Healthcare
The Parties reiterate their commitment to overcoming financial and other barriers to the provision of health care. They shall also cooperate to protect and promote the right to health through universal health coverage, access to quality health care services, and the provision of malaria prevention and control, and other essential public health services.

Agriculture and Food Security
The Parties recognize the importance of global food security, recognizing the need to address food security concerns, as well as the preservation of the environment. They shall cooperate to harness and maximize existing technologies, develop new collaborations, and share and develop knowledge, technologies, and innovative approaches in the field of food agriculture, irrigation technologies, and other techniques to improve food production, and to enhance food security and food security.

Water
The Parties recognize the critical importance of sustainable water use and shall cooperate for their mutual benefit to address issues of water supply, water management, water conservation, efficiency, and wastewater management and re-use, as well as water conservation and desalination.

Energy
The Parties take note of the strategic importance of the energy sector and in particular the need to promote renewable energy, cooperation in the field of energy, the development of alternative energy sources, and energy efficiency.

Maritime Arrangements
Each Party shall recognize the right of vessels of one Party to innocent passage through the territorial waters in accordance with international law. Each Party will grant access to its ports for vessels of the other Party, as well as for vessels engaged in international waters, in accordance with international law.

Legal Cooperation
Recognizing the importance of a supporting legal framework for the movement of people and goods and for fostering a continuous and friendly environment between them, the Parties shall make their best efforts to protect the rights of the Parties in relation to legal cooperation, including, inter alia, in respect of mutual legal assistance in civil and commercial matters, in accordance with their national laws and shall endeavor to conclude specific agreements and arrangements in this sphere.