Hi Richard,

Could you please let us know what the status of this request is? I am concerned about the pattern of repeatedly failing to meet projected timeframes for follow up on this request.

Thanks,

Thom

I have authorized the initial search results from the eDiscovery team. The team is now turning that search into the workspace for the search results. I think we will have the workspace this week. Once that happens we can do some searches to see how many documents were found related to certain key words and certain custodians. So I am thinking (this is an educated guess) that we can have a call early next week.

Hope this helps,
Richard

Hi Richard,

Can you give us an update on where this stands?
