 percent to 41.9 percent plurality. In the cross-tabulations (Table 5-1), 66.2 percent of Republicans hold this belief along with 45.2 percent of Independents.

(5) When the wide variance in the estimated number of Medicaid enrollees (and associated taxpayer costs) as a result of expansion is considered, a near-majority of voters oppose Medicaid expansion at

49 percent. In the cross-tabulations (Table 6-1), 69.4 percent of Republicans hold this view along with 41 percent of Independents. Again, as noted below, this is another strong argument in the minds of many voters against expansion. The Ohio Speaker of the House specifically cited this variance as the reason the Ohio House of Representatives rejected Medicaid expansion.

(6) Regarding the seven messaging questions tested, top pollsters will tell you that any percentage above 40 percent who find an argument "very compelling" is the gold standard because when "somewhat compelling" voters are added, you easily surpass the 50 percent threshold. AAV, five arguments against Medicaid expansion polled very strongly. Namely, more than 40 percent AAV found these arguments "very compelling":

- 54%: Medicaid should not be expanded until the waste, fraud, and abuse in the program is cleaned up;
- 49%: Because there is so much disagreement among experts on the costs of expanding Medicaid, we shouldn't rush into any expansion until we have a better handle on the financial consequences;
- 44%: We can't count on the debt-ridden federal government's contribution to Oklahoma Medicaid to last forever, so in the future Oklahoma taxpayers will be left to foot the bill for all the new Medicaid recipients added;
- 42%: Expanding Medicaid would allow too many able-bodied young people to get insurance, even if they just choose not to work to provide for their own healthcare needs; and
- 41%: Expanding Medicaid would just give the federal government more power and control over our lives.

With that same set of questions, the cross-tabulation findings are the key to interpreting the survey results. Of the seven arguments, two polled very high among Republican voters and Independent voters, with another two arguments grabbing a solid group of Independent voters. The specific findings are in Tables 7-1, 8-1, 9-1, 10-1, 11-1, 12-1, and 13-1.

Argument	All Rep	Rep Men	Rep WOM	All Indy	Indy Men	Indy WOM
Become unreasonably large program	35.9%	37.3%	34.8%	35.1%	36.5%	33.5%
Give federal government more power over our lives	61.4%	62.9%	60.3%	36%	37.8%	33.6%
Federal government won't keep promise-leave SC with bill (#3)	64.8%	63.7%	65.7%	36.9%	41.3%	31.2%
Don't expand until waste, fraud, & abuse cleaned up (#1)	71.5%	67.1%	74.9%	56.2%	52.1%	61.3%
Expanding Medicaid take funds from other important programs	46.4%	44.4%	48%	31.5%	28.5%	35.5%
Allow too many able-bodied young people w/o work (#4)	60.8%	53.6%	66.3%	33.1%	27.3%	40.6%
Disagreement among experts on costs of expansion (#2)	68.1%	61.9%	72.8%	47.2%	49.8%	43.9%

Policymakers across the country in states like Ohio, Florida, South Carolina, and elsewhere are receiving strong pushback from their Republican voting bases when the issue of Obamacare's Medicaid expansion is considered. The results of the Liberty Foundation survey suggest the same dynamic likely exists in Oklahoma.

Legislators and statewide elected officials are finding that when they hold an open and honest

conversation with their constituents about the many factors involved with Obamacare's expansion of Medicaid, their constituents are often opposed to expansion. In Oklahoma, the survey data suggest that the voting base of Republican elected officials is unequivocally against expansion, and unaffiliated voters break toward rejecting expansion when details are provided.

We urge you to download copies of the slide presentation and the cross-tabulations from the Magellan Strategies survey.

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Dacia Harris

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Sorry for the delay - no idea what happened to the original email. But we are on lotus notes still.. so anything is possible!

Would be happy to do the video and the panel! Who do I need to contact to schedule?

And thanks for the invite!

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Subject: Save the Date! - ReMerge Graduation

On Thursday, December 5th at 10:00 a.m., ReMerge of Oklahoma County will host its next graduation. Please save the date and join us for this exciting event.

Save the Date!

ReMerge of Oklahoma County

will host their next graduation ceremony
at 10a.m. on December 5th, 2013.
Location TBA

ReMerge is an alternative to prison for mothers and pregnant women who are facing charges for nonviolent crimes. Instead of being sentenced to prison, women enter the program and receive substance abuse treatment, counseling, housing, job training and - most importantly - they reunite with their children and become productive citizens in our community.

Thanks Baxter. Appreciate the invite!

Mr Price, unfortunately I was unable to move my flight to Asheville, NC on Thursday, but would love to come back at some later date and present our findings to the Coalition. My time in other states developing model legislation and conducting state assessments is at the core of what I do in this new position. Please keep me informed on where Oklahoma is heading on parental choice. It IS for the kids!

Next week hundreds of Oklahomans will get a chance to hear from two men who understand leadership very well, and you can too. OCPA is giving away two tickets to this year's Four Star Leadership Banquet. To win, simply share with us on either Facebook or Twitter what you think leadership is. To enter, use the hashtag #Leadershipls on Facebook or Twitter. In a concise tweet or a few sentences on Facebook, tell us how you define leadership.

For example: #Leadershipls being able to identify both big and small successes from your team and giving credit where credit is due.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently struck down a part of the federal Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) that made it illegal for the federal government to treat marriage solely as the union of one man and one woman - legally referred to as Part 3 of DOMA. The Court's ruling, however, left firmly in place Part 2 of DOMA which says that the states are the final arbiter of how marriage is treated. The ruling did not implement so-called same-sex marriage (SSM) in 35 states where it is banned by statute or constitutional provision.

Despite the narrow ruling from the Supreme Court, President Obama is determined to undermine these 35 states through the use of federal executive power. President Obama bluntly stated that "It's my personal belief - but I'm speaking now as a president as opposed to as a lawyer - that if you've married in Massachusetts and you move someplace else, you're still married, and that under federal law you should be able to obtain the benefits of any lawfully married couple."

Whatever one thinks of the current partial-government shutdown, conservatives in Washington should be applauded for trying to protect Americans from Obamacare. As Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal put it, "Obamacare is bad for the country. We would like to see it repealed and replaced, not to score political points, but to save our nation's health care from higher costs and lesser care. We appreciate all the Republicans in Washington fighting to do just that." Gov. Jindal is chairman of the Republican Governors Association, which has declined to denounce the shutdown.

The current shutdown serves as one more reminder that Oklahoma House Speaker T. W. Shannon was wise to try to plan for scenarios in which state agencies lose federal funding. Unfortunately, Speaker Shannon's efforts were not successful. Now our state government is put in the position of having to react, as journalist Patrick McGuigan points out, "rather than to act after forethought and preparation."

Cartoon

"There's a tradition in education," former New York City schools chancellor Frank Macchiarola once observed, "that if you spend a dollar and it doesn't work, you should spend two dollars; and not only that, you should give those two dollars to the same person who couldn't do the job with only one."

That tradition is alive and well in Oklahoma. Earlier this year the Tulsa World reported that national education activist Jonah Edelman, founder and chief executive officer of Stand for Children, was in Tulsa to announce that his organization is launching an affiliate in Oklahoma. "If Oklahoma wants to get results for students, it needs to fund the reforms it has already passed," Edelman said. One example he cited was a recent reform of the Reading Sufficiency Act.

Oklahoma has taken center stage in the battle against Obamacare. Attorney General Scott Pruitt is challenging the Internal Revenue Service's implementation of the law. Hobby Lobby is challenging the law's anti-conscience mandate. And Gov. Mary Fallin and state lawmakers, by refusing to expand Medicaid, are vetoing billions of dollars in future federal spending while also protecting Oklahoma taxpayers from billions of dollars in future state spending. And while various Oklahomans on the Left and in the crony capitalist/health-care-provider complex favor this additional government spending (no surprise there -- they have supported Obamacare from the beginning), conservatives must insist that this is no time for Oklahoma's political leaders to "go wobbly," as Margaret Thatcher would say, in the fight against Obamacare.

Employees

On June 5, Oklahoma's Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) announced "a comprehensive state-employee compensation study to determine appropriate compensation levels for an estimated 33,000 state employees." According to a press release, the study will be conducted "with the assistance of national consultants and a working group comprised of officials from the governor's office, Legislature, state agencies, and Oklahoma Public Employees Association." Key components of the study are as follows:

- Development of a statewide employee-compensation philosophy.
- An extensive data-driven review of current compensation levels.
- A comparison of current compensation levels to other public and private-sector market levels.
- Recommendations for appropriate pay and benefits packages.

I recently lauded Dr. Bill R. Path, president of the Oklahoma State University Institute of Technology, for his forthright observations on the state of higher education.

Now he's out with an excellent new Huffington Post piece which confirms my suspicion that indeed he was absent the day they covered "things college presidents aren't supposed to say out loud." In "Expecting More from Higher Education," Dr. Path writes:

Many claim the higher education systems in the U.S. today are broken - producing far too many graduates who cannot compete in the new job market. Consider the following statistics: about 1.5 million or 53.6 percent of bachelor's degree-holders under the age of 25 last year were either jobless or underemployed. And of those who were actually employed, about 48 percent were in jobs that required less than a four-year college education, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Family

Writing in the Spring 2012 issue of the indispensable public-policy journal The Family in America, Bryce J. Christensen and Robert W. Patterson summarized the findings of a fascinating study by two Oklahoma scholars.

According to a study by two Oklahoma sociologists, children living with married parents are significantly more likely to have private health-care insurance than are their peers whose biological parents are not married.

Loretta Bass of the University of Oklahoma and Nicole Warehime of Oklahoma Baptist University examined data of the Fragile Families and Child Well-being Study, measuring the relationship between family structure and child health outcomes at age 5. The researchers looked at data - collected for children born to 1,186 married mothers and 3,712 unmarried mothers between 1988 and 2000 - to explore the effects of parental marital status on three measures: the child's health insurance type, the child's having a routine medical doctor, and the child's being reported in excellent health.

Trojan Toddler

It seems almost weekly that we hear about more intrusion by federal government agencies, such as the NSA, into the lives of citizens who are supposed to be free. When the government secretly invades the privacy of law-abiding citizens, attempts to intimidate the assembling of organizations like OCPA and ALEC, and uses the IRS to target those who don't agree with President Barack Obama, reflection upon the words of the founding fathers is imperative.

Thomas Jefferson said: "My reading of history convinces me that most bad government results from too much government." Jefferson provided this vision for the proper role of government: "A wise and frugal Government shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell

Parental choice preferable to increased government spending

Forward the cause:

Former OCPA trustee Dr. Tom Coburn and current OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small have been two of the leading voices in Oklahoma warning against the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. In a column published yesterday in the Tulsa World, they make the argument that policymakers should continue to oppose expanding Medicaid - in any form.

"The lessons of history and the hard numbers are clear: It is not fiscally responsible or wise to expand a strained entitlement program and rely on federal funding that is unlikely," Coburn and Small write. "While it has been tempting for some consultants and lawmakers to try to dress up Medicaid expansion as 'program redesign,' it is simply not in our state's long-term interest to expand Medicaid, whether that's under the guise of additional federal funding or creative program designs. Given the economic facts, any expansion of Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act would be a step in the wrong direction."

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Sorry for the delay - no idea what happened to the original email. But we are on lotus notes still.. so anything is possible!

Would be happy to do the video and the panel! Who do I need to contact to schedule?

And thanks for the invite!

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

DeMint and Camuccio

People sometimes ask my OCPA colleagues and me why we're devoting so much time and energy to the issue of Obamacare. You may recall that Heritage Foundation president Jim DeMint (pictured above at an OCPA dinner this year) recently reminded Oklahoma policymakers how important it is to resist this harmful law. Now Sen. DeMint has penned this letter to President Barack Obama, which I am pleased to reprint here.

Dear Mr. President:

As the temporary slowdown in government operations enters its second week, I write to explain why conservatives have insisted on making the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act the prime source of contention. Speaking for our organization, I can tell you we're in this fight because of the harm the law is inflicting on Americans across the country.

With Obamacare's Medicaid expansion currently a heavy topic of conversation, the Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs invites you to participate in a private conference call to discuss the findings of a recent statewide survey on the subject.

The project, commissioned by the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America, surveyed 865 likely general election voters across the state of Oklahoma and was conducted May 14-15, 2013. It provides insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. (Click here for a recent OCPA article on the survey.)

This call will be limited to invitees only. All invitees are individuals who either work currently or formerly worked professionally for elected Oklahoma Republican officials. OCPA will be holding similar calls with other groups, as well. The call will be led by David Flaherty of Magellan Strategies, the firm that conducted the survey.

The call will be held: Thursday, Aug 1 / 11:15 am – 12:00 pm

Please let me know if you are interested in participating. We will then email you call-in instructions and a survey packet prior to the call.

All the best,

Dave

Friends,

Please bring your family and join me for an ice-cream social celebrating the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarship recipients. The scholarship has been in place for three years and that calls for a party! We'll meet at OCPA on July 31, which would have been school-choice-champion Milton Friedman's 101st birthday.

Please RSVP to Jennie Kleese at 405-602-1667 or Jennie@ocpathink.org.

I hope to see you and your family there!

Earlier this month the Associated Press reported ("High school seniors fare no better than in 1970s") that "students preparing to leave high school are faring no better in reading or math than students did four decades ago, the government said in a report Thursday that was certain to renew concerns about U.S. schools."

Shawnee Middle School principal Brent Houston is encouraged by some small improvements in the scores of 9- and 13-year-olds, but acknowledges that they don't last.

Forward the cause:

Has the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) colluded with some of the left's favorite environmental groups in an effort to skirt state policymakers and pass some of the strictest environmental regulations to date? Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt and 11 of his colleagues have been asking the EPA that question for months. However, they have been continually denied answers despite complying with Freedom of Information Act guidelines.

Pruitt is leading a multistate effort to push back against what he alleges is the EPA's latest encroachment on the Constitution - a legal gimmick known as "sue and settle."

In its long march through the institutions, the left long ago captured the universities and long ago captured the journalism profession. So it pretty much goes without saying the left has captured the journalism schools in the universities - even managing in some states to install nonprofit journalism organizations in the J-schools at state universities.

David Horowitz once observed that the modern university "has become a farm system for the Democratic Party and the radical left." Lefty nonprofits are certainly free to practice journalism, but why should the state's taxpayers be forced to participate?

Subject: Greetings from the Attorney General's Office
Date: 07/16/2013 11:32 AM

Greetings all. I hope this message finds you doing well. I'm writing to let you know about a couple of items.

First, as you can tell by this e-mail message, I am now with the AG's office. This week I began my new job as director of public affairs at the attorney general's office. The governor and her staff were gracious in wishing me well in this new endeavor; meanwhile, the AG and his staff have been great in welcoming me to the team. In addition to press-related duties, I'll be working on community relations, public affairs outreach and strategic communications strategy. I'm looking forward to this new opportunity.

Hopefully, we can find ways for OCPA and the AG's office to work together. Which brings me to the next item of business. I wanted to bring to your attention a great piece from Fred Barnes in The Weekly Standard, about the efforts of AG Pruitt and other Republican AG's to challenge the Obama administration agenda. You can find the article here: http://www.weeklystandard.com/articles/last-redoubt\_739263.html?page=1

Here's a clip:

Practically no one has noticed the emergence of the Republican AGs. Yet they're a scourge of President Obama. They drive the Environmental Protection Agency crazy. They've beaten the best lawyers at the Justice Department numerous times. "What I really do for fun is I go into the office [and] I sue the Obama administration," Texas attorney general Greg Abbott said last year. He's filed 30 lawsuits against the administration, 17 against EPA alone—with considerable success.

The AGs, who often attack the administration in packs, have done more than Republicans in Congress, statehouses, or anywhere else to block, cripple, undermine, or weaken Obama's initiatives. They failed to stop Obamacare in the Supreme Court, but won limits on Medicaid and neutralized the use of the commerce clause to expand the reach of the federal government. And there's one case left. AG Scott Pruitt of Oklahoma has sued to prevent Obama-run health insurance exchanges from handing out subsidies. If he wins—and he has a credible case—the implementation of Obamacare will come to a halt, at least temporarily. ...

Scott Pruitt, 45, was a state senator and co-owner of the Oklahoma RedHawks Triple-A baseball team before his election as AG. He took the lead in suing the federal government over the Dodd-Frank financial reform bill on the ground that it jeopardizes state pension funds. Ten AGs have joined the suit. He and Abbott succeeded in voiding a dubious EPA rule that claimed air pollution from Texas and Oklahoma was harming Granite City, Illinois.

Pruitt never refers to the Affordable Care Act as Obamacare because he doesn't want to "politicize" an issue that, for him, is about the rule of law and the federal government's exceeding its authority. But he takes a sharply critical view of Obama. "He's kept his promise that Washington knows best," Pruitt says. "He's kept his promise that if Congress doesn't [act], he can't wait. The only thing wrong with that is it's not consistent with our Constitution and our rule of law. He can't do that. Who else but a state attorney general is in a position to respond? Who else is there but a state AG to stand up and say no?" Pruitt likes his job. He is the chairman of the Republican Attorneys General Association.

It's a great story and one I thought OCPA would possibly want to share via blog, social media or other avenues of communication.

Thanks for the consideration and please let me know if I can be of assistance to you.

Thanks,
AC

The consulting firm Leavitt Partners recently released a report which recommended that Oklahoma seek "enhanced federal funding" from the Affordable Care Act's Medicaid expansion. But as OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small recently reminded the readers of The Oklahoman, the Leavitt report is still Obamacare.

Obama

The consulting firm Leavitt Partners recently released a report which recommended that Oklahoma seek "enhanced federal funding" from the Affordable Care Act's Medicaid expansion. But as OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small recently reminded the readers of The Oklahoman, the Leavitt report is still Obamacare.

Caroline – Unclaimed property was reported by Devon in the name of JF Rush (John F) and RF Rush for periods 2006-2012. The legal description on all of the properties is Coal County, Section 15-Township 3N-Range 11E. According to Red Fern Energy and John Barger, both working on behalf of the heirs of JF Rush, the unclaimed property all belongs to JF Rush. Please review your records and provide the Office of the State Treasurer confirmation regarding the proper owner(s) of the unclaimed property reported. The amount reported is quite sizable and the heirs are anxious to receive the related funds. Please call me if you have questions.

Using 'Sue and Settle' to Thwart Oil and Gas Drillers

The Endangered Species Act is being employed more than ever to block development.

By STEPHEN MOORE

Oklahoma City Last week the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and an environmental advocacy group agreed to a legal settlement that will place nine species—including the Panama City crayfish, moccasinshell mussel and boreal toad—on the fast track for placement on the endangered species list. It is only the latest of many such listings.

The Center for Biological Diversity has petitioned Fish and Wildlife to designate some 250 species as endangered since 2008. Many of CBD's petitions—and lawsuits—are still in the pipeline. About 97% of the species that are designated as endangered never move off the list.

Next March, Fish and Wildlife will make a determination about whether to add the lesser prairie chicken, found in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas to the list. Harold Hamm, president of Continental Resources, says that the habitat for the prairie chicken overlaps "some of the most promising land for oil and gas leases in the country."

Many Westerners suspect that this environmental activism isn't only or even mostly about saving species and obscure subspecies. Instead, it is about restricting land use on hundreds of thousands of acres of private and state land. The concern is that if these species are listed as endangered, their habitat could be placed off limits for economic development.

In the 1980s, environmentalists successfully used a listing of the Northern Spotted Owl as threatened to cripple the timber industry in Oregon and Washington, throwing many thousands out of jobs. This is the playbook now being used by groups like the CBD—which boasts on its website of its desire to end most oil and gas production in the United States.

Since taking office, the Obama administration and its green allies inside and outside federal agencies have been making expanded use of a tactic called "sue and settle" to issue new and expensive regulations. Groups like CBD and WildEarth Guardians, for example, petition Fish and Wildlife to list a species as endangered. Other environmental groups use a similar tactic to get new water and air regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency. Then, sometimes the very same day, the environmental groups file a lawsuit against Fish and Wildlife or the EPA to force the government to act—arguing that the regulatory process is too slow.

Amos Eno, a former Fish and Wildlife Service official who worked to save the grizzly bear and the condor, is critical of the tactic. Mr. Eno, who now runs Resources First, says the money wasted on these lawsuits could be used on conservation efforts to actually save species from extinction.

Because the federal agencies include former employees of green organizations, sue and settle can be a collaborative, not adversarial, process. The agency may be only too happy to sign a consent decree that courts then rubber stamp. Often, state and industry officials directly affected by the settlements have no opportunity to weigh in.

Increasingly, sue and settle is how rules are made in Washington. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has found that more than 60 times in the last four years the EPA agreed to settlements with environmental groups to pass regulations that in some cases impose tens of billions of dollars of costs on industry and land owners. The feds have even paid green groups millions of dollars in legal fees for the favor of suing the government.

The Obama administration didn't invent sue and settle, but the pace has increased dramatically since 2009—an era that Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt calls "sue and settle on steroids."

Last September Mr. Pruitt and 11 state attorneys general presented a Freedom of Information Act request to investigate the communications between the Obama administration and environmental litigants. Their suspicion is that the two are secretly working hand in hand to grease the process of regulating industries it doesn't like. A year has passed, but the EPA has refused to fully comply.

This summer Mr. Pruitt has joined with the other attorneys general—including from Texas and Utah—to sue the Obama administration to comply with the Freedom of Information Act. Mr. Pruitt also believes that sue and settle "is an end run around the Administrative Procedures Act." This is the law that governs how regulations are promulgated, and requires among other things transparency and a reliance on science to justify new rules. "An administration which claims to only want to 'follow the science' has exploited a litigation mechanism to enact new rules imposed on us without reviewing the science," Mr. Pruitt says.

The attorneys general also cite new EPA regional haze rules—which came into being because of sue and settle—that could raise electricity costs in their states by as much as 20%. On behalf of his fellow attorneys general, Mr. Pruitt says that "we're very worried that under Obama sue and settle will be used by the EPA to issue new regulations on fracking." This could kneecap the oil and gas boom in Western states.

In its report "Sue and Settle: Regulating Behind Closed Doors," the U.S. Chamber of Commerce has counted more than 100 new major rules "with estimated compliance costs of more than $100 million annually" that arose from this tactic. The result is a giant tax on the economy brought to you by the Sierra Club and the Environmental Defense Fund with little or no input or oversight from Congress.

Sen. Charles Grassley (R., Iowa) and Rep. Doug Collins (R., Ga.) have introduced "Sunshine for Regulatory Decrees and Settlements Act of 2013" that would require all proposed consent decrees to be posted for 60 days for public comment before being filed with a court—and allow affected parties to challenge them. Members of Congress in both parties who are worried about the Obama regulatory assault will need to take corrective action if they have any hope of a true economic turnaround.

Importance: High

Caroline – Unclaimed property was reported by Devon in the name of JF Rush (John F) and RF Rush for periods 2006-2012. The legal description on all of the properties is Coal County, Section 15-Township 3N-Range 11E. According to Red Fern Energy and John Barger, both working on behalf of the heirs of JF Rush, the unclaimed property all belongs to JF Rush. Please review your records and provide the Office of the State Treasurer confirmation regarding the proper owner(s) of the unclaimed property reported. The amount reported is quite sizable and the heirs are anxious to receive the related funds. Please call me if you have questions.

Allen: As you may or may not know, our Attorney General is supporting the merger between U.S. Air and American Airlines. One of the issues that we believe is vital to this merger is the bargaining power of our corporate citizens especially in regards to international travel. I'd like to talk with someone who handles your negotiations and contracts with the airlines regarding Devon's travel. Basically, do they think a stronger American/US airline would give them more or less choice? I have been told that it will give our corporations more choice due to the fact the United and Delta are really the only players at this time. I am contacting our larger corporations to ask them their opinion on this matter. Anything they tell me would be considered confidential under our investigative powers.

Thanks,

Hi Clayton:

Per our conversation today, I am following up with a couple of items:

1. As we discussed, below is Bill's e-mail with attachments. Sorry, I gave Bill's assistant a list of recipients, and forgot to include you and Melissa (copied).
2. Also, our legal team took another review of the AG letter, and a good recommendation was made to include footnotes to source the quotes/legal arguments. The attached version is the same one I originally sent to you, and which we just discussed, with the exception of the added footnotes.

Thanks for putting the AG letter into action, and I think that this letter will make a strong statement and a real difference. Do you think that we will get any Democrats to sign the letter? Also, when you finalize the document and send it out, can I please get a copy for my records?

Thanks again for your help, and let me know if you have any questions.

Subject: BLM's Rep-Proposed HF Rule and Energy Federalism

All:

Just a note to provide you with Devon's initial comments to the OMB Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) on the BLM's newly proposed draft rule to place sweeping and unnecessary federal regulations on hydraulic fracturing operations on federal and Indian lands.

As you are preparing comments to be filed directly with the BLM by August 23, or are involved in other matters surrounding the rule, we thought it would be helpful to share Devon's current analysis and views in the attached comments -- despite the fact that we fully expect to have an even more thorough understanding of the rule's costs, collection burdens, operational impacts and delays as we continue to analyze the new draft rule for our own August comments to BLM.

We believe it is important to note that the states — not the federal government — are best equipped to design, administer and enforce laws and regulation related to oil and natural gas development. In fact, at the annual meeting of the Western Governors' Association held in Park City, Utah, on June 28-30 a policy resolution was adopted that stated (in part): "Western Governors recognize that the states, territories, and flag islands have effectively regulated the practice of hydraulic fracturing and redundant federal regulation is not required."

In addition, the Federal Land Freedom Act (FLFA), which is also attached, was recently introduced in the Senate. The Act demonstrates a strong commitment by a solid group of senators to adopt a federalism approach to energy development by empowering states to control all aspects of energy development (leasing, permitting, regulation and enforcement) on federal lands within their borders.

States have an excellent record of protecting the environment and public health, while simultaneously facilitating oil & natural gas development and promoting economic growth. Rather than force an unnecessary, one-size-fits-all regulatory regime on top of carefully crafted state-specific programs, BLM should instead work with states on how best to address any health, safety or environmental issues arising from hydraulic fracturing and related operations on federal lands by deferring to proven state regulatory and enforcement programs. By focusing too much on achieving "consistent" regulation (that we hear from DOI and BLM as being needed), rather than the best regulation, the BLM's proposal fundamentally ignores local and regional differences among states.

We hope that you find our filing useful. Also, please let us know if you have any questions or other thoughts. And feel free to use and/or share Devon's comments as you see fit.

Kathy,

I am not authorized to supply the other pages of the title opinion that do not apply to the ownership of J.F. Rush; however, I have attached the pertinent pages from the original title opinion. Mr. Peoples only revised the portions that included R.F. Rush, so the previous attachment included any and all revised pages of the opinion. If it is deemed absolutely necessary to have the other pages from the original division order title opinion, please advise and I will seek approval from management. The turnaround time for such request might be lengthy.

Devon Energy has transferred the interest from the account style "R.F. Rush" to the heirs of J.F. Rush as set out in the order quieting title. Those division orders will be issued to the new owners within the next few weeks.

