Subject: Strong Republican and Independent Support for Mueller Investigation

Date: August 31, 2018

A new survey by Public Policy Polling finds that there is strong support among Republican and Independent voters for the Mueller investigation. 94% of Independent voters and 90% of Republican voters agree with the statement: “No one is above the law, not even the President.” An overwhelming majority of Republicans (74%) and Independents (83%) strongly agree with the statement.

A majority of Independents (82%) and Republicans (62%) agree that it is important for the Special Counsel Robert Mueller’s investigation to follow the facts wherever they lead – with 71% of Independents and 45% of Republicans strongly agreeing with the statement.

Overall, Independent voters have a more favorable opinion of Mueller than they do Trump. 46% have a favorable opinion of Mueller and 39% have an unfavorable opinion of him, while Trump’s approval remains low at 36%, with 62% disapproving.

By two-to-one, a majority of Independents believe the Mueller investigation should continue. 64% of Independents believe it should continue, while 33% think it should be shut down. Even 25% of Republicans believe the investigation should continue.

Key findings in the survey include:

- A large majority of Independents (71%) believe that a President who breaks the law or obstructs an investigation should be indicted while in office. Four-in-ten Republicans (39%) also believe this statement.
- A majority of Independents (67%) and a plurality of Republicans (38%) think Trump should not pardon Manafort.

PPP surveyed 572 registered voters from August 27 - 28, 2018. The margin of error is +/- 4.1%. This poll was conducted by automated telephone interviews.
