

September 22, 2020

We the undersigned express our support for the economic principles and policies of Joe Biden. While each of us has different views on the particulars of various economic policies, we believe that Biden's overall economic agenda will improve our nation's health, investment, sustainability, resilience, employment opportunities, and fairness and be vastly superior to the counterproductive economic policies of Donald Trump.

Throughout the coronavirus crisis, Biden has recognized that science-based, public health solutions are critical not only to saving lives, but to any viable strategy to restore economic confidence, recovery, and jobs. Similarly, on issue after issue, Biden's economic agenda will do far more than Donald Trump's to increase the economic strength and well-being of our nation and its people. Simply put, Biden's policies will result in economic growth that is faster, more robust, and more equitable.

Signed by 13 recipients of the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences:

- George Akerlof – Professor, Georgetown University McCourt School of Public Policy
- Peter Diamond – Professor Emeritus, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- Oliver Hart – Professor, Harvard University
- Eric Maskin – Professor, Harvard University
- Daniel McFadden – Professor, University of California, Berkeley and University of Southern California
- Roger Myerson – Professor, University of Chicago
- William Nordhaus – Professor, Yale University
- Edmund Phelps – Professor and Director of the Center on Capitalism and Society, Columbia University
- Paul Romer – Professor, New York University
- Robert Solow – Professor Emeritus, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- Michael Spence – Professor and Dean Emeritus, Stanford Graduate School of Business
- Joseph Stiglitz – Professor, Columbia University
- Richard Thaler – Professor, University of Chicago Booth School of Business