Kathy,

I contacted the title attorney, Mr. Peoples, regarding the ownership issue for Section 15-3N-11E of Coal County, OK. He found that R.F. Rush was erroneously credited with the 5.8334 acres and that the correct owner of the 5.8334 acres was J.F. Rush. He revised the title opinion to reflect this and submitted a transmittal letter, which explains the correction. I've attached a copy for your file. Would this be sufficient for the OST to release the funds to the heirs of J.F. Rush? If the transmittal letter from the attorney does not suffice, what are the necessary requirements for the affidavit? Previously, you stated that the affidavit should include the correct owner and the legal description.

Importance: High

Caroline – Unclaimed property was reported by Devon in the name of JF Rush (John F) and RF Rush for periods 2006-2012. The legal description on all of the properties is Coal County, Section 15-Township 3N-Range 11E. According to Red Fern Energy and John Barger, both working on behalf of the heirs of JF Rush, the unclaimed property all belongs to JF Rush. Please review your records and provide the Office of the State Treasurer confirmation regarding the proper owner(s) of the unclaimed property reported. The amount reported is quite sizable and the heirs are anxious to receive the related funds. Please call me if you have questions.

Diana. The Treasurer's office will need a signed, notarized statement from an authorized Devon official regarding the correct owner and legal description of the property reported in the name of R.F. Rush.

Thank you for your help,
Kathy

Hi Kathy,

We agree with Red Fern's findings. The funds related to the R.F. Rush should belong to the heirs of J. F. Rush. I will be transferring the remaining interest that was credited to R. F. Rush to the J.F. Rush. Do you need further documentation from Devon Energy?

Subject: Forced Pooling Unclaimed Property Reported to the OK Corporation Commission/Office of the State Treasurer

Importance: High

Caroline – Unclaimed property was reported by Devon in the name of JF Rush (John F) and RF Rush for periods 2006-2012. The legal description on all of the properties is Coal County, Section 15-Township 3N-Range 11E. According to Red Fern Energy and John Barger, both working on behalf of the heirs of JF Rush, the unclaimed property all belongs to JF Rush. Please review your records and provide the Office of the State Treasurer confirmation regarding the proper owner(s) of the unclaimed property reported. The amount reported is quite sizable and the heirs are anxious to receive the related funds. Please call me if you have questions.

Hello,

Please find attached Public Service Company of Oklahoma's responses, including related attachments to the Attorney General's first set of data requests in this matter. These responses contain both Confidential Highly Sensitive and non-confidential information. Confidential and Highly Sensitive information will be provided under the terms of the Protective Order issued in Cause PUD 201300128. Highly Sensitive information is available for review at the Oklahoma City offices of American Electric Power Company (AEP), 1601 North West Expressway, Suite 1400, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, 73118, (405) 841-1300, during normal business hours, by parties to this case who have agreed to be bound by the Protective Order.

Thank you,

Annette Richardson
Regulatory Case Mgr.

*Please note, due to the size of the combined files, I will be sending several emails!

Here is the signed contract for the IRP. Note- the contract references the June date of the IRP, but as we know there was some overlap that BP could segregate (as requested by PSO) from its May billings. It is my understanding that there may be a small amount of work that BP can pull from May re the IRP and, as requested, they will be/or already have separated all billing into the 3 matters. Accordingly, the May bill will reflect some work on the IRP and BP will bill under the IRP. If there is any problem with this- it will just remain under the 54 cause.

Let me know if you have any questions. Thanks!

On the IRP- do you have a preference on date- or adding a note that work began in May? BP is seeking guidance on making sure no issue for getting paid for work that has been done prior to contract. Thanks.

Here is the executed Wind Contract.

On the IRP- do you have a preference on date- or adding a note that work began in May? BP is seeking guidance on making sure no issue for getting paid for work that has been done prior to contract. Thanks.

Here is the signed contract for the IRP. Note- the contract references the June date of the IRP, but as we know there was some overlap that BP could segregate (as requested by PSO) from its May billings. It is my understanding that there may be a small amount of work that BP can pull from May re the IRP and, as requested, they will be/or already have separated all billing into the 3 matters. Here is the executed Wind Contract.

On the IRP- do you have a preference on date- or adding a note that work began in May? BP is seeking guidance on making sure no issue for getting paid for work that has been done prior to contract. Thanks.

Thanks, Jennifer.

I thought that had been corrected in a prior draft, my mistake. Mr. Sanger's name was corrected as well, and PSO's testimony summaries added to Attachment A.

With your edit I am going to send to Judge Myles if there are no objections.

Enclosed is a draft order for Thursday's fuel review case. I have spoken with ALJ Myles and he is fine with allowing PSO to rely upon the prefiled testimony to meet PSO's burden of proof. Tom has agreed to this procedure. Are PUD and the AG good as well? I would like to be able to tell the witnesses. Elizabeth, will staff be putting their witnesses on? Jack

Thank you to those that have sent in your ballots! I just wanted to send out a reminder that we would like to have your completed ballots and comments on the changes to the ranking criteria today. I have attached another copy for your convenience. Once we accumulate everyone's input we will run some ranking scenarios so you can see what effect your comments and suggestions have.

Also, as a reminder our next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday September 24th at 9:30 a.m. at the Oklahoma Water Resources Board board meeting room. The Water Board is located at 3800 N. Classen in Oklahoma City; the board room is on the second floor. We are having this meeting in person, rather than via webinar as we will have much to discuss.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Attachments: NPS Changes Ballot.docx

I hope this email finds you all well. During the last conference call/webinar we agreed to send everyone a ballot of the changes we are suggesting. I have attached that ballot for you to fill out and return to me by Monday, Sept. 9th. This will give us time to apply the potential changes at the HUC 12 level, and allow you to review the results at our next meeting. If you have other suggestions please include them in the comments section and we will take them into consideration as we review the ballot results.

If you would like to review the presentation from the last meeting it is available at http://www.ok.gov/conservation/Agency\_Divisions/Water\_Quality\_Division/WQ\_NPS\_Working\_Group\_Meetings.html

Our next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday September 24th at 9:30 a.m. at the Oklahoma Water Resources Board board meeting room. The Water Board is located at 3800 N. Classen in Oklahoma City; the board room is on the second floor. We are having this meeting in person, rather than via webinar as we will have much to discuss.

If you are not the appropriate person from your organization, please forward this email to the appropriate person if they are not already included (and let me know who the correct person is). Please let me know if you have any questions and thank you for your participation!

Ashley, I have asked for information specific to the AG's address. I haven't received it yet.

Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO)

Storm Outage Update #2: Wednesday, July 24, 2013 – 4:30 p.m.

PSO is dealing with significant weather-related power outages across the Tulsa metropolitan area due to a severe thunderstorm packing 60-80 mph winds that struck in the early morning hours.

OUTAGES AND RESTORATION EFFORTS

Tulsa District

As of 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 24, PSO had restored power to about 20,000 customers who lost service in the early morning storm, leaving approximately 76,300 customers in the Tulsa metro area without electric service. PSO has restored service to 16 main feeder power lines, with 76 still out of operation.

Customer outages continue to be most numerous in the southwestern portion of the metro area.

At present, there are approximately 370 PSO line and tree workers focused on restoring power in the Tulsa metro area. PSO has secured an additional 1,030 workers from other AEP companies and other utilities to support restoration efforts.

Based on damage assessment, and barring any future weather events, PSO estimates it could take until 5 p.m., Sunday, July 28, to complete power restoration to 95% of all customers who can take service. The electric service to many customers will be restored much sooner than that time.

This initial estimated time for completing power restoration will be updated as the storm recovery work progresses.

In accordance with pre-arranged plans, PSO will use a portion of Expo Square for parking the work vehicles of out-of-town crews, for refueling vehicles, and for staging materials.

CUSTOMER MESSAGES

- Customers should prepare for a multi-day power outage and are urged to take necessary steps to ensure their health and safety while

PSO works to restore power.

- For safety's sake, assume that any downed utility line is energized with deadly electric current. Stay away from the line and do not touch it with anything. Report it to PSO at 1-888-216-3523.
- Please do not approach crews and utility vehicles you see in your neighborhood to ask when power will be restored. Doing so could jeopardize your safety. Outward vision from the large utility vehicles can be limited. A crew may not see someone who has walked up to their work truck.

INFORMATION

We will continue to provide additional information to you as the restoration effort moves forward.

A "snapshot" view of current outages is available anytime at PSOklahoma.com. Go to the Outages and Problems section of the site and click "View Outage Map."

Hey sorry to bother but General Pruitt was hoping to get an update. Wasn't sure if you had more news on specific locations or not.

Thanks again

I just received this document that we are using to communicate the storm restoration information. When all of the damage is assessed I can get specific with an address.

Hey Bud!

I am sure with the storms you may be very busy today! General Pruitt asked that I reach out and see if there is any timeline on when he and the surrounding area might begin to have their power restored. Hope you are well and that you are getting to spend time with your grandbaby!

Talk soon and thanks for your help on this!

Thanks, Jennifer.

I thought that had been corrected in a prior draft, my mistake. Mr. Sanger's name was corrected as well, and PSO's testimony summaries added to Attachment A.

With your edit I am going to send to Judge Myles if there are no objections.

I believe that is what Brandy advised Alan- BP is separating its invoices out for the 3 separate matters (54, Wind, and IRP). I will let Brandy confirm if this is correct to have 3 separate contracts (I believe that is what was determined, but this is not my call so want to ensure I do not misrepresent what I understood). Nicole:

It is also my understanding from Alan that BP will bill for their review of the 2013 update to the IRP on a separate contract as well. Here is draft of that for circulation and review.

Nicole:

It is also my understanding from Alan that BP will bill for their review of the 2013 update to the IRP on a separate contract as well. Here is draft of that for circulation and review.

Melissa, I am contacting you as the Vice Chairman of the Environmental Federation of Oklahoma. We would like to ask AG Pruitt to join us at our annual meeting again this year to speak on the status of the environmental litigation or whatever environmental theme that he would like to speak on. We would like for him to speak in the keynote spot on October 3rd at the Oklahoma City Sheraton. I have attached a draft agenda of the conference. I appreciate your help. Please let me know if this fits into his busy schedule.

Nicole:

It is also my understanding from Alan that BP will bill for their review of the 2013 update to the IRP on a separate contract as well. Here is draft of that for circulation and review.

Deborah,

I just verified with Judge Myles that you communicated with him that your client took no position to PUD's motion; therefore, the last sentence of paragraph 4 on page 2 in the order says, "All other parties stated that they either supported, did not oppose, or took no position to PUD's Motion." Is this acceptable to you and all other parties?

Joann,

I checked again, and I will make all the changes that you requested, including that PSO did not object.

Thank you.

Deborah,

I just verified with Judge Myles that you communicated with him that your client took no position to PUD's motion; therefore, the last sentence of paragraph 4 on page 2 in the order says, "All other parties stated that they either supported, did not oppose, or took no position to PUD's Motion." Is this acceptable to you and all other parties?

I quoted from OIEC's Response to PUD's Motion to Lift Stay and Dismiss Cause and in paragraph 2, OIEC used the word "prudence" so unless there is an objection, I'll let that word remain as is.

Thank you.

Please find the attached proposed order for all to review and supplement as desired. As we would like to set this matter for this coming Tuesday's signing agenda, a response as soon as possible today will be greatly appreciated. After I incorporate everyone's changes into the order, I will forward it to ALJ Myles.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

The article includes regional haze in with sue and settle. I was asking if the AG has verbally included regional haze as a sue and settle issue.

Melissa, I wanted to check with you on a statement in the story below. I highlighted a sentence near the end that is partially a Pruitt quote but also mentions regional haze. Has AG Pruitt characterized regional haze along with "sue and settle" as this sentence implies?

Neither Weiners nor whiners here -- AFP-OK and A.G. Pruitt rebuff EPA's shaft job

Patrick B. McGuigan

Published: 29-Jul-2013

OKLAHOMA CITY – Despite an adverse circuit court ruling rebuffing the state of Oklahoma's legal challenge to an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) edict, a citizen activist group is continuing to fight the controversial regional haze standard that could require Oklahoma power plants to switch fuels to offset sulfur dioxide emissions.

Federal pressure on power generation in Oklahoma could have real-world implications, including a minimum 11-12 percent rate hike for residential consumers. While several state officials have opposed the EPA maneuvers, some state officials have recently been quiet, and a key state utility firm has agreed to changes that will hike utility rates.

EPA critics have assailed underlying authority for the regulatory provision, which is based on a 1977 amendment to the federal Clean Air Act. They decry it as “an aesthetic visibility standard” designed to reduce haze on government lands, with little gain for air quality.

Further, Americans for Prosperity-Oklahoma, says the projected double-digit rate hikes, if the EPA gets its way, will actually be closer to 20 percent – an average of $200 in increased costs for the typical state family.

Matt Ball, state director for AFP-OK, said, “At a time when Oklahomans overwhelmingly agree that electricity rates are already too high, why should state policymakers support a settlement agreement with the Obama EPA and other liberal environmental groups like the Sierra Club that will raise rates on PSO [Public Service Company of Oklahoma] customers up to $200 more per year and pave the way for rates to be raised on all Oklahomans?”

Ball continued, “President Obama has made clear his intentions on power plant regulation and this one EPA regulation, by mandating fuel-switching, will effectively mandate how much Oklahomans will pay for electricity.”

Last weekend, Ball told CapitolBeatOK the petition already had triggered 3,078 Oklahomans to contact state officials via the petition letters.

Ball said, “While the heavy-handed approach of President Obama's EPA is likely to result in utility rate hikes on Oklahoma families and businesses, what is more troubling is that state policymakers might consider supporting it. This plan hurts Oklahomans' pocketbooks and makes our state less competitive for jobs. AFP-OK is circulating this petition so that state policymakers are made aware of how Oklahomans feel about this important pocketbook issue.”

In the first of a series of emails to AFP supporters and other free market advocates in the state, Ball assailed the EPA benchmark as operating “under the guise of pseudo-science.”

Commissioner of Labor Mark Costello told CapitolBeatOK, “Should this EPA mandated policy be implemented in our state, I have serious concerns about the negative impact on Oklahoma's wage earners.” He asserted, “There is no urgent need for the state of Oklahoma to rush into embracing a policy based solely on EPA demands. This issue needs to be fully 'vetted' by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission.”

That three-member commission is the constitutional state agency that regulates many businesses, including all utility companies.

Costello and other critics of the haze mandate say it could erode two of Oklahoma's key economic advantages – comparatively robust employment (a 5 percent jobless rate, among the nation's lowest) and low cost of doing business, not to mention wage improvements over several years

The Oklahoma Industrial Energy Consumers (OIEC) and the state Energy Coalition have faced off with state members of the Sierra Club, who back the haze rule.

Frustrating advocates of energy independence, the EPA applied the regional haze standard to the Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge near Lawton, in southwestern Oklahoma. EPA has pressured for fuel switching (from “clean coal” to natural gas) at power plants more than 250 miles away, in the far northeast corner of the Sooner State.

The situation has provoked unusual division among utility firms. While Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO) is willing to settle with EPA, the Oklahoma Gas and Electric (OG&E) has fought the issue in court.

Last Friday (July 26), a divided Tenth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel rejected Oklahoma's April 2012 petition to rebuff the EPA's haze rule, issued in December 2011.

Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt assailed the Tenth Circuit decision, saying, “We disagree and are disappointed with the panel's 2-1 decision. We will continue to fight to preserve the ability of Oklahoma stakeholders to create an Oklahoma solution and to protect Oklahoma consumers from excessive and unnecessary utility costs. We are reviewing the decision and considering our options.”

U.S. Rep. James Lankford, R-Oklahoma City, said he was “frustrated” with the circuit court ruling, which he characterizes as “needless and excessive.” Unless the ruling is tempered upon further review, “It is now certain that Oklahoma utility customers will face a new rate hike without any health or economic benefit.”

In addition to fighting the circuit ruling, Pruitt is part of a coalition of state attorneys general seeking to understand the EPA's alleged “sue and settle” strategy. A federal lawsuit against EPA, filed in Oklahoma's western district, seeks disclosure of EPA tactics benefiting environmental groups like Greenpeace, Defenders of Wildlife, Wildearth Guardians and the Sierra Club.

Pruitt characterizes “sue-and-settle” and the regional haze controversy as part of a “blatant strategy by the EPA to go around the process and bend the rules to create environmental regulations that have failed in Congress.” In a total of 45 settlements already made public, EPA has paid out nearly $1 million in attorneys' fees to environmental groups, Pruitt and the other state AGs assert.

Earlier this year, the states of Oklahoma, Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, Utah and Wyoming submitted to EPA a federal open records request focused on the “sue-and-settle” strategy.

Melissa, I wanted to check with you on a statement in the story below. I highlighted a sentence near the end that is partially a Pruitt quote but also mentions regional haze. Has AG Pruitt characterized regional haze along with “sue and settle” as this sentence implies?

Neither Weiners nor whiners here -- AFP-OK and A.G. Pruitt rebuff EPA’s shaft job

Patrick B. McGuigan

Published: 29-Jul-2013

OKLAHOMA CITY – Despite an adverse circuit court ruling rebuffing the state of Oklahoma’s legal challenge to an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) edict, a citizen activist group is continuing to fight the controversial regional haze standard that could require Oklahoma power plants to switch fuels to offset sulfur dioxide emissions.

Federal pressure on power generation in Oklahoma could have real-world implications, including a minimum 11-12 percent rate hike for residential consumers. While several state officials have opposed the EPA maneuvers, some state officials have recently been quiet, and a key state utility firm has agreed to changes that will hike utility rates.

EPA critics have assailed underlying authority for the regulatory provision, which is based on a 1977 amendment to the federal Clean Air Act. They decry it as “an aesthetic visibility standard” designed to reduce haze on government lands, with little gain for air quality.

Further, Americans for Prosperity-Oklahoma, says the projected double-digit rate hikes, if the EPA gets its way, will actually be closer to 20 percent – an average of $200 in increased costs for the typical state family.

Matt Ball, state director for AFP-OK, said, “At a time when Oklahomans overwhelmingly agree that electricity rates are already too high, why should state policymakers support a settlement agreement with the Obama EPA and other liberal environmental groups like the Sierra Club that will raise rates on PSO [Public Service Company of Oklahoma] customers up to $200 more per year and pave the way for rates to be raised on all Oklahomans?”

Ball continued, “President Obama has made clear his intentions on power plant regulation and this one EPA regulation, by mandating fuel-switching, will effectively mandate how much Oklahomans will pay for electricity.”

Last weekend, Ball told CapitolBeatOK the petition already had triggered 3,078 Oklahomans to contact state officials via the petition letters.

Ball said, “While the heavy-handed approach of President Obama’s EPA is likely to result in utility rate hikes on Oklahoma families and businesses, what is more troubling is that state policymakers might consider supporting it. This plan hurts Oklahomans’ pocketbooks and makes our state less competitive for jobs. AFP-OK is circulating this petition so that state policymakers are made aware of how Oklahomans feel about this important pocketbook issue.”

In the first of a series of emails to AFP supporters and other free market advocates in the state, Ball assailed the EPA benchmark as operating “under the guise of pseudo-science.”

Commissioner of Labor Mark Costello told CapitolBeatOK, “Should this EPA mandated policy be implemented in our state, I have serious concerns about the negative impact on Oklahoma’s wage earners.” He asserted, “There is no urgent need for the state of Oklahoma to rush into embracing a policy based solely on EPA demands. This issue needs to be fully ‘vetted’ by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission.”

That three-member commission is the constitutional state agency that regulates many businesses, including all utility companies.

Costello and other critics of the haze mandate say it could erode two of Oklahoma’s key economic advantages – comparatively robust employment (a 5 percent jobless rate, among the nation’s lowest) and low cost of doing business, not to mention wage improvements over several years

The Oklahoma Industrial Energy Consumers (OIEC) and the state Energy Coalition have faced off with state members of the Sierra Club, who back the haze rule.

Frustrating advocates of energy independence, the EPA applied the regional haze standard to the Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge near Lawton, in southwestern Oklahoma. EPA has pressured for fuel switching (from “clean coal” to natural gas) at power plants more than 250 miles away, in the far northeast corner of the Sooner State.

The situation has provoked unusual division among utility firms. While Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO) is willing to settle with EPA, the Oklahoma Gas and Electric (OG&E) has fought the issue in court.

Last Friday (July 26), a divided Tenth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel rejected Oklahoma’s April 2012 petition to rebuff the EPA’s haze rule, issued in December 2011.

Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt assailed the Tenth Circuit decision, saying, “We disagree and are disappointed with the panel’s 2-1 decision. We will continue to fight to preserve the ability of Oklahoma stakeholders to create an Oklahoma solution and to protect Oklahoma consumers from excessive and unnecessary utility costs. We are reviewing the decision and considering our options.”

U.S. Rep. James Lankford, R-Oklahoma City, said he was “frustrated” with the circuit court ruling, which he characterizes as “needless and excessive.” Unless the ruling is tempered upon further review, “It is now certain that Oklahoma utility customers will face a new rate hike without any health or economic benefit.”

In addition to fighting the circuit ruling, Pruitt is part of a coalition of state attorneys general seeking to understand the EPA’s alleged “sue and settle” strategy. A federal lawsuit against EPA, filed in Oklahoma’s western district, seeks disclosure of EPA tactics benefiting environmental groups like Greenpeace, Defenders of Wildlife, Wildearth Guardians and the Sierra Club.

Pruitt characterizes “sue-and-settle” and the regional haze controversy as part of a “blatant strategy by the EPA to go around the process and bend the rules to create environmental regulations that have failed in Congress.” In a total of 45 settlements already made public, EPA has paid out nearly $1 million in attorneys’ fees to environmental groups, Pruitt and the other state AGs assert.

Earlier this year, the states of Oklahoma, Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, Utah and Wyoming submitted to EPA a federal open records request focused on the “sue-and-settle” strategy.

Joel,

To my knowledge we have not been presented with a contract ready for execution for the Wind RFP or the IRP scope of work. Once we have an executed contract I will begin processing those invoices for payment.

I will submit for payment the invoice for work in PUD201200054 today.

PSO is willing to go first (without a fight) if PSO can go last as well. To me we have conflicting rules with the one saying the applicant goes first and another that says in a fuel review the company has the burden of proof. There are only four parties so this should not be a problem. That procedure has been approved before.

Tom,

PSO said that it wanted a cut-off date for discovery on the testimony in support of the MFRs – November 8, 2013, and also said that it needed 8 business days for discovery. PUD is fine with that. No other party has proposed any changes to dates. I have not drafted an order. Now, we are just trying to agree on dates and the terms of discovery to present to the judge on tomorrow.

Jack,

What is the date for PSO's filing of the MFR and its testimony in support? I do not have a problem with that date being included in the order once it is drafted.

All, what about letting the judge decide at the pre-hearing conference the order of presentation of witnesses at the hearing on the merits?

To my understanding, based on what I have heard from all parties, except OIEC, the following is the proposed schedule and discovery terms:

November 8, 2013	Cut-off for discovery on the testimony filed on

	_____ by PSO in support of the MFR.
November 19, 2013	Responsive Testimony Filed
December 9, 2013	Statements of Position Filed
December 19, 2013	Discovery Cut-Off (Responsive Testimony)
January 13, 2014	Rebuttal Testimony Filed
February 10, 2014	Discovery Cut-Off (Rebuttal Testimony)
February 24, 2014	Pre-hearing Motions Filed
March 12, 2014	Settlement Conference
March 13, 2014, 10:30 a.m.	Pre-Hearing Conference
March 20, 2014	Exhibit Lists and Witness Summaries Filed
March 27, 2014, 10:30 a.m.	Hearing on the Merits

All discovery requests shall be due within 8 business days of receipt, objections to any discovery request will be due within 3 business days, and data requests limited to no more than 25 per day per party.

Order of Presentation of witnesses?

All, please press "reply all" so that all parties can know what is being proposed.

I would like to advise Judge Candler as soon as possible what the parties have decided.

Thank you.

PSO is willing to go first (without a fight) if PSO can go last as well. To me we have conflicting rules with the one saying the applicant goes first and another that says in a fuel review the company has the burden of proof. There are only four parties so this should not be a problem. That procedure has been approved before.

Tom,

PSO said that it wanted a cut-off date for discovery on the testimony in support of the MFRs – November 8, 2013, and also said that it needed 8 business days for discovery. PUD is fine with that. No other party has proposed any changes to dates. I have not drafted an order. Now, we are just trying to agree on dates and the terms of discovery to present to the judge on tomorrow.

Jack,

What is the date for PSO's filing of the MFR and its testimony in support? I do not have a problem with that date being included in the order once it is drafted.

All, what about letting the judge decide at the pre-hearing conference the order of presentation of witnesses at the hearing on the merits?

To my understanding, based on what I have heard from all parties, except OIEC, the following is the proposed schedule and discovery terms:

November 8, 2013	Cut-off for discovery on the testimony filed on _____ by PSO in support of the MFR.
November 19, 2013	Responsive Testimony Filed
December 9, 2013	Statements of Position Filed
December 19, 2013	Discovery Cut-Off (Responsive Testimony)
January 13, 2014	Rebuttal Testimony Filed
February 10, 2014	Discovery Cut-Off (Rebuttal Testimony)
February 24, 2014	Pre-hearing Motions Filed
March 12, 2014	Settlement Conference
March 13, 2014, 10:30 a.m.	Pre-Hearing Conference
March 20, 2014	Exhibit Lists and Witness Summaries Filed
March 27, 2014, 10:30 a.m.	Hearing on the Merits

All discovery requests shall be due within 8 business days of receipt, objections to any discovery request will be due within 3 business days, and data requests limited to no more than 25 per day per party.

Order of Presentation of witnesses?

All, please press “reply all” so that all parties can know what is being proposed.

I would like to advise Judge Candler as soon as possible what the parties have decided.

Thank you.

PSO is willing to go first (without a fight) if PSO can go last as well. To me we have conflicting rules with the one saying the applicant goes first and another that says in a fuel review the company has the burden of proof. There are only four parties so this should not be a problem. That procedure has been approved before.

Tom,

PSO said that it wanted a cut-off date for discovery on the testimony in support of the MFRs – November 8, 2013, and also said that it needed 8 business days for discovery. PUD is fine with that. No other party has proposed any changes to dates. I have not drafted an order. Now, we are just trying to agree on dates and the terms of discovery to present to the judge on tomorrow.

Jack,

What is the date for PSO's filing of the MFR and its testimony in support? I do not have a problem with that date being included in the order once it is drafted.

All, what about letting the judge decide at the pre-hearing conference the order of presentation of witnesses at the hearing on the merits?

To my understanding, based on what I have heard from all parties, except OIEC, the following is the proposed schedule and discovery terms:

November 8, 2013	Cut-off for discovery on the testimony filed on _____ by PSO in support of the MFR.
November 19, 2013	Responsive Testimony Filed
December 9, 2013	Statements of Position Filed
December 19, 2013	Discovery Cut-Off (Responsive Testimony)
January 13, 2014	Rebuttal Testimony Filed
February 10, 2014	Discovery Cut-Off (Rebuttal Testimony)

February 24, 2014	Pre-hearing Motions Filed
March 12, 2014	Settlement Conference
March 13, 2014, 10:30 a.m.	Pre-Hearing Conference
March 20, 2014	Exhibit Lists and Witness Summaries Filed
March 27, 2014, 10:30 a.m.	Hearing on the Merits

All discovery requests shall be due within 8 business days of receipt, objections to any discovery request will be due within 3 business days, and data requests limited to no more than 25 per day per party.

