Saturday during one of my invasive lizard killing hunts my neighbor down the road cruised by on her bike. She was luckily not caught in my friendly fire but the snowflake had to come down the next day and express her concerns to my sweetheart of a wife. I wonder if she knew what she walking in to with the American flag flying and the 115 lb Rottweiler staring at her while she expressed her feelings of being "At Risk". Check out the video link below from my doorbell. Enjoy.