Order of Presentation of witnesses?

All, please press "reply all" so that all parties can know what is being proposed.

I would like to advise Judge Candler as soon as possible what the parties have decided.

Thank you.

Hey Bud!

I am sure with the storms you may be very busy today! General Pruitt asked that I reach out and see if there is any timeline on when he and the surrounding area might begin to have their power restored. Hope you are well and that you are getting to spend time with your grandbaby!

Talk soon and thanks for your help on this!

Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO)

Storm Outage Update #2: Wednesday, July 24, 2013 – 4:30 p.m.

PSO is dealing with significant weather-related power outages across the Tulsa metropolitan area due to a severe thunderstorm packing 60-80 mph winds that struck in the early morning hours.

OUTAGES AND RESTORATION EFFORTS Tulsa District

As of 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 24, PSO had restored power to about 20,000 customers who lost service in the early morning storm, leaving approximately 76,300 customers in the Tulsa metro area without electric service. PSO has restored service to 16 main feeder power lines, with 76 still out of operation.

Customer outages continue to be most numerous in the southwestern portion of the metro area.

At present, there are approximately 370 PSO line and tree workers focused on restoring power in the Tulsa metro area. PSO has secured an additional 1,030 workers from other AEP companies and other utilities to support restoration efforts.

Based on damage assessment, and barring any future weather events, PSO estimates it could take until 5 p.m., Sunday, July 28, to complete power restoration to 95% of all customers who can take service. The electric service to many customers will be restored much sooner than that time.

This initial estimated time for completing power restoration will be updated as the storm recovery work progresses.

In accordance with pre-arranged plans, PSO will use a portion of Expo Square for parking the work vehicles of out-of-town crews, for refueling vehicles, and for staging materials.

CUSTOMER MESSAGES

- Customers should prepare for a multi-day power outage and are urged to take necessary steps to ensure their health and safety while PSO works to restore power.
- For safety's sake, assume that any downed utility line is energized with deadly electric current. Stay away from the line and do not touch it with anything. Report it to PSO at 1-888-216-3523.
- Please do not approach crews and utility vehicles you see in your neighborhood to ask when power will be restored. Doing so could jeopardize your safety. Outward vision from the large utility vehicles can be limited. A crew may not see someone who has walked up to their work truck.

INFORMATION

We will continue to provide additional information to you as the restoration effort moves forward.

A "snapshot" view of current outages is available anytime at PSOklahoma.com. Go to the Outages and Problems section of the site and click "View Outage Map."

Jack, regarding the proposed Order, I see a typo under the heading "appearances" on page 1 (for OIEC). Jennifer's last name is Castillo not Costello. Also, regarding appearances for the A G, it should be changed to read Jerry Sanger, not James Sanger. That is all the changes I have thus far.

Enclosed is a draft order for Thursday's fuel review case. I have spoken with ALJ Myles and he is fine with allowing PSO to rely upon the prefiled testimony to meet PSO's burden of proof. Tom has agreed to this procedure. Are PUD and the AG good as well? I would like to be able to tell the witnesses. Elizabeth, will staff be putting their witnesses on? Jack

It is also my understanding from Alan that BP will bill for their review of the 2013 update to the IRP on a separate contract as well. Here is draft of that for circulation and review.

You mean you're cool with the two draft agreements (Wind and IRP)? So we can work on finalizing?

It is also my understanding from Alan that BP will bill for their review of the 2013 update to the IRP on a separate contract as well. Here is draft of that for circulation and review.

Deborah,

I just verified with Judge Myles that you communicated with him that your client took no position to PUD's motion; therefore, the last sentence of paragraph 4 on page 2 in the order says, "All other parties stated that they either supported, did not oppose, or took no position to PUD's Motion." Is this acceptable to you and all other parties?

Deborah,

I just verified with Judge Myles that you communicated with him that your client took no position to PUD's motion; therefore, the last sentence of paragraph 4 on page 2 in the order says, "All other parties stated that they either supported, did not oppose, or took no position to PUD's Motion." Is this acceptable to you and all other parties?

Please find the attached proposed order for all to review and supplement as desired. As we would like to set this matter for this coming Tuesday's signing agenda, a response as soon as possible today will be greatly appreciated. After I incorporate everyone's changes into the order, I will forward it to ALJ Myles.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Hey Bud,

I spoke with General Pruitt and unfortunately he has already committed to another conference that runs through October 6th. I was hopeful that he might make it back in time to be at your event as well but that is not the case. Thank you so very much for allowing him the opportunity again and I am sorry we cannot make it work this time. Please keep us on the list for next year!

Thanks!

Melissa, I am contacting you as the Vice Chairman of the Environmental Federation of Oklahoma. We would like to ask AG Pruitt to join us at our annual meeting again this year to speak on the status of the environmental litigation or whatever environmental theme that he would like to speak on. We would like for him to speak in the keynote spot on October 3rd at the Oklahoma City Sheraton. I have attached a draft agenda of the conference. I appreciate your help.
Please let me know if this fits into his busy schedule.

Melissa, I wanted to check with you on a statement in the story below. I highlighted a sentence near the end that is partially a Pruitt quote but also mentions regional haze. Has AG Pruitt characterized regional haze along with "sue and settle" as this sentence implies?

Neither Weiners nor whiners here -- AFP-OK and A.G. Pruitt rebuff EPA's shaft job

Share this Article: Twitter Facebook Republish Print

Patrick B. McGuigan
Published: 29-Jul-2013

OKLAHOMA CITY – Despite an adverse circuit court ruling rebuffing the state of Oklahoma's legal challenge to an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) edict, a citizen activist group is continuing to fight the controversial regional haze standard that could require Oklahoma power plants to switch fuels to offset sulfur dioxide emissions.

Federal pressure on power generation in Oklahoma could have real-world implications, including a minimum 11-12 percent rate hike for residential consumers. While several state officials have opposed the EPA maneuvers, some state officials have recently been quiet, and a key state utility firm has agreed to changes that will hike utility rates.

EPA critics have assailed underlying authority for the regulatory provision, which is based on a 1977 amendment to the federal Clean Air Act. They decry it as “an aesthetic visibility standard” designed to reduce haze on government lands, with little gain for air quality.

Further, Americans for Prosperity-Oklahoma, says the projected double-digit rate hikes, if the EPA gets its way, will actually be closer to 20 percent – an average of $200 in increased costs for the typical state family.

Matt Ball, state director for AFP-OK, said, “At a time when Oklahomans overwhelmingly agree that electricity rates are already too high, why should state policymakers support a settlement agreement with the Obama EPA and other liberal environmental groups like the Sierra Club that will raise rates on PSO [Public Service Company of Oklahoma] customers up to $200 more per year and pave the way for rates to be raised on all Oklahomans?”

Ball continued, “President Obama has made clear his intentions on power plant regulation and this one EPA regulation, by mandating fuel-switching, will effectively mandate how much Oklahomans will pay for electricity.”

Last weekend, Ball told CapitolBeatOK the petition already had triggered 3,078 Oklahomans to contact state officials via the petition letters.

Ball said, “While the heavy-handed approach of President Obama’s EPA is likely to result in utility rate hikes on Oklahoma families and businesses, what is more troubling is that state policymakers might consider supporting it. This plan hurts Oklahomans’ pocketbooks and makes our state less competitive for jobs. AFP-OK is circulating this petition so that state policymakers are made aware of how Oklahomans feel about this important pocketbook issue.”

In the first of a series of emails to AFP supporters and other free market advocates in the state, Ball assailed the EPA benchmark as operating “under the guise of pseudo-science.”

Commissioner of Labor Mark Costello told CapitolBeatOK, “Should this EPA mandated policy be implemented in our state, I have serious concerns about the negative impact on Oklahoma’s wage earners.” He asserted, “There is no urgent need for the state of Oklahoma to rush into embracing a policy based solely on EPA demands. This issue needs to be fully ‘vetted’ by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission.”

That three-member commission is the constitutional state agency that regulates many businesses, including all utility companies.

Costello and other critics of the haze mandate say it could erode two of Oklahoma’s key economic advantages – comparatively robust employment (a 5 percent jobless rate, among the nation’s lowest) and low cost of doing business, not to mention wage improvements over several years

The Oklahoma Industrial Energy Consumers (OIEC) and the state Energy Coalition have faced off with state members of the Sierra Club, who back the haze rule.

Frustrating advocates of energy independence, the EPA applied the regional haze standard to the Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge near Lawton, in southwestern Oklahoma. EPA has pressured for fuel switching (from “clean coal” to natural gas) at power plants more than 250 miles away, in the far northeast corner of the Sooner State.

The situation has provoked unusual division among utility firms. While Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO) is willing to settle with EPA, the Oklahoma Gas and Electric (OG&E) has fought the issue in court.

Last Friday (July 26), a divided Tenth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel rejected Oklahoma's April 2012 petition to rebuff the EPA's haze rule, issued in December 2011.

Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt assailed the Tenth Circuit decision, saying, "We disagree and are disappointed with the panel's 2-1 decision. We will continue to fight to preserve the ability of Oklahoma stakeholders to create an Oklahoma solution and to protect Oklahoma consumers from excessive and unnecessary utility costs. We are reviewing the decision and considering our options."

U.S. Rep. James Lankford, R-Oklahoma City, said he was "frustrated" with the circuit court ruling, which he characterizes as "needless and excessive." Unless the ruling is tempered upon further review, "It is now certain that Oklahoma utility customers will face a new rate hike without any health or economic benefit."

In addition to fighting the circuit ruling, Pruitt is part of a coalition of state attorneys general seeking to understand the EPA's alleged "sue and settle" strategy. A federal lawsuit against EPA, filed in Oklahoma's western district, seeks disclosure of EPA tactics benefiting environmental groups like Greenpeace, Defenders of Wildlife, Wildearth Guardians and the Sierra Club.

Pruitt characterizes "sue-and-settle" and the regional haze controversy as part of a "blatant strategy by the EPA to go around the process and bend the rules to create environmental regulations that have failed in Congress." In a total of 45 settlements already made public, EPA has paid out nearly $1 million in attorneys' fees to environmental groups, Pruitt and the other state AGs assert.

Earlier this year, the states of Oklahoma, Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, Utah and Wyoming submitted to EPA a federal open records request focused on the "sue-and-settle" strategy.

Joel,

To my knowledge we have not been presented with a contract ready for execution for the Wind RFP or the IRP scope of work. Once we have an executed contract I will begin processing those invoices for payment.

I will submit for payment the invoice for work in PUD201200054 today.

Joel,

To my knowledge we have not been presented with a contract ready for execution for the Wind RFP or the IRP scope of work. Once we have an executed contract I will begin processing those invoices for payment.

I will submit for payment the invoice for work in PUD201200054 today.

Good morning Bud!

General Pruitt said that the crews did show up last night around 6pm and were able to find the issue and said he should have power last night around 8 or 8:30. However, that did not happen. He was wondering if there was any more information on a new estimated time frame.

Thanks again, I really appreciate your efforts on this.

Ashley, I have asked for information specific to the AG's address. I haven't received it yet.

Public Service Company of Oklahoma (PSO)

Storm Outage Update #2: Wednesday, July 24, 2013 – 4:30 p.m.

PSO is dealing with significant weather-related power outages across the Tulsa metropolitan area due to a severe thunderstorm packing 60-80 mph winds that struck in the early morning hours.

OUTAGES AND RESTORATION EFFORTS Tulsa District

As of 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 24, PSO had restored power to about 20,000 customers who lost service in the early morning storm, leaving approximately 76,300 customers in the Tulsa metro area without electric service. PSO has restored service to 16 main feeder power lines, with 76 still out of operation.

Customer outages continue to be most numerous in the southwestern portion of the metro area.

At present, there are approximately 370 PSO line and tree workers focused on restoring power in the Tulsa metro area. PSO has secured an additional 1,030 workers from other AEP companies and other utilities to support restoration efforts.

Based on damage assessment, and barring any future weather events, PSO estimates it could take until 5 p.m., Sunday, July 28, to complete power restoration to 95% of all customers who can take service. The electric service to many customers will be restored much sooner than that time.

This initial estimated time for completing power restoration will be updated as the storm recovery work progresses.

In accordance with pre-arranged plans, PSO will use a portion of Expo Square for parking the work vehicles of out-of-town crews, for refueling vehicles, and for staging materials.

CUSTOMER MESSAGES

- Customers should prepare for a multi-day power outage and are urged to take necessary steps to ensure their health and safety while PSO works to restore power.
- For safety's sake, assume that any downed utility line is energized with deadly electric current. Stay away from the line and do not touch it with anything. Report it to PSO at 1-888-216-3523.
- Please do not approach crews and utility vehicles you see in your neighborhood to ask when power will be restored. Doing so could jeopardize your safety. Outward vision from the large utility vehicles can be limited. A crew may not see someone who has walked up to their work truck.

INFORMATION

We will continue to provide additional information to you as the restoration effort moves forward.

A "snapshot" view of current outages is available anytime at PSOklahoma.com. Go to the Outages and Problems section of the site and click "View Outage Map."

Hey Bud!

I am sure with the storms you may be very busy today! General Pruitt asked that I reach out and see if there is any timeline on when he and the surrounding area might begin to have their power restored. Hope you are well and that you are getting to spend time with your grandbaby!

Talk soon and thanks for your help on this!

Counsel: Please be advised that the following two additions were made to the Procedural Order since the most recent exchange of emails:

Page 2 of Procedural Order. Direct Examination No. 2-Witness was made plural to read “witnesses”.

Page 4 of Procedural Order, final sentence: sentence amended to allow dates to be changed by any appropriate procedure. (for example, parties by agreement request that the ALJ allow the merit hearing to be continued for settlement discussions, the hearing is continued on the record, there is not a new motion filed with notice and hearing necessarily)

Counsel: Please be advised that the following two additions were made to the Procedural Order since the most recent exchange of emails:

Page 2 of Procedural Order. Direct Examination No. 2-Witness was made plural to read "witnesses".

Page 4 of Procedural Order, final sentence: sentence amended to allow dates to be changed by any appropriate procedure. (for example, parties by agreement request that the ALJ allow the merit hearing to be continued for settlement discussions, the hearing is continued on the record, there is not a new motion filed with notice and hearing necessarily)

To all:

Although OSN was not served with the motion or provided any notice, my client has reviewed the dates of the procedural schedule circulated by Judge Miller's office and can agree to such dates.

Within the remainder of the body of order, please reflect OSN in the order of presentation.

Thank you,

Deborah

All: As you will see there is some confidential and highly sensitive confidential information. I am working on a confidentiality agreement based on what the Commission has been approving. Rather than wait for the Commission to issue an order I propose to just send out the document and have those of you who want to see the information (other than OCC) sign and return. Since the pricing on wind contracts has been kept confidential in the past to me this was an easier solution. Jack

According to Fairo Mitchell, PUD is fine with allowing PSO to rely upon the pre-filed testimony at the HOM as long as the parties are going to limit any cross examination questions to what PUD did and not ask questions to PUD that are more appropriate for a PSO witness. As I said earlier, the judge still wants PUD to testify briefly about its review. Javad Seyedoff and Larry Lago will be testifying on behalf of PUD.

I will get back with the attorneys concerning edits to the draft order.

Thank you.

I believe that is what Brandy advised Alan- BP is separating its invoices out for the 3 separate matters (54, Wind, and IRP). I will let Brandy confirm if this is correct to have 3 separate contracts (I believe that is what was determined, but this is not my call so want to ensure I do not misrepresent what I understood). Thanks!

Please find the attached proposed order for all to review and supplement as desired. As we would like to set this matter for this coming Tuesday's signing agenda, a response as soon as possible today will be greatly appreciated. After I incorporate everyone's changes into the order, I will forward it to ALJ Myles.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

All: As you will see there is some confidential and highly sensitive confidential information. I am working on a confidentiality agreement based on what the Commission has been approving. Rather than wait for the Commission to issue an order I propose to just send out the document and have those of you who want to see the information (other than OCC) sign and return. Since the pricing on wind contracts has been kept confidential in the past to me this was an easier solution. Jack

Subject: PSO Green Tariff 2013-101

The following are proposed dates for use in PSO's 2013-101 docket:
September 20 Cut-off of discovery on direct testimony filed August 23
October 11 Responsive testimony
October 18 Cut-off of discovery on responsive testimony
October 25 Rebuttal testimony
Nov. 1 Cut-off of discovery on rebuttal testimony
November 7 10:30 hearing on the merits
Discovery 5 days to answer and 3 to object

I do not have a prehearing conference, pre-trial motions and exhibits and testimony summaries. I intended on asking the ALJ when exhibit lists and testimony summaries should be due but did not anticipate the need for the other two items. I have added Mr. Roth and Mr. Riles to the distribution list even though they have not formally intervened and would appreciate all parties including them on their emails. The motion for procedural schedule is set for this Thursday. I have not set up a call but could get one for tomorrow if people think it is needed. Jack

I do not have a prehearing conference, pre-trial motions and exhibits and testimony summaries. I intended on asking the ALJ when exhibit lists and testimony summaries should be due but did not anticipate the need for the other two items. I have added Mr. Roth and Mr. Riles to the distribution list even though they have not formally intervened and would appreciate all parties including them on their emails. The motion for procedural schedule is set for this Thursday. I have not set up a call but could get one for tomorrow if people think it is needed. Jack

All:

I received the filing of the Direct Testimony of John O. Aaron on behalf of PSO in the above case. Afterward, I reviewed the Interim Order No. 591185 issued 11/18/11 and the attached stipulation.

It appears to me that the filing is required by Paragraph 5, Page 8 of the Order and Paragraph 3, Page 3 of the attached Stipulation.

However, it does not appear that a hearing is required unless some dispute arises from the Technical Conference required by Paragraph 4, Page 3 of the attached Stipulation. I make this assumption based on my reading of Paragraph 5, Page 3 of the attached Stipulation which allows PSO to implement the factor within a prescribed time period.

Based on the above, unless someone tells me different, I will wait and let the parties inform me of the need for a hearing in this matter. Thank you.

Thanks, Jennifer.

I thought that had been corrected in a prior draft, my mistake. Mr. Sanger's name was corrected as well, and PSO's testimony summaries added to Attachment A.

With your edit I am going to send to Judge Myles if there are no objections.

Joel,

To my knowledge we have not been presented with a contract ready for execution for the Wind RFP or the IRP scope of work. Once we have an executed contract I will begin processing those invoices for payment.

I will submit for payment the invoice for work in PUD201200054 today.

Thanks,

Joel,

To my knowledge we have not been presented with a contract ready for execution for the Wind RFP or the IRP scope of work. Once we have an executed contract I will begin processing those invoices for payment.

I will submit for payment the invoice for work in PUD201200054 today.

Thanks,

Hey Bud!

I am sure with the storms you may be very busy today! General Pruitt asked that I reach out and see if there is any timeline on when he and the surrounding area might begin to have their power restored. Hope you are well and that you are getting to spend time with your grandbaby!

Talk soon and thanks for your help on this!

KINGSPORT POWER FILES FOR 1.3 PERCENT DECREASE IN RATES

Kingsport Power, doing business in Tennessee as AEP Appalachian Power, has filed a request with Tennessee regulators under its existing tariff to pass through to retail customers a decrease in transmission costs. The company is requesting an overall decrease of about 1.3 percent in electric rates effective September 1.

NEW RIVER HISTORY EMERGES IN STUDY COMMISSIONED BY APPALACHIAN POWER

A study funded by Appalachian Power provides a historic and fascinating account of the families that settled in the Pulaski County area known as Dunkard's Bottom some 200 years ago. The study was conducted by S&ME, Inc. and Harvey Research and Consulting as part of the company's federal relicensing process for the Claytor Hydroelectric Project and is available to the public on-line and at Claytor Lake State Park.

APPALACHIAN POWER WEBSITE SHOWS HOW CLAYTOR RELEASES AFFECT DOWNSTREAM FLOWS

New River fishermen, canoeists, kayakers and other recreationalists now have a new tool to help them anticipate water flows on the river downstream from Appalachian Power's Claytor Hydroelectric Plant, near Radford. A new website allows users to see how and when water releases that have occurred will affect flows at seven downstream locations from Peppers Ferry Road to Glen Lyn.

Melissa, I am contacting you as the Vice Chairman of the Environmental Federation of Oklahoma. We would like to ask AG Pruitt to join us at our annual meeting again this year to speak on the status of the environmental litigation or whatever environmental theme that he would like to speak on. We would like for him to speak in the keynote spot on October 3rd at the Oklahoma City Sheraton. I have attached a draft agenda of the conference. I appreciate your help. Please let me know if this fits into his busy schedule.

Subject: 2012_168 PSO FAC FINAL ORDER

According to Fairo Mitchell, PUD is fine with allowing PSO to rely upon the pre-filed testimony at the HOM as long as the parties are going to limit any cross examination questions to what PUD did and not ask questions to PUD that are more appropriate for a PSO witness. As I said earlier, the judge still wants PUD to testify briefly about its review. Javad Seyedoff and Larry Lago will be testifying on behalf of PUD.

I will get back with the attorneys concerning edits to the draft order.

I&M PARTNERS WITH INDIANA LIBRARIES TO OFFER A NEW ENERGY EFFICIENCY AWARENESS PROGRAM

Indiana Michigan Power (I&M), is rolling out a new energy efficiency awareness program that will give consumers the opportunity to understand their energy consumption by measuring how much electricity their household appliances and electronics use. The Kill-A-Watt EZ Meter Program has been developed in partnership with libraries throughout I&M's Indiana service territory. Library patrons can checkout Kill-A-Watt EZ meters from their local participating libraries (see list below) in the same manner as library audio-visual materials.

I&M WARNS CUSTOMERS OF ONGOING SCAM ATTEMPTS

Indiana Michigan Power (I&M) customers continue to be targeted by telephone scammers who falsely represent themselves as company personnel in an attempt to collect money fast. The caller threatens to cut off the electric service if money is not paid immediately by credit card, Green Dot Money Card, or a variety of other types of prepaid cash cards. In another version of the scam, the caller says the victim's electric meter must be immediately replaced to avoid a fire, and the victim is instructed to pay fees using a money order or prepaid cash card.

Hey Bud,

I spoke with General Pruitt and unfortunately he has already committed to another conference that runs through October 6th. I was hopeful that he might make it back in time to be at your event as well but that is not the case. Thank you so very much for allowing him the opportunity again and I am sorry we cannot make it work this time. Please keep us on the list for next year!

Melissa, I am contacting you as the Vice Chairman of the Environmental Federation of Oklahoma. We would like to ask AG Pruitt to join us at our annual meeting again this year to speak on the status of the environmental litigation or whatever environmental theme that he would like to speak on. We would like for him to speak in the keynote spot on October 3rd at the Oklahoma City Sheraton. I have attached a draft agenda of the conference. I appreciate your help. So would the AG be opposed to anyone in the town hall/panel discussion discussing PSO settlement? I would be looking to him for the messaging points that you mention below. Heavy hand of federal govt infringing on states rights by mandating how much Oklahomans pay for electricity. Frankly, our messaging has been mostly identical. But our petition letter is aimed at the settlement agreement bc we believe it paves the way for rate increases on all.

Frankly, I just assume the AG and Lankford talk sue and settle, how the EPA is deploying these tactics and what their respective offices have done on oversight and litigation, and let Yeatman from CEI give an objective analysis of costs to ratepayers from revised state implementation plan on regional haze (which includes the PSO rate increase). That way you guys dont have to deliver those messages and can focus on what the AG does best, opposing the Obama administration and its nasty tactics on the environment.

Would you guys be opposed to that?

Hi Matt,

I've an important question: Do you know anyone on Scott Pruitt's team? I ask b/c I've information that perhaps they were unaware of, and which I believe would help their en banc appeal. I explain below.

The majority opinion's logic rested almost entirely on the credibility of EPA's consultant, Dr. Phyllis Fox. In particular, the case hinged on her analysis of the cost of sulfur scrubbers for the four OG&E units. In a nutshell, she said that OG&E at least doubled the cost, in order to make the retrofits look less cost-effective.

Here's the thing: Dr. Phyllis Fox also served as a consultant to EPA in its Regional Haze Federal Implementation Plan for New Mexico. Her role in that action was identical. She performed an analysis of PNM's cost estimate for a technology known as selective catalytic reduction. PNM estimated the retrofit cost $730 million; Dr. Phyllis Fox claimed it cost $340 million. And based on this, EPA disapproved New Mexico's plan and imposed a Regional Haze FIP. PNM subsequently solicited bids to actually build the technology. The utility received two bids, and the cheapest was $750 million! See: http://www.pnm.com/news/2012/0130\_scr\_rfp.htm. The upshot is that Dr. Phyllis Fox has been proven demonstrably wrong. Again, the entire basis of the 10th Court's decision is Dr. Fox's credibility. If she's been proven wrong on the same matter in the same timeframe, then it matter. Accordingly, I believe this information might usefully be incorporated into the state's en banc appeal.

As an aside, Dr. Fox is a professional litigation witness for environmental groups on Regional Haze. In fact, just before she worked for EPA as a consultant—in a job that formed the legal basis for EPA's regulatory takeover—Dr. Fox was working for Sierra Club, on whose behalf she submitted expert testimony for EPA's Regional Haze regulation for the Four Corners power plant on the Navajo Nation. Sierra Club, mind you, was an intervener on behalf EPA in the Oklahoma case. It's outrageous!!

Besides the last two days, which were spent digesting the court's decision, I've spent the last week on the project, and it's coming along well. PSO rigged its accounting in a fairly blatant manner, and we'll be able to do a parallel, yet accurate cost analysis. I understand, however, if the court's ruling alters the context before the OCC. Please let me know if you are still interested in the paper.

Matt,

What does your schedule look like this week? I'd like to grab lunch or coffee and talk about how the AG's office and AFP can work together. I'm open every day for lunch, and most mornings for coffee.

Thanks,
AC

Gents,

Please see the attached, proposed joint-release to go today, if possible.

I would suggest the joint release from both offices and AFPP to go sometime today, probably in the early afternoon to afford time for approval from your respective offices.

Once the release goes out, would you all be able to post on social media and send to your respective email lists? We will do the same.

I believe a joint release would maximize the effectiveness and help to drive the crowd, coming from both offices and AFPP.

Thoughts on that? Please let us know let us know if you have any edits or any questions.

Thanks!

JMT

Aaron and Todd:

Firstly, thank you to your respective bosses and all they are doing to push back against President Obama's EPA and its axis with liberal environmental groups to increase energy costs for Oklahomans and American families across the states. You both work for true champions of freedom and liberty!

I wanted to send a brief rundown of the format for next Thursday's AFP Foundation-OK Community Forum: "EPA Regulations and Your Pocketbook." I have copied John Tidwell and Josh Harlow w/ Jones PR in OKC since they contract with us for PR in multiple mediums.

WHEN: August 22nd 10am-11:30am

WHAT: "EPA Regulations and Your Pocketbook" - Panel Discussion and Q&A

OK Attorney General Scott Pruitt
William Yeatman, Asst Director of the Center for Energy & Environment at the Competitive Enterprise Institute (CEI).

WHERE: Oklahoma City University Meinders School of Business
2501 N. Blackwelder Ave (corner of 24th and McKinley)

FORMAT / CONTENT

This is an AFP Foundation-OK event (501c3) so there will not be any calls to action of any sort and will strictly be an issue education event for your constituents to come and learn about the great work your bosses are doing to push back against the EPA in Congress and in court and how these overly aggressive tactics and regulation will hurt the pocketbooks of Oklahomans. The top-down, overly burdensome regulatory takeovers from the Obama EPA truly do threaten Oklahoma families and businesses by pursuing an ideological agenda that results in increases in utility rates and cost of doing business.

My goal is for this to not only be an event that helps AFP/AFPF-OK but one that helps the Congressman and the AG both from a PR and policy perspective.

CONGRESSMAN LANKFORD

The Congressman can discuss his bill on Sue and Settle, his EPA committee business on House Govt Oversight. The idea is to discuss how Sue and Settle works to execute the President's ideological environmental agenda by circumventing Congressional authority. Also, perhaps discuss all that the Congressman has done on Regional Haze within the SUE and Settle context —strictly aesthetic regulation et al. If he wants to discuss the situation that RH regulations has put OK utilities into he is certainly welcome to do that as well with out specific discussion of the PSO/EPA settlement.

ACTION ITEMS

-If you can provide some info (talking points, bullet points, et al) re: Lankford's Sue and Settle bill and additional items he would like to discuss within the vein above, we can put those talkers into a few power point slides and handouts for each attendee.

ATTORNEY GENERAL PRUITT

This is an excellent opportunity for the AG to discuss the role of attorneys general as a last line of defense for states rights against overly intrusive federal regulation of which EPA environmental is only one example. More specifically, the AG can discuss the specifics of his new Sue and Settle litigation, its merits, context, etc so as to explain how the states are pushing back against the President's environmental agenda through the rule of law. If the AG would like to discuss his involvement in seeking dismissal of the PSO Environmental Compliance case at the OCC, he is certainly more than welcome to do so. I understand if he does not wish to.

ACTION ITEMS

-Please provide some talking points, bullet points et al. re Pruitt's Sue and Settle litigation, its importance and any other point the AG would like to discuss within the vein above. We will put into PPT slides and handouts for all attendees.

WILL YEATMAN (CEI)

Yeatman is with the Competitive Enterprise Institute (CEI) in DC and is the Asst Director of CEI's Center for Energy and Environment. Yeatman was retained several months ago by AFP Foundation-OK to perform a study of the manner EPA has conducted itself in the states, including Oklahoma. This study will include a comprehensive cost analysis of the Revised State Implementation Plan (SIP) on Regional Haze compliance. This will include analysis of the costs of the EPA/PSO settlement and projected costs to ratepayers. Yeatman will present the study in a brief PPT presentation at the event after each of you have had the opportunity to speak. I will provide both of your offices an advance copy of the study. The idea here is for an objective third party think tank fellow to discuss PSO/EPA settlement and you will not be asked to comment specifically.

Q&A

The panel discussion will be followed by Q&A from the attendees. Again, the session is scheduled to run from 10am-11:30am total.

MEDIA

We will have media in attendance and, if each of your offices is comfortable, we would like to tape the panel session and edit for YouTube to disseminate to our membership who are unable to attend the event. If this is a problem please let myself or John Tidwell know.

Thanks for all you guys do,

Here are some bullet points from the AG's office on "sue and settle." Let me know if you have questions, AC.

12 states - led by Oklahoma - seeking documents from the EPA under the Freedom of Information Act related to "sue and settle."

The tactic is employed by the EPA as a way to settle lawsuits with environmental organizations, including Greenpeace, Defenders of Wildlife, WildEarth Guardians and the Sierra Club, without allowing state involvement.

In some instances, the EPA entered a consent decree the same day a lawsuit was filed by the special interest group, suggesting prior knowledge.

The agreements between the EPA and environmental groups have led to new rules and regulations for states without allowing attorneys general to enter the process to defend the interest of states, businesses and consumers.

Out of the 45 settlements made public, the EPA has paid nearly $1 million in attorneys' fees to the environmental groups, while also committing to develop sweeping new regulations. One EPA consent decree led to the EPA's costliest regulation ever – the Mercury Air Toxics Standards (MATS).

Under the Clean Air Act, the states – not the EPA – design and implement plans for compliance with the Regional Haze program. States' also requested a fee waiver.

CEI found that 92 percent of the time EPA grants fee waiver requests from noncommercial requesters who are supportive of EPA's policies and agendas, but denies a majority of fee waiver requests from noncommercial requesters who are critical of EPA.

Thanks Baxter. Appreciate the invite!

Mr Price, unfortunately I was unable to move my flight to Asheville, NC on Thursday, but would love to come back at some later date and present our findings to the Coalition. My time in other states developing model legislation and conducting state assessments is at the core of what I do in this new position. Please keep me informed on where Oklahoma is heading on parental choice. It IS for the kids!

Melissa:

AFP would like to lodge a formal complaint regarding this fraudulent phone solicitation which appears to have originated in Bethany.

I have copied our counsel, Eric Wang, on this email. If you could, please put him in contact with the proper attorney on the AGs staff that might handle a fraud claim of this nature.

Apparently someone is making AFP "fund raising" calls in KS that isn't really AFP. See below - the person being called was smart enough to get the phone number.

Subject: A suspicious AFP solicitation call
Jeff,

Margene Leach left a call for me on my cell phone at 4:48 p.m. and I called her back a few minutes ago. She reports what she heard and it sounds like a suspicious fundraising phone call. The caller identified himself as Bill Elgin calling on behalf of the "Koch Brothers and AFP" soliciting a matching AFP donation offering. The call was from Bethany, Oklahoma (\(405\) 384-1530).

Margene's husband David works for a division of Koch Industries in China and she is a local AFP supporter living in Derby, Ks. Her telephone number is (\(316\) 788-2422) and (\(316\) 259-8196) cell and would welcome a call from someone employed with AFP.

I can't imagine a friendly fundraising caller using "Koch Brothers" as part of any AFP telephone solicitation offer. This sounds like some sort of scam trying to either tie in Charles and David Koch with AFP or trying to discredit them in some manner.

Please pass this information along to the appropriate AFP people immediately. If it is a legitimate fund raising program, I would suggest using something other than "Koch Brothers" in the call.

John

Thanks for the potential dates.

Aug. 20: no go, participating in State Chamber workers' comp events and have an evening Tulsa event;

Aug 21: no go, heading to Lawton that day

Aug 22: maybe; afternoon is open for sure; there's an AM meeting, will check to see if rescheduling is possible

I know the schedule is open for lunch/afternoon on Monday, Aug. 19 and Friday, Aug. 23

AFP would like to lodge a formal complaint regarding this fraudulent phone solicitation which appears to have originated in Bethany.

I have copied our counsel, Eric Wang, on this email. If you could, please put him in contact with the proper attorney on the AGs staff that might handle a fraud claim of this nature.

Jeff,

Margene Leach left a call for me on my cell phone at 4:48 p.m. and I called her back a new minutes ago. She reports what to her and me sounds like a suspicious fundraising phone call. The caller identified himself as Bill Elgin calling on behalf of the "Koch Brothers and AFP" soliciting a matching AFP donation offering. The call was from Bethany, Oklahoma \(405\) 384-1530.

Margene's husband David works for a division of Koch Industries in China and she is a local AFP supporter living in Derby, Ks. Her telephone number is \(316\) 788-2422 and \(316\) 259-8196 cell and would welcome a call from someone employed with AFP.

I can't imagine a friendly fundraising caller using "Koch Brothers" as part of any AFP telephone solicitation offer. This sounds like some sort of scam trying to either tie in Charles and David Koch with AFP or trying to discredit them in some manner.

Please pass this information along to the appropriate AFP people immediately. If it is a legitimate fund raising program, I would suggest using something other than "Koch Brothers" in the call.

Has the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) colluded with some of the left's favorite environmental groups in an effort to skirt state policymakers and pass some of the strictest environmental regulations to date? Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt and 11 of his colleagues have been asking the EPA that question for months. However, they have been continually denied answers despite complying with Freedom of Information Act guidelines.

Pruitt is leading a multistate effort to push back against what he alleges is the EPA's latest encroachment on the Constitution - a legal gimmick known as "sue and settle."

Melissa: Attached is Baxter's resume. I just thought he might be a good fit for you guys. He is very sharp, personable, and a talented writer. We are enjoying him here at OCPA and while I don't want to lose him, I know he is looking for more of a challenge. He is very interested in politics and policy and is willing to learn.

He came highly recommended from Josie Freede, and he is very conservative.

I'd be happy to arrange lunch. ( I also think he could be helpful on the campaign side of things)

Oklahoma Attorney General Wins First Battle in Challenge to Implementation of Obamacare

OKLAHOMA CITY – Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt Monday won the state’s first challenge against the Affordable Care Act after a federal judge denied the government’s motion to dismiss the case.

Judge Ronald White issued the decision Monday afternoon in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Oklahoma in Muskogee.

“The court rejected the federal government’s argument that Oklahoma lacked standing to challenge the law, allowing us to proceed with this pivotal case,” General Pruitt said. “We’re optimistic the court will recognize what states have known for months that the IRS disregarded the law by making the large employer mandate effective in Oklahoma or in any of the 33 other states without a state health care exchange.”

Oklahoma challenged implementation of the Affordable Care Act after the IRS finalized a rule that would allow the federal government to punish “large employers,” including local government, with millions of dollars in tax penalties in states without state health care exchanges, which is not allowed under the health care law.

“Congress provided a choice for Oklahoma and other states in implementation of the health care law, and the IRS is attempting to take that away by rule,” General Pruitt said. “The administration miscalculated how many states would support this law, so now they’re using the IRS to push through provisions that Congress did not pass.”

Oklahoma’s original lawsuit was filed in January 2011. In September, following the U.S. Supreme Court decision, General Pruitt filed an amended complaint to raise issues related to the law’s implementation.

Trustees,

Please find attached the information regarding the conference in September. The registration deadline is tomorrow. So far, I only have registrations for Vernon Florence and Gary Trennepohl. If you plan to attend this conference, please let me know ASAP.

Also, I want to remind all of you that our Board meeting will be in Tulsa in September. I will be sending dates and times for everything later.

Finally, I want to thank all of you who attended the Board Retreat this week. I have received very positive feedback from Staff, Consultants and Trustees about the event. I appreciate all of you investing the time to help us continue improving and living into our value of being a world class revitalization role model.

Thanks,

Recently, OCPA hosted a series of conference calls that served as an overview of public opinion data from a recent survey of 865 likely Oklahoma voters. The subject of the survey was the Obamacare Medicaid expansion, which Gov. Fallin has prudently rejected for Oklahoma, but which some groups are still pushing for.

Below please find a summary of the key findings from the survey and links to download PDFs of the full survey data. Please let us know if OCPA can provide follow-up info on this or any other aspect of the Obamacare Medicaid expansion debate.

All the best,

Oklahoma voters show wariness of Obamacare Medicaid expansion

BY OCPA · THU, AUG 15, 2013 07:00 AM CDT

OKLAHOMA AND MEDICAID

With the Obamacare Medicaid expansion currently a hot topic of conversation, the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America has commissioned broad surveys in a number of states to gauge voter opinion on the subject, including one in Oklahoma this past May. That survey polled 865 likely general election voters and had a margin of error at +/- 3.33 percent.

The resulting data provide insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the expansion of Medicaid as allowed in the federal Obamacare law. When considering these results, it is worth noting that Oklahoma has seen every county vote for the Republican nominee in each of the past three presidential election cycles. Also, every statewide elected office is now held by a Republican, and both houses of the state Legislature feature super-majority Republican control.

Some highlights from the survey:

(1) The partisan split between Republicans and Democrats is enormous on Medicaid expansion, with Republican voters strongly opposed to the expansion and Democrats in favor. Independent voters are somewhat split on this issue.

(2) Among all voters (AAV), 52 percent think it is time to give some new candidates a chance in office in the upcoming 2014 election cycle.

(3) AAV, a plurality of voters (47 percent) believe that Medicaid is a "flawed program that wastes a lot of money, has problems of fraud and abuse, and is in severe need of reform." As noted below, this is a strong argument in the minds of Oklahoma voters against expansion of Medicaid. In the cross-tabulations (Table 4-1), 67.4 percent of Republicans hold this belief along with 45.2 percent of Independents.

(4) AAV, Medicaid expansion is opposed by a 46.2 percent to 41.9 percent plurality. In the cross-tabulations (Table 5-1), 66.2 percent of Republicans hold this belief along with 45.2 percent of Independents.

(5) When the wide variance in the estimated number of Medicaid enrollees (and associated taxpayer costs) as a result of expansion is considered, a near-majority of voters oppose Medicaid expansion at

49 percent. In the cross-tabulations (Table 6-1), 69.4 percent of Republicans hold this view along with 41 percent of Independents. Again, as noted below, this is another strong argument in the minds of many voters against expansion. The Ohio Speaker of the House specifically cited this variance as the reason the Ohio House of Representatives rejected Medicaid expansion.

(6) Regarding the seven messaging questions tested, top pollsters will tell you that any percentage above 40 percent who find an argument "very compelling" is the gold standard because when "somewhat compelling" voters are added, you easily surpass the 50 percent threshold. AAV, five arguments against Medicaid expansion polled very strongly. Namely, more than 40 percent AAV found these arguments "very compelling":

- 54%: Medicaid should not be expanded until the waste, fraud, and abuse in the program is cleaned up;
- 49%: Because there is so much disagreement among experts on the costs of expanding Medicaid, we shouldn't rush into any expansion until we have a better handle on the financial consequences;
- 44%: We can't count on the debt-ridden federal government's contribution to Oklahoma Medicaid to last forever, so in the future Oklahoma taxpayers will be left to foot the bill for all the new Medicaid recipients added;
- 42%: Expanding Medicaid would allow too many able-bodied young people to get insurance, even if they just choose not to work to provide for their own healthcare needs; and
- 41%: Expanding Medicaid would just give the federal government more power and control over our lives.

With that same set of questions, the cross-tabulation findings are the key to interpreting the survey results. Of the seven arguments, two polled very high among Republican voters and Independent voters, with another two arguments grabbing a solid group of Independent voters. The specific findings are in Tables 7-1, 8-1, 9-1, 10-1, 11-1, 12-1, and 13-1.

Argument	All Rep	Rep Men	Rep WOM	All Indy	Indy Men	Indy WOM
Become unreasonably large program	35.9%	37.3%	34.8%	35.1%	36.5%	33.5%
Give federal government more power over our lives	61.4%	62.9%	60.3%	36%	37.8%	33.6%
Federal government won't keep promise-leave SC with bill (#3)	64.8%	63.7%	65.7%	36.9%	41.3%	31.2%
Don't expand until waste, fraud, & abuse cleaned up (#1)	71.5%	67.1%	74.9%	56.2%	52.1%	61.3%
Expanding Medicaid take funds from other important programs	46.4%	44.4%	48%	31.5%	28.5%	35.5%
Allow too many able-bodied young people w/o work (#4)	60.8%	53.6%	66.3%	33.1%	27.3%	40.6%
Disagreement among experts on costs of expansion (#2)	68.1%	61.9%	72.8%	47.2%	49.8%	43.9%

Policymakers across the country in states like Ohio, Florida, South Carolina, and elsewhere are receiving strong pushback from their Republican voting bases when the issue of Obamacare's Medicaid expansion is considered. The results of the Liberty Foundation survey suggest the same dynamic likely exists in Oklahoma.

Legislators and statewide elected officials are finding that when they hold an open and honest

conversation with their constituents about the many factors involved with Obamacare's expansion of Medicaid, their constituents are often opposed to expansion. In Oklahoma, the survey data suggest that the voting base of Republican elected officials is unequivocally against expansion, and unaffiliated voters break toward rejecting expansion when details are provided.

We urge you to download copies of the slide presentation and the cross-tabulations from the Magellan Strategies survey.

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Subject: Save the Date! - ReMerge Graduation

On Thursday, December 5th at 10:00 a.m., ReMerge of Oklahoma County will host its next graduation. Please save the date and join us for this exciting event.

Save the Date!

ReMerge of Oklahoma County

will host their next graduation ceremony
at 10a.m. on December 5th, 2013.
Location TBA

ReMerge is an alternative to prison for mothers and pregnant women who are facing charges for nonviolent crimes. Instead of being sentenced to prison, women enter the program and receive substance abuse treatment, counseling, housing, job training and - most importantly - they reunite with their children and become productive citizens in our community.

Thanks Baxter. Appreciate the invite!

Mr Price, unfortunately I was unable to move my flight to Asheville, NC on Thursday, but would love to come back at some later date and present our findings to the Coalition. My time in other states developing model legislation and conducting state assessments is at the core of what I do in this new position. Please keep me informed on where Oklahoma is heading on parental choice. It IS for the kids!

Subject: Oct. 3 School Choice Coalition

This is a reminder, on behalf of School Choice Coalition Chairman Bill Price, that our next meeting is this week on Thursday October 3 at OCPA at noon. Please check your calendars and, if you plan to attend, please RSVP to Baxter Lewallen at baxter@ocpathink.org so we'll know how many lunches to order. Hope to see you then!

Next week hundreds of Oklahomans will get a chance to hear from two men who understand leadership very well, and you can too. OCPA is giving away two tickets to this year's Four Star Leadership Banquet. To win, simply share with us on either Facebook or Twitter what you think leadership is. To enter, use the hashtag #Leadershipls on Facebook or Twitter. In a concise tweet or a few sentences on Facebook, tell us how you define leadership.

For example: #Leadershipls being able to identify both big and small successes from your team and giving credit where credit is due.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently struck down a part of the federal Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) that made it illegal for the federal government to treat marriage solely as the union of one man and one woman - legally referred to as Part 3 of DOMA. The Court's ruling, however, left firmly in place Part 2 of DOMA which says that the states are the final arbiter of how marriage is treated. The ruling did not implement so-called same-sex marriage (SSM) in 35 states where it is banned by statute or constitutional provision.

Despite the narrow ruling from the Supreme Court, President Obama is determined to undermine these 35 states through the use of federal executive power. President Obama bluntly stated that "It's my personal belief - but I'm speaking now as a president as opposed to as a lawyer - that if you've married in Massachusetts and you move someplace else, you're still married, and that under federal law you should be able to obtain the benefits of any lawfully married couple."

Whatever one thinks of the current partial-government shutdown, conservatives in Washington should be applauded for trying to protect Americans from Obamacare. As Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal put it, "Obamacare is bad for the country. We would like to see it repealed and replaced, not to score political points, but to save our nation's health care from higher costs and lesser care. We appreciate all the Republicans in Washington fighting to do just that." Gov. Jindal is chairman of the Republican Governors Association, which has declined to denounce the shutdown.

The current shutdown serves as one more reminder that Oklahoma House Speaker T. W. Shannon was wise to try to plan for scenarios in which state agencies lose federal funding. Unfortunately, Speaker Shannon's efforts were not successful. Now our state government is put in the position of having to react, as journalist Patrick McGuigan points out, "rather than to act after forethought and preparation."

"There's a tradition in education," former New York City schools chancellor Frank Macchiarola once observed, "that if you spend a dollar and it doesn't work, you should spend two dollars; and not only that, you should give those two dollars to the same person who couldn't do the job with only one."

That tradition is alive and well in Oklahoma. Earlier this year the Tulsa World reported that national education activist Jonah Edelman, founder and chief executive officer of Stand for Children, was in Tulsa to announce that his organization is launching an affiliate in Oklahoma. "If Oklahoma wants to get results for students, it needs to fund the reforms it has already passed," Edelman said. One example he cited was a recent reform of the Reading Sufficiency Act.

Oklahoma has taken center stage in the battle against Obamacare. Attorney General Scott Pruitt is challenging the Internal Revenue Service's implementation of the law. Hobby Lobby is challenging the law's anti-conscience mandate. And Gov. Mary Fallin and state lawmakers, by refusing to expand Medicaid, are vetoing billions of dollars in future federal spending while also protecting Oklahoma taxpayers from billions of dollars in future state spending. And while various Oklahomans on the Left and in the crony capitalist/health-care-provider complex favor this additional government spending (no surprise there -- they have supported Obamacare from the beginning), conservatives must insist that this is no time for Oklahoma's political leaders to "go wobbly," as Margaret Thatcher would say, in the fight against Obamacare.

On June 5, Oklahoma's Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) announced "a comprehensive state-employee compensation study to determine appropriate compensation levels for an estimated 33,000 state employees." According to a press release, the study will be conducted "with the assistance of national consultants and a working group comprised of officials from the governor's office, Legislature, state agencies, and Oklahoma Public Employees Association." Key components of the study are as follows:

- Development of a statewide employee-compensation philosophy.
- An extensive data-driven review of current compensation levels.
- A comparison of current compensation levels to other public and private-sector market levels.
- Recommendations for appropriate pay and benefits packages.

I recently lauded Dr. Bill R. Path, president of the Oklahoma State University Institute of Technology, for his forthright observations on the state of higher education.

Now he's out with an excellent new Huffington Post piece which confirms my suspicion that indeed he was absent the day they covered "things college presidents aren't supposed to say out loud." In "Expecting More from Higher Education," Dr. Path writes:

Many claim the higher education systems in the U.S. today are broken - producing far too many graduates who cannot compete in the new job market. Consider the following statistics: about 1.5 million or 53.6 percent of bachelor's degree-holders under the age of 25 last year were either jobless or underemployed. And of those who were actually employed, about 48 percent were in jobs that required less than a four-year college education, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Expect results

I recently lauded Dr. Bill R. Path, president of the Oklahoma State University Institute of Technology, for his forthright observations on the state of higher education.

Now he's out with an excellent new Huffington Post piece which confirms my suspicion that indeed he was absent the day they covered "things college presidents aren't supposed to say out loud." In "Expecting More from Higher Education," Dr. Path writes:

Many claim the higher education systems in the U.S. today are broken - producing far too many graduates who cannot compete in the new job market. Consider the following statistics: about 1.5 million or 53.6 percent of bachelor's degree-holders under the age of 25 last year were either jobless or underemployed. And of those who were actually employed, about 48 percent were in jobs that required less than a four-year college education, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Family

Writing in the Spring 2012 issue of the indispensable public-policy journal The Family in America, Bryce J. Christensen and Robert W. Patterson summarized the findings of a fascinating study by two Oklahoma scholars.

According to a study by two Oklahoma sociologists, children living with married parents are significantly more likely to have private health-care insurance than are their peers whose biological parents are not married.

Loretta Bass of the University of Oklahoma and Nicole Warehime of Oklahoma Baptist University examined data of the Fragile Families and Child Well-being Study, measuring the relationship between family structure and child health outcomes at age 5. The researchers looked at data - collected for children born to 1,186 married mothers and 3,712 unmarried mothers between 1988 and 2000 - to explore the effects of parental marital status on three measures: the child's health insurance type, the child's having a routine medical doctor, and the child's being reported in excellent health.

Trojan Toddler

It seems almost weekly that we hear about more intrusion by federal government agencies, such as the NSA, into the lives of citizens who are supposed to be free. When the government secretly invades the privacy of law-abiding citizens, attempts to intimidate the assembling of organizations like OCPA and ALEC, and uses the IRS to target those who don't agree with President Barack Obama, reflection upon the words of the founding fathers is imperative.

Thomas Jefferson said: "My reading of history convinces me that most bad government results from too much government." Jefferson provided this vision for the proper role of government: "A wise and frugal Government shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell

Former OCPA trustee Dr. Tom Coburn and current OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small have been two of the leading voices in Oklahoma warning against the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. In a column published yesterday in the Tulsa World, they make the argument that policymakers should continue to oppose expanding Medicaid - in any form.

"The lessons of history and the hard numbers are clear: It is not fiscally responsible or wise to expand a strained entitlement program and rely on federal funding that is unlikely," Coburn and Small write. "While it has been tempting for some consultants and lawmakers to try to dress up Medicaid expansion as 'program redesign,' it is simply not in our state's long-term interest to expand Medicaid, whether that's under the guise of additional federal funding or creative program designs. Given the economic facts, any expansion of Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act would be a step in the wrong direction."

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Hi Diane,

We can definitely record at the AG's office. The actual filming with Gen. Pruitt shouldn't take more than 30 minutes. I will probably come early to set up. As you can see from the draft below, each appearance is pretty short. We would like him to say something along the lines of "I fight for federalism because I believe in big ideas." But we welcome feedback from your team...would you like to tweak the sentence or add to it? The idea is that each person communicates one big idea that elevates our state.

As for scheduling, we are trying to have all pieces recorded by August 15th.

Thanks for your help!

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

People sometimes ask my OCPA colleagues and me why we're devoting so much time and energy to the issue of Obamacare. You may recall that Heritage Foundation president Jim DeMint (pictured above at an OCPA dinner this year) recently reminded Oklahoma policymakers how important it is to resist this harmful law. Now Sen. DeMint has penned this letter to President Barack Obama, which I am pleased to reprint here.

Dear Mr. President:

As the temporary slowdown in government operations enters its second week, I write to explain why conservatives have insisted on making the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act the prime source of contention. Speaking for our organization, I can tell you we're in this fight because of the harm the law is inflicting on Americans across the country.

DeMint and Camuccio

People sometimes ask my OCPA colleagues and me why we're devoting so much time and energy to the issue of Obamacare. You may recall that Heritage Foundation president Jim DeMint (pictured above at an OCPA dinner this year) recently reminded Oklahoma policymakers how important it is to resist this harmful law. Now Sen. DeMint has penned this letter to President Barack Obama, which I am pleased to reprint here.

Dear Mr. President:

As the temporary slowdown in government operations enters its second week, I write to explain why conservatives have insisted on making the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act the prime source of contention. Speaking for our organization, I can tell you we're in this fight because of the harm the law is inflicting on Americans across the country.

With Obamacare's Medicaid expansion currently a heavy topic of conversation, the Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs invites you to participate in a private conference call to discuss the findings of a recent statewide survey on the subject.

The project, commissioned by the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America, surveyed 865 likely general election voters across the state of Oklahoma and was conducted May 14-15, 2013. It provides insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. (Click here for a recent OCPA article on the survey.)

This call will be limited to invitees only. All invitees are individuals who either work currently or formerly worked professionally for elected Oklahoma Republican officials. OCPA will be holding similar calls with other groups, as well. The call will be led by David Flaherty of Magellan Strategies, the firm that conducted the survey.

The call will be held: Thursday, Aug 1 / 11:15 am – 12:00 pm

Please let me know if you are interested in participating. We will then email you call-in instructions and a survey packet prior to the call.

All the best,

Dave

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Friends,

Please bring your family and join me for an ice-cream social celebrating the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarship recipients. The scholarship has been in place for three years and that calls for a party! We'll meet at OCPA on July 31, which would have been school-choice-champion Milton Friedman's 101st birthday.

Please RSVP to Jennie Kleese at 405-602-1667 or Jennie@ocpathink.org.

I hope to see you and your family there!

Earlier this month the Associated Press reported ("High school seniors fare no better than in 1970s") that "students preparing to leave high school are faring no better in reading or math than students did four decades ago, the government said in a report Thursday that was certain to renew concerns about U.S. schools."

Shawnee Middle School principal Brent Houston is encouraged by some small improvements in the scores of 9- and 13-year-olds, but acknowledges that they don't last.

Has the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) colluded with some of the left's favorite environmental groups in an effort to skirt state policymakers and pass some of the strictest environmental regulations to date? Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt and 11 of his colleagues have been asking the EPA that question for months. However, they have been continually denied answers despite complying with Freedom of Information Act guidelines.

Pruitt is leading a multistate effort to push back against what he alleges is the EPA's latest encroachment on the Constitution - a legal gimmick known as "sue and settle."

In its long march through the institutions, the left long ago captured the universities and long ago captured the journalism profession. So it pretty much goes without saying the left has captured the journalism schools in the universities - even managing in some states to install nonprofit journalism organizations in the J-schools at state universities.

David Horowitz once observed that the modern university "has become a farm system for the Democratic Party and the radical left." Lefty nonprofits are certainly free to practice journalism, but why should the state's taxpayers be forced to participate?

"One of America's most durable myths," George Leef writes over at Forbes, "is that the more people who graduate from college, the more the economy will grow."

For many years, politicians and leaders of the higher education establishment have advanced that notion. In his first major speech as president, for example, Barack Obama said that if we want a strong economy, we need to lead the world in the percentage of the population that has earned a college degree. And in a recent op-ed in The Wall Street Journal, two college presidents (Robert Gates of William and Mary and David Boren of the University of Oklahoma) argued that decreasing state spending on higher education means that we are "sacrificing our young people's futures - and our future economic growth ..."

Subject: Greetings from the Attorney General's Office

Greetings all. I hope this message finds you doing well. I'm writing to let you know about a couple of items.

First, as you can tell by this e-mail message, I am now with the AG's office. This week I began my new job as director of public affairs at the attorney general's office. The governor and her staff were gracious in wishing me well in this new endeavor; meanwhile, the AG and his staff have been great in welcoming me to the team. In addition to press-related duties, I'll be working on community relations, public affairs outreach and strategic communications strategy. I'm looking forward to this new opportunity.

Hopefully, we can find ways for OCPA and the AG's office to work together. Which brings me to the next item of business. I wanted to bring to your attention a great piece from Fred Barnes in The Weekly Standard, about the efforts of AG Pruitt and other Republican AG's to challenge the Obama administration agenda. You can find the article here: http://www.weeklystandard.com/articles/last-redoubt\_739263.html?page=1

Here's a clip:

Practically no one has noticed the emergence of the Republican AGs. Yet they're a scourge of President Obama. They drive the Environmental Protection Agency crazy. They've beaten the best lawyers at the Justice Department numerous times. "What I really do for fun is I go into the office [and] I sue the Obama administration," Texas attorney general Greg Abbott said last year. He's filed 30 lawsuits against the administration, 17 against EPA alone—with considerable success.

The AGs, who often attack the administration in packs, have done more than Republicans in Congress, statehouses, or anywhere else to block, cripple, undermine, or weaken Obama's initiatives. They failed to stop Obamacare in the Supreme Court, but won limits on Medicaid and neutralized the use of the commerce clause to expand the reach of the federal government. And there's one case left. AG Scott Pruitt of Oklahoma has sued to prevent Obama-run health insurance exchanges from handing out subsidies. If he wins—and he has a credible case—the implementation of Obamacare will come to a halt, at least temporarily. ...

Scott Pruitt, 45, was a state senator and co-owner of the Oklahoma RedHawks Triple-A baseball team before his election as AG. He took the lead in suing the federal government over the Dodd-Frank financial reform bill on the ground that it jeopardizes state pension funds. Ten AGs have joined the suit. He and Abbott succeeded in voiding a dubious EPA rule that claimed air pollution from Texas and Oklahoma was harming Granite City, Illinois.

Pruitt never refers to the Affordable Care Act as Obamacare because he doesn't want to "politicize" an issue that, for him, is about the rule of law and the federal government's exceeding its authority. But he takes a sharply critical view of Obama. "He's kept his promise that Washington knows best," Pruitt says. "He's kept his promise that if Congress doesn't [act], he can't wait. The only thing wrong with that is it's not consistent with our Constitution and our rule of law. He can't do that. Who else but a state attorney general is in a position to respond? Who else is there but a state AG to stand up and say no?" Pruitt likes his job. He is the chairman of the Republican Attorneys General Association.

It's a great story and one I thought OCPA would possibly want to share via blog, social media or other avenues of communication.

Thanks for the consideration and please let me know if I can be of assistance to you.

Thanks,
AC

Oklahoma's transparency trend

By Michael Carnuccio

Several years ago Sen. Tom Coburn teamed up with then-Sen. Barack Obama to pass a law creating a searchable Internet database to track the recipients of all federal funds.

Shortly thereafter, Coburn teamed up with my colleague Brandon Dutcher to pen an op-ed recommending that Oklahoma's state government do the same thing.

The idea proved to be popular - a bill passed unanimously, as I recall - and shortly thereafter Oklahoma's "Open Books" website was born. The idea soon spread to other states.

As much as I salute government transparency efforts, I think it's even better when the private sector embraces transparency. And here too, Oklahomans appear to be starting a trend.

The signs are all around us that "the revolution is coming quickly" to higher education. Thankfully, there are some leaders in Oklahoma's higher education system who understand the times. For example, Bill R. Path, president of the Oklahoma State University Institute of Technology, believes that "with unemployment rates among college graduates rising, the well-regarded reputation of higher education in the United States teeters precariously between relevance and irrelevance."

Dacia,

Thought this might be a good story for OCPA to share on Twitter and Facebook. It's about the work of AG Pruitt and other Republican AGs to push back against the Obama administration agenda.

Here is the link to the story and a couple of highlights http://www.weeklystandard.com/articles/last-redoubt\_739263.html?page=1:

When the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarships for Students with Disabilities program was enacted in 2010, state Rep. Kris Steele correctly noted that the program would honor the memory of Lindsey Nicole Henry and "let it be known for generations to come that she, and her parents, are helping to improve the lives of special-needs children across the state."

It's happening, and now is the time "to focus on the law's impressive success".

From 2004 through 2009, Oklahoma's personal income tax - the amount the state penalizes citizens and job creators for the right to earn a living - was lowered more than 20 percent. Over this period of time, the top marginal rate dropped, in a series of four reductions, from 7.00 percent to 5.50 percent.

With each drop in the rate, many individuals and organizations in favor of higher government spending worked against the income tax cuts. They claimed income tax cuts would result in less revenue for state government programs. Even the Oklahoma Tax Commission estimated, with each new income tax cut, that the state would see a loss in revenue.

Next week hundreds of Oklahomans will get a chance to hear from two men who understand leadership very well, and you can too. OCPA is giving away two tickets to this year's Four Star Leadership Banquet. To win, simply share with us on either Facebook or Twitter what you think leadership is. To enter, use the hashtag #Leadershipls on Facebook or Twitter. In a concise tweet or a few sentences on Facebook, tell us how you define leadership.

For example: #Leadershipls being able to identify both big and small successes from your team and giving credit where credit is due.

Friends,

Please bring your family and join me for an ice-cream social celebrating the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarship recipients. The scholarship has been in place for three years and that calls for a party! We'll meet at OCPA on July 31, which would have been school-choice-champion Milton Friedman's 101st birthday.

Please RSVP to Jennie Kleese at 405-602-1667 or Jennie@ocpathink.org.

I hope to see you and your family there!

Friends,

I would like to invite you to join me for a very special evening on Friday, July 19 at 6:30 p.m. on the campus of Oklahoma Christian University, where we will feature presentations from Four Star Leadership students and a keynote speech from my friend Karl Rove. I am confident Mr. Rove will provide a memorable experience for our students and guests, but I am also certain that you would personally be inspired and uplifted by spending time with these young people.

Out of concern for the future of our nation and a desire to build up young leaders to help direct her steps, my friends and I created the Four Star Leadership program, a world-class summer leadership program that allows 50 of the top high school students in the US to have a face-to-face experience with national and international leaders. I am excited that OCPA is partnering with me to help conduct the program, and I would like to invite you to see just how special it is.

This year's class contains students representing 30 different states as well as 2 foreign countries and is truly a once in a lifetime experience for these young people as they interact with their peers from around the country and around the world. During the week, the students learn from outstanding leadership and policy experts while also being challenged through hands-on learning experiences designed to help sharpen their leadership and communication skills, all while competing for college scholarships. I hope you can join Karl Rove, 50 of America's best and brightest young leaders, and me for this unique event.

Please see the information below for details or contact OCPA with any questions you may have.

Workplace freedom

By Michael Carnuccio

I'm just returning from Albuquerque, N.M., where I had the privilege of speaking to lawmakers, business leaders and citizen activists about the benefits of becoming a right-to-work state. While not believing the reform is politically viable at the moment, Oklahoma's border state is looking for big, bold visions to transform its economic competitiveness in the region.

They are watching our better-than-average growth and interested in learning what the experience has been like, which gives us an opportunity to reflect on what bold leadership has done for our state.

People and businesses vote with their feet. For the seven years before becoming a right-to-work state, Oklahoma's net migration was a loss exceeding 10,000 households and more than $1 billion in income to other states.

Workplace freedom

By Michael Carnuccio

I'm just returning from Albuquerque, N.M., where I had the privilege of speaking to lawmakers, business leaders and citizen activists about the benefits of becoming a right-to-work state. While not believing the reform is politically viable at the moment, Oklahoma's border state is looking for big, bold visions to transform its economic competitiveness in the region.

They are watching our better-than-average growth and interested in learning what the experience has been like, which gives us an opportunity to reflect on what bold leadership has done for our state.

People and businesses vote with their feet. For the seven years before becoming a right-to-work state, Oklahoma's net migration was a loss exceeding 10,000 households and more than $1 billion in income to other states.

Forward the cause:

Recent debates over a government shutdown and the debt ceiling have overshadowed the drama surrounding the farm bill. But the farm bill will eventually be back on the table, and when it is, the time for fresh ideas will have arrived.

In 2012, the USDA paid out $14.9 billion in farm subsidies and Oklahoma receiving $382 million. The latest iteration of the farm bill is moving in a more favorable direction of "crop insurance" rather than direct subsidies, although some level of subsidies would remain for some commodities. Unfortunately, this type of insurance is unlike any insurance you and I pay for our car or house. The insurance payments are heavily subsidized and benefits often flow to large insurance companies.

Forward the cause:

The U.S. Supreme Court recently struck down a part of the federal Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) that made it illegal for the federal government to treat marriage solely as the union of one man and one woman - legally referred to as Part 3 of DOMA. The Court's ruling, however, left firmly in place Part 2 of DOMA which says that the states are the final arbiter of how marriage is treated. The ruling did not implement so-called same-sex marriage (SSM) in 35 states where it is banned by statute or constitutional provision.

Despite the narrow ruling from the Supreme Court, President Obama is determined to undermine these 35 states through the use of federal executive power. President Obama bluntly stated that "It's my personal belief - but I'm speaking now as a president as opposed to as a lawyer - that if you've married in Massachusetts and you move someplace else, you're still married, and that under federal law you should be able to obtain the benefits of any lawfully married couple."

Forward the cause:

Obamacare is coming, and one predicted result has been job cuts by employers who can no longer afford to employ as many workers as before. The Wall Street Journal's Stephen Moore recently wondered if that prediction was true, so he went to a man who should know: Oklahoma's own Bob Funk, a founder and still honcho at Express Employment Services, one of the nation's largest employment firms.

"Employers are living in a state of fear," Mr. Funk said flatly, citing Obamacare, regulations, and accounting requirements flowing out of Washington. He said his business is booming precisely because more employers are shifting from full-time workers who would have to be covered with more expensive health insurance under Obamacare to part-timers provided by Express. Since Obamacare has set a 50-employee threshold for coverage, lots of employers are stopping at 49 full-time workers and asking companies like Express to provide the rest of their workforce.

The Oklahoma Department of Human Services (DHS) has taken advocacy to a whole new level.

As is the case in a number of federal stimulus programs, a temporary bump in food stamp payments by the federal government is set to end. The number of food stamp recipients is at record highs, despite low unemployment in Oklahoma and the fact the economy has significantly recovered, according to state officials. But DHS has embraced the position of the Obama administration regarding the end of this temporary bump, and is driving media coverage to shine the light on the matter, apparently in hopes of rallying public support.

The Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs invites you to a special briefing & panel discussion

Introducing

The Family Prosperity Index

As the family unit is weakened, the welfare state grows and economic growth is hindered. The Family Prosperity Index will provide policymakers, activists, and media with an objective view of the social and economic status of America's families. The index will comparatively rank states across six important issue areas-economic, demographic, family status, dependency, morality, and policy.

Briefing & Panel Discussion*

9:45 a.m. - Thursday, September 26, 2013

Meeting Room 8, Cox Convention Center

Wendy Warcholik & J. Scott Moody

*Co-Creators of the Tax Foundation's popular
"State Business Tax Climate Index"*

Hey Karma,

Melissa fwd me an email about the school choice reception and dinner...but it is very vague. Can I get the details on when and where and what time this event is so that I can find out if General Pruitt can attend.

Thank you for your help!

In a press conference last week at the state Capitol, Governor Mary Fallin announced that the Obama Administration has granted Oklahoma a one-year extension for the Insure Oklahoma program.

While the most important issues in health care continue to be the widespread absence (with notable exceptions) of medical price transparency and inappropriate government intrusion into the healthcare sector, Governor Mary Fallin should be commended for obtaining permission from the Obama Administration to continue the Insure Oklahoma program for at least a year - without ceding ground on her pledge to refuse Obamacare's Medicaid expansion dollars.-

Special Session, indeed

By Michael Carnuccio

This week the Oklahoma Legislature reconvened for a special session to tackle lawsuit reform. A keystone piece of legislation in 2009, the Comprehensive Lawsuit Reform Act was thrown out by the state Supreme Court in June. Without this special session and immediate passage of the proposed new bills, Oklahoma's long and hard-earned pro-business reputation will be damaged.

The Comprehensive Lawsuit Reform Act managed money damages awards, enacted greater burdens on the plaintiffs in filing tort claims, and increased production-side liability protections. Key sections of the 2009 law brought clarity to the liability of producers, manufacturers, and even schools. When the law was struck down all of these protections went away, which may make anyone on the production side weary of doing business in Oklahoma.

When it comes to numbers, Oklahoma's lottery proponents have been wrong time and time again, so I'm sure this is one set of numbers they are glad to see: the lottery's favorability numbers are rising, according to SoonerPoll.com.

It's not hard to see why the lottery is popular. It's an enterprise with a hefty marketing budget and constant earned media, most of it favorable and often tinged with excitement.

When it comes to numbers, Oklahoma's lottery proponents have been wrong time and time again, so I'm sure this is one set of numbers they are glad to see: the lottery's favorability numbers are rising, according to SoonerPoll.com.

It's not hard to see why the lottery is popular. It's an enterprise with a hefty marketing budget and constant earned media, most of it favorable and often tinged with excitement.

"To challenge an Oklahoma law providing scholarships to children with special needs, plaintiffs in a new lawsuit are embracing government hubris and paternalism at its worst," The Oklahoman noted yesterday in an excellent editorial.

Their lawsuit's core argument is this: Government officials know better how to care for most children than their parents do.

The lawsuit, filed by 12 individuals in their capacity as private citizens (although six are current or former school administrators), seeks to have the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarships law declared unconstitutional. The law, in effect since 2010, allows the use of state funds (already designated for the individual education of children with special needs) to be used to pay tuition at a private school.

Brian,

I had a few logistical questions about the upcoming OCPA energy conference.

Who will introduce the AG?

Who will moderate the Q&A session? Will there be a mic in the audience for Q&A?

Any estimate on how large the audience will be? What is the make-up of the audience (energy execs, think-tank professionals, etc)?

Appreciate the assistance in advance.

Thanks,
AC

ALEC

A good portion of the OCPA staff is in Chicago this week for the 40th annual meeting of the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC), a nonprofit organization comprised of state lawmakers and private-sector leaders. ALEC is devoted to the principles of free markets, limited government, and federalism, which is why several OCPA staffers are ALEC members. (Some, like my colleague Jonathan Small, actually hold key leadership positions in the organization.) Though some Oklahoma journalists think of ALEC as "controversial," the organization's positions are essentially in line with majority opinion in Oklahoma. So it makes sense that Gov. Mary Fallin, a former ALEC Legislator of the Year, is the featured lunch speaker today.

Surgery Center of Oklahoma

"The Surgery Center of Oklahoma is an ambulatory surgical center in Oklahoma City owned by its roughly 40 surgeons and anesthesiologists," Tina Rosenberg wrote in a New York Times commentary last week. "What makes it different from every other such facility in America is this: If you need an anterior cruciate ligament reconstruction, you will know beforehand - because it's on their Web site - that it costs $6,990 if you self-pay in advance. If you need a tonsillectomy, that's $3,600. Repair of a simple closed nasal fracture: $1,900. These prices are all-inclusive.

In a National Bureau of Economic Research working paper released in September, economists Shelly Lundberg and Robert A. Pollak find that "marriage is the commitment mechanism that supports high levels of investment in children and is hence more valuable for parents adopting a high-investment strategy for their children."

OCPA research fellow Wendy Warcholik agrees. Writing this week in The Edmond Sun, Dr. Warcholik says "everyone should want parents to have a 'high-investment strategy' for their children. After all, children who are emotionally well-adjusted, smart, compassionate, and ambitious possess some of the most important traits we want to see in our future entrepreneurs, workers, and leaders."

By now most Americans have heard of the epic disasters associated with the October 1 rollout of the online health care exchanges associated with Obamacare. But let's review briefly: the administration, through the Department of Health and Human Services, had three years to design and prepare a system that would supposedly match shoppers with a myriad of health insurance plans. That's about 600 workdays (minus weekends and lots of federal holidays) so one would expect a system that would not crash into rubble.

"It wasn't designed well, it wasn't implemented well, and it looks like nobody tested it," one computer expert told a news agency. Indeed. Meanwhile, HHS Secretary Kathleen Sibelius dashed around rearranging the deck chairs on the Titanic, assuring us things would be OK soon.

By Michael Carnuccio

If you want to alienate a group of productive, native Oklahomans who invest in their state and increase job opportunities for their fellow citizens, tell them you might raise their taxes.

Oklahoma's energy producers are as valuable as the resources they extract from the ground. But employers can pick up and leave, taking jobs with them. The recently ended fiscal year was profitable for Oklahoma government. According to the state treasurer's office, the state collected $11.3 billion during the period, setting a record for total tax receipts.

Hey Karma,

Looks like we are not currently working on anything related to federalism type litigation dealing with agricultural or farming issues.

Hope that helps. If you have any other questions let me know.

With the Obamacare Medicaid expansion currently a hot topic of conversation, the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America has commissioned broad surveys in a number of states to gauge voter opinion on the subject, including one in Oklahoma this past May. That survey polled 865 likely general election voters and had a margin of error at +/- 3.33 percent.

The resulting data provide insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the expansion of Medicaid as allowed in the federal Obamacare law. When considering these results, it is worth noting that Oklahoma has seen every county vote for the Republican nominee in each of the past three presidential election cycles. Also, every statewide elected office is now held by a Republican, and both houses of the state Legislature feature super-majority Republican control.

Gov. Mary Fallin announced this week that Oklahoma's special legislative session on lawsuit reform will begin on September 3. One of the first voices to call for a special session was OCPA distinguished fellow Andrew Spiropoulos, who wrote on June 13:

No fair person can deny that our current court is not a court at all, but an unaccountable political body that, without sufficient legal justification, routinely imposes its political will on the elected branches of government and the people. The latest exercise of partisan overreaching is the court's evisceration of the comprehensive lawsuit reform legislation enacted in 2009 after years of debate and multiple elections.

Hobby Lobby

"It is one thing to believe in the abstract idea of religious liberty," OCPA distinguished fellow Andrew Spiropoulos writes in the Oklahoma Gazette ("Hobby Lobby deserves protection"). "It is quite another to protect the particular practices of those who adhere to a faith you dislike. Too many of us say we are friends of freedom, but believe in freedom only for our friends.

True friends of freedom understand why the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 10th Circuit recently ruled in favor of the Green family, owners of the Oklahoma City-based Hobby Lobby and Mardel stores, in their legal challenge to the contraception mandates of President Obama's health care plan.

Oklahoma Attorney General Wins First Battle in Challenge to Implementation of Obamacare

OKLAHOMA CITY – Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt Monday won the state’s first challenge against the Affordable Care Act after a federal judge denied the government’s motion to dismiss the case.

Judge Ronald White issued the decision Monday afternoon in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Oklahoma in Muskogee.

“The court rejected the federal government’s argument that Oklahoma lacked standing to challenge the law, allowing us to proceed with this pivotal case,” General Pruitt said. “We’re optimistic the court will recognize what states have known for months that the IRS disregarded the law by making the large employer mandate effective in Oklahoma or in any of the 33 other states without a state health care exchange.”

Oklahoma challenged implementation of the Affordable Care Act after the IRS finalized a rule that would allow the federal government to punish “large employers,” including local government, with millions of dollars in tax penalties in states without state health care exchanges, which is not allowed under the health care law.

“Congress provided a choice for Oklahoma and other states in implementation of the health care law, and the IRS is attempting to take that away by rule,” General Pruitt said. “The administration miscalculated how many states would support this law, so now they’re using the IRS to push through provisions that Congress did not pass.”

Oklahoma's original lawsuit was filed in January 2011. In September, following the U.S. Supreme Court decision, General Pruitt filed an amended complaint to raise issues related to the law's implementation.

By Michael Carnuccio

More than 20 other states have rejected Medicaid expansion, thereby preventing half a trillion dollars in deficit spending that our kids and grandkids would have had to pay.

Keep in mind, what began as a $1 billion national entitlement in 1966 is projected to hit $900 billion by 2020. In terms of future costs, Matt Salo, the executive director of the National Association of Medicaid Directors, noted in testimony: "More people show up than you think will show up, and the people that show up are sicker than you expected." Even if the debt-ridden federal government keeps its commitment to fund expansion at 90 percent, Oklahoma's 10-percent share is of an unknown number. That blank check is uncontrollable and unpredictable, no matter what expansionists say.

Time to eject

By Michael Carnuccio

In 2006, Barack Obama, then a junior senator from Illinois, said "Raising America's debt limit is a sign of leadership failure." Of course, since becoming the CEO of the United States, he has done so many times.

So we narrowly avoided default, again. The significance of this conversation - and just how close we are continuing to get to the brink - should have us removing every current officeholder in our nation's Capitol. A mountainous economic disaster is being administered by people who are unqualified and incapable of leadership. They are too occupied with a popularity crisis.

Someone should tell them the prettiest girl on the Titanic still died.

Time to eject

By Michael Carnuccio

In 2006, Barack Obama, then a junior senator from Illinois, said "Raising America's debt limit is a sign of leadership failure." Of course, since becoming the CEO of the United States, he has done so many times.

So we narrowly avoided default, again. The significance of this conversation - and just how close we are continuing to get to the brink - should have us removing every current officeholder in our nation's Capitol. A mountainous economic disaster is being administered by people who are unqualified and incapable of leadership. They are too occupied with a popularity crisis.

Someone should tell them the prettiest girl on the Titanic still died.

Jay P. Greene is one of America's leading experts on education policy. In an article published on the website of Education Next, a journal published by the Hoover Institution at Stanford University, Dr. Greene explains how to fix traditional public schools. "We can fix schools," he writes, "by going around them."

We can expand access to other educational options, including charter schools, voucher schools, tax-credit schools, ESAs, digital schooling, home-schooling, and hybrid schools. We can also expand access to enriching non-school activities, like museums, theaters, historical sites, summer camps, and after-school programs. Reformers should concentrate their energy on all of these non-traditional-school efforts and stop trying so hard to fix traditional public schools.

Friends,

I would like to invite you to join me for a very special evening on Friday, July 19 at 6:30 p.m. on the campus of Oklahoma Christian University, where we will feature presentations from Four Star Leadership students and a keynote speech from my friend Karl Rove. I am confident Mr. Rove will provide a memorable experience for our students and guests, but I am also certain that you would personally be inspired and uplifted by spending time with these young people.

Out of concern for the future of our nation and a desire to build up young leaders to help direct her steps, my friends and I created the Four Star Leadership program, a world-class summer leadership program that allows 50 of the top high school students in the US to have a face-to-face experience with national and international leaders. I am excited that OCPA is partnering with me to help conduct the program, and I would like to invite you to see just how special it is.

This year's class contains students representing 30 different states as well as 2 foreign countries and is truly a once in a lifetime experience for these young people as they interact with their peers from around the country and around the world. During the week, the students learn from outstanding leadership and policy experts while also being challenged through hands-on learning experiences designed to help sharpen their leadership and communication skills, all while competing for college scholarships. I hope you can join Karl Rove, 50 of America's best and brightest young leaders, and me for this unique event.

Please see the information below for details or contact OCPA with any questions you may have.

Friends,

I would like to invite you to join me for a very special evening on Friday, July 19 at 6:30 p.m. on the campus of Oklahoma Christian University, where we will feature presentations from Four Star Leadership students and a keynote speech from my friend Karl Rove. I am confident Mr. Rove will provide a memorable experience for our students and guests, but I am also certain that you would personally be inspired and uplifted by spending time with these young people.

Out of concern for the future of our nation and a desire to build up young leaders to help direct her steps, my friends and I created the Four Star Leadership program, a world-class summer leadership program that allows 50 of the top high school students in the US to have a face-to-face experience with national and international leaders. I am excited that OCPA is partnering with me to help conduct the program, and I would like to invite you to see just how special it is.

This year's class contains students representing 30 different states as well as 2 foreign countries and is truly a once in a lifetime experience for these young people as they interact with their peers from around the country and around the world. During the week, the students learn from outstanding leadership and policy experts while also being challenged through hands-on learning experiences designed to help sharpen their leadership and communication skills, all while competing for college scholarships. I hope you can join Karl Rove, 50 of America's best and brightest young leaders, and me for this unique event.

Please see the information below for details or contact OCPA with any questions you may have.

Former U.S. Sen. Jim DeMint, the new president of the Heritage Foundation, was recently in Oklahoma City to give the keynote address at OCPA's annual Citizenship Award Dinner. I had an opportunity to speak with him beforehand, and in this four-minute video we discuss how competitive federalism is fueling transformative policy changes across the country; why it's important for Oklahoma, which is center stage in the fight against Obamacare, to continue to fight the Medicaid expansion; and why intact married families are crucial for slowing the growth of the welfare state.

Do you remember what you were doing on April 6 of this year?

I think many of us would be hard-pressed to remember. It was a Saturday. In fact, Oklahoma City actually set a record high for the day at 74 degrees. Spring was in the air, and whether you knew it or not, it was a great day to breathe a sigh of relief.

Proponents of Obamacare's Medicaid expansion, whether via premium assistance or via traditional Medicaid, are using desperate and dishonest arguments to try to persuade Oklahoma policymakers and citizens to expand Medicaid.

One of the chief falsehoods is that "if Oklahoma doesn't act, our tax dollars will be sent to other states." This argument demonstrates a complete lack of understanding of the federal/state welfare program known as Medicaid.

Recently, OCPA released a new memo (a short read, with visuals) detailing the success of Oklahoma's income tax cuts since 2005.

Couple this with Oklahoma's data from the "How Money Walks" project (see blog for data). Then the correlation becomes very strong, indeed: as income tax cuts have helped propel Oklahoma's private-sector economy, overall state tax revenues have risen to record highs.

On June 5, Oklahoma's Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) announced "a comprehensive state-employee compensation study to determine appropriate compensation levels for an estimated 33,000 state employees." According to a press release, the study will be conducted "with the assistance of national consultants and a working group comprised of officials from the governor's office, Legislature, state agencies, and Oklahoma Public Employees Association." Key components of the study are as follows:

- Development of a statewide employee-compensation philosophy.
- An extensive data-driven review of current compensation levels.
- A comparison of current compensation levels to other public and private-sector market levels.
- Recommendations for appropriate pay and benefits packages.

Thank you again for participating in the OCPA conference call last week to discuss the recent Oklahoma voter survey on the topic of the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. The call was one of six we held during the week with different groups.

Please let me know if we can provide follow-up info related to the survey or on the subject of Medicaid expansion. OCPA will continue to work to drive dialogue about the negative impacts adopting Medicaid expansion would have on Oklahoma. On that note, here are some recent items:

“Leavitt report is still Obamacare” (click to read on NewsOk.com)

Heritage Foundation, “Deflating hospitals’ arguments for Obamacare Medicaid expansion” (click to read)

Heritage Foundation, “Arkansas plan for Medicaid still a bad idea” (click to read)

Free Market Friday: Priorities

By Michael Carnuccio

We spend a good amount of time in political conversations about the right direction for our community, state and nation. Most seem to agree that socialism is not a desired pathway for the American dream.

Functional democracies require a different corridor. Rightly so; government owning and administering the means of production and distribution of goods has never worked out well for the polity.

Likewise, we spend a lot of time and energy in society exploring for the best ways to provide a quality education. Ironically, the majority of those endeavors involve trimming the edges of socialism. Whether the state grades our schools or not, we still have socialism. Whether we adopt Common Core standards or not, it's still socialism - and that isn't working out well for our children.

"A relieved Gov. Mary Fallin recently announced that the Obama administration has agreed to wait a year before euthanizing the Insure Oklahoma health insurance program," OCPA distinguished fellow Andrew Spiropoulos writes in his latest Journal Record column.

So why have the feds given us a reprieve? The administration perceives an opportunity to use our state's leaders' support of Insure Oklahoma as a wedge to break Oklahoma's resistance to the expansion of Medicaid. ...What's the president's plan? It's very clever. He will offer to allow us to take all or part of the Medicaid expansion money and use it to expand Insure Oklahoma. The pitch is that we can keep our plan and get the money, too. However, here's the truth - if we take the deal, it won't be our plan any longer.

Oklahoma houses more than 25,000 inmates. Only Delaware, Louisiana, Alaska and Texas have higher per-capita incarceration rates. Several commonalities exist for those who are incarcerated: history of family dysfunction, instability, trauma, violence, substance abuse and addiction; socioeconomics, race and ethnicity; mental health issues; and relationships.

According to the 2012 Oklahoma Department of Corrections female offender report, the state incarcerates more women per capita than any other state in the nation. Currently, 121 women per 100,000 population are jailed, compared to the national average of 65. The majority are imprisoned for nonviolent or drug-related offenses.

Farmer Salatin not only lectures about farming techniques that boost profit with lower input, he is also a prolific speaker on the legacy of the family farm. He calls for a shift to the household economy to increase individual and family freedom.

Salatin operates a family store two hours outside of Washington, D.C., where he primarily sells chicken and pork. Customers must come to him as he won't throw a chicken in the mail to you. He is a firm believer in keeping food and the money that buys the food in the local economy. Twenty years ago, most of his customers were back-to-the-earth hippies whereas now the fastest-growing customer segment is the homeschooling family.

"Rumblings are once again underway," writes Collette Caprara of The Heritage Foundation, "indicating movement on President Obama's State of the Union proposal to 'work with states to make high-quality preschool available to every single child in America,' and to drive forward his agenda to create a 'cradle to career' government education system."

I said at the time that President Obama's idea was problematic, and Caprara agrees. She writes:

A new study published by the journal Science found that pre-kindergarten classes that received the highest quality scores in ratings systems used by most of the states [including Oklahoma] were no better in preparing children for school than were classes with lower ratings.

"Economists have long studied migration between the states because migration is the ultimate expression of 'voting with your feet,'" OCPA economists J. Scott Moody and Wendy P. Warcholik write. "In other words, more people moving into a state is a good sign of social and economic progress, whereas more people leaving a state is not a good sign."

Over the last two decades Oklahoma has experienced a healthy net in-migration of people. Disturbingly, though, "despite the influx of people, income has been flowing out of Oklahoma - including during a few years when more people moved in than moved out - suggesting that out-migrants had higher-than-average incomes than in-migrants. Between 1995 and 2009, at least $831,553,000 (not adjusted for inflation) left the state."

Constitutional lawyer Clint Bolick once described our public education system as a "hidebound, bureaucratic, expensive, top-down, one-size-fits-all, command-and-control, inefficient, reform-resistant, administratively bloated, special-interest-manipulated, obsolete, impersonal bricks-and-mortar system that represents the most disastrous failure of central planning west of Communist China and south of the United States Postal Service."

Curiously, some Oklahomans think it's a good idea to give this system more money. But as I argued last week in The Edmond Sun, a better idea is to give parents vouchers, tax credits, and Arizona-style education savings accounts. After all, private-school choice improves student performance in public schools.

Will Kim Ki-hoon stand up?

By Michael Carnuccio

The Wall Street Journal reported that Kim Ki-hoon, a rock-star, 20-year veteran teacher in South Korea, earns $4 million a year teaching in the country's private, after-school tutoring academies. He is paid according to the demand for his skills, unlike most teachers across the globe.

Don't forget, South Korean students rank among the best in the world.

As education economist Andrew Coulsen points out, merit pay may not be as easy a solution for Oklahoma. "Offering merit pay to teachers does nothing to liberate principals from the shackles of union contracts and state licensing requirements that determine whom they can hire and fire. Neither does it give principals the incentives enjoyed by private sector managers to hire and retain the most effective employees they can find. It also fails to provide the freedoms and incentives to would-be education entrepreneurs that are responsible for the scale-up of top providers and effective new innovations in every other field."

By Michael Carnuccio

The Wall Street Journal reported that Kim Ki-hoon, a rock-star, 20-year veteran teacher in South Korea, earns $4 million a year teaching in the country's private, after-school tutoring academies. He is paid according to the demand for his skills, unlike most teachers across the globe.

Don't forget, South Korean students rank among the best in the world.

Checking the facts

By Michael Carnuccio

With backroom deals and cronyism spreading throughout the upper Midwest like warm butter hits toast, it becomes critical to fact-check the vocal minority lobbying for Obamacare's Medicaid expansion. Make no mistake, when lawmakers return to Oklahoma City to address lawsuit reform in the coming special session, they will be inundated by the lobbying power of the hospital industrial complex.

Proponents continue to say that expanding Medicaid, which requires a state match, is no different than the state accepting funds for transportation, education, defense spending, the current Medicaid program and other federal programs. In recent public meetings, they have even likened Medicaid expansion to being as simple as if the federal government decided to expand a military base.

Unfortunately, it's incorrect to compare creating a new entitlement class to national defense, which requires no state match, and transportation funding, which is vastly funded by direct user taxes in gasoline excise taxes. It's also incorrect to compare it to our current Medicaid program that is stressing the state budget.

"Sixteen high-ranking employees of the Oklahoma Regents for Higher Education already earning more than $100,000 a year received hefty increases thanks to a recently OK'd 5-percent pay hike package," Patrick B. In a recent column ("Calling out the miscreants"), OCPA research fellow Andrew Spiropoulos pronounced it "outrageous" that the regents would give their employees, "including some of the most highly compensated people in state government, 5-percent raises."

It seems almost weekly that we hear about more intrusion by federal government agencies, such as the NSA, into the lives of citizens who are supposed to be free. When the government secretly invades the privacy of law-abiding citizens, attempts to intimidate the assembling of organizations like OCPA and ALEC, and uses the IRS to target those who don't agree with President Barack Obama, reflection upon the words of the founding fathers is imperative.

Thomas Jefferson said: "My reading of history convinces me that most bad government results from too much government." Jefferson provided this vision for the proper role of government: "A wise and frugal Government shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Is the McDonald's McDouble "the cheapest, most nutritious, and bountiful food that has ever existed in human history"? Jayson Lusk won't go that far, but earlier this month on "Fox and Friends" Dr. Lusk did have some words of praise for that beloved salt-and-pepper-seasoned double-cheeseburger topped with onions, pickles, ketchup, and mustard - and for the system that produces it. We urge you to check out this video clip featuring Dr. Lusk, the Samuel Roberts Noble Distinguished Fellow at OCPA, whose new book is The Food Police: A Well-Fed Manifesto About the Politics of Your Plate.

Education

This brief video makes the case that education is not synonymous with schooling.

In an age of customized education, Heritage Foundation scholar Lindsey Burke says, policymakers must ensure that "education funding is free from 19th-century ideas about schooling, in order to empower families to enjoy the benefits of 21st-century delivery models. School choice - whether vouchers, education tax credits, education savings accounts, or virtual schools - ensures that families won't be left behind when the online learning revolution is in full force."

In Case You Missed It

The Oklahoman

IT expert: A data wake-up call for Oklahomans

BY THERESA PAYTON • Published: August 23, 2013

As the federal government prepares to implement the Affordable Care Act, Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt has penned a joint letter with 12 fellow AGs asking U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius important questions about data privacy. These are questions I urge Oklahomans to ask on their own, too.

In order to implement the new law, questions need to be asked: How old are you? Where were you born? Are you a legal resident? Have you served in the military?

Where will the government go to get this information? The Social Security Administration, the Department of Homeland Security and the Veterans Administration, respectively. This data will go into "The Hub," a one-stop destination where your data will be compiled into your profile. Reports are unclear if this will be a database or an interface. Regardless, it will contain all your biographical information extracted from seven federal agencies, and state agencies, and put into one place. It is a hacker's dream: one-stop-shopping for all of the details of your personal life.

Who will be reviewing this data? “Navigators,” as they are referred to in the new legislation. These are employees hired to determine your eligibility by peeking at the most private and sensitive details of your life. Among the questions Pruitt asks in the joint letter: How will navigators be trained? What's the plan to reduce the risk of identity theft? How will the staff be screened to ensure that we have highly skilled people with the utmost integrity looking at our private lives?

As a consumer, this is your wake-up call. Take steps now to protect your data. Be vigilant about what you post on social media. Identity thieves can follow the information you post like digital bread crumbs leading back to your house. Contact lawmakers and let them know you aren't comfortable with a database/interface that creates a one-stop-shop for cyber hackers.

Use one email address only for your health insurance company. Ask your doctor what happens with your data, not medical history per se, but your address, phone number, etc. Be on guard! The unprecedented changes being made to the collection of data may have only one or possibly two lines of defense it can't penetrate — an attorney general asking the right questions and a vigilant consumer.

Competition could be costly

By Michael Carnuccio

There are incentives, and then there are deterrents. When initially put into place, the lower 1-percent tax rate for drilling horizontal wells in Oklahoma was seen by many as an incentive. Spiking the rate up to 7 percent overnight would be seen by many as a deterrent, and disincentive, to drill in the state.

Energy production is a cost-driven business. Increased costs, for any reason, including tax changes, have the ability to change a producer's behavior. If the gross production tax rate to drill a horizontal well in Oklahoma increases from 1 percent to 7 percent, drilling in other states immediately becomes more attractive.

Maine may be a couple thousand miles away, but it's a lot like Oklahoma in one way: some of its counties are richer, while some are poorer, with higher unemployment and lower personal-income levels. Maine Gov. Paul LePage has been an outspoken advocate of lowering and eventually eliminating the state personal income tax to boost economic growth. Now the Maine Heritage Policy Center (that state's counterpart to OCPA) has added a new wrinkle: selectively targeting depressed counties with major tax breaks.

Freedom this way

Maine may be a couple thousand miles away, but it's a lot like Oklahoma in one way: some of its counties are richer, while some are poorer, with higher unemployment and lower personal-income levels. Maine Gov. Paul LePage has been an outspoken advocate of lowering and eventually eliminating the state personal income tax to boost economic growth. Now the Maine Heritage Policy Center (that state's counterpart to OCPA) has added a new wrinkle: selectively targeting depressed counties with major tax breaks.

Hi Ashley,

We couldn't be happier that General Pruitt will be joining us on the 17th for the Energy Summit at the Hyatt Regency in Tulsa.

Below is an outline of the agenda for the Energy Summit. General Pruitt's remarks are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Of course, we hope he can attend as much of the summit as possible, but know he is extremely busy.

Please email me if you have any further questions. Thank you!

Forward the cause:

Former OCPA trustee Dr. Tom Coburn and current OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small have been two of the leading voices in Oklahoma warning against the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. In a column published yesterday in the Tulsa World, they make the argument that policymakers should continue to oppose expanding Medicaid - in any form.

"The lessons of history and the hard numbers are clear: It is not fiscally responsible or wise to expand a strained entitlement program and rely on federal funding that is unlikely," Coburn and Small write. "While it has been tempting for some consultants and lawmakers to try to dress up Medicaid expansion as 'program redesign,' it is simply not in our state's long-term interest to expand Medicaid, whether that's under the guise of additional federal funding or creative program designs. Given the economic facts, any expansion of Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act would be a step in the wrong direction."

By Michael Carnuccio

Have you ever been in a tight spot financially? Ever had something go wrong at the wrong time of the month? For many families, dollars are tight.

However, for most, the American way is to get a second job, clean out the attic on Craigslist or, if the need is not as urgent, tighten the family belt - eating out less and cutting back on the trips, the mall and the movies.

Many Oklahomans know what it is like to discover that an outdated water heater threw in the towel - no hot water to bathe the children. Unfortunately, no Home Depot is close enough - or repair plan easy enough - when you are stationed several thousand miles away serving your country in the middle of the desert.

Unexpected changes for transitioning wounded service members, like a decrease in stability once military pay ceases and disability benefits have yet to begin, also threaten families in our communities who have already sacrificed so much.

How to help

By Michael Carnuccio

Have you ever been in a tight spot financially? Ever had something go wrong at the wrong time of the month? For many families, dollars are tight.

However, for most, the American way is to get a second job, clean out the attic on Craigslist or, if the need is not as urgent, tighten the family belt - eating out less and cutting back on the trips, the mall and the movies.

Many Oklahomans know what it is like to discover that an outdated water heater threw in the towel - no hot water to bathe the children. Unfortunately, no Home Depot is close enough - or repair plan easy enough - when you are stationed several thousand miles away serving your country in the middle of the desert.

Unexpected changes for transitioning wounded service members, like a decrease in stability once military pay ceases and disability benefits have yet to begin, also threaten families in our communities who have already sacrificed so much.

Last week OCPA played host to more than 750 of our closest friends for the annual meeting of the State Policy Network, the service organization for the nation's free-market, state-focused think tank community. One of the highlights of the week was hearing from Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal (pictured above speaking on Sept. 24 in Oklahoma City).

Not only is Gov. Jindal one of the nation's leading champions of school choice, but by refusing to go along with the Obamacare Medicaid expansion he has reduced future federal spending by billions of dollars. Gov. Jindal and Oklahoma's own Sen. Tom Coburn continue to make the case that we should not expand Medicaid.

"The natural progress of things," Thomas Jefferson once observed, "is for liberty to yield and government to gain ground."

Government has certainly gained ground in Oklahoma, where our political leaders continue to spend money (both state tax dollars and borrowed federal dollars) at record levels. Interestingly, though, our neighbor to the north is trying to prove Mr. Jefferson wrong. As Associated Press political writer John Hanna reports:

Important but relatively little-noticed provisions in the tax plan approved by Kansas legislators this year embody conservative Republicans' vision for long-term constraints on government spending.

Last year in Perspective, I pointed out that Horace Mann, generally regarded as the father of America's public school system, once predicted: "Let the Common School ... be worked with the efficiency of which it is susceptible, and nine tenths of the crimes in the penal code would become obsolete; the long catalogue of human ills would be abridged."

Suffice it to say it hasn't quite worked out that way. Not only are the crimes not obsolete, they are now being committed in the schools themselves. ... Scarcely a day goes by that we're not treated to an appalling new headline about some student or teacher behaving badly. It's not a stretch to say that many schools - architecturally soulless buildings replete with metal detectors and police officers, and sometimes even put on lockdown - bear a striking resemblance to prisons.

It is customary, on Labor Day, to recall both the centrality of man to the economy and the inherent worth of work.

Inadvertently, because Labor Day is also a day on which Americans frequently feast at a cookout, cruise on a lake or shop the sales, Labor Day has also recently become an annual occasion of self-pity and class envy.

It's easy to look at the neighbors' new grill, speedboat or full-price wardrobe and indulge the pangs of jealousy. Suddenly, Labor Day becomes less an opportunity to give gratitude for gainful employment than it is an opportunity to bemoan income inequality.

Could the U.S. Supreme Court's recent opinion in California's Proposition 8 case possibly have an effect on Oklahoma's initiative and referendum process?

Law professor Andrew Spiropoulos thinks it could. Spiropoulos, who serves as the Milton Friedman Distinguished Fellow at OCPA, believes that "as one of the majority of states that permit the people to directly enact laws and constitutional amendments, we Oklahomans should be discomfited, if not alarmed, by the consequences of the court's denial of standing to the proponents of Proposition 8."

With Obamacare's Medicaid expansion currently a heavy topic of conversation, the Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs invites you to participate in a private conference call to discuss the findings of a recent statewide survey on the subject.

The project, commissioned by the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America, surveyed 865 likely general election voters across the state of Oklahoma and was conducted May 14-15, 2013. It provides insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. (Click here for a recent OCPA article on the survey.)

This call will be limited to invitees only. All invitees are individuals who either work currently or formerly worked professionally for elected Oklahoma Republican officials. OCPA will be holding similar calls with other groups, as well. The call will be led by David Flaherty of Magellan Strategies, the firm that conducted the survey.

The call will be held: Thursday, Aug 1 / 11:15 am – 12:00 pm

Please let me know if you are interested in participating. We will then email you call-in instructions and a survey packet prior to the call.

All the best,

Dave

Teacher

Today would have been the 101st birthday of Nobel Prize-winning economist Milton Friedman, who died in 2006 at the age of 94.

Friedman once observed that the explosive growth of homeschooling in this country is "evidence of the failure of our current education system. There is no other complex field in our society in which do-it-yourself beats out factory production or market production. Nobody makes his or her own car. But it still is the case that parents can perform the job of educating their children, in many cases better than our present education system."

It's not only doctors and lawyers who are joining the nation's fastest-growing educational sector. Even some teachers, like Marcie Robbins of Bartlesville, are turning to homeschooling.

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Melissa,

I hope you are doing well. The reason for my call yesterday was to invite AG Pruitt to speak at our October 17 Energy Conference in Tulsa. OCPA is partnering with Energy Advocates, a non-profit energy education organization founded by Mark Stansberry and others, to host another national conference on energy policy. We appreciated AG Pruitt being involved in last year's event, and we sincerely hope he is available to participate again this year. While last year's conference focused on energy and federalism, this year we plan to focus on how energy policy impacts families.

The program will feature panel discussions, an awards luncheon, keynote presentations, and legislative/litigation updates from elected officials and policy makers at both the state and federal level. The panels and presentations are designed to foster dialogue on the most current and critical energy topics. The Impact Panel will focus on the impact of regulation and legislation on producers, refinery capacity/downstream issues and why they matter, property rights, how policy decisions at each stage impact the economics of energy, and what it all means to consumers at the pump and on their utility bills. The Regulatory Panel will focus on the EPA's current regional haze efforts, the adverse impact on energy companies, the science, the economics, and what can be done to move in a more positive direction. The Tax Panel will feature an important discussion on energy taxes and energy tax credits and best free market practices from around the country. The luncheon will feature an awards ceremony honoring outstanding pioneers in the energy industry, including a special award for women in energy.

Our plan would be to have AG Pruitt give a litigation update regarding his efforts on regional haze, etc. He would be a featured speaker rather than a participant on a panel. Please let me know if you have any questions about this project. AG Pruitt may also be interested to know that, while the energy conference will take place during the day on the 17th, we are hosting our annual Liberty Gala that same evening as a separate event. The keynote speaker will be George W. Bush, and Scott would of course be welcome to stay for the banquet if he would like.

Recently, a new acquaintance helpfully offered me a list of "free" events in Oklahoma City and hospitably urged me to unite with her as she attended them.

"Join this young adult group," she urged. "So far, we've gone to a free Thunder game and a free happy hour. This week, we're going to a free Redhawks game."

Later, she texted me to tell me the Myriad Gardens occasionally offers "free" movie nights.

The exchanges were redolent of conversations I used to have with canny classmates in college. My savviest friends could blithely articulate how a shrewd student could eat for "free" every night of the week.

A recent federal court ruling in the Hobby Lobby case "advances the cause of religious freedom in our nation," law professor Andrew Spiropoulos writes in a recent column ("The true meaning of religious liberty").

Spiropoulos, who also serves as the Milton Friedman Distinguished Fellow at OCPA, is hopeful that "this decision signals that the federal courts are willing to enforce the statutory and constitutional limits on federal authority so brazenly flouted by President Obama's health care scheme and its attendant regulations."

Truly reforming education

By Michael Carnuccio

Let's reflect on a public policy battle that has created quite a stir around the country and will most assuredly do so through the pivotal election year that approaches.

First, support for common core standards is misguided. On the surface, the approach to increase student achievement by establishing a higher bar as the floor for common education seems noteworthy. The concept of ensuring that no child in any school district in any state is being educated at a lower level than his peer in another school district of another state seems noble as well.

Unfortunately, this line of thinking misses the point of why the status quo is substandard - the more we have shifted power and authority of education toward the federal government, the worse our education system and product has become. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to understand that since the creation of the federal Department of Education student performance has at best flat-lined while costs have skyrocketed.

Subject: Energy Conference

Melissa,

I hope you are doing well. The reason for my call yesterday was to invite AG Pruitt to speak at our October 17 Energy Conference in Tulsa. OCPA is partnering with Energy Advocates, a non-profit energy education organization founded by Mark Stansberry and others, to host another national conference on energy policy. We appreciated AG Pruitt being involved in last year's event, and we sincerely hope he is available to participate again this year. While last year's conference focused on energy and federalism, this year we plan to focus on how energy policy impacts families.

The program will feature panel discussions, an awards luncheon, keynote presentations, and legislative/litigation updates from elected officials and policy makers at both the state and federal level. The panels and presentations are designed to foster dialogue on the most current and critical energy topics. The Impact Panel will focus on the impact of regulation and legislation on producers, refinery capacity/downstream issues and why they matter, property rights, how policy decisions at each stage impact the economics of energy, and what it all means to consumers at the pump and on their utility bills. The Regulatory Panel will focus on the EPA's current regional haze efforts, the adverse impact on energy companies, the science, the economics, and what can be done to move in a more positive direction. The Tax Panel will feature an important discussion on energy taxes and energy tax credits and best free market practices from around the country. The luncheon will feature an awards ceremony honoring outstanding pioneers in the energy industry, including a special award for women in energy.

Our plan would be to have AG Pruitt give a litigation update regarding his efforts on regional haze, etc. He would be a featured speaker rather than a participant on a panel. Please let me know if you have any questions about this project. AG Pruitt may also be interested to know that, while the energy conference will take place during the day on the 17th, we are hosting our annual Liberty Gala that same evening as a separate event. The keynote speaker will be George W. Bush, and Scott would of course be welcome to stay for the banquet if he would like.

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment . You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Shut it down

By Michael Carnuccio

I'm not sure shutdown is the right term. Remember, 83 percent of the federal government is still operating and the U.S. is on course to spend more than $3.5 trillion. Essentially, we're no longer allowed to visit open-air parks and war memorials because career politicians can't agree on how to spend money they don't have.

I joined leaders from several state-based, grass-roots organizations across the country to issue an open letter to each member of the Congress:

The great historian and lecturer, Dr. J. Rufus Fears, distilled knowledge of the ages when he wrote that a nation "cannot live with a tremendous debt for a long period of time. ... We must cut government spending." In the masterful constitutional design, the U.S. House (of Representatives) was designed to be the most powerful element of Congress, and the best means to curb executive or judicial abuse. As the element in our Federalist political system closest to the people, only the House can slow down and even stop the pell-mell rush to fiscal ruin flowing from the Executive Branch and its allies in the Senate.

Cut waste and pay teachers

By Michael Carnuccio

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Janet Barresi has suggested giving Oklahoma schoolteachers a $2,000 pay raise, funded with a combination of school district carry-over funds and a 2-percent reduction in administrative overhead.

I applaud Barresi's idea of using existing money to fund pay hikes. Achieving efficiencies in an organization can result in employees receiving better pay for better performance. Organizations routinely decide to realign expenditures internally to reallocate resources to employees who are more deserving.

Lord knows there are efficiencies to be found in common education. The dramatic growth and bloat in administration is well-documented. When Oklahoma has nearly as many non-teachers as teachers, something is wrong.

Tomorrow Oklahoma Wesleyan University will be filing a lawsuit against the United States Department of Health and Human Services, as well as its secretary, Kathleen Sebelius. The premise of our suit is this: As an evangelical Christian university owned and operated by The Wesleyan Church of North America, OKWU cannot and will not comply with any provisions of the Affordable Care Act that require us to pay for abortion services or abortion-inducing drugs. More specifically, Oklahoma Wesleyan does not provide its employees with health insurance covering post-fertilization abortifacient drugs that, by definition, can and often do terminate pregnancy.

Why are we doing this?

Tomorrow Oklahoma Wesleyan University will be filing a lawsuit against the United States Department of Health and Human Services, as well as its secretary, Kathleen Sebelius. The premise of our suit is this: As an evangelical Christian university owned and operated by The Wesleyan Church of North America, OKWU cannot and will not comply with any provisions of the Affordable Care Act that require us to pay for abortion services or abortion-inducing drugs. More specifically, Oklahoma Wesleyan does not provide its employees with health insurance covering post-fertilization abortifacient drugs that, by definition, can and often do terminate pregnancy.

Why are we doing this?

The dinner is on School Choice we are just co- hosting with the Friedman Foundation. We would love to have the AG attend. Just didn't want to impose to heavily on his schedule, but with his support of the Lindsey Nicole Scholarships it would be fitting for you guys to join us.

Let me know. It is 7:00 pm at the Skirvin.

Good morning Clayton,

Here are responses to the questions raised in your email.

1. AFPM will be filing a joint petition with the API. We are aiming to file the waiver petition later this month.
2. We think it would be most effective for Oklahoma to file a separate waiver petition that emphasizes “severe environmental harm,” as this argument is more credible coming from a State with primary responsibility for achieving and maintaining attainment with the NAAQS. At this point we are not planning on including the environmental arguments in our waiver petition. Oklahoma has standing under section 211(o)(7) to file its own waiver petition and I can walk you through the procedural aspects of this filing.
3. Yes. EPA’s prior waiver denials were based on the fact that the roughly the same amount of ethanol would have been used even if the waiver was granted. This waiver petition is different in that it would alleviate the pressure caused by the RFS mandate requiring more ethanol than can be safely folded into the gasoline supply (10 percent). The 2014 volumetric mandates are significantly higher, and the RFS requires additional increases in subsequent years. In addition, the “severe environmental harm” argument is a matter of first impression.
4. We would ask OK to file its own waiver petition that develops the severe environmental harm argument. The petition also could address the other statutory elements supporting a waiver (i.e., severe economic harm and inadequate domestic supply).

Let me know if you need additional information or if we should schedule a follow-up phone call next week.

Best regards,

Rich

Richard,

Thank you for the information and the phone call and I apologize for not being up to speed on the issue. I have had the opportunity now to become more familiar with the RFS and it's obvious shortcomings and problems. I think it is safe to say that AG Pruitt has an interest in the issue.

I recall in the phone conversation that you planned to file a Petition for RFS Waiver, I have several questions.

1. On whose behalf will you be filing the Petition?
2. You mentioned using Oklahoma (and other states?) to highlight the severe economic and environmental harm to the State by the RFS, is this the role you envision for Oklahoma? How does that work specifically?
3. EPA has denied Petitions for RFS Waivers that have been requested by industry and 7 State governors, is the Petition for RFS Waiver that you are contemplating different than those, ie... on different grounds etc...?
4. What specifically are you asking the Oklahoma AG's Office to do regarding the Petition and this issue?

Hopefully I haven't missed the boat too much on these questions but I want to make sure I fully understand what Oklahoma's role will be.

Thank you again for your work on this issue.

Clayton,

Thank you for taking the time to discuss the economic and environmental implications of the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS). This email transmits the following documents for your review:

- White Paper highlighting the environmental and economic impacts of the RFS on Oklahoma;
- A summary of the National Academy of Sciences report entitled "Renewable Fuel Standard: Potential Economic and Environmental Effects of U.S. Biofuel Policy." The report itself is a very large file, but you may access a copy through the following link: http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=13105;
- Maps illustrating the ozone non-attainment areas throughout the country for various ozone standards; and
- Two additional whitepapers summarizing the RFS and highlighting the problems created by the ethanol blendwall.

Copied on this email are the AFPM staff experts on the RFS issue. If you need any additional information to prepare for your briefing with General Pruitt, please don't hesitate to contact us.

I hope you and your family have a great 4th of July holiday.

-Rich

We think it would be most effective for Oklahoma to file a separate waiver petition that emphasizes “severe environmental harm,” as this argument is more credible coming from a State with primary responsibility for achieving and maintaining attainment with the NAAQS. At this point we are not planning on including the environmental arguments in our waiver petition. Oklahoma has standing under section 211(o)(7) to file its own waiver petition and I can walk you through the procedural aspects of this filing.
3. Yes. EPA’s prior waiver denials were based on the fact that the roughly the same amount of ethanol would have been used even if the waiver was granted. This waiver petition is different in that it would alleviate the pressure caused by the RFS mandate requiring more ethanol than can be safely folded into the gasoline supply (10 percent). The 2014 volumetric mandates are significantly higher, and the RFS requires additional increases in subsequent years. In addition, the “severe environmental harm” argument is a matter of first impression.
4. We would ask OK to file its own waiver petition that develops the severe environmental harm argument. The petition also could address the other statutory elements supporting a waiver (i.e., severe economic harm and inadequate domestic supply).

Let me know if you need additional information or if we should schedule a follow-up phone call next week.

Best regards,

Rich

Richard,

Thank you for the information and the phone call and I apologize for not being up to speed on the issue. I have had the opportunity now to become more familiar with the RFS and it's obvious shortcomings and problems. I think it is safe to say that AG Pruitt has an interest in the issue.

I recall in the phone conversation that you planned to file a Petition for RFS Waiver, I have several questions.

1. On whose behalf will you be filing the Petition?
2. You mentioned using Oklahoma (and other states?) to highlight the severe economic and environmental harm to the State by the RFS, is this the role you envision for Oklahoma? How does that work specifically?
3. EPA has denied Petitions for RFS Waivers that have been requested by industry and 7 State governors, is the Petition for RFS Waiver that you are contemplating different than those, ie... on different grounds etc...?
4. What specifically are you asking the Oklahoma AG's Office to do regarding the Petition and this issue?

Hopefully I haven't missed the boat too much on these questions but I want to make sure I fully understand what Oklahoma's role will be.

Thank you again for your work on this issue.

Clayton,

Thank you for taking the time to discuss the economic and environmental implications of the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS). This email transmits the following documents for your review:

- White Paper highlighting the environmental and economic impacts of the RFS on Oklahoma;
- A summary of the National Academy of Sciences report entitled "Renewable Fuel Standard: Potential Economic and Environmental Effects of U.S. Biofuel Policy." The report itself is a very large file, but you may access a copy through the following link: http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=13105;
- Maps illustrating the ozone non-attainment areas throughout the country for various ozone standards; and
- Two additional whitepapers summarizing the RFS and highlighting the problems created by the ethanol blendwall.

Copied on this email are the AFPM staff experts on the RFS issue. If you need any additional information to prepare for your briefing with General Pruitt, please don't hesitate to contact us.

I hope you and your family have a great 4th of July holiday.

Here are responses to the questions raised in your email.

Subject: Renewable Fuel Standard - Background Information

Clayton,

Thank you for taking the time to discuss the economic and environmental implications of the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS). This email transmits the following documents for your review:

- White Paper highlighting the environmental and economic impacts of the RFS on Oklahoma;
- A summary of the National Academy of Sciences report entitled "Renewable Fuel Standard: Potential Economic and Environmental Effects of U.S. Biofuel Policy." The report itself is a very large file, but you may access a copy through the following link: http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=13105;
- Maps illustrating the ozone non-attainment areas throughout the country for various ozone standards; and
- Two additional whitepapers summarizing the RFS and highlighting the problems created by the ethanol blendwall.

Copied on this email are the AFPM staff experts on the RFS issue. If you need any additional information to prepare for your briefing with General Pruitt, please don't hesitate to contact us.

I hope you and your family have a great 4th of July holiday.

-Rich

Rich,

General Pruitt asked that I email you and put you in contact with Clayton Eubanks, Deputy Solicitor General. Clayton is who would handle issues such as RFS and Ozone NAAQS which you all discussed at the meeting in DC.

I have included Clayton in this email as way of introduction. Thank you again for the information you provided during General Pruitt's visit and please do not hesitate to contact me if there is anything else we can do for you.

Richard,

Thank you for the information and the phone call and I apologize for not being up to speed on the issue. I have had the opportunity now to become more familiar with the RFS and it's obvious shortcomings and problems. I think it is safe to say that AG Pruitt has an interest in the issue.

I recall in the phone conversation that you planned to file a Petition for RFS Waiver, I have several questions.

1. On whose behalf will you be filing the Petition?
2. You mentioned using Oklahoma (and other states?) to highlight the severe economic and environmental harm to the State by the RFS, is this the role you envision for Oklahoma? How does that work specifically?
3. EPA has denied Petitions for RFS Waivers that have been requested by industry and 7 State governors, is the Petition for RFS Waiver that you are contemplating different than those, ie... on different grounds etc...?
4. What specifically are you asking the Oklahoma AG's Office to do regarding the Petition and this issue?

Hopefully I haven't missed the boat too much on these questions but I want to make sure I fully understand what Oklahoma's role will be.
Thank you again for your work on this issue.

Dear General Pruitt –

I hope you are doing well!

Attached you will find AFPM's 2014 Renewable Fuels Standard (RFS) waiver petition which was filed with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on August 13. While this petition does not address environmental harm, it provides compelling support on the economic harm caused by the ethanol blendwall under the RFS mandate. The filing of this petition starts the statutory 90-day time period within which EPA must respond.

AFPM remains very interested in the prospect of your state filing a similar waiver request highlighting the environmental harm caused by the RFS mandate which we discussed previously. I would be happy to answer any questions you may have. Please feel free to contact me at syle@afpm.org or at 202.552.4367.

Clayton,

My schedule seems to be a moving target these days. Would either 10:45 or 1 p.m. work for a phone call tomorrow (Monday)? If so, let us know which time works best and forward a phone number to us and we will reach out to you.

Hi, Clayton - I hope you and your family survived the tornadoes without incident. We are certainly thinking of you and your fellow Oklahomans. I assumed things would be quite hectic, so was going to wait a few days before I reached out to you. However, I am now out of the office on maternity leave, but we certainly still want to update you on our issues. It may be easiest for you to setup a time with Rich and Dave - they will be able to provide you with the information General Pruitt is interested in.

Thanks!

Rich,

General Pruitt asked that I email you and put you in contact with Clayton Eubanks, Deputy Solicitor General. Clayton is who would handle issues such as RFS and Ozone NAAQS which you all discussed at the meeting in DC.

I have included Clayton in this email as way of introduction. Thank you again for the information you provided during General Pruitt's visit and please do not hesitate to contact me if there is anything else we can do for you.

Best,
Ashley

Hi, Clayton - I hope you and your family survived the tornadoes without incident. We are certainly thinking of you and your fellow Oklahomans. I assumed things would be quite hectic, so was going to wait a few days before I reached out to you. However, I am now out of the office on materni= ty leave, but we certainly still want to update you on our issues. It may be easiest for you to setup a time with Rich and Dave - they will be able to provide you with the information General Pruitt is interested in.

Thanks!

Rich,

General Pruitt asked that I email you and put you in contact with Clayton Eubanks, Deputy Solicitor General. Clayton is who would handle issues such as RFS and Ozone NAAQS which you all discussed at the meeting in DC.=

I have included Clayton in this email as way of introduction. Thank you again for the information you provided during General Pruitt's visit and please do not hesitate to contact me if there is anything else we can do for you.

Best,
Ashley

Rich,

General Pruitt asked that I email you and put you in contact with Clayton Eubanks, Deputy Solicitor General. Clayton is who would handle issues such as RFS and Ozone NAAQS which you all discussed at the meeting in DC.

I have included Clayton in this email as way of introduction. Thank you again for the information you provided during General Pruitt's visit and please do not hesitate to contact me if there is anything else we can do for you.

Best,

Ashley

Hi, Melissa! Great to chat with you earlier! Always nice to catch up. As promised, I am sending you a copy of the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS) waiver petition that AFPM filed on August 13, a template that includes language you may find helpful in crafting a waiver petition, as well as a document that gives specific information on the economic and environmental impacts the RFS has on Oklahoma.

If you have any questions, give me a shout!

Have fun at the game this weekend!

Best,

As you have probably heard by now, EPA rolled out its new proposed rule for regulating CO2 emissions from new power plants last Friday. Please find attached Hunton's preliminary analysis of the pre-publication proposed rule. We anticipate formal publication in the Federal Register within the next two weeks, at which point the official public comment period will commence. Please call Rod or myself if you have any questions on the rule.

Clayton – I wanted to share with you a rough draft of an amicus brief. Normally, I wouldn't send out anything this rough, but I wanted to let you see the direction we're going. Please don't send it out of your office at this point. It has not been reviewed at all by my client and it could change a lot. Let me know if you think we're duplicating what you're petition will say or if there are other points we should make.

Not sure how many states we will get to sign on. We may try for a wide circulation.

Clayton, hi, haven't talked for a while, hope all is well, other than that horrible 10th Cir decision.

I don't know if you know, but we represent Arizona in its similar appeal of EPA's regional haze decision as to Arizona. I saw today that AG Pruitt has announced that you will file a petition for rehearing en banc. I'm really glad you decided to do so.

I'm attaching the brief we filed in the Ninth Circuit. It was submitted about a week after the OK decision came down, so we addressed the decision in our brief. You will see we spent a great deal of time on standard of review, because we felt that is the key issue in the case – and where the 10th Circuit really got it wrong because I think its decision conflicts with the Supreme Court's decision in Alaska DEC v. EPA. It could be a fruitful argument to make in the rehearing petition.

In fact, I have recommended to the AZ AG's office that they file an amicus brief in support of your rehearing request in which they would make this argument, and maybe join with a couple of other states in doing so. Hopefully, we can make that happen.

Good luck.

Thank you Peter, I received a copy of your merits brief from someone recently. Very well written, we definitely used it to try and focus our arguments on the standard of review issue in our Petition for Rehearing En Banc. We continue to work on our draft Petition and plan to file next Tuesday.

Amicus support is welcomed and we appreciate the support, especially given the broad impact the panels incorrect decision will have nationwide. Hopefully the Court will agree and grant the rehearing.

Thanks again.

Clayton – I wanted to share with you a rough draft of an amicus brief. Normally, I wouldn't send out anything this rough, but I wanted to let you see the direction we're going. Please don't send it out of your office at this point. It has not been reviewed at all by my client and it could change a lot. Let me know if you think we're duplicating what you're petition will say or if there are other points we should make.

Not sure how many states we will get to sign on. We may try for a wide circulation.

thx

Thank you Peter, I received a copy of your merits brief from someone recently. Very well written, we definitely used it to try and focus our arguments on the standard of review issue in our Petition for Rehearing En Banc. We continue to work on our draft Petition and plan to file next Tuesday.

Amicus support is welcomed and we appreciate the support, especially given the broad impact the panels incorrect decision will have nationwide. Hopefully the Court will agree and grant the rehearing.

Thanks again.

Subject: Regional haze

Clayton, hi, haven't talked for a while, hope all is well, other than that horrible 10th Cir decision.

I don't know if you know, but we represent Arizona in its similar appeal of EPA's regional haze decision as to Arizona. I saw today that AG Pruitt has announced that you will file a petition for rehearing en banc. I'm really glad you decided to do so.

I'm attaching the brief we filed in the Ninth Circuit. It was submitted about a week after the OK decision came down, so we addressed the decision in our brief. You will see we spent a great deal of time on standard of review, because we felt that is the key issue in the case – and where the 10th Circuit really got it wrong because I think its decision conflicts with the Supreme Court's decision in Alaska DEC v. EPA. It could be a fruitful argument to make in the rehearing petition.

In fact, I have recommended to the AZ AG's office that they file an amicus brief in support of your rehearing request in which they would make this argument, and maybe join with a couple of other states in doing so. Hopefully, we can make that happen.

Good luck.

Thank you Peter, I received a copy of your merits brief from someone recently. Very well written, we definitely used it to try and focus our arguments on the standard of review issue in our Petition for Rehearing En Banc. We continue to work on our draft Petition and plan to file next Tuesday.

Amicus support is welcomed and we appreciate the support, especially given the broad impact the panels incorrect decision will have nationwide. Hopefully the Court will agree and grant the rehearing.

Thanks again.

Clayton, hi, haven't talked for a while, hope all is well, other than that horrible 10th Cir decision.

I don't know if you know, but we represent Arizona in its similar appeal of EPA's regional haze decision as to Arizona. I saw today that AG Pruitt has announced that you will file a petition for rehearing en banc. I'm really glad you decided to do so.

I'm attaching the brief we filed in the Ninth Circuit. It was submitted about a week after the OK decision came down, so we addressed the decision in our brief. You will see we spent a great deal of time on standard of review, because we felt that is the key issue in the case – and where the 10th Circuit really got it wrong because I think its decision conflicts with the Supreme Court's decision in Alaska DEC v. EPA. It could be a fruitful argument to make in the rehearing petition.

In fact, I have recommended to the AZ AG's office that they file an amicus brief in support of your rehearing request in which they would make this argument, and maybe join with a couple of other states in doing so. Hopefully, we can make that happen.

Good luck.

All – here is a near final draft of the brief DUE TOMORROW. Editorial changes made from the last draft are not shown in track changes. There were a few substantive revisions made in response to comments from a few AG offices, and these are shown in redline. Nothing major, however.

Right now, we have the following nine states that have indicated they will be on the brief: AL, AK, AZ, KA, NE, ND, SC, UT, WY. If any of these states do not want to be on the brief, please let me know ASAP. We would be happy if others joined. Please let me know by noon tomorrow if you want to.

We will be doing final editing later today and tomorrow.

Thank you for your input and cooperation.

Thank you Peter, I received a copy of your merits brief from someone recently. Very well written, we definitely used it to try and focus our arguments on the standard of review issue in our Petition for Rehearing En Banc. We continue to work on our draft Petition and plan to file next Tuesday.

Amicus support is welcomed and we appreciate the support, especially given the broad impact the panels incorrect decision will have nationwide. Hopefully the Court will agree and grant the rehearing.

Thanks again.

Clayton, hi, haven't talked for a while, hope all is well, other than that horrible 10th Cir decision.

I don't know if you know, but we represent Arizona in its similar appeal of EPA's regional haze decision as to Arizona. I saw today that AG Pruitt has announced that you will file a petition for rehearing en banc. I'm really glad you decided to do so.

I'm attaching the brief we filed in the Ninth Circuit. It was submitted about a week after the OK decision came down, so we addressed the decision in our brief. You will see we spent a great deal of time on standard of review, because we felt that is the key issue in the case – and where the 10th Circuit really got it wrong because I think its decision conflicts with the Supreme Court’s decision in Alaska DEC v. EPA. It could be a fruitful argument to make in the rehearing petition.

In fact, I have recommended to the AZ AG’s office that they file an amicus brief in support of your rehearing request in which they would make this argument, and maybe join with a couple of other states in doing so. Hopefully, we can make that happen.

Good luck.

Right now, we have the following nine states that have indicated they will be on the brief: AL, AK, AZ, KA, NE, ND, SC, UT, WY. If any of these states do not want to be on the brief, please let me know ASAP. We would be happy if others joined. Please let me know by noon tomorrow if you want to.

We will be doing final editing later today and tomorrow.

Thank you Peter, I received a copy of your merits brief from someone recently. Very well written, we definitely used it to try and focus our arguments on the standard of review issue in our Petition for Rehearing En Banc. We continue to work on our draft Petition and plan to file next Tuesday.

Amicus support is welcomed and we appreciate the support, especially given the broad impact the panels incorrect decision will have nationwide. Hopefully the Court will agree and grant the rehearing.

Thanks again.

Clayton, hi, haven't talked for a while, hope all is well, other than that horrible 10th Cir decision.

I don't know if you know, but we represent Arizona in its similar appeal of EPA's regional haze decision as to Arizona. I saw today that AG Pruitt has announced that you will file a petition for rehearing en banc. I'm really glad you decided to do so.

I'm attaching the brief we filed in the Ninth Circuit. It was submitted about a week after the OK decision came down, so we addressed the decision in our brief. You will see we spent a great deal of time on standard of review, because we felt that is the key issue in the case – and where the 10th Circuit really got it wrong because I think its decision conflicts with the Supreme Court's decision in Alaska DEC v. EPA. It could be a fruitful argument to make in the rehearing petition.

In fact, I have recommended to the AZ AG's office that they file an amicus brief in support of your rehearing request in which they would make this argument, and maybe join with a couple of other states in doing so. Hopefully, we can make that happen.

Good luck.

Blake – thx. One additional point on behalf of AZ.

The Tenth Circuit panel, in a 2-1 decision, issued a truly awful decision that affirms EPA's overreach into matters that the Clean Air Act leaves to State discretion.

The panel decision will affect not only those States with regional haze SIPs that EPA has also disapproved, like AZ and six other states, but also states that in the future will submit regional haze SIPs. EPA's regional haze program will last another 50 years, and states have to submit new SIPs every 10 years. Most eastern states have so far been exempt from regional haze Best Available Retrofit Technology (BART) requirements because of CAIR and CSAPR. But this exemption is under attack in court, and if the attack is successful, eastern states may also have to make BART determinations. The decision is also bad precedent for state-federal relations under the Clean Air Act generally.

Because the panel was divided, there is a real shot at rehearing en banc. Strong State participation in this effort could help tip the balance. We hope you will join us.

thx

Clayton – I wanted to share with you a rough draft of an amicus brief. Normally, I wouldn't send out anything this rough, but I wanted to let you see the direction we're going. Please don't send it out of your office at this point. It has not been reviewed at all by my client and it could change a lot. Let me know if you think we're duplicating what you're petition will say or if there are other points we should make.

Not sure how many states we will get to sign on. We may try for a wide circulation.

thx

Clayton – I wanted to share with you a rough draft of an amicus brief. Normally, I wouldn't send out anything this rough, but I wanted to let you see the direction we're going. Please don't send it out of your office at this point. It has not been reviewed at all by my client and it could change a lot. Let me know if you think we're duplicating what you're petition will say or if there are other points we should make.

Not sure how many states we will get to sign on. We may try for a wide circulation.

thx

This month OCPA launched its newest center, the Agricultural Center for Markets, Policy, and Property Rights. The Center will focus specifically on agriculture policy research and development (with an emphasis on Oklahoma), and will also seek free-market solutions to environmental challenges - solutions which don't infringe upon Oklahomans' private-property rights. As with OCPA's other centers, this Center will support OCPA's mission of expanding liberty, limiting government, and strengthening the free enterprise system.

Professor Jayson Lusk, pictured above in a June 6 appearance on the John Stossel program, will serve as the Samuel Roberts Noble Distinguished Fellow at OCPA.

Just say no

By Michael Carnuccio

More than 20 other states have rejected Medicaid expansion, thereby preventing half a trillion dollars in deficit spending that our kids and grandkids would have had to pay.

Keep in mind, what began as a $1 billion national entitlement in 1966 is projected to hit $900 billion by 2020. In terms of future costs, Matt Salo, the executive director of the National Association of Medicaid Directors, noted in testimony: "More people show up than you think will show up, and the people that show up are sicker than you expected." Even if the debt-ridden federal government keeps its commitment to fund expansion at 90 percent, Oklahoma's 10-percent share is of an unknown number. That blank check is uncontrollable and unpredictable, no matter what expansionists say.

Time to eject

By Michael Carnuccio

In 2006, Barack Obama, then a junior senator from Illinois, said "Raising America's debt limit is a sign of leadership failure." Of course, since becoming the CEO of the United States, he has done so many times.

So we narrowly avoided default, again. The significance of this conversation - and just how close we are continuing to get to the brink - should have us removing every current officeholder in our nation's Capitol. A mountainous economic disaster is being administered by people who are unqualified and incapable of leadership. They are too occupied with a popularity crisis.

Someone should tell them the prettiest girl on the Titanic still died.

Jay P. Greene is one of America's leading experts on education policy. In an article published on the website of Education Next, a journal published by the Hoover Institution at Stanford University, Dr. Greene explains how to fix traditional public schools. "We can fix schools," he writes, "by going around them."

We can expand access to other educational options, including charter schools, voucher schools, tax-credit schools, ESAs, digital schooling, home-schooling, and hybrid schools. We can also expand access to enriching non-school activities, like museums, theaters, historical sites, summer camps, and after-school programs. Reformers should concentrate their energy on all of these non-traditional-school efforts and stop trying so hard to fix traditional public schools.

Friends,

I would like to invite you to join me for a very special evening on Friday, July 19 at 6:30 p.m. on the campus of Oklahoma Christian University, where we will feature presentations from Four Star Leadership students and a keynote speech from my friend Karl Rove. I am confident Mr. Rove will provide a memorable experience for our students and guests, but I am also certain that you would personally be inspired and uplifted by spending time with these young people.

Out of concern for the future of our nation and a desire to build up young leaders to help direct her steps, my friends and I created the Four Star Leadership program, a world-class summer leadership program that allows 50 of the top high school students in the US to have a face-to-face experience with national and international leaders. I am excited that OCPA is partnering with me to help conduct the program, and I would like to invite you to see just how special it is.

This year's class contains students representing 30 different states as well as 2 foreign countries and is truly a once in a lifetime experience for these young people as they interact with their peers from around the country and around the world. During the week, the students learn from outstanding leadership and policy experts while also being challenged through hands-on learning experiences designed to help sharpen their leadership and communication skills, all while competing for college scholarships. I hope you can join Karl Rove, 50 of America's best and brightest young leaders, and me for this unique event.

Please see the information below for details or contact OCPA with any questions you may have.

Former U.S. Sen. Jim DeMint, the new president of the Heritage Foundation, was recently in Oklahoma City to give the keynote address at OCPA's annual Citizenship Award Dinner. I had an opportunity to speak with him beforehand, and in this four-minute video we discuss how competitive federalism is fueling transformative policy changes across the country; why it's important for Oklahoma, which is center stage in the fight against Obamacare, to continue to fight the Medicaid expansion; and why intact married families are crucial for slowing the growth of the welfare state.

Do you remember what you were doing on April 6 of this year?

I think many of us would be hard-pressed to remember. It was a Saturday. In fact, Oklahoma City actually set a record high for the day at 74 degrees. Spring was in the air, and whether you knew it or not, it was a great day to breathe a sigh of relief.

OCPA has repeatedly made the case that Oklahoma should reform Medicaid, not expand it. Our FY-2014 budget recommendation included significant patient-centered Medicaid reforms. Oklahoma lawmakers passed some of those reforms in the House of Representatives, only to be thwarted in the Senate.

Proponents of Obamacare's Medicaid expansion, whether via premium assistance or via traditional Medicaid, are using desperate and dishonest arguments to try to persuade Oklahoma policymakers and citizens to expand Medicaid.

One of the chief falsehoods is that "if Oklahoma doesn't act, our tax dollars will be sent to other states." This argument demonstrates a complete lack of understanding of the federal/state welfare program known as Medicaid.

Recently, OCPA released a new memo (a short read, with visuals) detailing the success of Oklahoma's income tax cuts since 2005.

Couple this with Oklahoma's data from the "How Money Walks" project (see blog for data). Then the correlation becomes very strong, indeed: as income tax cuts have helped propel Oklahoma's private-sector economy, overall state tax revenues have risen to record highs.

On June 5, Oklahoma's Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) announced "a comprehensive state-employee compensation study to determine appropriate compensation levels for an estimated 33,000 state employees." According to a press release, the study will be conducted "with the assistance of national consultants and a working group comprised of officials from the governor's office, Legislature, state agencies, and Oklahoma Public Employees Association." Key components of the study are as follows:

- Development of a statewide employee-compensation philosophy.
- An extensive data-driven review of current compensation levels.
- A comparison of current compensation levels to other public and private-sector market levels.
- Recommendations for appropriate pay and benefits packages.

Thank you again for participating in the OCPA conference call last week to discuss the recent Oklahoma voter survey on the topic of the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. The call was one of six we held during the week with different groups.

Please let me know if we can provide follow-up info related to the survey or on the subject of Medicaid expansion. OCPA will continue to work to drive dialogue about the negative impacts adopting Medicaid expansion would have on Oklahoma. On that note, here are some recent items:

“Leavitt report is still Obamacare” (click to read on NewsOk.com)

Heritage Foundation, “Deflating hospitals’ arguments for Obamacare Medicaid expansion” (click to read)

Free Market Friday: Priorities

By Michael Carnuccio

We spend a good amount of time in political conversations about the right direction for our community, state and nation. Most seem to agree that socialism is not a desired pathway for the American dream.

Functional democracies require a different corridor. Rightly so; government owning and administering the means of production and distribution of goods has never worked out well for the polity.

Likewise, we spend a lot of time and energy in society exploring for the best ways to provide a quality education. Ironically, the majority of those endeavors involve trimming the edges of socialism. Whether the state grades our schools or not, we still have socialism. Whether we adopt Common Core standards or not, it's still socialism - and that isn't working out well for our children.

Free Market Friday: Priorities

By Michael Carnuccio

We spend a good amount of time in political conversations about the right direction for our community, state and nation. Most seem to agree that socialism is not a desired pathway for the American dream.

Functional democracies require a different corridor. Rightly so; government owning and administering the means of production and distribution of goods has never worked out well for the polity.

Likewise, we spend a lot of time and energy in society exploring for the best ways to provide a quality education. Ironically, the majority of those endeavors involve trimming the edges of socialism. Whether the state grades our schools or not, we still have socialism. Whether we adopt Common Core standards or not, it's still socialism - and that isn't working out well for our children.

"A relieved Gov. Mary Fallin recently announced that the Obama administration has agreed to wait a year before euthanizing the Insure Oklahoma health insurance program," OCPA distinguished fellow Andrew Spiropoulos writes in his latest Journal Record column.

So why have the feds given us a reprieve? The administration perceives an opportunity to use our state's leaders' support of Insure Oklahoma as a wedge to break Oklahoma's resistance to the expansion of Medicaid. ...What's the president's plan? It's very clever. He will offer to allow us to take all or part of the Medicaid expansion money and use it to expand Insure Oklahoma. The pitch is that we can keep our plan and get the money, too. However, here's the truth - if we take the deal, it won't be our plan any longer.

Oklahoma houses more than 25,000 inmates. Only Delaware, Louisiana, Alaska and Texas have higher per-capita incarceration rates. Several commonalities exist for those who are incarcerated: history of family dysfunction, instability, trauma, violence, substance abuse and addiction; socioeconomics, race and ethnicity; mental health issues; and relationships.

According to the 2012 Oklahoma Department of Corrections female offender report, the state incarcerates more women per capita than any other state in the nation. Currently, 121 women per 100,000 population are jailed, compared to the national average of 65. The majority are imprisoned for nonviolent or drug-related offenses.

For those of you who weren't able to attend the ice-cream social honoring the Lindsey Nicole Henry Scholarship children, here's a terrific write-up by our friend Patrick McGuigan.

Please mark your calendars: coalition chairman Bill Price has called our next coalition meeting for Thursday, October 3 at noon at OCPA. If you plan to attend, please RSVP to Baxter Lewallen at baxter@ocpathink.org so we'll know how many lunches to order. Hope to see you then!

Virginian Joel Salatin describes himself as a "Christian, libertarian, environmentalist, capitalist farmer." Farmer Salatin not only lectures about farming techniques that boost profit with lower input, he is also a prolific speaker on the legacy of the family farm. He calls for a shift to the household economy to increase individual and family freedom.

Salatin operates a family store two hours outside of Washington, D.C., where he primarily sells chicken and pork. Customers must come to him as he won't throw a chicken in the mail to you. He is a firm believer in keeping food and the money that buys the food in the local economy. Twenty years ago, most of his customers were back-to-the-earth hippies whereas now the fastest-growing customer segment is the homeschooling family.

"Economists have long studied migration between the states because migration is the ultimate expression of 'voting with your feet,'" OCPA economists J. Scott Moody and Wendy P. Warcholik write. "In other words, more people moving into a state is a good sign of social and economic progress, whereas more people leaving a state is not a good sign."

Over the last two decades Oklahoma has experienced a healthy net in-migration of people. Disturbingly, though, "despite the influx of people, income has been flowing out of Oklahoma - including during a few years when more people moved in than moved out - suggesting that out-migrants had higher-than-average incomes than in-migrants. Between 1995 and 2009, at least $831,553,000 (not adjusted for inflation) left the state."

Constitutional lawyer Clint Bolick once described our public education system as a "hidebound, bureaucratic, expensive, top-down, one-size-fits-all, command-and-control, inefficient, reform-resistant, administratively bloated, special-interest-manipulated, obsolete, impersonal bricks-and-mortar system that represents the most disastrous failure of central planning west of Communist China and south of the United States Postal Service."

Curiously, some Oklahomans think it's a good idea to give this system more money. But as I argued last week in The Edmond Sun, a better idea is to give parents vouchers, tax credits, and Arizona-style education savings accounts. After all, private-school choice improves student performance in public schools.

Will Kim Ki-hoon stand up?

By Michael Carnuccio

The Wall Street Journal reported that Kim Ki-hoon, a rock-star, 20-year veteran teacher in South Korea, earns $4 million a year teaching in the country's private, after-school tutoring academies. He is paid according to the demand for his skills, unlike most teachers across the globe.

Don't forget, South Korean students rank among the best in the world.

As education economist Andrew Coulsen points out, merit pay may not be as easy a solution for Oklahoma. "Offering merit pay to teachers does nothing to liberate principals from the shackles of union contracts and state licensing requirements that determine whom they can hire and fire. Neither does it give principals the incentives enjoyed by private sector managers to hire and retain the most effective employees they can find. It also fails to provide the freedoms and incentives to would-be education entrepreneurs that are responsible for the scale-up of top providers and effective new innovations in every other field."

Checking the facts

By Michael Carnuccio

With backroom deals and cronyism spreading throughout the upper Midwest like warm butter hits toast, it becomes critical to fact-check the vocal minority lobbying for Obamacare's Medicaid expansion. Make no mistake, when lawmakers return to Oklahoma City to address lawsuit reform in the coming special session, they will be inundated by the lobbying power of the hospital industrial complex.

Proponents continue to say that expanding Medicaid, which requires a state match, is no different than the state accepting funds for transportation, education, defense spending, the current Medicaid program and other federal programs. In recent public meetings, they have even likened Medicaid expansion to being as simple as if the federal government decided to expand a military base.

Unfortunately, it's incorrect to compare creating a new entitlement class to national defense, which requires no state match, and transportation funding, which is vastly funded by direct user taxes in gasoline excise taxes. It's also incorrect to compare it to our current Medicaid program that is stressing the state budget.

In a recent column ("Calling out the miscreants"), OCPA research fellow Andrew Spiropoulos pronounced it "outrageous" that the regents would give their employees, "including some of the most highly compensated people in state government, 5-percent raises."

Trojan Toddler

It seems almost weekly that we hear about more intrusion by federal government agencies, such as the NSA, into the lives of citizens who are supposed to be free. When the government secretly invades the privacy of law-abiding citizens, attempts to intimidate the assembling of organizations like OCPA and ALEC, and uses the IRS to target those who don't agree with President Barack Obama, reflection upon the words of the founding fathers is imperative.

Thomas Jefferson said: "My reading of history convinces me that most bad government results from too much government." Jefferson provided this vision for the proper role of government: "A wise and frugal Government shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Filming deadline: August 15

VIDEO DESCRIPTION: In September, over 800 people from across the nation representing 56 think tanks, and leadership from 184 national organizations will visit Oklahoma City. As their host, OCPA is organizing an event themed “Oklahoma Night” on September, 25 at the Chesapeake Arena where we will debut our “Big Ideas” video. The “Big Ideas” video will highlight Oklahoman’s from a number of industries who have made progress in elevating our great state. Please consider taking part in this unique opportunity to highlight your business and celebrate your contribution to the state of Oklahoma.

Lusk on Fox and Friends

Is the McDonald's McDouble "the cheapest, most nutritious, and bountiful food that has ever existed in human history"? Jayson Lusk won't go that far, but earlier this month on "Fox and Friends" Dr. Lusk did have some words of praise for that beloved salt-and-pepper-seasoned double-cheeseburger topped with onions, pickles, ketchup, and mustard - and for the system that produces it. We urge you to check out this video clip featuring Dr. Lusk, the Samuel Roberts Noble Distinguished Fellow at OCPA, whose new book is The Food Police: A Well-Fed Manifesto About the Politics of Your Plate.

Education

This brief video makes the case that education is not synonymous with schooling.

In an age of customized education, Heritage Foundation scholar Lindsey Burke says, policymakers must ensure that "education funding is free from 19th-century ideas about schooling, in order to empower families to enjoy the benefits of 21st-century delivery models. School choice - whether vouchers, education tax credits, education savings accounts, or virtual schools - ensures that families won't be left behind when the online learning revolution is in full force."

In Case You Missed It

The Oklahoman

IT expert: A data wake-up call for Oklahomans

BY THERESA PAYTON • Published: August 23, 2013

As the federal government prepares to implement the Affordable Care Act, Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt has penned a joint letter with 12 fellow AGs asking U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius important questions about data privacy. These are questions I urge Oklahomans to ask on their own, too.

In order to implement the new law, questions need to be asked: How old are you? Where were you born? Are you a legal resident? Have you served in the military?

Where will the government go to get this information? The Social Security Administration, the Department of Homeland Security and the Veterans Administration, respectively. This data will go into “The Hub,” a one-stop destination where your data will be compiled into your profile. Reports are unclear if this will be a database or an interface. Regardless, it will contain all your biographical information extracted from seven federal agencies, and state agencies, and put into one place. It is a hacker's dream: one-stop-shopping for all of the details of your personal life.

Who will be reviewing this data? “Navigators,” as they are referred to in the new legislation. These are employees hired to determine your eligibility by peeking at the most private and sensitive details of your life. Among the questions Pruitt asks in the joint letter: How will navigators be trained? What's the plan to reduce the risk of identity theft? How will the staff be screened to ensure that we have highly skilled people with the utmost integrity looking at our private lives?

As a consumer, this is your wake-up call. Take steps now to protect your data. Be vigilant about what you post on social media. Identity thieves can follow the information you post like digital bread crumbs leading back to your house. Contact lawmakers and let them know you aren't comfortable with a database/interface that creates a one-stop-shop for cyber hackers.

Use one email address only for your health insurance company. Ask your doctor what happens with your data, not medical history per se, but your address, phone number, etc. Be on guard! The unprecedented changes being made to the collection of data may have only one or possibly two lines of defense it can't penetrate — an attorney general asking the right questions and a vigilant consumer.

Competition could be costly

By Michael Carnuccio

There are incentives, and then there are deterrents. When initially put into place, the lower 1-percent tax rate for drilling horizontal wells in Oklahoma was seen by many as an incentive. Spiking the rate up to 7 percent overnight would be seen by many as a deterrent, and disincentive, to drill in the state.

Energy production is a cost-driven business. Increased costs, for any reason, including tax changes, have the ability to change a producer's behavior. If the gross production tax rate to drill a horizontal well in Oklahoma increases from 1 percent to 7 percent, drilling in other states immediately becomes more attractive.

Maine may be a couple thousand miles away, but it's a lot like Oklahoma in one way: some of its counties are richer, while some are poorer, with higher unemployment and lower personal-income levels. Maine Gov. Paul LePage has been an outspoken advocate of lowering and eventually eliminating the state personal income tax to boost economic growth. Now the Maine Heritage Policy Center (that state's counterpart to OCPA) has added a new wrinkle: selectively targeting depressed counties with major tax breaks.

Hi Ashley,

We couldn't be happier that General Pruitt will be joining us on the 17th for the Energy Summit at the Hyatt Regency in Tulsa.

Below is an outline of the agenda for the Energy Summit. General Pruitt's remarks are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Of course, we hope he can attend as much of the summit as possible, but know he is extremely busy.

Please email me if you have any further questions. Thank you!

Hi Ashley,

We couldn't be happier that General Pruitt will be joining us on the 17th for the Energy Summit at the Hyatt Regency in Tulsa.

Below is an outline of the agenda for the Energy Summit. General Pruitt's remarks are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Of course, we hope he can attend as much of the summit as possible, but know he is extremely busy.

Please email me if you have any further questions. Thank you!

Forward the cause:

Former OCPA trustee Dr. Tom Coburn and current OCPA fiscal policy director Jonathan Small have been two of the leading voices in Oklahoma warning against the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. In a column published yesterday in the Tulsa World, they make the argument that policymakers should continue to oppose expanding Medicaid - in any form.

"The lessons of history and the hard numbers are clear: It is not fiscally responsible or wise to expand a strained entitlement program and rely on federal funding that is unlikely," Coburn and Small write. "While it has been tempting for some consultants and lawmakers to try to dress up Medicaid expansion as 'program redesign,' it is simply not in our state's long-term interest to expand Medicaid, whether that's under the guise of additional federal funding or creative program designs. Given the economic facts, any expansion of Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act would be a step in the wrong direction."

How to help

By Michael Carnuccio

Have you ever been in a tight spot financially? Ever had something go wrong at the wrong time of the month? For many families, dollars are tight.

However, for most, the American way is to get a second job, clean out the attic on Craigslist or, if the need is not as urgent, tighten the family belt - eating out less and cutting back on the trips, the mall and the movies.

Many Oklahomans know what it is like to discover that an outdated water heater threw in the towel - no hot water to bathe the children. Unfortunately, no Home Depot is close enough - or repair plan easy enough - when you are stationed several thousand miles away serving your country in the middle of the desert.

Unexpected changes for transitioning wounded service members, like a decrease in stability once military pay ceases and disability benefits have yet to begin, also threaten families in our communities who have already sacrificed so much.

Last week OCPA played host to more than 750 of our closest friends for the annual meeting of the State Policy Network, the service organization for the nation's free-market, state-focused think tank community. One of the highlights of the week was hearing from Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal (pictured above speaking on Sept. 24 in Oklahoma City).

Not only is Gov. Jindal one of the nation's leading champions of school choice, but by refusing to go along with the Obamacare Medicaid expansion he has reduced future federal spending by billions of dollars. Gov. Jindal and Oklahoma's own Sen. Tom Coburn continue to make the case that we should not expand Medicaid.

Forward the cause:

Last week OCPA played host to more than 750 of our closest friends for the annual meeting of the State Policy Network, the service organization for the nation's free-market, state-focused think tank community. One of the highlights of the week was hearing from Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal (pictured above speaking on Sept. 24 in Oklahoma City).

Not only is Gov. Jindal one of the nation's leading champions of school choice, but by refusing to go along with the Obamacare Medicaid expansion he has reduced future federal spending by billions of dollars. Gov. Jindal and Oklahoma's own Sen. Tom Coburn continue to make the case that we should not expand Medicaid.

"The natural progress of things," Thomas Jefferson once observed, "is for liberty to yield and government to gain ground."

Government has certainly gained ground in Oklahoma, where our political leaders continue to spend money (both state tax dollars and borrowed federal dollars) at record levels. Interestingly, though, our neighbor to the north is trying to prove Mr. Jefferson wrong. As Associated Press political writer John Hanna reports:

Important but relatively little-noticed provisions in the tax plan approved by Kansas legislators this year embody conservative Republicans' vision for long-term constraints on government spending.

Last year in Perspective, I pointed out that Horace Mann, generally regarded as the father of America's public school system, once predicted: "Let the Common School ... be worked with the efficiency of which it is susceptible, and nine tenths of the crimes in the penal code would become obsolete; the long catalogue of human ills would be abridged."

Suffice it to say it hasn't quite worked out that way. Not only are the crimes not obsolete, they are now being committed in the schools themselves. ... Scarcely a day goes by that we're not treated to an appalling new headline about some student or teacher behaving badly. It's not a stretch to say that many schools - architecturally soulless buildings replete with metal detectors and police officers, and sometimes even put on lockdown - bear a striking resemblance to prisons.

It is customary, on Labor Day, to recall both the centrality of man to the economy and the inherent worth of work.

Inadvertently, because Labor Day is also a day on which Americans frequently feast at a cookout, cruise on a lake or shop the sales, Labor Day has also recently become an annual occasion of self-pity and class envy.

It's easy to look at the neighbors' new grill, speedboat or full-price wardrobe and indulge the pangs of jealousy. Suddenly, Labor Day becomes less an opportunity to give gratitude for gainful employment than it is an opportunity to bemoan income inequality.

Could the U.S. Supreme Court's recent opinion in California's Proposition 8 case possibly have an effect on Oklahoma's initiative and referendum process?

Law professor Andrew Spiropoulos thinks it could. Spiropoulos, who serves as the Milton Friedman Distinguished Fellow at OCPA, believes that "as one of the majority of states that permit the people to directly enact laws and constitutional amendments, we Oklahomans should be discomfited, if not alarmed, by the consequences of the court's denial of standing to the proponents of Proposition 8."

Ballot

Could the U.S. Supreme Court's recent opinion in California's Proposition 8 case possibly have an effect on Oklahoma's initiative and referendum process?

Law professor Andrew Spiropoulos thinks it could. Spiropoulos, who serves as the Milton Friedman Distinguished Fellow at OCPA, believes that "as one of the majority of states that permit the people to directly enact laws and constitutional amendments, we Oklahomans should be discomfited, if not alarmed, by the consequences of the court's denial of standing to the proponents of Proposition 8."

With Obamacare's Medicaid expansion currently a heavy topic of conversation, the Oklahoma Council of Public Affairs invites you to participate in a private conference call to discuss the findings of a recent statewide survey on the subject.

The project, commissioned by the nonpartisan Liberty Foundation of America, surveyed 865 likely general election voters across the state of Oklahoma and was conducted May 14-15, 2013. It provides insight into the Oklahoma electorate's views on the Obamacare Medicaid expansion. (Click here for a recent OCPA article on the survey.)

This call will be limited to invitees only. All invitees are individuals who either work currently or formerly worked professionally for elected Oklahoma Republican officials. OCPA will be holding similar calls with other groups, as well. The call will be led by David Flaherty of Magellan Strategies, the firm that conducted the survey.

The call will be held: Thursday, Aug 1 / 11:15 am – 12:00 pm

Please let me know if you are interested in participating. We will then email you call-in instructions and a survey packet prior to the call.

All the best,

Dave

Teacher

Today would have been the 101st birthday of Nobel Prize-winning economist Milton Friedman, who died in 2006 at the age of 94.

Friedman once observed that the explosive growth of homeschooling in this country is "evidence of the failure of our current education system. There is no other complex field in our society in which do-it-yourself beats out factory production or market production. Nobody makes his or her own car. But it still is the case that parents can perform the job of educating their children, in many cases better than our present education system."

It's not only doctors and lawyers who are joining the nation's fastest-growing educational sector. Even some teachers, like Marcie Robbins of Bartlesville, are turning to homeschooling.

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Hi Dacia,

We are working with General's Pruitt's executive assistant to schedule the video taping for the Big Ideas video.

How long will General Pruitt's segment be and how long do you think we need to record?

Also, it lists his location as the Capitol, but I think General Pruitt would rather do it here at the AG's Office -- 313 NE 21 (just SW of the Capitol).

Sorry for the delay - no idea what happened to the original email. But we are on lotus notes still.. so anything is possible!

Would be happy to do the video and the panel! Who do I need to contact to schedule?

And thanks for the invite!

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment. You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower.

Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Subject: Energy Conference

Melissa,

I hope you are doing well. The reason for my call yesterday was to invite AG Pruitt to speak at our October 17 Energy Conference in Tulsa. OCPA is partnering with Energy Advocates, a non-profit energy education organization founded by Mark Stansberry and others, to host another national conference on energy policy. We appreciated AG Pruitt being involved in last year's event, and we sincerely hope he is available to participate again this year. While last year's conference focused on energy and federalism, this year we plan to focus on how energy policy impacts families.

The program will feature panel discussions, an awards luncheon, keynote presentations, and legislative/litigation updates from elected officials and policy makers at both the state and federal level. The panels and presentations are designed to foster dialogue on the most current and critical energy topics. The Impact Panel will focus on the impact of regulation and legislation on producers, refinery capacity/downstream issues and why they matter, property rights, how policy decisions at each stage impact the economics of energy, and what it all means to consumers at the pump and on their utility bills. The Regulatory Panel will focus on the EPA's current regional haze efforts, the adverse impact on energy companies, the science, the economics, and what can be done to move in a more positive direction. The Tax Panel will feature an important discussion on energy taxes and energy tax credits and best free market practices from around the country. The luncheon will feature an awards ceremony honoring outstanding pioneers in the energy industry, including a special award for women in energy.

Our plan would be to have AG Pruitt give a litigation update regarding his efforts on regional haze, etc. He would be a featured speaker rather than a participant on a panel. Please let me know if you have any questions about this project. AG Pruitt may also be interested to know that, while the energy conference will take place during the day on the 17th, we are hosting our annual Liberty Gala that same evening as a separate event. The keynote speaker will be George W. Bush, and Scott would of course be welcome to stay for the banquet if he would like.

Recently, a new acquaintance helpfully offered me a list of "free" events in Oklahoma City and hospitably urged me to unite with her as she attended them.

"Join this young adult group," she urged. "So far, we've gone to a free Thunder game and a free happy hour. This week, we're going to a free Redhawks game."

Later, she texted me to tell me the Myriad Gardens occasionally offers "free" movie nights.

The exchanges were redolent of conversations I used to have with canny classmates in college. My savviest friends could blithely articulate how a shrewd student could eat for "free" every night of the week.

Truly reforming education

By Michael Carnuccio

Let's reflect on a public policy battle that has created quite a stir around the country and will most assuredly do so through the pivotal election year that approaches.

First, support for common core standards is misguided. On the surface, the approach to increase student achievement by establishing a higher bar as the floor for common education seems noteworthy. The concept of ensuring that no child in any school district in any state is being educated at a lower level than his peer in another school district of another state seems noble as well.

Unfortunately, this line of thinking misses the point of why the status quo is substandard - the more we have shifted power and authority of education toward the federal government, the worse our education system and product has become. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to understand that since the creation of the federal Department of Education student performance has at best flat-lined while costs have skyrocketed.

Subject: Energy Conference

Melissa,

I hope you are doing well. The reason for my call yesterday was to invite AG Pruitt to speak at our October 17 Energy Conference in Tulsa. OCPA is partnering with Energy Advocates, a non-profit energy education organization founded by Mark Stansberry and others, to host another national conference on energy policy. We appreciated AG Pruitt being involved in last year's event, and we sincerely hope he is available to participate again this year. While last year's conference focused on energy and federalism, this year we plan to focus on how energy policy impacts families.

The program will feature panel discussions, an awards luncheon, keynote presentations, and legislative/litigation updates from elected officials and policy makers at both the state and federal level. The panels and presentations are designed to foster dialogue on the most current and critical energy topics. The Impact Panel will focus on the impact of regulation and legislation on producers, refinery capacity/downstream issues and why they matter, property rights, how policy decisions at each stage impact the economics of energy, and what it all means to consumers at the pump and on their utility bills. The Regulatory Panel will focus on the EPA's current regional haze efforts, the adverse impact on energy companies, the science, the economics, and what can be done to move in a more positive direction. The Tax Panel will feature an important discussion on energy taxes and energy tax credits and best free market practices from around the country. The luncheon will feature an awards ceremony honoring outstanding pioneers in the energy industry, including a special award for women in energy.

Our plan would be to have AG Pruitt give a litigation update regarding his efforts on regional haze, etc. He would be a featured speaker rather than a participant on a panel. Please let me know if you have any questions about this project. AG Pruitt may also be interested to know that, while the energy conference will take place during the day on the 17th, we are hosting our annual Liberty Gala that same evening as a separate event. The keynote speaker will be George W. Bush, and Scott would of course be welcome to stay for the banquet if he would like.

Melissa: We are working on a video that will be part of the our Oklahoma BIG IDEAS night at the SPN annual meeting.

Below is a draft outline so that you can get a feel of the direction we are headed with this piece. We would like to highlight General Pruitt in his fight against the feds. We with a quick BIG IDEAS highlight comment . You can see draft ideas below - but would probably look to your guidance on this.

Also, we would like to include Gen. Pruitt as part of the Energy Panel discussion that will be held the morning of September 25th from 9:45 - 11:00 at the Devon tower. Give me a call when it's convenient and we can discuss both items and I can give you more background. Call my cell 405-590-0493

Shut it down

By Michael Carnuccio

I'm not sure shutdown is the right term. Remember, 83 percent of the federal government is still operating and the U.S. is on course to spend more than $3.5 trillion. Essentially, we're no longer allowed to visit open-air parks and war memorials because career politicians can't agree on how to spend money they don't have.

I joined leaders from several state-based, grass-roots organizations across the country to issue an open letter to each member of the Congress:

The great historian and lecturer, Dr. J. Rufus Fears, distilled knowledge of the ages when he wrote that a nation "cannot live with a tremendous debt for a long period of time. ... We must cut government spending." In the masterful constitutional design, the U.S. House (of Representatives) was designed to be the most powerful element of Congress, and the best means to curb executive or judicial abuse. As the element in our Federalist political system closest to the people, only the House can slow down and even stop the pell-mell rush to fiscal ruin flowing from the Executive Branch and its allies in the Senate.

Cut waste and pay teachers

By Michael Carnuccio

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Janet Barresi has suggested giving Oklahoma schoolteachers a $2,000 pay raise, funded with a combination of school district carry-over funds and a 2-percent reduction in administrative overhead.

I applaud Barresi's idea of using existing money to fund pay hikes. Achieving efficiencies in an organization can result in employees receiving better pay for better performance. Organizations routinely decide to realign expenditures internally to reallocate resources to employees who are more deserving.

Lord knows there are efficiencies to be found in common education. The dramatic growth and bloat in administration is well-documented. When Oklahoma has nearly as many non-teachers as teachers, something is wrong.

Tomorrow Oklahoma Wesleyan University will be filing a lawsuit against the United States Department of Health and Human Services, as well as its secretary, Kathleen Sebelius. The premise of our suit is this: As an evangelical Christian university owned and operated by The Wesleyan Church of North America, OKWU cannot and will not comply with any provisions of the Affordable Care Act that require us to pay for abortion services or abortion-inducing drugs. More specifically, Oklahoma Wesleyan does not provide its employees with health insurance covering post-fertilization abortifacient drugs that, by definition, can and often do terminate pregnancy.

Forward the cause:

Last week Oklahomans received the news that Obamacare will increase premiums in Oklahoma. Oklahoma Insurance Commissioner John Doak made the announcement after insurance companies filed their policy rates to be offered in the federal exchange.

Staunch advocates of Obamacare have been upset with the facts. While the news released by Commissioner Doak and the Insurance Department doesn't fit their narrative, this increase in premiums should not be a surprise. The previous insurance commissioner, Kim Holland, and numerous others warned of the flaws in Obamacare that were going to result in these sorts of premium increases. Even Barack Obama's own administration has admitted some will see premium increases because of Obamacare.

The dinner is on School Choice we are just co- hosting with the Friedman Foundation. We would love to have the AG attend. Just didn't want to impose to heavily on his schedule, but with his support of the Lindsey Nicole Scholarships it would be fitting for you guys to join us.

Let me know. It is 7:00 pm at the Skirvin.
